You are now entering the limelight of your life, learning how to face unfamiliar responsibilities and taking the initiative to achieve individual goals and personal standards.

The plot, the character and the lines are determined by your individual wants and needs.

CAMERA

The stage is set with the tools for achievement.

Here at Center
not only do you fulfill your academic needs,
but your social needs as well.

Do you realize everything you do is an attempt you make
to be a part of something,
or someone,
or perhaps,
to just be yourself.

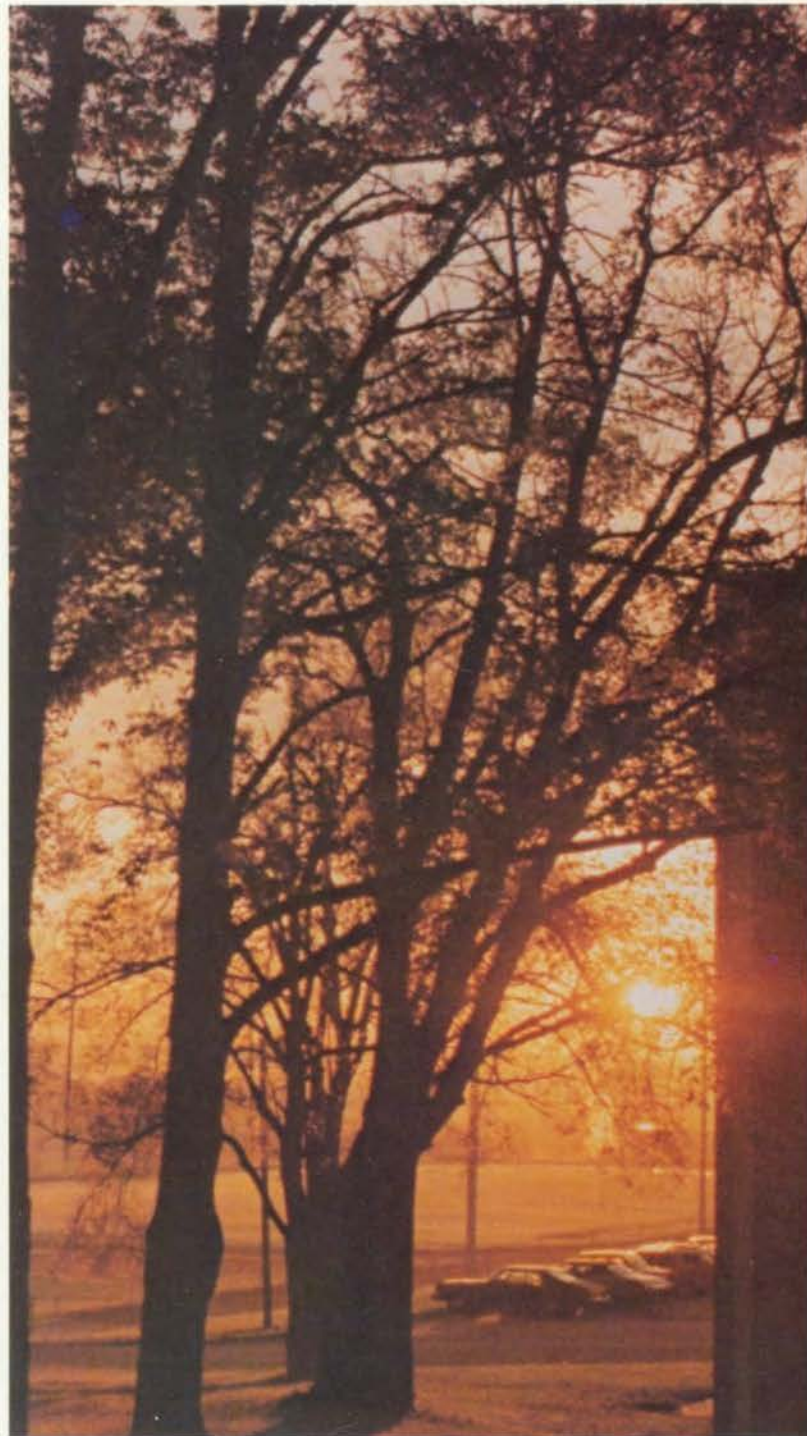

ACTION

The lights are on the cameras are rolling and the action has begun at Center High School.

Enthusiastic students reflect the atmosphere of Center at its best.

Your finest performance comes after you learn to guard the principles you live by now matter what the world may say or do.

THE SCREENPLAY

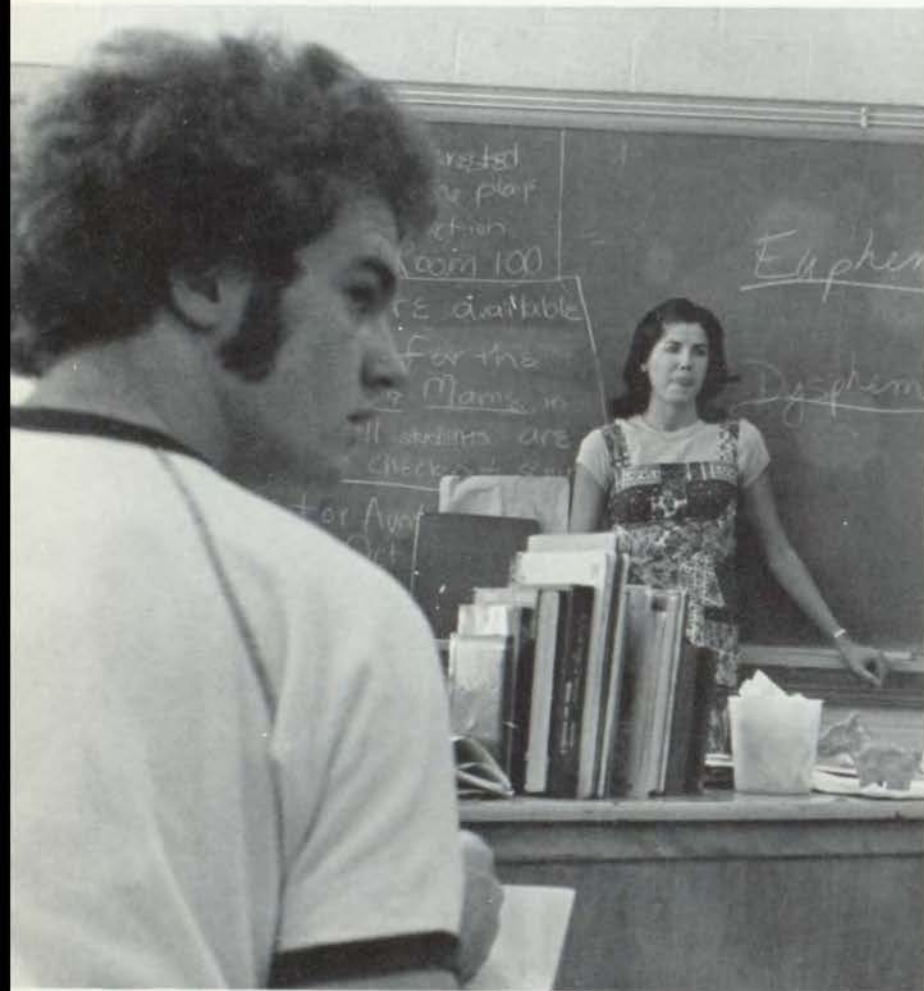

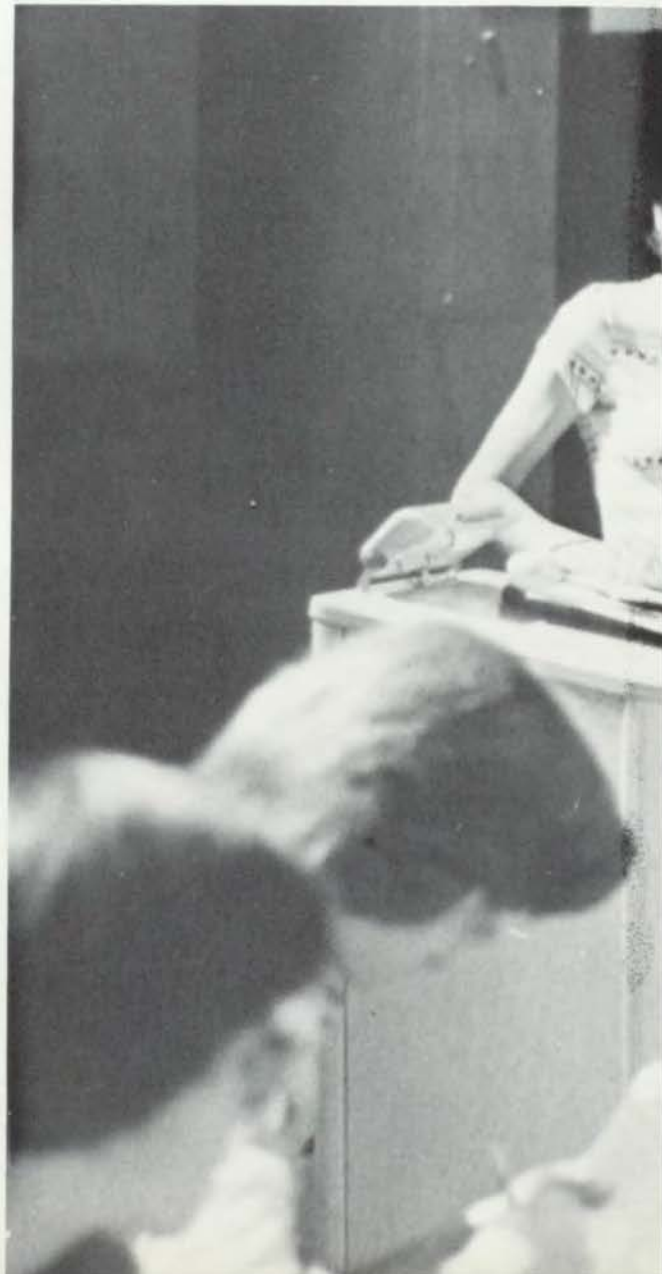

Mr. Wayne Brown, makes a point during a lecture.

Doing a pantomime, Drama I students practice muscle control.

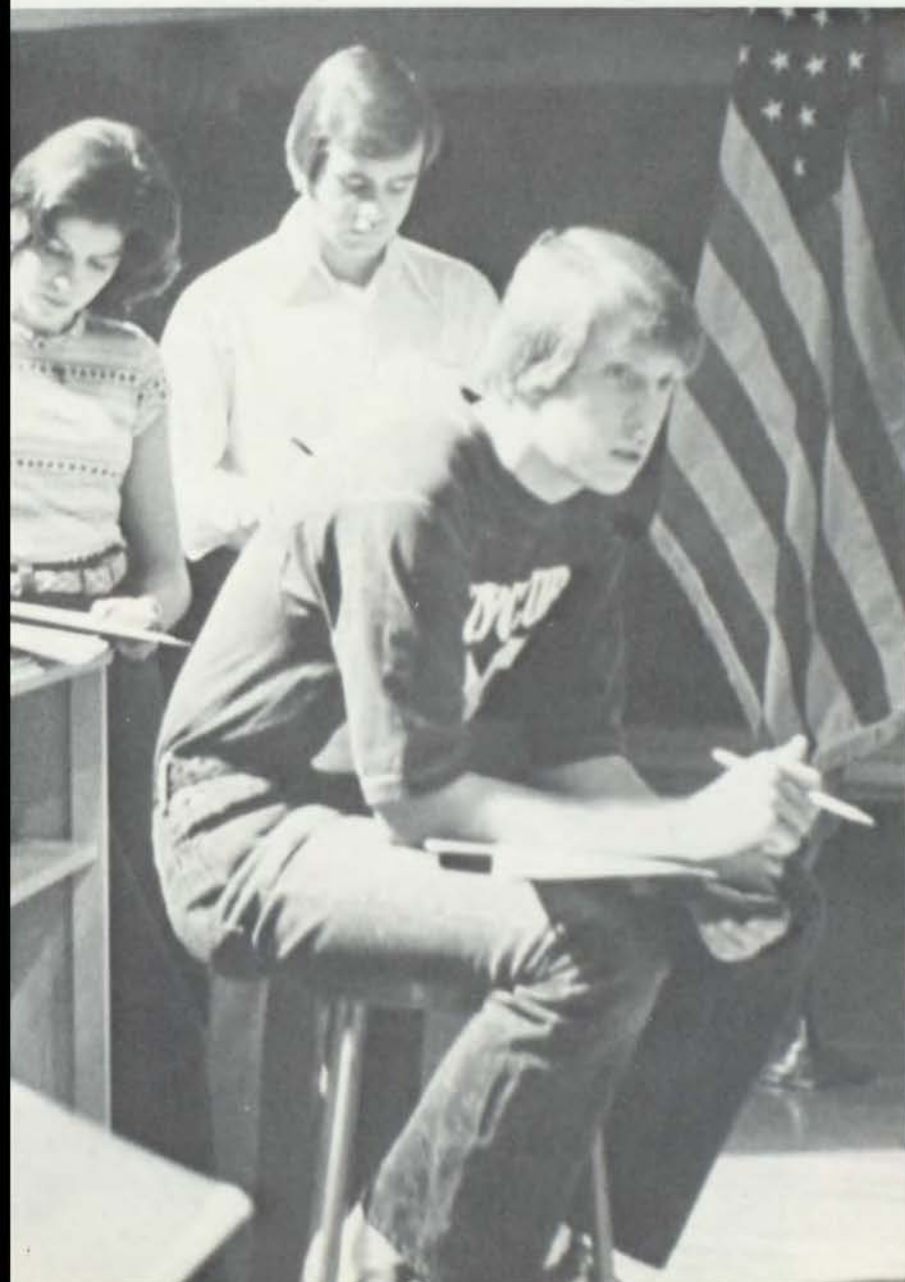

Senior KEVIN FITZGERALD listens as Ms. Jane Carnes explains persuasive techniques.

Set designs are discussed by BUDDY BLATTNER, senior, and Mr. Chet Landes.

Mr. John Wyatt, student teacher, attends on stage orientation.

Concentrating intently, PHILLIP WILLIAMS, sophomore, performs.

STUDENTS SPEAK OUT

According to Miss Jane Carnes, the goal of the Oral Communications Department was, "To teach students how to express themselves more effectively."

Students learned to do this through preparing speeches, role playing, debates and acting.

One of the many persons enrolled in these classes, HEATHER KENNEDY, junior, noted, "Persuasion gave me confidence when giving a speech."

One of the advantages of the Oral Communication classes was that the students took over the show and ran the class. Mr. Wayne Brown stated that, "Learning can be fun."

BACK TO BASICS

This year many changes occurred in the Art Department here at Center. Enrollment was up, and two new classes, Jewelry II and Drawing, were added.

When asked what she thought of the variety of classes available to her, BRENDA GIESEKE, senior, replied, "This is the fifth art class I've taken here and they really have been fun. I've made so many different things, especially in Jewelry, because I get exactly what I want."

With Design as a prerequisite for all other art classes, sophomores were unable to enroll in any other art courses until juniors and seniors were placed in the classes of their choice.

SUSAN CLARK, senior, said, "I like Design because it gives you the basics of art."

Student's creations were on display throughout the year in the Media Center.

Advice is given to BRENDA GIESEKE, senior, on her Jewelry II project, by Mrs. Kessler.

Sketching a still life setting, seniors SUSAN HAMMERICK and LEAH ANDERSON try to capture details.

Students work on projects and relax in Jewelry.

Mr. Tom Creamer assists JEFF FORBES, senior, in adding variation to his pot.

Seniors, SAM ALLRED and JOHN MILLER take time out from Jewelry II to pose.

Senior, SANDRA CRAWFORD, molds her project for Ceramics.

Capturing nature at it's best for Design I is KELLY CARSON, sophomore.

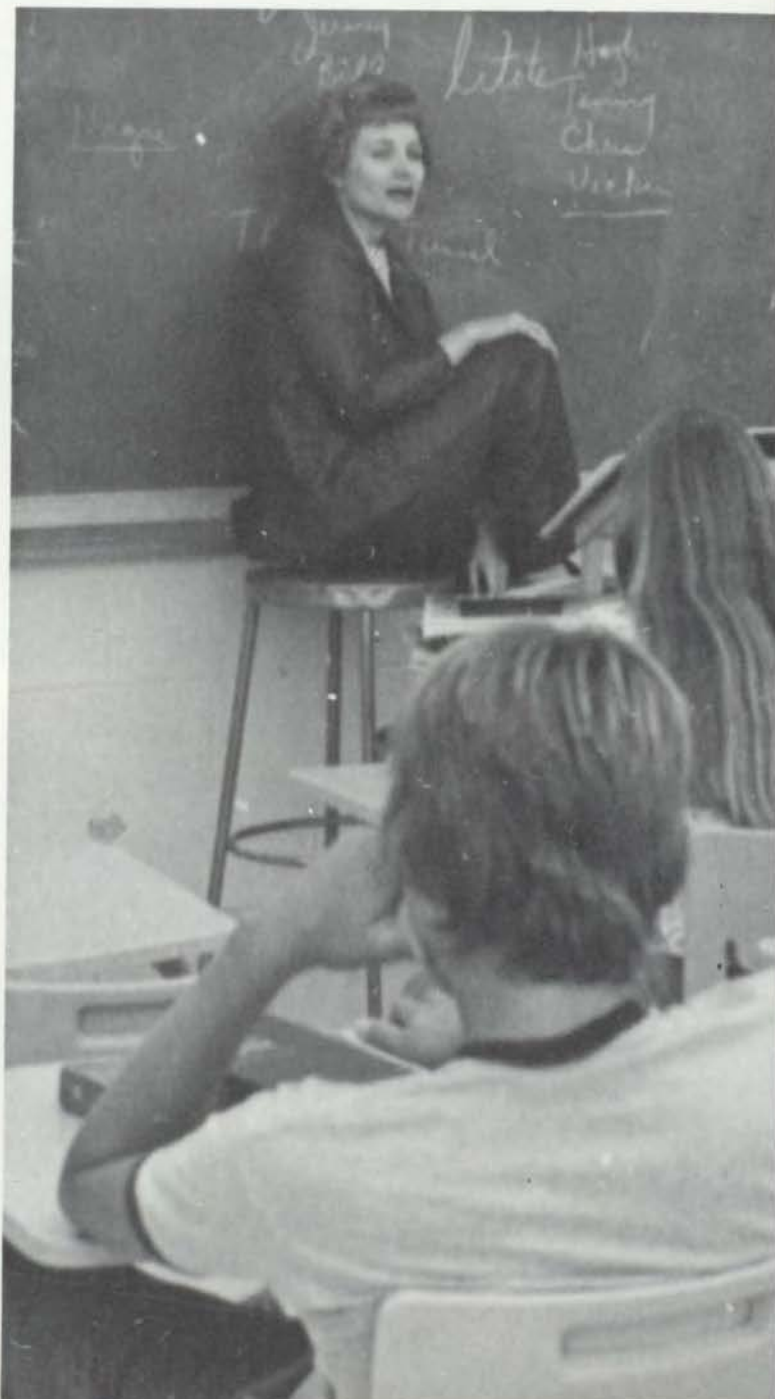

Students have a free moment before Mrs. Kowalczyk begins teaching her Comp. I class.

Science Fiction class listens intently to Mrs. Goetzing as she explains the assignment.

Mrs. Tracy has a discussion with her Bible as Literature class.

Mrs. Cobb's Publications I class works on their headlines for their upcoming assignment.

Basic Lit. students strive hard for the answers.

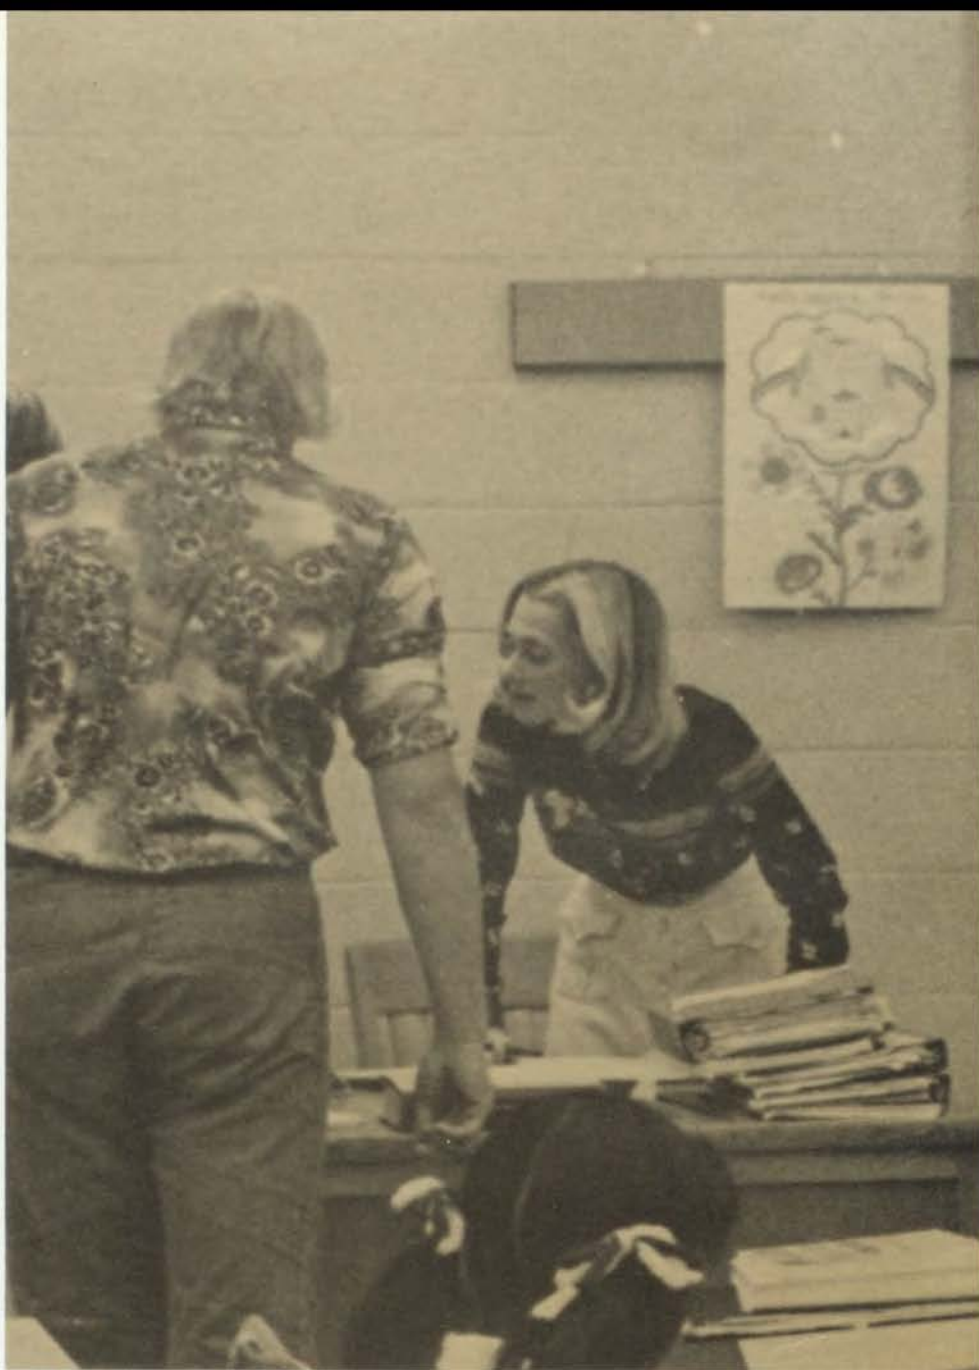

ATTITUDES

Different attitudes were involved with the Language Arts Department here at Center. Mr. Chet Landes, head of the department, felt there were three types of students, "Those who really wanted to learn, those who didn't care either way, and those who were required to take a course."

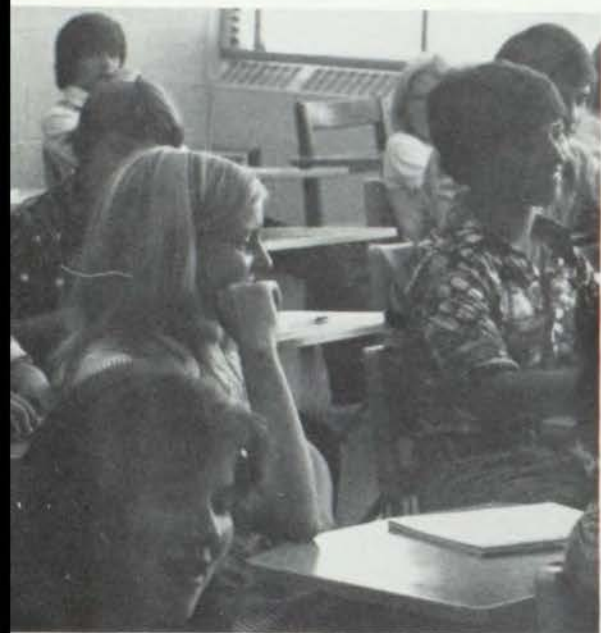

Center, compared to some other schools, had an advantage elective-wise in the Language Arts Department. Mrs. Kowalczyk, new teacher at Center, said, "I think that Center really has a good choice of electives, students are more responsible."

"It is important to learn of the past and present to become a more responsible citizen in the future," stated Mr. Tom Grow, Social Studies Department head.

The changes this year in the Social Studies Department have been minor. More World History classes were added, they were Early Western Civilization, and Modern European Civilization. Another course added to the curriculum was Famous Persons. Although the change was minor, the importance of social studies has remained a major part in our school life.

International Relations student talks with Mrs. Winetroub on a test.

SHERI GENTZKE, junior, contemplates Family Relations lecture.

Early Western Civilization students engage in group work and discussion.

STUDY OF PAST IMPROVES FUTURE

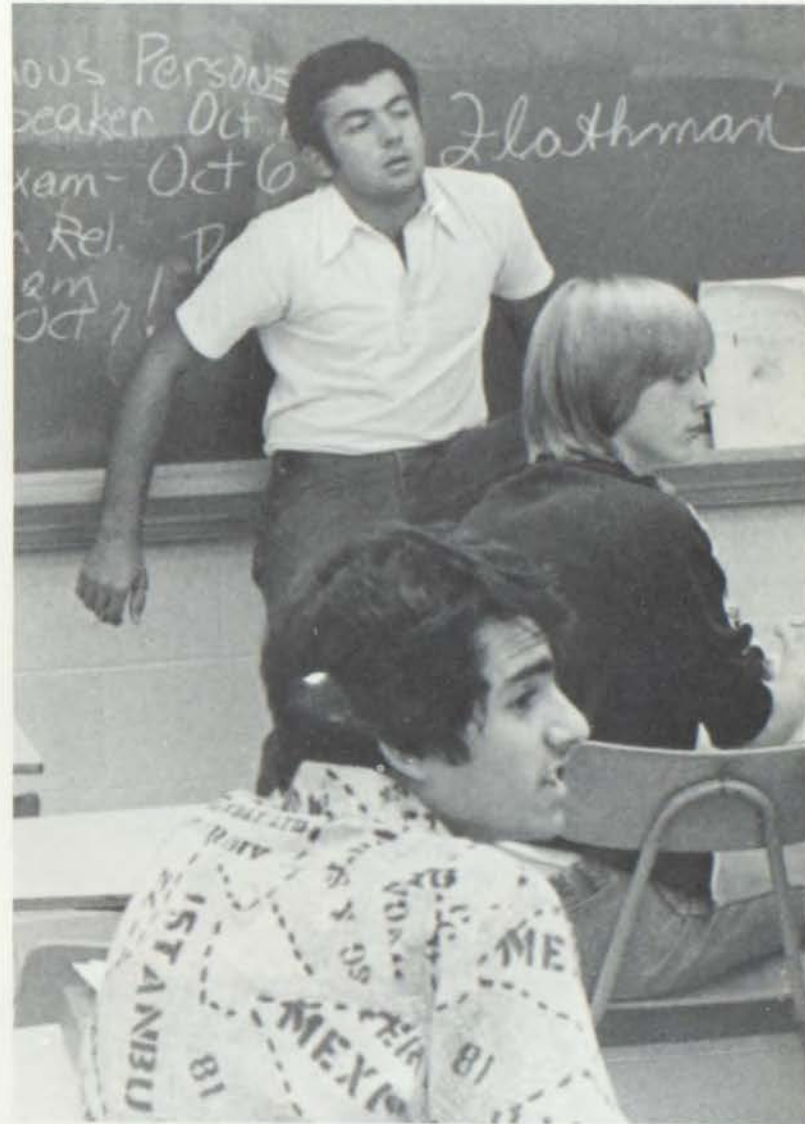

Mrs. Fehr, sociology teacher, explains to her class the assignment for the next day and the procedure that will be followed on all future assignments.

KEVIN FITZERALD, senior, is a host on Democrat Day, an Opportunity Period which was planned by the Community Resources class.

Students in Constitutional Development class take notes.

Presiding over a Political Parties meeting, President, AZAM ANWAR, senior, listens to a member's ideas.

SCIENCE ATTRACTS STUDENTS

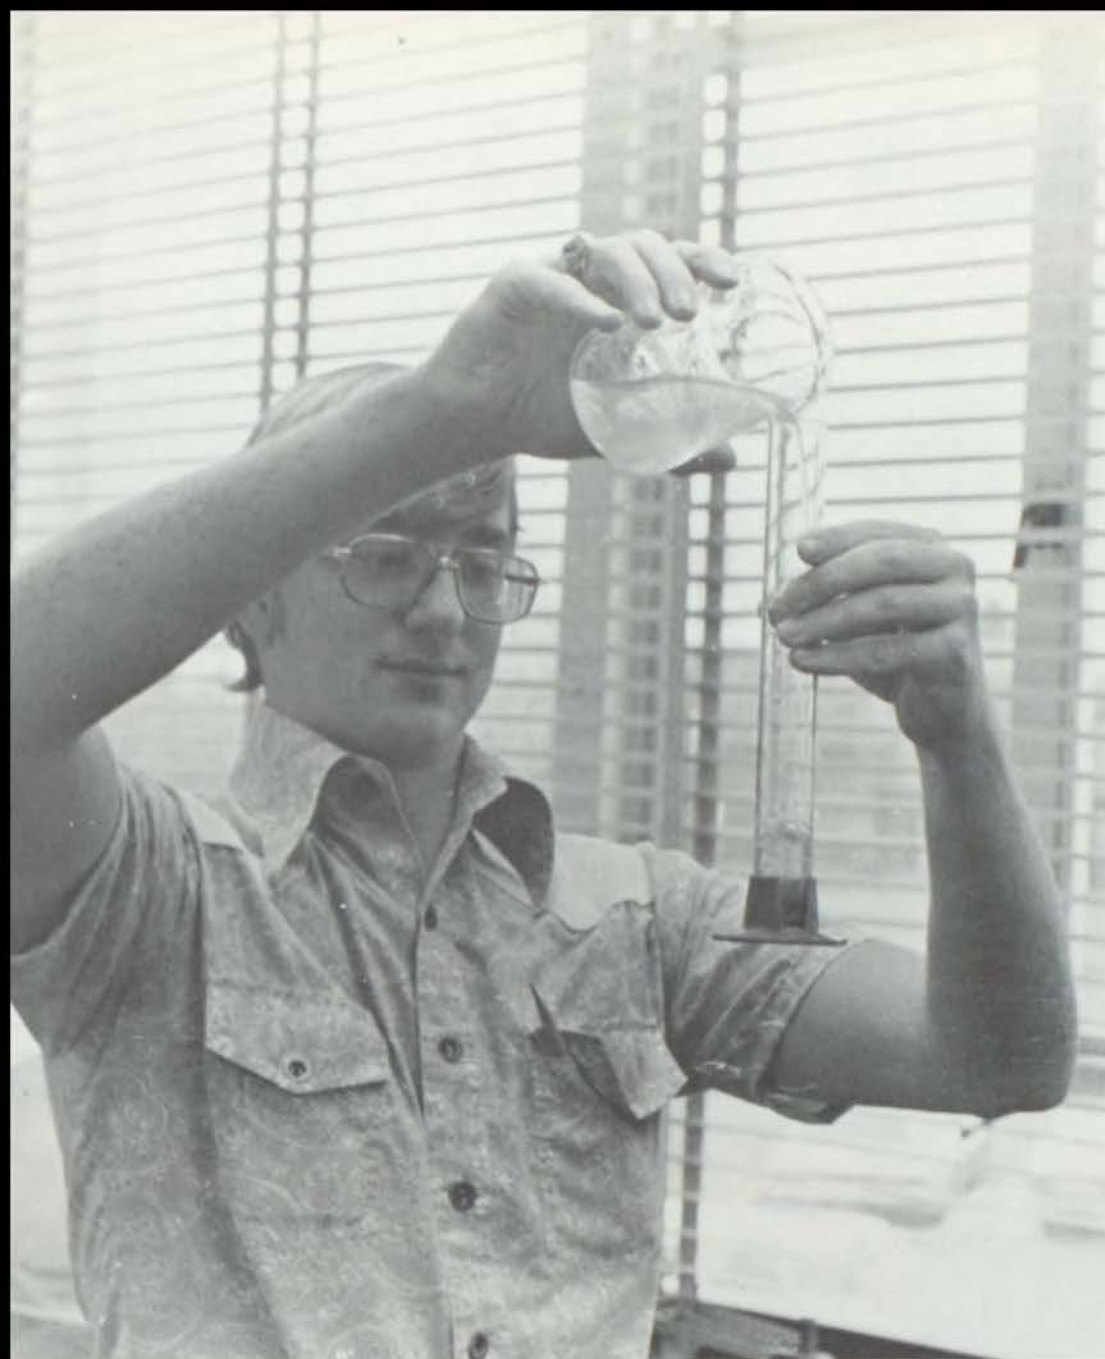

STEVE FALKE, senior, weighs the contents of a beaker, before conducting an experiment.

Mr. Angell identifies a plant for his students.

Showing students a young tree is Mr. Asjes.

PAUL HINK, senior, measures hydrochloric acid in order to get data.

Mr. Henley helps his sixth hour class in reviewing for a physics test.

"The science classes I am taking help me in preparing for my future career, as a nurse," stated TAMMY SWYDEN, senior.

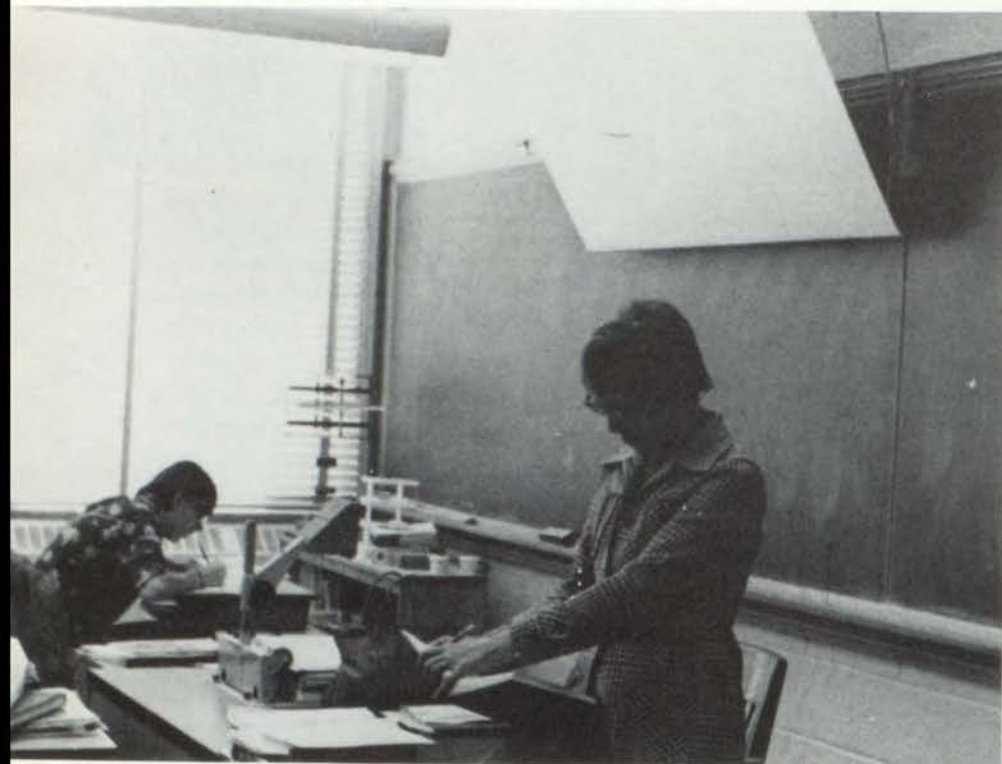

Perhaps, this is why the science department at Center had the highest enrollment of any other department. None of the courses in the Science Department were required, yet, the interest of the students in science classes, seemed to surpass that of any other department.

"I feel the science classes are an essential part of my education even though the courses are not required," commented AMY EISENSTEIN, senior.

Students engage in biology test.

Going over math problems in class is part of Mrs. LeSage's job as a math teacher.

Mrs. Pinkard illustrates a problem for her students.

Junior, CHRIS WILTSE listens intently to his math teacher.

Algebra II students work on assignments in class.

MORE IN MATH

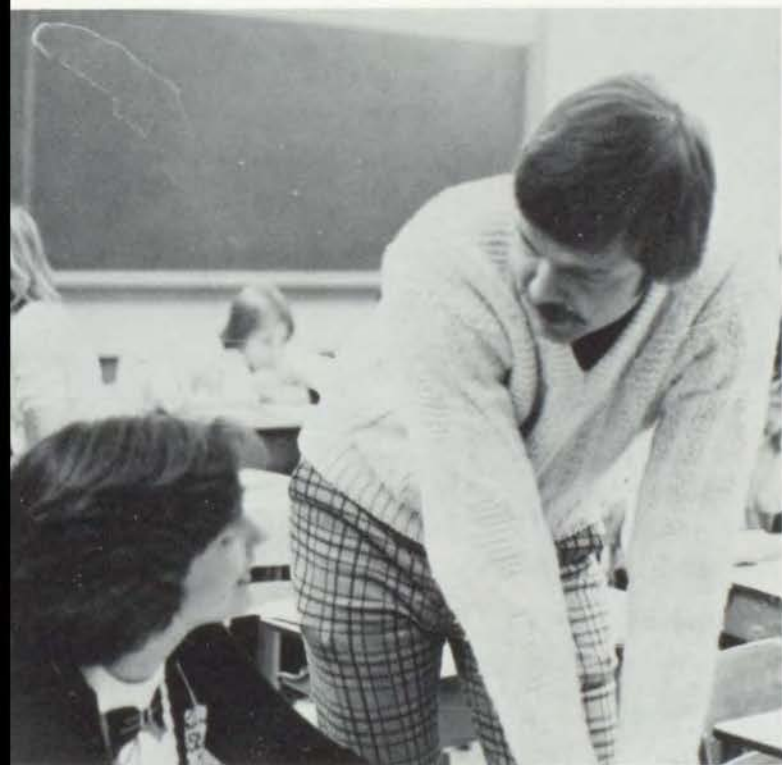

Mathematics at Center is now, and has been for quite a few years, more than just old time Arithmetic. Centers Math Department has developed into a very advanced program. Some of the courses offered are Pre-Algebra, Algebra, Geometry, Algebra II & Trigonometry, Calculus, and Math Topics I & II. These courses offer advancement in the areas of simple checkbook planning to more complicated mathematical procedures. STEVE WOODS, Sophomore, commented, "I'm getting a lot out of Algebra I, especially being taught by Mrs. LeSage."

Mr. Knopps untangles complicated problems on the board for his class.

Mr. Gray explains Geometry to his math students during fourth hour.

Helping students in class with assignments is Dr. Rollins.

NEW EQUIPMENT

Enrollment went up in the industrial arts courses this year. This may be due to the many girls that enrolled into a predominately male field. The girls entered such classes as metals, power machinics. But drafting seemed to be the favorite for most of the girls that enrolled.

New equipment was also added to the department such as a dust collecting system for the wood shop. An exhaust system was also installed over the welding area. Last year the graphics classes received a new typesetter, and this year it was put to good use by the Searchlight staff. The staff set all of their own copy.

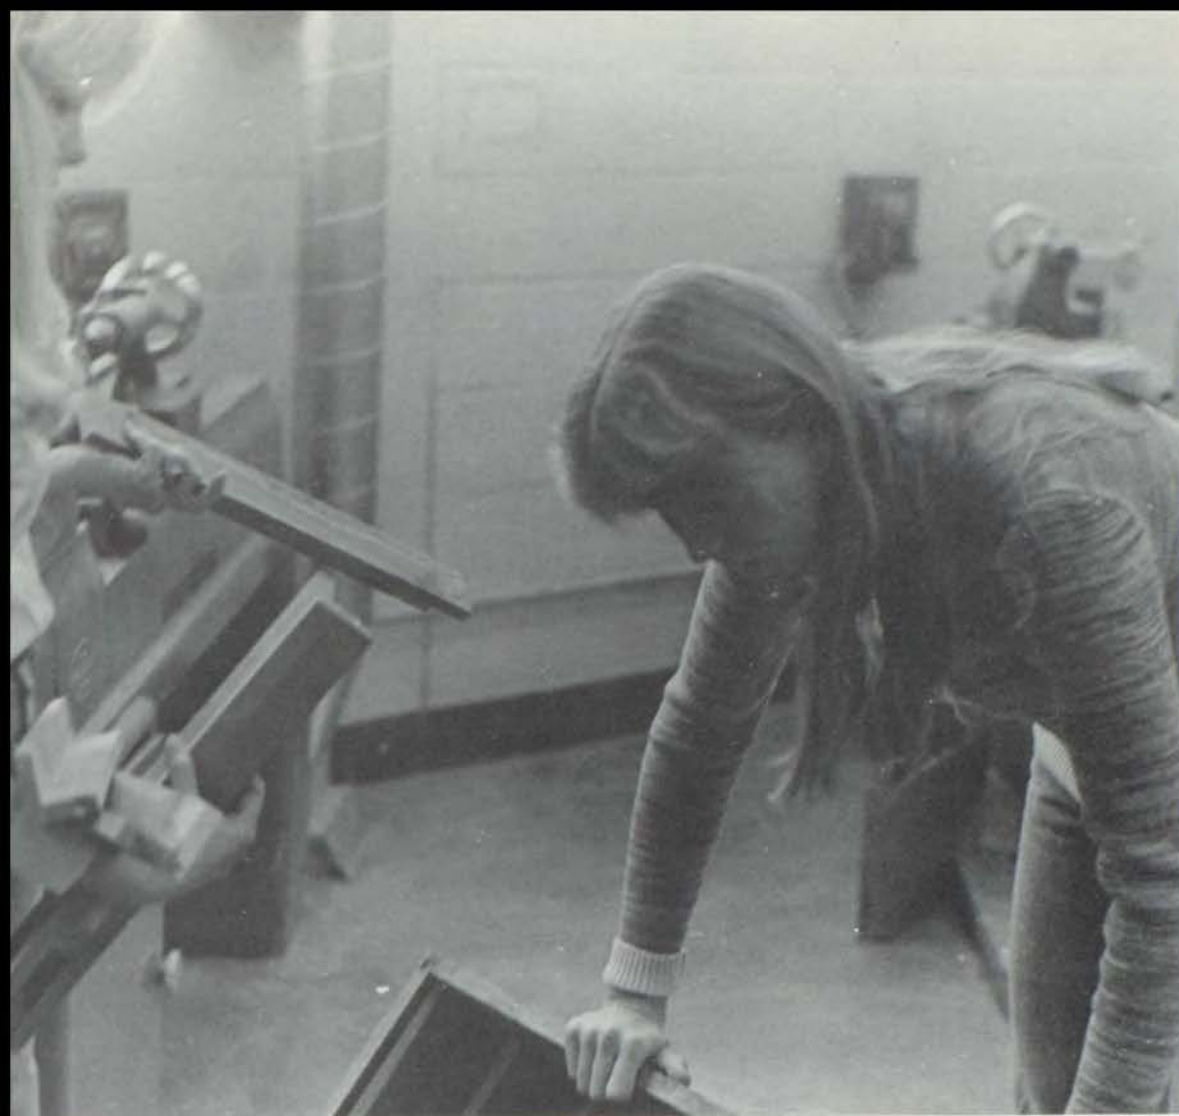

Using safety equipment PAUL HANELY prepares to use the saw.

Making accurate measurements, senior GILBERT JOHNSON constructs a coffee table in his advanced woods class.

RANDY WORMSELY carefully sands his cedar chest.

Lab assistant CINDY ONSTAD, senior, gives aid to Senior SHERRI KINYON.

BOB KAGGS takes time out to help JOHN HANSFORD.

Students take a break from their work.

CAMILLE SPEISE, senior concentrates hard as she works on an adding machine in Clerical Practices.

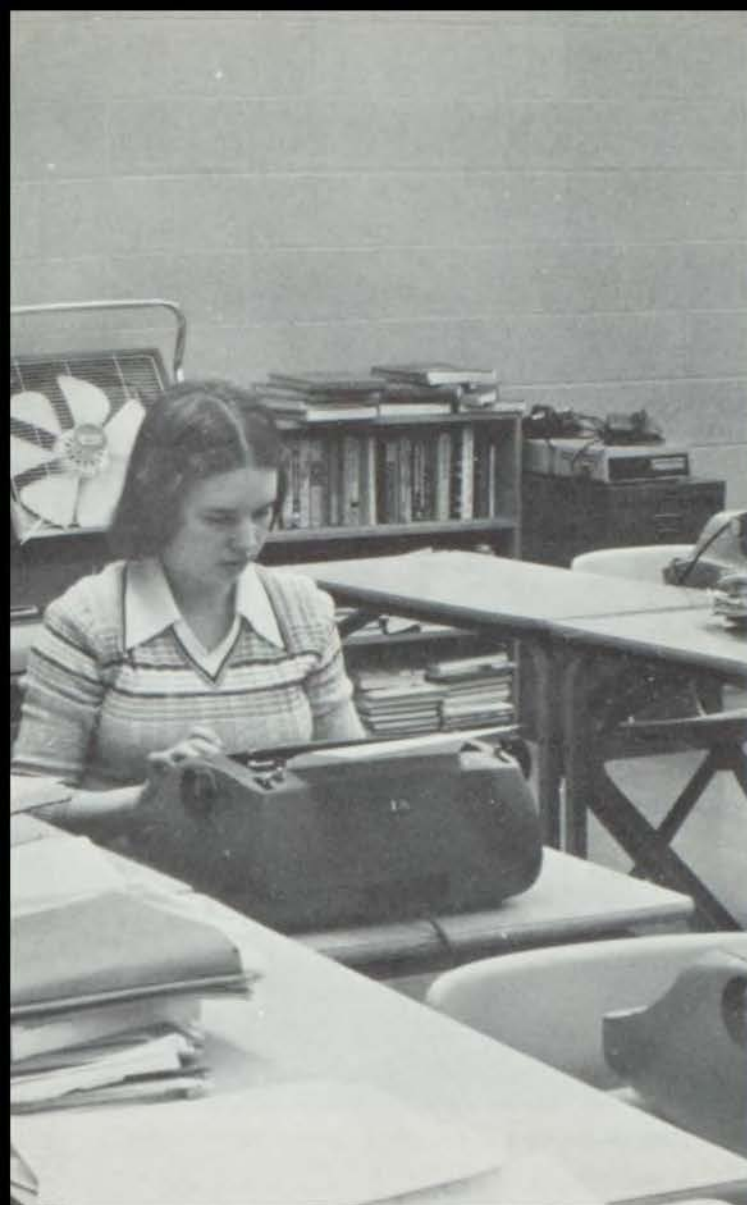

PREPARING FOR JOBS

The main objectives for the business classes were to introduce business concepts and terms, and to prepare students for jobs.

Data processing, typing, shorthand, business law, clerical practices, computer systems and accounting are all business classes designed to give students sellable skills.

RENEE DICAPO, senior, remarked about computer systems, "I enjoy the freedom because it gives me an opportunity to work at my own speed and with others."

In the 1976-77 school year, the Business Department saw some new changes. First, two new teachers; Mrs. VanHook, who teaches typing and recordkeeping, and Mr. McCormick, who is the Data Processing Coordinator joined the staff. Also, a new computer arrived in August, bringing new potential for the Business Department.

Perfecting her typing skills, CINDY STEINZEIG, works on an assignment.

Miss Beard, helps NANCY PETRIE, junior solve her workbook problems, while PATTY BELL, senior waits in line.

Using imagination and skill, the Home Ec. classes created masterpieces. With the help of Mrs. Rayburn, Mrs. Ray, and Mrs. Foster, students learned to use their individual talents in making items for their own use now and for possibly a future career in Home Economics. Not just girls but many boys contributed constructively to the making of food and clothing. Meal preparation, table manners, and nutritional needs are a few things learned in Foods.

Child Development exercised the study of physical and mental behavior of children ages 1-6. This course was designed to prepare the student to someday become a new parent. All these classes are good preparations for the future family.

Foods III class enjoys the dishes cooked for their Hawaiian luau.

A tropical Hawaiian fish dish waits to be eaten as it sits to cool.

Junior PEGGY SEEGER puts finishing touches on her skirt in Clothing 1.

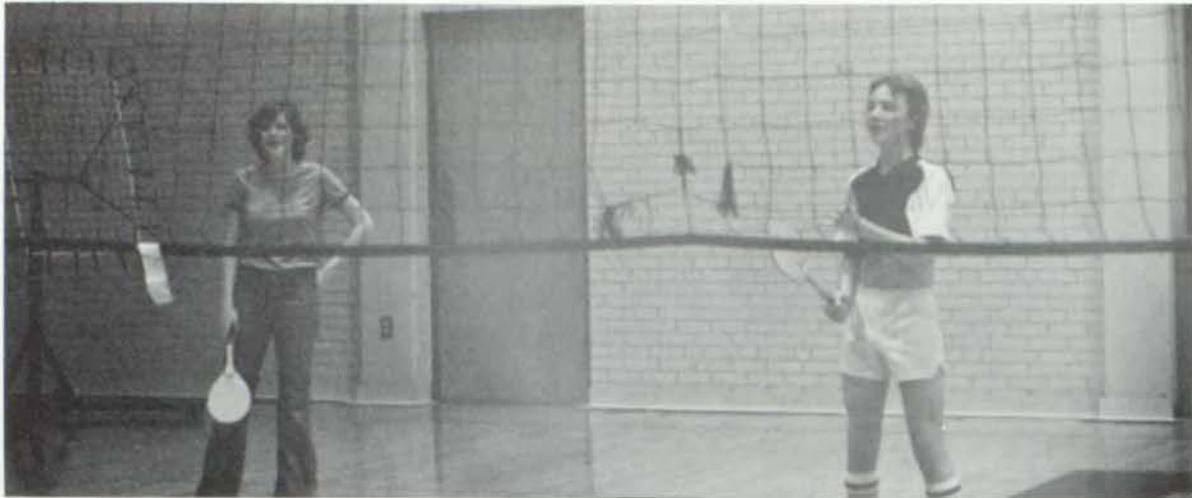

CLASSES PREPARE...

Girls work hard on their projects as they follow instructions from the teacher.

Max Hayes, Phys. Ed. instructor gives last minute pointers on volleyball.

TITLE IX CHANGES P.E.

On July 21, 1975 President Gerald Ford passed what is known as Title IX. Title IX insures the rights of the sexes to get equal treatment in both Physical Education & Athletics. Under this law equal facilities, equipment, and scheduling are to be furnished for both sexes.

Center became one of the first schools in the K.C. area to put this ruling into effect. Co-ed physical education classes were offered, along with all non-contact sports such as bowling, golf, volleyball, and archery.

Some other changes in the department were the 30-year-old lockers in the boys locker room were replaced and the Booster Club purchased additional equipment for the weight room.

It is now illegal for schools to discriminate on basis of sex. "I think that girls should be able to participate in a friendly game of bombardment with the boys," remarked KEN NIELSEN, senior.

New lockers were finally installed mid-way in the first quarter.

Coach Hayes records students progress on the bench press.

Mr. Mike Weibert instructs a student on how to parallel park.

Mr. Wills prepares a film for simulation.

Students leave the car after an hour of driving with Mr. Wills.

Preparing to simulate is sophomore CAROLYN KEYES.

Students study during classtime to prepare for a test.

DRIVER'S ED BRINGS FUN

Sixteenth birthdays are important to everybody, mainly because it signals your eligibility to drive a car. Drivers Education is a class designed to teach students how to drive a car and the laws of driving. Because the class is only one semester long, most students take Drivers Education their sophomore year. To be able to take this class you must be 15½ and not have your driver's license. The class is designed for simulation, classroom discussion, and actual driving. Center is one of the few schools in Missouri with simulators. Many reasons are expressed for taking Drivers Education, but most agree it's to get insurance cheaper. One of the most important parts of taking Drivers Education is that it is one class that you will remember what you have learned.

DAVID JACKSON, junior works with a computer.

Students travel each day to JOE HERNDON Area Vocational Technical School to learn trades.

Learning the trades of mechanics, CONSTANTINE ANTONOPOULOS Junior, practice on a truck.

HEADSTART ON CAREER

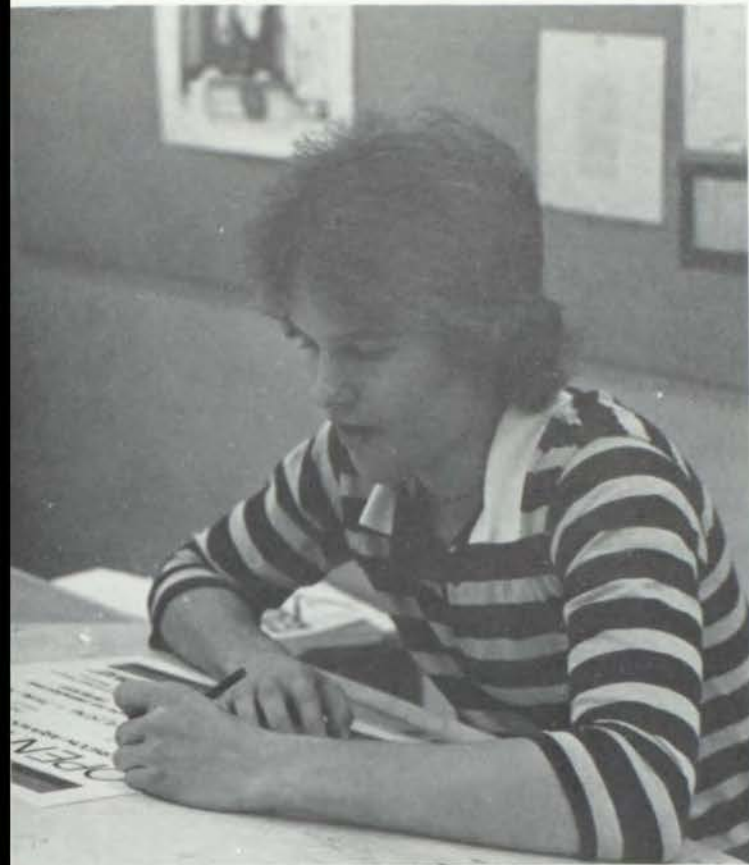

This year students who wanted a headstart in learning a career for the future took part in the Vo Tech program. The course, being open to only Juniors and seniors, had 48 students enrolled in it.

The Vocational-Technological School is divided into the East and West campuses, which are both located in Rayton.

The program is designed so that the student goes to their own school for half a day and then rides a bus out to the Vo Tech school for the rest of the day.

They are offered such courses as Mechanics, Commercial Building Management, Cosmetology, Food Service, Data Processing, Graphic Arts and many other courses which will help to prepare the student for the future.

Senior MARK TURRVILLE stated, "I liked the Vo Tech program because it gave me some idea of what I might be doing in the future."

Senior JOHN MILLER works on art in an advertising class.

LAURIE SKELTON, senior, types a new program.

LESLIE LEAHY, senior cosmetology student, studies her work on a willing customer.

FRESH BEGINNING

This year A.F.S. got off to a fresh start, a new beginning. The club has a new sponsor this year. Her name is Mrs. Fehr. She had formerly been the sponsor for the S.A.E. organization.

This was not the only change for the club, the enrollment was up compared to last year. More sophomores and juniors than seniors are enrolled. The under classmen thought of great ideas.

With this kind of enthusiasm the club set out to accomplish their goals. Some of their goals were participating in the homecoming parade, with a fine entry.

In addition to this there were two fund raisers, and the annual A.F.S. week. The foreign exchange students from area high schools came to Center to inform the students here a little bit about their countries.

FUN IN CULTURE

Through the year several students participated in one of the foreign language clubs. The clubs, French, German, and Spanish were organized for members with the same interests in a culture to have a chance to meet other students. "At Spanish Club meetings we don't sit around and speak Spanish constantly which many people believe," commented MIKE CANNON.

Each of the clubs sold candy for a fundraiser to earn money for the years activities. The traditional Hot Tamale sale was held by the Spanish Club, German Club sold Toblerone and Softi Chews, while the French Club sold Katherine Candy Bars.

Decorating a float for Homecoming and having a banquet in the spring were some of the highlights of the Spanish Club.

To start the year off for the German Club, the officers held a picnic to meet new members.

Participating in the 1976 Homecoming parade is the Spanish Club float.

"Your First Fairy Tale" is German Club's theme for their Homecoming float.

PARTICIPATION

Members go over a list of restaurants for the banquet.

Thinking of ideas for a future meeting, Seniors, JOEL GRANOFF and MARY MELCHIOR.

German Club strives for 100% membership of German students.

Many students join a club to get involved. The Spanish and German clubs each had over 50 members while the French Club had only 15 members.

Even though the French Club had little participation from French students, the club still decorated a Homecoming float, had French Club T-shirts printed, and a Christmas dinner.

EFFORTS PROVE WORTHY

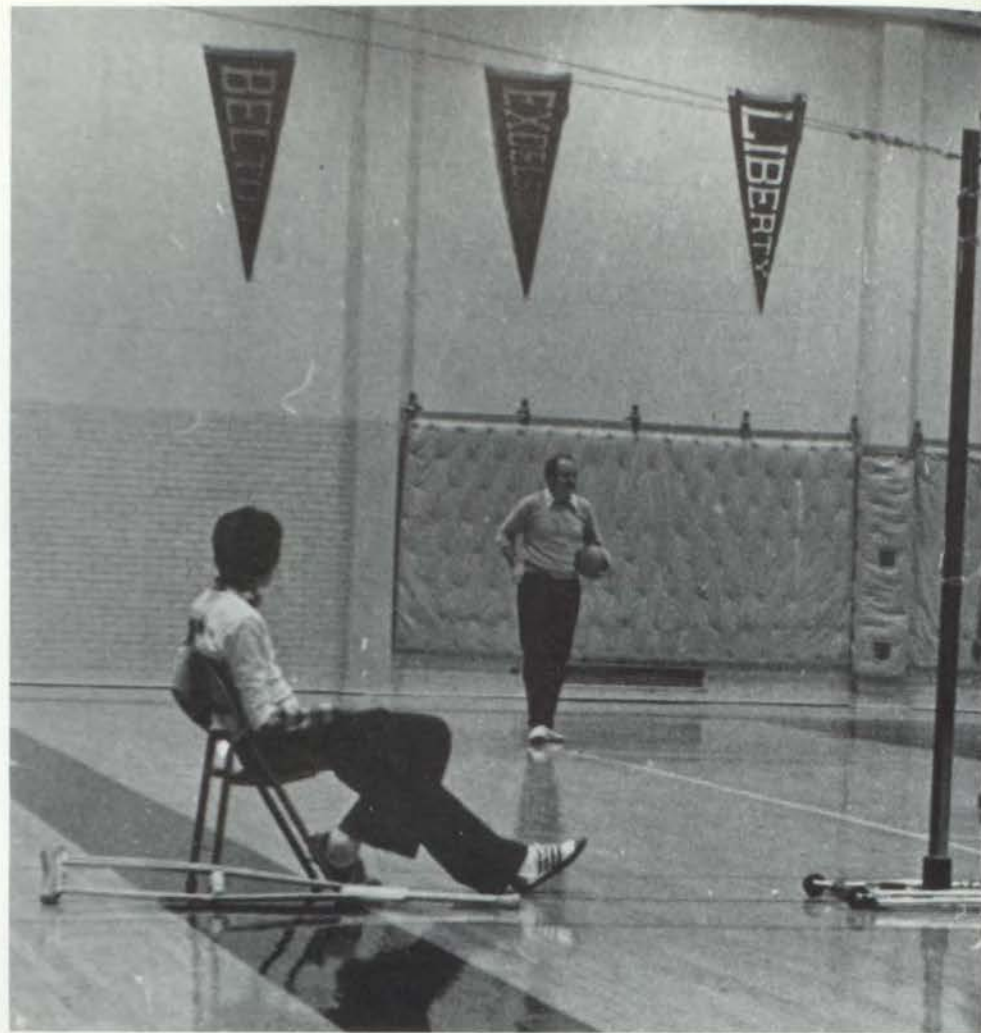

This year VICA and DECA have made an outstanding mark at Center. Through the efforts of Mr. Tom Coyle, VICA sponsor, and Miss Cindy Payne, DECA sponsor, both organizations have become more school oriented. Both organizations participated actively in Homecoming. The VICA parade float was presented with a second place ribbon. A student-parent tea and an employer-employee banquet, was also activities for the '76-'77 school year.

SERVICE

"To provide a practical means to form enduring friendships, to render unselfish service, and to build better communities." As stated in the objects of the Key Club calender, was the purpose of the Center Key Club this year.

The Key Club had many fund raisers throughout the 1976-77 year, including the sales of the Key Club Activity Calender. Students bought days for a quarter a piece. All the members of the Key Club helped promote the sales by making posters and announcements. They also held a volleyball tournament which included all area Key Clubs. Also to raise money and the spirits of the teachers and students, they held a Key Club-Faculty volleyball game.

"Key Club played a large roll in my social involvement in school, as well as my educational learnings," stated JOHN CONSTANT.

DEDICATION

"The past record of Center's National Forensics League proves that our members have been a group of fine, dedicated students, and this year was no exception," according to N.F.L. President PAUL HINK. With officers including Paul as president, JEFF ALEXANDER, vice-president, DEBBIE RUBINS, secretary, and RUTH LOCKYEAR, treasurer, N.F.L. began the year with many novices as well as a large number of experienced members. PAUL noted that, "The major activity of N.F.L. was Center's Speech and Debate Tournament held on Dec. 17-18. Many long, hard hours were spent making the tournament a success." Mr. WAYNE E. BROWN, sponsor of N.F.L. said, "We had a well-rounded group this year which greatly contributed to our success."

Playing requests at the Disco, the disc jockeys get organized.

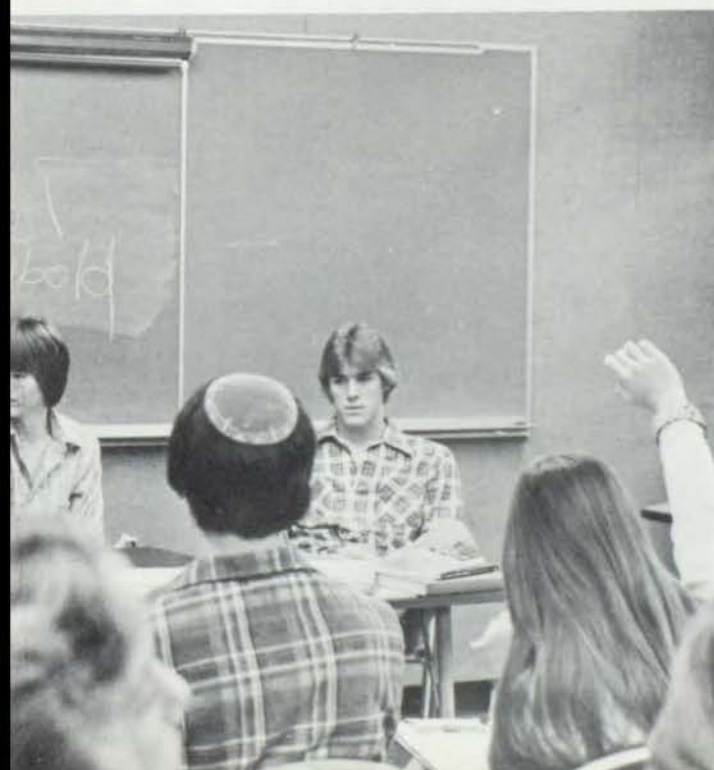

The 1976-77 Student Council, formerly known as SGA, started the school year with a successful disco dance, which took the place of the usual "Icebreaker." The "Icebreaker" was not the only change that took place this year. In contrast to last year's meetings, StuCo presented a more informal atmosphere with the abolition of Parliamentary Procedure. This enabled the students to voice their ideas on a more personal basis.

Instead of holding meetings in the Garrison Auditorium, StuCo conferred in the Media Center this year. They felt this would be a better accomodation for a smaller group.

Besides being in charge of the dances with "Snoball" as the highlight, StuCo also handled Sophomore orientation, put out the school roster, took charge of the United Fund Campaign and other various activities.

VOTING

This year the Political Science Club sponsored the Model UN and the Model Senate. Along with that they held a Mock Election. To vote in the election students were given one week in September to register to vote.

Members of the club plastered the halls with posters for everyone ranging from Presidential candidates to Circuit Court Judge races.

On October 26, 430 students turned out to vote for the candidates of their choice. The lines were long and some waited for 45 minutes to vote, but none seemed to mind the wait.

The results were in by the next day thanks to Mr. and Mrs. McCormick and the Computer Systems classes.

EXPERIENCE GAINED

Model U.N. and Model Senate are two clubs that Political Science Club supports. They are designed for the student to learn parliamentary procedure and other various aspects of the Senate and United Nations meetings.

On Jan 21, sixteen students attended a Senate meeting at Park College in Parkville, Mo. Eight of the students actually participated as senators and the other eight went as observers.

"The Model U.N. was particularly valuable because it gave participants the chance to discuss with students from other schools major international issues. It also provided some practical insight into the workings of the United Nations," stated JON DRITLEY.

On March 2, six students went to Washington D.C. for four days to attend a Model U.N. meeting. The six students from Center represented the country Zambia. The meetings were held exactly as a normal U.N. meeting would be held, in order for the some 1,500 students who attended to see the actual workings of the U.N.

"Attending the Model U.N. helps students understand the weaknesses as well as the strong points of the U.N. From this experience it can help them to become a functioning part of the international world," stated senior AZAM ANWAR.

Busy was the key word for National Honor Society this year. The group re-wrote their constitution, changed the grade point requirement from 3.4 to 3.6 and discovered a more objective way to accept new members.

In the past students with the required grade point average were reviewed by staff members and then were reviewed by a teacher recommendation. This year, however, students were judged in three areas: service, character and leadership.

When asked how he felt about NHS, Senior PAUL HINK replied, "It recognizes those who do well in school but also those who are involved in some extra activities."

The old club of 21, this year received 48 new members at the annual induction ceremonies.

MEMBERS STAND OUT

Recognition is a thing all high school students like to achieve. But being recognized in academics is a very hard thing to do. That is why honor clubs like Quill & Scroll and 100 Girls are formed. Senior MARK GRAY states, "Academics is the main purpose of going to school, so forming a club that shows excellence in scholastics is a very worthwhile organization."

Quill & Scroll is a club for members of upper 1/3 of their class plus stand out in journalism.

100 Girls is a club which the top five girls of the senior and junior class only are admitted.

WORKING WITH PEOPLE

Covering everything from the Republican Convention to an in-depth report on Juvenile crime was this year's SEARCHLIGHT STAFF.

The staff worked hard on each paper striving for a variety of stories to appeal to the entire student body. It was each reporters responsibility to check their beats for any important events.

Regular features this year included The Bi-Weekly Mirror, Keep Your Plants On, and a new column that began second semester called That's Entertainment.

SUCCESS DUE TO DEDICATED STAFF

Taking a minute to gather their thoughts is assistant editor, RON OSBORN, and photographer, JOEL GRANOFF.

Through a very dedicated group of students the YELLOWJACKET staff succeeded in manufacturing a memorable yearbook for the student body. Though many times throughout the year it was debatable whether or not the staff would meet their deadlines, they always came through due to the hardworking attitude of staff members. Many long hours were put in after school by both the staff and their advisor, Mrs. Cindy Cobb. The staff was kept busy by creating different lay-outs, cropping pictures, making captions, headlines, and writing copy. Staff member, JILL DRITLEY commented, "It was a lot of fun because everyone was such good friends. All in all the YELLOWJACKET proved to be a very successful yearbook due to the advice of staff, and cooperation of many Center students."

Giving assistance to a deserving staff member is editor-in-chief, MARK GRAY.

This year Players 58 broke with tradition by holding a week long jewelry sale. Thanks to the help of sponsor Mr. C. L. Landes, the sale was so successful that the drama club was able to buy a badly needed tape recording system.

The main purpose of Players is to sponsor Center's play productions: the Fall Play, the Children's Play, and the spring Musical.

Players 58 members were drawn together by a common interest—drama. Perhaps the most modest member is Junior LIZ CARTY, who proclaimed, "Players deserves me because it's the best!"

MAME DRAWS RECORD CROWD

On November 19 and 20, Players 58 presented it's fall production, "Auntie Mame." This was under the direction of Mr. C.L. Landes. The two night performances received an estimated crowd of 1,100 to 1,200.

This was said to be one of the largest turn outs for a fall play here at Center. If you attended the play either night it would be quite understandable why the turn out was so large.

The acting was outstanding, more elaborate sets were used. More money was spent for costumes than plays in the past, and fast costume changes were required with little time allowed for them.

But it all fell together with the help of the crews, such as make-up, costumes, props, paint, business, and show crews.

Miss Gooch (LIZ CARTY) has everyone's eye as she is preparing to "live!"

The play opens with all of Mame's friends gathered for one of her many extravagant parties.

The cast takes a final bow after their performance.

Mame (DEANI HURST) explains to young Pat (MITZY SPERRY) how different his life will be with his Auntie Mame.

Junior JULIE BISGARD and Mrs. Scott prepare the make-up kit for the kids on make-up crew.

CHILDREN'S PLAY BRINGS SUCCESS

Martine (LIZ CARTY) pleads with Geronte (MARK GRAY) not to hang her husband.

Enthusiasm and hard work set the stage for the Children's Play, "The Doctor in Spite of Himself." The play was held on January 12 and 13, after six weeks of preparation during fifth hour acting class and after school. A matinee was held fourth and fifth hour for children from area schools. The lead role was played by ANDY BERRY, senior. The story was about a simple woodcutter who is forced to become a doctor by two servants of a rich man. As a doctor he must cure the master's daughter who has lost her power of speech. However she is only faking the illness to keep from marrying a man her father wants her to marry, because she loves another. The doctor plots to unite the true lovers but he is discovered. Everyone lives happily ever after when the father lets the lovers marry because of an inheritance.

To cut down on after school rehearsal time, the Children's show was put on by the fifth hour acting class. Ross Blaine adds, "There is something about children and the way they react to what we do that makes me feel like I have accomplished something."

Sganarelle (ANDY BERRY) is forced to become a doctor.

Silent Lucinde (JOAN BUTLER) needs a cure.

The frantic Lucas (FRANK GILGUS) describes the new doctor to his master, Geronte (MARK GRAY).

Sganarelle (ANDY BERRY) and Leandre (MARK VARADY) discuss their plot to unite the lovers.

MAKING MUSIC

Performing was the main game of the Concert and Chamber choirs this year. Besides performing for the students during a dual assembly in addition to this the group gave their annual Fall Concert and a Holiday Concert.

In January the choir traveled to Jefferson City to give a concert to music teachers, state wide. In March the group performed at the Convention Center downtown for the M.M.E.A. In April the choirs went to Warrensburg for the Music festival. The Choirs ended the year with their Spring Concert.

SINGERS SHOW DEVOTION

Early Tuesday and Wednesday mornings, a devoted group of students gather to sing. Melody Maidens, a group of girls meets at seven every Wednesday to rehearse ballads and folk songs.

A devoted singer, BECKY JANNER, senior explained, "I think Melody Maidens is good because it gives girls who aren't in Concert Choir a chance to sing in concerts or at contest."

Senior, ANDY BERRY, a member of Gentlemen Songsters replies, "Gentlemen Songsters is great and we especially appreciate our conductor!"

The two groups sing in concerts, and each year go to state contest. Last year both groups proudly came home with the highest score!

SUCCESSFUL YEAR FOR BAND

Due to the large enrollment of 114 students in band class the Marching Yellowjackets completed their season successfully. Led by Drum Major MONICA BRANDT, and assisted by Junior Drum Major BRIAN SCHILLING, the band presented half-time shows at all home football games. An important aspect of the bands success was due to the direction of Mr. Don Shaffer. The Pep Band performed for Center at Pep Assemblies and at half-time during basketball season. Pep Band was made up of a select group of volunteers from the band class. Eight Flag Girls were an added attraction this year. They worked out their own routines and then participated with the marching band at half-time. An interesting sidelight for the band this year was when their director, Mr. Shaffer, narrowly escaped arrest by police after a complaint of disturbing the peace from a nearby resident.

BANDS KEPT BUSY

Concert and Jazz band had a busy and eventful year. Performing at assemblies, at half time during basketball season, and competing at district and state contests were among a few of the events in which the bands participated.

Stage band was renamed Jazz band this year. In general they played jazz, blues, and contemporary music. They played at the half time of four basketball games and at half time of a UMKC game.

Concert band practiced first hour after football season. They had a winter concert and went to district contest. Small ensembles went to district contest and those with a "1" rating advanced to state contest.

The bands had a busy year and Mr. Don Shaffer, director, was very proud of all of them.

PLANNING

It was doubtful that there would be a Community Resource class this year, but strong student interest overcame the doubt.

The class is responsible for all of the Opportunity Periods, the Annual Talent Show and Career Day. Each of these days takes many long hours of planning and preparation on the part of the students.

One of the Opportunity periods dealt with such things as self improvement, including a beautician, a doctor speaking on the benefits of not smoking and the ever popular film on whales. This year they also brought to us local Democratic and Republican candidates to speak on some of the top issues.

OLD DAYS

"Old Days" were displayed throughout the week of homecoming by the student body as they participated in Spirit Week promoted by the Varsity Cheerleaders. The days ranged from, "Cave Day" to "Sixties Day".

"The main purpose of Spirit Week," stated ANNE BECKETT, Varsity Cheerleader co-captain, "was to generate enthusiasm for our whole homecoming—to get people excited!"

Games were played in the cafeteria during the week, everyone's favorite was the pie eating contest. "It was messy but fun," remarked CINDY FINK, junior.

According to PAULA FRIDKIN, Varsity Cheerleader, "Spirit Week seemed to be a success, school spirit and morale seemed to rise and everyone had fun participating in the week's activities."

DIXIE DUNLEAVY, sophomore, stated, "I couldn't believe all the activities going on during homecoming week." As KRIS WILLIAMS, senior, said, "They really were good times."

This year's Homecoming was an exciting experience for all. Each class voted for five girls and five boys from their class. They then voted again leaving four attendants from the sophomore and junior classes. Due to a tie, there were four senior attendants, different from the traditional three.

The entire week was filled with fun and climaxed at the game Friday night. The girls were escorted one by one by their fathers and awaited the announcement of the 1976-1977 queen, TERRY TAYLOR. Former queen ANN FOUST returned and crowned the new queen to reign at the dance on Saturday night where Mr. Spirit, RONNIE OSBORN, was announced.

Candidates are ecstatic as the winner is announced at the game.

The dance was held on Dec. 4 and featured the band Night Music.

Student Council as in the past, sponsored the dance, with TERRI MONTGOMERY, senior, heading all committies. "The attendance of the dance was not what we had hoped for, but it could be because of the early date on which the dance took place", stated TERRI MONTGOMERY.

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of King TIM POTTER and Queen SHARON WITHERSPOON.

Excitement builds as SHARON WITHERSPOON is announced queen.

STARRY STARRY NIGHT

The 1976 Sno-ball dance was held on December 4th in the high-school cafeteria. The band, Night Music provided entertainment.

The crowd for the dance was smaller than anticipated, but it was very much alive.

Lots of people danced and had a good time. The Sno-ball King and Queen were then announced and the new 1976 King, TIM POTTER, and Queen, SHARON WITHERSPOON, led the royalty dance. SHARON was crowned by the 1975 Queen TRISH GENTSKE.

X-COUNTRY WINS

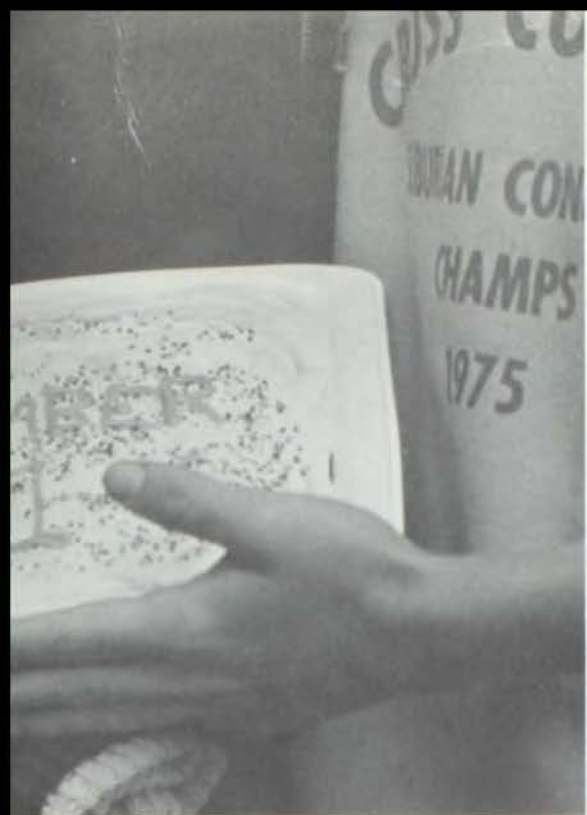

My Cross Country season was an exciting, uplifting, and tiring at times, disheartening experience. Looking back on the season, though, I think it was one of the most satisfying times of my life.

I'll never forget the spirit and close friendships I formed on the team. The competitive spirit of Hugh McTernan kept us all excited.

At the onset of the season our team lacked spirit and competitiveness, and our running reflected it. Some how, though we pulled together. Overnight, we went from a mediocre to a Championship team.

Winning the Conference Championship for the second year in a row was extremely gratifying and most exciting.

MORE LIKE BROTHERS

The closeness between the members of the cross country team, really impressed me. We were more like brothers than teammates. I always knew that when I was in a slump, there would be 7 or 8 guys to help me out of it. The reason for this was that we didn't have a superstar runner. What we accomplished was done by the team, not by 1 or 2 runners as it was with some schools. And when we ran as a team no one in our conference could beat us. I'd just like to thank all the parents and students who watched us run on those cold and rainy Saturday mornings and to thank the rest of the team for letting me be a part of this winning season.

CHAMPS

In my six years of playing football, the season of 1976 was by far the most memorable and rewarding. The highlight of the season was winning the conference championship with an unmarred record of five wins and no losses. But what I have learned through football is something you cannot explain but you have to experience.

At the beginning of the season I set a goal to see our squad unify and really play together as a team. At first it looked hopeless but with losing a heartbreaker to Ruskin in our first game (14-16) this changed the team's attitude completely. Through Prayer and hard work we managed to play team ball and have a special love for each teammate, and with this unity we achieved an eight wins two losses season. By the end of the season we were ranked ninth in the Kansas City Area.

I will always remember the excitement of Friday nights, seeing the stadium's lights turned on, the cheering of the fans, the touchdowns and the congratulations from coaches and players. There are two things this season I will remember most; the pre-game prayer with Forrest Swyden and seeing Steve Batliner standing on the sideline with his crutches encouraging us to play our best. These memories are just a small part of what football has taught me in my senior year.

PROVING MYSELF

I can look at my football career at Center in many different ways. I have seen many sides of football that has had both ups and downs. From these different situations I feel that I can give someone who will follow me some good advice. To anyone who comes after me, if you decide that you want to play football, make sure that its something that you've given alot of thought to and are willing to devote lots of time, energy and self sacrifice.

I happen to love football and that is one of the main reasons for going out. I guess another reason for playing is because I wanted to prove to myself that I could play football.

I had always had real good football seasons and my first year at Center was a little scary, but I learned alot and got a chance to play quite a bit of football.

My junior year was one like I've never had before. I was hurt most of the season and I felt like I let my teammates and coaches down. I practiced hard but still rode the bench. After that year I was determined to everyone I could play ball.

My senior year I started training early and was in good shape when the season started. I had alot of drive instilled in me to prove to my coaches that I could play ball. By the end of the season I felt I had proven myself and still kept my love for the game. I feel I still didn't get my just recognition but it's over now and I have a couple of requirements for those who follow me: love the game and enjoy playing it for when that's gone you will never play to your capabilities.

JV PROVIDES EXPERIENCE

During football season, Monday practices were usually short, followed by a critical examination of the films of the preceding game. However, a small band of marvels, (in which I must humbly include myself), "romped the old gridiron" in Junior Varsity games.

Most of the players really enjoyed this time because it allowed us to get some practical experience in game situations. It was an accepted fact that not everybody got to play in the varsity games. Thus, the

J.V. games offered us our chance for stardom.

From the beginning, the philosophy of the team was "play hard but don't get hurt". This attitude might have induced apathy but in every game, the team was intent on winning.

At the end of the season, when it was time to hang up the cleats, I was very proud to have played on the Varsity conference champion team. However, I'll never forget the unity and the spirit of this year's J.V. team.

'GREAT GUYS GOOD TIME'

Winning, losing, good times, and great guys are what spelled fun for me this year during the varsity basketball season. The winning and losing may have been forgotten but the times and all the players will never be forgotten.

This season really started during the summer before this school year started. Almost every evening you could find at least a couple of the guys at some outdoor court or up at school. Playing together helped us to get to know each other's weaknesses besides learning to work together.

There are things about basketball I will remember for a long time after graduating from Center. The miles of running before the season started, five other guys and myself getting locked in the school at Hickman Mills, the freezing locker room at Excelsior Springs, GREG DECKER's last second shot to beat Rockhurst, my last second shot against Hickman Mills (although it wasn't the winning one), and the time CEDRIC HURTT started against Hogan because "getting the jump ball was important."

Certain things come to my mind when I think of the guys on the team; KYLE UNRUH stunning somebody with a pinpoint pass right through all the defenders, and GENE BRIXEY flying up and dunking the ball. It's BOB BICE's drives that make me wish I was quicker, and BILL DUTTON sticking his tongue out when he shoots.

All in all, varsity basketball was an experience that I will never forget. It's something that helps you learn to work with other guys through the good and the bad. There was one thing I could always say after a basketball season, that I would really like to have said this year, but I can't. "I can't wait 'til next year."

ALL NEW STARTERS

This year the 1976-77 varsity basketball squad consisted of all new starters, unlike last years starting team who were all seniors. The basketball team this year is fairly young and somewhat inexperienced, but we gave it all we've got and were willing to learn at all times.

It really makes me feel great to go out on the court and know I have friends like these on the team who have gone through good times and bad with me, also friends in the crowd, and last but certainly not least, good coaches to smooth things out.

I'm sure that I speak for the rest of the underclassmen on the Varsity team in saying that this year we have gained some valuable experience and after this year is over we'll be looking forward to the next basketball season.

—GREG DECKER

The formula for success is practice, determination and teamwork. The year's JV team put it together for a very rewarding season.

Combining the talents of players from the sophomore team, juniors from the varsity squad and the JV regulars we joined to form the junior varsity squad.

The team often starting a different lineup each game is a training ground for the top varsity squad. Players are moved up or down to satisfy the demands of varsity. Sharpening fundamentals skills and gaining game time experience are valuable to us.

Working out with weights, grimacing through calisthenics, memorizing offensive and defensive setups and an occasional full-court scrimmage are all part of a JV practice session. Each day we bettered ourselves, learning from each other and working toward the goal of starting varsity.

The range of height from 5'2" to 6'7", was as wide as the range of personalities. Between the racial jokes and locker room harrasment we got along amazingly well.

The success or failure of this year's JV team cannot be measured by statistics. For the friendships we made and the things we learned will remain long after the season is ended.

SOPHOMORES MASTER SKILLS

As a basketball player on the sophomore team you learn how to act on and off the court. You learn basic fundamentals in order to use them to your advantage. At the beginning of the season, before practice starts, you run and lift weights to get in shape. The first two weeks of practice are generally light, while you go over basics. Later on, you go over plays until you play in the first game. During the season, you keep going over offense and defense until you master them.

The coaches use sophomore basketball as a mental and physical stepping stone for young players. Our won-loss record doesn't matter as much as varsity's, but rather the manner in which we play.

"To me wrestling is one of the most satisfying sports that I've participated in. Wrestling is not only a team sport but also an individual sport. Our team did not have the best dual record but I feel the accomplishments and improvements of some individuals helped to overcome the disappointment of not winning all of our duels and tournaments. Overall I feel that this year was a good year for wrestling at Center. We received a new coach this year who has to build up a team and for the first year I feel we, as a team, were successful. I also would like to mention the outstanding efforts and improvements by our first-year wrestlers who contributed to the team greatly.

DUAL MEETS SUFFER

This years wrestling team was faced with many problems that were taken very well. Injuries suffered by key members, apathy, and readjusting to a new coach, all were factors that plagued the team. Despite these hardships, Center had a very respectable team. Because of inexperience on the JV team, and on a few varsity spots, the team suffered in dual meets. However, in tournament competition the Yellowjackets fared well because of individual efforts. Overcoming hardships brought the '77 wrestling team closer together and made for a memorable year.

APATHY HURTS

The JV wrestling team did not have a very good season this year. The JV team usually appeared at a meet without enough wrestlers to fill all twelve weight groups. This meant that the team had to forfeit those weight groups, which put the team behind before they even got started wrestling. Another reason for the poor record was that the JV team lacked experience. Most of the wrestlers were sophomores and freshmen. Improvement was shown though, and many of the young wrestlers have good potential for coming years.

Our team was anchored by Seniors JEFF FORBES, DAVE O'LARTE, GREG LONDON, JIM CAFFERY, myself, and Sophomore KIP UNRUH. I feel we made some really big accomplishments throughout the year as records were broke and duel meets were captured. JEFF was our backbone this year as he made excellent showings in every meet he was in. I think DAVE had to be the most improved swimmer since last year, while KIP and JIM were our two man tandem in the backstroke.

Alot of people don't understand that swimming is an individual sport and believe me we had 25 individuals. Going to meets the bus wasn't real solemn, it was more like a circus, with BOTH, JIM and his little brother ROBERT being the center ring. In an individual sport and having 25 individuals I think we demonstrated that we were a team.

—FORREST SWYDEN

INDIVIDUAL SKILL BUILDS TEAM COMPETITION

Teamwork coupled with a strong spirit of competition helped to bring about a very rewarding season for the 1976 volleyball team. Each of us benefitted from the encouragement we received from the other players and the coach. We worked to improve our individual skills and then applied them to team competition.

Led by coach Jan Russell, the volleyball squad began practices in August involving running, warm up drills and scrimmages to perfect game performance. The climax of the season occurred as we captured the second place plaque in the district tournament at Raytown South.

Many new, but experienced players contributed to the welfare of the team. These individuals will make fine competitors next year as the Yellowjackets look forward to an even more successful season.

GIRLS IMPROVE

I feel that the girls basketball team has come a long way since last year.

We are closer and work together as a team much better than last year. This becomes apparent when you see that our record has improved considerably.

The only thing that really gets us down is the lack of home support that we may get. That may pass when girls basketball gets more fully established.

The money they received was used for paying off uniforms, a homecoming float, and other yearly expenses. The Wrestlettes also gave oranges and apples to the wrestlers on match days. The 1976-77 Precisionettes, known to most Centerites as the Drill Team, had the determination to strive for good performances. Sponsored by Mrs. Rita Ashley, and led by Co-Captains JILL DRITLEY and CHRISTIE LITTLE, the Drill Team began the year with the purchase of flash gloves to use in several drills. When basketball season started the girls bought tamborines for the drill, "Do The Hustle."

"The highlight of the season," according to SHARON WITHERSPOON, "was the new idea of PPP's." Pom Pom Pals lasted from football season to Christmas. The girls decorated their Pal's lockers to give each other confidence.

SPIRIT RIDES HIGH

This year Spirit Club made a few changes in an effort to advance the club and make it the best that Center has ever had.

Blue and gold rugby shirts were the scene for all Spirit Clubbers this year. "We felt the change was the most practical and universal way for both sexes to wear the same uniform," said MARTI GRAF, secretary.

New this year was the Honor Spirit Club, which was designed to give its' active members some recognition. Anyone who tried out for a position affiliated with Spirit Club, had to be a member of Honor Spirit Club.

Beside the responsibilities of Little Sisters, organizing breakfasts for the athletes and decorating the locker room, the officers had a huge job in the planning of Homecoming. As usual all the hard efforts put out by the girls, paid off with a successful Homecoming and a spirited year.

As time passes by, with nothing to do,
Here I still sit, thinking of you.
Knowing your gone, and with someone new,
I'll gather my thoughts, still thinking of you.

Holding on to something, that really isn't there,
Seems to be a waste of time, just knowing you don't care.
People try to tell me, I've better things to do.
Than sit around dreaming, and always thinking of you.

It's based on happy memories
Of the good times that we've known
The hopes and dreams we two have shared
The thoughtfulness you've shown
It's stronger now than ever
For its grown with every smile
And every act of kindness
That makes life seem more worthwhile
And now I know that, if you're near
Or if we're miles apart
Our friendship still unites us
With a bridge from heart to heart.

—MARY MELCHIOR

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And I looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that, the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I—
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

—R. Frost

—PAM IMES

Don't live for the past
for all those things are done.
Don't live for the future
for tomorrow may not come.
Live only for today, for the present joys and sorrows.
And you will be the one who has the happier tomorrows.

—LORI VANSANT

I speak to you now, of many strange things;
I speak of beginnings, and I speak of ends.
The parting of many, the joining of few,
The songs that are stopping, the tears that are new,
The many strange doings I can't comprehend,
I dance in my sorrow, my childhood's end.

—KATHY BENNETT

The trees ask me,
And the sky,
And the sea asks me
Who am I?
The grass asks me,
And the sand,
And the rocks ask me
Who am I?
The wind tells me
At nightfall,
And the rain tells me
Someone small,
Someone small,
Someone small,
But a piece of it all.

Junior class officers work towards prom

Besides representing the junior class, the junior class officers do much more. One obligation that they had was to find people to work in the concession stands. At all the home football and basketball games, cold drinks, popcorn, candy, and hot dogs were sold. Usually over $1,000 is made each season. The class officers also were in charge of collecting the class dues. All the money earned was used to pay for the expenses of the junior-senior prom. The most important aspect of raising money for the prom came when, according to President Denny Brisley, "Only eighty-seven people had paid their dues on time." The biggest but most sought-after problem was getting everybody to voice their opinions and any suggestions to the Student Council.

Center athletes enjoy fellowship

Fellowship of Christian Athletes continued as a strong organization at Center this year. Contrary to popular belief, F.C.A. was more than just deep Bible studies—development of personal relationships was definitely an integral part of the program.

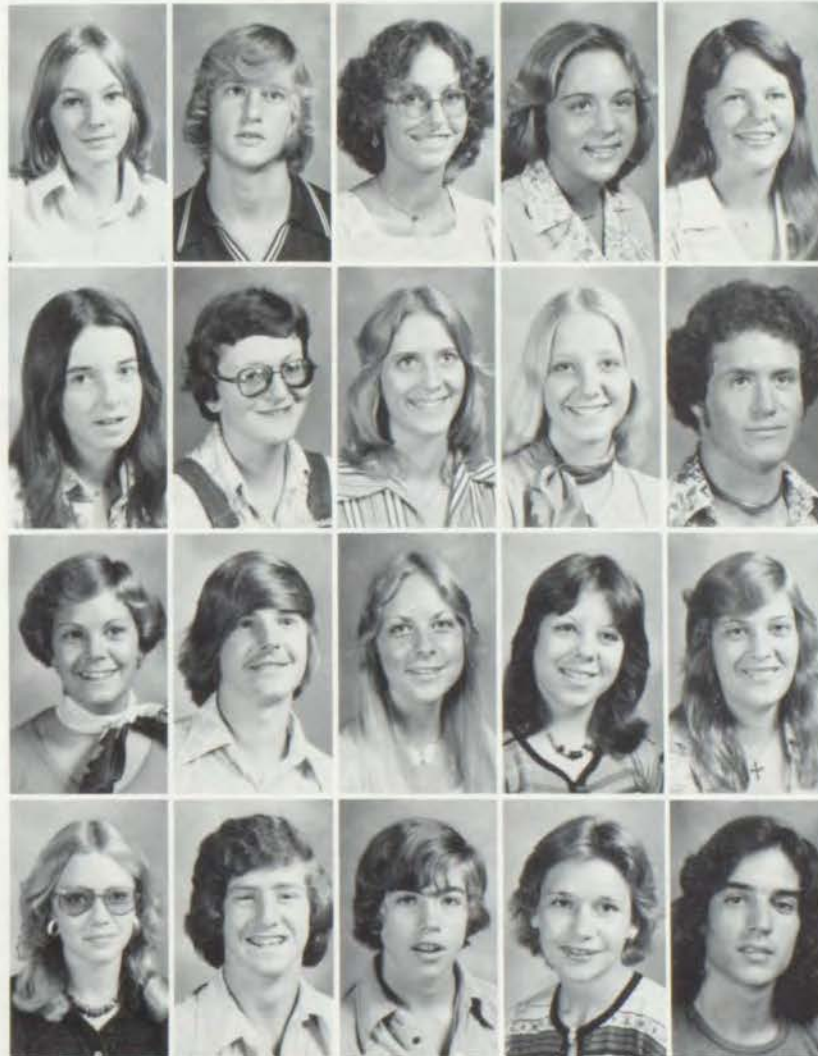

Led by President Ronnie Osborn, Vice-President Steve Currall, Secretary Rob Johns, and Treasurer Steve Asjes, the group strove to involve guys from all sports and grades. Numerous members opened their homes for the weekly meetings and many volunteered their time and knowledge in preparing the program.

The Center huddle is sponsored by Coach Duane Unruh. Junior Forrest Swyden commented, "Coach Unruh adds a great deal just by being there to give advice and inspiration. One of the highlights of the year came when Coach delivered his personal testimony to the group."

One of the projects that the group undertook during the year was to do volunteer work, such as raking leaves for the people in the community. "We felt that we should use our God-given abilities as a group to help others in any way possible," stated Erik Eike, senior.

Steve Woods, sophomore, summed up the general reaction to F.C.A. by saying, "It (F.C.A.) not only taught me about God, I also learned a lot about myself and the other guys involved."

This year the Publication One class consisting of all juniors, learned exactly what it was like to make a yearbook. In the first quarter they learned the basic techniques of making a yearbook. During the second quarter deadlines were set and assignments were made.

Rick Mills commented, "Making the yearbook gave me a good idea of what to expect if I decide to be on the staff next year." Mike Arnone said, "I think the best part of the class was the photography part."

Most students thought the class was interesting and liked it.

The "House," a familiar sight to many students.

Fifth quarter the end

For many, fourth quarter was not the end of a fun Friday night at the game. This year as in the past, the Teen House, located at 95th and Wornall, was open to high school students for "fifth quarter". Fifth quarter ranged anywhere from a Disco Night with over 200 kids attending, to simply a peaceful night of sitting by the fire sharing good times.

When asking KATHY FLATHMAN, senior, what the Teen House meant to her she stated "The House" is exactly what it says, it's a place you can go and feel at home!"

Junior year costly

For the class of 1978 it was a normal year of paying class dues and the regular things that any junior would do every year at Center.

When asked how he felt about being the "in-between class", junior TIM HANOVER replied, "As a junior you actually end up spending more on things such as class dues, then you do your sophomore or senior years."

"The junior year at high school I think your more aware of what you want to do with your future than when you're a sophomore." Stated TOM McMURTRY.

Projects Raise Funds

This year the Junior-Senior Prom was planned and financed by the junior class. The junior class officers were responsible for obtaining students to operate the concession stands. During all home football and basketball games Pepsi, candy, hot-dogs, and popcorn were sold to fans at the games to help pay for prom expenses. The concession stands net about $1,400 a season which pays for most of the expenses of the prom. Juniors also payed class dues which was a major funding for prom.

Students amused over pep assembly.

BBYO offers activities

B'nai B'rith Youth Organization is a youth group for Jewish boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 18. Aleph Zadik Aleph is for boys and B'nai B'rith Girls is for girls. In Kansas City there are six AZA and eight BBG chapters.

Like any other organization BBYO has officers, advisors, and a constitution.

Many activities are performed by BBYO chapters. There are five main functions or folds. They are religious, cultural, social, athletic, and community service.

Fun 'n work

Oral Interpretation, Pantomime, Reader's Theater, and history of the theater were just a few of the areas studied in Drama Class. Mr. Landes' third hour Drama students took part in the production of, "Up the Down Staircase". They performed this play for the Language Arts classes. ROSE EATON explained that, "Drama class was alot of fun, although I had to work hard towards all of my assignments".

Where it's at

This year the sophomore class officers had many responsibilities and activities to cover. The year entailed the planning and decorating of the sophomore dance, the fund raiser, the campaigning for the election, and some preparation for the Snoball. The duty of the officers is mainly to represent the entire sophomore class body as a whole. The officers are: Cain DeVore, President; Claudia Kaufman, Vice President; Pam Serrioz, Secretary; and Rosemary Koncak, Treasurer. As Cain DeVore stated in his campaign speech, "We want to make the feelings of our students known and hopefully make sophomores an important part of the decisions made here at Center." "The North and South gap must end, for we are all a part of this school and Center is where it's at."

Sophomores acquire more responsibility

Subject to many changes this year, many sophomores noticed a marked change in the high school. CAIN DeVORE, sophomore president, commented, "The teachers at high school treat you as a more mature person."

Many sophomores agreed that the teachers gave more responsibility. PENNY McGUIRE stated, "At high school they make sure you have your homework done."

All sophomores seemed to realize that high school was much harder. "The teachers are nice, however they also give you more homework," reflected BURT KEYS. THERESA CAHILL said, "High school is much harder than junior high, as a result the teachers teach on a more advanced level." STEVE WOODS stated, "The teachers at Center seem to be more interested in the students."

Spirited Parents

Booster Club is an organization made up of spirited Center parents. Not only did they come and support many of the events but they also volunteered for duty during the games selling everything from programs to t-shirts and jackets.

As an additional fund-raiser they sold candles with the help of some of the athletes going door to door or selling them to friends and classmates.

The money made from these projects was used for the clubs transportation to away games.

Coming from the junior high level to the senior high level is a big step for most sophomores. The biggest step seems to come from the athletic department. Sophomore MATT MINX said, "Sports on the high school level is more demanding than it is in junior high." Sophomore MIKE BATLINER stated, "The intensity of competition is much stronger in high school, but that makes sports more rewarding in the end".

Girls even see a difference from junior high to senior high sports program. "High school offers every sport any girl would want to play," stated sophomore LAURA FITZGERALD.

Sophmores discuss upcoming events.

No apathy? It's true

The class of 1979 was a class of spirit. The sophomore class added pep and excitement to the football and basketball games this year.

Sophomore PAM SERRIOZ said, "Most of the sophomores were really excited for the games therefore they cheered the teams on."

This year the sophomore class held very little apathy. Apathy is something there usually is a lot of in the sophomore class. But the class of 1979 proved very different this year. The sophomore class had school spirit.

New action in club

This year brought many changes to the clubs here at Center. One club is C. G.S.A., which is Center Girls Sports Association.

SHARON WHITHERSPOON, senior, stated, "The reason for the new action is girls elected this year want the C.G.S.A. to be more than a club that has a banquet but one that is active." The girls elected this year are president SHARON WHITHERSPOON, senior, vice-president KATHY COSGROVE, junior, secretary LAURI LAUGHLAND, senior, treasurer ERIN McMORROW, senior, historian NANCY DAVIS, junior.

Mrs. Snellgrove, sponsor of C.G.S.A., is looking for a fine and prosperous year from her newly elected officers.

Changes in the district

Dr. Travis makes an appointment with a consultant for a workshop.

Among a few of the changes in the district administration this year was the hiring of Dr. Howard Heidbrink. He replaced Dr. Don Nelson as Director of Business Services.

Another change was the addition of a conference room, and a new office for Mrs. Dorothy McArtor, Supervisor of Developmental Education.

A concern by the Administration and the Board of Education led to the formation of a committee to study declining enrollment.

Overall it was a year of great change and progress for the Administration and Board of Education.

New textbook policy

This year, something new came into effect at Center; the students received their textbooks free. The beginning of this process started last year when the administration bought back all of the students books, and also bought out the inventory from the P.T.A. bookstore.

Because there was no additional clerical help to do the job, Mr. Beckner and Mr. Paris were very busy over the summer with the heavy burden of organizing, classifying, stamping and marking each test so that it would be ready for the students use. "With regard to our new textbook program if we can save parents and/or students money and still provide the same quality of service that has been provided in the past then we feel our program has been successful." stated Mr. Paris.

Our secretarial staff also had a change this year, two aids were added on to work in the library helping out teachers with clerical work.

Students this year, had their choice of who they wanted to go to for counseling. To many, the counselors were more than just advisers, they also became friends to the students.

Teachers adjust fast

When a teacher takes his or her first step into Center, it usually shows the teacher positive things. A teacher's first year is filled with fun, excitement, and work. Even through this, most teachers will still stay here. Through classes and any extra-curricular activities, teachers learn the atmosphere of teaching and the student life. The feelings can be summed up by thinking of the students' ability and interest in working hard. Whenever a new teacher can get students to understand and willing to work, they have done their job. However, not everything is positive, discovered by every teacher. This occurrence happens with his or her first referral, midquarter, or failure.

Groups help students

You might not have realized it but there are people at Center who aren't cooks, janitors, students or teachers. At Center we also have PTA mothers who volunteer their time in the bookstore selling needed materials to students everyday. They also do numerous other activities which help out with Center's needs.

Another group who have an active part in helping students is the bus drivers. Without the bus drivers many students would be without transportation to and from school and other school affiliated activities.

Bus Drivers await for the dismissal bell.

Small services, big jobs

Our service personnel is a sure necessity here at Center. These people all deserve recognition for all their time and effort extended for the students. The custodians come early in the morning, open up, clean the halls during each hour and work until late afternoon, sometimes early evening. Clarence Milliron, head of the custodial staff, manages the upkeep of the school grounds with the help of his crew. Then there is the cafeteria help. These ladies come to school at 7:00 a.m. to prepare our meals for lunch. This process becomes routine that needs to be done every day. Other unfamiliar faces seen occasionally around Center are the towel ladies. They are a part of the "underground" work staff. Their "underground" room is downstairs by room 12. Often they wash the team's uniforms.

Students leave a pep assembly anticipating the evening's victory and already discussing the after-game's activities.

JANELLE SEIBOTT experiences boredom!

"We're the drill team and we're cool. We know it and we show it! We like the squad, it's the mod squad."

Memories of sports and cheerleaders, dances and bands, plays and actors, and the Center Senior High School class of '77 will last forever.

CHAOS REIGNS

Seventeen people put together to make a book. A book of memories, a yearbook. And friends, good times, and a little friction was made at the same time.

Memories of every day events will last forever. Simple things like NANCY BUNDY always playing a clown, or the girls screaming whenever one of their many favorite songs came on the radio. Total insanity was generally exhibited by everyone during class, but through all our daily chaos RUTH LOCKYEAR quietly and steadily worked on.

Then there were the less frequent but equally memorable events such as ruining 96 negatives, two days before a deadline, and JILL DRITLEY never having the pictures for her spread. On one particularly hectic deadline we were forced to work until midnight at Mrs. Cobb's house, amid utter chaos of everyone talking at the same time, papers flying, and phones ringing. Confusion like this occurred during the week of every deadline. And with the confusion and the tension, tempers flared, and rash statements were made but apologies always followed especially by KRIS WILLIAMS and JILL DRITLEY.

Everyone seemed to have funny little quirks that everyone else seemed to notice all of the time. Like TERRY TAYLOR referring to the liquid paper as liquid gold. And the four members of drill team practicing their drills with the songs on the radio. The famous radio with the picture of STEVE falke's little brother on it, which was "supposed" to be used by YELLOWJACKET only. The spirit club members had an affinity for parties, birthday parties, christmas parties, a party to name Mrs. Cobb yearbook queen, and parties just to have parties. That same group liked to paint signs too, two of their more famous works were "Cobb is Cool", and "Get it on with Gad", (Mr. Bob Gad was our representative from the yearbook company). I would also like to inform you of a page in the yearbook which was censored, by some strange means we were able to collect enough X-rated pictures to fill a page, well at least R-rated.

Through the year we worked as a family with each member contributing to the whole, we laughed together (with NANCY's help), worried together (with my help), and fought together (with everyone's help). But in the end we were friends, and the memories we made will be remembered whenever we look at the product of our work, this book.

Look back, are you satisfied?
The role you played is what you made it,
if you didn't like this year then change it.
You can be the director in your own show
if you only let yourself. We have now "played the part that looks back on the actor or actress. The same old role, the role that is what we make it as great as we like, or as small as we like, or both great and small." Walt Whitman
