

1978 YELLOWJACKET Center Sr. High School

8715 Holmes Kansas City. Mo. Volume 42

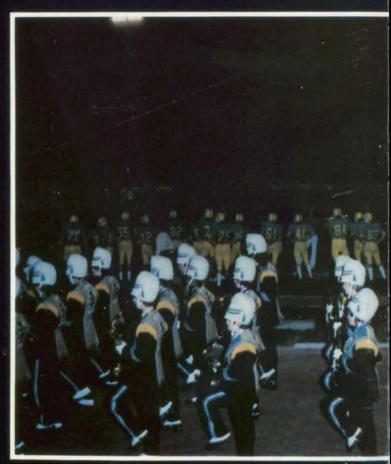

As the days, months, and seasons of the 1977-78 school year began many new students along with some old were seen searching for their first hour class to avoid becoming victims of the tightly strengthened tardy policy.

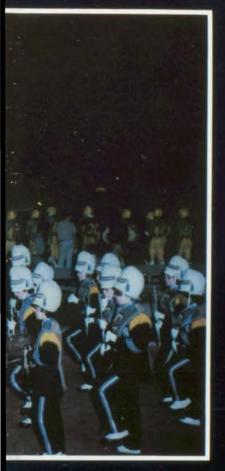

Along with getting to class on time, getting out of class was also difficult. Hall passes seemed to be a necessity if someone was in the halls during class.

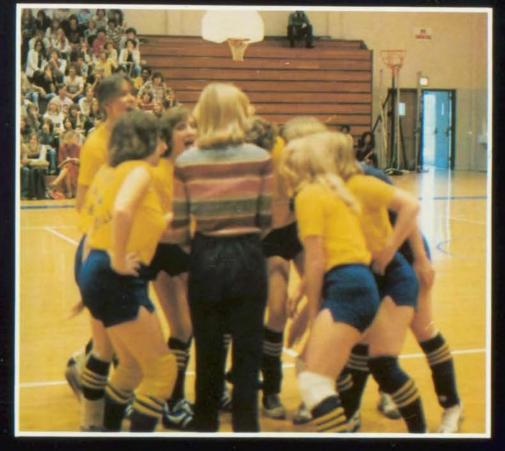

Outside of all the problems students encountered when the opening of school began, there were many bright moments which awaited all of us such as time spending with new friends and awaiting the opportunity to participate in the different activities of each season

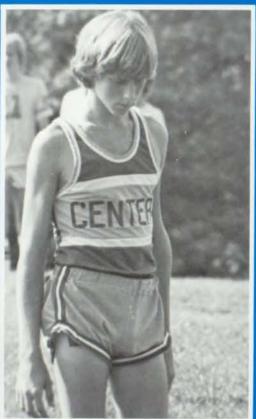

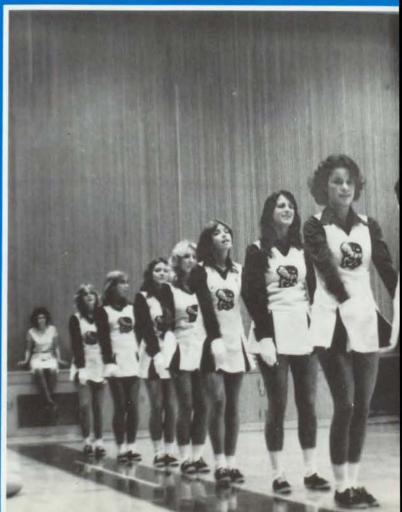

For every season....

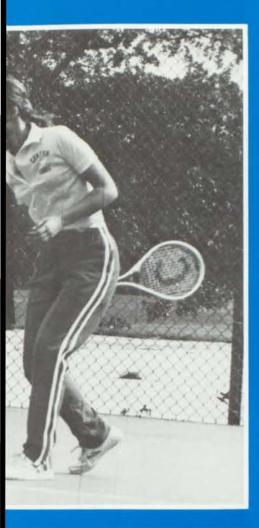

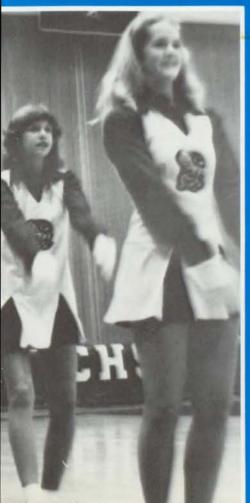

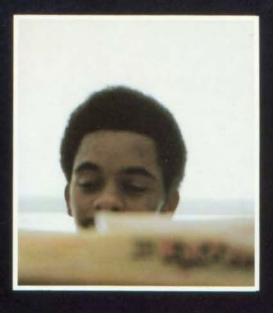

there is... a time

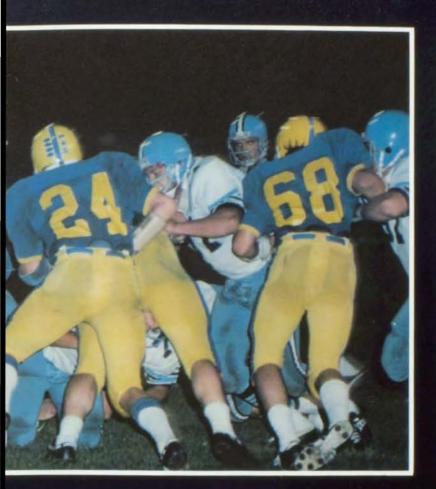

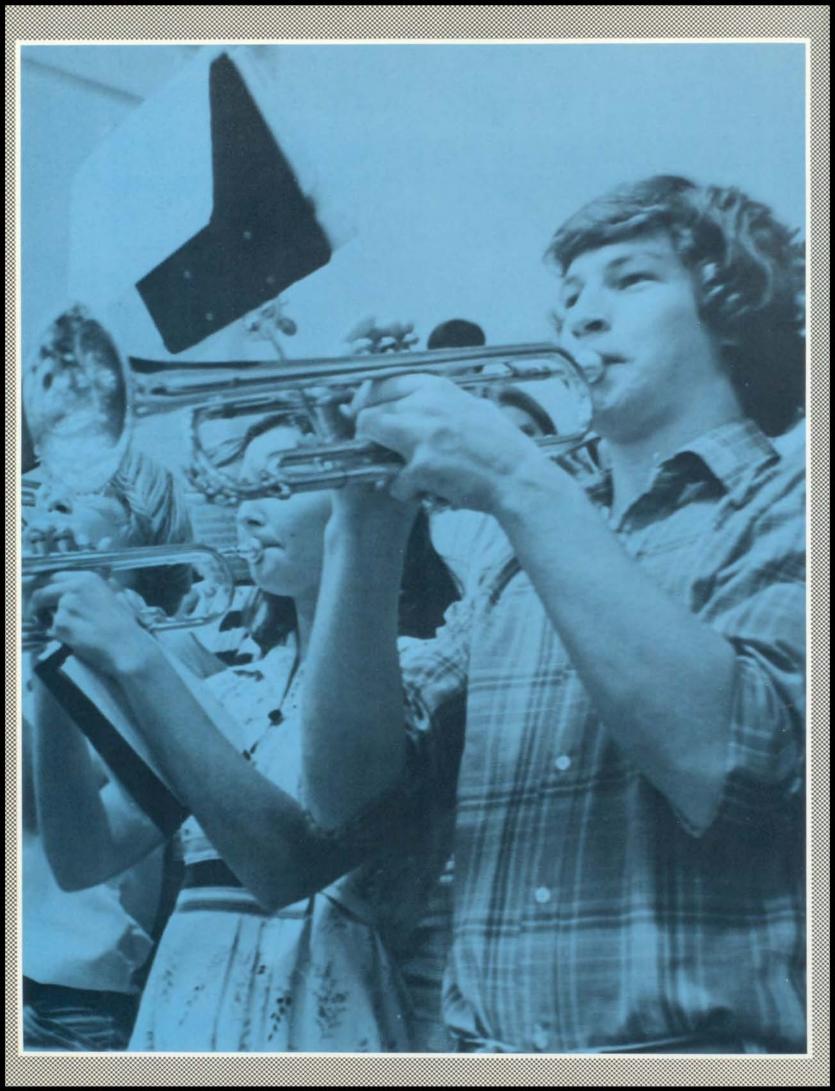

In the beginning of the '77-'78 school year no one knew what to expect. Seniors wondered if they could make it through a final year. Juniors worried about keeping their grades up and sophomores really didn't know what to expect. Only time was the answer to the unknown that faced the students.

As the seasons came and went making up the school year, students' curiosities were fulfilled. Some results were happy; some were sad. Filled basements, lost cars and ruined businesses were left by the flood that swept through Kansas City in mid September. At school the addition of seven speed bumps brought many complaints from the students. With all this behind us we will remember "for every time there was a season."

Board reworks philosophy

Every first Monday in the month a school board meeting was called to order. On the list of objectives for the Board this year was a re-evaluation of goals and philosophy at the beginning of the school year.

A philosophy and goals committee composed of teachers, parents and students was formed. "The purpose is to establish if educational standards of Center School District are being met," stated Mr. Don Richmond, Superintendent of Schools.

While the Board was kept busy with this, the administration carried out the second part of its objectives. District wide committees worked on coordination of curriculum from kindergarten through high school in order to eliminate overlap in subjects taught.

"All departments within the schools and all teachers are cooperating; we have eliminated weaknesses and strengthened the fundamentals of teaching," said Mr. Richmond.

ADMINISTRATION

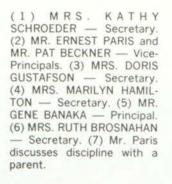

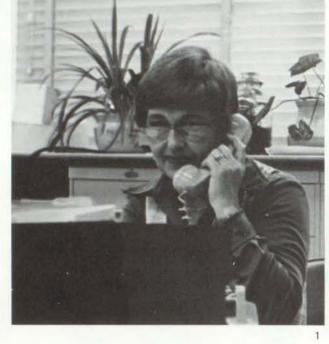

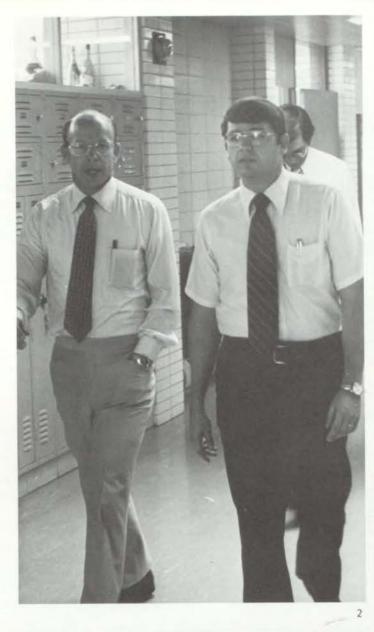

Attendance gains importance

This year more emphasis was put on stressing the importance of attendance. An attempt was made to make both parents and students aware that activities missed in class could not be made up. Participation in oral discussions, filmstrips and in-class projects was essential to understanding the points being presented. The essence of the subject matter could not be acquired from someone else's notes.

"The school felt a responsibility to teach punctuality and regularity, items which are so important in everyday life," said Mr. Gene Banaka, principal.

Advice proves rewarding

Helping students with schedules, personal and family problems and planning college educations were all part of the counselors' everyday jobs.

"The counselors have been a valuable aid in helping me plan my courses so that I can obtain the best options for the right college career," commented Julie Seibolt, 12.

Whether it was helping to find an answer to an educational or personal problem, counselors were available to assist students more often because of the drop in student enrollement.

Courses offer 31 ways To better communication

The Language Arts department offered a wide selection of courses for students the past year. There were 31 courses offered ranging from Composition I to Technical Theatre. Language Arts teachers all had goals they wanted to achieve by the end of the course. Mrs. Scott stated she liked teaching Mass Media. "I enjoy it when we have a discussion and a real exchange of student opinions."

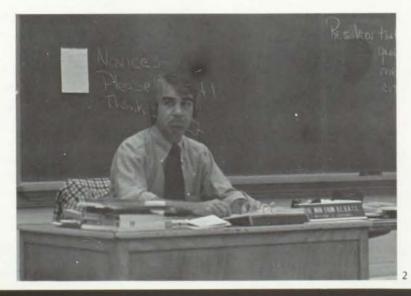

(1) MRS. BETTYE TRACY - Basic Literature, Bible Literature, Senior English. (2) MRS. JANICE BAR-TON - Basic Literature, Composition I. (3) MS. Language Arts "glues" Students to outside world

For many students choosing an English course meant learning and enjoying themselves at the same time. Their reasons for taking a course varied. Lori Boyles, 10, took Composition I because it was required but found that once she got into the class, "It's a fun class, I really enjoy it." Julie Bisgard, 12, who took Technical Theatre stated, "I liked the class so much last year that I took it again this year to learn more about Stagecraft."

One of the classes, Mass Media, was mainly a discussion class but also required keeping up on the news media. Cheryl Compton, 12, commented, "I enjoy watching T.V. and I heard it was a good class and I really like it." Margo Watson's, 12, reason for taking Composition II was, "It's good preparation for college."

Mr. Chet Landes, head of the department, defined Language Arts as "... the glue that ties everything together." He said by participating in one in one of these courses it helps bring you success in life. This year the German classes were taught by a new teacher, Mrs. Coralie Vedros, who taught here only mornings. The students in her classes looked forward to the trip to Europe that they planned to take during the summer. The students going will receive four hours of college credit in addition to a lot of fun. Said German III student Cathy Warner, 12, "Anticipating the trip to Europe makes all the studying worthwhile."

Mrs. Paulsen, also a teacher new to Center this year, was in charge of the students in the French classes.

All the foreign language classes shared the laboratory and through these and their use of films they not only learned the language but they also had a chance to learn the culture.

Mr. Dan Creasy — Constitutional Development, Labor Management, Prosperity and Depression, Sociology.

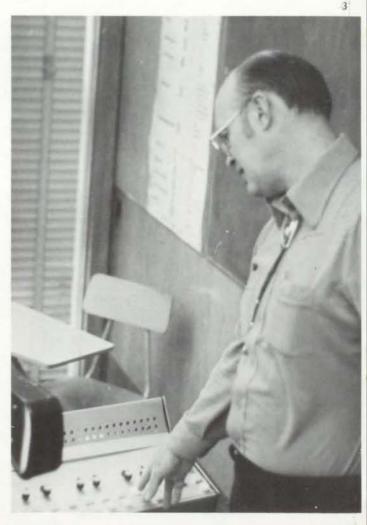

Department offers choices

There was a variety of Social Science courses to choose from. There was a total of fourteen different types of classes offered. Nancy Seeger, 11, said, "Family Relations teaches you to cope with your problems and problems of your family."

Constitutional Development was the only required course, although students had to elect one-and-a-half additional units. Cece Lutgen, 10, expressed her opinion. "In Constitutional Development we learn many different things about our government's system, from the voting of the President to how the state system works."

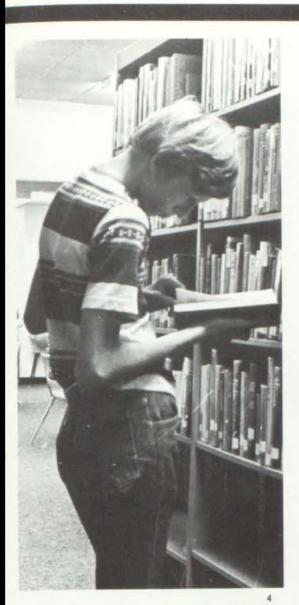

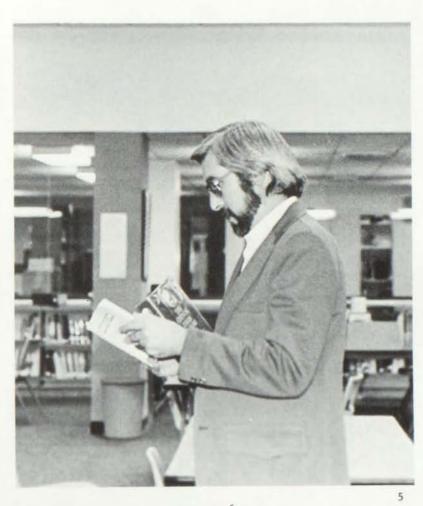

Beginners gain experience

The Drivers' Education department started rolling this year with donated cars from Griffith Oldsmobile on Troost Avenue. The three Drivers' Education teachers emphasized the Four Phase course, consisting of behind the wheel training, simulation, classroom study, and observation methods.

As Mr. Wills stated, "All the students seem to be interested in the course and learn skills which will definitely help them to be safer drivers."

Skills prove beneficial

The amount of background needed in math was usually determined by the future plans of students. Carol Finlay, 12, stated, "I took higher math courses to help me in retailing and marketing." Steve Asbell, 10, was also looking ahead when he said, "I plan to use math when I figure bills, balance checking accounts and pay taxes."

This year, Center offered basic mathematic courses along with Statistics, Applied Math and Math Topics which gave students a more practical outlook on math. Mr. Jacob Knopps, who teaches Math Topics, said, "By giving a short introduction of two weeks each into insurance, real estate, social security and other topics, we hope to spark an interest in those fields."

(7) Calculator aids student with math problems.

Science gains popularity

The science department has been seeing an increase in popularity over the past few years. "It's good to take as much science as you can now so college classes are a little easier," stated senior Joel Walters. One really popular class has been horticulture. "It's a good class to learn about how to keep house plants and other plants healthy," senior Jim Gallo said. The students had a lab where they grew their own plants.

The more advanced students in the field of chemistry could take a class called chem study. "I think the students that take these classes really have some promise," remarked teacher Ted Dresie.

Classes help plan futures

"The business department's main purpose was preparing students for the future, whether it be for their personal use or for a career, " stated Miss Cheryl Beard. "Record Keeping can prepare a student for basic clerical jobs but it is mainly for personal use. Accounting is a survey course; it shows the student what accounting is like so he gets a better idea whether he wants to go on with it in college. It does prepare him for a bookkeeping job."

Many students taking business courses continue in a business career. Paulette Frey, 12, commented, "I took secretarial practice to learn more about the secretarial field and to gain some experience."

Students gain job training

Two subject areas gave practical job experience to students. One of these, the C.O.E. or Co-op program, released students after third or fourth hour and they received an extra credit for working fifteen to twenty hours a week as long as they maintained their grades and attendance. Ninety-five seniors were enrolled in the program this year. Stated Mr. Sam Maze, "The program works well for the average and above average student, but we do find it necessary to drop a few students each quarter."

Another course beneficial to job experience was Computer Programming. Students could take the class after completing a semester of Data Processing. This class also required good grades and attendance. Said Joe Le-Grotte, 12, "Computer Programing has given me an understanding and involvement in a field that is fast becoming an important part of our daily life. This class has given me an insight into the future."

Students better skills

Developmental Insturctional Program, in existence for four years, concentrated on reading, behavioral development and learning disabilities. "Our department is a regular class and has regular skills that students are deficient in, and it helps them be successful in other classes," stated Mrs. Snelgrove. Eva Riles, 12, commented, "I work on math and language and it really helps me in my other classes."

The department works in small groups and on an individual basis. Mrs. Tyler felt, "personal attention helps the students to bring up their study skills and become more sure of themselves in other classes." Mrs. Ivy stated, "seeing kids progress in their individual skills is what excited me. "

"Stay, Learn" improves

School Suspension was changed to Stay and Learn because those who did not follow the rules of the school were given the opportunity to stay in school and do their regular classwork.

"I feel this was a good program because the students were able to continue their education and get credit in their regular classes rather than be suspended out of school where they were unable to keep up with their classes and daily class grades," commented Mrs. Theresa McGown, Stay and Learn instructor.

Those who were put in this program found themselves very busy the entire day as each of their teachers sent them assignments which took at least one hour to complete.

PRACTICAL ARTS

Courses give useful skills

The practical arts classes included the home economics and industrial arts areas, ranging from power mechanics to child development. This year there was a new teacher with the department, Mr. Peter Van Dyne, woods teacher. In woods class, projects more popular with students were chess boards and coffee tables, while others worked on smaller items like bird feeders.

Clothing and foods classes helped prepare students for future needs. JoAnne Leahy, 12, commented, "Mrs. Rayburn is one of the best sewing teachers I've had. She has a unique style of teaching students shortcuts and techniques; she is a fun person to have as a teacher."

 Mr. Leon Lee — Machine Technology, Metals, Power Mechanics. 2. Mrs. Shirley Foster — Clothing II, III, Foods I, III, House and Home Furnishings. 3. Mrs. Dorothy Rayburn —Child Development, Clothing I, II, Foods II.
 Mrs. Virginia Ray — Foods I, II. 5. Mr. Peter Van Dyne — Advanced Wood, Wood. 6. Mr. Larry Bradshaw — Graphic Arts, Printing. 7. Mr. Mackey Wilcoxon — Architectural Drafting, Drafting I, II.

Perfectionists unveil talent

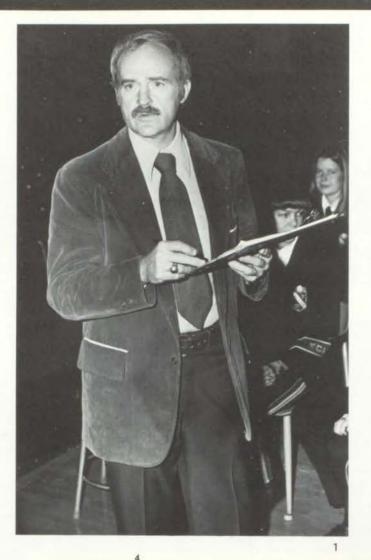

The Art and Music Departments offered a wide selection of classes for students interested in the Fine Arts programs.

Ellen Pierret, 10, commented on the programs, "There is quite a variety to choose from, but I think it would be really neat if each course brancbed out a little more on certain areas for building skills. "

Sue Avery, 12, remarked on her ceramic class, "Mr. Creamer is an excellent teacher. He teaches students to stretch their style and shows us new techniques. I've really learned a lot."

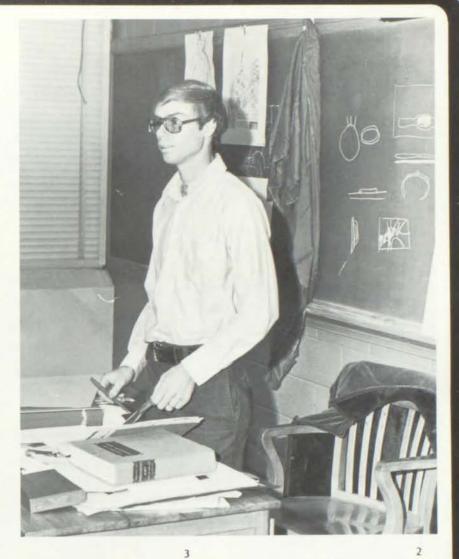

The art classes displayed their accomplishments througbout the year in the show case in the Media Center.

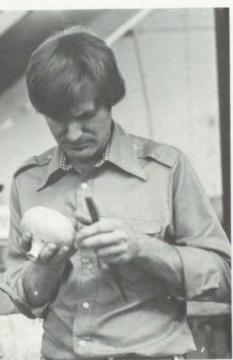

Center's Music Department was well represented. Choir and Band members traveled to perform at various activities during the year.

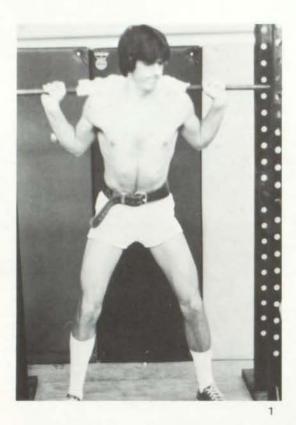

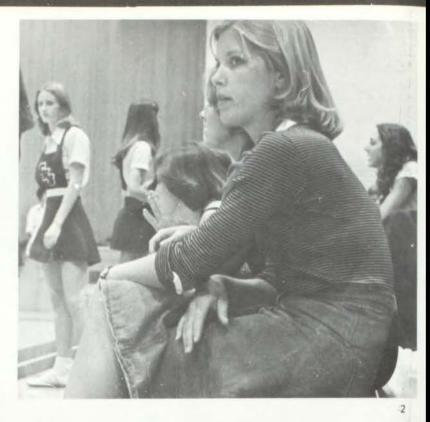

1. Mr. Don Shaffer — Concert Band, Pep Band, Pit Band, Marching Band, Stage Band. 2. Mr. Don Blake — Design I, II, III. 3. Mr. John Chronister — Blue and Gold Choir, Chamber Choir, Concert Choir, Gentlemen Songsters, Melody Maidens, Mixed Chorus. 4. Mrs. Jean Kessler — Design, Jewelry I, II. 5. Mr. Tom Creamer — Ceramics, Design. 6. Ms. Sherryl Knox — Painting I, II, III.

P.E. Program expands

This year's Physical Education program offered a new physical fitness course. The course offered weight lifting and gymnastics which were actively participated in by both guys and girls. "With the offering of the new classes

"With the offering of the new classes the teachers hoped to get the students involved with the P.E. program instead of taking the class as something to do," said Coach Mike Weibert.

"I enjoy what I'm doing"

The service personnel which included the janitors, cafeteria ladies, bus drivers and towel ladies continued to give the students good service throughout the 1977-78 school year.

The most important thing was that these people enjoyed what they did. Theresa Falcone, manager for the cafeteria stated, "The students have been real nice to us this year. I've been doing this twenty years and the thing that keeps me going is that I enjoy cooking for these kids."

NHS contributes service to community projects

"National Honor Society's main purpose was to develop into a service organization," commented Mark Johnson, 12. To start with, NHS raised over $500 for the Kidney Foundation by selling Tootsie Roll banks. The group also sponsored a film during homeroom which explained the need for the drive. Members of the organization hosted participants at College Day and parents at Open House. Still others helped fellow students by tutoring.

Near the beginning of December, induction was held for the 25 new members. They were first reviewed by a 5 member committee of faculty and administrators. The committee made their final decision based on the students' leadership, scholarship, character, and service. Also, the 34 old members were required to maintain the standards under which they were selected. Mrs. Sue Rose Harter, sponsor, said, "National Honor Society members are some of the most delightfully responsible people to work with."

Honor organizations Recognize talent

Quill and Scroll and 100 girls are two organizations which recognized those students who made outstanding achievements scholastically.

Quill and Scroll consisted of those students in the top one third of their class that have excelled in journalism. The members this year exhibited their work during journalism week, something the group had never done before. Also new this year was the initiation of the new members which was held during the open house on February 23. Mrs. Foreman, the sponsor of Quill and Scroll, stated, "I feel that the club is a good way of recognizing those students who have done a good job in journalism, I just wish that the members could get involved in more activities that deal with journalism."

100 Girls were the top five girls of both the junior and senior classes of the Kansas City Missouri Public High Schools and Center Senior High School. The club was recognized and sponsored by The American Association of University Women which honored those top students. A tea was held in the spring to further recognize and honor the girls. The club's sponsor Mrs. Meacham commented, "To me 100 Girls is a nice honor which will look very good on the students' transcripts. I feel it is important to acknowledge those who have worked hard towards a specific accomplishment.'

Paper adopts new form

Highlights of activities involving the student body were put into print bimonthly in the "Searchlight" in the form of newspaper magazine instead of a pure magazine style as in years past. "The new style of the paper gives us more room for copy. We can create different art work for our features with the extra space," commented Carol Finlay, 12.

News writers were allotted approximately one week to gather news and write stories to meet their publisher's deadlines. Covering all aspects of interest of the student body challenged each reporter.

"The hardest thing for me was to put information together into something that sounds like a story," said Laura Quillen, 12.

The newspaper's final achievement was to bring awareness to each student of his school and society.

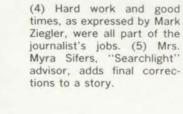

(1) Katie Tierney and Lisa White perfect each part of the newspaper's pages. (2) Editor Michelle Hatley completes a story with the assistance of Rodger Hathaway, Greg Gordon and Joan Butler. (3) Mrs. Sifers listens to new ideas for the paper.

(4) Hard work and good times, as expressed by Mark Ziegler, were all part of the journalist's jobs. (5) Mrs. Myra Sifers, "Searchlight" advisor, adds final correc-

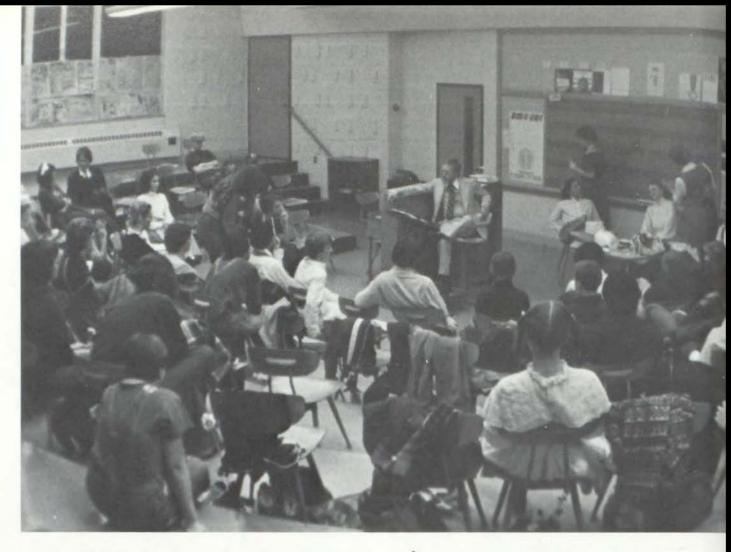

"I think the responsibility of the "Searchlight" staff was to gather news events as they happen in school and outside of school, then print it in a way that it will interest students." ... Margo Watson, 12.

(1) The cast listens to Mr. Landes as he tells them last minutes instructions. (2) Tom McMurtry, 12, and Laura Gibson, 10, work to get some of the sets together. (3) Mr. Landes goes over script with Julie Bisgard, 12, Liz Carty, 12, Tom McMurtry, 12, and Lorie Ashley, 11. (4) Crystal Ashley, 11, is busy selling tickets for the fall play. (5) Becky Sawyer, 12, thinks over her role before going on stage.

Points determine Players' membership

The main purpose of Players 58 was to sponsor Center's play production the Fall Play, the Musical, and the Children's Play. The club had 80 members. The constitution provided for new members to be inducted after a minimum of 14 points had been accumulated. These points were obtained through evaluations made by crew chiefs, cast president, and Mr. Landes. To maintain membership, a student had to work on at least two productions a year.

Players planned social activities for members. Two of their major activities were an annual picnic and, at the end of the year, a banquet where outstanding members received awards.

Animal makes debut

The 1978 Players 58 fall presentation was "I Remember Mama." Directed by C. L. Landes, the story centers around a Norwegian family and their traumas and joys.

This was only the second time an animal has been used in a Center production. Pashua, a siamese cat owned by Becky Sawyer, portrayed Uncle Elizabeth. To calm Pashua down the crew gave her tranquilizers, but this was discontinued since the cat became very ill.

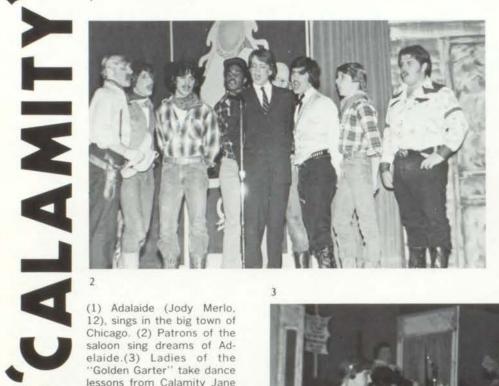

During rehearsals Pashua would climb trees and run off the stage. Melanie Warren, who handled Pashua stated, "Pashua was really easy to work with; it just took some getting used to."

"I Remember Mama" had a good audience response. The crew and players were all very pleased. "The rehearsals took a lot of my time, but in the end it was worth it,"claimed Mitzi Sperry, 12.

Hard work rewards cast

In February the curtains opened on "Calamity Jane," sponsored by the Art, Drama and Music departments.

Before the first performance, students spent hours of preparation building sets and rehearsing script. Julio Heng, who played Lt. Danny Gilmartin, explained, "Despite the many hours of work, I enjoyed being part of the cast especially when the audience applauded."

In describing the hours the students committed to the production, Martin Brown, who played Doc Purce, said, "I put in over two hours a day for the last seven weeks at cast rehearsals and on stage crew."

If hours of effort could be measured by crowd reaction, then the show was fantastic.

Travel terminates season

The vocalists didn't limit themselves to the four walls of room 118. During the year all of the choirs made their debut before audiences at school and around the community. The Concert Choir hosted a Fall and Christmas concert and then took their sounds of music to South City View. A dual concert was given at the City Hall by both the Concert and Chamber Choirs.

Members of the elite Chamber Choir established their singing during concerts given at St. Peter's Episcopal, St. Peter's United, and the Truman Medical Center. The Christmas season brought them to the Plaza for the caroling of favorite melodies.

"Being in Chamber Choir you have the opportunity to perform more often and being a small group you learn more self discipline," remarked Jan Bivins, 12.

With their presentation of songs in prime condition altos, tenors, basses and sopranos entered the District Contest held April 1 at William Jewel College.

Music enthusiasts Have wide choice

Giving a feminine or masculine touch to carol singing, Melody Maidens and Gentlemen Songsters took their place among the choirs. They, too, entertained audiences from school-related functions to contests.

The Blue/Gold Choir, consisting of sophomores, gave an introduction to or continuation of harmonizing together in song.

Full-time Director of the choirs, Mr. John Chronister, was assisted this year by Terri Garcia, 12, Student Director, and Joan Butler, 12, Assistant Student Director.

Group enjoys performing

"Gang was fun because we were able to perform for a variety of audiences," commented Matt Stevens, 11. Center students were able to enjoy the 87th Street Gang at the opportunity period and at the annual Folk Festival which was held in March. Besides singing at school the Gang performed for several community organizations.

"This year's Gang was the most congenial group I've ever worked with," stated sponsor, Mrs. Alice Gene Meacham. Kathy Simpson, 12, also expressed the closeness of the Gang, "This year was really fun because we all got along so well together and had a great time."

MUSIC

Braving the searing heat and the snarling winds, members of Center's Marching Yellowjackets, led by Drum Major Brian Schilling and Junior Drum Major Bill Edwards, took the field. Through rain, mud, tornados, fear among squad leaders and late Thursday night practices, the band made it through the season with only a few lost squadrons. Many hard working weeks were spent preparing for the Shawnee Mission Marching Festival - a challenge to all marching bands. Unfortunately due to bad rains the long awaited for competition was cancelled. The reactions from members all had the same feeling behind them. Tom Anderson, 12, expressed his opinion, "It was really disappointing; we worked so hard on the show. I was ready to go out there and bring them out of their seats. We all think we would have gotten a 1!"

Events that took place during the year, such as playing at pep assemblies, halftime shows, concerts, contests, raising money and taking a trip in the spring, helped the band feel like a family unit. It was not just a class; it went from good ol' C.H. Pig (their Homecoming float), sitting in the yards of many of its creators after the game, to girls who have L.H. parties and woodwinds who wear ALWI t-shirts.

Nothing in the world can take the place of persistence. Talent will not: there is nothing more common than unsuccessful men with talent.

Genius will not: unrewarded genius is almost a proverb. Education alone will not; the world is full of uneducated derelicts.

Persistence and Determination are alone omnipotent.

 A fan shows his talent by dancing to the beat of the band. (2) Brian Schilling, 12, proudly models his band tshirt. (3) The pep band performs before the game. (4) Band officers: Stan Forman, Charlie Meyer, Frank Licausi, Tom Anderson, Jo Leahy, Janet Rowlands, Greg Jackson.

'Strike up the band'

"The 1977-78 Jazz Ensemble needed no winding, they had been blessed with what you might call - ELECTRIC-ITY!" Early Monday mornings, the 23 members rocked the school with no less than a sound as jazzy as their name and managed to put together a show of ear shattering entertainment. The band performed during Opportunity Period, concerts and basketball games.

Eight members qualified for the All-District Band. It was an honor for many and a great learning experience to others. Amy Brinkman, 11, said it best, ''I learned to play music, not just notes.'' The eight members were as follows: Amy Brinkman, Karen Bychinski, Carol DiRaimo, Carl Johnson, Frank Licausi, Charlie Meyer, Jeremy Miller and Janet Rowlands.

As they say, 'strike up the band' and that's exactly what Mr. Don Shaffer, Director, and Mrs. Mary Channon, assistant director, did with the Concert band. No time was wasted as members prepared for the District Music Contest held at William Jewel College. Frank Licausi, 11, commented, "I want to work hard in band so we can be the best in our district at contest." That's one thing Center's band has always strived for - perfection. With a spark of excitement in their eyes, participants in the contest whistled and hummed the music over in their minds anticipating the moment when they would crawl up on stage and reveal their talent.

"These times, and many more that the band shared together cannot be replaced, only set back in the good times file in their mind, and taken out when an old familiar tune comes to mind," summed up Janet Rowlands.

Opportunities provide change from everyday doldrums

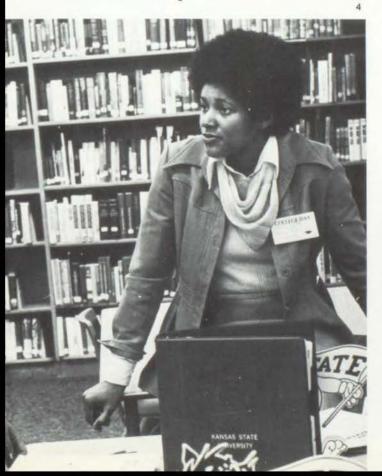

Among the everyday doldrums of school, there were some things that broke the monotony. Pep assemblies, Opportunity Periods, and College Day were these saviors.

This year there was some controversy over pep assemblies. A poll was taken and many students voted against pep assemblies. Beth Schnell, 12, stated, "Maybe they would be a little better if they were a little longer."

Opportunity Periods were furnished by the Community Resources Class One period featured "Star Wars" outtakes and also "Star Trek" out-takes.

College Day was a good chance for graduating seniors to look at colleges from all over. "I think it's a really good thing to have", stated Jim Gallo,12.

Club craves for action

This year the Political Science Club was significantly bigger, consisting of over 60 members.

Among the most important activities were Model Senate and Model U.N., which gave club members experience in preparing for future goals and exposed students to senate procedures.

One of the first projects the club participated in, Trick-or -Treat for Unicef, included Snoopy's Sincere Pumpkin Patch at Crown Center when they helped raise $2,600. The club also sold concessions during intermissions at the plays, while also going to international dinners throughout the year. Also, the Headstart Christmas Party was one of the many events that the club enjoyed.

"Political Science Club is a very fulfilling organization," noted Dixie Dunleavy, 11, "preparing oneself for the world ahead."

NFL hosts tournament

Center held its own debate tournament on January 13-14. Jeff Helsdon, 12, expressed, "It was one of the smoothest run tournaments this year." There were between two hundred and three hundred participants, and the tournament required an intense amount of effort on the part of all the NFL members.

This year's resolution read: "The Federal Government should guarantee comprehensive medical care for all citizens in the United States."

NFL's officers were Lisa White, president; Greg Gordon, vice-president; Sherri French, secretary; and Donna Phelps, treasurer.

"Mr. Brown has done an excellent job in training and teaching students in debate, "stated Donna Phelps, 12.

In the words of Jeff Helsdon, 12, "There were many difficult problems that had to be overcome, but with the contributions of everyone, we came through."

French club flourishes

Under the guidance of a new sponsor, Mrs. Ruth Paulsen, the 77-78 French Club started off the school year with a bang and kept the pace throughout the year. Working together, they participated in many activities such as a hayride, caroling, a visit to the lyric theater and a spring banquet at a French restaurant. But their activities weren't all fun and games. They also worked on revising the club constitution and participated in area Frenchspeaking competitions.

Le Circle Francais, as it was more popularly known to its members, raised money by sponsoring a car wash and selling candy. Besides financing the activities listed above, this money was used to send the officers to the Leadership Conference and to establish a sort of scholarship for two members, Diane Lammers, senior, and Scott Ramsey, junior, who visited France as part of a special program this spring.

This program, which was sponsored by the Intercultural Student Experiences organization, provided an opportunity for these students to learn more about the country and culture of the language they studied. "The trip was really a unique experience. I never thought that learning French could be so interesting," stated Scott Ramsey.

Piñata rains candy

The 77-78 Spanish club, sponsored by Mr. William Scott, started off the season with an entry in the Homecoming Parade. "Working the float was fun. It was an experience I'll never forget," laughed Missy Monroe, 11. The club also went out to the Acapulco Restaurant for a traditional Mexican meal. One week the club sold Hot Tamale candy to help their treasury and to satisfy the hunger pains of some members of the student body.

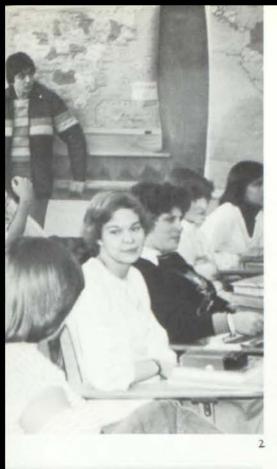

The year was rounded off by a Pinata party. The party, held outside, featured a pinata filled with candy and goodies and strung from the crossbar of a goal post on the practice football field. Fun was the word of the evening. "The year was fun and Señor Scott is a good sponsor," stated Naomi Miller, 12.

German club faces changes

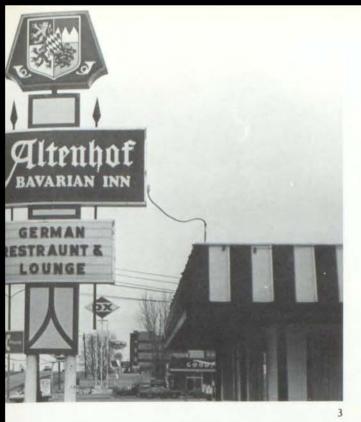

This year's German Club saw many changes take place within their organization, including the admission of a new sponsor, Mrs. Coralie Vedros. Frau Vedros jumped right in, enthusiastically lending her support to the many club activities that took place.

Another noticeable change took place in the variation of the club fund raiser. Instead of the traditional selling of Softi Chew and Toblerone candy, the club sold glass mugs with the school mascot, a Center Yellowjacket, on them.

The German Club participated in numerous activities including a Christmas banquet, and a volleyball game with the Spanish Club. They also acknowledged the departure and return of four students, juniors Nancy Tresnak, Nick Lyon, Kurt Heitman and senior Jeff Duncan, who took part in an ISE trip this spring. This program gave students a chance to visit German schools, stay with a German family and visit prominent cities. "The trip was a blast!" stated Nancy Tresnak. "The German people were very friendly and really made you feel at home."

Members act as Good will ambassadors

This was the first year for the International club in its present form. In the past years this organization had been known as the AFS club. Because of difficulties in raising money to get an AFS student, the club decided to change to International club.

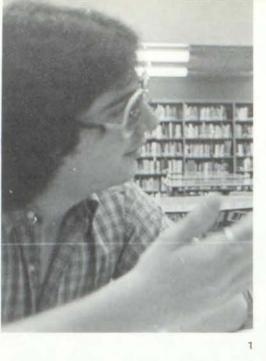

This was also Mrs. Joanna Christian's first year as sponsor. "The kids were great to work with. I really enjoyed everything that we did, especially watching them grow in the taking of responsibility," commented Mrs. Christian.

The club helped celebrate the fiftieth graduating class with an entry in the Homecoming Parade. They got into the Christmas spirit by spreading cheer through caroling at the Red Bridge Health Center. In Key Club's Toys for Tots campaign International club won first place for door decorations with "A Storybook Christmas".

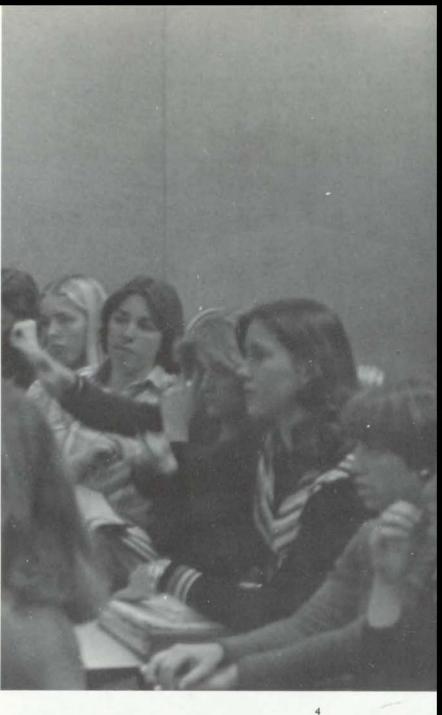

The club's major goal was to help the foreign students to adjust to life at Center. By tutoring these students the club helped accomplish this goal. "Tutoring foreign students is an experience for the tutor as well as for the student," stated Bernadette Pistone, 10.

Future looks promising for Stu-Co

The Student Council found itself constructing order from the chaos as they tried to build toward the future. Early in the year they adopted a new constitution and initiated homeroom representatives and club representatives in an attempt to serve the total school body. Stu-Co also set up communication with the administration and the school board in hopes of discussing the future of Center High School.

In honor of changing student opinions, the Student Council decided to cancel the traditional December Sno-ball dance and instead held a concert which was christened "Center Jam L". Stated Greg Gordon, 12, vicepresident, "It was an activity that appealed to a greater portion of the student body."

Looking to the future, the Student Council set up a philosophy and a set of goals for the future students. They also assisted in the first annual Leadership Conference and worked toward the improvement of school activities. More importantly the Student Council gave a chance for students to learn and to practice responsible and creative leadership. Berry Bunyard, 12 and John Hutchins, 11 tune-up a car engine.

Students prepare for future

Students who wanted to get a headstart in training for their career took part in the Vo-Tech program in Raytown.

Center had 35 Seniors and 16 juniors enrolled. Students spent half a day at school and half a day at the Vocational Technological School where such courses as Mechanics, Cosmetology, Graphic Arts, Data Processing and Commercial Building Management were offered.

Mike Morgan, 12, stated, "I enjoyed the program because it provided actual work experience for me."

Joy Feiden, 12, stated, "Working with computers and learning about data processing will help me get a wellpaying job." VICA, DECA work hard

In connection with Distributive Education and Trades and Industries classes, DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America) and VICA (Vocational Industrial Clubs of America) worked hard to prepare students for a future in job situations. VICA dealt with labor jobs that use certain skills, while DECA was associated with retailing and salesmanship.

Ms. Cindy Payne, DECA sponsor, and Mr. Tom Coyle, VICA sponsor, both agreed that the classes became more popular and that the number of club members rapidly increased.

Both clubs sold candy this year to help finance activities which included a homecoming float, an employer-employee banquet, a picnic and job-related skill contests.

Title IX opens Key Club

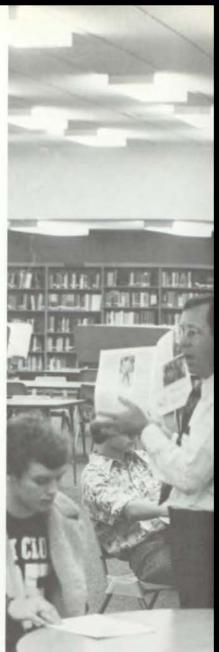

Of the 40 voting members of the 77-78 Key Club, thirteen were girls. As a result of Title IX, Key Club opened its doors to members of the opposite sex for the first time in its fourteen-year history.

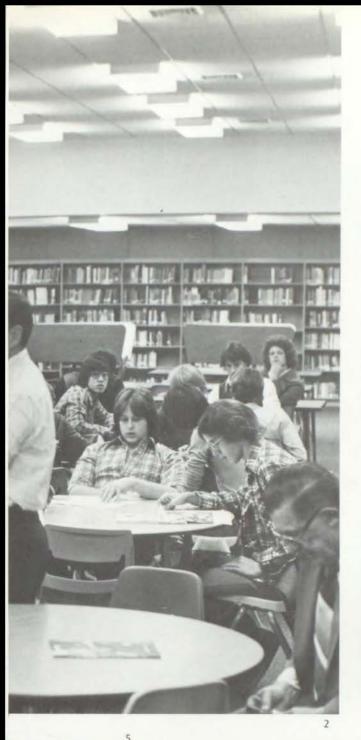

Key Club met on Thursday mornings to plan activities such as a Key Clubfaculty volleyball game for United Way, ringing bells for the Salvation Army, collecting toys for Tots, and a bowling tournament with the Kiwanians, which was won by the junior class members.

They also sold activity calendars for the Leonard Garber Scholarship Fund and participated in a division rally with 12 clubs in the area.

"Impressed" boosts sales

A major asset to this year's yearbook was a successful sales pitch. The staff wore special T-shirts and gave away free decals to everyone who bought a '78 Yellowjacket. "Our 'Impressive' campaign really helped boost our sales this year," stated Patti Flucke, Business Editor. Mrs. Mary Lu Foreman, yearbook adviser, commented, "This year's staff enjoyed what they did and were enthusiastic about the yearbook." Dan Evans, Editor, stated that the staff worked together to achieve a memorable yearbook.

A TIME FOR: SPORTS

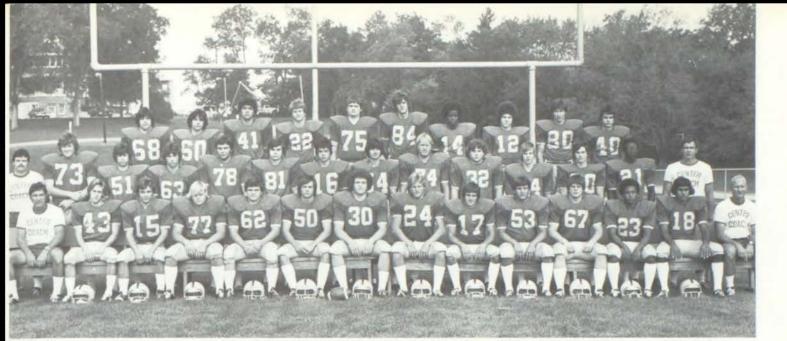

Grueling afternoon practices Exciting, action-packed victories A cheering, roaring crowd The sorrow following defeat Tired, pulled muscles The fighting Yellowjackets' season had its ups and downs because they started the season by losing five out of six games. By the end of the season things started to take shape as the Yellowjackets won the last three games. Coach Smith stated, "I feel that we finished as the strongest team in the conference, in spite of our record."

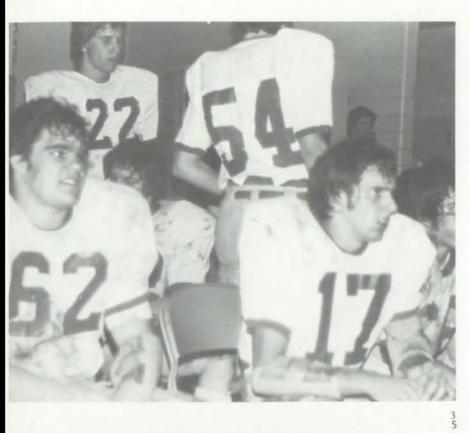

Team stays Alive

The feelings of the team as a unit were summed up by John Doarn, 12, who stated, "Many times a disappointing experience is as valuable as any other. This football season, although marred by five losses, was a greater experience than being undefeated. We accomplished more than defeated opponents; we defeated the out-right criticism of the student body. My last four games in a Center uniform made me feel proud of my season and my play. I am proud to be a part of this experience, The Center Experience."

Despite a rash of injuries during the season, the J. V. team had a fairly successful season. Junior Danny Theiss stated, "I think that we started to put it all together about midway through the season. If we could have possibly done it sooner, I think that we might have gone undefeated. With their record at 4-3-2, the team had alot of their wins attributed to some sophomores. The sophomore team was combined with J. V. because of a schedule conflict.

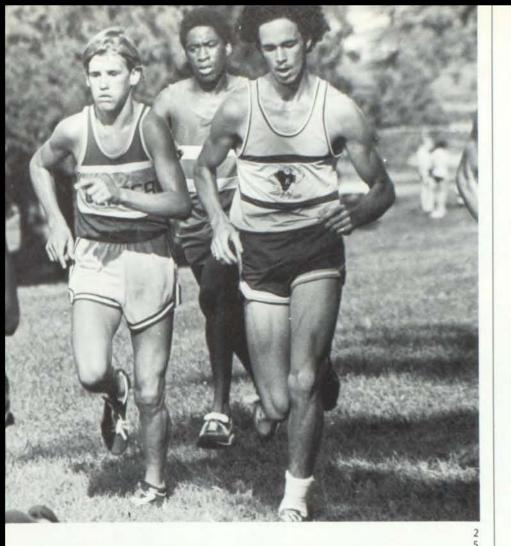

"The sophomores did a good job for their first year in high school," stated Mark Gregg, 11. "I think that next year we should have a strong team."

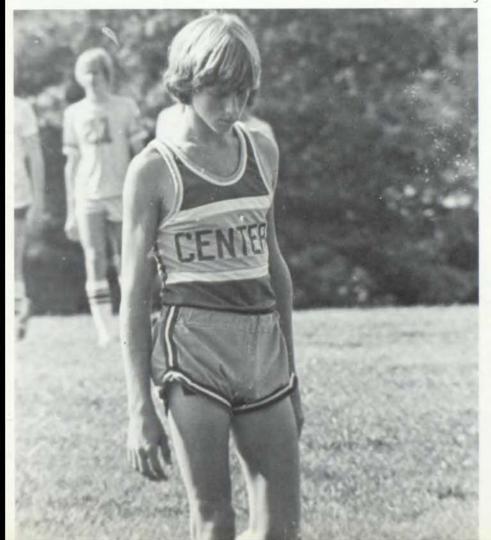

Coach Wilbert added, "This year's team contained a bunch of guys that wanted to win. The only problem is they waited till the last minute to win. Games like that are fun, but hard on coaches. This team started out slow but started to jell together, once they realized it took a team effort to win."

(5) With mud for jerseys, Center enjoys a rain game at Rockhurst. (6) Center's defense gets set for a big 4thdown play. (7) Mark Gregg discusses strategy with Coaches Weibert and Bradshaw.

"When this year's cross country season arrived a lot of us were really unsure about the team. We were defending conference champs, but since we had lost four of our five top runners, we were going to have a long way to go.

"The team didn't win conference, we placed third. We ended up beating some teams which we didn't think we could. Many people were surprised with our good performances."

Team Loses Crown

"Mitch Gray had alot of fun initiating the sophomores and freshmen, who became an asset to the team's performance.

"The team as a whole didn't bring home any trophies. Greg Leibert and Jerry Ward did accumulate a few medals, though. Leibert and Ward were also named all-conference.

"Everyone had their ups and downs, but I think we all learned from our experiences on the team." -Keith Ehrhard

This year the Yellowjackets seemed to be marred by close games all the way through the season. Those games were not decided until the last few minutes of the fourth and final periods. This was because of the competition level which proved to be tremendously balanced in the Small Six conference, one of the toughest conferences in the area.

As Coach Hayes stated, "The overall balance this year seemed to be better than it has been in quite a few years." With this overall balance, any of the teams could have beaten each other and come out a contender for the top spot.

Valuable year for experience

This year the Junior Varsity squad consisted of some juniors and quite a few sophomores who filled out the J.V. roster. This year proved to be a valuable year for these young players because of the experience they gained over the year. As Coach Bob Bessenbacher stated, "We have alot of talented basketball players with a lack of experience, and I think we have good potential for the future."

Sophomores Give effort

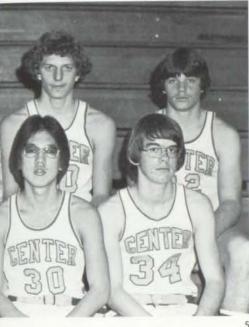

This year's sophomore basketball team had its problems. Many of the problems were attributed to the number of sophomores on the junior varsity team who could have contributed to the sophomore team. Rod Booker, 10, stated, "Things did not go the way we planned, but we hope we can improve ourselves for next season." "Halfway through the season the team's record stood at 4 at 9 which could have been better if the sophomores could have been all together," said Ray Lee.

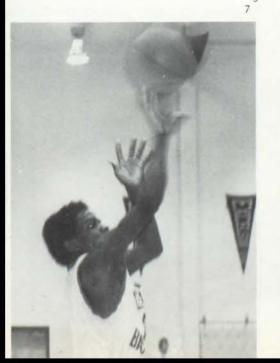

(1) Dave Slyter, 10, looks for an outlet pass. (2) Sophomore Rod Booker drives for the basket. (3) Ed Kisluk attempts to block Bob Barker's shot in practice. (6) Coach Seifert instructs Rob Houston. (7) Rod Booker displays good shooting form in practice.

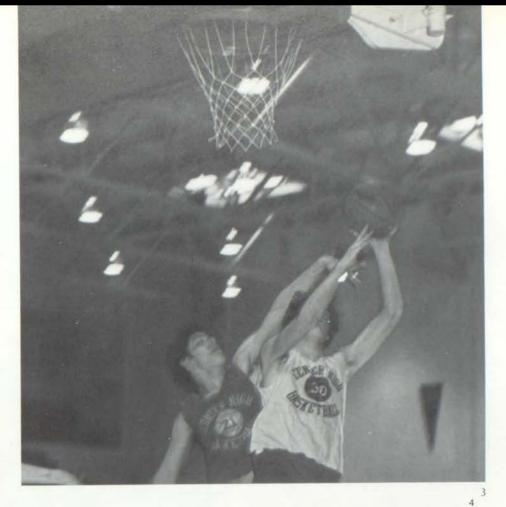

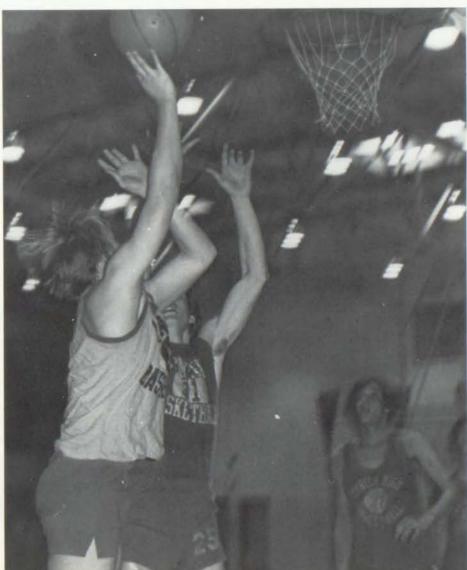

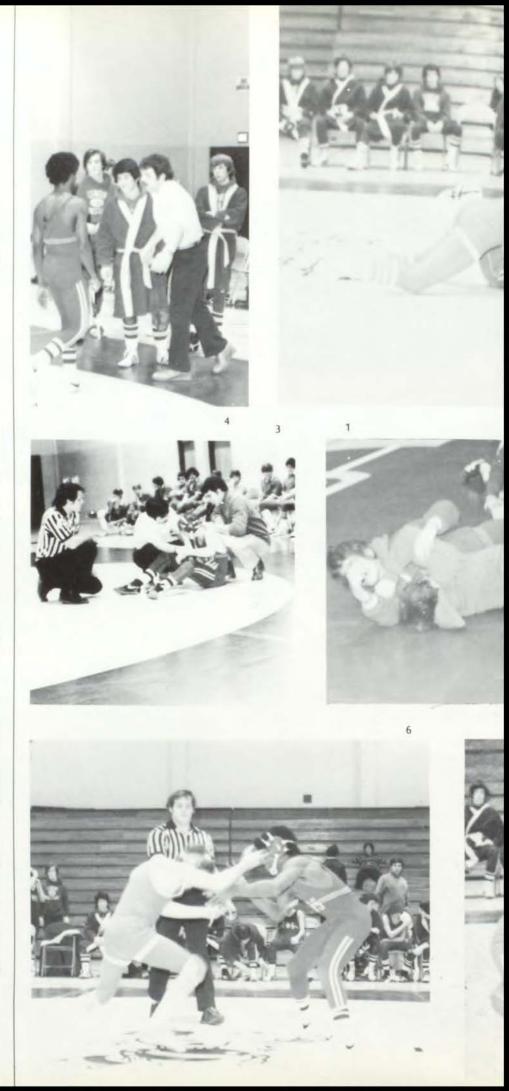

"The J.V. Wrestlers performed better than I expected in some cases. The boys tried hard, but their lack of experience hampered them in their efforts," reflected Coach Mike Weibert.

Boys strive for Technique

Lack of experience was the team's main problem this year. At the beginning of the season only five out of the twelve J. V. wrestlers had any knowledge about the sport of wrestling. The players concentrated this year on getting down to the basics of the sport.

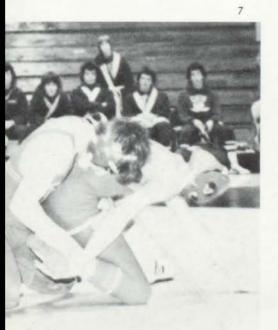

As the season wore on only the dedicated and hard-working boys stuck out the lengthly practices and many losses at the meets. "I just want to be good at wrestling. There is more action and I like an individualized sport," stated Brian Mills, 10.

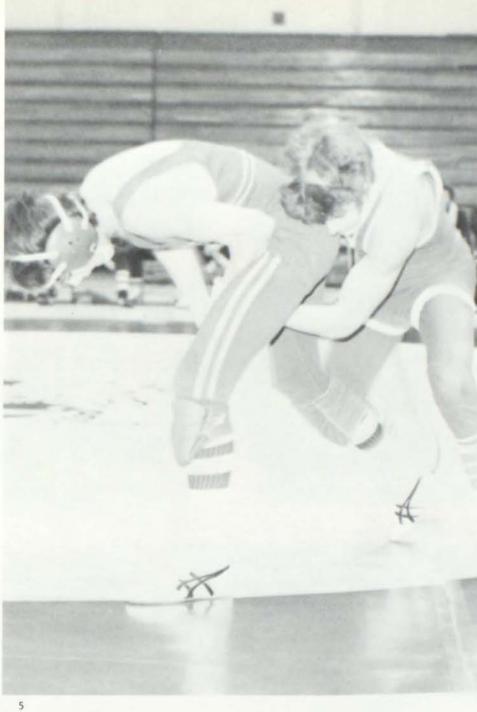

(1) Team members grapple with each other to get warmed up before a meet. (2) Joe Gingrich, 9, works to escape a Raymore-Peculiar wrestler's hold. (3) Coaches Don Bradshaw and Mike Weibert check over Carl Perry, 10, after he is in-jured in a match. (4) Team members, along with Coach Weibert, congratulate Lucky Williams, 10, on a well-done match. (5) Struggling to keep in bounds, Joe Gingrich attempts to switch his position on his opponent. (6) Lucky Williams uses fast handwork to help him score two points for taking his man to the mat. (7) Paul Baradi, 9, works to bring his opponent to his back. (8) Looking over his man, Francis Reddy. 10, strives to get a take-down.

As a result of a young team, the wrestlers had a tough competitive season this year. As Coach Mike Weibert related, "Right now we are a building a team with mainly sophomores and freshmen; therefore our record suffers."

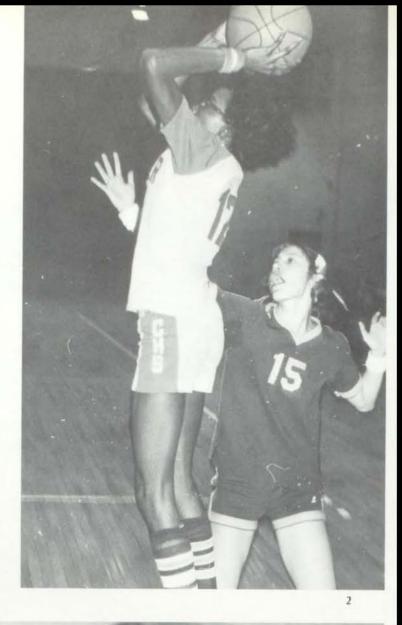

Practices started with self-condititioning in early October with running the halls and stairs. With only three seniors on the varsity team, inexperience was a factor causing many defeats. However, Coach Weibert stated, "The guys who were dedicated and stuck with the demanding practices and gave 100% improved during the season and will be very tough wrestlers."

Inexperience Hampers team

Rusty Gaggins, 12, commented, "When a team loses, the members can't let the defeats affect them. Sure it hurts, but if a guy gets depressed over losing he can't wrestle his personal best. After losing he has to be more determined to work harder and perfect his individual skills."

As the 1977-78 girls' basketball team started the season they developed a goal. Coach Mike Goodpaster related, "Most of all we wanted to learn to play the game well, but along the way hoped we would have a winning team." With many hours of practice following, the girls accumulated a record of 15 wins and 6 losses.

The starting varsity team included Patty Bice, 11, Teri Lewis, 12, Becky Ommen, 12, Vickie Clement, 11, and Joy Ommen, 10.

"During the three years that I've been on the team, we've improved in many ways," stated Becky Ommen,

Team Concentrates On winning

12. "Playing experience for the girls has been the greatest improvement factor. Also, the junior high basketball program has contributed to the technical quality of sophomore girls who try out for the team. Last of all, Coach Goodpaster did a good job of guiding the team this year."

 Becky Ommen, 12, jumps for the ball.
 Vickie Clement, 11, shoots for two points. (3) Terri Lewis, 12, passes the ball to a teammate. (4) Patty Bice, 11, strives to recover the ball from an opponent. (5) Patty Bice recovers the ball as it rebounds off the basket. Despite many disappointing losses the girls Junior Varsity basketball team worked hard to improve their skills. Because of a lack of experience, the girls put an emphasis on learning, and towards the season's end, proved to be tough competition for many opposing teams.

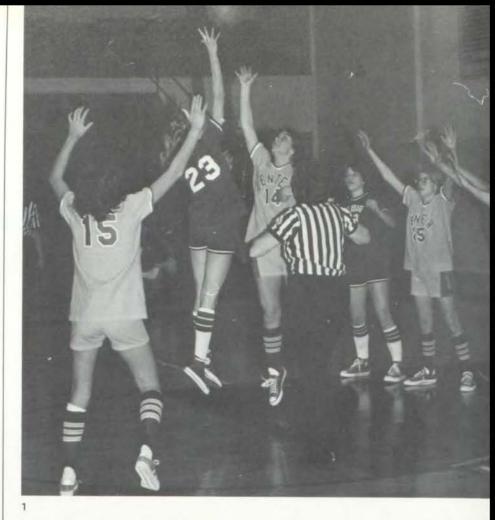

"The girls became more and more competitive as the season progressed," stated Coach Mike Goodpaster. "Their overall skills greatly improved and they became more aggressive."

Team Exhibits Aggressiveness

During practice, J.V. worked together with the Varsity team. These practices helped sharpen the girls' skills while providing an opportunity for J.V. to scrimmage against the Varsity players.

"The season as a whole didn't look too impressive, but we all learned alot. We feel we had the best coach. He understood our inexperience, keeping his temper and laughing instead. The whole J.V. team is really looking forward to next year and being on the Varsity squad!" asserted sophomore Johna Schmedding and Kathy Williams.

(1) Jane Weddle, 14, reaches for a jump ball as team members stand ready to assist. (2) During a game against NKC, Kathy Williams leaps for a jump ball. (3) Lori Ginson, (15), grabs for the ball as Julia Thro, (25), and Kim Giles, (24), watch. (4) Kelly Hampton, (11), attempts a basket. (5) Lori Ginson and Kelly Hampton try for the ball in a game against Fort Osage. (6) Jane Weddle, Kim Giles and Kathy Williams guard opposing team members. (7) Lori Ginson tips the ball to team members. (8) Kim Giles, Jane Weddle and Johna Schmedding wait for the rebound.

Although possessing good skills, the 77-78 Varsity Volleyball team was hampered by a lack of togetherness. Led by coach Jan Russell, the volleyball squad began practices in August involving running, warm-up drills and scrimmages to perfect game performance. This year's starting team, consisting of four juniors and six seniors, worked hard to improve individual skills, but could not seem to apply the sense of teamwork needed to bring about a winning season.

Lack of togetherness Hampers team

"I feel the team was well-skilled but just couldn't get together mentally," stated Coach Russell.

Tonie Hurtado, senior, expressed similar feelings. "I think that this year's Varsity Volleyball team had the potential to be very good. We just couldn't get it together when we needed it most."

"We didn't do as well as we should have. There were times when our spirit would fall and so would our playing. But we had a lot of improved players which will help the team next year," commented Sherl Latenser, team captain, senior.

With the addition of an assistant coach, Mrs. Teresa McGown, the J. V. Volleyball players were able to perfect their skills this year.

Team captain Alice Hink, 10, stated, "The J.V. team had a good season this year but probably would have been better if more people would have come to cheer for us. With the addition of a new coach we had better practices since she could work with us while Coach Russell worked with Varsity."

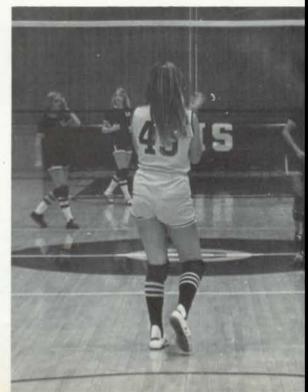

Sophomores Gain Experience

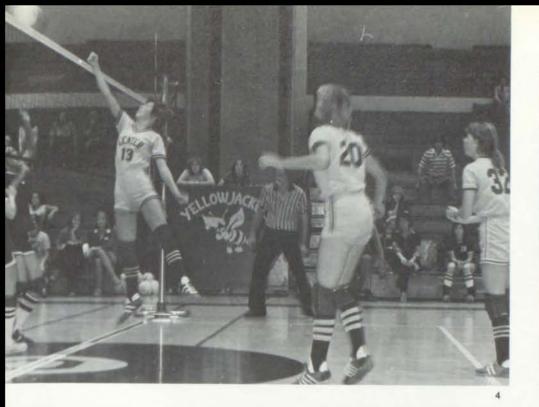

The team gained more experience this year by playing Sophomore games in addition to J.V. games. Although no official records were kept of games, the girls were able to see how they played in team situations. They also could tell what their competition would be for next year.

"The team had a lot of good players and if we all had worked together we could have had a good season. The season as a whole was a lot of work, but we had fun doing it. Next year is going to be a good season," commented Kathy Williams, 10.

This year's tennis team took the courts in style with new shirts and skirts. Also new to this year's team was the addition of North Kansas City as a new conference competitor.

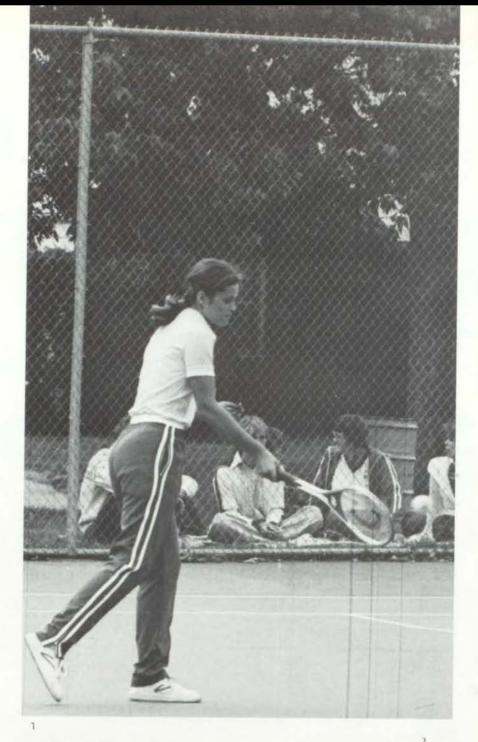

Coach Grow stated, "This year's team was the best we've ever had as far as ability goes. Between the four seniors there was a combination of fifteen years playing experience. Backing up the varsity was the J.V. with a winning record of 6 and 5. I feel this year's team had a good attitude throughout the season, and never quit trying."

Tennis anyone?

Team captain Denny Brisley, 12, stated, "In my four years of team competition at Center, I have seen the ability of the players improve greatly. Although we did not win conference this year, I believe that the quality of the team as a whole was far superior than in any previous year."

Wendy Carlson, 12, said, "Being a part of the girls' tennis team helped me to gain experience while building new friendships."

"We didn't have as many singular outstanding individuals as we've had in the past, but overall the team was better," stated Charlie Meyer, 12. However, according to Coach Musgrave, inexperience and lack of depth contributed to the lack of success this year. With only four seniors returning, the team was basically made up of freshmen and sophomores. Practices began in early November, as the boys prepared for the November 30 season opener.

Swimmers Face defeat

In the eight meets that followed, the Centerites ended up with a record of 2 wins and 6 losses. The district meet was held in mid February at the Raytown Y.M.C.A.

"Although the team lost several meets," commented Coach Musgrave, "I feel that we were strong in the individual medley, butterfly, and the breaststroke and 100 freestyle. Our competition got stronger this year also."

Support for the sports at Center came not only from the fans this year but also through organizations for the boys, C Club and the girls, Center Girl Sports Association.

C.G.S.A. has been in existence for four years. However their efforts to publicize girls' sports in order to bring out spectators have been unsuccessful. As Judy Collins, 12, commented, "We never have many fans at our events." Becky Ommen, 12, President of C.G.S.A., stated, "It is a relatively new field at Center and it needs all the support from everyone at Center."

Clubs offer Support

On the other side of the field the C Club has been adding to the support of the boys' sports. Although the C Club in past years has been inactive, this year was the first time in a long time that they had an activity. It was a candy sale to raise money to get the club back on its feet. Forest Swyden, 12, President of C Club said, "If we can increase our budget and become an active organization again it could help the morale of the sports program here at Center."

With the changing of sponsors this year, Miss Beard took over as the cheerleader adviser. This made the going a little rough at first but the squad began to unite as the season continued. Miss Beard stated, "Cheerleading is a hard job. It takes a lot of time and responsibility and these girls put forth alot of effort."

Cheerleaders Lend spirit

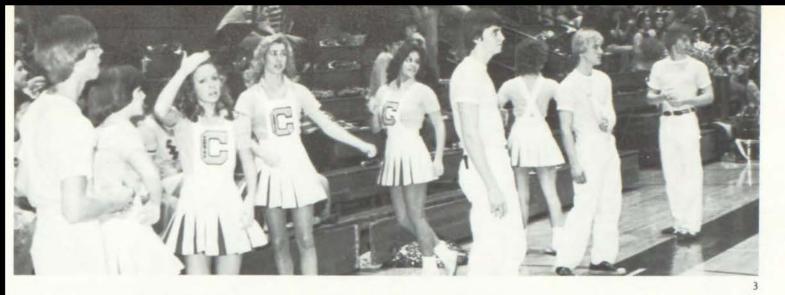

Tara Ogg, 12, agreed with Miss Beard, "It is a hard job but well worth the effort. Cheerleading has given me a feeling of responsibility and I have developed many friendships from it."

In order to buy new uniforms this year, the cheerleaders held two car washes and sold candy over the summer while practicing every morning except weekends at seven o'clock.

"J.V. Cheerleading took many hours of hard work but I enjoyed it," stated Maria North, 11. "Cheerleading at both sophomore and J.V. games takes up much of your time."

Over the summer J.V. held a car wash, garage sale, and participated in a paper route to raise money for their new uniforms. During the school year they had a candy sale.

Activities bring Money in Helping the cheerleaders perform their cheers at all the sporting events were the yelleaders who worked just as hard as the cheerleaders and contributed their enthusiasm to the games.

The Wrestlettes kept themselves involved this year with a variety of activities. Along with running the clock and scoring, the squad worked on perfecting a new method of cheering. So, now the squad led cheers standing up rather than sitting down. Also, they had a garage and candy sale to raise money to pay off uniforms and other yearly expenses.

Coach Mike Weibert stated, "The Wrestlettes are ten girls who I can depend on to do a good job. They helped make our wrestling tournament run smoothly."

Girls stay busy

Wrestlettes supported the wrestling team in many ways besides the usual cheering. Embroidering pillow cases for use at tournaments, giving Christmas stockings and having a Christmas party were a few.

"The squad spent a lot of time together; therefore, friendships were made. All in all, being a Wrestlette has been a great experience!" stated Paulette Frey, 12.

This year's Precissionettes were selected differently from previous years by a panel of sponsors from various high schools, to make the tryouts as fair as possible. Summer practice began in June every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings at 5:45 a.m. From June 26 to July 3, twentytwo girls attended camp at Kansas University where they learned many drill and pom-pon routines. For their summer fund raiser the Precissionettes had a car wash and garage sale, from which they raised enough money to buy flashlights for a basketball drill.

Year brings Changes

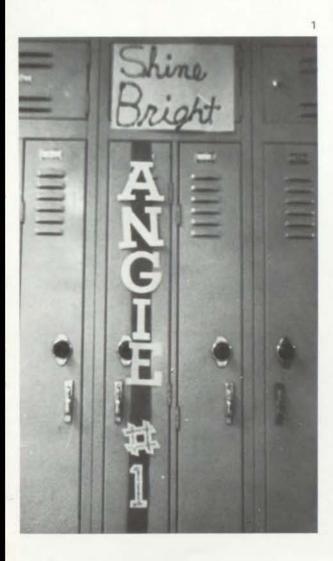

New to the squad this year was the purchase of skirts and the addition of the team's new sponsor, Mrs. Sarah Stalder, who stated, "The Drill Team is a fun bunch of girls who I really enjoyed working with. I hope next year that I will be able to go to camp with the girls because I feel that I could learn alot of important things."

The Precissionettes this year were led by Co-Captains Jeanie Reckart and Vickie Wisdom. Throughout the year the girls drilled at football and basketball half-times, a pep assembly and participated in the Homecoming game by designing four different floats. During the half-time of the Homecoming game the girls rode around the track in their various floats.

Half-times Highlight Games

Some of the highlights of the season were a flashlight drill, a tambourine routine to the song "Do the Hustle" and a Valentine's Day drill with hearts. During the football season Pom Pom Pals decorated each others' lockers giving one another support for the game that night. Mr. Don Shaffer who co-ordinated the marching band and drill team shows, felt, "Drill Team looked sharper than I've ever seen them." "The main goals of Drill Team are to have fun and be a good performing group," stated Joan Schwarz, 12.

Concert raises Controversy

Meetings of Student Council on November 15 and 17 decided to break the tradition of the Snoball dance and put a concert in its place. Student reactions were both wide and varied. Karen Cosbohn, 11, stated, "Snoball is a tradition, like Homecoming; I can't believe a few members of Student Council had the right to end it."

"The council chose the idea of the concert to get a different sector of the school involved in activities. I personnally think it's a great idea," remarked Mike Kelley, 11.

The abolition of the Snoball dance resulted from a survey taken of homeroom classs. Of the 761 students polled, 241 said they would attend the dance held in the cafeteria. Many more said they would attend if the dance was held somewhere else. StuCo requested permission to hold the dance at JUCO, but the administration denied approval, stating it would take emphasis off Prom.

Since Snoball was off, on December 17 Justus, a jazz rock group performed in Garrison auditorium.

Justus consisted of seven men. Originating in Kansas City, Justus was formed two years ago.

No more than 200 people attended the concert. "I feel the band got rooked. Justus is excellent, I think the publicity could have been alot better," commented Tom Hartnett, 12.

According to StuCo the concert lost approximately $150. "Justus lost about the same amount of money as Snoball did last year, but the concert reaches more people," stated Jeanie Reckart, 12, StuCo representative.

(4) Lead guitarist, Mark Leggett, sings his own composition. (5) Mark Hart adds backup vocals. Center students participated in a variety of activities outside of the school day. Spectator sports, such as the varsity football and basketball games on Friday nights, had large turnouts often followed by a meeting of friends and the team afterwards. Popular gathering places were the "5th Quarter" at the Teen House, the Terrace Room disco, or sometimes MacDonald's or Minsky's for a late night snack.

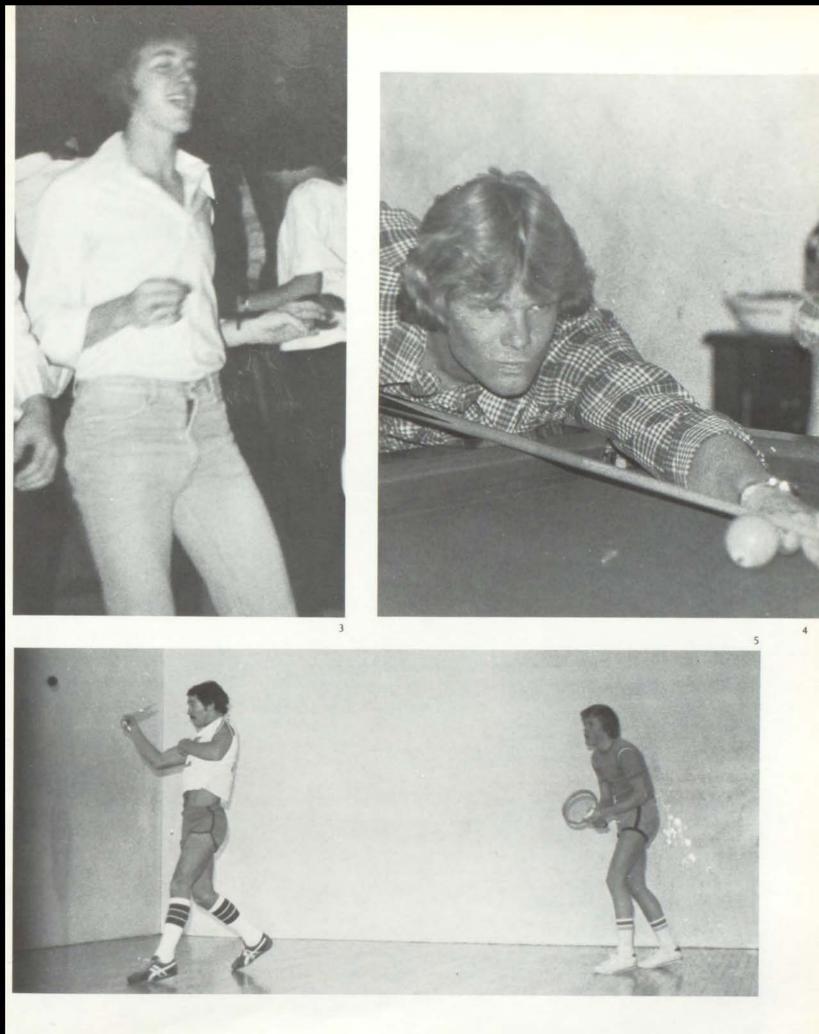

Weekends Break routine

For older students, a fun night might have consisted of "bar hopping" at the local Kansas bars. Pogo's, Bo's and Fantasy's were among the more popular ones visited by the 18 year old seniors.

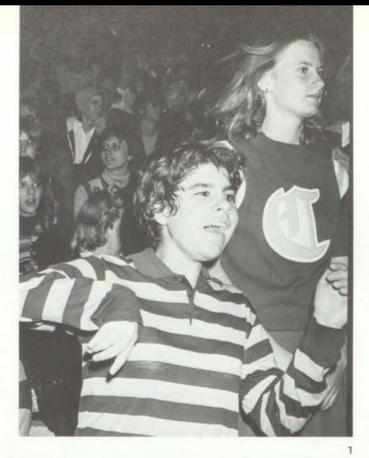

Students trying to stay in shape used Center's weight room and ran laps around the school hallways. Stated Jay Yuille, 12, "I try to lift weights three nights a week and occasionally play raquetball to keep in shape."

"I think the Spirit Club is an important factor of the game. The teams need the support. During the week before the game the Spirit Club makes signs and decorates the lockers to help psyche the teams up for the game. Our main purpose is to boost the team's ambitions and morale," commented Tara Ogg, 12, varsity cheerleader.

Club Sports spirit

Arousing excitement among their peers was only a partial responsibility of the Spirit Club officers that involved weekly games, hall and locker decorations and sports breakfasts.

Throughout the year the Honor Spirit Club members were recognized for their outstanding work in helping the club.

The activities of Spirit Week and the old-fashioned atmosphere of the "country fair" dance was attributed to the combined efforts of the Spirit Club members.

(6) Nancy Burns, 10, watches the football players warm up before the game. (7) Amy Irwin, 10, shows excitement for game activities. The prelude of Center's Country Fair began with a Spirit Week of unusual activities. A Ho-Down and Rodeo Day were set aside to allow students to join in Homecoming festivities by dressing in outfits appropriate for each particular day.

Spirit Week

Expsychment

Lunch hours included participation from students in the bobbing for apples, pinning the tail on the cow, a pie eating contest, musical chairs and a "shoot the Indian contest."

The '77 Spirit Jug was awarded to the Senior class for the best decorated hallway during Spirit Week. The first floor was covered with gold ornaments for the Fiftieth Anniversary.

"I was surprised at the number of people who dressed up. It was an enjoyable event that certainly did promote school spirit," recalled Oscar Hampton, 11.

(4) Arranging letters for hall decoration are juniors Mitch Bossman, Christy Burnette, and Mike Kelley. (5) Sophomores Leslie Billings, Jim Cramer, and Amy Burrow dress for Rodeo Day. As the clock ticked on, the sun beat more brilliantly down upon Center, producing the uplifting of spirits in the halls. A Golden Country Fair was chosen as the theme for this year's Homecoming. By the time sixth hour had arrived the air was wild with excitement. The parking lot was jam packed with a glittering display of a gala carnival, accompanied by the sound of a pep assembly and ready to set out on a long awaited for excursion to schools.

"Kids are in such good spirits, during homecoming. There was much more of an interest in getting involved," commented Sandy Stoor, 12.

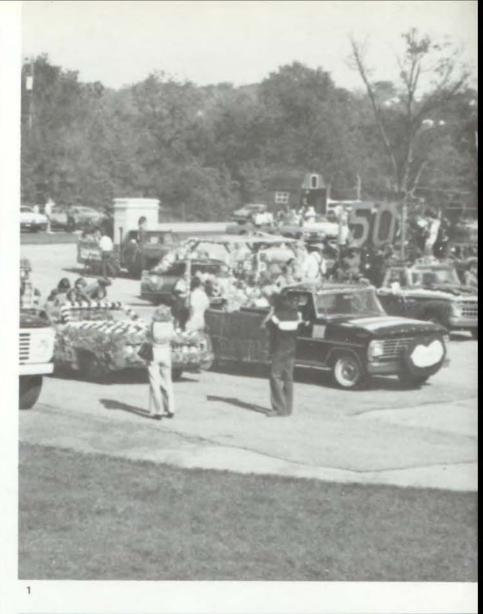

Parade out-shines Sun

To round off the week, the Homecoming Dance, dressed to the theme, entered Center's cafeteria. With the atmosphere full of country charm the band, Sirius, provided the entertainment for the evening. The evening soon came to a halt and with it many memories.

Debris from that week cluttered many a yard, pictures were tacked on bulletin boards and the pride and joy in the hearts of those involved in the festivities of the week still remains.

Next time Homecoming rolls around it will be for the members of Center's fiftieth graduating class, the first time to be called Alumni of 1978.

(3) Senior Attendants: Keith Ehrhard, Missy Meyer, Frank Benanti, Mona Shultheiss. (4) Attendants await the halftime activities. (5) Homecoming Queen: Jeri Johnson. (6) Mr. Spirit: Greg Decker.

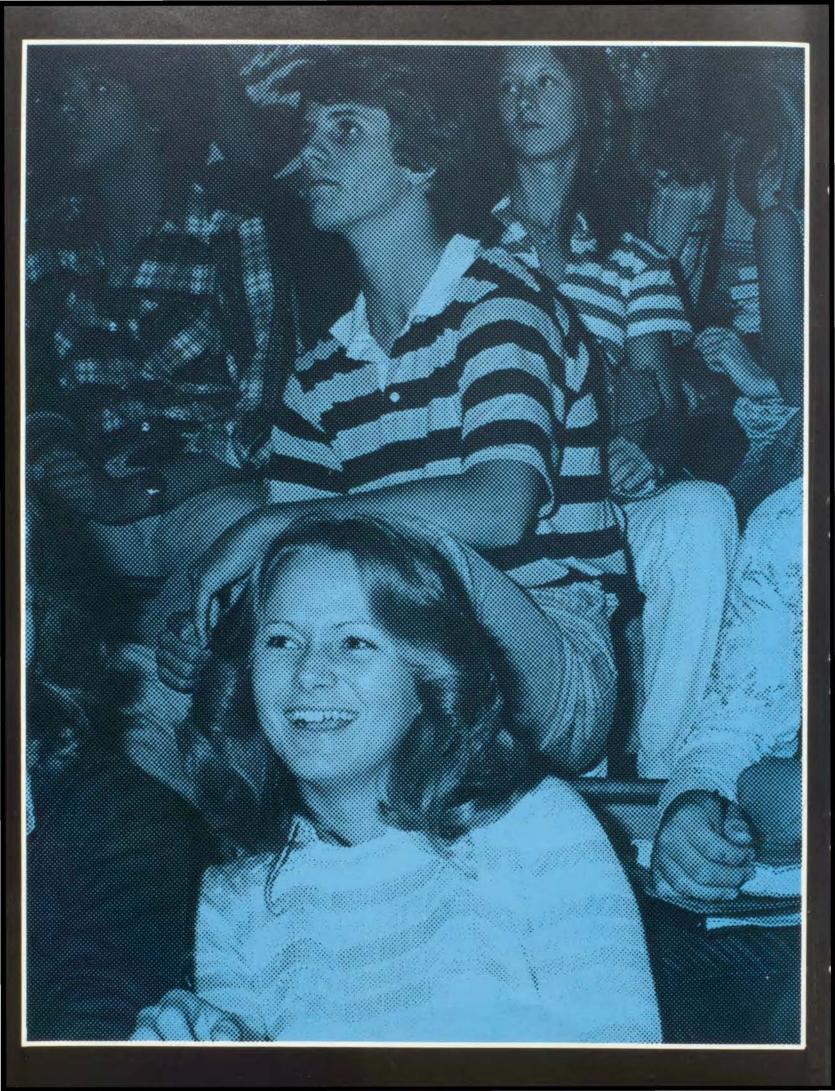

For the first time at Center restrictions were placed on the voting and electing for Homecoming attendants. Those elected to represent their class, must have had a grade point average of 2.0 or better and been a member of two organizations or one club, but must have been an active officer in that organization.

Jeri and Greg Head court

The crowning climax took place during halftime when Jeri Johnson, 12, was crowned Homecoming Queen by Terry Taylor, the 1976 Queen, to reign at the Homecoming Dance the following night. In the dimly lit room the shining hour was placed upon Greg Decker, 12, chosen to represent Center as Mr. Spirit of '77.

To add to the excitement, the fighting Jackets squashed the Fort Osage Indians, before a cheering and enthusiastic crowd with a final score of 37-17.

Electives

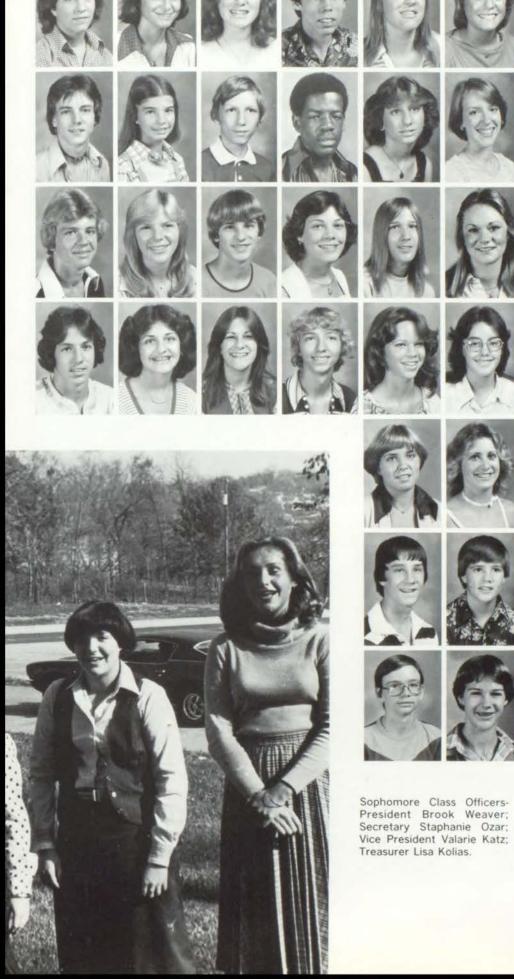

During the year, sophomores took a large range of classes and could choose many different electives under each major department, unlike junior high. Jaleh Pedram, 10, commented, "There are a lot of electives, but I enjoy the science and fine arts classes the most."

Freedom to choose what they wanted to take pleased some sophomores. Maria North, 10, said, "The art classes and Minorities were my favorite ones; but I think some classes in fashion designing and fashion buying could be included."

Volunteer

Service to others was the motivation for the volunteer jobs in which some sophomores participated. Others felt their experiences as volunteers were directly related to jobs they hoped to hold in the future. Many sophomores, too young to hold paying jobs, found ways to use their extra time in worthwhile activities such as scouting, church groups and other similar organizations.

Florence Hunt, 10, said, "The time I spend in the administration office at Lakeside Hospital may help me if I get some type of secretarial job."

Serving as volunteers helped sophomores learn responsibility and gain experience for the future.

Hall passes

Although many things were new to sophomores, the use of hall passes was not. Students were confronted nearly every day by teachers who asked to see their passes. Still, some found a difference in the way they were given out. John Boyd, 10, said, "Hall passes are issued more freely here, but in junior high they were not checked as often."

Some teachers were a little more creative with their hall passes. Except during fourth hour, a few used such things as test tubes, plastic fish, and a clay finger print instead of the standard hall pass.

Sophomore, gain new responsibilities

As sophomores, students gained many new responsibilities. One such opportunity was getting a driver's license. Later in the year many even went on to the step of owning their own car. Christie Palmay, 10, stated, "I look forward to getting my driver's license so that I can take my friends places and won't have to be as dependent upon my parents."

Many students took Driver's Education to help them learn the basic skills of driving. "I took my driver's test about two weeks after the class started. But it still helped me a lot," stated Jim Wilson, 10.

Mark Gieseke, 10, added, "I think Driver's Education has helped me; I'll really be glad to get my license so that I'll be able to go where I want without having to find someone to take me."

-Adjusting-

Coming to a new, bigger school led to problems. Amy Irwin, 10, said, "The biggest adjustment I had to make was getting used to the school and knowing where things were."

Unfamiliar faces and new teachers were a change from junior high, but sophomores found it easy to become acquainted as the year progressed. Sophomore Debbie Luben stated, "This school is alot bigger, so it was kind of hard to get to my classes on time. The lunch shifts, homeroom time, and study hall took time getting used to." For some juniors, being in the middle class had its advantages and disadvantages. Susan Kaufman, 11, stated, "It's more of a unified class, not coming from different schools. I've met more people and have alot more friends."

To some students there isn't class separation at all. Junior Mike Batliner commented, ''I don't think there's a big difference between the classes as far as being able to do things.''

Phys.Ed.

Many students enjoyed taking Physical Education classes even though they were not required all of the three years of High School. Nancy Seeger, junior, said, "The main reason I take PE class is because it gives me a break from the other classes where I have to do a lot of hard work. You can relax and enjoy yourself and get a good grade at the same time."

Although some students enjoyed PE classes, others said that they didn't want to be bothered with dressing out everyday. But, all in all, students appreciate having the choice of taking PE classes or not.

Ho-hum...

Many students who didn't get to bed until the early hours of the morning, made up for their lack of sleep during class.

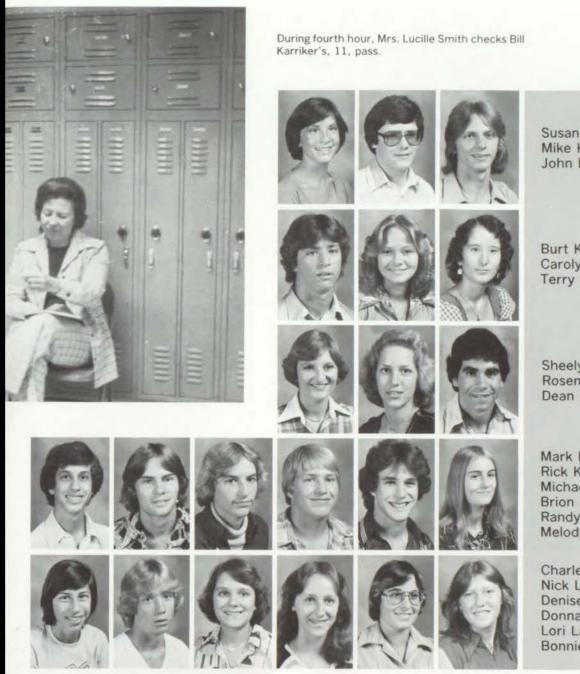

Some students got a good night's sleep, then just sat in the classroom and daydreamed all hour. But by one way or the other, the teachers, or Mr. Paris, managed to snap them out of it.

-Junior Year Expensive-

For many junior year brought many expenses. In the first part of the year several juniors order their class rings. Having two styles to pick from, the juniors didn't receive their rings until the second or third week in December. In the month of November class dues were collected. The amount of dues was raised to help cover the cost of prom in the spring. If a student paid dues in November, class dues cost $7.00 and if dues were paid in the spring then it cost $7.50. Then there were the usual expenses that everyone had such as plays, games and yearbook.

Juniors' most important project was the planning for prom. They first raised money for prom by class dues and the money that was earned from the concession stands. Rosemary Koncak stated, "We expect to have a good turn out since alot more people paid their class dues this year."

Prom

Most of the planning was done by the junior class officers. The only sophomores at prom were the newly elected class officers for the junior class. These people served as hostesses.

Involvement -

The junior class was an important group of students this year; they were not new to the school like the sophomores or had not been here as long as the seniors, but it seemed that they often didn't get the credit they deserved. Claudia Kauffman, 11, stated, "I was really impressed that so many juniors paid their class dues. I think it showed how involved and supportive they were in the school."

- Friends

Being a senior involved many problems. As the year came to an end seniors started thinking about what they were going to do when they went their separate ways. This proved to be a tough test for some friendships.

"We'll all go our separate ways and I hope a lot of my friends from Center will go to college with me," stated Cheryl Compton, 12. Nancy Wertz, 12, summed it up by saying, "My close friends will always be close."

Decisions

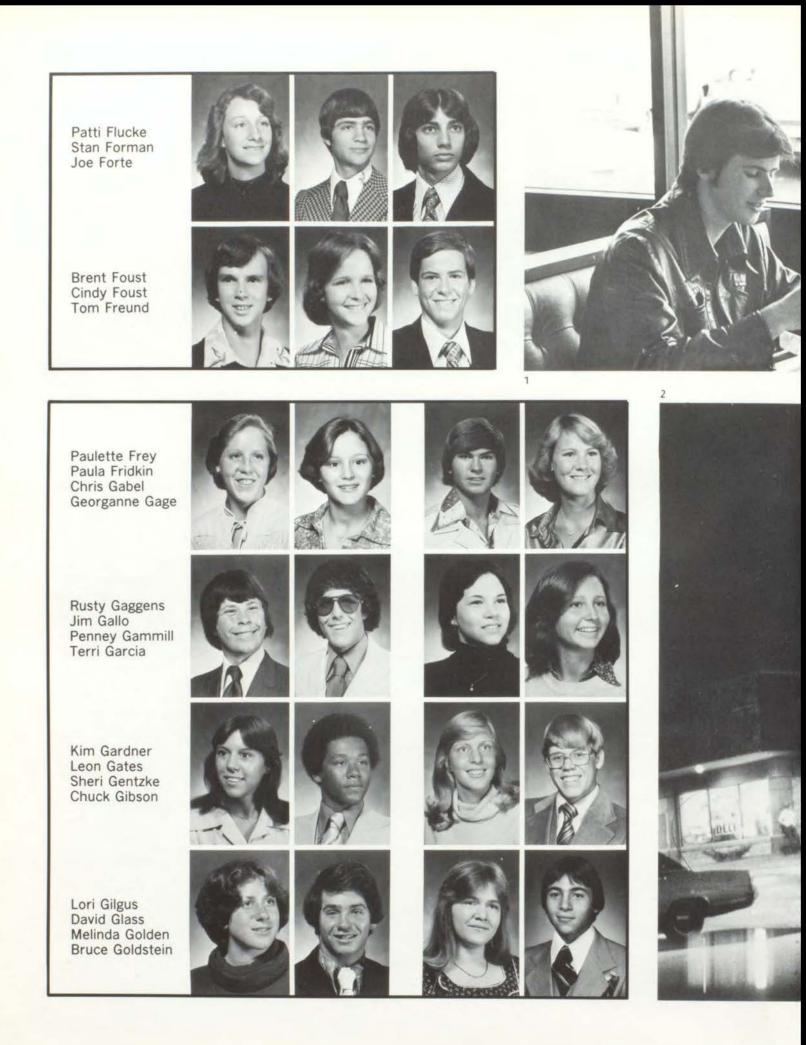

The senior year was full of decisions — what to wear, whom to associate with, what to do on weekends, and more important issues such as where to go to college, where to work and live after graduation.

"I'll probably go to college or get a full time job after high school," said Cheryl Compton, 12, "but I don't think anybody knows for sure what they will be doing this time next year."

Some decisions were made a long time ago while other decisions still haven't been arrived upon yet. Said Liz Carty, 12, "I only decided four or five months ago that I wanted to go into theatrical work after high school."

Even with all the pressures and problems faced by seniors, Vickie Fitzgerald, 12, stated, "Seniors still enjoy their last year most of all."

Expensive!

The expense of entertainment rose which cost extra. in 1978 as in previous years. An average movie which cost $1.50 three $6.00 and $10.00 per person. Mike years ago, this year ranged from $2.50 Murray, 12, said, "To attend a concert to $3.50. Student discount rates were with a date you end up paying around available at many theatres which eased the expense somewhat.

An over 18 nightclub such as Pogos or Bananas required a cover charge of ford to go out more than once or twice a dollar and up. These clubs offered various forms of amusement which included food, drink and game rooms all 12.

An average concert cost between $40.00 which includes dinner. Prices tend to be a little steep."

"A lot of seniors at Center can't afa week. The prices just make going out too expensive," stated Dorcas Hink,

Newcomers

For several seniors this was only the first or second year here at Center. For instance Peggy Seeger, 12, who transferred from O'Hara High School where she spent her freshman and sophomore year, said, "I like Center because it is easier. Private school studies go faster than Center's studies."

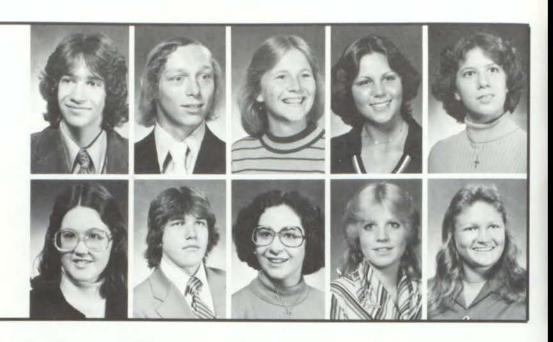

But Jenny Peterson, 12, from Blue Springs said, "Center students are more involved, but there is a limited amount of freedom here." Not only did students come from local schools, they came from different places across the country. Karen Busby, 12, "There are more activities here but my other school had more freedom."

Preparing -

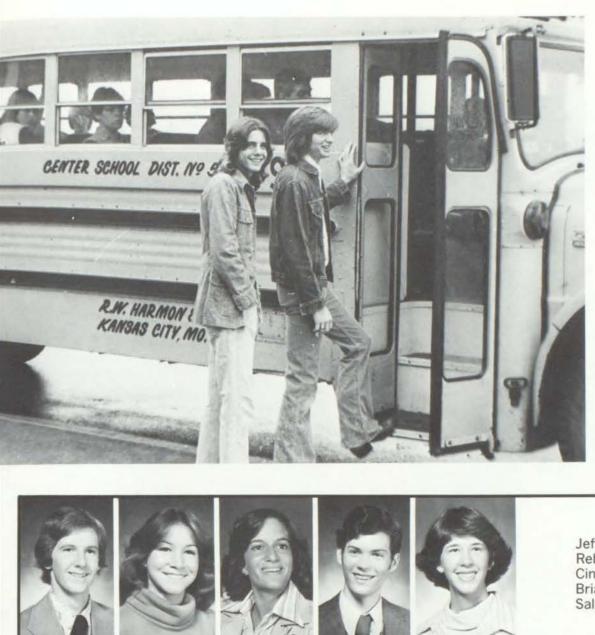

Mary Beth Ryan Doug Sands

This year, as in the past, the opportunity existed for juniors and seniors to attend the Joe Herndon Technical School. A morning or afternoon bus took students to where they learned a trade to prepare them for a job in their field after graduation. "I really like Votech," said Dennis Dorrell, 12. "I'm learning a trade that will help me get a better job later in life."

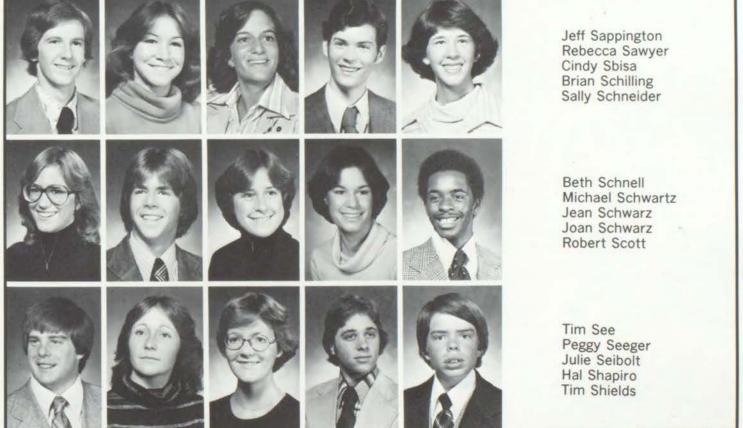

Many different classes were offered at Vo-tech, from auto mechanics and building trades to computors. Don Smith, 12, said "Vo-tech is excellent! We even have fun while we're working."

Mark Shewmaker, 11, welds two pieces of steel together at Vo-tech.

Dennis Dorrell, 12, and Don Smith, 12, leave for Vo-tech.

As Herbert Hoover's presidential campaign of 1928 neared a successful conclusion, the first Center senior class with the small number of six members entered their classrooms for the first time.

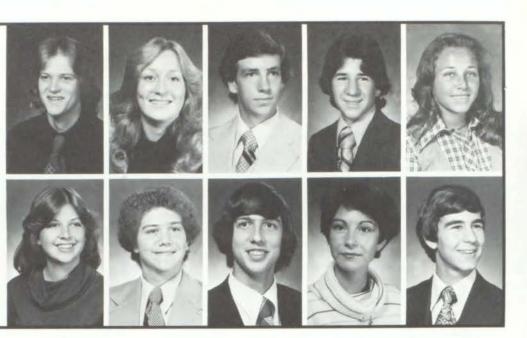

Many students lived on farms because the area was more rural than it is today. Teaching methods were different; teachers had no calculators, overhead projectors, film projectors, or other conveniences. Choice of classes was few; students had to take the basics such as English, Math, and History. Apparel was conservative because of strict rules.

Although Center has added many elective courses, the basics are still taught. "Even though SAT scores declined nationally, the scores at Center have stayed about the same," stated Mrs. Alice Gene Meacham, counselor.

Class Officers

This year's Senior Class officers were, President Denny Brisley, Secretary Kathy Cosgrove, Treasurer Barb Tucker and Vice President Terri Garcia. The senior class was responsible for club leadership, a senior preference, and graduation. Denny Brisley 12 stated, "The class of 1978 was a catagorization just broad enough to describe the many different seniors of Center Senior High School. Each senior's individuality, special talents, aspirations, and leadership helped to produce an incredible group of people. This group consequently achieved a great deal this year in the various school activities. As the fiftieth graduating class of Center High School, the 1978 Seniors represent a landmark class. I would just like to say that it was a pleasure to be a member of the class of 1978."

DISCO

The 'fever' hits Center

Curious murmurs about the signs warning of a coming fever swarmed throughout the halls. Then it was announced that disco fever would hit Center and Political Science Club had the cure.

The club planned a massive campaign to get as many students involved as possible. With disco music filling the cafeteria, drawings were made for special prizes donated by area merchants. During the week, students nominated friends and teachers for the "Lampoon Awards."

The rhythm of music, a silver spinning ball and a flashing strobe transformed the cafeteria into an instant discoteque. Ken Yarnell from the film "Saturday Night Fever" completed the atmosphere by contributing some of the special lighting effects that were used in the movie.

One highlight of the evening was when Dan Hille was revealed as the winner of a $200 stereo receiver contributed by David Beatty's.

Over 400 people attended, a few on dates, but most just came with friends. They joined in dancing, socializing and eating refreshments.

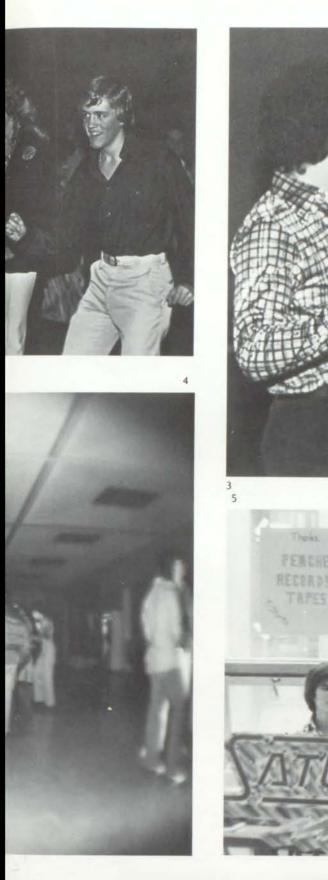

The prizes attracted some while others came to see the light show and dance. Mike Arnone, 12, commented, "The disco was about the best dance the school has had this year."

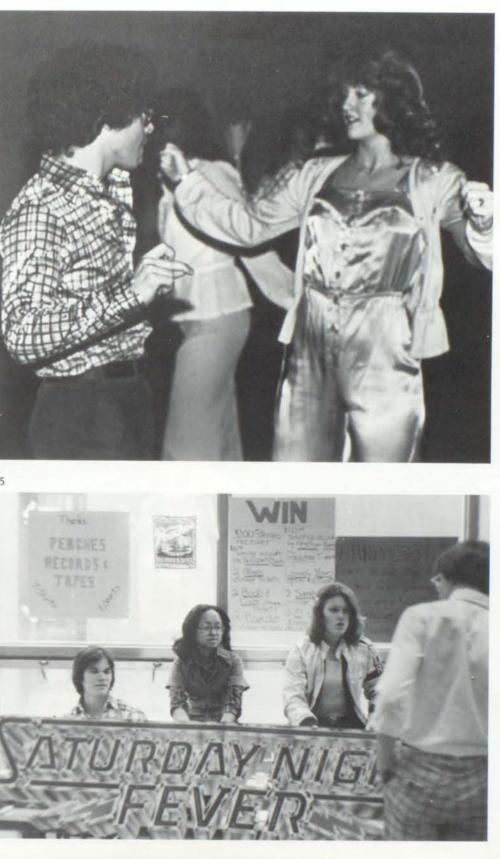

> (1) Lisa White, 12, assists the disc jockeys. (2) Among friends, Robert Caffrey, 11, enjoys the music. (3) Sophomores Anthony Manzella and Rosemarie Dunleavy dance to the beat of the music. (4) Saturday Night Fever gets under way. (5) Seniors, Mark Ziegler, Lisa White and Denny Brisley promote tickets.

With the wide and varied personalities of 18 people, the 1977-78 Yearbook started its production on August 28.

No one knew quite what to think or do those first few days. But this soon would change. When the out cry came from Patti Flucke, Kim Williams and company, it was decided that there would be a change or two in the favor of the girls this year. To name just a few, a girls' sports division page. And also more overall coverage of girls' sports, But stated Bob Johnson, assistant editor-in-chief, "This would be true. Only over my dead body!" Bob added that his body was not only far from being dead but was in better shape than anyone else's on staff. A little less outward were those who would also make their mark in the yearbook or overall staff. Like Sandy Clough, who led the conspiracy against the staff's typewriters or Jeanie Reckart who with the bat of an eye could persuade any guy on staff to help her out when deadline time arrived. It couldn't help but be noticed that David Caffery's eyes got a little red from spending long hours in the dark room. While all this was going on there were those who worked steadily, without so much as a word, like Wendy Carlson, or those who just spent time in their own little world such as Beth Schnell,

But when the need came, it seemed as though all the personalities folded into one, not only to make our deadlines, but also a book the 50th graduation class of Center Senior High school would always remember. P.S. I spelled Senior out for you, Mr. Bradshaw.

As the last car leaves the once busy parking lot, another school year is drawn to a close. The driver takes one last look, as memories flood his mind and he remembers

To every year, there are times to remember ... the good, the bad and the unexpected. The laughter and tears of friends and the slamming of stubborn lockers in the chaotic hallways is now silent.

No more speeches to create and give at the same time.

No more praying for snow storms or that the teacher will believe "Spot" really did eat your homework. And for all those dull lectures the supply of toothpicks you kept on hand to keep your eyelids open need not be filled again. Not to mention the games and meets including both the tension of team members and the inspiration given by patriots.

The stadium is locked, and the screams and cheers are but far away echoes. The gym floor is polished and the sound of tennis shoes pounding across the floor, has ceased. New and old acquaintances have said their farewells. Crushes and friendships that developed through the years-some will not see each other until next year, others-maybe never again.

We leave our high school days behind with priceless memories and expectations for the future as the year ends. Some will return, but for others it's a question of entering a new intersection in life with the thought of hoping to take the right turn. So to finish this souvenir of memories not with a good-bye but — until we meet again. ...and the car pulled out of the parking lot.
