It is

Our purpose

To associate

This Centralian distinctly

With this year.

As the present decade

Draws to a close,

We have come to feel

That

An era's attitude

And the spirit of the times

Impresses

An unremovable mark

Upon its children.

Dear old Central, far-famed Central,
Thou shalt never fail;
Round thy name there clings a tendril
Of tradition's tale.

CHORUS

Thou art victor; fame has followed,
Clad in dignity;
May thy name to all be hallowed
By our love for thee.

Every student soon or later
In his walk of life
Greets the thought of Alma Mater
As his strength in strife.

We have to admit the masterpiece surrounding the photograph needs an explanation. So, taking the type (or should we say tripe) in hand, we endeavor to clarify the sketch. Any resemblance between the drawing and the theme of the annual is, of course, purely incidental.

Clocks, hour-glasses, watches, or calendars you may run on to are easily understood. But (starting in the upper right-hand corner of the first page, going down) what could be the significance of that amiably leering anthropoid (ape to you)? THAT is evolution, b'leevit or not. And the plane is indicative of man's progress in transportation—and so what? The two uppity ladies, separated by Vogue, indicate the battle which raged this year between the "up" hair-do and the page-boy.

The Forum Club and the Social Science Society testify to Central's interest in politics, which is represented by the friendly donkey and elephant. The plaidie reflects the nature of some of our inmates. The telephone is what we spend a good half of our time resting upon. (Remember how—every time the phone rang in a classroom, you hoped it was to call you out or—if you had a guilty conscience—feared it was the office on your trail?) The megaphone brings back the football games, doesn't it? Disregard the football player. He wasn't very good. Look closely and you

graduates of 1939 leave four-year

We seniors, just as any other normal students, revolt at the idea of work and say that we'll be glad to graduate. But as the day of graduation approaches, we know that we'll miss the mixers, the football and basketball games, plays, Intersociety, and all the other activities peculiar to high-school life. In this book are recorded, in picture and in word, the important activities of the school year, so that we may look back and recall our high-school days.

The group was first organized during its freshman year at Central Junior. There the following officers were elected:

Bill Hanley	President
Barbara English	Vice-President
Bill Damico	Secretary
Lorene Stewart	Treasurer

When the class as sophomores moved to the senior building, it entered a new era. Then clubs, literary societies, and athletics became integral parts of school life. In the Intersociety contest of that year, Doris Hill, the only sophomore who placed, won a bronze medal in essay. Ralph McNeal, Pete Lerner, Robert Austin, Dave Elias, and Louis Walters began establishing their reputations in athletics.

In the junior year, Bill Hanley was again chosen to head the class, with Barbara English, Bernie Wood, and Bill Case as aides. Many juniors portrayed important roles in the spring play, "Headed for Eden," and Virgel Parman had one of the leads. Bud Trump, Leonard Jackson, and Kenneth Smithey joined the group of outstanding athletes. During their junior year, the class was outstanding in Inter-record of outstanding achievements

society. Gold medals were won by Doris Hill in informal essay, Irving Stone in oration, Donald Clark in verse, and Henry Comstock in biography. Virgel Parman and Bill Case placed second in oration and formal essay, respectively.

Elizabeth Ann Hall was elected president of Girl Reserves for the year and Bernie Wood and Herbert Yates were chosen to head Boys' Hi. Pete Lerner and Ralph McNeal won places on the mythical all-star football team. Jess Oliver, Bud Trump, and Bob Austin did outstanding work on the basketball court.

Major Delson Lewis took command of the Central battalion, and Bill Hanley and Bill Case served as presidents of the Student Council. Variety Night, this year based on a television theme, drew many of its performers from the class of '39.

Sixty-six seniors received grades of 100 or higher on the Ohio Test, the high score being 141.

Virgel Parman again played the lead in the spring play, this year opposite Elizabeth Brink.

Senior ballot, by the number of majority votes, proved that the class gave its recognition to deserving candidates—a victory over the petty politics of previous years.

In the remaining crowded weeks, our last Intersociety, National Honor Society, and senior farewells push thoughts of graduation into the back of our minds. But the memories of our years at Central will always remain among our most pleasant ones.

national honor society

One of the most anticipated events for the Senior Class is the announcement of membership in the National Honor Society. The four aims of National Honor Society are to create enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate the desire to render service, to promote leadership, and to develop character.

Eligibility on the National Honor Society requires that the student should have a grade average of 2.6 or above. Any extra-curricular honors the pupil has acquired are added to this. The entire honor system was devised by a joint committee of the student council and the faculty fifteen years ago. Not more than five honor points are given from each department of the school. This system aims at preventing a few students from "cornering" school activities to the exclusion of other capable students and to the detriment both of themselves and the activities.

Not more than the highest 10 per cent of the class is chosen; therefore only fifty people, on the average, are admitted each year to membership. Although each applicant must be passed by all faculty members, only misconduct to a large degree, such as dishonesty and gross negligence of duty, would be sufficient for a teacher to vote against an individual.

Admitted to membership too late to have their pictures included were Alice Hall, Gloria Houtz, Mary Sue Kearny, Jean Powell, and Margaret Waggoner.

"To Central" Class and Audience

Members of the Mid-Year graduating class held their annual banquet, January 19, in the home economics department assisted by: Mr. and Mrs. Otto Dubach; Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Williams and daughter, Elizabeth Hunt; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Laughlin; Miss Marguerite Kellerstrass; Miss Mildred Abel; and Miss Mary R. Grubbs. Richard Williams, Mid-Year class president, acted as toastmaster.

Among those who made important contributions to the success of the banquet were: Miss Inez Dahl, who planned the banquet; Miss Neva Wing, home economics teacher and her senior home-making students; Mr. A. E. Harley and his printing classes; Mr. J. M. Lukens and his classes in woodwork; Miss Rebecca Tomlin, who trained the student speakers; Albert Jacobs, art student in Miss Coah Henry's department, who designed the programs; Mr. J. I. Hayes and his students in drafting; and Lloyd Goforth, who accompanied on the piano.

Underclassmen

class of 1940

The history of the Junior Class is short, yet filled with achievement. The group first organized itself in 1937 by electing the following freshmen officers: president, Frances Maloy; vice-president, Guy Loughhead; secretary, James Fowler; and treasurer, Dick Beach.

In their sophomore year the class was well represented in Central Senior High activities. Many members participated in the "Jubilee of '38," while Ella Lee Johnson, Jack Hanley, Donna Mae Baker, Bernardine Aaron, Richard Beach, and James Fowler had parts in the Spring Play. On Intersociety night the group again gained distinction when Dick Beach won a gold medal in Formal Essay.

During the past nine months the class of '40 has played an important role in the school life at Central. Headed by James Fowler as cheerleader, many juniors have been prominent on the athletic field. Bill Grimm earned a letter in football, and Don Sarver, Paul Bockshammer, and Charles Russell won basketball awards. On Variety Night, Marilyn Dewar, Rosemary Richardson, and Vera McNary were outstanding as soloists, and in the Spring Play, "New Fires," Frances Maloy and Alfred Eigenberg as leads exhibited unusual talent.

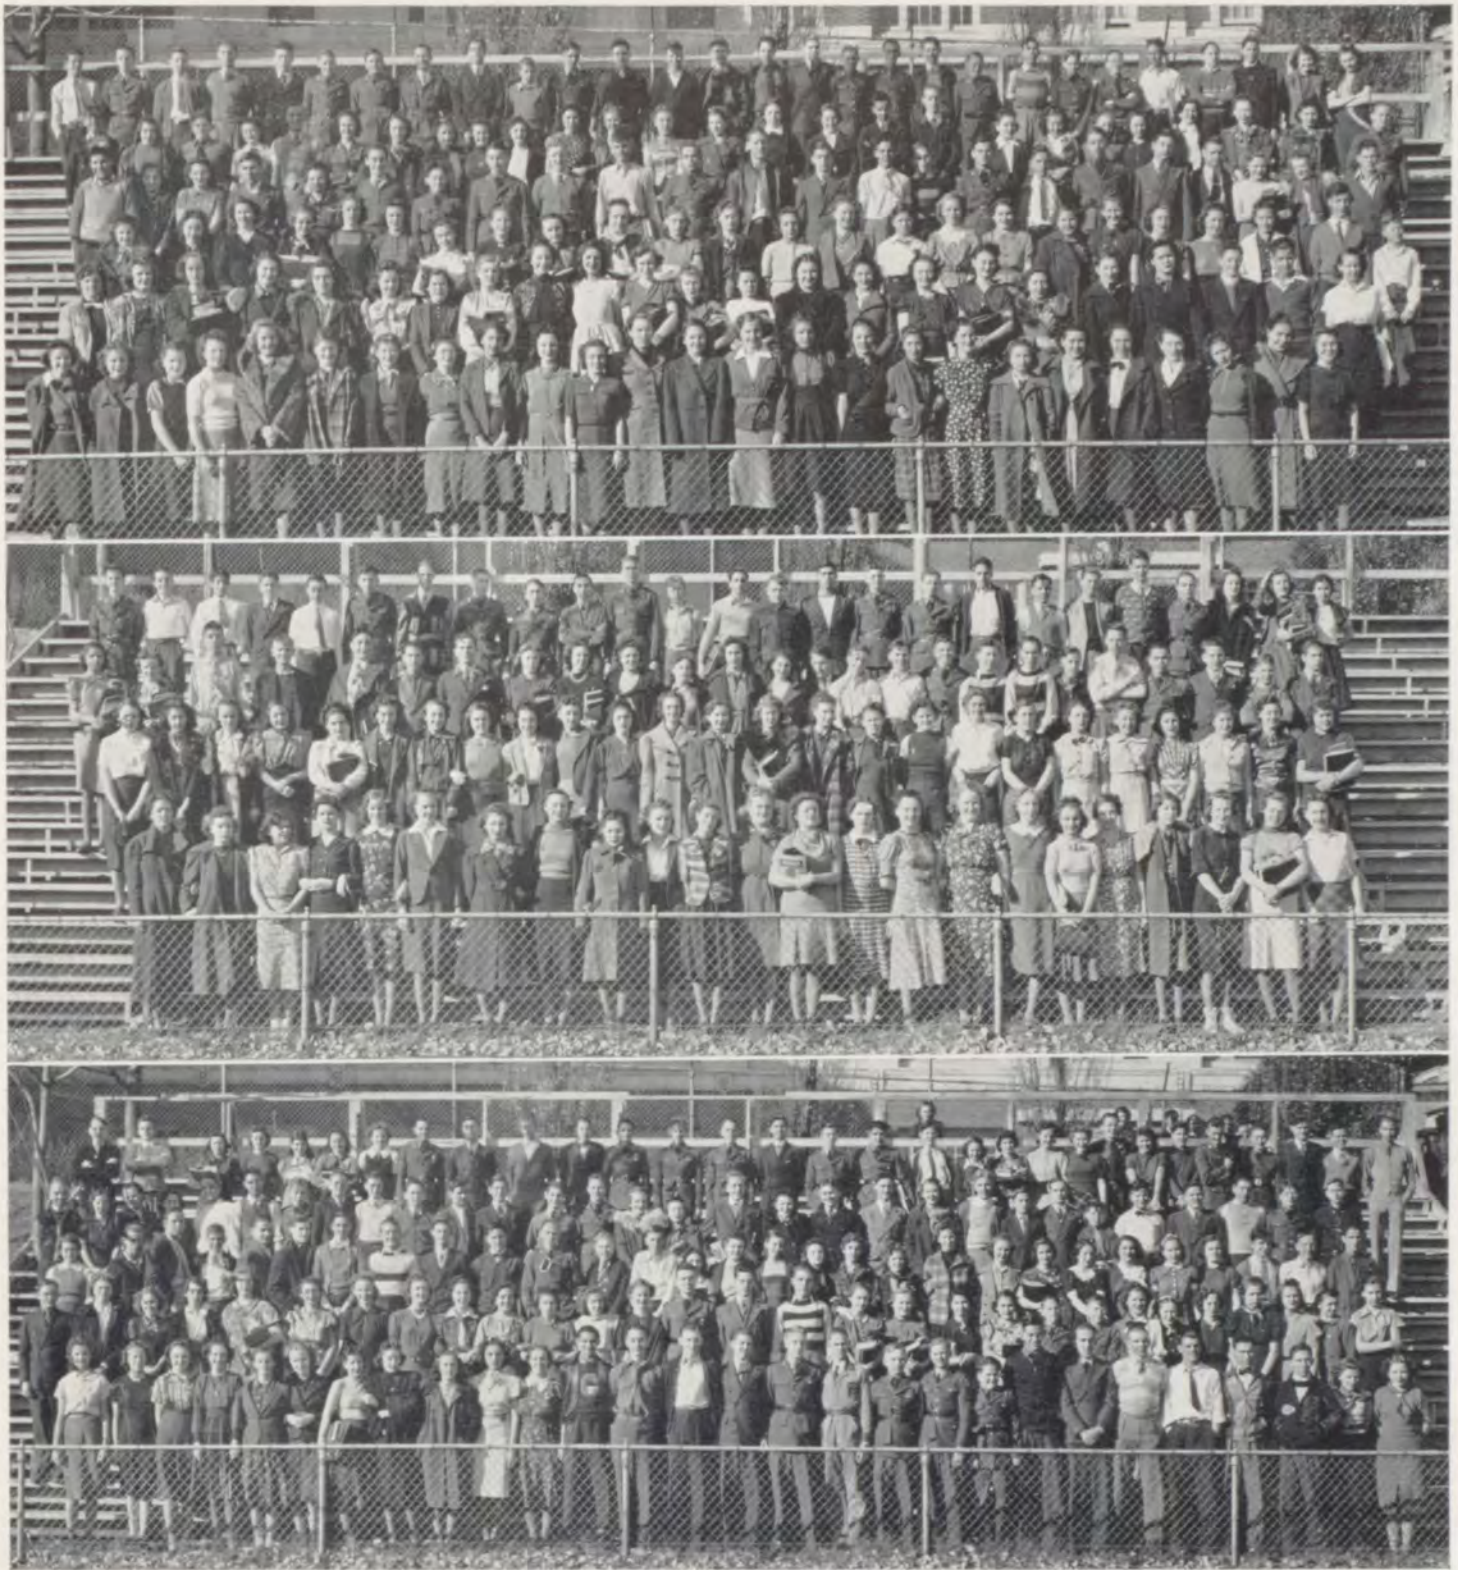

Already the class has chosen some of its leaders for next year. Frances Maloy, as president; with Billie Parkins, vice-president; Beverly Stiles, secretary; and Carolyn Stout, treasurer, will head the Girl Reserves for next year.

The 180 members of the Sophomore I class have taken active parts in Central Senior High's activities as well as those of Central Junior High where they were forced to remain after their freshman graduation because of the inability to accommodate their number in the already over-crowded senior building. Thirty-five of their number report during first hour to form a regular R. O. T. C. company. Several boys have gymnasium during sixth hour and two members of the class come to the senior building to study Spanish.

The freshman officers of the group were:

Harold Smith, president.

Kathleen Chappell, vice-president.

Paul Parnell, secretary.

Gypsy Allison, treasurer.

Most of the leading roles in the spring entertainment, the operetta "Tom Sawyer," were taken by members of this class. The first student project was a mixer held in the gymnasium, May 19.

Occupants of the senior building will welcome a group of poised, efficient sophomores when the class enters Central Senior High next fall.

OTTO F. DUBACH

Principal

O. F. Dubach has been principal of Central High School since 1920. He received his Bachelor's degree from Ottawa University and his Master's from Chicago University. Because of outstanding work in the educational field he was granted by his Alma Mater the degree of Doctor of Laws in 1938. He is chairman of Secondary Schools Commission of the North Central Association and is widely known for his activities in many fields.

C. O. Williams, who has been a science instructor at Central since 1921, has just completed his first year as vice-principal of Central High School. He received his Bachelor's and Master's degrees from the University of Missouri and took further graduate work at the University of Chicago. Mr. Williams has always been a popular teacher, and his popularity has not diminished in the face of his new responsibilities.

This year, the student governing body has set a new record for cooperation and accomplishment. Over 1,500 activity tickets were sold; the administration of the tuberculin tests was undertaken; the Jubilee was a pronounced success; the astounding record of 1,950 was established in Centralian sales; and the mixers and assemblies directed by the council were enthusiastically supported. This admirable record is due to the cooperation of the home-room representatives and the executive ability of the officers and cabinet.

The first term sergeant-at-arms was Bill Case, the critic, Barbara English. Second term sergeant-at-arms was Norman Utter, and critic, Fred Stiles. First term cabinet positions were filled by Herbert Yates, Beth Ditmars, Henry Comstock, Margaret Sample, Doris Hill, Leonard Jackson, Lillian Sandy and Pat McGowan. Second term cabinet consisted of Mary Belle Lawing, Henry Comstock, Ann Rheva Rolsky, Nan Chedester, Mary Ellen Clark, Bernie Wood, Bill Hanley, Leonard Jackson, Emma Jane Browning, and Doris Hill.

will observe that one leg is about a foot longer than the other. That sort of hampered his speed.

Many's the morn when we've fumbled at our lock, with cold fingers, in nervous anticipation of the last bell. And need we explain the jallopy with the gay young Lothario inside—waving at his girl friend, no doubt? You remember your pet sentiment, or greeting, don't you? A few are inscribed on the car—if you can call it that. Some of the 1939 favorites were—"Gad, how ghastly"; "Greetings gate—"; "Don't give me any of that 3-6-9"; "Well, I bin thick";—"sort of snapped his garter"; and "Hmm, nice material." Not especially significant, but then, neither was "Twenty-three, skidoo." Nor will we forget the inter-twined hearts of the famous couples of the year. Barbara and Jim, Mary Ellen and —————?

All the candy bars we devoured at lunch were guaranteed to be as healthy, as rich in vitamins, etc., as the food recommended by dietitians, so we ate them rather than more wholesome food. Then come the utensils employed by all the girls to guarantee a snappy paint job: powder, lipstick, compacts and so on. Not all our time was spent in studying (haha), or even in a reasonably accurate facsimile. We played tennis before and after school and generally indulged in feats of athletic prowess. Some of them were included in the activity ticket. All those screws and gears and springs are drawings of what makes up a high-school annual's editor's mind.

Over on the other page, let us start at the left corner and go clockwise.

What could be such infallible proof of Time's passage as a birthday cake (not yet having reached the age where one grows younger every year)? The bubbles represent the airy quality of our dreams for the future. That jubilee

"Television station C. H. S. is on the air!" With this novel announcement, Central's annual talent fest got under way to a successful and jubilant climax. Such a theme permitted the presentation of many varied acts, unified by announcers' commercials and station reports between numbers.

The sub-theme, so to speak, of the program was the discovery of the year, the Jitterbug. All of the numbers were flavored with swing, and the capacity audience responded with enthusiastic applause and wide demand for many encores.

The '39 Jubilee, sponsored by the Student Council, was directed by Margaret Sample, Bernie Wood, Beth Ditmars, James Hutton, Bill Hanley, Bill Case, Doris Hill, and Pat McGowan. The faculty committee included Miss Rebekah Leibengood, Miss Coah Henry, Miss Virginia Oldham, Miss Ila Maude Kite, and R. S. Heischman.

Top Row: Marilyn Dewar and her sax . . . Bill Jordan and Mary Clark "shine" for the rest of the Jitterbugs . . . The Braton Sisters and their "gitter."

spring play . . . "new fires"

Stephen Santry, an author, inherits from an eccentric old uncle a homestead in the Missouri Ozarks. To this rustic lodge he takes his sophisticated Chicago family, presumably for a week's vacation. Soon after their arrival, however, Santry announces that he will no longer pay for their extravagant living and that "he who wants food and raiment must work for it."

Olivia, the older daughter, shams illness so that she may be allowed to return to Chicago. Lynn Gray, a capable young country doctor, is called in. He discovers the sham, but also discovers that Olivia has a serious heart ailment. She threatens to hitch-hike to Chicago.

Complications ensue when a neighbor girl who is visiting Billy and Phyllis, the younger Santry children, contracts scarlet fever. As a result, the entire family is quarantined for a month. The rest of the play is taken up in straightening out the family's difficulties.

The cast of characters, in the order of their appearance, is:

Lucinda Andrews, a widow	Dorothy Rotman Celia Entin
Suzanne Toler, a spinster	Jane Bissell Carol Lee Baum
Sid Sperry, a farm hand	Frank Bet's George Bingham
Jimmy, his son	George Harrison Jerry Peltzman
Stephen Santry, an author	Virgel Parman Alfred Eigenberg

Second Row: Frances Maloy, Alfred Eigenberg, Jack Hanley, Bernadine Aaron.

The band, consisting of eighty members, has carved an important niche in Central's school life in the past year. It has not only played during football games but has had an unusual number of other public engagements. It has played for assemblies, the R.O.T.C. Circus, the Jubilee, Business Men's Bible Class, the Armistice Day parade, and at the Missouri State Teachers' Association. The band also entered the contest at Lawrence this year where it received second place.

After several years of moving from room to room, the band has finally found permanent quarters in room 102, formerly the little gymnasium. Its members have also accomplished something new in the way of organizing the class. They have chosen a cabinet to conduct business. Those holding positions are: chairman, Edwin Christman; librarian, Florence Lerch; treasurer, Carl Schreiber; publicity chairman, Richard Long; property manager, Bernie Wood; drum major, Bill Damico.

Other individuals worthy of note are Marilyn Dewar and Vera McNary, both of whom won first places in the National Contest last year. Florence Lerch also won a first place in the State Contest while Merle Bade placed second.

As a climax to a successful year, the band, assisted by Central's orchestra and the Central Junior band, presented its "Spring Finale" on Friday, May 26, in Central's auditorium, the proceeds for which are to be used in remodeling their new quarters in the little gymnasium.

Central's orchestra, consisting of fifty-one members, has a full year behind it. The group has played for several assemblies, Open House, the pageant given at Edison Hall, and the Music Hall, and the spring concert. The organization also took a third place in the annual Music Festival held at Lawrence, Kansas.

Individuals worthy of special mention are Nadine Lohr and Irene Lohr, who won a first award in the violin contest at Columbia, Missouri; and Gloria Gordon who took a second award in the same contest.

chorus

Under the direction of Miss Mari F. Whitney, the 110 members of the Central chorus have proved good advertisement for Central. Although there has been no contest this year, they have sung at a number of places and have represented Central in a fine way.

Besides appearing in assembly twice, they have sung over WDAF twice, once for the school broadcast and once for a special Christmas program; for the Manual Arts Division of the State Teachers Association; for the First Baptist Men's Bible Class at Ivanhoe Temple; and at the following churches: Central Christian, Linwood Presbyterian, and Roanoke Baptist. The boys' quartet also sang for the Schoolmaster's Club, assisted by Ruth Duncan. Ruth Duncan has served as student director throughout the year.

The chorus was originally an extra-curricular activity meeting after school once a week. It was gradually developed into a regular, credited class. The first chorus class was organized when Miss Whitney began teaching.

Athletics

gridiron highlights

The 1938 Blue Eagle squad upset pre-season dope to capture a second place tie in the Interscholastic League with three victories and two defeats. Coach Slaymaker, with only three returning lettermen in Jess Oliver, Cliff Painter, and Ralph McNeal, built a fast but light squad from last year's champion second team. The chief handicap was the lack of weight but that was supplanted by fight and determination shown when . . .

. . . Central held a touted Wyandotte team, outweighing the Eagles thirty pounds to the man, to a scoreless deadlock that featured stellar line play by "El Toro" Elias, Cliff Painter, Ken Smithey, Ralph McNeal, and Paul McIntyre to force the Bulldogs to use their passing attack which was interfered with by an alert Kingbird backfield to pave the way for runs by Pete Lerner, Louie Walter, and Bob Austin. But such effort was to no avail . . .

. . . when Southwest reversed the tables with a 27-0 Eagle-plucking by means of long, bullet passes to baffle the Blue and White defense. Passing alone accounted for the Indian gains because an alert Central line stymied their line plunges. Jess Oliver's long punts helped to keep the score down while a new spinner play executed by Bud Trump gained consistently. Revenge was had . . .

. . . when the scrappy Eagle midgets again upset predictions by giving a 13-6 trimming to a heavier Westport team, that pushed over a score in the first quarter but were in turn pushed around for the next three quarters. A "Terrible Trio" of Louie Walters, Pete Lerner, and Bud Trump alternated by hitting the line and going around ends to push over two scores. Next on the list was . . .

. . . Southeast, who fell before an Eagle onslaught, 12-0. A long Lerner-to-Painter toss chalked up the first score followed by Oliver's interception of a Knight pass which later led to Bob Austin's touch-down. Plenty of reserves saw action with good work done by Dick Kelly, Sam Whitehead and Vance Olson. The next game was a thriller . . .

. . . when Central eked out a 7-6 victory over the East Bears. Leonard Jackson consistently carried the ball for good gains to pave the way for Austin's tally in the second quarter. Lerner's conversion was good. A rejuvenated East team in the third stanza threw a pass into pay dirt territory for six points but Cliff Painter blocked the conversion attempt to keep Central in the league running. Another victory was added . . .

. . . when the Rockhurst Blue Hawks were taken into camp on the shorter end of a 20-0 annihilation. The scrappy Eagles repulsed a Hawk drive and reversed the tables to push over three touchdowns via line smashes and wide end runs made possible by good interference. Leonard Jackson, Pete Lerner, and Louie Walters, respectively, tallied to make it a glorious victory, as was . . .

. . . the Blue and White 19-0 shellacking over the Northeast Vikings for the third consecutive year. A Flashy Eagle team reeled off five consecutive first downs on a muddy H. H. Holmes field to allow Bob Austin to score. Trump scored in the second quarter followed by Lerner's touchdown in the third quarter. The only threat was a 70-yard jaunt by a lone Viking on an intercepted pass which was stopped by Fuller Locklear. Another glorious victory was chalked up, but then followed the unexpected. . .

. . . when Paseo deadlocked Central for second place by trouncing the Blue Eagles, 14-0. A King-bird team, one Bob Austin weaker, fell short of the goal twice in the first half. Later in the first half the Blue and White line finally held to stop a Paseo march on its own 15-yard stripe. A determined Pirate team finally crashed through in the third quarter to score, but the bitter blow came in the dying minutes of the game when Israel of Paseo intercepted a desperate Eagle pass to gallop 50 yards for the last score of the season.

Then came the climax with the naming of Pete Lerner, Ralph McNeal, and Clifford Painter to the first team All-Star and Jess Oliver to the second team.

The squad of '38 didn't win any pennants but it will be long remembered for its fight and determination to upset bigger opponents, gaining a league position worthy of the effort put forth. Usually the underdog, but often the victor. Hats off to one of the rarest teams and seasons Central ever had!

golf . . . tennis . . . track

An Eagle golf team composed of Dan Davis, Harold Welton, and Ralph Zimmerman, veteran lettermen from last year's runner-up team, in addition to Earl Pickerill and Jack Skinner made a good showing in the fall medal play.

The Kingbird golfers placed third in the fall meet with 1,483 points after pacing the champion Southwest team until the last round.

Welton and Davis represented the Blue and White in the state meet to place ninth for the highest ranking of a K. C. school. A veteran squad, much stronger through seasoned competition, will seek new laurels in the spring meets.

Central again showed well in the fall city meet with a good team, coached by Nolan Alexander. M. S. Walters, the No. 1 singles man, and the No. 1 doubles team of Sam Mazon and Jack Boxer were eliminated in the first round by close scores, while Carl Galler performed well in No. 2 singles as did Bill Hall and Norman Utter in No. 2 doubles.

M. S. Walters and Sam Mazon, representing Central in the doubles at Columbia, advanced to the second round by beating Raytown but were in turn eliminated by Beaumont of St. Louis, the runner-up.

Spring elimination matches will determine the representative for Central and will provide competition for some underclassmen with promising ability—Central should make a better showing in the spring meets.

The cinder season rolled around to find Coach Slaymaker working on a green squad for the dual meets. All positions had to be filled by new men with the exception of Louis Walters in the pole vault. Positions were determined by the showing of the track aspirants in the interclass duel which was won by the seniors with the juniors as runners-up. Promising material was found in sophomores Bob Wren and Jim Hesler and in a senior, Harold Schumacher.

In the sprints were: Pete Lerner, Jim Hesler, and Bob Wren in the century and 220 dashes; Harry Lester, Dave Elias, and Orville Jarman in the 440; Jack Hanley, Vance Olsen, and Earl Hornbeck in the 880; Paul McIntyre and Hal Schumacher, in the high and low hurdles; Paul McIntyre, Bob Wren, Jim Hesler, Pete Lerner, and Dave Elias in the relays. The field events found G. J. Hubbard, Wilford Landes, and Winston Balke in the high jump; Louis Walters and Jim Hutton in the pole vault; Guy Loughead, Hal Schumacher, and Bob Wren in the broad jump; and in the shot put Don Papas, Guy Loughead, and Pete Lerner.

Central's basketball quintet went through the season experiencing two victories and eight defeats. While the victories were not many, Coach Guemple's basketeers ably represented Central on the hardwood courts at all times.

The "midget" Eagles first tasted competition in a 35-42 loss to the alumni that revealed good varsity teamwork.

Next week Central was "in the groove" by trouncing a tight defensive-playing Southeast team, 24-10. Jess Oliver accounted for 15 Eagle points.

The lanky Wyandotte Canines invaded Central to roll up a 40-10 count with accurate long shots.

In a Yuletide battle Central lost a hard-fought 27-25 duel to the Rockhurst five in the last quarter.

On the evening of January 14 the Blue Eagles made their league debut in a 15-31 loss to a fast-breaking Southwest team that baffled the Central defense. The inability to connect with our shots also was a deciding factor in the defeat.

The Westport 25-19 victory was closer than the score indicates. A determined Eagle quintet fought a see-saw battle with the score 18-16 in favor of Westport at the third quarter. The margin of victory was gained in the last eight minutes of fast play to bring seven enemy points to Central's three. Bob Austin was our high scorer with eight points.

The Ward boys next journeyed across the state line to hand Central a 33-24 non-league defeat.

The grim Eagles returned to league warfare to emerge victorious over East in a thrilling 19-17 battle. Winston Balke was the hero of the hour when he sank a field goal in the last 12 seconds of play to give Central victory. The game marked the end of the high-school careers of the only lettermen, Jess Oliver and Bud Trump—two boys who really played the game.

The Manual affair was far different with Central coming out on the short end of 35-19 score. A rampant Red Devil team broke fast to pile up an impressive victory.

The ailment of failing to connect at the charity stripe occurred to decide the balance of victory in a 17-11 win by Northeast. Ralph McNeal, Don Sarver, and Winston Balke performed creditably.

The Paseo Pirates, champions for the second consecutive year, had a hard time downing Central, 17-13. A new Eagle offense baffled Paseo's tight defense to garner good points, but Central failed at the free throw line to blast chances for a victory.

Central did not have a winning team, but still we have every right to be proud of its members. They played a "heads-up" game at all times, especially when the going was rough—played to win fairly. "Not excellent players with an excellent record but clean players with a clean record" best fits the squad of '39.

intramural sports

Impetus was given to organized intramural sports with the addition of R. L. "Doc" Heischman to the physical education department. His good work in the past four years had developed a well-rounded intramural program for those Sammy Centralites who can't participate in varsity athletics for some reason or other.

The intramural program has become increasingly popular every year as evidenced by the turnout of some 500 boys who participate in some sport. Every season has its sport which includes touch football, basketball, boxing, swimming, ping-pong, baseball, volley ball and loop tennis.

Due to the fact of uneven numbers in Home Rooms, a new plan of dividing the boys into senior, junior, and sophomore brackets was employed in most sports to create more enthusiasm and more evenly balanced competition.

Touch football opened the season with a series of 24 games in which 60 boys participated. The team, captained by Bud Garrett, won the championship.

The ping-pong singles tournament came next to feature some lively competition among the 64 participants. Players were divided into 4 brackets with Harold Liebling, Ralph Meyers, Bud Ehrke, and M. S. Walters, respectively, victorious in their brackets. Liebling defeated Ehrke for the championship. The scores—(14-21) (21-14) (21-23) (21-17) (21-19).

The ping-pong doubles matches were played with practically the same boys that participated in the singles tournament.

Boxing gained a popular following from the student body through the use of the auditorium with between 350 and 600 spectators watching the bouts. The tournament was not run on a championship basis due to the wide differences in boxing abilities, weights, and ages. Each boy was given the opportunity to box two or more matches of three rounds in his respective weight. Some good boxing was seen with balanced competition gained from dividing the tournament into five weight classes ranging from 110 pounds to 160 pounds. About 50 boys boxed a total of 40 matches.

Basketball was scheduled in championship-consolation brackets whereby each team played two games before it dropped out. Competition was on an interclass basis of sophomore teams and junior-senior teams. Lynn Moulthrop's team captured the junior-senior title with Sol Baru's team runner-up. In the sophomore bracket John Agnos' team won the championship and Joe Brown's team earned the consolation ranking.

Baseball is the favorite spring sport and there were eight teams competing in a single round robin schedule. The team captains were Marvin Ballentine, Charles Creek, Harry Lewis, Harry Ironsmith, Bob Austin, Wilfred Atkinson, Bud Trump, and Lynn Moulthrop.

femme angles

The vim, vigor, and eagerness to take part in sports that was demonstrated this year may be attributed to the fact that the new girls' gymnasium, with its special room for equipment and its better facilities, affords a greater opportunity and more room in which to participate. Also the skillful organization of a schedule by Miss Mary Henschel and Miss Hazel Purnell that provided interest for all was an important factor in the wide-spread enthusiasm that was displayed. Well deserved credit goes to the student managers for their unremitting cooperation in managing the girls and thus making the schedule a great success.

At some time during each different sport season a "play-day" was held in which a selected team for the prevailing sport from eight Kansas City high schools gathered together and held a tournament. The hockey "play-day" was held at Southwest, the basketball at Northeast, the volley ball at Paseo, and an individual sports' day, consisting of tennis, aerial darts, shuffleboard, and swimming was held at Central. At all of these contests, the girls representing Central presented stiff competition and teamwork.

With the use of a new system whereby additional games, such as golf and archery, will be introduced for seniors, next year promises to be even more enjoyable.

Army

army maneuvers

Major Delson Lewis

Sergeant Carl Spikes

After five years of success at Central, Sergeant Harvey A. Allen accompanied Mr. Laughlin to East High School when the latter was made principal of that school. Central counts itself fortunate, however, to have as its present director of R.O.T.C., Sergeant Carl Spikes, formerly at Lathrop. With the issuing of rifles and the unpacking of uniforms after their summer interlude with mothballs, Sergeant Spikes officially began his duties as head of the Blue and White battalion.

As the question of officers became more pressing, Sergeant Spikes commissioned Delson Lewis, Herbert Yates, Tom Marks, John Meade, William Dryer, John Kiniry, Garland Hinds, James Hutton, Kenneth Wettengel, Granum Chernoff, Charles Sechrest, Carl Schreiber, James Clouse, and Jim Fredman as second lieutenants. After a series of tests many of the cadet officers were again advanced, this time to the ranks of first lieutenant and captain. Delson Lewis was promoted to the rank of major in December.

Soon after the final promotions, the fifteenth annual R.O.T.C. Hop was held in the colorfully decorated gymnasium. Red, white, and blue crepe paper streamers and stacked rifles made a good background for the Star photographer's pictures.

Intermission, terminating half the evening's dancing, saw the election of the Hop Queen and Aides by a committee composed of every fifth cadet to sign the register. Barbara English was crowned Queen by Major Lewis, and Margaret Sample, Marion Talbott, and Nan Chedester were announced as Aides. Everyone was rather excited and the refreshments were welcome.

Central's representative on the firing line, the Eagle rifle team captained by Cadet Lieutenant Charles Hall, came in fourth place in the annual city match. The team was composed of John Egleston, Robert Lemon, Harold Hession, and Robert Silva.

Led by the battalion commander, the Central unit entered third in the Grand Entry of the seventeenth annual R.O.T.C. circus. Then, following close on the heels of the last unit of the Entry, Central's representatives for the circus, a six-squad platoon, presented a group of rifle exercises. The platoon was led by Cadet Lieutenant James Clouse, music being furnished by the Central band.

Numerous parades and reviews were forthcoming. As often as the weather permitted, the "black-top" was the exhibition ground for martial music and marching feet. The cadets and cadet officers gained both in experience and confidence for the final two events of the year.

As time sped on, Sergeant Spikes and the entire battalion was the highest ranking Honor School in Kansas City. The winning of the Honor Rating, which was lost the year before, entitled Central cadets to wear a red star on their sleeves.

Time marching forward at double time brought Central to Field Day. This, the Blue Eagle battalion conquered, winning the first place for the third consecutive year. Central's crack company, led by Captain Fred Bohannon and Lieutenants Gerald Goodman and J. T. Winslow, won a first place trophy. Lieutenant Goodman commanded the platoon successfully for another first place cup. Still another first place cup was gained when the crack squad turned aside all competition. Carl Schreiber, corporal; Harold Du Gay, Tom Marks, Bob Box, James Clouse, Paul Sieben, Raoul La Noue, and Garland Hinds each received a gold medal as members of the winning squad, the leader receiving a saber. Bob Box, Central's individual entrant, was eliminated, leaving Northeast to win this event.

For their outstanding work during their first and second years in R.O.T.C., John Meade, Charles Sechrest, and Carl Schreiber were presented gold, silver, and bronze medals respectively by members of the American Legion post number 135. Cadet Major Ben Feigenbaum received a saber as the highest ranking cadet in the Central battalion. shooting during the year at Central was presented to Charles Hall.

Captain L. Hoyt Rockafellow of the Infantry from Omaha, Nebraska conducted the annual Corps Area inspection of the Central unit May 2. After the battalion was reviewed and the shack and storeroom inspected, the battalion formed in a close column of platoons for the inspection of rifles and uniforms. Squad, platoon, and company drills were followed by sophomore, junior, and senior classes in military science and tactics.

The announcement that Central had won first place in the inspection was made on Field Day, May 12. Central was not so successful, however, in Field Day this year. The Westport unit placed first with Central following closely in second place. The crack squads were first to be judged in the competition. The Blue Eagle squad did not place in this event. Second place was awarded the platoon led by Lieutenant Jim Fredman. Central's crack company commanded by Captain Tom Marks with Lieutenants James Clouse and Henry Comstock in charge of the platoons took third place. Howard Shryock, the individual entrant for Central, drilled ably to win third place.

Major Delson Lewis received a saber as Central's ranking cadet officer. John Egleston, a sophomore, received the Missouri State Rifle and Pistol Association award for achievement in rifle marksmanship. Gold, silver, and bronze efficiency medals were awarded to Howard Shryock, James Leavitt, and John Egleston respectively by the American Legion Post 135.

Again we glance into the future and see the prospects of the following years and are happy in the realization that Central will continue to be one of the highest ranking units in this area.

square thing is supposed to be a modernistic building. This was the year of the passing of the buffalo nickel, so the Indian up there is a slight memoriam on our part.

The next section is practically all swing. This was the year of the Jitterbug, the Alligator, the Rug-Cutter. The kiddies swinging out, the saxophone, piano keys, drum, and Bernie Wood are there for the lovers of "jive." The dice and cards scarcely need explaining. They were the emblems of devotees of our great indoor sport. "Gone with the Wind" was the epic of the year. A few of us with endurance staggered through its thousand-and-then-some pages.

In the summer, we wanted ice cubes, in the winter, radiators. But all year 'round, we wanted music. Those are a few of the hit-tunes and favorite orchestras of the year. The officer's cap and palette need no explanation.

Rudy Vallee is one of our few concessions to the theme. Santa Claus, and the bunny are representatives of Time, too, in their own quaint way. The gavel shows where a goodly portion of our cohorts spent their time on Fridays after school. The Luminary's and Western Union need not be mentioned as they are quite clear to him of average perception.

Those little white things are ghosts of the remorse we, the editors, feel at drawing such a thing anyway.

As real life approaches, we, the graduates of '39, begin to experience a feeling of appalling nausea, otherwise known as "the jitters." It's something indefinable, "will of the wispy," and we can't precisely place it. So, to relieve the tension and our consciences, we bandy about, with careless frequency, such handy terms as "career woman," "woman's place is in the home," "life-work," "what's the use," "inside job," "outside job," "white-collar," and other convenient phrases. We are beginning to realize that in a short time, life will be real, life will be earnest, and the WPA is not its goal. Underneath our smooth exteriors, we are quaking, wondering where we will be a mere decade from now, what we will have accomplished. It's not going to be easy, but that which follows will be a serious attempt to penetrate the all-concealing shadows of the future, and observe our classmates as they live ten years from now: "A great war has just been completed, and many of us lie beneath the sod of a second Flanders Field. But the result has been worth the price countless men paid, for, out of this last great conflict, has risen a United States of the World. Inside our own country, we are surviving a mild period of fluctuation in economics and thought. Under these conditions, the surviving members of the class of '39 are feeling the joys and sorrows of a normal life. Irving Stone, not now the bombastic orator of his high-school days, is finding himself as an intern in a Chicago hospital. He has accomplished his life's ambition. He is one of the 'Men in White.' A post-war influx of a beautiful poetry has flooded the nation, but head and shoulders above the other prolific poets of the period, stands the work of one Christian Conrad, in private life the would-be engineer, William R. Case. Another result of the war has been a recurrence of the swing mania and leading the top-flight orchestra of the year at the Hotel New Yorker is Bernie Wood who does drawings for Esquire as an avocation. His bunch have just been voted the most popular on the air. On the air! That phrase used to mean 'hear,' but, now, it means, 'see' as well, due chiefly to the work of a brilliant young scientist, Charles Sechrest. But we have also made tremendous advances in the field of sociology and philanthropy. Patricia McGowan is, even as a young woman, the outstanding leader in the social welfare field. Her old chum, Doris Hill, is personnel manager for a huge corporation, and writes those same intriguing little efforts for a syndicate column. Probably, a happy, young housewife should be duly recorded, but probably, the young lady in question would not like to look that far ahead. However, we will pin the name of a contented 'family man,' who is by the way, extremely proud of it, our Clarence A. Trump, who is a successful factory manager, as well as a successful husband. If success is to be measured in money accumulated, Delson Lewis, who earns half a million a year and is a power on Wall Street, is by far, most successful. If, however, attainment of happiness and beauty is to be considered wealth, then Leonard Jackson, now a Methodist minister, is, perhaps, most successful. Regardless of success, a number of former Centralites are listed below as they live today: Helen Steele, nation's most glamorous model; Elizabeth Brink, Hollywood's leading actress; Ruth Duncan, already a Metropolitan opera success; Robert Neal, fluent radio announcer; Bill Jordan, in the House of Representatives; Lorene Stewart, married and happy; Dave 'El Toro' Elias, sports editor for a small metropolitan daily." On and on, this list runs and there is no space for it, and so, you have an opportunity to dream about a golden future. You all probably have had a good laugh at many of the conjectures. Well, laugh now a hearty laugh, for it won't be long until we find out. Only Ten Years!

1939—a banner year. A year full of memories: for the more than 500 seniors, memories of graduation and formals, of senior elections and ballots, of a gay football season, of that Ohio test nightmare, of friends and advisers who mean so much . . . never-to-be-forgotten memories; for the underclassmen, memories of rush-week and that first thrilling Intersociety night, of toil on the gridiron, of "black and blue Tuesdays" every ten weeks . . . memories to be resumed in coming installments.

Leafing through memory books and diaries brings back dreams in wild assortment, and we are transported into the past on the crest of this flood of memories. . . . The year is just beginning and the pigskin shares the limelight with the various elections. A fighting, better-than-average team is produced, from the raw materials of bone and muscle, along with the omnipresent by-products—sweat, cotton, aching muscles, touchdowns, and mass hysteria. The entire school is subject to him and King Football knows it. As the season gets under way, the Activity Ticket goes over with a "bang" and the total mounts to 1505, smashing all previous records. Enter cold December, and Student Council, presided by Patrick Hanley, the Irish gladiator, starts serious work on Jubilee. King Football relinquishes his crown, as Peter Lerner, known far and wide as "Pistol Pete," and Ralph McNeal, "Moose" to the team he so ably captains, are placed on the Interscholastic League all-star team. Once again the class of '39 drops its ballots in the little pasteboard box provided for that purpose and the officers are: president, Bill Hanley; vice-president, Bill Case; secretary, Bernie Wood; treasurer, Barbara English; sgt.-at-arms, Lorene Stewart; and giftorian, Doris "Surprise Package" Hill.

New Year and tidings of glad joy ring out as over 2,000 witness the Jubilee with Maestro Bernie Wood and all the "lads and lassies" swinging it to success. Basketball and "rushing" fill the first weeks of 1939 to overflowing. As the season rolls on, it becomes evident that the newest edition in Blue Eagle basketball squads isn't going to win any loving cups. But it's a fighting team and gives Paseo quite a scare in the last tilt of the season, losing 13-17 to the league champions. As the first semester draws to a close, Richard Williams, class president, leads the mid-years down the aisle to the tune of—no, not Lohengrin—but Dear Old Central. Sixty-five receive their sheepskins and wander off into life.

The new semester ushers in new Student Council heads, new Luminary heads, new club heads, and new heads in general. Billy Case is elected to lead the Student Council for the coming semester in as exciting an election as the old "Peepers" have ever witnessed . . . a bare majority of 40 ballots. This was, perhaps, the most elemental occurrence of the entire fiscal year to some people, according to reliable authorities. Herbert Yates succeeds Bernie Wood as president of the Hi-Y, and do the "Redcoats'" faces match their jackets? Yes, they do!

Reports begin to fill the Luminaries about the progress of the "Time" campaign. The battle is heated but, out of the mob, appear three faces wreathed in smiles . . . Virgel Parman, leading salesman, and Anna Rheva Rolsky and Betty Lou Thoos, leading sales ladies. The campaign is a big success, too, for 1,960 Centralians are purchased to smash another record set by the class of '38. About this time, Jack Carduff is nominated Central's hard luck Student No. 1. They forgot about the co-editors of the Centralian when they took the ballot. Old formals come out of the mothballs and into the dance halls at the Army Hop and Barbara English wins the coveted crown, ably "paged" by Nan Chedester, Margie Sample and Marion Talbott.

At this point, Ohio Test results break into the open with top scores of 141 and 140. The 1939 class again smashes all previous records by having 66 seniors take marks of 100 or higher on the aptitude test. The ever-changing Luminary staff is again revised as Marybelle Lawing succeeds Major Delson Lewis as Managing Editor. Work on the Spring Play is just beginning, and we look forward eagerly to the finished production. Field Day is also approaching, and Major Lewis is putting the captains through their paces, the captains are putting the sergeants through the paces, the sergeants are putting privates through the paces, and the privates are putting themselves through the paces. All very irksome! Clubs begin to prepare feverishly for the 53rd annual Intersociety. Athletes are once more outside pounding the turf in preparation for the track season. Interspersed with sporadic clashes between faculty and student body, the junior election and senior meeting take place. Jimmy Fowler is elected president of the class of '40. The spring play comes off as scheduled and V. E. Parman, John Hanley, and Elizabeth Brink give sparkling performances.

Last, but not least, we graduate. A final fling ends our school careers, and we, too, amble off into life . . . the flood of memories ceases and we wake up to reality. We've nothing left but memories, but we'll always have them.
