Farewell

We will always remember the homecomings, carnivals, Christmas plays, retreats, dress-up days, operettas, the senior play, the football and basketball games, and the famous demerits. Especially we'll remember our proms, the sunrise breakfast, and finally graduation.

But it was not all fun. There were the exams we had to pass or else! There were the nights we stayed after school to do our backwork, the pink slips, and the trips to the office to get our report cards.

These things we will always remember. Some will stand out a little more than others for some of us, but we will treasure them all. We sincerely hope that you will remember them too. And to help you with this, we leave you DANNY, our little Leprechon.

Scenes with the Sodalists

Father Daniel receives over a hundred new recruits into the Sodality of Our Lady.

Sodality officers were: Jeanette Kane, treasurer; Jean Overman, vice-prefect; Joan Snyder, secretary; and Barbara Stahl, prefect.

For the first time at Lillis boys were admitted into the Sodality. About twenty Lillisites shared that honor. This scene gives us an actual view of the reception.

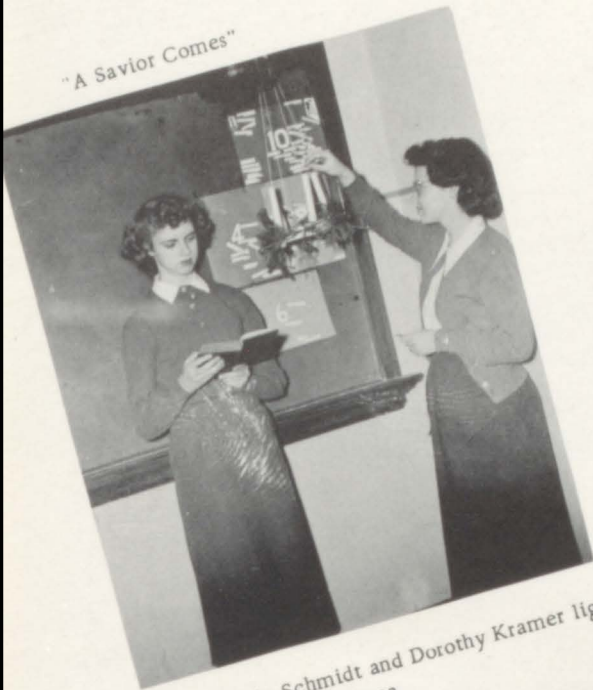

Part of the Sodality's work was to decorate the tree and put up the crib in the main hall. Santa's little helpers are: Jean Brice, Evelyn Boone, Geraldine Irving, Carolyn Smith, Diane Sheely, and Joan Brice.

"Gloria in Excelsis Deo ---"

"Venite Adoremus"

"A Savior Comes"

Jeanne Marie Schmidt and Dorothy Kramer light the Advent wreath in 203.

"How faithful are thy branches!"

Around the Christmas tree in 302: Bill Prothman, Ann Harrington, James Casey, and Josephine Romano.

A short pause before the day is ended; worshippers are Doris Hopfinger, JoAnn Garies, and Beverly Graham.

"God rest you merry, Lillises!"

Songsters are Jean Wilson, Jodie Demmel, Carol Thompson, Joan Wilson, Marjorie Commeau, Marguerite Byrnes, Geraldine Irving, and Dolores Tye.

"Round yon Virgin Mother and Child"

Seniors

"It is a peerless kinsman."

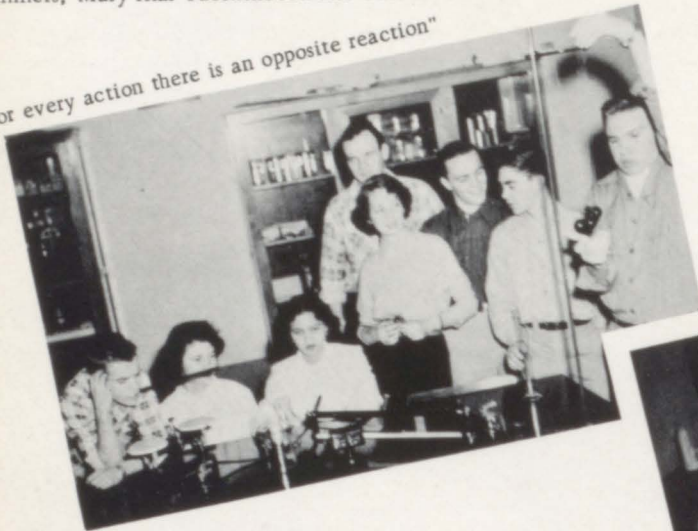

"Now is the time for all good men to practice on the I. B. M. 's, " - - - - that's how Ray Reyes and Jack Judge got in on this picture using the electric typewriters.

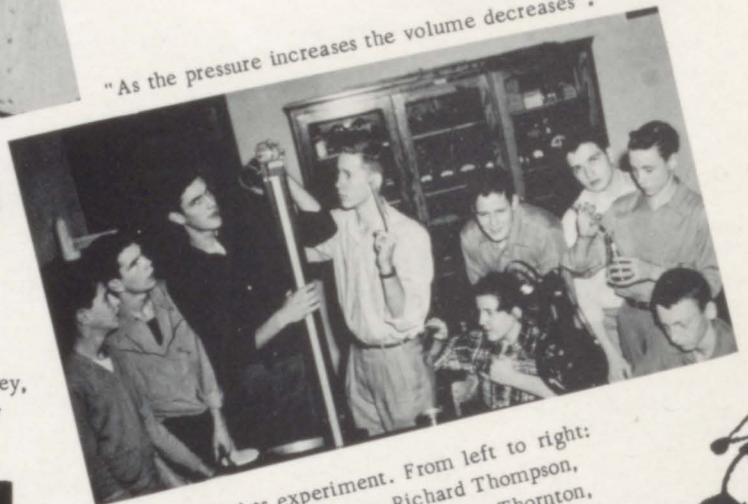

The second period English IV class ENJOY the famous Shakespearean tragedy "Macbeth". Dennis Stidham is at the record player. Seated nearest to the camera are Marianne Matthews, Jean Overman, Lucia Stover, Judy Summers, Mary Ann Yuelkenbeck and Gail McGuire.

"For every action there is an opposite reaction"

Curious scientists attempt to discover hidden mysteries. Clockwise: "Tucky" Stock, Dorothy Kramer, Jean Blakey, Mary Lou Porter, Ronald Downey, Robert Selders, Larry Haglund and John Schaeffer.

"As the pressure increases the volume decreases".

"Perfect Practice Makes Perfect."

Dick Radmacker is "Lost" in a drafting assignment; in the background Louis Lombardino chiseled in on a senior picture.

Senior typists tickle the keys. In the foreground; Patricia Carey, Mildred Cruz, Jeanette Kane, Charles Dorrian and Martin Salazar.

James Bush, James Martin, and James Burke prepare the lines of the Magi for the Christmas play.

Preparing the speech

Tom Taff, Joan Boone, and Joe Jones recheck some data in the library.

Ray Reyes, at the microphone, interviews two athletes: Larry Scanlon and John Peters. (That's the way the script ran.)

When it comes to choral reading, the speech class knows how. Here the "Little Flower", Joan Boone, is petitioned by D. Kramer, J. O'Brien, J. Brice, J. Hawk, M. Cruz, D. Hagen, J. Brice, T. Mayer, and E. Jakobe.

Judy Hawk prepares for the William Chrisman speech bout.

Underclassmen speak, too: J. Geary, J. Akin, M. Upton, M. Gray, P. Long, N. Young, B. Heuret.

Upperclassmen Speech

J. Healy, B. Warner, M. Matthews, T. Taff and Rev. Thos. Whelan.

Irish Miscues Cause Defeat

Facing a fumbling Irish the De La Salle cadets opportunist to capitalize on and roll to a 20-0 half time. Adding 19 points in the second half brought the 39 to 0 white.

With erratic play on offense and mediocre defense the Irish were in the frustrating position of being able to gain ground with regularity but couldn't hold it long enough to do any scoring.

With Larry Scanlon lugging the leather in fine fashion the rocks looked capable of going the way if they got a solid drive under.

Unfortunately the contest Lillis more than she gave services of left-end Dick Peterson have been lost for an entire period because of a fumble incurred in the game.

L Club Selects Queen For Homecoming Event

Following traditions established early at Lillis the L Club cast ballots that made Lucia Stover queen of the homecoming festivities which started today at 12:30. Her Majesty's first attendant is Jo Ann Garies; second, Mary Pat Rogers. The royal party stepped into high command immediately after the announcement was made by Coach Glennon before the assembled Lillisites.

Michael Renner, "L" Club president, has just crowned Lucia Stover, queen of the Homecoming. First and second attendants are Jo Ann Garies and Mary Pat Rogers. Mary Ann Parks, Green Pepper president, looks on. Crown-bearer, Manita Powers was attended by James Glennon and Joseph Mintner. "Spunky" Hannay was an honorary member of the royal party.

"Time Out for Tee-ers"

Brilliant in green and white, the majorettes preceded the Lillis Band, vibrant and tuneful in green and white. It was the first appearance for the newly initiated flag corp.

When the retinue had reached the field, the marching band honored the royal party with a formation performance. Climaxing the parade, the Irish cheerleaders rent the air with victory calls.

Gaels Are Topped By Rockets, 12-

Behind their hard-charging... the culmination of the gala event will be the crowning of the queen at the homecoming dance in the gym on Sunday evening at 8:00 p.m. Michael Renner, L Club president, will crown Her Majesty. Mary Ann Parks, Green Pepper president, will represent the cheerleaders at the coronation. After the coronation Lillisites and their dates will join the royal group in dancing.

"If Lillis is playing, you'll find them there!"
