To the Graduating Class

Greetings and congratulations:

You have now reached the second milestone along the highway of your formal educational career. You have attained what has come to be regarded as the minimum of general education required for efficient participation in the civilization of the present enlightened era. In other words, you have earned a high school diploma.

May I commend you for your wisdom and foresight in sticking to your appointed tasks until the goal of your efforts was reached. May I urge you further, however, to remember that receiving the diploma will mean little in itself. It is what you do with the experiences and training which the diploma represents that really counts. Graduation from high school is a challenge to go forward to greater personal, social, material, and spiritual achievement.

May I, as a final word, express the hope that you will accept this challenge with intelligence, courage, and steadfastness of purpose.

GEORGE S. ELLISON, Acting Principal.

Foreword

In this book the Senior Class of 1946 has endeavored to show in the best possible way, some of the activities carried out during the past year by the students of Lincoln High School. We hope it will bring back many pleasant memories to those who are graduating in this class and will be a useful record to all of those who have been in any way connected with Lincoln High School.

WILLIAM HAYDEN.

Class History

Three short years ago in September, 1943, a happy band of youngsters set out upon a journey, through the Land of Knowledge in Lincoln High School. The students who were called Sophomores by name knew very little about the strange adventures that were to befall them on this journey, and not a one could possibly visualize what would be gained by it.

They did know, however, that if fate was not against them they would become the great class of "1946." Some, however, did not journey through to "46," for outside Lincoln there were all sorts of things luring them away. A few became victims of Romance and were led away into matrimony. Job captured many and tricked them into accepting employment. Uncle Sam opened his doors to a great number and they left to return in later years, perhaps.

A considerable number continued their journey, but they found themselves confronted with rules, restrictions, homework, teachers, and snobbishness from their upper-classmen.

On entering, their first job was to win the confidence of the teachers and the respect and friendship of the juniors and seniors. The latter, the juniors and the seniors, were more willing to misguide them by giving false answers to their questions, and to laugh at their mistakes. But in spite of it all, these sophomores got off to a fairly good start. The band began to think seriously for themselves, and set about to prove to everyone in Lincoln that they could accept responsibility as a class.

Flora Parker took the lead in this and stuffed her head full of the knowledge that the teachers were trying so hard to pump into the brains of the other members. Eugene Kirtly and Roy Bell made the football team. A. D. Davis, Tyson Williams, and Laverne Jamerson made the basketball team. Aritta Palmer, Betty Bryant, Margaret Brown, Doris Brashier were elected into the majorettes. Some girls helped boost the team through the Boosters Club. The class was doing so well that even the change that was made in the Administration had little effect on them, that is when Mr. H. O. Cook (principal) retired, leaving Mr. George S. Ellison to fill his place, Mr. Bryant was then moved up to the position of Vice Principal. The class band then journeyed on through "43" and "44" doing better in exams than they had hoped.

In September they assumed a sophisticated air since they were juniors. Knowing all the "ropes," they came to the conclusion that nothing would stop them from being the best class of juniors that Lincoln had received. Under the leadership of Ernest Blackman, whom they called President, they planned the junior and senior reception which was a success. Those that were dramatically inclined produced a Junior Play that will be long remembered. All during this time the class was venturing nearer and nearer to the "Heights of Knowledge." Some of the band met with failure on the way, however, and were on the verge of despair but ambition took a hand in things and with the help of courage they tried again and succeeded. The weak one that met with failure sank deeper and deeper into despair until the "Heights of Knowledge" were no longer within their reach. The fortunate were promoted and became seniors.

The word senior meant dignity to the class of "46," and how they needed it to elect class officers, for year books, pictures, fees, and invitations all added to their worries and frustrations. Everything was piling up but as usual the class was willing to carry the load. Ernest Blackman was elected class president again, Geneva Shakespeare, vice president; Lavern Blagburn, secretary; Conrad Buckner, treasurer. During this time every member of the band strode forth to do the very best he could; for low grades were dreaded by all and this was their last chance to make good before leaving the Land of Knowledge.

But during the journey the class's eyes had been opened to many things and they will advance. With ambition urging them, truth guiding them, the knowledge they have gained ahead will push them.

GERTRUDE KELLEY.

The Senior Play

On April 11 and 12, the senior class presented their annual play, "The Garden of the Moon," a romantic comedy in three acts, full of thrills, drama, and laughter. The play was very ably directed by Mr. J. Oliver Morrison.

There were two casts of girls, one group playing on Thursday afternoon and the other on Friday night. The production with its artistic scenic and lighting effects, its beautiful costuming and musical background won unusual praise from both audiences. The Thursday performance included: William Hopkins, Waymond Killingsworth, Catherine Smith, Laverne Blagburn, Norman Trigg, Rose Tilley, Geneva Shakespeare, Rufus Miller, Gertrude Kelley, William Fanniel, William Hayden, Richard Fisher, Roy Jackson, Frances Thompson, Lillian Nance, Genevieve Mitchell, and Mary Alice Rabun.

Friday's performance included the same boys with Bettie Tollett, Yvonne Starks, Mary Jean Walton, Opal Fleming, Ida Govan, Lula Stamps, Estena Thompson, Palmetta Williamson, and Mamie Miller. Waymond Killingsworth was outstanding in the difficult leading role. Others giving especially commendable support in difficult roles were Yvonne Starks, Laverne Blagburn, Mamie Miller, Mary Alice Rabun, William Hopkins, and Norman Trigg.

The scenery was designed by Mamie Miller and Roy Jackson. The production staff was Chester Starks, Everett Minor, Davis Lane, Harold Holman, Beatrice Clemmons, and John Williams.

DEAR LINCOLN

We carried with us from September to May,
The one grand thought—graduation day.
When out into the world we are sent,
To look for that which will bring us content.

Dear Lincoln, to us, one and all, has brought,
Many a good time and a happy thought.

We leave Dear Lincoln with smiles and cheers,
But beneath our smiles there lies some tears.
We'll never forget you, dear Lincoln High,
You'll be held in our memory as high as the sky.

DONNA LOUISE BAKER.

DON'T QUIT

When the path you're trudging seems up hill,
When things go wrong as they sometimes will—
As everyone of us sometimes learns,
School is queer with its twists and turns—
When the teacher is pressing you down a bit,
Rest if you must—but do not quit.

The goal may be near when it seems afar,
And you never can tell how close you are.
When they might have won had they stuck it out,
Many at failure have turned about.
Don't give up though the pace seems slow:
You may succeed with another blow.

As silver rays tint clouds of doubt,
Success is failure turned inside out.
When the E's are low and the F's are high,
And you'd like to smile, but you have to sigh,
Stick to the fight when you're hardest hit;
It's when things seem worst that you must not quit.

GENEVIEVE MITCHELL.

THE SCHOOL ON THE HILL

At Beautiful Lincoln High, the school on the hill
Of worldly pleasures and knowledge you may get your fill

There's a lot you can learn inside of those walls.
If you'll only stay in class and never roam the halls.

Oh Beautiful Lincoln High, the school of renown fame
Forever in my heart will linger your name
The knowledge I've acquired from you I'll never forget
It is that I leave you with deepest regret.

JOAN B. WALKER.

AT LAST

Long have I waited for this time
How happy I thought it would make me
Pictures, rings, cap and gown,
A graduate to be.

I counted the weeks,
I counted the days—
Now as it is to become a reality
How sad it is for me.

IDA GOVAN.

FAREWELL TO LINCOLN HIGH

We're graduating once again
We're leaving Lincoln High to win
Fame and fortune that are so rare,
Sought, hunted, everywhere.
We are sorry, yet we are glad,
We are happy, we are sad,
Leaving Lincoln is hard to do,
So we're saying this to you:
For high school days are passing fast,
"Make the best of it while it lasts."
Education is rare as you know,
Once out on your own, you'll find it so.
Many have wept for their by-gone days.
Those that were wasted in so many ways,
For after all school is the best place,
There's nothing like trying to stay in the race.
Once you've left school and all your friends—
Yes, you'll know when life begins,
So take the road that leads to success,
And always try to do your best.

JULIUS HAMILTON.

TO THE CASTLE ON THE HILL

Lincoln High, I've enjoyed the months I've spent within your walls.
I've gloried in chatting with friends between classes in the halls.
It's been wonderful going from class to class reciting.
In fact, dear Lincoln, the whole thing has been rather exciting.

Of all the misunderstandings I've had here, there's no regret
Because I've profited by them all, so why should I fret?
And wherever I go or whatever I do in my life to come
In all my happy thoughts, I know Lincoln High will occupy some.

REBECCA JANE SEALS.

THE DAY I'VE LIVED FOR

I've lived for the day I'd graduate,
And the gladness of leaving my old classmates,
My teachers no more will I see,
And listen about something I ought to be.

But now with time so very near,
I find that I hold them: O, so dear;
And I know I never will forget,
All the friends I've made and the teachers I've met.

BARBARA BYRD.

GOOD-BYE LINCOLN!

High on a hill stands our old Lincoln High
We shall ne'er forget her e'en when we die,
Teachers might've been hard once in a while,
We recall some cases remembering with a smile,
Lincoln Inn, Hollywood Grill and such—
Teachers, we mean't no harm (anyway not much).
And walking the halls, around corners peeking,
Too bad Mr. Ellison's shoes were not squeaking
But through all we did get knowledge
Now off we go—off to college.

BETTY ANN BRYANT.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Junior Class

Since the Junior Class was late organizing, Junior Class activities did not begin until Spring; thus the class did not accomplish as much as it would have liked.

Class meetings were conducted through a Junior Class Council, which consisted of two representatives from each Junior Advisory and the class officers. The Council planned to make the Junior-Senior reception the best in the history of Lincoln High School, one which would be remembered by all who attended.

The Junior Class looks forward to next year; it vows to make the 1947 graduating class one of which to be proud.

R. O. T. C.

The R. O. T. C. unit this year had several changes made in the composition of the unit. Lincoln became a separate battalion thus ending the joint standing it had had with R. T. Coles in the past years. Another company has been added making Lincoln a unit in itself.

Another rank was added to all units in the Kansas City schools—lieutenant colonel.

The R. O. T. C. prom was a success. Officers from headquarters came out and congratulated Sgt. Reid on the caliber of the boys.

THE CALLOTYPE

The Lincoln Callotype staff has done a very fine piece of work during the year of "45-46" in publishing the paper. At the beginning of the year the students of the staff were chosen and were quite baffled at the job that faced them, but they confronted it and brought the paper out on time.

From then on they were very busy rushing around getting news so they could make the dead line. The students made every deadline and also secured much advertising.

During the first part of the year the paper was the same size as it has been for some time. During the second semester the staff got together with their sponsor and secured a larger paper for the school. They also have a new printing place which is Lincoln University printing department.

During the first semester and second semester News-writing Pins were given for outstanding work given to the paper. All together nineteen students received award pins.

THE LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL CHOIR

Under the Direction of Mr. John S. Williams

This year has proved to be one of the most progressive in the department of Music according to Miss Mable Gleen, Supervisor of Music of the Kansas City Schools, and our director Mr. John S. Williams. Many of the members of the school choir are possessors of lovely resonant voices thus receiving high note of praise from citizens and music lovers throughout the Kansas City area. A few highlights of the year include a Christmas vesper held in the school auditorium on Sunday afternoon, December 16, in which the choir of one hundred voices took part, accompanied by a string ensemble from the Kansas City Philharmonic Orchestra. At the Music Hall dressed in robes of wine and white, members of the regional educators convention were thrilled as they listened to the choir singing "Dark Water" by James, "O Southland" by Johnson, and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" by Fred Waring. During Holy Week the choir again made another contribution at Grank Avenue Temple in an annual service under the sponsorship of the Kansas City Council of Churches—singing "Sanctus" by Gounod and "Open Our Eyes" by McFarlane. On May the 1st the choir seen again taking part in the Kansas City High School Music Festival in which nine high school choirs took part at the Music Hall. Mr. Williams is anticipating another wonderful year in '46-'47—and hopes to present an operetta which will be of immense interest to the students. Incidental soloists for the choir include Joan Mackey, Soprano; Louise Downs, Contralto; and John R. Williams, Basso. Mrs. Louise Whitlock is our school accompanist.

THE SENIOR HI-Y

The Senior Hi-Y, a school club sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. and under the guidance of Mr. C. R. Anderson, has engaged in several worthwhile activities this year.

The basketball team, the greatest of all basketball teams in the history of the Hi-Y, has played 8 games, and lost only one. Our team also took part in a tournament which was sponsored by the Hi-Y's. The tournament was a Round Robin tournament, composed of 8 teams, from Lincoln and Coles. We lost to Coles Senior Hi-Y and won second place in the tournament.

During the month of March, the Hi-Yy gave a Ham Raffle and a hundred books, with 10 tickets each in them purchased. Around the school, most of the tickets were sold. The winner of the ham, Jacob Armstrong, a senior, was not a member of the Hi-Y. We collected sixty-five dollars. Fifteen of it went to the great cause—World Service. We plan to use the rest of the money for the annual Sweetheart picnic.

The "Interracial Rosedale Conference," which was held at the Rosedale High School, was attended by Adolph Miller and William Hayden, and other members of the other Hi-Y's. They were accompanied by Mr. Combs. At first there was a joint meeting in the school auditorium. Songs were sung, and church services were carried on by the Northeast High School Hi-Y. Everybody was given directions and numbers of the rooms in which different discussions were to be held for an hour. Then we went back to the auditorium, were shown movies and information was given on what other Hi-Y's were doing. From there went to the lunch room, and were entertained while we were eating by four girls from Kansas University. After dinner, there were reports on what went on in each discussion group. Then we heard our guest speaker, James Ellenwood, Secretary of the New York Y. M. C. A.

This has been a banner year for Senior Hi-Y at Lincoln. Much of the success of the group must be given to the enthusiasm and energy shown by our leader, Mr. C. R. Anderson.

MAJORETTES

The Majorettes have had a most successful year. They have performed for all the football games and basketball games.

It takes hard work to be a Majorette for long hours must be spent to learn new drills and formations. Majorettes must also average an "M" grade in their subjects.

Since both commanders were unusually outstanding this year we feel that you would like to know more about them:

The Majorettes for 1945-46 were: Doris Brashears, first commander; Marguerite Brown, second commander; Rose Mary Tilley, Grace Taylor, Opal Fleming, Mabel Herring, Vivian Nolan, Bobbie Hemmitt, Aritta Palmer, Evelyn Summers, Betty Ann Bryant, Betty Hemmitt, Elaine Brown, Gwendolyn Hill, Oneita Lowe, Gwendolyn Gates, Alberta Dorthard, Geraldine Sanders, Lois Blanks, Jewel Armstrong, Shirley Hightower, Bennie Scott.

The school year 1945-46 has bestowed many favorable events upon the twenty-two members of the Akapals, a protege of Beta Omega chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority. First, new members with unusually fine character traits were initiated into the Akapals. Secondly, many social affairs have taken place which definitely raised the social status of the club.

The Akapals hope that those members who are graduating this year will look at their Ivy Leaf often in the future and remember "The good old days with the Akapals."

MADEMOISELLE

RADIO CLUB

RADIO CLUB

The radio class of "46" was one of the most progressive classes of recent years. Under the direction of Mr. P. M. Jones, we were taught the fundamentals of Radio and their functions. Some of the things we learned were: Morse code, types of tubes and their purpose. We were then taught about tone and volume control, and given test on them. We studied color code for resistors, abbreviations and symbols. We learned how to solder and at last to construct radio sets.

The class officers were: President, Donald King; vice-president, Eugene Bernard; secretary, Betty Brown; treasurer, Robert Smith; ace reporter, John Gray; sergeant at arms, William Carson.

Members shown above: John Gray, Titus Collins, Eugene Benard, Douglass Smith, Robert Smith, William Smith, Kenneth Stone, Kenneth Mills, Donald King, William Carson, and Hubert Furgason.

THE AMERICANA CO-EDS

One of the most popular Social Clubs in Lincoln High School, organized Mary 23, 1945, is composed of eight Senior girls, who are: Lula Belle Stamps, president; Jamesetta Ward, treasurer; Palmette Williamson, social chairman; Freddie Stevenson, assistant secretary; Willa Mae Patrick, membership chairman; Elnora Fields, business manager; Ruthie Mae Warren, vice-president; Eunice Pearson, secretary.

The one main advantage of our club is that they have a strict constitution and everyone abides equally. We have had several interesting entertainments. The club is in session every Monday night at 7:30 sharp: Sewing, embroidering, and corresponding with Service boys, are the three chief aims.

We have white jackets with purple cuffs and collars. The name of the club is engraved in purple on the back of the jackets. Our colors—white stand for purity and loyalty to our club.

LINCOLN HIGH BAND

SWING BAND

ORCHESTRA

LINCOLN HIGH BAND

Beginning the school year of "45" there were fifty enrolled in the band, by the second semester there was 47.

The band participated in most of the school activities, and made such a splendid showing that Mr. Ellison promised caps and arm chevrons for them.

In January some members of the band graduated as mid-year's.

HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRA

On September, 1945, the Lincoln High School orchestra under the direction of Mr. P. Jones, began its work with twenty-two students. As usual there were more boys than girls. Some from R. T. Coles, Northeast, and a few that were already at Lincoln High.

Evelyn Adams was elected president Jerome Graham, secretary Donald Garret, treasurer; Odell Love and Eva Whitlock, historians.

LINCOLN HIGH SWING BAND

The "Lincoln Swing" band has made a very splendid showing, during the school year under the instruction of Mr. P. M. Jones, with Kenneth Mills as student band leader.

The Swing Band has played for socials, programs, and at different school games. We have also made several recordings.

The members of the "Swing Band" are: Kenneth Mills, Hubert Ferguson, Kenneth W. Stone, Harold Holman, Herman Goza, Edward Minor, Spencer Rambo, Leroy Berry, Harry Dillon, Davis Lone, Oscar Gibson, Tommy Mack, and Beatrice Clemmons.

Mr. Tillman—You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink.

Ida Govan—Yes, but you can drown him.

Lincoln Jackson—“Mrs. Wilson, I hope I never see you down where I work.”

Mrs. Wilson—“Where's that, Senor?”

* * *

Yvonne and Betty (whispering)—Let's tip over this girl's chair and cause her to fall out of it.” (Giggling, they turn over the chair and the screaming girl falls out).

Mr. Morrison—“STOP THAT! You'll break that chair.”

Mr. West—What would you do first if your clothes caught on fire? Call the fire department, run and get some water, or roll over in a blanket?

Mary Washington—I would run and call the fire department.

* * *

Peter Johnson—Why don't we have sit-down strikes any more?

Mr. Tillman—not enough chairs.

* * *

Gertrude and Genevieve—Mr. Morrison may we sit here on the stage as a part of the scenery?

Mr. Morrison—No! Come down. (On second thought) Yes, you may stay—you both are green enough for shrubbery.

FOOTBALL

The inserted picture is that of the Home-Coming games Queen, Frances Shipley. A member of Miss Willoughby's advisory. She sold more tickets than any other contestant running for queen.

The Queen and her attendants, Bobby Hemmitt, and Billy Jean Coleman, runners-up in the contest, were escorted by Captain Kenneth Garret, Lieutenant Robert Harding and James Ross. This game we played with Muskogee, Oklahoma and lost by a score of 25-0.

The Lincoln Tigers were the King of the Jungle this past season. That is, until they met the Muskogee Bulldogs and the Sumner Spartans twice. They were victorious over the Coles, Atchison and Lexington twice.

Under the leadership of their new coach, Mr. William White, the Tigers were outstanding, even in defeat. Coach White was always around to give a cheerful word when the boys were downhearted. This being very helpful in building the morale of the Tigers.

The Tigers played three games at the Ruppert Stadium. They were Muskogee, Sumner and Coles. The latter was the only one we beat.

The season was full of surprises—for instance in the game with Sumner, Coffey through a forward pass to a member of his team but just as it was about to be received, Robert Martin of Lincoln leaped up, intercepted the pass and ran seventy yards to a touchdown.

In the Lincoln-Coles game, the Tigers tried a double reverse and run that was very successful. The line was formed and the ball was snapped back to "Big Martin", who received it and turned around. Conrad Buckner came around from the right end of the line and carried it around to LaVerne Jamerson who ran around right end to a touchdown. Lincoln won by a score of 20-0. After these games, Martin was nicknamed "the interceptor" and "the plunger," because of his ability to plunge through a line.

The Lincoln line-up was as follows: Ronald "Hard Hitting" Lucas, left end; Doyle "Man Mountain" Harris, left tackle; Donald King, who began the season as captain, defended left guard; Marshall McKinney, center; Wilbert "Porky" Carr, right guard; John Tate, right tackle; Lincoln Jackson, right end; A. D. Davis, left halfback; LaVerne "Mike" Jamerson, right halfback; Conrad Buckner, quarterback, and Robert "Big" Martin, fullback.

Other up and coming players who were not fortunate enough to make first team, but who were outstanding, were Robert Boyd, Roy Jackson, and Berdis Herring, ends. As tackle, Eugene Kirtly was promising. Playing guards, Paul Williams and Perry Gines were promising. John Gray, Jerome Graham, and Reedy Trigg were important in Lincoln's brick wall line.

BASKETBALL

The Lincoln Blue Tigers started their basketball season with a 19-16 victory over Lincoln Junior College. The other games which we won were with Atchison, two games. When we met Topeka, Sumner, twice, Oklahoma City, R. T. Coles and Lincoln University High School but we were defeated. But even with defeat, the Tiger five were playing a close game.

The new coach, Mr. White, helped the Tigers to the best of his ability, cheering them up when they were defeated, praising them when they won, and pushing them on when their spirits were down.

Playing on the first team and doing a good job all the time were A. D. Davis, forward Tyson "Shorty" Williams, guard; Conrad "Connie" Buckner, forward; Russel Allen, center; and Robert Rowan, guard. The follow-up team were Larus Parker, center; James Twine, forward; James Ross, forward; Donald Davis, forward; Wallace Richardson, forward; Phillip "Pig" Jefferson, center, and Elen Halloway, guard.

The most outstanding players were James Ross, James Twine, A. D. Davis, Elen Halloway, and Conrad Buckner. James Ross, although he was only five feet, five, played a very interesting game making his portion of scores in every game.

Because of his loss of one arm, many people thought James Twine should not play, but he soon changed that opinion. He was as much trouble for challenging teams as any, making many scores that helped. Elen Halloway, who started practice late and was therefore unable to take full advantage of all games Coach White had to offer, was an excellent shot, making most of his points beyond the free shot line.

The 1946 Lincoln Junior College freshman class, the largest in many years, has continued the fine traditions of the school. Perhaps the most outstanding of the events carried out this year was the College Savoy, which saw many freshmen participating, both in the planning and the actual performance.

Despite the loss of eight members of this class to the armed forces, the freshmen boys were able to have a very efficient basketball team. The team played Stowe's State Teacher's College in St. Louis, Sumner Junior College, Western College, and Lincoln High School.

One cannot overlook the fact that when the seniors of the high school allowed their Teen Town project to falter, it was the Lincoln Junior College freshmen who came to their aid, and helped to restore the program. This along with the other freshman class projects, has helped to make the freshman class of 1946, the best in many years.
