ASTONIAN

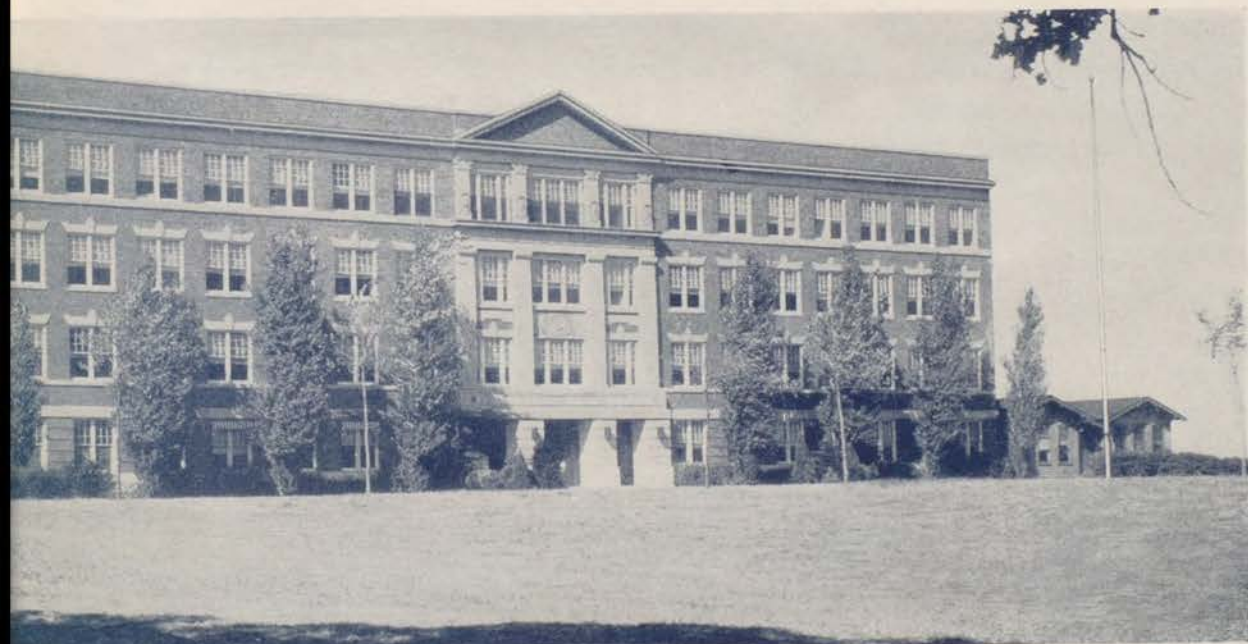

Dedication

We dedicate our Eastonian this year to America, the stronghold of freedom. We have attempted, in this simple volume, to record our happy hours at school, thankful that in America, the schools are still free.

We are graduating in grave and fearful times, but we are not afraid. Few of us will be called upon to shed our blood for our country, but we all can live for it. Education is our first line of defense. It has given us a solid foundation for our future and we must practice the high ideals we have been taught.

This is our responsibility. We must make democracy strong from within. Realizing the privilege of living in a democracy, we pledge ourselves to uphold its high ideals and to make ourselves physically, mentally, and morally strong, so that we may keep alive the flame of freedom.

To the Pupils of East High School:

In the defense of American democracy our system of education must play a central role—such is the challenge that confronts us today. This cannot be accomplished by more singing of the national anthem, more salutes to the flag, more pledges of allegiance and more detailed studies of the Federal Constitution. These are not enough. Schools can no longer be satisfied with mere outward expressions of loyalty to this country. A new program must be far more comprehensive and developed in terms of the peculiar crisis that we face.

What can education do? A true product of American democracy, education, from the kindergarten to the university in all of its manifold aspects, must contribute every possible resource. Education can share in laying the physical and mental groundwork for effective military service. Education can take a large part in providing the vocational and technical training which the conduct of modern war requires. Education can help to achieve national unity by clarifying national goals and by inculcating loyalty to the values basic to a society of free men. Education can portray the American dream of a nation with liberty, justice and opportunity for all in the broad sweep of history from the time of the nation's founders. Education can promote the understanding of the civil liberties and the political institutions through which the democratic ideal finds expression. Education can assist in realizing and organizing productive energies. Education can aid adult citizens to reach sound conclusions on the urgent questions of national policy. Education can confirm that faith in the worth and improvability of each individual which is the basic tenet of democracy. Education can provide opportunities to live democracy in the school, and in the home, in the workshop and the market place. Education can teach the real meaning of the word "America."

Faithfully yours,

HEROLD C. HUNT

This year, after the March 31 election, Mr. J. R. Battenfeld and Mr. Edwin A. Harris became members of the Board of Education. Mr. Ludwick Graves, president, and Mr. Ira S. Gardner were the retiring members. Mr. Gardner, during his six years' term, was never tardy nor absent from a meeting, thus setting an excellent example for students. The members of the Board of Education serve without pay.

To the Graduating Class of 1942:

This opportunity to wish you well gives me special pleasure, because you and I entered East High School together four years ago. Little did we realize then that before you had graduated we would be actively involved in a world war, fighting to preserve the freedom which our forefathers gave their lives to secure. Our nation has been viciously attacked, thousands of our citizens have been killed or wounded, and the very existence of our country is at stake. Although we are lovers of peace, this invasion of all we hold dear is a challenge which we know we cannot fail to meet.

Your graduation is one of the most important milestones in your life; even more so, now that we are at war. Each of you is asking, "What am I going to do next?" Your whole future depends largely upon your present answer to this question.

Some of you will go at once into industry, either directly connected with the war or into industries necessary to maintain life at home. Some will go into some branch of military service. Perhaps, some of you will be called upon to make the supreme sacrifice. To all of you who are going to do all you can in the immediate defense of our country we feel deep gratitude.

Many of you will decide you can serve your nation best by continuing your education. This is largely a war of science and machines, and it cannot be won without an army of highly trained people. If you have the aptitude and the desire to secure training beyond the high school, I believe it is your duty to do so if possible. It is also necessary to look to a future beyond the war. Thousands of men, including many who would have been our future business men, doctors, ministers, teachers, engineers, and statesmen will be killed in action. Perhaps your greatest service will be to prepare yourselves to take their places, for we must win the peace as well as the war.

Whatever you do, I hope you will contribute splendidly to a glorious victory. Ahead of us are trials, discouragements, and grief, but we dare not falter. Without a high morale "the people perish." You have been fine to work with these four years that we have been together. I hope you will deserve and receive the best.

Sincerely,

J. L. LAUGHLIN

To the Student Body:

These are challenging times. They call for national unity. We have achieved that unity in a greater degree than ever before in our history. The thing that has brought us together, the thing that ties all Americans, regardless of race, creed or color is our love for liberty and our desire to preserve the constitutional representative form of democracy which guarantees freedom and equality of opportunity for every citizen of this country.

More important to us as a nation than building bombers and destroyers is the strengthening of the spiritual and intellectual life of this nation. The dictators' conquests have been made easier because they have destroyed the spiritual and intellectual life of the conquered nations before moving in with their armed hordes.

Americanism is not on trial, but it is passing through a crisis and appears destined to pass through even greater crises in the days ahead. Every true American will do well to consider what American democracy has to offer in contrast to European dictatorships.

It is our responsibility to keep democracy alive in our hearts and minds. It is our responsibility to see that we and our associates are tolerant, free in spirit and humane; and that their love of democracy is burning with an inextinguishable flame. If we can do this, we can be assured that our future victory will bring something more than survival and security. Then we can hope that such a victory will earn the deep gratitude of posterity, and will be recorded in history as a forward step in the progress of mankind.

Yours truly,

JOHN N. BROADLICK

National Honor Society

The climax of a high school senior's career occurs with the election of the National Honor Society. If he attains this goal he has reached the greatest height possible in his four years of high school.

The bids were presented by the junior class officers during the home room period, April 17. The members were given their emblems in a special assembly on May 8. The names had been selected from those students in the upper quartile of the senior class. Fifteen per cent of the class may become members.

A student must have been in East at least one year, besides being outstanding in the four cardinal principles of the Society — scholarship, leadership, character and service. Each student whose scholarship index places him in the upper quartile of the class receives an activity rating sheet. A senior's scholastic record plus his activities form the primary basis for his election, after a character recommendation by the faculty.

The Society is a national organization established in 1924. The East High School Chapter was founded in 1928, and members of the first graduating class were then elected to the National Honor Society. From that year on, each spring has brought a new group of members to this organization.

The members of the 1942 National Honor Society are: Abreo, John; Alexander, Franklin; Anderson, Mary Lou; Beagle, Raymond; Bedingfield, Mary Lois; Bollin, Agnes; Bond, Doreen; Breniman, Warren; Brown, Juanita; Burch, Rowena; Coffey, Jack; Corley, Clifford; Crane, Beverly; De Neen, George; Eisenhower, Ordith; Fike, Dorace; Harman, Geraldine; Howard, Janice; Kropf, Edward Lee; Lombardo, Dorothy Rose; Mangrich, Joseph F.; Maniett, Peggy; Matthews, Harold G.; Meyer, Betty Lou; Nelson, James; Nichols, Betty Claire; Nichols, Kenneth; Olson, Wilma; O'Neil, Don; Partridge, Betty; Ray, Doris Louise; Redenbaugh, Norma Jean; Rigsby, Charles LeRoy; Roemer, Julia; Ryder, George Wendell; Smith, Doris Catherine; Snoddy, Genevieve; Spencer, Dean; Tiefel, Dolores Ann; Wallace, Warren; Williams, Gloria; Wiltshire, Mary Frances.

The members of the faculty committee are: Miss May Farr Hiatt, chairman, Mr. Ralph Tiefel, Miss Evelyn Gilchrist, Mr. James Curtis, Mr. John N. Broadlick, and Mr. J. L. Laughlin, as an ex-officio member.

Senior Officers

President, Johnny Abreo; Vice-President, Raymond Beagle; Secretary, Beverly Crane; Treasurer, Joseph Mangrich; Giftorian, Julia Roemer; Sgt.-at-Arms, Rose Etta Wall; Reporter, Patricia O'Brien.

Class History

September 6, 1938! This crucial day in the high school career of the '42 class dawned sunny and bright, although dark and rainy would have better suited the moods of the new freshmen.

There were also some new members among the faculty: Mr. Laughlin, the new principal from Central; Mr. McMillan, the new vice-principal; and seven teachers.

At the Student Council meeting on September 22, Donna Alexander was elected freshmen representative, the first to represent this group.

In the early part of the sophomore year, the class discovered that Agnes Bollin, Joseph Mangrich, Betty Claire Nichols, Wilma Olson, George Ryder, and Dolores Tiefel had made a good start for these six received their bronze "E's" for their work in the first year.

The sophomores began to show their executive ability by taking on the duties of various jobs. Catherine Smith was elected president of sophomore triangle of Girl Reserves.

Eleanor Breitag represented the sophomore class in the annual literary contest by winning a gold medal in declamation.

At last this group was considered good company for the seniors—they were juniors. The election of the junior officers caused much excitement. This group headed by Raymond Beagle lead the class through a very successful year.

The class in their fourth year realized that Mr. Laughlin was also in his fourth year at East and thus could be classed as a senior. The group was glad to be back to start another year and greet old friends.

The first few months of school were filled with elections: senior officers, senior ballot, and Student Council.

The main social event of the year, the senior dance, was held at Ivanhoe Temple on March 27. The room was decorated with patriotic colors.

As the last year was finished, the seniors realized the part that East high school had played in four years of their lives. To show appreciation, the class left a school flag.

The East Echo Staff

Associate Editors: Franklin Alexander, Ray Beagle, Clifford Corley, Bob Farnsworth, Lewis Morris, Dennis Putthoff, Erlene Allen, Mary Lois Bedingfield, Agnes Bollin, Juanita Brown, Beverly Crane, Pauline Ehrhardt, Dorace Fike, Betty Claire Nichols, Dolores Tiefel.

Advertising Manager: Mary Jo Miller.

Business Manager: Joseph Cooper.

Circulation Manager: Peggy Maniett.

Exchange Editors: Peggy O'Byrne, Margaret Ann Jackson.

The East Echo staff, handicapped this year by not having a previous semester of newswriting, consisted of forty-one senior students who desired to gain knowledge in newswriting.

This year a new system was introduced to the class. Instead of the usual naming of an Editor-in-Chief for each semester, an editor was selected for each issue.

The staff began their work two weeks before school opened in order to be the only school to publish a periodical on the first day of school.

The general plan of work in publishing one issue of the Echo takes approximately two weeks. An assignment sheet is made, and one week is given to the staff in order to prepare their copy. Two days are given to the "making up" of the paper by part of the class, while the other part reads galley proof and checks copy. There are actually three final checks made on the copy that is to be printed.

The staff this year owes its gratitude to The Kansas City Star and the Kansas City Journal for the pictures and cuts obtained for use in the Echo.

The Echo is issued every other Thursday during home room time. The members of the Echo staff this year are: Warren Breniman, Joseph Mangrich, Buddy Myers, Bill Swinney, Bob Taylor, Mary Lou Anderson, La Vella Adkins, Donna Alexander, Rowena Burch, Charlene Davidson, Jean Franke, Frances Hendrix, Dorothy Lombardo, June MacDonald, Dixie McGuire, Catherine Miller, Betty Jane O'Bannon, Marian Sue Rider, Doris Ray, Isyabelle Simmerman, Louise Till, Mary Frances Wiltshire.

The Last Will and Testament of the Senior Class of 1942

We, the graduating class of East high school of the year One Thousand Nine Hundred and Forty-two, being of sound mind and memory and in full possession of all of our mental faculties do hereby devise, bequeath, and convey all property, rights, and equipment to our heirs and successors forever. We do also publish this testament as witness of the above mentioned conveyance of property.

To the faculty, we bequeath appreciation for a task well done and wonderment at their patience.

To the incoming freshmen, we leave the drinking fountains with their distilled water and the sunshine we have radiated over and around the corridors, for dear green things need water and sunshine in order to grow.

To the sophisticated sophomores we bequeath congratulations that they have passed the awkward stage.

To the juniors, we leave our own standard of service and ability to be attained if possible.

All the good-looking senior boys and the beautiful senior girls also leave some of the following individual bequests:

Rowena Burch leaves her right arm to hook another curly-headed tall blond.

Mary Lois Bedingfield leaves the echoes of her sparkling voice about the corridors.

George Barth leaves his knowledge of books to whoever feels he needs it.

Betty Jane O'Bannon bequeaths her flowing arpeggios to Joline Sigler.

Ray William Gonser wishes to leave his disgust for young ladies to the more intelligent boys of the Junior Class.

Beverly Crane gives her gift of gab to Norma Jean McLain.

Johnnie Abreo bequeaths his empty offices to be fulfilled by the juniors.

Charlene Davidson leaves her bowling championship to Thelma Lux.

Franklin "Mike" Alexander bequeaths his title of "Chief" to the future editors-in-chief of the Eastonian.

Betty Claire Nichols gives her ability for playing "In a Country Garden" to Freeman Oglesby.

Bob Farnsworth leaves those two seats in the darkest corner of the show to the moon-struck Romeos of the future.

Dolores Tiefel leaves her specs to some studious freshman.

Clifford Corley leaves his "ironpants" to baseball kings of coming years.

Margaret Ann Jackson gives the come-hither glint in her eyes to sister Betty Jean.

Shirley Jean Douglass leaves her experience gained in Spanish club to coming senioritas.

Bob Wallace bequeaths his racket (tennis) to Katharine Badgett.

Dorace Fike leaves the cherished memories of her "square car" to the horse and buggy riders of the future.

We again affirm that we are all severally and collectively of sound mind, under no malign influence, and acting of our own free will in conveying and bequeathing the above described property. Signed and sealed this first day of June in the year of our Lord 1942.

Senior Prophecy

One day in May, I browsed through the shelves of the library, and as I passed a reference shelf, I saw a new volume entitled, "Who's Who of '52." Thumbing through the book, I gathered the following information:

Abreo, Johnnie—Head of the Committee on Chinese-American Youth Relations and Problems. Adkins, La Vella—Hollywood make-up artist, draws eyebrows on movie stars. Ainsworth, Jim—Keeper of the brig on the S. S. Eastonia. Alexander, Donna—Mother of triplets, received 1950 American young mother award. Alexander, Franklin—Editor of The Kansas City Star, wrote an editorial of worldwide fame. Anderson, Mary Lou—Yeomanette on her husband's ship. Baker, Joe—With "Herbie" Ramsey coaches the Hicktown "Hot-Shots" who won the world basketball championship. Bales, Raymond—"The Most Henpecked Husband of 1952." Beagle, Ray—M. U. line coach under Don Faurot, and still an eligible bachelor. Bedingfield, Mary Lois—Sensational Metro opera star, making her debut singing the bass solo, "Figaro." Breniman, Warren—An announcer over the Green and Black network. Brown, Juanita—Owns first exclusive beauty shop especially for bachelors, specializing in manicures. Buell, John—Teaches Coach Brown's tracksters how to put the shot. Burch, Rowena—Brilliant young actress, starring in "Miss Burch Goes to Town." Coffey, Jack—His sensational discovery of how to make diamonds synthetically caused a terrific slump in the diamond business. Cooper, Joseph—Treasurer and chief salesman of the Lye, Potash & Wood Chips Soap Company. Corley, Clifford—A foreign correspondent now stationed at Berlin, trying to decipher Hitler's torrent of excuses for defeat. Crane, Beverly—Buyer for a famous New York furrier. DeNeen, George—Piccolo player with the Kansas City Symphony Orchestra. Doyle, J. H.—With Buddy Myers, still privates at Wentworth after 10 years, but their big job is trying to pass Tenderfoot in Boy Scouts. Ehrhardt, Pauline—She and Kenny Nichols are orators on any subject—the fee, $5 for 30 minutes. Fike, Dorace—Co-holder with Betty Jean Partridge of the world's speed records, 250 words a minute in typing, and 500 words a minute dictation. Franke, Jean—Designs homes without kitchens so women won't have to cook. Hendrix, Frances—Employed to sing with Rose Etta Wall on a program sponsored by the Sing Song Birdseed

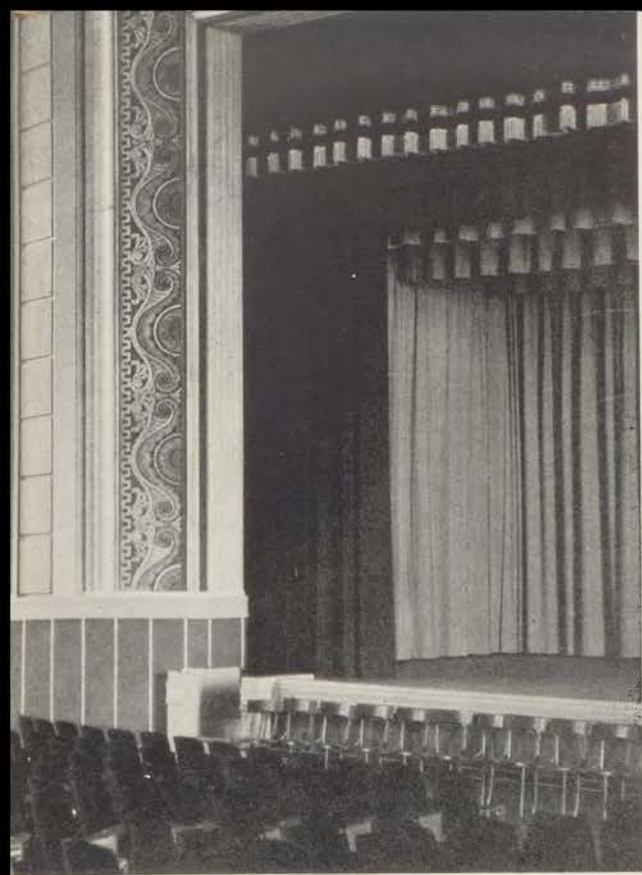

Company. Henehan, Pat—With his wife, Helene, has just celebrated his 10th year of marriage without a cross word. For this they have received the Dorothy Dix trophy. Hicklin, Dorothy—Starred with Peggy Maniett, Bobby Kelly and Judy Roemer in the "Adorables" at the Tower. Hughes, Vincent—Has taken Harry James' place in the music world. Jackson, Margaret Ann—Professional model. Lombardo, Dorothy—Playing in a coast-to-coast tour with Betty Jane O'Bannon. Most popular number, "Skitspohc," a duet. Mangrich, Joe—Still trying to find all the "relatives" he lost after graduating in '42. Matthews, Harold—Second to the president in command of the United States army. Milazzo, Tommy—Head chef at the Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles. Rider, Marian Sue—Head of bureau to make certain eligible bachelors ineligible. Morris, Lewis—He and Don O'Neil and Jim Nelson are touring all major cities to get new members for the O. F. F. Nicholas, Robbie Dell—Successor to the Dorothy Dix column. Nichols, Betty Claire—Wrote a famous essay on "The Importance of English to High School Students." Is now classed as required reading for all freshman English classes. O'Brien, Pat—Singer with Fay Fyser's orchestra. O'Byrne, Peggy—Cheerleader at Harvard. Pagett, Marilyn—Boogie-woogie clarinet player. Putthoff, Dennis—Still debating everything as a result of Public Speaking. Redenbaugh, Norma Jean—Home Economics demonstrator. Riggs, Vernon—Awarded Congressional Medal of Honor for distinguished service in World War II. Ryder, George—Able veterinarian with a long list of patients. Sabin, Bob—Popularity King of 1950. Sexton, Gene—Digging artesian wells for the government. Smith, Catherine—Secretary to Miss Fair at the Y. W. C. A. Simmons, Stanley—Sideshow barker for the J. T. Barnling & Bailum Circus. Simpson, Clarence—Raises hill-billy chickens on a farm in the Ozarks. Snoddy, Genevieve—Proprietor of a fashion shop on the Plaza. Taylor, Bob—Has risen from clerk to president of Rears & Soebuck Co. Walker, Harold—Teaches any brilliant boys how to fly—kites. Wallace, Warren—Was instrumental in bringing the war to a close by inventing a secret weapon called "W-W-1."

After finding so many fellow classmates in Who's Who, I concluded that the class of 1942 was a success.

Places Without People

Sometimes the usually congested places at East may be found deserted. The stage, which is often the setting for plays, cheerleaders, teams, choruses and speakers, is deserted. Only the memories of what has been remind us that the auditorium has been packed to witness what passes on the stage.

The library, often occupied by teachers and pupils, and always welcoming its patrons, may serve to recall faces remembered in its setting.

The main corridor of the lower hall, where all friends of East have entered and departed. Here in the morning the students stand, waiting for the 8:10 signal bell, and discuss what the day will bring. In the afternoon the hall is again crowded with homegoing boys and girls. Crowds of expectant faces are seen here at evening performances, and the happy throng files out again through this central hall.

Ranking third in importance in the mind of a senior, the Senior Ballot—first and second, respectively, are the class offices and National Honor Society—represents the most outstanding students of the graduating class. The seniors vote for the students they wish to fill the various positions on the ballot. This election is held about the end of the first semester.

There are twelve offices for boys and twelve for girls, and each of these twelve offices represent different talents and personalities of the students. Of these, eleven are voted on by the senior class, but one, the highest scholastic ranking, is taken from the official record in the office.

To honor the outstanding students of the East high school graduating class is the purpose of the Senior Ballot. Unlike the senior class officers, those on the Senior Ballot do not have any duties to perform.

Athletic Board of Strategy (Coaches and Co-Captains)

Continual plotting is the job of these four men. They are the G. H. Q. of our athletic divisions. Mr. Esther jokes about promoting ticket sales, while Mr. Cohlmeier reminisces of his championship teams of the past. Coach Brown and Mr. Coombe plan a new play.

Mr. Brown coaches the football, basketball and track teams, while Mr. Coombe is the second team coach. Mr. Cohlmeier handles the gymnasium classes, and Mr. Esther is business manager of the teams.

But on the actual field of battle, the captains of the teams bear much responsibility. A different member of the team acts as captain for each game, and at the end of the season the two boys who have proven themselves worthy are chosen as co-captains. This year Jimmie Nelson and Ray Beagle were chosen co-captains of the football team, and Nelson and Bill Whaley led the basketball team.

Prospects for track team captains are: Lewis Morris, Herbie Ramsey, Don O'Neil, Ray Beagle and Jimmie Nelson.

Warriors All

The first conflicts of the year are on the west front. Our divisions did not win the football fronts. These fronts included, among others, the Northeast front, South-east front, Central front and the Southwest front. Our divisions did not win the title, but they were Warriors All. The replacements ably aided the veterans, but the fall campaign was difficult.

Facts About the Bears

The fighting Bears of '42 have not the highest percentage of games won nor a championship to boast of. The team was not surpassed in fighting spirit, cooperation and willing teamwork.

The team was composed of four lettermen, of whom only one was a regular, and the rest of the team lacked experience.

East had two of the best ends in the city in Don O'Neil and Joe Baker. Don teamed with Jim Nelson, all-star guard; Joe teamed along with Jim Steele on the weak side of the line and very few gains were made through this combination.

Next year's team will have the all-around strength that this year's team lacked, with the return of seven lettermen, all of whom saw their share of action. The line will be big and rugged, the backfield will be fast and tricky.

This was not the regular backfield but it so happened these boys were running through the plays when The Star photographer snapped the picture.

From this picture a separate cut was made of Raymond Beagle, which appeared in The Star and Echo; another cut was taken of Vincent Calvert and Bob Sabin, which appeared in both papers.

Raymond was selected on both The Star and Journal all-stars; he was also honored by his teammates by being chosen as one of the co-captains of the team.

Ray made many of the team's gains this season; he specialized in both running and passing.

OUR FOUR HORSEMEN

Football

The 1941 East gridiron squad, handicapped by inexperience and size, finished in the Interscholastic league cellar with only a tie to their credit. Coach Roy Brown had only four returning letter men and only one regular and he was in a new position.

Despite the hard luck, the brilliance of several players stood out and they were honored by being placed on the All-Star list. Those that attained this honor were Ray Beagle, 2nd team, Don O'Neil and Joe Baker, honorable mention.

East was defeated in the first start 12 to 0. They played hard and the last Ottawa score came after the final gun had sounded. The game was played with only a few days of practice. The next game was with Paseo with the Pirates winning a close game, 7 to 6. With only two days' rest and no practice the Bears faced the co-champion Southwest Indians and were defeated 21 to 6. The Indians were at their peak and their attack functioned smoothly. Doomed to defeat, the Bears were again defeated by Westport, 7 to 0, on a blocked punt. East was again defeated by the co-champion Northeast Vikings, 25 to 0. The team, although outplaying William Chrisman in every department, was defeated 14 to 7 in a sea of mud. Twice East's long runs were called back. One would have been good for a touchdown. The Bears showed their improvement by tying the Southeast Knights, 0 to 0. The last game was won by Central on a blocked kick and a fumbled punt.

Coach Brown said, "Although the record was disappointing, the boys played the game clean and hard but just lacked the chance to practice because of the weather."

Although East's team didn't show exceptional ability, it was noted by all the schools in the Interscholastic League for its ability to cooperate and the spirit of good sportsmanship that lasted throughout the season.

The players who received first team letters were Ray Beagle, Bob Taylor, Don O'Neil, Edgar Mallicoat, Joe Baker, Oliver Mais, Jim Steele, Jim Nelson, Carl Logan, Ed Nelson, Erwin Constable, Pat Henehan, Jim Ainsworth, John Abreo, Jack Bradbury, Jack England, Bob Sabin, Thomas DePew, Omer Hart, Wilfred Hanna, Vincent Calvert, Clarence Harper, and Stanley Plisowski.

The annual banquet was held at the Newbern Hotel. Mr. Volney Ashford, coach of Missouri Valley College, was the speaker.

Basketball

The 1941-42 Basketball Bears enjoyed a highly successful season, winning all but one league game. This was a one-point loss to Northeast. The championship was decided by this loss.

The Bruins raced into the '41-42 season by winning 3 out of 4 practice games. The Bears' first game of the year was an easy 37 to 21 victory over De La Salle. Next came Shawnee-Mission who boasted a Championship team intact except for one regular who was lost by graduation. The game was close and hard fought, the Shawnee-Mission veterans scoring from all angles to win by a 25 to 20 score. Then the Bears cut loose by downing Warrensburg and snowing under Odessa by a 12 point margin.

East followers were well pleased by this excellent pre-season record and they regarded East as a power in the Interscholastic league. They were not disappointed.

These pre-season games proved the Bears quintet was a well oiled, fast breaking machine with a power-house offense and an even better defense.

The Bears opened the Interscholastic league season by defeating a Central team that was rated a strong championship candidate, to the tune of 28 to 24. Jim Nelson and Herb Ramsey showed excellent shooting and Hoosier Bill Whaley proved to be one of the best ball handlers in the league.

The next game was with the Pirates, who had at this stage not yet gained their late season form, and the Bruins won handily 31 to 16.

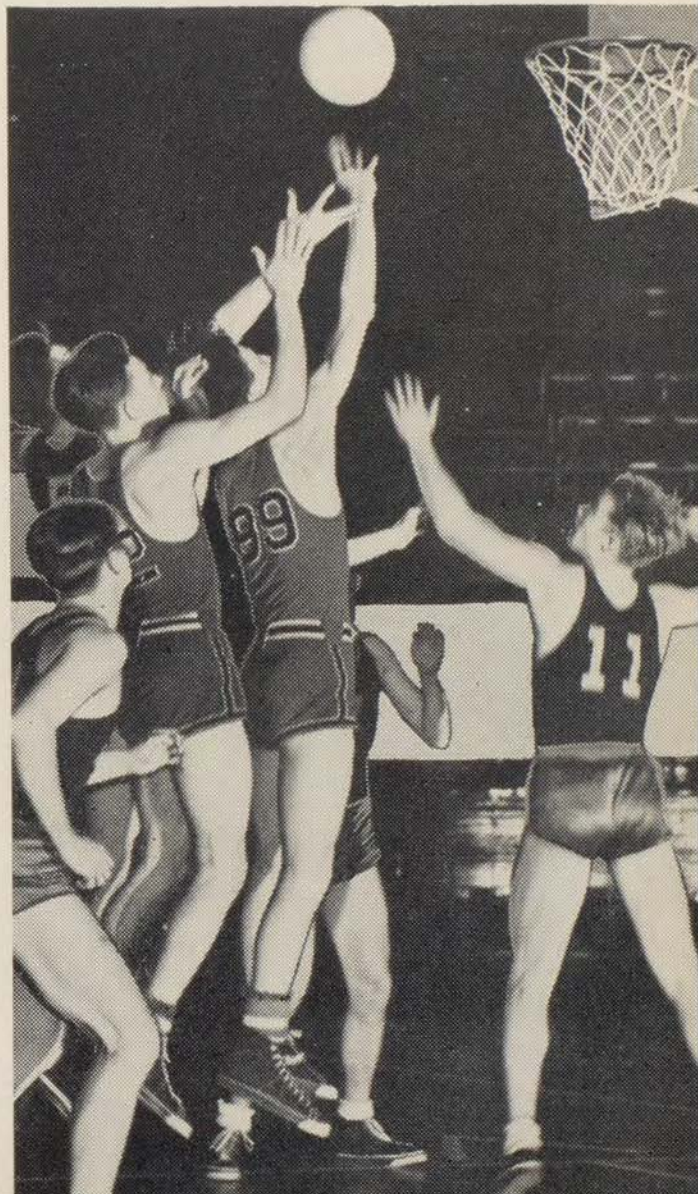

The Bears rounding into top form faced the title aspiring Southwest Indians. The Indians had a wealth of material and the sports writers were picking them as the team to beat and the Bears did just that. East broke their unbeaten record by a brilliant 21 to 14 victory.

The next start did not turn out so well for the East team as they were set back 26 to 22 in a mid-season practice game with Ottawa.

Westport, defending champions, failed to show any of the power of a year ago and were defeated by the powerful East machine 30 to 16.

The next game brought the only two undefeated teams in the league together and the outcome decided the title. Northeast was the helter-skelter, fast-breaking, rough and tumble type of team while East was a crisp passing outfit who did most of their scoring on fast breaking, smartly executed plays. The game was close from start to finish and was decided by a foul on Dick Soper, Viking reserve guard, who sank a free throw in the closing seconds of play to decide the game and the title. The final score was 18 to 17. This was the second of three Northeast one-point triumphs.

Basketball

The next week East turned back Southeast 36 to 15, and in the last game East defeated a good Manual team 24 to 14. Both Manual and Southwest were beaten decisively by East and yet Northeast beat both of them by only one point.

In the annual post-season series between St. Louis and Kansas City, Northeast and East met the respective first and second place teams of St. Louis. The Kansas City teams made it a clean sweep, Northeast winning from Beaumont 23 to 22, and East beating Ben Blewett 18 to 16.

SECOND TEAM

The small but mighty Cubs ended a very impressive season in winning five and losing two of their league games.

The Little Bruins met defeat in their first encounter, a 37 to 18 spanking by Shawnee-Mission.

Odessa proved too weak for the inspired Grizzlies in losing 20 to 12.

In their opening league game the Little Bears were downed 37 to 27 by the Eaglets.

With Ed Nelson, Bob Ainsworth and Bill Thuston leading the way Paseo and Southwest were turned back 27 to 23 and 23 to 19 respectively.

Being overconfident the Cubs lost to Westport.

The Grizzlies then again started on their victory march and walked over their last three opponents, Northeast, Southeast and Manual.

Those who received letters are: Don Buell, Bob Ainsworth, Bill Thuston, William Gilbert, Ed Mais, T. J. Lankford, George Maddux, Bob Pounds and Noel Hughes. These men will be firing the big guns for East next year.

PERSONNEL

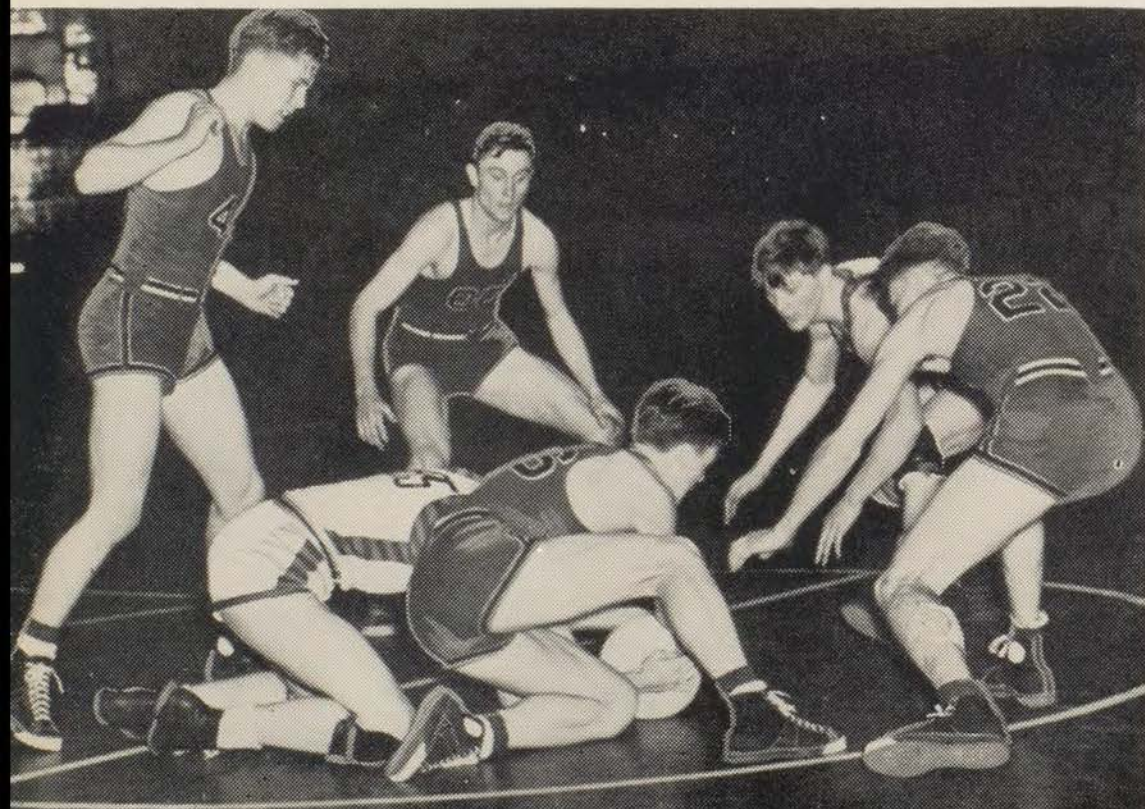

The boys who received first team letters were: Joe Baker, John Buell, Omer Hart, Ed Nelson, Jim Nelson, Don O'Neil, Herbie Ramsey, Julian Smith, and Bill Whaley.

Five East boys were named in the annual all-star selections.

In The Star, Bill Whaley and Herbie Ramsey rated berths on the first team selection, Jim Nelson, John Buell and Omer Hart honorable mentions.

In the Journal, Bill Whaley was a first team choice with Herbie Ramsey and Jim Nelson winning second team berths, John Buell and Omer Hart honorable mentions.

Bill Whaley will be the only returning player who placed on the first team selections this year.

Track

While the winter snows covered the ground the track enthusiasts trained inside. But with the first signs of favorable weather Coach Brown and the cinder men took to the field. The sprinters were coached in starts, the distance men strengthened their endurance, hurdlers perfected their form and the field men strengthened their muscles.

East has had three track meets, at this writing, and has shown good form in winning them all. The Bears of William Chrisman, the Vikings of Northeast and the Blue Eagles of Central, fell before the Bruins' onslaught 82 to 18, 52 to 38, and 59 to 32, respectively.

Jeston Phillips, Bill Whaley and Kenneth Nichols are outstanding in the dashes. The distance men are: City Champion Lewis Morris, Kenneth Nichols, Freeman Oglesby, and Donald DePew. Herb Ramsey, Bill Whaley, Thomas DePew and Omer Hart bear the hurdle hopes and John Buell, Don O'Neil, Ray Beagle, Julian Smith and Freeman Oglesby are the promising field men.

So far this year, Don O'Neil set the pole vault at 11' 9", Kenneth Nichols set a 440-yard record at 53.5. Lewis Morris' record of 2:02.3 for the 880-yard run still stands, and Herb Ramsey has equaled the low hurdle record with :23.9.

With the spirit and record these boys have, they are dangerous opponents for any team, and at press time prospects are bright for the inter-scholastic crown.

The Home Front

(Intra-Mural Sports)

The intra-mural sports program was handicapped by the absence of Mr. J. C. Cohlmeier. Mr. Cohlmeier, confined to his bed for a part of the school year, was unable to back the usual extensive program of extra-curricular sports, except the tennis team, this year. The gymnasium classes, however, were instructed in basketball, volley ball, ping-pong, boxing, wrestling, shuffleboard and hand tennis while the winter winds whistled outside the building. With the approach of spring weather, the boys participated in horse-shoes and softball.

During the second semester of this year, sport tournaments were held in Mr. Cohlmeier's gym classes. Each student was eligible to participate in two events. The sports included aerial darts, ping-pong and basketball. The basketball teams consisted of three boys and the aerial dart teams were composed of two boys. Though most of the boys miss the opportunity of playing for their school, the intra-mural sports help them in physical development and in sportsmanship in athletics.

Tennis Team

Before ill health befell him, Mr. Cohlmeier was able to get the tennis team on its way. Mr. Cohlmeier appointed Clifford Corley as captain of this year's team.

Eleven boys responded to a call sent out and since only six boys are eligible for the team, a play-off was necessary. Brackets were drawn and the school tournament was played at Ashland Square. The victors were the representatives of East at the annual interscholastic tennis matches at the Plaza Courts. The winners were:

First Team Singles—Robert Wallace.

Second Team Singles—Tommy Jessen.

First Team Doubles—Dan Stark and Clifford Corley.

Second Team Doubles—Jack Bradbury and Jimmie Gray.

These boys met their opponents from the other high schools on October 8. The boys met stiff competition in all their matches. Since the matches were played on the same day as the opening of the football season, the number two doubles team was deprived of the services of Jack Bradbury, a member of the football team. Jimmie Gray and a substitute, Johnnie Easton, put up a gallant battle, but the odds were against them and they fell before the onslaught of Bob Matterson and George Harrison of Paseo. Bob Wallace met Bob Bingham of Northeast in the first round and was defeated also. Tommy Jessen, number two singles player, entered the second round by default, and there he was defeated by Donald Black, who went on to place second in the tournament. The number one doubles team, composed of Dan Stark and Clifford Corley, was the only successful team. In their first round match they defeated Duncan and Bruch of Northeast, but they, too, fell before stiff competition in the second round. Jim Irwin and Carl Wiseman, Southwest, who eventually were runners-up in the tournament, defeated these boys. Stark and Corley were awarded tennis team letters for their playing.

The girls "get into the swing of things," practice for future mixers, try "stepping out," and engage in first aid work. In contrast, the gym boys wrestle, give the medicine ball a workout, try coordination exercise and build a pyramid.

Girls Athletics

The Girls' Inter-Scholastic volley ball and basketball play days this year were held at Southwest and Paseo High, respectively.

All of the eight senior high schools in the city were represented in the activities. The play days held at the various schools each year are to create friendliness among the girls and to teach the practice of sportsmanship, teamwork, cooperation and loyalty. Preparing for these play days is great work because they offer the girls competitive play and an opportunity to play basketball, volley ball, baseball, soccer, hockey, and also individual sports, such as aerial darts, hand tennis, shuffleboard, etc.

The volley ball play day was conducted in the form of a circus. Captains of the different teams drew a card that contained a name pertaining to a circus, and also the name of the team they would play. East's name was Bareback Riders and the opposing team was Manual, the Clowns. The members of the volley ball team were: Peggy Maniett, Captain; Wilma Mathis, Vivian Stave, Vitula Fisher, Dorothy Martin, Bonnie Mathis, Betty McDonald, Ora Chancellor, Marjorie Richards, Beulah Huggins, and Margie House. Dr. Herold C. Hunt, who gave a talk, Mrs. Hunt, Dr. Wilson and Mr. J. G. Bryan were the guests. Lunch was served at 12:30 o'clock.

Participating in the girls' basketball play day, held at Paseo high school, were about one hundred girls. The activities started at 9 a. m., with the captains of the various groups drawing the names of the schools they were to play. Our East girls drew Northeast, Paseo and Westport high schools. East's first game was with Northeast. We won the next game with Paseo. The game with Westport ended in a tie score. Luncheon was served in the cafeteria. The members of the basketball team were: Mary Dooley, Vitula Fisher, Margie House, Bonnie Mathis, Wilma Mathis, Dorothy Martin, Peggy Maniett, Alta Mae Morris, Ella Mae Murray, Betty McDonald, Dorothy Richards, and Vivian Stave.

Cooperation, loyalty, good sportsmanship and the ability to play a game well, are the traits which are emphasized in the girls' physical education department under the very capable direction of Miss Rose Segelbaum and Miss Eleanor Canny.

The girls who received awards are:

Gold "E"—Peggy Maniett.

Large "E"—Vitula Fisher, Margie House, Vivian Stave.

Small "E"—Mary Brandt, Shirley Coughlin, Elsie Lewis, Betty McDonald, Maxine McMurty, Betty Jo Pace, Wilma Parker, Frances Pence, Mildred Sheets, and Ira Thomas.

R. O. T. C. Leaders

Sergeant Franklin

Technical Sergeant Theodore Franklin, an imposing gentleman with a pleasing personality, who is everyone's friend, has been in charge of East's R. O. T. C. battalion during the past year. From his first days at East, Sgt. Franklin has stood for loyalty to country and school, cooperation among all departments, and the making of better citizens from the students of today. Everyone who knows him knows a real soldier, a loyal citizen and a real friend in time of need.

Major Harold Matthews

Major Harold Matthews proved to be a very good leader as well as a popular one. Commanding the respect of everyone, Harold led the battalion to an honored spot in the school. He was president of the Hamilton Literary Society, a member of the student council, captain of the rifle team and president of the Engineers club. During his four years at school, Harold was a very good student scholastically, placing on the honor roll a number of times. We are sure that Major Matthews will be a success in anything he may undertake.

Captain Warren Breniman

Embodied in Captain Warren Breniman was a commanding ability and the desire to drive the unit on to success. Captain Breniman as a private won the medal for best cadet, was selected as best cadet his second year, receiving the blue medal of honor. He served as president of the Webster Literary Society, was best actor and stood near the top, scholastically, in the battalion.

CADET MAJOR MATTHEWS

SGT. FRANKLIN

Captain Vernon Riggs

In Captain Vernon Riggs was found the efficiency of a true soldier. He was very active in the R. O. T. C., serving as first sergeant his junior year, and rising to the rank of cadet captain his senior year. Captain Riggs was a member of the rifle team for two years. He rated high in other activities of the school as well, being president of the band and a very active musician. Captain Riggs will set a good example to those under him for his good sportsmanship.

Captain Wendell Hathhorn

Although only a junior in high school, Cadet Captain Wendell Hathhorn was one of the best officers in the battalion. A first class private his first year, Captain Hathhorn worked his way up to the rank of captain his third year. Captain Hathhorn was a member of the rifle team for three years and always had the well-being of the unit foremost in mind. He was a member of the Hamilton Literary Society and a member of the Engineers club.

ROTC

The mission of the ROTC is to awaken in the student an appreciation of the obligations of citizenship, to help him prepare to discharge his duties as a citizen, and to qualify him as a leader, whether in peace or in war. Now that the country is engaged in war, this training will be more useful to many boys who plan to enter the armed forces at the close of school.

The ROTC during the past year has been commanded by Technical Sergeant Theodore Franklin and Major Harold Matthews.

East high school is very fortunate in having Sergeant Franklin as first in command of the ROTC. He is friend to every boy and is interested in the welfare of all as well as those in the ROTC. He is one of the youngest World War veterans and is now a member of the regular army. He is one of the best pistol and rifle marksmen in the army. He has been an instructor in both college and high school and is an expert in teaching military science and tactics in his friendly and understandable way. He is very modest and attributes much of the success in the past year to the cooperation of the officers. Much of the credit must be given the officers who did the work under the guidance of Sergeant Franklin. It is the desire of the sergeant that the ROTC cooperate with all the teachers and every other department. This year's ROTC has been as successful as any unit in the history of East High School.

Sergeant Franklin's first assistant this year has been Major Harold Matthews, who has been a most able commander of the battalion. For the past three years, Harold has been the outstanding cadet at East and has merited all the honor which is now his.

The race for the cadet leadership was very close among three cadets, all of whom were captains at the time. Recommendation for any promotion in the ROTC must be made by Sergeant Franklin, approved by Colonel Irwin, the professor of military science and tactics, and finally signed by Mr. Laughlin. Thus, only the officers with the very best records and ability are in charge. It was by means of such a procedure that Harold Matthews was promoted to be major of the East battalion.

At times when the battalion performs as a unit the major is the commanding officer; such as at parade, at the ROTC circus, for field day and government inspection. He has always been a most able leader and has done a grand job of preparing the non-commissioned officers for the positions they will hold next year when they will be working with Sergeant Franklin attempting to make cadets of East better citizens and capable of doing their part in time of war.

The beginning of war in December brought about a need for precautions. One of these was the safe protection of the students during air raids. The battalion took charge of the various floors during the air raid drills. The school cooperated and East should be ready in case of any bombing.

The annual Military Ball was held March 6, in the East gymnasium, and was a great success. Band members and the majors from the other Kansas City high schools were invited. The program was conducted by Harold Walker, Warren Breniman and Bill Phillips. Harold Matthews, cadet major, attended the Military Balls of the other schools.

Cadet Major Harold Matthews holds the place of honor while Company "B" braves the cold of November 11. The lower left-hand corner presents to the reader a view of the cadet officers. They are: Harold Matthews, Wendell Hathhorn, Warren Breniman, Jimmy Thomson, Vernon Riggs, Randall Turk, Carl MacGregor, Eldon Eads, William Pfaff, Lyle DeHues, Harold Walker and John Decker. Lt. Dennis Putthoff is not included in this picture.

Proctors

Five years ago a proctor system was installed in East high school by the Student Council. The proctors are on duty every hour to keep the halls clean, inspect the lockers, prevent loitering, and to direct visitors.

Every year they have become more and more efficient and this year are under the able guidance of Mr. John N. Broadlick, vice-principal, Miss Evelyn Gilchrist, teacher, and John Abreo, generalissimo.

Proctors are selected from study hall 201. A list of names is submitted to the office selected on the basis of the pupils' characters and scholastic ability. For each hour, one person is appointed captain. This year's captains were: first hour, John Abreo; second hour, Robert Mikesell; third hour, Clarence Simpson; fourth hour, Dennis Putthoff; fifth hour, Robert Taylor; and sixth hour, Clifford Corley.

The Home Rooms

The student organization of East high school is based upon the home room system. The presidents of the home rooms constitute the student council. This group is the representative body of the school, consisting of representatives from each of the forty home rooms. From the home rooms are taken suggestions and problems concerning school activities, for consideration and discussion in the student council meetings. To the home rooms are taken the plans and suggestions of the council, and the reports of its decisions, for further consideration by the student body.

The accomplishments of the '42 council have been commendable. It has sponsored many mixers to promote friendship among the students. The council was responsible for the East high school hand book of 1942. This was the first hand book published at East high school since 1929. The home rooms and the student council, and all of East high school, were honored by having their representative in the all-city student council, John Abreo, elected president of that group for the first semester.

The all-city student council is a student council consisting of representatives from each of the high school student councils of Kansas City. It is concerned with joint school activities and problems. On May 1, the all-city student council and the Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored High School Day in the City Hall. Abreo, because of his position on the all-city student council, became the student Governor for the one day. Bruce McCormick of Paseo high school was elected mayor of the city by the high school students of Kansas City. Harold Matthews was elected councilman from the East district. Julia Roemer, Beverly Crane, Jean Jones, Bill Whaley, Clifford Corley, Pat Henahan and Joe Mangrich were selected to hold appointive offices as representatives of East high school on City Hall Day.

When April Walks

*The jonquil rings a golden bell
To toll the winter's doom,
When April walks upon a hill
Bright carpeted with bloom.*

*The robin trills a silver tune
That ripples in the glade,
And every heart with rapture fills
To hear his serenade.*

*And April is an artist, too,
She tints the dawn with gold;
But best she shows her artistry
When sunset clouds unfold.*

*Her turquoise skies are freshly washed,
And rainbow colors spill,—
Oh, I've a tryst to keep this spring,
With April, on a hill!*

The Kalailu Literary Society is the oldest literary society in East high school. The society was founded in 1926 in order "to create a greater interest in literary work, to further study of parliamentary law and to foster a finer spirit of friendship among its members." The primary principle of the club is expressed by the name, Kalailu, which is Hawaiian for friendship. The various activities of the society throughout the year were intended to promote social and literary development. Miss Dorothy Varney is sponsor. The club colors are red and white.

The Leundis Literary Society was founded in 1926 with its principles as LEarning, UNderstanding, and DIScernment from which its name is taken. The purpose of this club is to promote a greater social and literary interest among the girls.

The brother club of Leundis is the Hamilton with which it has dances and parties. Other social events of the club are potluck suppers and rush teas.

Leundis can boast that it is the only Literary Society which has won nine of the fourteen literary contests.

One important undertaking of this year's group was the purchase of a silver tea set for the rush teas.

Miss Harriet Northern is sponsor.

The Hamilton Literary Society was organized in February, 1928, for the purpose of bringing together congenial boys who wish to develop higher ideals of literary merit and parliamentary procedure.

The name was derived from the great American, Alexander Hamilton, who was admired for his brilliancy in writing and parliamentary work. The club colors are blue and white and the Leundis Literary Society is their sister club.

The sponsor is Mr. Ralph Tiefel.

The Webster Literary Society, the youngest in East high school, gained momentum by adopting as a sister club the Eulexia Literary Society this year. Many competitive activities take place between the school's "Lit Clubs," one of which was the football games between the Websters and the boys of the other clubs. The Websters with much talent from its club took first place by a wide margin.

The Webster's colors are black, gold and crimson. The ideal of this club is to attain the high wisdom and knowledge of Daniel Webster. The name of the Webster's song is "Black, Gold and Crimson So True." Although small in size it is mighty in wisdom and talent.

Our sponsor this year was Mr. Bevans, who gave much assistance to the better working and cooperation of the club.

Literary Clubs

The literary clubs at East were formed to promote interest in literary and oral work, and to provide social activities for those who are brought together by these interests. Kalailu, the first literary club to be established at East, was organized in 1926, with Leundis, Hamilton, Eulexia, and Webster following in that order. A good scholastic standing is necessary to become a member of any of these five clubs.

The highlight of the year for these groups of young people is the annual literary contest. Essay, verse, short story, oration, declamation, and extemporaneous speaking are the six fields of competition. The "slam songs," which are sung by the different clubs, lend an air of informality to the otherwise formal contest. This is also the occasion when the club costumes are worn for the first time. After the contest, the clubs have held slumber parties followed by a sunrise breakfast.

The first important social event of the year is the rush period which offers teas, potlucks, steakfries and other social gatherings which are used as occasions to become acquainted with prospective members and to persuade them to join the "best club at East." After "rush week," bids are sent to chosen boys and girls—and then initiation! For one week, the new members are kept busy with button-holing, proposing, praising Allah, and other embarrassing activities, which the old members force upon them.

The inter-society dance is one occasion when all the clubs forget their rivalries and join together for a good time. It is a grand affair where every society member can have a "swell" time. This year the dance was held at the East Gate Lodge.

This last year, Eulexia and Webster became brother and sister clubs. They cooperated in many ways during the literary contest and had picnics and potlucks together. The other brother and sister clubs, Leundis and Hamilton, enjoyed their annual dance and sunrise breakfast. Each club has its own individual activities. One of the most unique of these is the annual Founders' Day Banquet which is held by Eulexia, usually at some hotel.

The names of the clubs at East have a particular meaning. Kalailu is Hawaiian for friendship, which is one principle of the club. Leundis is a word made up of "learning, understanding, and discernment." The name Hamilton was chosen in honor of Alexander Hamilton, who is the ideal of every member because of his brilliancy in writing and parliamentary work. Eulexia combines two words meaning well-read or well-lettered. Webster was named in honor of Daniel Webster, the famous orator and statesman.

Because of the success of the literary contests during the years and the interest that the members have displayed in their clubs, the literary clubs have been looked upon as important groups of the school, high in scholastic standing and activities.

The a cappella choir of this year has been rated very high by Miss Clausen, the director. They have filled many engagements, some of which were: Harvest Moon, Armistice day assembly, singing of carols for various business organizations and a Christmas assembly program.

Great advancement has been made by listening to records and studying symphonies and compositions of great composers. Concerts by the Kansas City Philharmonic orchestra were well attended by members of the music classes.

This year, the group has acquired thirty-six white surplices to complete the set of robes. Records were made of the choir's singing and were played in assembly. Pleasure was given to the assembly group and the singing of the choir as a whole was improved by the playing of these records.

Girl Reserves

"To find and give the best," typifies the spirit of Girl Reserves. As junior members of the Young Women's Christian Association, the Girl Reserves' purpose is to build a reserve strength of character.

The East Girl Reserves are divided into four triangles which meet once a month. One Tuesday of each month a general meeting of all triangles is held. The triangle advisers are: Miss McClure, freshman triangle; Miss Adams, sophomore triangle; Miss Jenkins, junior triangle; Miss Young, senior triangle.

This year the Girl Reserves have engaged in many activities. For their Christmas project the girls gave gifts to the children at the City Union Mission. For World Fellowship the Girl Reserves filled penny strips to add to the Y. W. C. A.'s mile of pennies. Miss Chuan, a Chinese student at Park College, told of life in China at a general meeting. On February 26, the annual spaghetti supper was given at the Van Brunt Presbyterian Church. The midwinter conference was held at St. Joseph, February 28. Other activities included a recognition service for new members, the Easter and Christmas services, the Palm Sunday breakfast. Among the social activities were a Dogpatch party and dances at the Y. W. C. A. The year closed with a farewell to seniors and the Frances Scarritt Hanley award to the outstanding worker in Girl Reserves.

The Home Economics Club, one of the first clubs to be organized at East High, is also one of the first Home Economics Clubs among all the local high schools.

The purpose is to show girls how to become intelligent homemakers. This is done by studying etiquette, personality traits, having graduate home economists plan, prepare and serve luncheons during the meetings. Famous professional models, over the city, show films on attractive styles and becoming colors for each type of individual.

Another activity of the club is the annual formal Tea held every spring. The domestic science teachers and two representatives of neighboring elementary schools are among the guests.

Art Club

The Art Club was organized on September 29, 1926. It was the first departmental club at East. The club colors are orange and blue, and the emblem is a tube of paint with the letter "E" on it, and a brush behind the tube.

The aim of the club is to develop a better appreciation of art and to give opportunity for creative activity. The members make trips to the Nelson Gallery of Art, Kansas City Museum and other exhibits. Speakers on special art subjects appear before the club.

Miss May Farr Hiatt and Miss Agnes Crawford are the sponsors of the club.

The Library

LIBRARIANS

The efficient staff of the library is always ready to help in finding books or material. At present the East branch library has over 16,000 books. A new service added this year was the material presenting the facts and figures on what the individual should do to aid in national defense. For the past four years Miss Jacqueline Cravens has been in charge of the library. The children's department is under the able supervision of Miss Jean Merrill and Miss Hazel Marie Peek. Assistants in the library work are Miss Artemise Doughty and Miss Sarah Bower. The library page is George Barth.

The Parent-Teacher Association

The purpose of the East High School Parent-Teacher Association is to "foster a better friendship and feeling between the parents and the teachers." This year two new activities have been added to the regular program. They are home nursing class instructed by Miss Alice Walton, the school nurse, and the nutrition class instructed by Miss Miller.

The Founders' Day program, under the supervision of Mrs. C. C. Raymond, presented a program which included a play from the drama department, and musical selections by the a cappella choir.

The P.-T. A. made gifts to Mary Harman Weeks Scholarship, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Girl Reserves and the Y. M. C. A.

Speech Department

Under the leadership of Miss Grace Breen, East High accomplished much in the way of oral interpretation this year.

The drama class presented one play in assembly, "Wild Cat Willie." Those who participated were Dick Painter, Betty Jean Jackson, Bob Starbuck, Bill Campbell, Mary Tashkoff and Betty Lydick.

The public speaking class, made up of juniors and seniors, furnished these speakers for the Charities Campaign: Kenneth Nichols, Phillip Schupp and Betty Claire Nichols.

Julia Roemer, Dorothy Hicklin, Billy Phillips and Doris Ray were chosen to speak at various schools during American Education Week, November 9-15. Dolores Tiefel made a talk on the value of foods as an introduction to a film on nutrition in assembly.

Also from this class Dorothy Lombardo, Genevieve Snoddy, Kenneth Nichols, Dennis Putthoff and Arthur Stoup presented a panel discussion in assembly on the effect of the war on high school students.

Another important function in which students from the public speaking class always participate is the American Royal broadcast. Those taking part this year were Jean Smith, Clara Harris, Waldene Scott, Billy Phillips, Patricia Adamson, Inez Lord, Dennis Putthoff and Kenneth Nichols. East competed in the final round and was defeated only by Junior College in this event. The four students from East who took part in the final round were Kenneth Nichols, Billy Phillips, Patricia Adamson, Dennis Putthoff.

Another radio program entitled "The Three R's" included Bod Edmondson, Carl DeWalt, Jane Coffey, Paul Lord, Eira Thomas, Imogene Benefield, Betty Lawler, Buddy Myers and Jack Masthoff.

During the January-February debate season representatives of the public speaking class debated Central and Rockhurst. They were Julia Roemer, Dorothy Hicklin, Billy Phillips and Kenneth Nichols.

A picture show about Kansas City was presented at various surrounding grade schools by these members of the speech department: Harold Walker, Billy Phillips, Kenneth Nichols and Joe Mangrich.

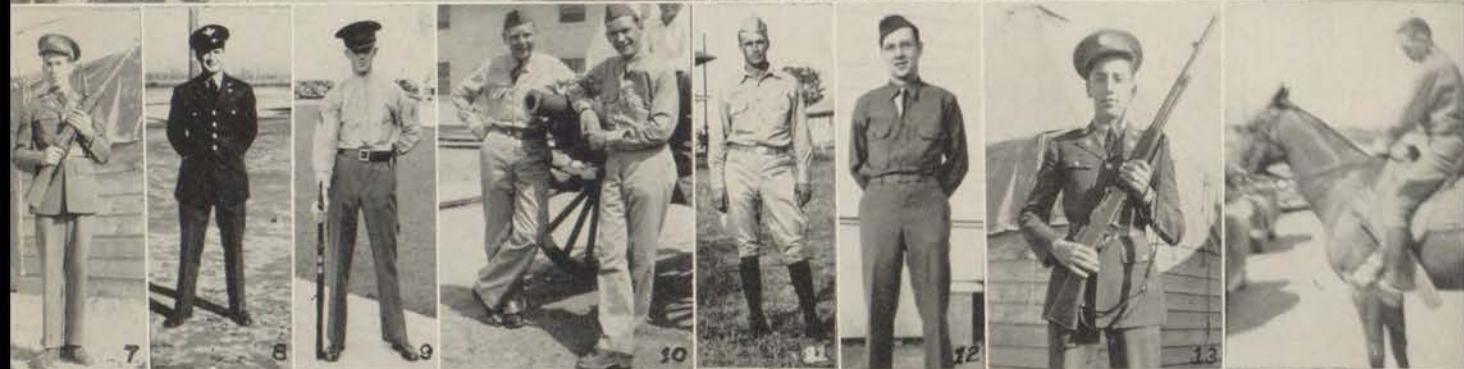

The scripture is read in each assembly by a member of the speech classes.

Two of the greatest contributions made by the speech department to the school this year were the Mid-Year Play and the Spring Play. The first of these was, "Aunt Tillie Goes to Town," and was presented in the school auditorium Friday, December 5, 1941. It was a comedy in three acts, in which Aunt Tillie, an eccentric maiden lady, was at first upset about her niece's intention of marrying. After many misunderstandings concerning who the real Aunt Tillie was, it was found that there were two, that of the niece and that of the husband-to-be. Finally, the original Aunt Tillie decided to change her eccentric ways and seek a husband for herself. Those taking part were Julia Roemer, Rowena Burch, Eugene Sexton, Warren Breniman, Marilyn Schwenneker, Loretta Whittle, Tommie Milazzo, Virginia Moore, Harold Walker and Dennis Putthoff.

The Spring Play, given Friday, March 27, in the auditorium, was entitled "The Moonstone." The Moonstone, a beautiful diamond which changes colors as the moon changes, was stolen from a sacred temple in India by Colonel Hencastle, bringing him bad luck. When he passed this stone on to his niece, it caused a great disturbance. Those who took part were: Rowena Burch, Julia Roemer, Betty Lawler, Dennis Putthoff, Bob Starbuck, Dick Painter, Don Welch, Warren Breniman, Jack Bradbury, Eugene Sexton, Artie Brink, Betty Claire Nichols, Norma Jean McClain, Dorothy Hicklin, Harold Walker and Paul Lord. This was an exciting and entertaining performance, of which East may well be proud.

Band and Orchestra

The assemblies, Harvest Moon, mid-year play, spring play, National Honor Society assembly, Christmas and Easter concerts, and graduation were a few of the occasions that were fortunate enough to have the music of the East High orchestra. Led by Mr. Wendell Ryder, the music of this group has always been well received.

The swing orchestra has grown up in the last few years, with many members of the regular orchestra as members. This organization has spent much time in planning music for dances to raise money. New swing music was purchased to help keep the group familiar with the latest "hits." At the spring play, the swing orchestra worked with the regular group to give suitable music and sound effects.

The officers for the first and second semester were:

Presidents, Freeman Oglesby, Clifford Corley; Vice-President, Vernon Riggs; Secretaries, Norma Crust, George Ryder; Treasurers, George Ryder, Freeman Oglesby; Reporter, Dorace Fike; Sgts.-at-Arms, Clifford Corley, J. H. Doyle; Mascots, Joline Sigler, Ben Chartier, Coralee Raymond, George DeNeen.

The words "pep" and "East band" have become synonymous during the last year. Playing at basketball and football games, pep assemblies, ROTC reviews, and in parades, this group has added much to the occasion and has become noted for the support they have given.

Because of the national spirit that is so necessary, patriotic music has been popular with the band this year. Their many selections of this type of music brought favorable comments from other band leaders of the city.

A change that was made in the rooms this year moved the band and orchestra classes to the basement. This change has given more space for storing instruments and for the assigned lockers.

The officers for the first and second semesters were:

Presidents, Vernon Riggs, George DeNeen; Vice-Presidents, Wendell Hathhorn, David Eckman; Secretaries, David Eckman, Bill Peery; Treasurers, Bill Peery, Ermal Miller; Reporters, Clifford Corley, Charles Day; Sgts.-at-Arms, George Ryder, Marvin Whitton; Mascots, Joanne Allen, Tommy Stalcup, Evelyn Beebe, Max Robinson.

An important factor in the success of the band and orchestra has been the Eastonian Club, which is made up of the mothers of the band and orchestra members. In 1939-40, the club purchased four sousaphones for the band. Black letters which spelled "EAST" were placed on green net across the bells of the instruments. These sousaphones added much to the appearance and effectiveness of the group.

By giving card parties, selling Christmas cards, sponsoring refreshment stands at football games and dances, and working at many other jobs during these three years, they were able to pay the balance this year.

One of the main events for the band and orchestra members is the picnic which is held at Swope Park twice a year. After school the members are taken out to the park in a truck and play baseball, football, and use the various facilities of the park until the food is prepared by mothers and friends.

Our band and orchestra are excellent examples of the East High spirit.

Health Department

Miss Alice A. Walton is the "Surgeon-General" at East.

She encourages the students to continue the health habits previously learned and directs the students in the development of health habits and standards which they will always carry with them.

Miss Walton gives the audiometer test to freshmen, and cooperates with the Tuberculosis Society in the annual tuberculin skin test.

The East mothers have aided the health program with their splendid cooperation and attendance at the Red Cross home nursing class.

Her sympathetic understanding and treatment of students have made Miss Walton an integral part of the daily life of East high school.

General's Aides

Miss Martha M. Heinrich and Miss Frances McClintock constitute East's pleasantly efficient office force.

Miss Heinrich's chief duties are as registrar. She also issues the daily bulletins, cares for Mr. Laughlin's correspondence, keeps all student records and handles the money.

Miss McClintock is the school secretary. She keeps the attendance records of every student in school. Hers is also the first voice heard by those calling the school.

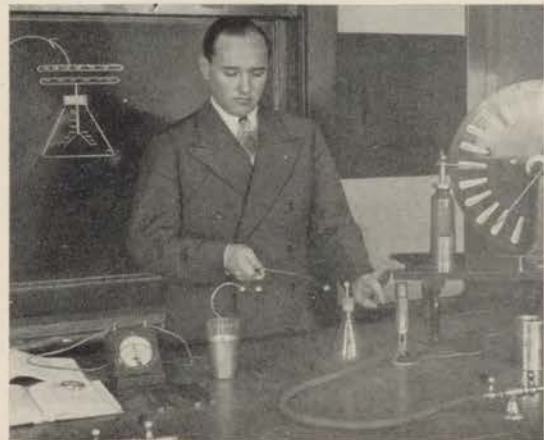

Both ladies greet visitors, find their needs, and issue the necessary passes.

Art Honor Society

Membership in the Art Honor Society is the reward to the best art students for their work in the art department. To be eligible for membership in this society, one must have completed two years of high school art and display some of his work. The display must include ten pieces, representing at least four media of art work. The exhibitions are judged near the end of each year, and therefore, are listed in the following year book.

The 1941 list of Art Honor Society membership includes twenty artists. The first award winners were Juanita Harvey and Dorothy Knous. David Wilson and Carmen Spiers were jointly awarded the second award. The third award went to Bob Cowling, John Hamilton, and Warren Wallace.

Others who were accepted for membership in the Art Honor Society were: LaVella Adkins, Wilma Jean Brand, Juanita Brown, Beverly Burch, Waneta McBee, Mary Miller, Paulene Nehring, Kenneth Ramsey, Gwendolyn Trail, Rowena Burch, Frances Hendrix, Edileen Landingham, Wanda Lea Logan.

Commercial Department

The members of the Commercial Department put the results of their study into actual practice. The bookkeeping classes collect and credit all money for contests, programs, and senior accounts. From the advanced shorthand classes, students gain valuable experience as secretaries to members of the faculty.

Certificates and pins are given as awards in the first and second year classes for accuracy in dictation and transcription in shorthand, and for accuracy and speed in typing.

East Shops

Under the instruction of Mr. Clark B. McClure, boys may learn useful trades such as cabinet making, pattern making, and others that deal with woodworking. This year the biggest project in the woodshop was the making of model airplanes. Models have been made of all the principal types of planes being used in the present war. Cedar chests are also popular projects. Pattern making has come into more prominence this year than ever before because of its vital relation to defense industries. Boys who wish to go into the field of cabinet making as a vocation can get much valuable experience and training from the woodshop.

Such important trades as forging, sheet metal, art metal, machine work, metal spinning, foundry work, and jewelry, are taught by Mr. Roy M. Carter, metal shop instructor. Linnus Cook and Burris Taggart have made jigsaw machines which Mr. Carter believes are as good as can be made anywhere. In the present world situation there is a great demand for young men who are skilled in metal craftsmanship.

Our government, in these defensive and offensive times, is placing a special emphasis on the practical arts. And with this awakening, our industrial machine is realizing an actuality in the shortage of draftsmen. With a record enrollment of nearly two hundred students in drafting, taught by Mr. Ralph Tiefel, it would be well to evaluate the courses so that all may better understand what the student does in this work. In the first year of drafting, lettering technique, orthographic drawings, geometric problems, working drawings and auxiliary projections involving mental reactions with hand techniques, are closely correlated as the basic groundwork for the fundamental practice and continuing of problems in blue printing. The advanced courses deal with problems in sheet-metal, layouts, picture drawing, machine design, and architectural design. Since the courses in drafting are flexible, they may involve immediate problems of the day as witnessed by such projects as the bread basket bomb, firing power of aeroplane guns, tire defense for your car, aeroplane drawing, and many others in the process of design.

Easter Assembly

The Easter concert by the a cappella choir was one of the most inspiring programs of the year. The program, which included choral numbers, quartets, and solos, was directed by Miss Clausen. A fitting close to the assembly was the singing of Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus" by the combined chorus classes.

Cafeteria

In the spotless, spick-and-span kitchen, there is a place for everything and everything is in its place. Excellent cooks make our food sanitary as well as tasty.

Students and teachers alike file past the lunch counters in an orderly fashion to choose their menus for the day.

Over the girls' lunch tables many confidences are exchanged daily.

Mr. Bryan lunches with faculty members in the teachers' dining room.

There doesn't seem to be much trouble in obtaining service with all the assistance from behind the lunch counters.

The candy counter is one of the busiest sections of the cafeteria. During the height of the rush, Mrs. Romine lends a hand.

Mrs. Romine is the general in the cafeteria—a very efficient one, too. Besides doing her best to see that the students get a well-balanced meal, she often gives her aid to parties and banquets in the cafeteria.

The students eat in three shifts. There are five hundred students in each shift.

MRS. FRANCES ROMINE

Home Defense—Building Maintenance

There are two principal divisions in the care and maintenance of the building: the custodial division, headed by Mr. William Shelley, and the engineering division, with Mr. Jesse DeMoss. Mr. Shelley has been at East High since the opening in 1926, and with the Board of Education about thirty years. He spent two years at old Central High, which is now Junior College, and then thirteen years at Northeast High. Then East high school was launched and he was asked by Mr. Nowlin, our former principal, who also came from Northeast, to come here.

The teachers throughout the building depend upon the custodians for their supplies. Like any other large organization with a lot of equipment, this division takes an inventory once a year. Mr. Shelley is assisted by a competent crew made up of Mr. Dixon, who has been at East almost as long as Mr. Shelley; Mr. Walker and Mr. Schwartz, who have been here eight years; Mr. Harris and Mr. Carter, with four years at East.

Mr. DeMoss of the engineering department is in charge of all mechanical equipment. He has been with the Board of Education since 1922. Before that he served as United States Deputy Marshal in the Western District of Missouri. He first learned engineering in the Navy during the first World War; then he attended Finlay Engineering School.

Others who have worked here are Mr. Jarman, who was engineer when the school opened in 1926; Mr. Barton and Mr. Hale.

Upper: Mr. DeMoss, Mr. Shelley.

Lower: Mr. Walker, Mr. Harris, Mr. Palmquist, Mr. Schwartz.

Acknowledgments

It would be impossible to give enough thanks to those persons who spent their time and efforts in making this 1942 Eastonian a success. With their worthy effort it was possible to record in this book, the record of the 1941-42 school year. The Eastonian staff wish to express their profound gratitude to the following persons, without whose help the publication of this book would have been impossible: Mr. Harold Dew of the Holland Engraving Company, who helped plan the book; Mr. Earl Smith and Mr. Bill Harris of the Smith-Grievens Printing Company; Mr. and Mrs. James Haines and our own Mr. Grube for the photography; Miss Crawford and her staff for the art work; Miss Baker and her assistants for the financial and sales; Mr. Nichols, editorial; and all members of the faculty and students who so graciously supported our Eastonian.

Again to those who donated their untiring efforts we can only say, with great appreciation, "THANKS."
