Sassy Styles

*F*irst impressions are made the moment one walks into a room. Before one their appearance is noted and their attire is surveyed. They are judged. Many students at Lee's Summit High School displayed an array of fashion during the year. From "preppy" to "new-wave," most popular and unpopular apparels were modeled.

Classical Traditions

*B*lack and gold--
The most famous tradition displayed at Lee's Summit High School was Tiger spirit itself. These traditions were exemplified in various ways. Examples were: class rings that held the name of the school, Tiger paraphernalia, and belief in the thought that LSHS achieved above the rest. L.S. Tradition! School pride!

Visits LSHS

"Hey, hey, hey, hey, George Bush, you look so good to me!" These familiar words formed the chant that welcomed Vice-President George Bush to Lee's Summit High School Oct. 7, 1988.

Amid "Let's show George our surprise" sessions, led by Sen. Bob Johnson, Moody Brothers' strains of "Take Pride in America," and other various attention-getters, Bush eventually arrived.

"For the next 32 days, I need to fight hard, I need to stand on the issues, and I need to win this election," proclaimed Bush. His needs were fully met, Nov. 8, 1988, when George Bush became the forty-first President of the United States of America.

Celebrities Appear In KC

The United States of America had a year of many successes. The nation inaugurated the new President, George Bush, and the USA dominated in the 1988 Olympics.

Kansas City experienced many exciting happenings in the near communities. The blasting of explosives was heard all through the city. The blast took six Kansas City firemen's lives. Ivan Lendl and Andre Agassi played an exhibition match at Municipal Auditorium during the month of November.

Students from LSHS met famous singers over the year. Rock singer Tiffany visited with senior Craig Bradley. Axel Rose (G-n-R), Steve Tyler (Aerosmith) and Tom Hamilton (Aerosmith) purchased sunglasses from senior Lisa Price.

The ultimate rock concert dream was held during the summer. The Monsters of Rock tour came to Kansas City on July 10, 1988. Groups from The Scorpions to Metallica performed. Many other groups stopped in Kansas City on tours: Aerosmith, Bon Jovi, Guns and Roses, Ratt, INXS, Poison, Van Halen and many others.

Homecoming

The Nightmare

As Homecoming 1988 approached, a spirit week full of various fashions and traditions led up to the weekend events. The spirit days consisted of "Dream Day" on Monday, "Freddy Takes You In a Time Warp Day" on Tuesday, "Monster Day" on Wednesday, and "Generic Day" on Thursday. All these fell under the theme, "Northmen Nightmare on Tiger Street." Friday, traditional "Black and Gold Day," students left school early to attend the parade, consisting of many examples of spirit and school participation. Although each float was worthy of praise, the senior float won first place. Despite the threat of a fall shower, the parade successfully concluded. The Homecoming victory over the Oak Park Northmen ended an eventful day. Accomplishments of the day consisted of not only the Senior class float winning first place, at the game, senior Robin Campbell was crowned queen, alongside senior Brent Stockstill as king.

Courtwarming

Paradise on Ice

Courtwarming '89 began with the theme, "Tiger Cats D-Rhyme the Pats." The week started on Monday, February 13, with "Rad, Bad, Plaid Day." The spirit week continued with "Pin to Win your Twin Day," "Soxer, Knoxer Boxer Day," "Reach for the Beach Day," and "Be Bold in Black and Gold Day." Friday afternoon at the pep assembly, senior Chad Morehead was crowned as 1989 Courtwarming King. Other activities of the pep assembly included a slam-dunk contest and the juniors winning the spirit wagon competition. The Tiger teams gained a victory over the Truman Patriots later that evening. At half-time of the boys' game, senior Brandi Hanson was crowned as 1989 Courtwarming Queen. Later that evening the dance, with the theme "Paradise on Ice," was held.

Squad places first at Wm. Jewell

Cheerleading was a year-round activity. Cheerleaders participated in camps during the summer. They were then involved in cheering for fall, winter, and spring sports. During the summer of '88, the varsity cheerleaders placed first at the Dynamic Cheerleaders Association camp at William Jewell. They also placed second in the Missouri and the Kansas City regional cheerleading coaches camp. At CMSU, in Warrensburg, the Junior Varsity cheerleaders earned a first place recognition, also.

Along with practice once a week, the cheerleaders cheered for at least three activities per week. Senior co-captain, Jodi Larson, said, "It feels good when they (the teams) win, because you've given them moral support."

The squads worked together to raise money for new uniforms. In order to do this, they passed out posters at a Kansas City Chiefs football game for funds. Although the cheerleaders raised plenty of money, their parents helped out, too.

Steve Ferguson, cheerleading sponsor, said that he looks for "...an unselfish, cooperative person." Discipline played a large part in cheerleading at Lee's Summit. The squads were also very dedicated to cheering Lee's Summit teams to victory.

W e Have It! Do You?

One of the most enthusiastic clubs at LSHS was Spirit Club. Mrs. Julie Kelley, sponsor, met twice a month with members to organize the activities and to provide support and encouragement. Mrs. Kelley worked with Mr. Tom Flint to provide the Spirit Bus, a means of transportation for students to and from games at other schools.

Besides making posters and painting banners, Spirit Club provided cookies for the football team, donated charms and flowers for the Homecoming attendants, handed out spirit sticks at games, and helped organize pep assemblies.

Spirit Club not only consisted of spirited students, but included cheerleaders, drill team, flag corps, and Tiger mascot Mark Mathis as well. Dorothy Milakovich, president; Mark Mathis, vice-president; Sean Geoghegan, co-president; Paula Shatto, secretary; Julie Duncan, treasurer; Suzi Hitchcock, historian; Julie Duncan, sponsor; and all the dedicated members of Spirit Club enhanced school spirit through their various activities.

Tigerettes

Moves with Class

Up-beat music, high kicks, and never-ending smiles were elements that made up the 1988-89 Drill Team. The Tigerettes were sponsored by Mrs. Karen Vaughn and Mrs. Karen Overbay; captains were seniors Amy Anstaedt and Julie Dahlstrom with treasurer Leigh Anne Young. Along with Friday night performances, the drill team traveled with the marching band to help add to their success at Mo-West, Carrollton, and Lafayette. In the summer of '88, the squad won first place at the NCA Drill Team camp at SMSU in Springfield. They won trophies for best home routine and outstanding captains. Tigerettes were asked to perform at the State basketball game and the NAIA men's college championship basketball game. This year the Tigerette fundraisers for new uniforms consisted of a car wash, bake sale, and tupperware party.

Marching Band

Best Band in the Business

In the 1988-89 marching season, the Golden Tiger Marching Band received top honors in three major competitions. The Grand Champion trophy went to Lee's Summit in Carrollton Band Day and Central Methodist College Band Day. They also received first place at the Missouri Western College Band Day. First semester, the band met everyday during first hour and on Thursday nights until the end of football season. They performed at all of the home football games under the direction of Mr. Jim Oliver and Mr. Herman Rekittke. The band also participated in the Music Parents Ice Cream

Social and Senior Night. The leaders played an important role in shaping the band. Senior drum major, Shawna McCarthy, and Junior drum major, Christy Flanagan, helped to lead the band in their formations during the half-time shows. Band officers included: Beth Robinson, president; Stacey O'Hara, vice-president; Andre Steinman, secretary-treasurer; Stephen Rinehart, librarian; Teresa Aytes, historian; and Merle Summers, freshman representative.

irst Place in Flag

Corps Competitions

LSHS Flag Corps was awarded first place in every competition they were judged in during the 1988-1989 school year. Mrs. Carla Oliver, Flag Corps sponsor for the fourth year in a row, helped the girls learn command of their flag poles while exercising their ability to dance. "It's the interaction with the girls I enjoyed most," Mrs. Oliver said. She said that she liked helping the corps learn to work together to achieve a common goal.

The girls began their rigorous try-outs for Flag Corps in March. They were strictly judged on their poise, ability to dance, and body carriage. They also submitted teacher recommendations. During their season, the girls were expected to maintain a recommended grade point average. During the 1988-1989 school year, Flag Corps raised money by selling suckers and having a car wash. These fund raisers were held to make money for uniforms, flags, and to provide group spirit.

Lil' Abner at LSHS

The school musical for the 1988-89 school year at LSHS was "Lil' Abner," the story of an "unnecessary" town, Dogpatch, U.S.A. The musical included a love story, humorous experiments, and even terrorizing villains.

Over one hundred forty students worked very diligently with Mrs. Phyllis Balagna to make the LSHS production of "Lil' Abner" such a hit. Rehearsals sometimes ran longer than expected after an already long school day, and they lasted a total of ten weeks.

Performance dates were November 17-20 and included a Sunday matinee, a first for LSHS. Tickets were on sale in the cafeteria and sold very well for all four performances.

"Attendance for 'Lil' Abner' was excellent," Balagna said. "Approximately 3,000 students, family members, and citizens of the community were in attendance."

H igh Ratings for LSHS Symphonies!

Contests in the state of Missouri held great rewards for the Symphony and the Symphonic Band. They held up the LSHS tradition of receiving high ratings as evaluated by judges.

The Symphony, of seventy one-members, consisted of musicians of all grades. They strived to perfect skills and develop a deeper understanding of music.

Director Russ Berlin said, "I am very proud to see the progress that kids make, and it is a privilege to perform for LSHS students."

Symphonic Band, directed by Jim Oliver, also consisted about seventy students of all grades, who were selected according to their musical ability. During the 1988-89 school year, the Symphonic Band was honored with the nomination to the National Adjudicators Invitational. This was a very prestigious award with only 200 groups in the U.S. nominated. Mr. Oliver noted that the "...people I work with and the kind of literature we get to perform makes the season most enjoyable."

Band

The Notes that Really Count

Band-band-band. Lee's Summit High School is famous for all the bands it has established throughout the years. Concert Band, directed by Mr. Herman Rekittke, was the second division of the Golden Tiger Marching Band. They played a variety of music ranging from overtures to the swing of a polka. Concert Band played at local concerts and contests all year round. Many students made District and All-Metro band and orchestras by playing selections chosen and practiced outside of class.

Varsity and Cadet bands played at Varsity football and basketball games, pep assemblies, and fall and spring concerts. These bands were directed by Mr. Jim Oliver and Mr. Herman Rekittke. Together they kept the Lee's Summit bands alive and strong to uphold their established reputation in the surrounding metropolitan areas. The Lee's Summit band members included students from grades nine through twelve.

Summit Singers

Best of the Best

Sounds of Now and Then, the show choir of Lee's Summit High School, directed by Mr. Steve Perry, was composed of 24 students, freshmen through seniors. They were accompanied by three instrumentalists. One night a week and during 5A seminar the group practiced for their performances. They represented Lee's Summit High School in Regional and National competitions. President Tim Ryan and Vice-President Matt Crosby helped to organize the group. Summit Singers were a select group of 19 students that performed throughout the year for public and private functions. Students of the group were chosen from concert choir and included both juniors and seniors. The ensemble was outfitted in tuxedos and blue evening gowns. The first annual Madrigal Feast was one of various activities in which the singers participated. The group was directed by Mrs. Carlo Oliver and met every day during 5B seminar.

Both Concert Choir and Mixed Choir met for one hour each day of the school year to improve the quality of their singing techniques, to strengthen their understanding of music theory, and to broaden their knowledge of the history and origin of many different types of choral music.

Concert Choir met fourth hour under the direction of Mrs. Carla Oliver and Mixed Choir met third hour under the direction of Mr. Steve Perry. Both choirs performed at many concerts during the school year, and Concert Choir competed at the All-

District Music Contest at CMSU in Warrensburg.

The choirs raised money for the music department by selling cheese and sausage products. The money raised went towards the purchase of music, choir robes, jackets and other necessary items. Under the direction of Mrs. Carla Oliver and Mr. Steve Perry, and accompanied by Mrs. Melissa Rausch and Mr. Christopher Lacy, both choirs received the special attention and guidance needed to be outstanding.

This year at LSHS, both Men's and Women's Choirs worked very diligently with Mr. Steve Perry and Mrs. Carla Oliver to strengthen their vocal techniques. Working together in such large groups took intense cooperation on every member's part.

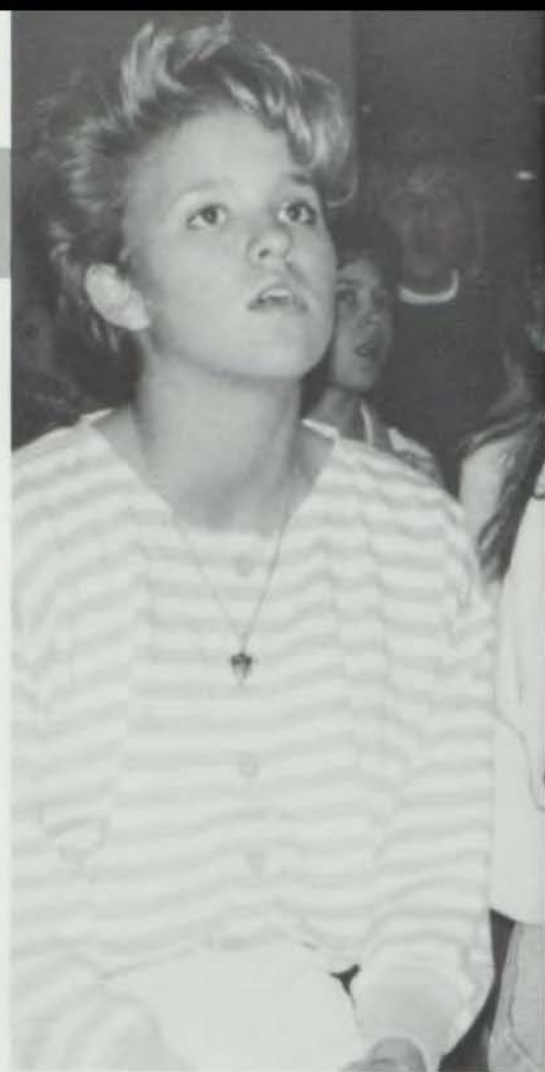

Ice Cream Social tickets were sold at the beginning of the year to raise money for the music department. The Ice Cream Social was held at Dairy Queen in Lee's Summit and featured performances from many talented groups. The members of the choirs also sold cheese and sausage products to friends, neighbors, and family members to help raise funds.

The choirs performed all throughout the school year in the Performing Arts Center, perfecting their talents for the All-District Music Contest at Warrensburg. The All-District Music Contest was held in March and included performances by choirs from many schools.

The 1989 Reflector staff was hard at work every day during first hour in the publications room at LSHS. Mrs. Toni Horne was the 1989 adviser, and Rachael Betts was the editor-in-chief. "I enjoy helping develop the creative abilities of my students," Mrs. Horne said. In this class, the staff learned the basics of putting together a yearbook. Sophomore Lara Burch, noted, "The key to a successful yearbook was cooperation among everyone."

Dedication was a key factor in putting together a good yearbook, as it was in producing a quality paper. Staff members spent hours outside of class researching their articles. Mrs. Kim Fritchie, newspaper advisor, said, "The staff needs to be committed to putting together a successful paper."

Newspaper editor-in-chief, Jill Watrous, said she enjoyed being on the staff because "...it gave me good experience, and it teaches me fundamentals of putting out a real newspaper." Staff members found if everyone works together, LSHS could continue producing a quality newspaper.

Student Council raises funds for school and community

The month of September not only brought the beginning of school for Lee's Summit students, but also the commencement of LSHS Student Council fund raisers. Money raised from activities like car washes and candy sales was used to pay for student body dance expenses and a variety of community service projects. This year, Stuco gave donations to the Sunshine House, a home for retarded children in the Kansas City area. In December, Student Council adopted a needy family to help and support during the holiday season.

In LSHS Student Council, students learned a great deal about leadership and cooperation. Mrs. Jamie Brewer, Division II Stuco sponsor, said she felt her group of young leaders did a fine job of "...serving the students as best they could." Student Council sponsored Homecoming activities, including the dance, welcomed new students to school with a breakfast, and entertained Italian exchange students on their short visit to Lee's Summit. According to Eric Nichols, Division I Stuco President, "We completed all of the objectives we set aside." Student Councils in both Divisions I and II felt their major accomplishment during the 1988-89 school year was the maintenance of clear lines of communications for all students.

Before most of the students of Lee's Summit High School had set foot inside the school building in the fall, Stuco already had participated in a lock-in. At the lock-in they not only learned about their jobs as representatives of the student body, but also much about each other. Members attended Metropolitan Leadership day where they were educated in the importance of leadership in all aspects of their lives. They learned a great deal about the important role cooperation and dedication play in making decisions, getting along with other people, and accomplishing what must be done to reach goals.

Honor Societies give students a chance to excel.

Honor societies provided opportunities for service. National Art Honor Society decorated Division II with their artwork each month. Members participated in Art Olympics in Olathe, Kansas, and a state-wide art contest. At the Elementary School Picture Day, members took some of their own artwork to explain to the children. NAHS also took artwork to the Four Winds Gallery Art Show.

The National Honor Society sponsored

many activities. In October, NHS hosted Italian students visiting the school. Later, LSHS students went to Italy to attend school there. An all-inclusive Candlelighting ceremony was written by NHS to replace the former religious program. NHS President, Andy Wells, felt that "...it's been a controversial year, but things have turned out well."

Distributive Education Clubs of America. DECA was a group of students who participated in marketing and management competitions that helped them prepare for careers of this nature. Students first competed at district levels and state levels. Some students then moved on to nationals in Orlando, Florida. The students' expenses were paid for by the proceeds from the Tiger Post. Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) were a group of students who prepared themselves for their lives after school by participating in fund raisers and service projects within the city. Also, the students participated in business competitions on district levels and state levels. The group met monthly, under the direction of Mrs. Cheryl Parris and club officers, to prepare themselves for contests.

xcellence in Forensics

Under the guidance and sponsorship of Mrs. Cheryl Bramlette, the debate team of LSHS worked very diligently throughout the year to prepare for competition. Students of the debate squad participated in such events as team debate, Lincoln-Douglass debate, extemporaneous speaking, and oratory. The debate team participated successfully in many tournaments throughout the school year. MSHSAA Districts were held at LSHS for the 1988-89 school year. Finishers in the top two of each category went on to state championships at Missouri University in Columbia. The National Forensics League districts were held at Rockhurst College and determined who competed at nationals in Colorado.

The debate squad also participated in other such event as Mock Trial and Student Congress. Mock Trial was a simulation of a previously decided case. The students took part in the positions of witnesses and lawyers. Student Congress was also a simulation of the political world. The debaters took the position of senators, congressmen and chairpersons. They were judged on the quality and content of their presentations.

Peers, Listening, Understanding, and Sharing—these elements equaled PLUS. PLUS was a group of students willing to listen to other peers as someone who related to the same stress. Members took part in a Teen Institute on October 7-8 and T.L.C. (Tender Loving Care) for sixth graders in January and February. Also, in the latter part of October the group held a lunch for all new students and presented seminar assemblies to inform students of the group's available help. For a Christmas project, they set up a shopping spree for four needy Lee's Summit families. PLUS was often used by staff members to reach out to students through a peer's viewpoint.

CFO/FCA

Caring For Others (CFO) was a group of students who took time to help the community. They performed many acts of voluntary community service work throughout the year. One activity the group did included a Christmas-in-October, where they helped with weather-stripping, painting, and yard work. They also worked with the Community Service Organization which included Lea Haven Nursing Center and Children's Mercy Hospital. CFO met one or two times monthly and was sponsored by Home Economics teachers, Mrs. Marcia Roepe and Mrs. Mary Ann Lanoue.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA) was sponsored by Mr. Jeff Diekmann and usually meet on Thursdays at 7:30 p.m. in the Div II gym. They started the year with a kick-off meeting on September 15. Chiefs football player, Gary Spani, and his wife, were guest speakers at the first meeting. FCA was a fellowship of hard-working athletes who liked to get together with other athletes and friends to discuss different problems. Members also participated in a large assortment of fun and games to work off excess stress.

Drama and International clubs add spice to life

During the 1988-89 school year, forty students were awarded letters by the Thespian/Drama Club. This year, Thespians took field trips to both C.M.S.U. and U.M.K.C. to see college plays and productions. For a fund-raiser this year, Thespians sold Tiger-paw sunglasses to the student body. Their community service project was to beautify the Performing Arts Center, especially the stage. Angela Brown, senior, said she enjoyed being in Thespians Club because, "I got to be with people that enjoy the performing arts."

International Club began the year by decorating a float for the Homecoming Parade. All activities were funded by selling pink, white, and red carnations in February for Valentine's Day. They went to restaurants with an international flavor. Vice-President of the Spanish division of 1988-89 LSHS International Club, Charlie O'Shields, said what he enjoyed most about International Club was, "...the chance to learn about and experience other cultures."

Cadet teachers went to Lee's Summit elementary and junior high schools where they were involved with many classroom activities. Cadets graded papers, assisted teachers with students who needed help, and did what the teacher could not attend to. The goal was to interest cadets in interacting with elementary and junior high school-aged children.

A lternative study programs offer variety

LSHS Vo-Tech students attended Joe Herndon Area Vocational Technical School in Raytown and Cass County Vocational Technical School in Harrisonville.

Harrisonville students attended classes on electronics, health services, and all aspects of agriculture. Classes were also available for handicapped and disadvantaged students. Joe Herndon Vo-Tech students studied similar subjects. Future cosmetologists attended Joe Herndon's West campus where they learned tools of their trade and also earned money while practicing them.

Other work-study programs were also in full swing. At LSHS, Supervised Office Experience (SOE) and Cooperative Education (COOP) students attended classes half-day and worked half-day. A new work-study program, called Risk, was installed. It was a voluntary program for students who were likely to experience difficulty in graduating. Risk students attended classes to pick up credits, and then they had a seminar with Mr. Bob White where they could receive help in areas of difficulty. It proved to be successful for LSHS students striving to graduate.

Power Plays!

The uniforms, the band, the crowds, the promises of glory... victories shared, dreams shattered- football was more than just kids play for Lee's Summit. Over a thousand parents, teenagers, and children arrived at LSHS to experience the clashing of numbers, colors, and pads as the Tigers scratched and clawed their way into Conference champs. Lee's Summit suffered their first loss of the season to Rockhurst. However, with more determination and motivation, the Tigers struck back with a six game winning streak, in which they devoured the mighty Columbia Hickman Cupies. Despite the overwhelming victory, Hickman was not the highlight of the season. "The biggest victory this year was Blue Springs because we won Conference. Our defensive line was our greatest asset," said senior Mike Hedrick.

The season came to a close and the last of the players reluctantly trotted off the field, the screaming crowd still echoing in their heads. "This season was more successful than last year because we were not expected to be very good," Mike Hedrick concluded. "But look at everything we have accomplished." The last of the fans slowly trickled out of the stands reminiscing aloud of the highlights of the successful year.

Just For Kicks!

Haub Studio

Commitment and dedication enabled Lee's Summit to kick their way to first place in district play-offs. The desire to excel and determination were key factors in the Tiger's success. "The team played very well as a unit and had a lot of determination...the never say die attitude," Coach Tim Richardson said. The soccer team had the want and the will to succeed. The Tiger's showed their skill and ability by fighting their way to the district play-offs. "The highlight of the season was winning districts for the seventh time. They won in a triple sudden death overtime," Coach Richardson said.

District Champs!

The '88 Girls volleyball team had a tough season. The team had strong victories over Hickman Mills and Oak Park. They also managed to win against Truman, whom they had not beaten in five years, twice this season. However, they never were quite consistent enough to pull off a strong winning streak. Just when everything began to look bleak, the Tiger girls won the district tournament to finish their season. "We had a hard season, but we finally pulled it together as a team with a valiant effort and won districts," junior Heather Oberrider said.

The girls were coached by Mrs. Kristie Fox, who demanded excellence and hard work. "Coach Fox made us work hard this year, and it paid off in the end," senior Kim Faler said. The Lee's Summit girls won the district tournament for the second year in a row, establishing a winning tradition for volleyball teams in the years to come.

This season was a definite improvement over past seasons.

The team started out on a four game winning streak, that enabled them to have one of their best seasons in recent years. "We improved much over last year!" junior Jill Grigsby said.

Mr. Bob White coached the girls. He stressed teamwork and commitment, and the girls improved greatly. "I feel we played together more as a team this year!" junior Kristen Lenhardt said.

The freshmen, coached by Mrs. Cathy Battles, had an excellent season, and the girls were excited about playing at the J/V and varsity levels. "I'm really looking forward to playing JV next year!" freshman Wendy Rudnay said.

High Speed

For some people, running 3.1 miles seemed like cruel and unusual punishment. For members of the Cross Country team, it was a way of life, and a glorious life it was not. No bleachers were full of cheering fans or even fight songs. All they have was their dedication to the sport and their desire to be better than everyone else.

The runners' day started after school at 3:00 with Coach Russ Childress telling the team their objectives for that day's workout and explaining to them how they could work toward performing better at the next meet. They then went on with their workout which usually consisted of either weights in the Green Building or a 4-6 mile run at Longview Lake, or worse,

Lake Jacomo. Coach Childress described this year's team as, "Young and inexperienced, but very outstanding." Led by sophomore Jason Gauert and junior Brandon Edwards, the team had a very successful season.

3.1 For The Gipper

Similar to their male counterparts, the girls' cross country team put their hearts into their workouts in order to achieve excellence in their numerous Saturday morning meets.

The girls started their workouts right after the school day ended. After they dressed-out in the "dungeon," Coach Black talked with them before sending them outside to begin the day's running. During the season, the girls could expect to run from 5 to 8 miles on the road on one day, alternating with school laps, sprints, and weights the next. There also was a lighter 3-4 mile run on Friday to make sure they would not be tired for the meet.

Although the team started slowly, they improved dramatically throughout the season, having impressive 2nd and 6th place finishes at the respective Conference and State meets plus solid victories at both the District and Sectional meets. Although sparked by the leadership of senior Melanie Ornes and junior Mandy Bolbecker, it was their togetherness and teamwork that carried the team through the season and made a major contribution to their success.

Great Year

L.S. had a successful 1988 year in gymnastics, placing second in districts and losing only to Olathe. Every member of the team had five to ten years previous experience in gymnastics along with practice every day after school. "Attitude had a lot to do with our success," sophomore Shannon

Smith said. "We just couldn't compete as individuals." L.S. held a meet in which they took second place. Sherry Miller took first in all around and was top scorer along with Meghan Tade.

Serving Up Success

Senior Leadership proved to be a key bringing a winning season to the Girls' Tennis Team. "All Varsity players improved, compared to last year. They played very competitively in every match," Coach Amy Merritt said.

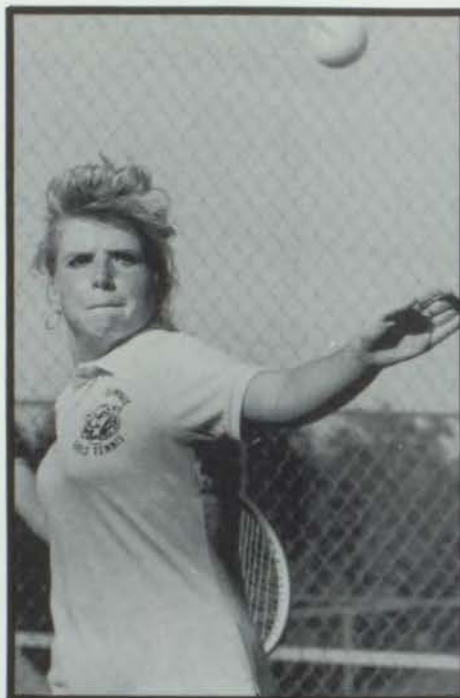

"The people who returned played better this year. Varsity had to step in and take responsibility," she added.

The Tigers had a record of eight wins and five losses, plus placed third at district. "The highlight of the season was when Molly Blackwell and Jenny Wallace placed fourth in the state doubles," Coach Merritt said.

JV and Freshmen basketball teams provided an essential experience for young players. "The main motivation of the teams was to develop the players into varsity starters," Coach Kevin Harrison said. Practice and hard work were essential for a successful team. "They are good players getting better," Coach Harrison added. "With returning lettermen plus the advancing JV players, we will have a very good varsity team next year." Hopes of a competitive year were high as the JV players prepared themselves for bigger and better positions.

Champions!

Champions, there was no other way to describe the Varsity Girls' Basketball team. The Lee's Summit girls were the best team in the Kansas City area according to the Kansas City Star/Times, who ranked them number one.

The girls were outstanding because of their ability to play as a team. "It's fun to be with the team because we all like to play together, and it shows through our success on the court," junior Heather Oberrieder said. According to the seasons records, the girls displayed incredible talent.

Hot shots!

The junior varsity girls had an excellent season. With an overflow of incredibly talented girls, the JV girls had no problem defeating almost every team they played. Sophomore Robin Cooley said, "Most of the people on th JV team would play varsity at any other school." The talent and spirit shown by these girls, should fuel the Tiger Girls to many victories in the years to come.

Going For the Pin

Character-building, self-control, discipline, plus fun were all elements of the wrestling season, according to Coach Jay Helland. The team showed the determination and the drive to have a successful year. Despite the fact the team finished about the same as last year, they did qualify better for state. They finished the season with a 7-3 record in duels.

“Overall, the team had less experience, but the upperclass pulled through in the end,” Junior Brad Smith said.

Top Guns

A shot rang through the air, and clay exploded, signifying another hit. Such was the story of the Lee's Summit Trapmasters during their 1988-1989 season. The Trapmasters shot every Tuesday after school during the spring and fall at the Lake Lotawana Sportsman's Club trap range where they spent time shattering small, round projectiles known to them as clay pigeons.

The Trapmasters were sponsored by Mr. Dennis Early and Mr. J.W. Page. Led by officers Phil Inman, Heath Lenahan, and Mike Wagner, the Trapmasters showed off their ability with impressive first place finishes at the state and national level.

Winter Workouts

The slamming of weights and people dressed in heavy sweats were just a few of the things one noticed when he or she entered the realm of winter conditioning. Many enthusiastic Tiger athletes spent hours of their after school time in the "green building." They either worked out on the weight machines, ran on the track, or ran out on the road. These exercises got their bodies in shape for the upcoming seasons in softball, baseball, track, and football.

1989

Class Of

The final year in high school is what the class of '89 had been looking forward to throughout their thirteen years of school. In the midst of conquering freshmen, winning the fourth consecutive Homecoming float contest, choosing a college to attend, going to Prom, and dreaming of graduating, the glimmering reality of freedom peeked around the corner making "senioritis" a contagious disease. High-spirited, outgoing, and vivacious described the attitudes of the 654 students who made up the senior class of '89.

Separation was a hard fact to face. Most seniors recognized that once they graduated, friends would go their separate ways. Seventy-one percent of the graduating class planned to go to college, some not too far from Lee's Summit and others far, far away. Others planned on taking a job, moving away, or even taking a year or so to collect their thoughts.

As time passed and graduation neared, the reality of leaving school set in. The senior's regular routine of going to class and socializing with friends soon came to an end.

Before anyone was ready, graduation came upon the class of '89. Tears were shed and memories reminisced as Lee's Summit High School graduates prepared to go their separate ways.

Senioritis—"a mental state which occurs during a student's senior year in high school.

Most seniors experienced this state of mind at least once during the last half of school, and for some it happened more often! There was usually a forshadowing to this state. Seniors found themselves with symptoms which could be none other than "Senioritis." The symptoms were diagnosed as: severe attitude adjustment, lack of motivation towards school work, eagerness to graduate, and failure to appear at school.

The only remedies known to cure "Senioritis" were eventful weekends. However, if the weekends did not eliminate the symptoms, the final cure was graduation.

From purchasing class rings to attending their first prom, the class of 1990 had a rewarding year. The students enjoyed their junior year while anxiously awaiting their senior year.

The class of 1990 participated in the Career Exploration Program during their seminars. It attempted to introduce the juniors to a career of their ability and preference. College night was also available for those who wished to attend. Ambition, companionship, and determination made the junior class successful.

There were many advantages as a junior. One of the main advantages was driving. Cruising to school each morning and going home after school without depending on others was once an illusion which now became a reality. This was something to look forward to as a sophomore. Driving to school offered a feeling of independence and freedom. This advantage was just the beginning of being a junior, although it was what many students enjoyed most!

Being a junior meant preparing for life beyond high school. Part of this preparation came from the Career Exploration Program. Through this program, careers which juniors had shown either an aptitude for and/or interest in were researched during their seminar time.

1991

Class Of

After the 88-89 school year, the Sophomore class had completed the half-way point in high school. They were considered the leaders of Div. I and were looked up to by the freshmen class.

Sophomores were helped by their elected class officers, teachers, and counselors in planning for the future.

The class of 1991 with about 624 students worked well together. This sense of spirit enabled them to build a sophomore homecoming float and raised money from candy sales.

Sophomore class officers contributed a great deal over the past two years by organizing and bringing the sophomore class together through their strong leadership.

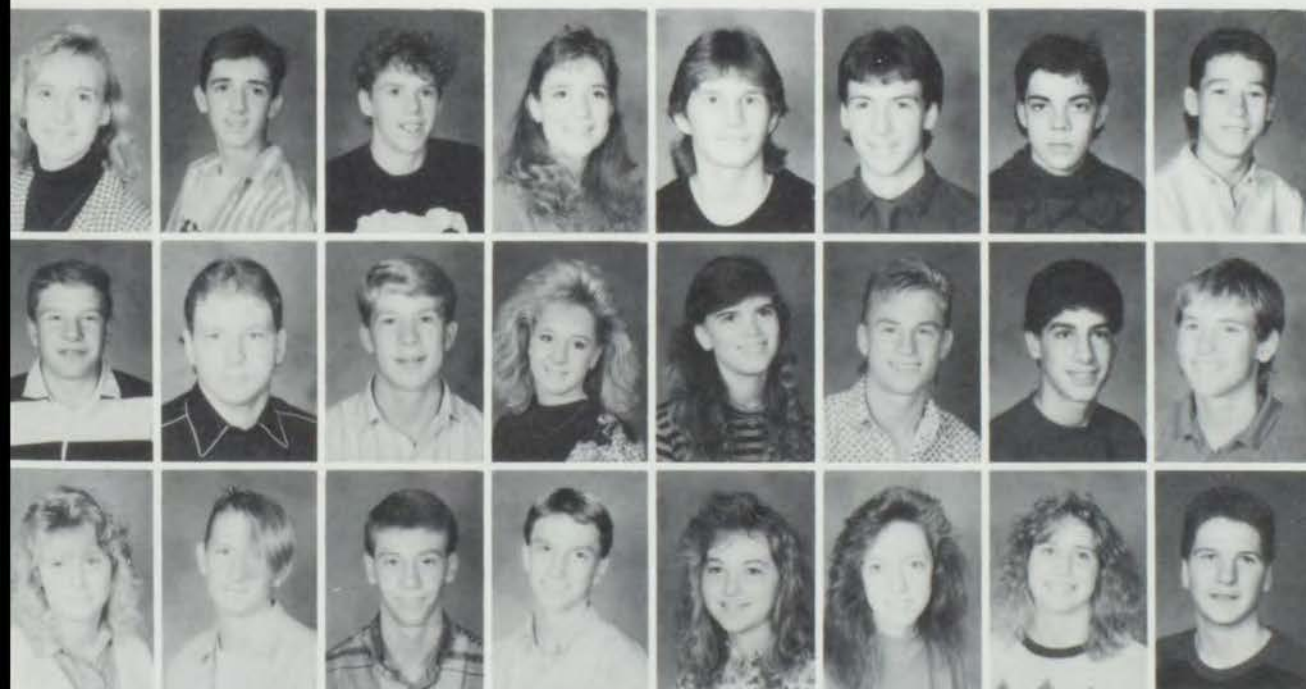

They successfully produced two fun-filled Court Warming dances, two unique Homecoming floats, and raised over six thousand dollars in fund raising activities. This money went towards school improvements, school services, and provided food for needy families within the community.

During the next few years the class officers intended to progress even further and to widen their interests to include as many school-related activities as possible. Planning for junior fund-raising began at the end of the year.

"In my opinion, the sophomore class officers have been doing an exceptional job. I hope in the future they continue their outstanding work," Valerie Clemence stated.

Sophomores went through the year in style with the satisfaction of knowing that they would soon be half-way through high school. During the year, sophomores continued their transition into high school life. Part of this transition included taking the PSAT test to help prepare them for their college tests. Students also elected to take classes that would train them for AP, IB, and college credit courses found in Division II.

1992

The class of 1992 consisted of 609 students. One event that most freshmen seemed to remember was homecoming. Seniors asked freshmen jokingly to perform air raids and to sing "We love you seniors".

During the year, freshmen took part in many school activities, and kept the school spirit strong. The counselors helped freshmen make decisions towards what classes to pursue the next three years. This gave them a start in planning the goals they wanted to fulfill at Lee's Summit High School.

Freshmen filed into Divison I, laughing, joking, and having a good time. Although serious when it came down to work, they still found time to have fun, whether it was in the halls, at lunch, or even in class. "Having fun at school makes it more enjoyable especially when I talk with my friends," Carolyn Marshall said. Friendships started in grade school and junior high, involving activities such as giggling and playing. In high school, friendships evolved into something deeper, which could last a life time. Philosophies changed. Idealism blossomed. Students not only matured mentally, but matured physically and emotionally. Freshmen began expanding their horizons.

Changes

The 1988-89 school year had many changes for students to experience. The first apparent change was in the administration at LSHS. Many staff personnel received promotions, changed job positions, or transferred schools. Mr. Jim Lemery assumed command as Principal of Div. II, when he returned from the summer break. Although Mr. Lemery was not new to LSHS, accepting his position as Principal of Div. II was a new job with new responsibilities. Dr. Carl Grigsby took over as the Principal of Div. I. Previously, Dr. Grigsby had been in charge of transportation for Lee's Summit. Mr. Jim Tosser, former PLJH Assistant Principal, accepted a job in the same capacity as Assistant Principal in Div. II. The administration escaped the walls of their offices and entered the halls to talk to the students and make them aware of the administrations' interest in their concerns.

Acting Superintendent, Dr. Gail Williams, kept the school district running smoothly during the 1988-89 school year. She was made permanent superintendent in early February. The members of the school board were Mr. Bob Jones, president; Mr. Bob Bruce, vice president; Mr. Tim Coleman; Mr. John Patterson; Mrs. Margaret Piepergerdes; and Mrs. Sherry Sims.

A Teacher's View

Byond the crowded halls lie the classrooms. Inside these rooms of knowledge are the people who make learning possible--teachers.

Though ears sometimes seem oblivious to lectures, teachers still attempt to get knowledge to permeate student's unwilling minds. Perhaps Ms. Connie Thomas, English, described the job best as "stopping moss and algae from growing on the brains of young American scholars."

Although there was sometimes a gap in generation, there was seldom a gap in communication as students were able to talk with teachers. Mrs. Chris Ware, English, said, "I enjoy my students the most because of their vitality. I love them (the students); they are my friends."

Student-teacher interaction can be beneficial for both the educator and the "educatee." Mr. John Biggerstaff, math, said that he enjoyed, "The ideas that students have for solving problems and the challenge of finding ways to explain ideas to students who do not understand."

As high school prepared students for the future, the greatest intervention in this process came from teachers. Mr. Mike Ford, electronics, said that he enjoyed "helping young people discover their interests and abilities. . . seeing that intangible something in a student that suddenly says 'I understand' or 'I'm proud of this.'"

Variety seemed to be the driving force to most teachers. Mrs. Brenda Warren, English, said, "The variety that one has each day is a plus. . . Students keep you in touch with life. They can also keep you on your toes and keep your mind from turning stale."

Many teachers found they could also learn while teaching. As each day passed and left its mark on education, each teacher had a chance to learn also. Mrs. Diana McClain, English, said, "teaching is never dull! I am always learning something."

As students seemed to look for any method to escape school, teachers were undaunted and ready for each new day. Mrs. Cheryl Bramlette might have their secret when she said, "Every day is different. It's just plain fun!"

A.C.T. Scores Are Up

All you seemed to hear from many seniors was how much they wanted to leave high school and go to college. College was where the fun life began, according to many high school seniors. Seniors often got caught dreaming about their future.

If the senior attended Lee's Summit High School he had a better chance at reaching his dream. Lee's Summit High School students consistently scored higher than the National Average on the A.C.T. Assessment. The test covered English, math, social studies, and natural science. The average composite score of a student at Lee's Summit was 20.1, while the average of high school students across the nation was 18.8. Possible scores on the A.C.T. Assessment ranged from 1 to 36.

Lee's Summit students also scored above the national average on the English section of the assessment. Students who scored high on the A.C.T., had a wider selection of colleges to choose from. The high scores of Lee's Summit students on the A.C.T. Assessment demonstrated the high qualities and values of education held at Lee's Summit High School.

Lessons in Literacy

Mrs. Esther Wagner said that she hoped to be "able to help a student achieve his/her potential or go beyond what he/she had hoped to achieve." English skills were essential in giving each student that opportunity.

Remember...

As previous events were affecting students' futures, Social Studies teachers were working to make a contribution to life. Mr. Manne Magady, Social Studies, believed that the most rewarding aspect of teaching was "working with young people."

Among the rewards of teaching history, Mr. Kevin English, Social Studies, enjoyed seeing students "become enthusiastic and more knowledgeable about American History." Perhaps enthusiasm was a key to a teacher's success.

The World of Business

The business department taught classes with practical applications. Some of the courses offered were Recordkeeping, Office Technology, Accounting, and Marketing. The department chairpersons were Mrs. Cheryl Parris and Mrs. Gayle Higley. The credit earned from a business course counted as a practical art toward graduation. Some clubs originated in the business department. They were Future Business Leaders of America and Distributive Education Clubs of America.

The science department at Lee's Summit High School, with Mrs. Becky Abbott and Mr. Steve Ferguson as chairpersons, offered many different courses. Subjects ranged from Earth Science to Human Anatomy and Physiology. Like other departments at Lee's Summit, the science department incorporated the International Baccalaureate Program and the Advanced Placement Program into the curriculum. The science department furnished classes of different levels and interests for the students.

For Fitness

In a world that focused on health and fitness, physical education became a strong part of the high school curriculum. # Students Study Fine Arts

Fine Arts at Lee's Summit High School produced a very high quality of work by many people. The music students studied how to read and write music while practicing their instruments for public performances. The drama students continued to practice their skills during the year, to be ready for the all-school musical, in the fall, and the all-school play, in the spring. The music department offered classes for the beginners in music and advanced classes for the more serious musician. The Fine Arts area of Lee's Summit High School worked hard to achieve success.

The industrial arts department offered many classes that helped students train for career opportunities in the working world. Woodworking metal shop, and vocational drafting were just a few of the classes offered at Lee's Summit High School. The industrial arts department also offered students the opportunity to develop hobbies for the rest of their lives.

A Portrait of Creativity

Candlelighting Controversy

Emotions are expressed by junior Dorothy Milakovich while participating in the "sit-in."

Before the solace of a silent candlelighting ceremony could take place, controversy flamed in the community and beyond. After an organized sit-in to save the candlelighting ceremony was approved and executed, 93 students stayed while the majority returned to class. Superintendent Dr. Gail Williams feared the focus would be on those students and "not the speeches of the student leaders."

Conflicting opinions burned, as cartoonist Charles Schultz created a series of "Peanuts" cartoons on the subject. Despite the controversy, a new ceremony was performed.

A New Superintendent

After a long search involving a community advisory committee, review of applications and personal interviews, the school board unanimously chose Dr. Gail Williams as the R-7 superintendent. "While deciding, we spent many nights up to and around midnight," said Bob Jones, school board president.

Having earned a Ph. D. in curriculum and instructional media, a master's degree in English and a bachelor's degree in secondary education, Dr. Williams stepped into her new role with ease. "To have the support of the board," said Dr. Williams, "means everything to a superintendent."

An Honorable Celebration

Cheers met President George Bush as he visited Lee's Summit High School. Turning to the football team, Bush said, "Beat Truman-That's my advice to you guys!"

More accolades greeted Bush as he described his plan for the presidential race and talked about his opponent. "Like Clint Eastwood," Bush said, "I look prisoners in the eye and say 'make my day,' while Dukakis says 'have a nice weekend!'"

After joining in chants, of "Read my lips," and "No new taxes!," Lee's Summit citizens said goodbye to George Bush-the next President of the United States.

Invasion: Measles Attack!

As a preventative measure during a measles epidemic, students were required to receive MMA (Measles-Mumps-Rubella) shots. During a two-day period, students anticipated the needle which was to make them immune. While waiting in line to be inoculated, one could study the haunting words on their yellow forms which read: "As with any vaccine or drug...even death could occur." Yet, those fears subsided as all students received their shot and school continued as normal. The result was, Lee's Summit High School increased its immunity, and a serious epidemic was avoided.

Holiday Spirit

Jingle Bells, Jingle Bells, Jingle All the Way! With "bells on their toes," students of LSHS made their way through the snow to the Christmas Dance. The dance was sponsored by The National Honor Society and was held in December. The colors red and green were seen from the tops of students and faculty in the form of Santa Claus hats to the feet in the form of brightly printed Christmas socks. For those who wished, Mr. Ted Haub of Haub Photography took pictures of couples and groups sitting inside an original sleigh from Longview Farms. Senior Eric Summers was the DJ and the NHS decorated the Div. II gym for the dance.

The Best Of the Best

Sean Groggigan

A bright array of vehicles occupied the LSHS parking lot, but Chevrolet's Corvette dominated the survey taken by the Reflector staff.

Senior Tina Lasater's red 1984 Corvette persevered over the competition with Mrs. Judy Sample's black 1988 Jaguar XJ6 following close behind. Junior Troy LaPorte had two cars listed in the survey: a black Chevrolet IROC-Z and a white 1988 convertible Corvette. A variety of cars received votes, but the top ten were consistently sports car types.

Letter From The Editor

When I first accepted the position as editor, I had little idea of the challenge that lay before me. After many late nights, much frustration, and the most fun anyone possibly could have had, the 1989 Reflector was completed.

I would like to extend a special thanks to Mrs. Toni Horne and the dedicated, talented, and entertaining staff. Without them, this book would not be possible. I was lucky enough to have, I believe, the most efficient, reliable staff the Reflector has ever seen. They will be difficult to surpass. Hey gang--You're the best!

I hope this book will be looked back upon and remembered long after the cover is closed. That alone will make all the efforts given throughout the year worth giving.

Thank You,
Rachael

Colophon

The 1989 Reflector was published by Herff Jones of Lenexa, KS. The sales representative was Mr. Bob Gadd and the in-plant representative was Mrs. Julie Bogart. Senior portraits were provided by Mr. Ted Haub of Haub Photography, Lee's Summit, MO. All underclass portraits were also taken by Haub Photography. Color processing was done by H & H Color Lab and National Photo. The cover was black Holiflox with black Vibra Text imprinted with gold foil. The school seal was antiqued metally. The cover was designed by the staff and the endsheets by Rachael Betts.

A Touch Of Class

*C*lass. A class act.
Classy. 1989 exemplified "classy"

values at LSHS. A time of tradition and a time to appreciate the positive aspects of school. A time for friendship, laughter, and joy. High school years held precious moments that would long be remembered: four years of activities, education, and involvement. The years held changes and relationships. Class. A year to remember.

Text/Design by Rachael Betts

Congratulations

A "Touch of Class." The words said it all. The 1988-89 school year came to an end. Victories were gained, and excellence was achieved through clubs, athletics, and academics. New friends were met and old were reacquainted. The '88-89 school year was a year of success. Seniors said good-bye to halls full of memories, and underclassmen anticipated the upcoming eventful years of high school.

Victory, a word often associated with LSHS, is expressed by sophomore Kathy Council.

Thank-You

Thanks goes to the administration, faculty and students of Lee's Summit High School for thier assistance and participation. Special thanks goes to the entire Reflector staff and especially to Mrs. Toni Horne for all of her help, understanding, and patience in making this yearbook possible.
