Just as the different days combined such experiences as frustration at too much homework and exhilaration at dismissal from class for assemblies, the student body combined the distinct interests and feelings of individuals to form an atmosphere of activity. Whether students led cheers, played chess, ran the mile, worked as office assistants, painted scenery, or served as lab assistants, they each contributed to Center's own pattern of activity.

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

While maintenance and cafeteria staffs provided their important functions, the school administrators and teachers directly offered Center students assistance in various activities. Such services as serving as club sponsors, selling tickets at school events, and sacrificing dignity to play in the annual faculty basketball game exemplified the spirited helpfulness and versatility evident in the 1966-1967 teaching staff.

... And this again formed a pattern of activity.

Administrators Work for

MR. DONALD RICHMOND, Assistant Superintendent of schools, is in charge of business affairs for the school system.

Overseeing the affairs of eight schools has been the job of the district administration, under the leadership of Dr. Leroy Barrows, superintendent of Center School District #58.

At the monthly Board of Education meetings, members have made plans to improve various schools in Center district. Of prime importance to Centerites was the plan that called for adding new improvements to the Senior High School. Among plans made for the near future were those including new shop facilities and new classrooms. A swimming pool and tennis courts have been included for future construction. The district this year carried through last year's plan to renovate Center Elementary School. Other duties of the district officers consisted of hiring new teachers, signing various contracts, and planning curriculum.

DR. ROBERT MORRIS, Director of Instruction works to coordinate curriculum from the school level through high school.

MR. WILLIAM KUECHLER, Director of Personnel and Special Services, interviews and employs personnel, both certified and non-certified.

BOARD OF EDUCATION—Mr. Ralph Wright, Treasurer; Mrs. Neelie Lyman, Secretary; Mr. Robert Anderson; Mr. Arnold Shanberg; Mr. George Ryder, Vice-president; Mr. Kenneth West, President.

Welfare of District

DR. LEROY BARROWS, Superintendent of Schools, coordinates and supervises all activities of the school system.

MR. CHARLES FORAKER, Director of Buildings and Grounds, supervises all maintenance work for the district.

MR. BUFORD ELLIS, Supervisor of Audio-Visual Aids, orders films and filmstrips for classroom use.

Dr. Leroy Barrows; Mr. Donald Richmond; Mr. Hewitt Herdinger; Mr. Kenneth Lutgen.

MRS. EVELYN LLEWELLYN, Supervisor of Language Arts, coordinates the Language Arts curriculum and is responsible for developing elementary libraries in the district.

MRS. ALMA ELGIN, Supervisor of Food Services, plans and supervises the school lunch program.

Administration and Office Staff Oversee

MR. CARL FOWLER, Principal.

Through the hard work of Mr. Fowler, principal; Mr. McGraw, assistant principal; Mrs. Asbury, secretary; and Mrs. Gustafson, clerk; school days ran smoothly this year. Mr. Fowler approved and modified many ideas brought to his attention by the Student Council and faculty members. Along with keeping everyone informed of changes in plans and announcements of special interest, he helped sponsor the reorganized Pep Club.

As assistant principal, Mr. McGraw aided Mr. Fowler in approving and modifying various ideas and plans, making announcements, and helping with other tasks around the school. Very important to the proper management of the school were Mrs. Asbury and Gustafson. Among their numerous daily responsibilities were answering the ever-ringing phone, making and alphabetizing absentee lists and lists of those students not riding the buses, and typing and mimeographing materials for students and faculty.

Sheryl Rashkovsky, an office assistant, helps Josh Garry check out.

MRS. DORIS GUSTAFSON, Clerk.

Smooth Operation of School Functions

MR. WILBUR D. MCGRAW, Assistant Principal.

MRS. LOIS CLARK, School Nurse.

MRS. CHERYL ASBURY, Secretary.

Mr. Fowler talks with Mr. and Mrs. Crotchett at the Homecoming Dance.

ERIC ENBERG—Biology; Science Club, Medical Club.

KEN ANGELL—Biology, Physiology; Medical Club.

Science and Math Instructors Teach

Center's third floor once again became the recipient of the science department's special personality. Helping in this were the chemistry students with their intricate experiments. Biology students contributed knowledge of living things by careful observance of microscopic life. Physiology advanced with the dissection of cats which enabled the students to understand the functions and mechanics of the organs in the body.

Mathematics also became a valuable tool. In many students' schedules, Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry, or Functional and Terminal Math played a major role. Students were introduced to basic and advanced ideas, terms, and skills.

Both science and math students exhibited their knowledge and talents in the Science Fair and National Math Test.

RUTH ANN BIBB—Chemistry; Science Club.

JACOB F. KNOPPS—Algebra I and II, Terminal Math; Radio Club.

EMERY HENLEY—Physics, Geometry; Chess Club.

Scholars to Use Reasoning Faculties

WILLIAM BURK—Geometry, Algebra II, Trigonometry, Math Analysis.

HERBERT E. GRAY—Algebra I, Geometry, Trigonometry, Math Analysis; Junior Class.

Literature came to life this year for Center students of English. As part of their study of The Scarlet Letter, Mrs. Lasswell's classes dramatized excerpts from the novel by Nathaniel Hawthorne. Sophomore English students understood The Lord of the Flies more thoroughly after seeing it in the movie version.

With the new Modern Composition text, Seniors found a new emphasis on writing and composition. Accelerated Senior classes taught themselves, using a seminar approach.

Studying the literature of various periods and learning to express themselves more accurately, students prepared themselves for the highly competitive college classes.

MYRA K. HARMS — Language Arts II and IV.

English Teachers Explain Writing Methods

JUDY E. CROCHETT — Language Arts III; Pep Club.

DALE L. SIEVERS — Language Arts III.

ARDYS LEE LEMONS — Language Arts II.

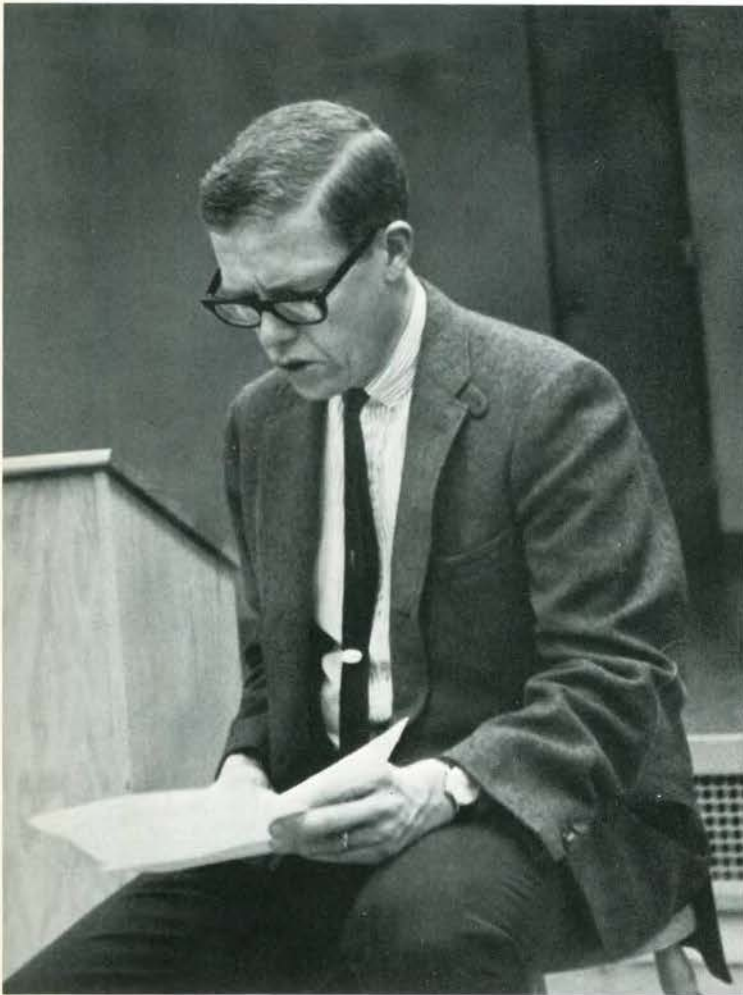

MARY LU HAWORTH—Language Arts IV; School Publications.

LUANNE LASSWELL—Language Arts III, Journalism; Searchlight, Quill and Scroll, National Honor Society.

and Increase Students' Knowledge of Literature

CHESTER L. LANDES—Language Arts IV, Drama I and II; Players 58.

NANCY SCOTT—Language Arts IV.

SUE ROSE HARTER—Language Arts II; Philosophy Club.

Cultural Studies Include Art,

LORENE M. ROLLER—Latin I, II, III, IV, Appreciation of Literature; Future Teachers of America, Latin Club.

BARBARA PETER—French I, II, III; National Honor Society.

WILLIAM A. SCOTT—Spanish I, II, III, IV; Spanish Club, American Field Service

JANET K. SUMMERS—Language Arts II, French II; French Club.

Foreign Languages, and Music

JOHN W. CHRONISTER—Mixed Chorus I, II, Girls' Glee Club, Boys' Glee Club; Melody Maidens, Gentleman Songsters, Pop Singing Group.

TOM CREAMER—Art II, III, IV; Senior Class

Fine arts courses broadened minds and added variety to the year's curriculum. Novice artists worked primarily with line and shape, color, value, and textures. Art I and II students developed these basic skills, while third and fourth year students used more of an individual style in these same areas. Art IV students aided the Drama department by designing and constructing sets for the plays.

Music, the other branch of fine arts, played an important part at Center this year. Constantly practicing for performances, the A Capella Choir and Band continually pleased audiences. Students in contemplation of further study of music found that the Theory and Harmony class offered much in background and principles of music.

HARRY HOESLI—Art I, III; Art Club.

EARL TURNER—Band I, II, Theory and Harmony; Stage Band.

JAN LEE GREGORY—Office Machines, Bookkeeping, Recordkeeping; Junior Class.

LUCILE SMITH—Clerical Practice, Notehand, Typewriting; Senior Class.

Business Courses Prepare

VELMA JEAN SIARD—Salesmanship, Secretarial Practice, Office Machines, Business Law.

A busy typing student, Janie Leisure, practices to gain speed.

DAVID J. EVANS—Basic Business, Typewriting I and II.

Busy students and noisy typewriters were an everyday scene in the various business courses offered here at Center. Typing, Shorthand, Bookkeeping, and Recordkeeping gave students required skills for secretarial and clerical vocations. New equipment such as stencil and liquid duplicators and key-driven calculators made it possible to offer a course in office machines this year.

In addition, students learned other facets of the business world. In salesmanship they acquired the knowledge of good selling techniques and of using persuasion effectively. Business Law and Business Practice taught the students about legal problems and ways to solve them. With this knowledge students acquired jobs and experience in the business world.

Students for Vocations

ROBERT DENNIS—Recordkeeping, Typewriting I and II.

NANCY LEE FRYER—Typewriting I and II, Shorthand; Senior Class.

L. W. LEE—Drafting, Electricity, Power Mechanics, Metals.

MACKEY WILCOXON—General Woodworking, Architectural Drafting, Machine Drafting; Junior Class.

Woodworking, Drafting, Metals, and Electricity composed the basic courses of the Industrial Arts department, as students constructed practical devices for use in their homes. It was the purpose of the department to teach skills useful in later life.

The Home Economics department, also stressing preparation for the future, instructed the girls in becoming better homemakers through various projects in cooking, sewing, and home furnishings.

Home Economics, Industrial Arts, and Physical

VIRGINIA RAY—Foods II, Clothing I and II; Junior Class.

SHIRLEY FOSTER—Foods I and III, Clothing III, Housing and Home Furnishings.

SUE HOLT—Girls' Physical Education; Precisionettes.

WINIFRED SUTOR—Girls' Physical Education; Senior Class.

Physical Education students learned that physical fitness was just as important as the development of the mind. While participating in group sports both boys and girls acquired muscular coordination and dexterity.

Fitness tests were given semi-annually to determine the amount of progress the student had made.

Education Courses Give Practical Experience

MAX HAYES—Boys' Physical Education; Head Basketball Coach, Golf Coach, "C" Club.

DUANE UNRUH—Boys' Physical Education; Head Football Coach, "C" Club.

Knowledge of History Increases

MICHAEL G. JONES—World History; Assistant Football and Track Coach, "C" Club.

DENNIS LAMBERT—American History, Contemporary Issues; Student Council, "Categories".

ROBERT D. BESSENBACHER—World History, American History; Assistant Basketball and Track Coach.

JOYCE COX—American History, World History; Y-Teens.

FOREST G. ARNALL—Family Relations, Sociology; Cross Country, Indoor and Outdoor Track.

SHIRLEY J. KRISS—Psychology; Honor Society.

Students' Understanding of Man

WAYNE E. BROWN — Economics, Debate I and II, Speech I; Debate Coach.

The Social Studies Department played a role in almost every Centerite's schedule this year. Following history from the Stone Age Period to the Middle Ages and on into the modern times kept World History students busy, while American History students covered the time from the discovery of the New World to contemporary America. Seniors had choices of study in areas involving government, family and social life. Guest speakers, such as Mr. Tom Leathers, added to the realism of discussions about the problems of today's youth. Social Studies gave students lasting insight into American and world heritage.

GARY SHANK — American History, American Government.

T. K. HOLMES — American History, World History, Drivers' Education; Sophomore Class.

SANDRA ROGERS — Geography, World History; Y-Teens.

Variety of Courses Offer Students

Danny Karpin finds the library a good place for quiet study.

VIOLA FULLERTON—Librarian.

MARIE CUNNINGHAM—Librarian; Y-Teens.

NOEL MARTIN—Driver and Safety Education; Assistant Football Coach, Head Wrestling Coach.

Specific Skills in Special Areas

SAM COLEMAN—Cooperative Occupational Education; Junior Class.

E. J. WILLS—Driver and Safety Education and Drafting; Senior Class, Key Club, Stadium Coordinator.

As always Library, C.O.E., Driver's Education, and Special Education had a special use for students this year. Always an important organ, the library has increased its efficiency this year by the use of federal funds. Additions to the library included microfilm, more records for classroom use, and more expensive books. Early in the year the number of books in the library passed the ten-thousand mark.

By taking C.O.E., Seniors had time to attend school and to work, thus saving money for college or other purposes. Through Driver's Education students learned to drive safely, while Special Education prepared others for future jobs.

AUSTIN GENE MUELLER—Special Education; Assistant Wrestling Coach.

Guidance Personnel, Cafeteria and Maintenance

LOIS E. WALDEN—Guidance Counselor; American Field Service.

In accordance with the philosophy of Center School District, the Guidance personnel attempted to assist each individual student in achieving his maximum personal and social growth and adjustment.

The counselors at Center Senior High School have made a great attempt this year to help students at a personal level. They held an orientation for Sophomores and new students to assist them in their transition to this school. Each Senior was called in during the year for a conference with a counselor concerning his post high school plans. Sophomores and Juniors were encouraged to initiate a conference on their own, and many did so.

THOMAS A. ODNEAL—Guidance Counselor.

JERI SCHRIEBER—Guidance Secretary.

DAVID L. LOONEY—Supervisor of Guidance Services.

Staffs Lend Important Services to School

June Allee and Dorothy Holder prepare Thanksgiving dinner.

Through the efforts of the custodians and cafeteria staff, life at Center High ran more smoothly and was more enjoyable.

Whether it was to build a concession stand or to open a door for an early student, the maintenance staff was always ready to be of service to the student body and faculty.

As fourth hour rolled around each day, hungry students entered the cafeteria to eat the wholesome, nutritious lunches prepared by the cafeteria ladies.

ACTIVITIES

Participating in varied activities of the year, Centerites kept busy pounding debate gavels, gyrating to the rhythm-making of long-haired musicians, working energetically in the Searchlight and Yellowjacket, and taking part in school programs and assemblies. Talented Bente Larsen, Danish AFS student, contributed to this active mood by serving in several clubs and as honorary attendant at the December Sno-Ball Dance, "Christmas in Denmark."

... And this again formed a pattern of activity.

"Editing a yearbook takes a lot of time and effort," says Linda Johnsen, editor of this year's Yellowjacket.

Mike LeSage glances over the layout for the sports section.

Annette Goldenberg checks over the spelling on a final copy sheet.

Staff member, Josh Garry, shows concern over tentative plans.

Choosing the best layout is part of Diane Giese's job as Layout Editor.

After the selection of the top editors in the fall, the Yellowjacket staff began planning the 1967 edition of the yearbook. Many hours went into writing copy, identifying pictures, and drawing layouts of each page. The staff was also in charge of the supplement and the Yellowjacket Dance. The members tried to capture in pictures the spirit, fun, and serious moments of the year 1966-67.

Reports Student Life

The Searchlight staff was in charge of publishing the bi-weekly school newspaper. This year they published the largest Searchlight in Center's history. During the year, staff members attended publication conferences to learn the best journalistic techniques. Then they used these techniques to put out the paper, which kept the students informed on happenings in school, and in the city. This year's paper has been praised as one of the best in recent times.

Jody Butler, John Callison, Charlene Barash, Gary Lee, Belinda Brooks, Judy Reichman, and Diane Wood agree that group participation is necessary in publishing a newspaper.

Jack Bunkley and Jani Zatezalo devote their attention to gaining useful tips on writing good copy.

The course Cooperative Occupational Education, offered to seniors only, aided these students in two ways: by giving them some related information concerning a field of employment, and by allowing them to acquire job experience. After the students attended regular morning classes, they then worked in the afternoon. Mr. Coleman, director of the program, helped each student find a suitable job. These jobs, in department stores, business offices, grocery stores, and service stations, were located in various locations in Kansas City.

Center's NFL Competes Successfully

Debate members Neil Stempleman, Keith Petty, and Cathi Gordon polish the final plans for their next conference tournament.

Although enrollment in third and sixth hour debate class was not a requirement for membership, this year's Debate Club consisted of 20 members from these classes. As a chapter of the National Forensic League, it promoted interests of inter-scholastic debate, oratory, and public speaking. The classes reviewed past debates and learned techniques for improvement. For the second year Tom Duncan served as President. Assisting him were Layton Hornbeck, Vice-President; Steve Karol, Secretary; and Mike Usnick, Treasurer. One member of the club, Bill Muir, won first place in the statewide "Voice of Democracy" contest, and went to Washington, D.C. for the national finals. The club brought back to Center many honors from tournaments and speech contests. Mr. Brown served as sponsor.

After the completion of her Christmas display at Ward Parkway, Bente enjoys the familiar Danish atmosphere, bringing her closer to home.

Danish Student Broadens

Dawn noddingly approves of Bente's selection, Speak Better—Write Better English.

Bente and some of her American classmates prepare for the annual sale of Bells for Peace.

Center's World Horizons

At the annual Sno-Ball assembly Bente is presented as the honorary attendant of the queen's court.

Bente Larsen, Center's American Field Service Student from Denmark, has made many friends during her stay in Kansas City. She arrived in America August 1966, for a year of residence with her American family, the George Heaths.

Bente has led a busy life at Center participating in Y-Teens, French Club, Student Council, and Pep Club. She received the Pepster of the Week Award and was the honorary Sno-Ball attendant.

By speaking at many assemblies, Bente noted to the Student body the differences between American and Danish schools. Bente's spirited personality has brightened Center's hallways.

Activities Entertain, Raise Money, and

Girls participating in after-school Hockey games are Theresa McGuire, Donna Hastert, Betty Seale, Janice Larson, Diane LaMar, Darlene Lawson, Lula Bryant, Charlene Lawson, Lee

Ann Schute, Teri Wilford, Barbara Schoemig, Linda Smith, Jane Krueger, Judy Doolan, Emily Barrack.

Seniors Jack Bunkley and Jody Hudson start the line for the annual Senior Steak Fry.

Promote Inter-school Competition

Assemblies Make a Pleasant

At the United Fund Campaign assembly held in the stadium, Steve Dunaway, Bob Williams, Craig Ketchum, John Vella, Jim Jones, and Dave Black cheer the senior girls to victory.

The Tradewind Trio consisting of Tim O'Rourke, Dave Black, and Jim Jones entertains the student body by singing folk ballads.

At the annual holiday assembly honoring Christmas and Hanukkah, Steve Brown explains the meaning of Hanukkah.

The Concert Choir, led by Mr. Chronister and accompanied by Mrs. McMillian, opens the assembly series for the school year.

Break in C.H.S. School Day

Student Council Vice-President Jim Jones placed the glittering crown on her majesty, Maureen Wiley, 1966 Homecoming Queen on November 4. The Homecoming football game brought a victory of 51 to 6 for the Center Yellow-jackets against the Lee Summit Tigers. The game was cheered by brave spectators as they watched in the rain. Because of the unpredictable fall weather, traditional Homecoming half-time activities had to be cancelled.

Escorted onto the field by their fathers holding umbrellas, the other senior candidates were Monica Foust and Leanne Norman. The remaining court was comprised of junior attendants Francie Abernethy and Janet Goetz, and sophomore attendants Joanna Clark and Angie Edgerton.

Sabina, played by Lucy Courtright, flirts with Mr. Antrobus at the big convention in Atlantic City.

The Fortune Teller, Patti Lally, warns Mrs. Antrobus of the future.

Through Three Time Eras

For the first production of the 1966-67 year, Players 58 presented Thornton Wilder's comedy, The Skin of Our Teeth. The plot centered around George Antrobus who represented any average American at grips with sweet and sour destiny, his wife, their two children and Sabina, the maid. They survived a thousand calamities, fire, flood, pestilence, seven-year locusts, the ice age, a dozen wars, and just as many depressions by the skin of their teeth. Adding humor to the play within the play, Sabina came forward as Miss Sommerset to explain the more difficult portions to the audience, and humorously exclaimed, "I don't understand a word of this play!"

Many hours of rehearsal and hard work by actors and crew went into the production. But when things became dull, there were always the fourteen cast members portraying Conveeners who would entertain the rest of the cast by recalling their roles as drunks.

Miss McClurg transforms Pat Marlow into George Antrobus.

Mr. Fitzpatrick, played by Jack Bunkley, and his assistant Carolyn Jacob become aggravated by Sabina.

On February 15 and 16, the curtains rose on Charlotte Chorpensing's adaption of Mark Twain's The Prince and the Pauper, which was specially enacted in a morning production for a thousand of the district's elementary school children. This children's story, set in the sixteenth century, concerned two look-alike boys, Prince Edward of England and pauper Tom Canty who switched roles to sample the other side of life and almost upset history.

Intertwined with the two separate adventures of the boys, the plot also involved the antics of John Canty as he led his band of thieves who were sworn to a life of corruption and evil. While stealing "suckling pigs" and embezzling "bottles of wine," the high life of the thieves came to a halt with the heroic acts of Miles Hendon who sheltered and protected the real prince. Believing the boy he harbored to be crazy, Miles and the true prince barely made it to the coronation before the pauper was to be crowned King of England.

The kids, played by Lucy Courtright, Linda Allen, Pam King, Becky Brueske, and Cal Berry discover the pauper in front of the palace gates.

The pauper regains his rightful crown.

Dan Haughey and Dan Jones portray the prince and the pauper engaging in a friendly fencing match.

Mr. Landes, faculty director, offers constructive criticism to the cast.

With 108 voices, this year's Concert Choir was the largest and most accomplished vocal group at Center. Under the direction of Mr. John Chronister, the Choir gave excellent performances including assemblies, concerts and various Music Contests. The choir has studied many forms of music, from early to present day, in English, French, Hebrew, Spanish, Latin and Italian, and has sung mostly traditional a cappella style.

During the holiday season, the choir had a full schedule of performances including a concert at Ward Parkway, singing carols at the Mayor's Christmas Tree, and the holiday concert. For the holiday assembly the choir sang Christmas and Chanukah songs, while members of the Drama department performed tableaux to go along with the songs.

Select Singing Groups Add

Besides the Concert Choir, Center's performing vocal groups consisted of the Melody Maidens, Gentlemen Songsters and the Pop Singing Group.

Dressed in new outfits this year, the Melody Maidens pleased many audiences. This select group consisted of fifty-five girls directed by Mr. John Chronister. Many hours of practice went into performances at assemblies, music contests and various other functions.

Receiving a One Rating at Contest last spring, the Gentlemen Songsters continued to be a very popular group this year. Also a select group, it consisted of forty-five boys from Concert Choir, Boys' Glee Club, and the student body.

Newly formed this year, the Pop Singing Group, consisted entirely of Concert Choir members, performed some of the contemporary pop tunes as well as some of the old standard swing tunes. A successful group this year, they hope to have more performances and more work with instruments next year.

Bands Thrill Audiences in

Beginning early in the fall, Center's band performed often. Under the direction of Mr. Earl Turner, new to Center this year, the band brought much recognition to Center. In the fall, it functioned as a Marching Band, performing in the American Royal Parade, and at all home football games. At the holiday concert, and at music contest, it became the Concert Band. The Stage Band, a select group of the Concert Band, performed at school and community functions. By volunteering to be in the Pep Band, members added much spirit to pep assemblies and home basketball games.

Ralph Wagner was drum major, student director, and president. Other officers were: Larry Hall, vice-president; Liz Vawter, secretary; Greta Bolden, treasurer; Pam Hammack, librarian, with her assistants Nancy Bigley and Marie Baughman.

The Marching Band performed at all home football games and marched in the American Royal Parade.

ORGANIZATIONS

Representing broad areas of interest, Center's organizations this year offered students a larger selection of things to do. Increased membership in many clubs brought about a flurry of activity and productivity. Organizations for the purpose of service, those for recreation, and those that honored outstanding students, influenced the student body by having food sales, posting victory signs, taking part in contests, and generally encouraging participation of the students.

... And this again formed a pattern of activity.

French and Spanish Clubs Further Students'

Le Cercle Francais, open to all past and present French students, held a variety of activities to promote appreciation of French culture. Speakers at club meetings included members who had visited in France and a Center graduate who had studied at the Sorbonne. Benoit Guizard, a Parisian foreign exchange student attending Shawnee Mission East High School, also spoke to the group and showed slides of Paris and the Riviera. With contributions by members and funds raised by having a bakesale, the club provided a needy family with presents and food at Christmas. As a new addition to meetings this year members brought refreshments.

Departing from the traditional name of El Club de Espanol, Spanish Club members this year changed it to Los Sevillanos. In doing this, members honored Seville, Spain, which is recognized as Kansas City's sister city by the People-to-People program in which the club participated. A committee headed by Dottie Rice instituted a new constitution, written entirely in Spanish and approved by Mr. William Scott, sponsor. During the holiday season, members contributed toys and food to the Guadalupe Center for distribution among unfortunate families. Experiencing enchiladas, tamales, tacos, and frijoles at Garcias' Restaurant, Los Sevillanos enjoyed a successful Mexican dinner which was planned by Laurie Grow and a committee of officers.

Living up to their motto, "Age et nosce experientia," ("Live and learn by experience") the Castilians contributed large amounts of food during the Christmas season for underprivileged teenagers at the Youth Life Center in downtown Kansas City. Comprised of all Latin students, the club members participated most successfully in the National Latin test given by the Association for Promotion of the Study of Latin and received the publication Auxilium Latinum. Occupying much attention on the clubs' spring agenda were plans for the annual activities of Latin Week. Proceeds from this event, which included sales of typical Roman foodstuffs and distribution of the Latin newspaper, Vox Romae, went to the AFS fund. The remaining profits from sales found use in purchasing books and other items pertaining to ancient Rome for the Latin Department.

The activities in which the clubs are pictured: Latin I, Departure of the Emperor and His Queen; Latin II, Holiday of Apollo; Latin II, Gladiatorial Show; Latin III & IV, Feast of the Gods.

LATIN III & IV—Connie Wilson, Janet Meyer, Steve Karol, Phyllis Lowe, Mark Virden, Mary Teakell, Cheri Winn, John Callison.

Artistic Talent Shines at Center

Sue Barnicle and Leah Reichman help Players 58 by preparing scenery for The Prince and the Pauper.

Center's Art Club began the year with new organization, a record membership and a new sponsor, Mr. Harry Hoesli. During the meetings members experimented with new paints and colors. Art Club held the responsibility of painting scenery for drama productions and also represented the school by displaying their works for local artists. An important project considered by the club this year was that of making sculptures for the school's outdoor patio.

Scientific Methods Interest Medical Club Members

In its third year at Center, Ars Medica held meetings twice a month under the direction of Belinda Brooks, President, who was assisted by Leslie Egelston, Vice-President, and Frances Kempster, Secretary. Their various activities included field trips to the eye center and cardiac center at Baptist Memorial Hospital, and a tour of the research facilities at Kansas University Medical Center. Members also observed surgery and followed doctors on their hospital rounds.

Chess and Science Clubs Stimulate Reasoning Powers

Among the kings, queens, and bishops stood the President of the Chess Club, Conrad Smith. Other officers were John Socwell, Vice-President; Dave Bryan, Secretary-Treasurer; Ron Levine, Corresponding Secretary. The Chess Club held informal meetings every Thursday and played in several tournaments. The club was sponsored by Mr. Emery Henley.

Another growing organization is the Science Club, concerned with the "why" and "how" of the scientific world. Affiliated with the Kansas City Junior Academy of Science, the club sent Greg Carroll, Frances Kempster, Ron Levine and Bob Pollock to present their papers at Saturday sessions of the Academy. The Club, encouraging students to enter projects in the Kansas City Science Fair, met twice a month when they carried on such experiments as the "Old Massau" reaction and construction of a 4.5 inch cyclotron for their joint project.

Future Teachers Earn Points by Assisting Faculty Members

Led by Rick Wagner, the Future Teachers of America explored all realms of the teaching profession. Members gained points by grading papers, recording scores, and doing other duties requested by faculty members. Those who had earned 1000 points by spring received the experience of teaching for one day in a district school of their choice. Members observed American Education Week by decorating the main bulletin board and providing snacks for the teachers in the faculty rooms. At one of the meetings Mr. Odneal administered aptitude tests to each person present to determine the area in which he was best qualified. Among their other activities, club members sent a check to Mercy Hospital in December, held their annual Valentine's Day Fudge Sale, and held their annual cake meet in October for the purpose of talking to a faculty member about the teaching profession. Each FTA member served cake to the faculty member whose name he drew from a hat.

Putting on three major plays required much time and effort from the students of the Drama Club. Those who spent at least ten hours on each production either as cast members or as members of the prop crew, business crew, stage crew, costume crew, or make-up crew received invitations to join Players 58. Besides putting on their own plays, members went to see Funny Girl in the fall. During the year Drama students participated in speech contests throughout the city and received awards for outstanding ability at the annual awards banquet in the spring.

Students for Services and Activities

To instill in students ideals of scholarship, to advance the standards of the profession of journalism and to promote exact thinking and clear forceful writing were the purposes of Quill and Scroll, honorary journalistic society. In March, Center's chapter of Quill and Scroll inducted 19 Searchlight and Yellowjacket staff members at a ceremony held at the home of Mrs. Luanne Lasswell, sponsor. This year's chapter consisted of the new members plus three second-year members—Charlene Barash, Amy Batchelder and Judy Reichman.

Center's Key Club, another honorary organization, consisted of 21 boys selected by last years' members on the basis of scholarship, leadership and character. Activities included filling stockings for Veterans' Hospital at Christmas, holding a coke and brownie sale, operating the coat rack during the Invitational Basketball Tournament, and sponsoring a banquet in the spring to induct new members.

A third honorary organization, sponsored by Mrs. Frank Rayburn from the Kansas City Chapter of the American Association of University women, "One Hundred Girls" consisted of ten outstanding Juniors and Seniors selected on the basis of scholarship, academic promise, character, leadership, and school leadership. Membership enabled the girls to learn more about college life by visiting and talking with AAUW representatives.

National Honor Society Members Represent Highest Ideals

During the National Honor Society induction ceremony in 1966, twenty-five Seniors lit individual candles, symbolic of the light of knowledge. Teachers recommended these students on the basis of scholarship, service, character, and leadership. This year's group sponsored the annual College Night, at which students spoke to representatives from various colleges and universities. Juniors and other Seniors were inducted into the society this spring during an all-school assembly and again that night for their parents.

Student Council Promotes Unity in Activities

OFFICERS—Standing: Richard Roberson, Treasurer; Judy McCullough, Secretary; Sitting: Greg Coatsworth, President; Jim Jones, Vice-President.

Consisting of eight members from each class, the foreign exchange student and the runner-up in the previous year's presidential election, the Student Council governed the entire student body. Council members led several activities to improve the school during the year. They headed the United Campaign drive, raising money by holding bakesales as well as regular collections. They lent a helping hand in school sponsored activities, such as AFS week. Members planned and sponsored the annual Sno-Ball dance. Following the current fad, Chickenman appeared at the Sno-Ball assembly to encourage the students to attend the Sno-Ball. In the spring, the Council sponsored the second annual talent show for the student body.

But the main duty of the Council consisted of listening to complaints and ideas of the students and presenting worthwhile ideas to the administration.

After the selection of the top editors in the fall, the Yellowjacket staff began planning the 1967 edition of the yearbook. Many hours went into writing copy, identifying pictures, and drawing layouts of each page. The staff was also in charge of the supplement and the Yellowjacket Dance. The members tried to capture in pictures the spirit, fun, and serious moments of the year 1966-67.

Reports Student Life

The Searchlight staff was in charge of publishing the bi-weekly school newspaper. This year they published the largest Searchlight in Center's history. During the year, staff members attended publication conferences to learn the best journalistic techniques. Then they used these techniques to put out the paper, which kept the students informed on happenings in school, and in the city. This year's paper has been praised as one of the best in recent times.

The course Cooperative Occupational Education, offered to seniors only, aided these students in two ways: by giving them some related information concerning a field of employment, and by allowing them to acquire job experience. After the students attended regular morning classes, they then worked in the afternoon. Mr. Coleman, director of the program, helped each student find a suitable job. These jobs, in department stores, business offices, grocery stores, and service stations, were located in various locations in Kansas City.

Kathi Dalrymple assists David Keck in choosing a possible after-school job.

Back Row: Keith Petty, Rick Wagner, Layton Hornbeck, Tom Duncan, Mike Usnick, Bob Neubauer, Cliff Farabee, Bill Muir, Ken Petty.

Center's NFL Competes Successfully

Debate members Neil Stempleman, Keith Petty, and Cathi Gordon polish the final plans for their next conference tournament.

Although enrollment in third and sixth hour debate class was not a requirement for membership, this year's Debate Club consisted of 20 members from these classes. As a chapter of the National Forensic League, it promoted interests of inter-scholastic debate, oratory, and public speaking. The classes reviewed past debates and learned techniques for improvement. For the second year Tom Duncan served as President. Assisting him were Layton Hornbeck, Vice-President; Steve Karol, Secretary; and Mike Usnick, Treasurer. One member of the club, Bill Muir, won first place in the statewide "Voice of Democracy" contest, and went to Washington, D.C. for the national finals. The club brought back to Center many honors from tournaments and speech contests. Mr. Brown served as sponsor.

After the completion of her Christmas display at Ward Parkway, Bente enjoys the familiar Danish atmosphere, bringing her closer to home.

Danish Student Broadens

Dawn noddingly approves of Bente's selection, Speak Better—Write Better English.

Bente and some of her American classmates prepare for the annual sale of Bells for Peace.

Center's World Horizons

At the annual Sno-Ball assembly Bente is presented as the honorary attendant of the queen's court.

Bente Larsen, Center's American Field Service Student from Denmark, has made many friends during her stay in Kansas City. She arrived in America August 1966, for a year of residence with her American family, the George Heaths.

Bente has led a busy life at Center participating in Y-Teens, French Club, Student Council, and Pep Club. She received the Pepster of the Week Award and was the honorary Sno-Ball attendant.

By speaking at many assemblies, Bente noted to the Student body the differences between American and Danish schools. Bente's spirited personality has brightened Center's hallways.

Activities Entertain, Raise Money, and

Girls participating in after-school Hockey games are Theresa McGuire, Donna Hastert, Betty Seale, Janice Larson, Diane LaMar, Darlene Lawson, Lula Bryant, Charlene Lawson, Lee

Bente Larsen smiles as she rides the skilift up to the top of the mountain on Center's third annual ski trip.

Mr. Fowler attempts to recover the ball as Center's faculty team, the Drop-outs, challenges the WHB Basketbawlers to a benefit basketball game for AFS.

Assemblies Make a Pleasant

At the United Fund Campaign assembly held in the stadium, Steve Dunaway, Bob Williams, Craig Ketchum, John Vella, Jim Jones, and Dave Black cheer the senior girls to victory.

The Tradewind Trio consisting of Tim O'Rourke, Dave Black, and Jim Jones entertains the student body by singing folk ballads.

At the annual holiday assembly honoring Christmas and Hanukkah, Steve Brown explains the meaning of Hanukkah.

The Concert Choir, led by Mr. Chronister and accompanied by Mrs. McMillian, opens the assembly series for the school year.

Break in C.H.S. School Day

Chickenman, Bob Beltz; Miss Helfinger, Judy McCullough; and Commissioner Gordon, John Brown promote the annual Sno-Ball Dance at an assembly which introduced the queen candidates and court.

Judy Burgoon leads the Drill Team in a performance at a Pep assembly.

Three of Center's faculty members enliven the first basketball assembly with their unusual talents.

With proud smiles princesses Monica Foust and Leanne Norman congratulate Maureen Wiley, newly crowned queen.

Youthful vitality is portrayed as the Vicounts provide the entertainment for the annual Homecoming Dance.

Despite Bad Weather

Anxiety builds as Seniors Monica Foust and Leanne Norman await the start of Homecoming festivities for 1966.

HOMECOMING COURT—Paul Lutgen, Joanna Clark, Joe Grego, Francie Abernethy, Bob Beltz, Janet Goetz, Maureen Wiley, Jim Neustadt, Leanne Norman, Ken Mayer, Monica Foust, Chris Waecklerle, Angie Edgerton, John Brown.

Student Council Vice-President Jim Jones placed the glittering crown on her majesty, Maureen Wiley, 1966 Homecoming Queen on November 4. The Homecoming football game brought a victory of 51 to 6 for the Center Yellow-jackets against the Lee Summit Tigers. The game was cheered by brave spectators as they watched in the rain. Because of the unpredictable fall weather, traditional Homecoming half-time activities had to be cancelled.

Escorted onto the field by their fathers holding umbrellas, the other senior candidates were Monica Foust and Leanne Norman. The remaining court was comprised of junior attendants Francie Abernethy and Janet Goetz, and sophomore attendants Joanna Clark and Angie Edgerton.

Colorful leaves set the scene for Autumn Fantasies, the theme for the annual Homecoming Dance.

Jackets Place in Center Tourney

In the eighth annual Center Invitational Tournament held from January 31 through February 4, Center won the consolation prize. The Jackets opened the first round of play in the tournament losing to Pem Day 60-56. The first half found the Jackets plagued with cold shooting, hitting only 9 out of 31 shots, and when the final buzzer sounded, the score was 60-56 in favor of the Raiders. In the consolation semifinals, held on February 2, Center jumped ahead of Lee's Summit early and maintained their lead throughout the game, winning 75-67. Solving Grandview's stall game in the final period on February 4, Center won the consolation prize over Grandview. Grandview, however, won the sportsmanship trophy, given to the team that shows the most desire and hustle during the tournament.

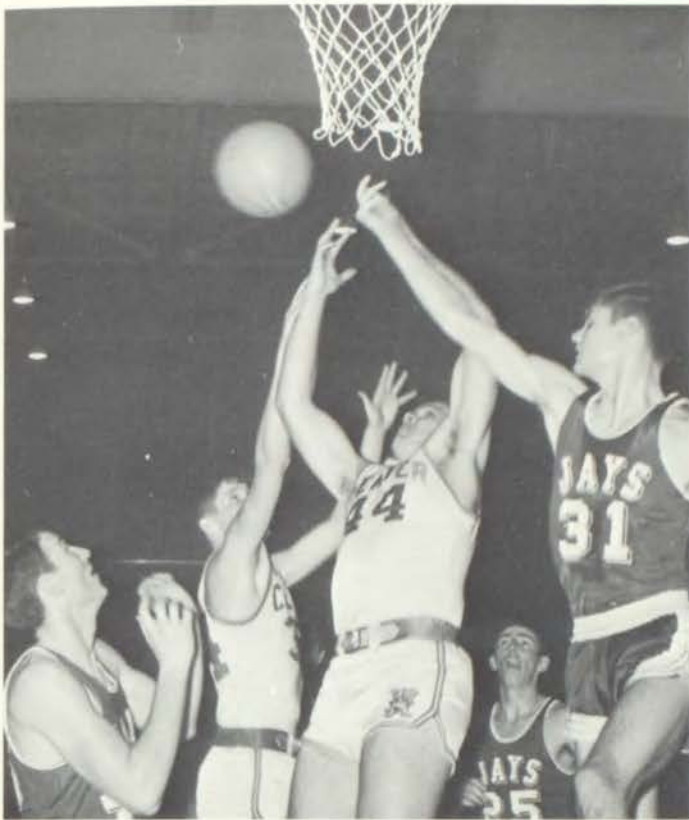

Jim Jones outjumps his opponent and sinks a shot from the outside.

The defense fouls Rick Day on his way to the basket.

Jackets Surprise Crowds with Fast Breaks

Cross-Countrymen Set Pace in Suburban League

Impressive record breaking times by David Van Meter, along with excellent team performance, made this a season of exhilarating competition. In their September 13 meet at Swope Park, Center's Cross-country squad finished victoriously over Truman and Lee's Summit. September 16, East defeated Center at Swope Park. In the meet at Grandview on September 20, Center finished second behind Grandview. David Van Meter continued his string of first place wins with an impressive time of 10:36. September 23, Center met Westport and Northeast at Swope Park, and finished second behind Westport. September 27, Center met North Kansas City and Oak Park, again finishing second. In the October Ruskin Invitational meet, Center finished ninth out of the 21 teams from the Kansas City area. October 4 and October 11, Center placed second in the two tri-meets at Swope Park—the first with Raytown South and William Chrisman. Running in the Suburban Conference meet, October 15, the Jackets placed ninth out of twelve participating teams. In the Jackets' final competition of the year at Columbia, Missouri, in the State Meet, David Van Meter placed ninth out of 160 runners.

STUDENT BODY

While Sophomores kept busy becoming acquainted with the new building, new courses, and new teachers, Juniors held the responsibility of Prom activities. All three classes studied and attended school functions together, but the '67 Senior Class had a separate personality. Cramming in as many activities as schedules would permit, Seniors attempted to make their last year an unforgettable one.

... And this again formed a pattern of activity.

Sophomores Become Acquainted with Center Traditions

The Sophomore class officers, Jackie Rotter, Babs Hock, Carla Porterfield, and Clay Smith, take time out from their busy schedule to represent the Sophomore class.

Bill Wickham, a thirsty Sophomore, pauses for a drink of water between classes.

Juniors Begin Last Year As Underclassmen

Greater responsibilities made this year's Junior class a more capable group of students. Active members represented the Juniors on the varsity football and cheerleading squads, held positions of leadership in clubs and organizations, and presented the Spring Prom. As the middleclassmen began to formulate plans for college, classes in Math, American History, English, and Science required many hours of study. Prepared to accept the duties which would be theirs as Seniors, the class of 1968 ended the year with confidence and enthusiasm.

Environment affects the study habits of Pat Kroenke, Debbie Root, and Joan Wilfong.

The question is "Who's got the ball?" in the struggle between Junior and Senior female football players.

Junior band members Pam Hammack and Sherri Welch perform in the stadium.

Sharil Bates prepares for the Prom.

Joy Weaver utilizes the language laboratory for French study.

The parking sticker permits Juniors to make use of the Center High lot.

Variety of Activity Begins Final Year for Seniors

With ring selections and a well planned steak fry, the graduating class of 1967 began a year of lasting memories. Studies in Senior courses commenced, and classes in Psychology, Sociology, Family Relations, and Physiology revealed topics which were helpful throughout the year. The learning accumulated from these studies proved useable in everyday life. When final exams exhausted the mind, the mention of "Ditch Day" lifted the spirits. A year of much enthusiasm and accomplishment came to a close when the Senior class attended their last prom, engaged in the Senior Trip, and walked down the graduation aisle to receive their diplomas, signifying the beginning of a new way of life.

Talented Jim Jones and Craig Ketchum serve as able replacements for cheerleaders in the game between Junior and Senior girls.

Rick Wagner demonstrates skill as he directs the Center Marching Band.

Confident of victory, Senior gridiron stars Cheryl Citron, Monica Foust, Jill Meakin, and Lucy Courtright amble back to scrimmage during the girls' football game.

Varsity Yellowjackets receive enthusiastic support from football fan Steve Morriss.

Reflection upon the past and anticipation of the future.

... And again we will form new patterns of activity.
