things as they are
and say,
why?”*

why not?”*

to anyone who has ever had a dream . . .

*Man woke one dawn from his bed of peaceful dreams to a dark world far removed from his hopes — and wondered
'Why?'*

*Since that morning,
man has turned dreams
into reality.
He has built nations,
communities and schools
by not allowing dreams to crumble — by believing they would be realized and wondering
'Why not?'*

(Photo courtesy Smithsonian Institute)

*Two hundred years ago, men proclaimed freedom for America
because they dared to ask why not.
They gave birth to a nation whose dreams one day reached into space.
As in Viet Nam,
there have been times
when these dreams haven't seemed to exist.*

*Can the hopes of our forefathers ever become complete reality?
'Why not?'*

In 1889, John Anderson looked out over the rich land of northwestern Missouri, what he saw became the banner of this community.

*Guided by dreams,
John Anderson's hopes became sweat, and the aspirations of others became hard work.
Dirt roads became asphalt highways and a rural farm community gave birth to a city.*

*A community,
much like any other,
that has asked its leaders
'Why?'*

*The town of Anderson's vision provided a home for young Harry Truman; from a childhood on a small farm, he took his hopes and aspiration for a nation to the White House
Where he asked
'Why not?'*

*G. H. S. class of '44—farm boys with slicked down hair and pretty country girls
in Sunday dresses.
Many walked ten miles
to a small brick school housing grades one through twelve.*

From these graduates of a country school came a dream that laid the foundation for a modern high school that could accommodate over 1500 students.

G. H. S. students, 1924.

*Some students of the past have gone into the world having their hopes dissolve before them
and wondering
'Why?'*

*Others have maintained their dreams
despite the pressures.
We can only hope that Grandview High has helped to shape us in such a way that we are able to say
'Why not?'*

*A nation—
A community—
A school—
All sprouting
from the seeds of dreams.
Our own dreams are yet to be planted in the soil of reality
so we no longer
need to question
'Why?'*

*Can we cultivate our dreams, help them grow firm and strong, and make for a better world
'Why not?'*

Dear Jacki:

I just wanted to express my appreciation to you and your fellow students for choosing a quotation from my brother, Senator Robert Kennedy, as the theme for your yearbook.

When my brother Bob said this, he meant that we all must concentrate on what is possible; that questioning in itself is not enough. We must reach out and seek others--help those in need, comfort those in distress, reassure those lacking in confidence, and allow each man and woman, regardless of color, creed or economic status, a life of dignity and hope.

Senator Robert Kennedy felt a genuine affection for and commitment to the young people of our Nation. And that is why it is particularly meaningful to me and my family that you have chosen his words as the inspiration for your yearbook theme.

May I close by expressing my best wishes to the graduates of Grandview Senior High School and all the readers of THE BULLDOG '76.

Sincerely,

Ted Kennedy

To Serve...

For the past eleven years, Mr. Zumwalt has provided our school with his custodial services. He began working for our school district 13 years ago at Belvidere Elementary School, and will retire the last day of December.

"Phil Zumwalt has done an excellent job as head custodian of our school. Our building has been consistently clean and Phil was always willing to do the little extra that needed to be done. I will miss the daily personal association which I had with him, and I know that everyone will miss his outstanding services," commented Mr. Downing.

We all appreciate his dedication and concern for the betterment of our school.

Seniors consider soph float victory

"At least we have our unique way. That is never winning a float contest. It's nice to be a part of it anyway. I don't think it makes much difference in winning or losing--it's just the fun of competition."--GORDON SCOTT

"With just a little more time and effort we could have taken first place every year."--ED DELFOSSE

Seniors react to position as leaders

"I have found that even without talking to the sophomores and juniors some of them resent us as seniors. I mean there has always been the talk of the big war between the seniors and sophomores but actually there isn't. But as the year goes on I have found that some of my best friends are sophomores."--

Probe of CIA and FBI may harm

"Not necessarily. If they get the people out of these agencies that caused the problems in the first place it might make things better. But people will be less likely to trust anyone from these agencies." --
SHERRY BOWMAN

"The proper actions of such agencies should be a responsibility accepted by the agencies themselves and it is indeed a sad situation if they are not capable of handling it. Checking on them appears necessary --perhaps we should just take extra care to be impartial and fair in our judgements, not putting the functions of those agencies in jeopardy." --JODY BURKE

Senior males add to increased spirit

"At times I feel as if it wasn't for some of the guys our spirit rating wouldn't be as high." --HAL BROWER

"I think it's great. The spirit seems shared and besides, they've got bigger mouths than we do." --GISELE CHAPMAN

"It makes the game even more exciting and I think it really affects the team when they know so many people are behind them." --KATHY CUMMINGS

"It makes the ones not in sports involved more. There seems to be more turnout for the games than in previous years. The Pep Club and spectators don't seem to mind and maybe they even enjoy it." --SCOTT HUNT

"Usually I don't notice the noise, but this year you couldn't help but notice it. It's encouraging to know the people in the stands are excited about the game." --DEREK DONOVAN

Students evaluate Patricia Hearst

"I think she joined on her own. It seemed strange they singled her out of all the other rich people to take. She didn't seem too eager to get back home either. It seemed to me she had changed completely from how she was described to be before she was taken." --CINDY POTTER

"At first I think she was taken against her will, but after ransom was paid, I think she decided to stay with them on her own." --SHARON COGGINS

"I think in the end she was all for the SLA. I don't think she was brainwashed into joining them." --JULIE KONON

Cliques evoke varied responses

"Cliques can be both good and bad. The bad cliques leave people out and many times those people will feel bad. But some cliques are good because they allow the people within the group to feel like they have lots of friends and that they are not left out. They know that they will always have friends there that they can rely on." --DEBBIE WAYLAND

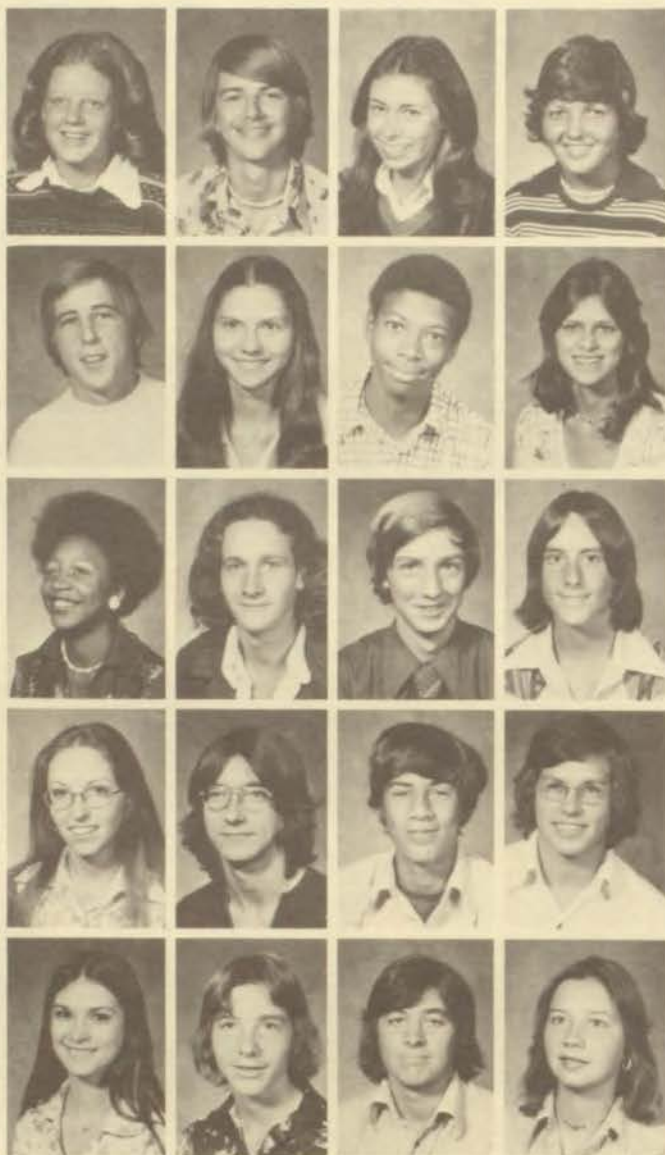

"Every school has cliques. It would be better if schools did not, but I have nothing against them. The main problem with cliques is that they limit the people who are in them to the number of people they know. It hurts them because they are not able to meet others. Sometimes a person within a clique may want to meet other kids who their friends do not approve of, and therefore they are afraid of what their friends might think. Cliques tend to put a lot of peer pressure on others." --KELLY MCMAHAN

"It's not fair to the parents. There's no way Karen Quinlan can be helped but if the doctors want to keep on trying then more power to them. I wouldn't ever give up faith." --KATHY SHIRK

"I don't think anyone should be kept alive if it means being illiterate. Besides, she said once before that if she had to be kept alive by machines she would rather they pull the plug than have to live that way." --LESLIE BRENT

"I am totally against it. What is it doing any good keeping Karen Quinlan alive? She is not useful to society nor can she be taught and educated. If I was not useful or could not be aware of what was going on I would rather be dead." --VIKKY HINSEN

OLD TIMERS

A chance to do your own thing

Minicourses were established at Grandview High School three years ago. The reason for the institution of this program was, as principal Mr. McCrary said, "to give students an opportunity for change in the routine schedule."

A new dimension was added to the minicourse program this year with eight courses being taught by students. Among the student-taught subjects were: "Horse Talk," taught by Annette Turnbaugh; "Fashion Design," by Tammie Brooks; "All That Jazz," Randy Weinstein and Kevin Alumbaugh; and "Beginner Percussion," by Rex Filion.

(3) Mr. Madison demonstrates in the course "Ham Radio Operation." (4) Darrell Marks looks up from his game of "Bridge." (5) Students concentrate on their choice, "Backgammon." (6) "Beginning Guitar" offers a chance to experiment under Mr. Endicott's direction.

Work on the BULLDOG '76 began at the beginning of the summer. Since that time we have spent many hours developing a theme, looking for new ideas, and working on actually putting the book together.

Striving to put out a successful yearbook is a full-time job for any staff, even more so for an inexperienced staff who must do essentially all the work outside of school time.

Our main goal for this book was to show a real picture of G. H. S. in 1976, whether it's being read now or 15 years later.

We just hope that our efforts will prove to be worthwhile, and the yearbook will serve to remind you of G. H. S. and your part in 1976.

SPIRIT

Grandview BULLDOG SPIRIT is the official news publication of Grandview High School; it is affiliated with both Quill and Scroll and the Missouri Interscholastic Press Association.

This year the Spirit took on new dimensions, as it was changed from a six-page newspaper format to a 12-page magazine.

1975-76 also marked the addition of a page featuring student body reaction (Feedback) as well as a regular column written by various school leaders (Insights).

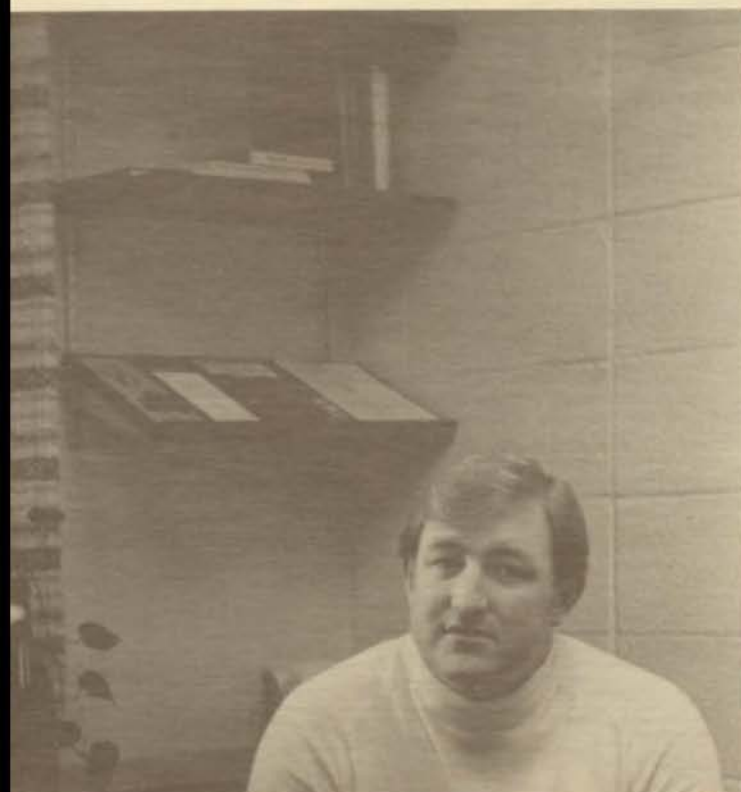

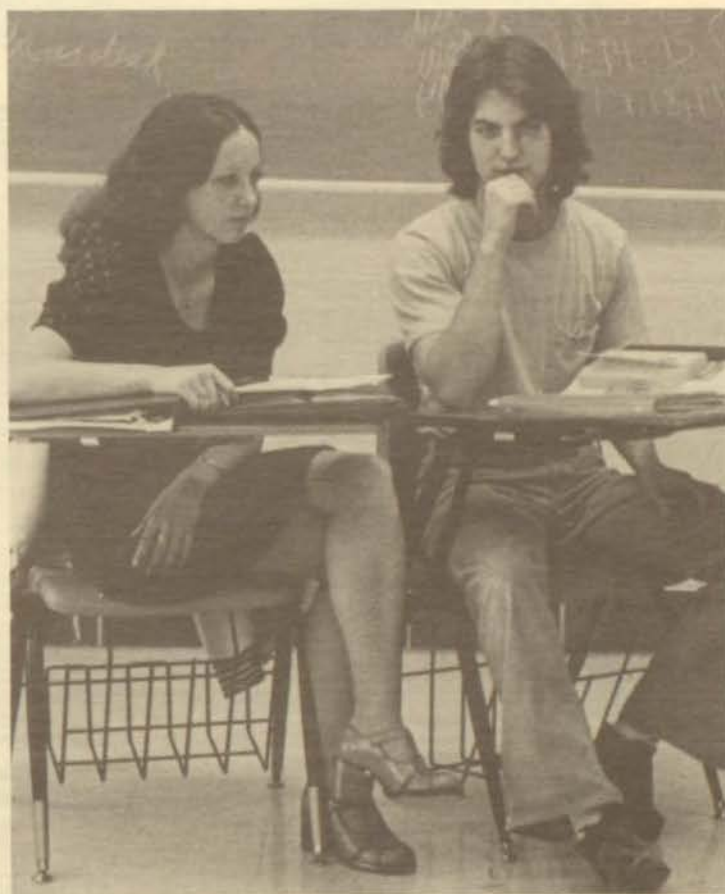

Heading the staff was Eric Fawks, editor in chief; Randy Weinstein, co-editor.

STUDENT COUNCIL attempts to establish a closer relationship between the student body and faculty, promote the welfare of the school, and build up student interest in school activities.

Among the wide spectrum of activities STUDENT COUNCIL was involved in this year were: the annual blood drive; sponsorship of foreign exchange student Kasper Oveson; the preparation of the Christmas Dance; and the sponsorship of a needy family for Christmas.

STUDENT ADVISORY BOARD, an organization of all club presidents and school editors, attempts to define the student/faculty relationship by advising the administration of the student viewpoint.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY and QUILL AND SCROLL are not primarily participatory organizations. Their main purpose is to recognize outstanding students.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY members are chosen by the faculty on the basis of their grades, involvement in school activities, and good citizenship.

QUILL AND SCROLL members are chosen by the school publications sponsor and the national organization for their outstanding achievements in the field of high school journalism. Members must also be in the upper one-third of their class.

PEP CLUB'S designated purposes are to support athletic events, promote good sportsmanship, encourage wholesome school spirit, and promote a cooperative spirit between the student body, faculty, and administration.

Of the above, PEP CLUB was most effective in promoting good sportsmanship. This was reflected in the fact that GHS was rated number one for sportsmanship in the Middle-Six Conference, during the fall season.

Aside from cheering at many of the games, PEP CLUB also sponsored the Junior-Senior Powderpuff game, the Homecoming Dance, and a spring banquet for its members.

Once again the G. H. S. CHEERLEADERS came out on top by bringing home a total of 10 blue ribbons and the "spirit stick" from the National Cheerleaders Association Camp this summer.

The girls became a very close group through their many hours of practice and support. Their spirit is inforced further through their efforts to plan pep assemblies, decorate halls and by supplying locker signs.

Cheerleader Debbie Gagne expressed her feelings by saying, "It took alot of hard work and took up alot of time, but, it's been a really fun year."

GIRLS' LETTER CLUB

LETTERMANS CLUB is composed of all school athletes who have earned, or are working towards, a Varsity or Junior Varsity letter.

LETTERMEN help to encourage and foster a spirit of harmony and cooperation between all persons engaged in any school athletic contest or event. They also identify with programs and activities which promote the welfare of high school athletics.

All initiates are subject to a program of constructive work, prescribed by the executive committee, which may consist of helping to control crowds at basketball games or sweeping up the basketball court.

Do

MOTION INCORPORATED expresses school spirit by performing dance routines during half-times of football and basketball games.

Many have commented on how well the group performs. The grace with which they execute their routines is, as one student put it, "truly remarkable." This recognition came as a result of a great deal of practice. Though they have fun, members realize that excellence is not gained through only good times, but rather through enthusiasm and hard work.

Practices are held at least four mornings a week, beginning at 7:15 and ending sometime prior to the beginning of the school day.

VICA and DECA build

DECA and VICA are the cooperative work/study programs within the school curriculum. Both help teach the skills of, and involve students intensively in the business world.

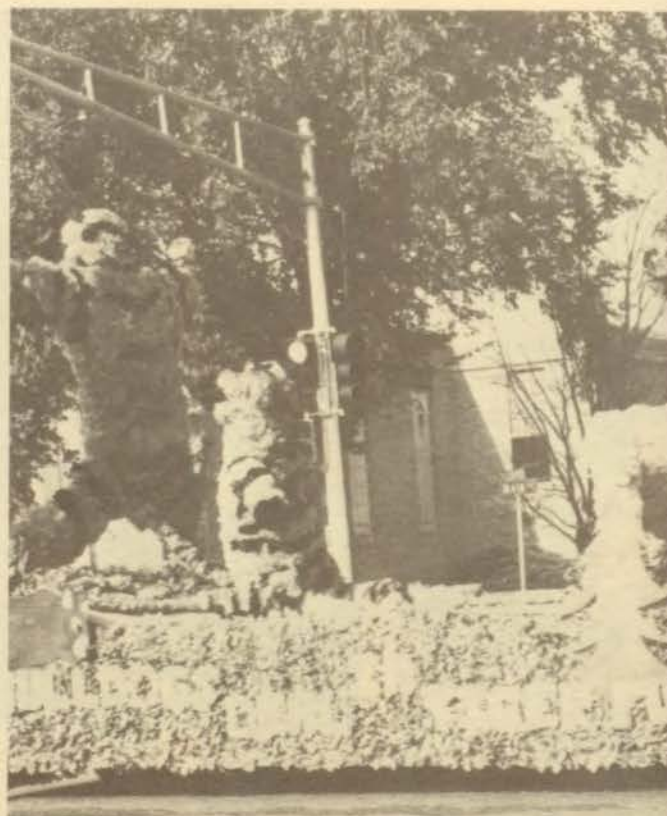

DECA's program requires students to take three to four hours of classes a day, and then leave for their respective jobs.

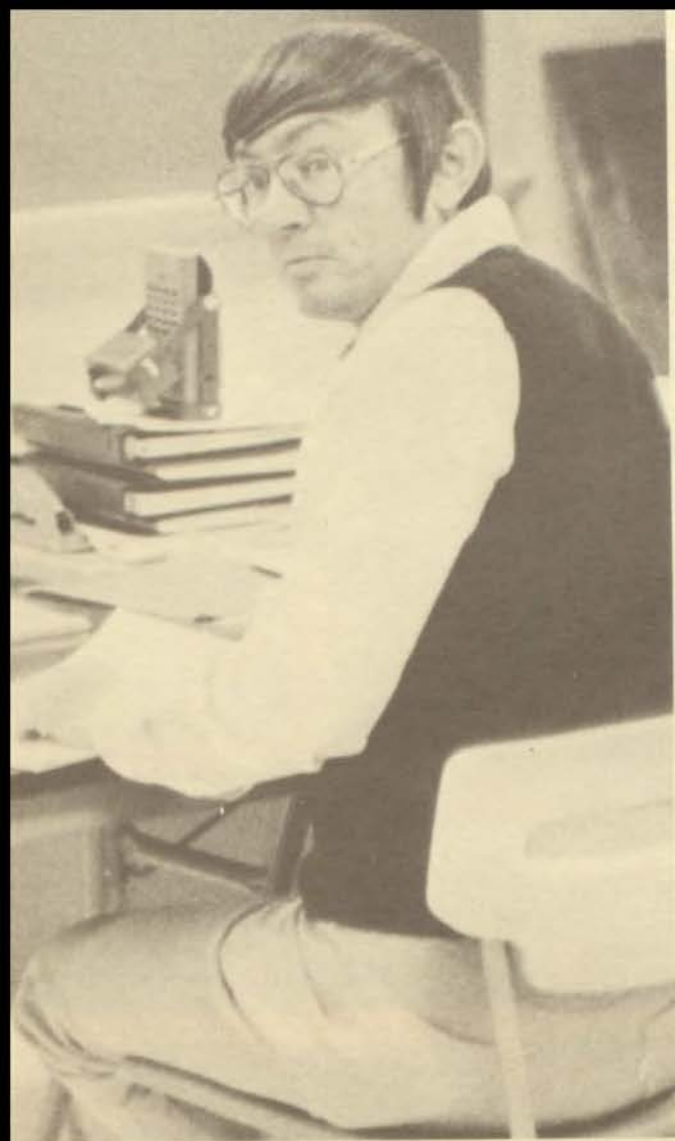

VICA students follow a similar program, but their jobs involve vocational work.

In both cases, students are given an opportunity to seek out their personal interests and realize their own capabilities.

Members not only participate in club-related activities, but serve other school organizations as well by providing such services as T-shirt printing and sign painting. During the course of the year, ART GUILD brought in professional and student artists for demonstrations.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB gives its members a basic knowledge of how to print and develop black and white film. The club also makes an effort to introduce members to new and innovative photographic techniques.

Concentration is the key word in chess. That is exactly what members of the GHS CHESS CLUB are good at: concentrating.

Members play among themselves and also represent Grandview at various tournaments involving players from other schools.

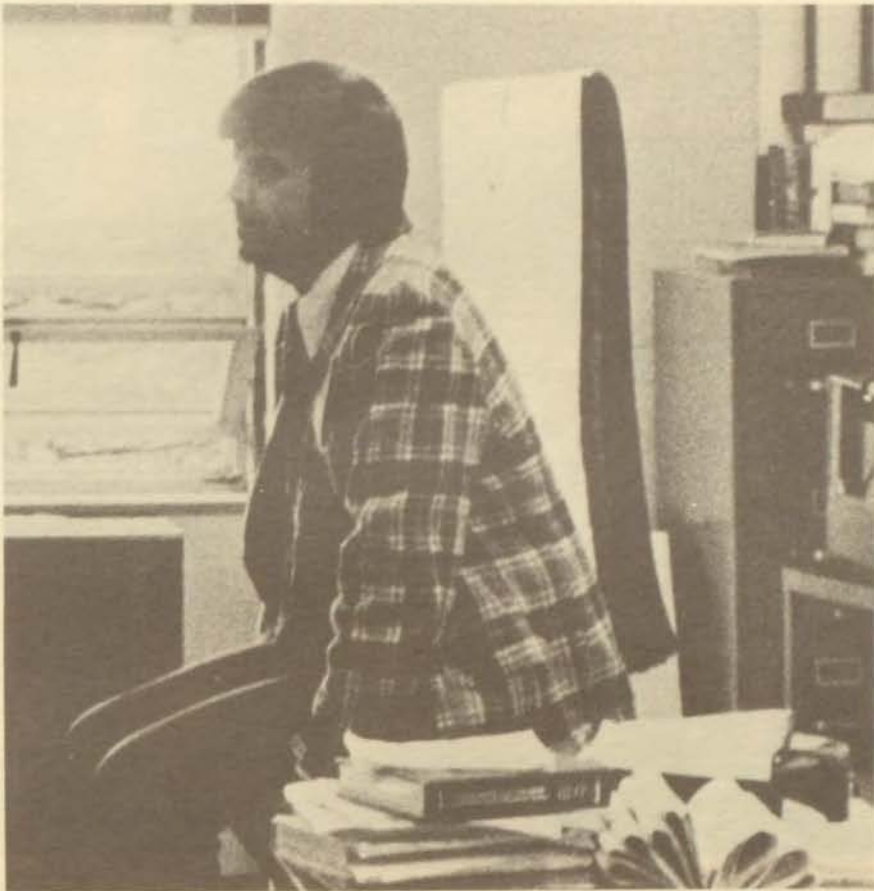

Members of the Chess Club numbered about ten this year. Sponsor of the club is Mr. Le Hedstrom, social studies instructor at GHS.

AUDIO-VISUAL CLUB members are also interested in concentration, but in a different way. This club's members devote their time to maintaining and operating the school's audio-visual equipment. Mr. Reynolds is the sponsor.

MATH/SCIENCE CLUBS

MATH and SCIENCE CLUBS were created to extend both programs beyond what could be done in the classroom for those more deeply interested in these subjects.

SCIENCE CLUB members concentrated on such projects as the setting up of a recycling center and the dissection of sharks.

Citing goals of the MATH CLUB, Patrick Handley, sponsor, felt that the primary purpose of the organization was to, "Promote more enthusiasm for, and appreciation of, mathematical concepts."

By participating in different games and deciphering puzzles, members found that mathematics could be enjoyable as well as useful.

Aiding in the running of GHS is a concern of the members of the KITCHEN, OFFICE, COUNSELORS' STAFFS and LIBRARY CLUB.

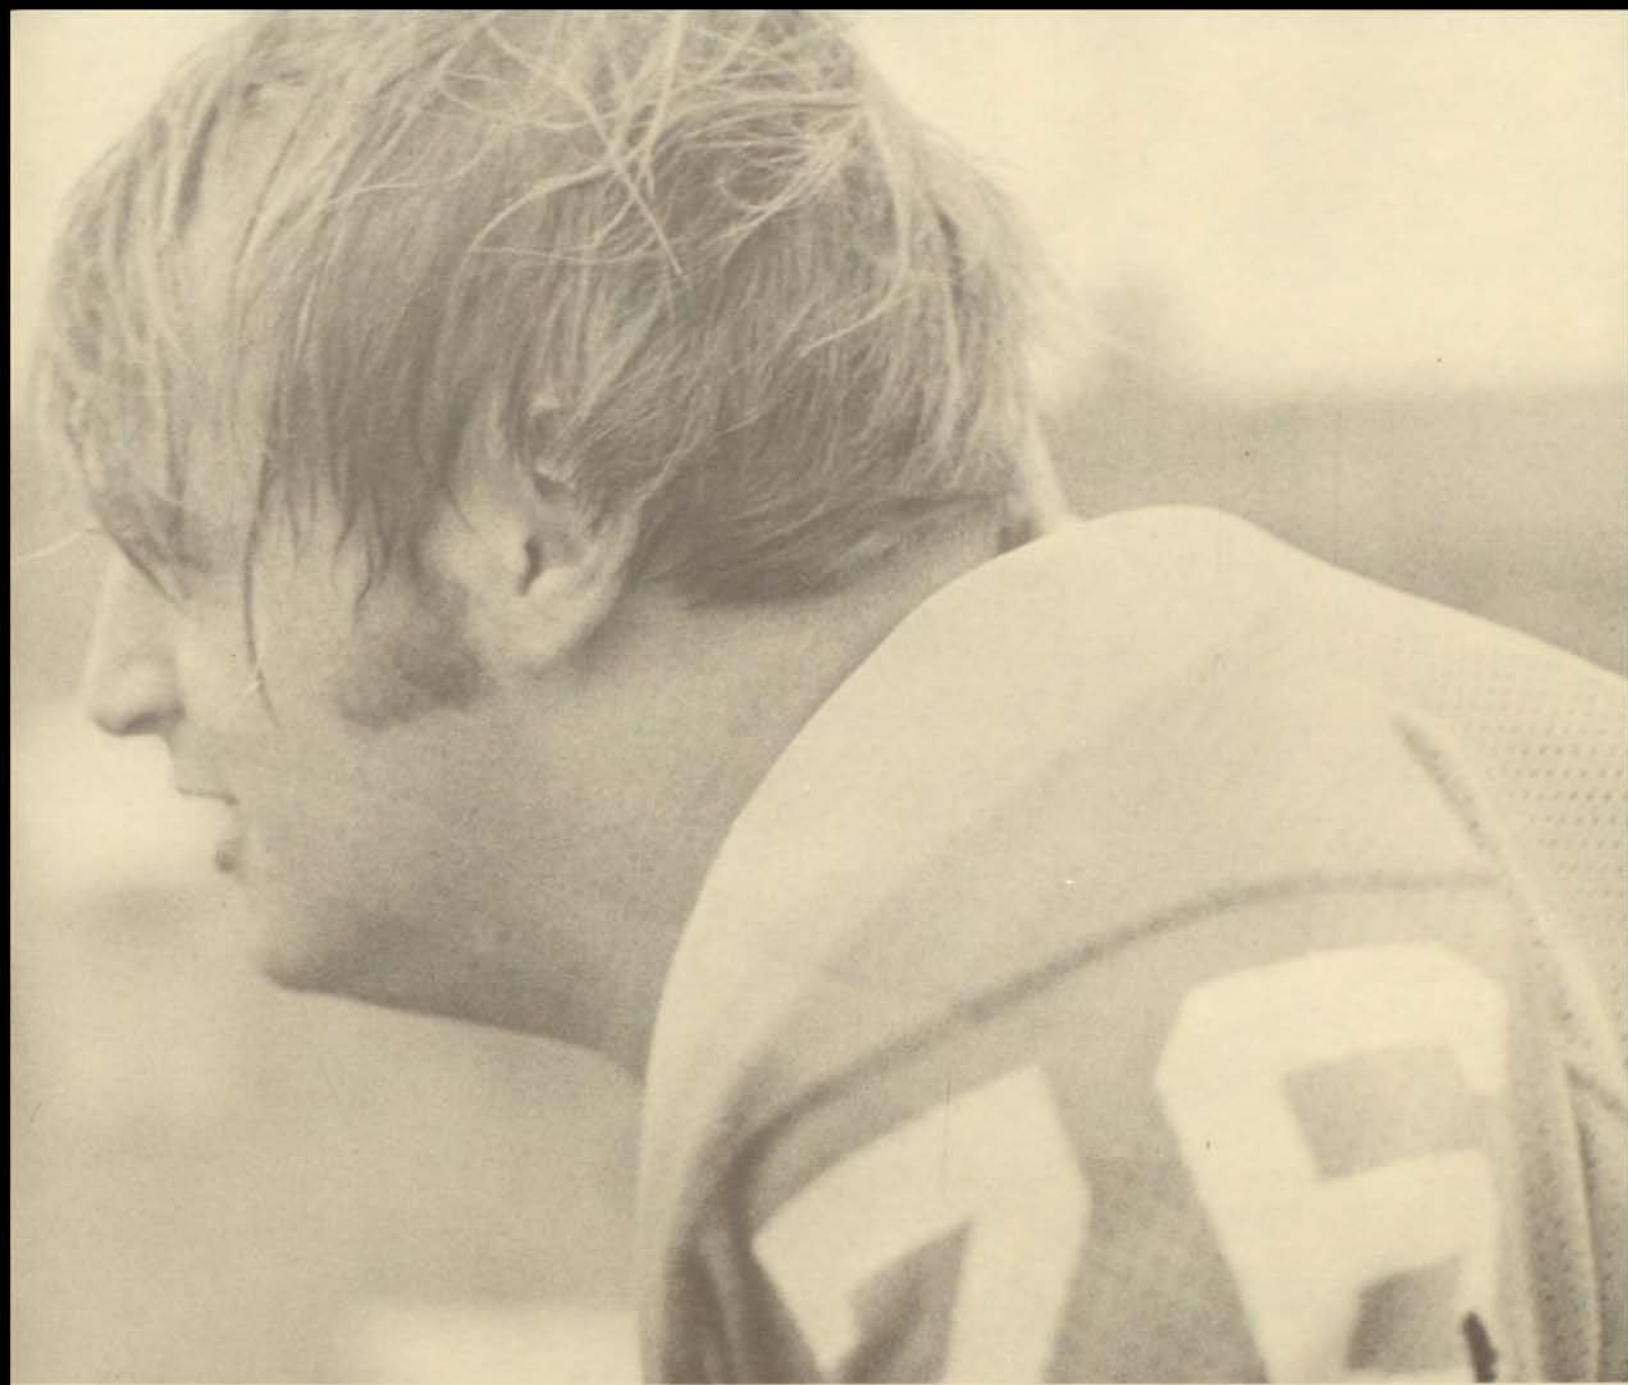

Running errands, contacting students, doing paperwork, and generally enabling the entire operation to flow a little smoother, these students work hard.

Often overlooked, the many students on these staffs perform many necessary functions and are a vital part of the structure at GHS.

Pride included in team success theory

Coach of the cross country team, Wallace Croy, said of his sport, "Cross country incorporates more actualities of life than any other sport. There are days when things will go good, and days when things will go bad, but you must proceed in any and all types of circumstances."

Coach Croy categorized the characteristics of a successful runner as; "setting a reachable goal, dependability, determination, moralistic, willingness to incorporate running as part of everyday living, having the ability not to give up, and taking extreme pride in what he's doing."

Senior David Combs stated, "I wouldn't be out for cross country without enjoying the challenge."

In that race, Jeff Markt ran fifth, Jeff Arbuckle seventh, David Combs ninth, and Keith Smith and Terry Boxx tenth and eleventh.

In conference, Grandview placed third while in their final meet of the season, the Missouri AA meet, the Bulldogs finished tenth.

Coach fields G.H.S. victory

When the G. H. S. football season started, all the Bulldogs had to do to live up to expectations was win six games and take fourth place in the newly joined Middle Six Conference.

After it was all over, Grandview had one of their finest football teams ever, finishing with an 8-2 record and an undefeated conference championship. In addition, the Bulldogs ended the year with a seven game winning streak.

The Bulldogs fielded one of the best defensive units in their history allowing but 63 points all year, while the offense was one of the most potent in the area, averaging over 23 points a game.

Bulldogs named "All Everything"

The Bulldogs success this year is reflected by the awards they received.

Ray Miller was the outstanding defensive end and was placed on the first team, All-Metro defense for his performance.

Teammates Mark Merryfield and Mike Marinan were second team tackle and nose guard while Jeff Gauntz was an honorable mention running back.

Grandview's All-District selections were Miller, Marinan, and punter Darrell Marks.

The 16 All-Conference honors G. H. S. received included Coach Bob Tavernaro as Coach of the Year.

Streak ends : sophs win again

Posting a winning 6-1-2 record, the sophomores ended their season with what was, for many of the team members, the end of a four year winning streak. The players from East Junior High, who had an undefeated three year record in football, combined talents with West to form a squad that downed such powerful teams as Rockhurst, N.K.C., and Lee's Summit.

Reflecting upon the successful season, Defensive Tackle Brian Pond stated, "We had some really good workers this year, and we should be able to use them to help out the Varsity squad next year."

Serving up another winner

This year tennis girls had a 7-3 record while placing third in the Middle Six Conference, with a 3-2 showing.

Kim Cattle was the number one singles player, compiling a 9-1 mark. The number two and three players were usually Celeste Seward and Vicki Dawson while the remaining girls teamed up for doubles competition.

J. V. finished their season with a 6-4 mark. Although no district match was held they played a big role in winning it by cheering their teammates on. All playing for the first time in a competitive situation, the girls showed a great deal of potential.

Net program : girls improve

Varsity Volleyball team finished with 4-11 record showing great improvement while J. V. ended with a 6-5 record.

"After moving up in to a tougher conference we started slow but got better as each game went along," commented coach Brenda Baker.

Although, only winning four games, their competitive play resulted in many close games providing fans an exciting volleyball style.

Enthusiasm and determination followed Grandview's girls' basketball team throughout the season, and over-shadowed their lack of experience.

Completing the season with a conference record of three wins and seven losses, the Varsity team came through with a conference standing of fourth place.

For many girls this was their first time to play basketball outside of phys. ed. class. This was particularly true for the J. V. team, who, with this factor plus a height disadvantage, put up a tough fight and ended the season with a 2-8 record.

Season totals up best in years

1975-76 was one of the best seasons ever for Grandview basketball. Coach Ron Zimmerman's Bulldogs won their first five games of the season, won the Grandview Invitational Tournament, and were ranked in the area through the first part of the season.

Further evidence of this years success, outside of the Bulldog's outstanding showing in the new, bigger conference, would be the caliber of the schedule played. The schedule, one of the toughest in recent years, included games with four Big Six schools against whom Grandview fared well.

Close games see victory and defeat

The play of this years team was marked with excitement, hustle, and outright talent not commonly seen in the same team.

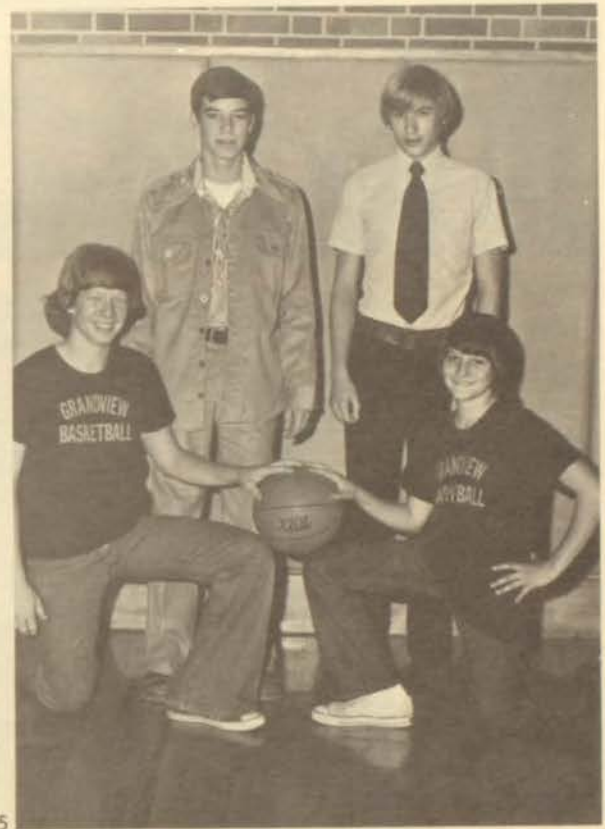

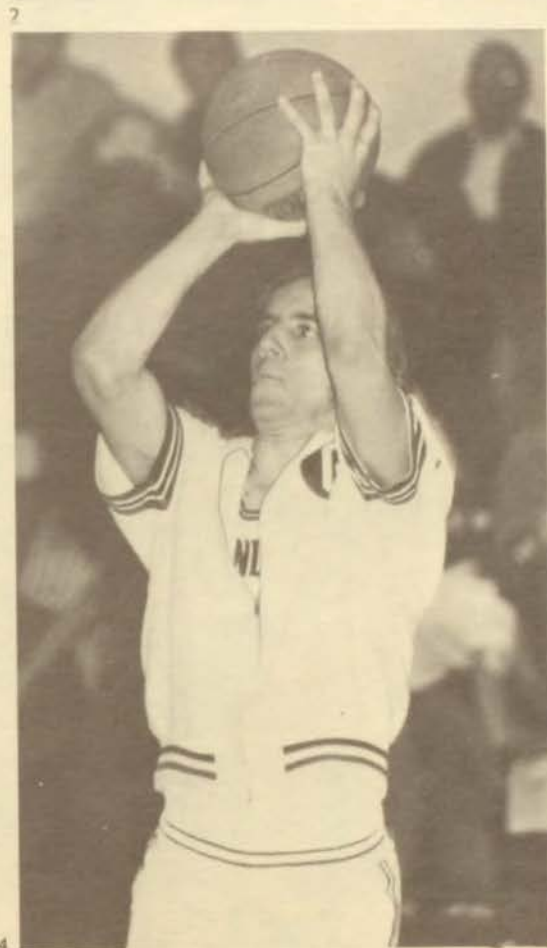

Losses averaged approximately five points while wins of one and two points were fairly common.

Talent on the team started with 6'8", All-Metro center, Tom DeMaio.

Rod Simmons and Derek Donovan both averaged in double figures in scoring and rebounding while Bryan Shelton and Steve Takacs ran the offense through with their polished ball handling skills.

JV carries out winning objectives

Both the Sophomore and Junior Varsity teams had outstanding seasons this year, winning twice as many games as they lost.

J. V. Coach Don Earnest and Sophomore Coach Jim Beckner did competent jobs in winning ball games while their primary objectives were to adapt the underclassman to the varsity system and to teach fundamentals.

J. V. standouts were Tom Chiarelli, Robert Cannon, and Sherman Walley, while the outstanding sophomores, were Jon Blossom, Rick Shepard, Curt Mader, and Bret Beasley.

Grapplers finish irregular record

Wrestlers this year had an irregular season but still managed to have a good deal of success.

Typical of the Bulldogs inconsistency was their win in the Ray-South Quad in December compared to their last place conference finish in February.

Behind Mark Merryfield's first place finish, John Coyle's second place showing, and the third place efforts of David Botts and Jeff Taylor, Grandview finished fifth in the District tournament hosted at Grandview.

Desire overrides team's lack of depth

Last year, Grandview had one of their best track teams ever, setting several G. H. S. records, winning conference indoor and outdoor championships, and having several outstanding individuals.

This year Coach Wallace Croy returns 16 lettermen from last year's squad, including some of the more successful participants.

The team this year did not have the depth it had last year, but compensated for this with good leadership and desire.

Coach Croy, while not wishing to make predictions, feels some Bulldogs are good enough to go to state this year.

Coach Croy trains boys to compete

Track, being another individual sport, takes especially hard work from each participant. The 15 meets competed in seemed like nothing compared to the long practices every day.

The job of motivating these performers to do their best belongs to Coach Croy and his assistants Ron Zimmerman and Rudy Wichman.

Coach Croy, explaining his coaching philosophy, said, "My coaching philosophy is to train each individual to compete most nearly to his God given abilities and to find the event that he can do best in."

Tracksters work hard to be successful

Like any sport, track takes a lot of hard work in order to be successful. Junior KEITH SMITH reflected on that saying, "Practices are hard and take up a lot of time, but in the end it's worth it."

Other track team comments were:

"I hate to run, but I like medals," JEFF GAUNTZ.

"Runners hassle us weight men for not working but I'd like to see them go through our workouts," MARK MERRYFIELD.

Defense appears strong team asset

Highlighting this year's baseball season was the return of six letterman from last year's team. Those varsity players expected to lead the team through their new conference were: Jerry Johnson, Brett Adams, Glen Griffin, Dan Vaughn, and Waylon Davis.

Coach Bob Smith felt that the defense could be the teams strong points but that hard work could improve the offense and solidify the defense.

Coach Smith went on to say that participating in an extracurricular activity is a privilege but that self-discipline and personal sacrifices are important aspects of involvement.

Returning golfers promise success

Mark Hayes, Greg Hastings, and Alex Yelencs are Coach Bob Tavernaro's returning lettermen hoping to bring success to GHS's golf squad this spring.

Also helping the team during the 13 meets, district, and conference tournament schedule, were returning JV lettermen Mark Clark, Rob Link, and Jay Tomlinson.

Golf has different effects on its participants. Coach Tavernaro feels golf has a great carry over value for a lifetime activity, while Mark Hayes feels, "Golf has done more for me, all around, than any other undertaking in my life."

Girls' experience adds team incentive

Nine girls' track meets were run this year before, as Coach Gealdine Zirbel puts it, the big ones were run.

Coach Zirbel explained, saying, "We will compete as a team with individuals contributing to the team score. This year we had more meets and with more different schools. This helped prepare us for conference, district, and state finals."

Junior Donna Brinkoetter assessed the track season when she commented, "If everyone did their best, there's no way we can say that we lost-- we actually gained by our experience."

This year the staff of the BULLDOG '76 wanted to try a new idea in the advertising section, using pictures of nearly every advertiser. Trying to get as many students in these pictures as possible, we would have liked to have included many more. Next year, the staff will try to make the section even better.

We on the staff think this new format is much nicer looking and will encourage more people to read through the ad section. Most of the merchants have been very co-operative with us, while taking pictures and arranging their ads. We are very grateful to these people for their support of our book.

Our sponsor, Mrs. Wall, has put in many long hours instructing us in how to put a yearbook together. We appreciate her help.

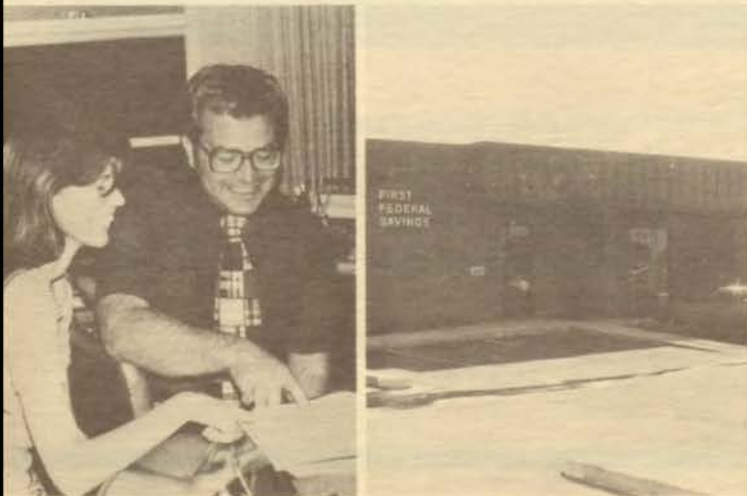

The BULLDOG '76 staff extends our sincere congratulations to all of the graduating seniors of the great bicentennial year of 1976.

was dedicated to Paul Taylor*

In the past 200 years we have experienced traumas only our nation could endure. Why only our nation? The Constitution holds us together against the buffeting and wrenching no other nation could withstand.

Now we need a rebirth of our national spirit. We need a renewed sense of purpose. We need to summon our residual courage--the courage to act, the courage to be bold, the courage to persevere, even the courage to make mistakes.

I wish Grandview High School students luck on your bicentennial yearbook.

Tom Eggleston

Dreams flutter in the secluded chambers of all souls.

*When we express them, asking:
"Why not?"
we soar on their wings, gliding towards a realization.*

May the dreams of all who strive for betterment, someday fly from the confines of flesh into the hearts and minds of others.

The Bicentennial era gives all of us an opportunity to pay tribute to our past, evaluate our present, and plan for our future. As Americans, let us work together for these goals as we commemorate the 200th birthday of our great nation.

The Seniors of Grandview Senior High School face a particular challenge in 1976. Best wishes to all of you for great success in your chosen endeavors.

Christopher A. Bond

America's Bicentennial is rich in history and in the promise and potential of the years that lie ahead.

As we lay the cornerstone of America's Third Century, your very special part in this great national undertaking is most commendable.

Sherald R. Ford

"Hold fast to your dreams ..."
