This Is Our Story

This is the story of a school. A school whose roots are deep, strong and productive—seventy-two years deep, hundreds of graduates strong, producing thousands of boys and girls eager to perpetuate their roots. And this is the story of boys and girls proud of the depth, strength and productiveness of their roots; secure in the knowledge that as they have nurtured so will they nurture them.

This is the story of youth bursting with vigor, bubbling with enthusiasm, groping with knowledge, wrestling with problems, dreaming dreams and fashioning a future full of hope, faith, promise, love and peace.

This story, like all stories, has a setting, characters, plot and local color. Picture a massive, time-worn structure atop a hill filled with men and women dedicated and inspired and there is the setting. We are the characters—boys and girls carefree and happy. The plot is an old one, yet new. Life as we live it from September to June in the classroom, in the gymnasium, in the library, in the cafeteria. Envision school life outside the classroom and there is what we call local color. It's football, basketball, track, parties, plays, Teen-Town, charity drives and numerous other worthwhile activities.

This Is Our Story

The setting of our story is important. Most of the action takes place in a massive time-worn structure atop a hill. We call it "The Castle on the Hill". Here we are loyal, happy subjects ruled by compassionate, sympathetic individuals intensely interested in our physical, mental and moral well-being. The atmosphere is friendly and informal, for the teachers and administrators who guide us are our friends. Our problems are their problems. Their energies and time are our energies and time; for they are the dedicated and inspired motivated by love for and devotion to duty.

SETTING

The staff at Lincoln High School congratulates the graduates of the class of 1957. The completion of a high school education is essential these days for success in the professions, business and industry. After graduation, however, graduates are faced with decisions which must be made about the best possible use of their future in terms of their abilities, interests and the situation which confronts them. Some pupils may continue their education in colleges; some may go into the Armed Forces; others may enter industry. We are sure when we say that the training which these graduates have received thus far is basic to whatever they attempt in the future.

The graduate must increasingly assume responsibility for his future success. Lincoln High School stands ready to assist in any way it can.

Principal

GRADUATING SENIORS—

You will shortly start out on one of the most exciting adventures you will ever have. Our nation's growing needs for able and highly trained workers in scientific research, engineering, health services, executive and supervisory activities, education and technical activities; in all fields of industry, agriculture, and commerce are evidences of the opportunities awaiting you. Your success will be limited only by your vision of what your future may become, your abilities and how you use them, your character and your determination. Whatever your work remember that "the only joy that age does not wither or custom stall is the satisfaction of work well done."

ANN JOHNSON, Counselor

TO THE CLASS OF '57—

We trust that your years at Lincoln High School have prepared you to better adjust to our competitive society. Many of you have been reminded that knowledge alone does not lead to happiness. Its vital function is to foster satisfactory and acceptable behavior. Only the future can determine the success of our efforts here to inculcate habits of good citizenship. May your conduct reflect credit to your parents, your teachers, and your school.

This Is Our Story

We are the characters. We are youth bursting with vigor, bubbling with enthusiasm, groping with knowledge, wrestling with problems, dreaming dreams and fashioning a future filled with hope, faith, promise, love and peace.

We are seniors; wise, self-assured, cocky; embracing the world with open arms—eager to change it in a day or two.

We are juniors; ambitious, unsure, hesitant; determined to prove to ourselves and the world that if seniors can do it we can too.

And we are sophomores; carefree, easy-going and indifferent—waiting for time to take its course.

Also, we are freshmen; wide-eyed, naive, befuddled, doubtful if we'll ever make it.

The roles which we play are more or less identical and of the same importance.

CHARACTERS

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS:

Seniors Say So Long

"Day after day youth wends its way pausing a while yet not to stay." This is a significant thought as we look back over our four year stay at Lincoln. Although commencement marks the end of our short stay it is really a beginning. For it is at this point that we begin to make plans for a bigger life. Some of us are going to college, some of us will join the armed services, some of us will enter matrimony and some of us will find jobs. Whatever we do or wherever we go we shall not forget the days we spent at Lincoln.

We shall not forget how slowly we moved through our freshman and sophomore years, careful not to do anything which would misrepresent our talents and abilities. It was during our junior year that we realized our talents could no longer be held back. The class play, entitled "Man of Seventeen," was the "best" and the Junior-Senior Prom, unforgettable!

We moved into our senior year with dignity and grace, mindful of the fact that we must set examples for our underclassmen. Our activities reflected our enthusiasm for the success of our final year. The Senior Play, "Green Man," was a mystery which held the audience spellbound, and "Senior Basketball Night" was a howling success.

Dining and dancing are always pleasurable, and the Senior Dinner Dance Party will long be a memorable affair.

Not only have we learned our basic fundamentals such as reading, writing, and arithmetic at the "Castle on the Hill," but also how to live better mentally, physically, and morally; how to live with our neighbors; how to make important decisions; and how to be good citizens. When we think of all these things mere words fail to express adequately our sincere appreciation to our parents, our teachers and our friends for the large and ennobling part which they have played in shaping our young lives.

And now, as we take our leave we charge the class of '58 to carry on in the great traditions of a good Lincolnite.

Juniors Accept Challenge

"Day after day youth wends its way, pausing awhile yet not to stay". This thought we borrowed from the seniors for it is significant to us also as we contemplate the year that lies ahead.

It is difficult to perceive that only a short while ago we were green freshmen, fearful, confused and baffled by high school with its many books, activities, joys and disappointments. As sophomores we were better adjusted and felt a part of Lincoln High School. We had fewer problems and our joys outweighed our disappointments.

As juniors, we are upperclassmen accustomed to solving problems, making decisions and accepting responsibilities. We are accustomed to taking part in the many and varied activities designed to make a well-rounded pupil. We have proved to ourselves and to others that with courage, determination and hard work one can attain a desired goal without too much difficulty. But our junior year has not been all smooth sailing. Like all juniors we feared the English and math tests until they were over.

As of now we feel no fear or hesitation in accepting the challenge given us by the class of 1957. And we shall do our utmost to live up to their expectations.

This Is Our Story

A cycle of study, work and play is the center or plot of our story. It is September and the halls buzz with sun-burned boys and girls eager for familiar surrounding and friends after a long vacation. The shrill ringing of a bell sends the youngsters scurrying to homeroom which marks the official opening of another school year. A cursory glance at a schedule reveals the well-known routine of first-hour English, second-hour math, third-hour history and fourth-hour lunch and conference; and so it goes until 3:05 in the afternoon. Books are tossed into an overflowing locker for there is a club meeting of some sort to make at 3:15. So the months hurry by hastened by vacations here and there. It's June and the shrill ringing of a bell marks the close of school and the beginning of vacation. A great deal of work, a great deal of play, a great deal of growth in mind, in body and in heart tell the story of another year well-spent, a job well-done.

PLOT

"Readin', Ritin', and Rithmetic"

Contrary to widespread rumors, the 3 R's are still being taught perhaps with as much zeal and enthusiasm as when Grandmother went to school. However, we recognize a difference in method due to improvement in teaching methods. If, for some reason, Johnny is not reading as well as he should when he reaches high school, concentrated effort is made to help Johnny catch up.

Sometimes Johnny's penmanship is still in the printing stage, but he is not penalized for this apparent lack of growth. With the aid of Cursive Writing, Johnny soon learns how to form letters and write legibly.

Frequently Johnny may have a great deal of difficulty with adding, subtracting and dividing. Johnny recognizes this factor as well as his teacher. Therefore, he enrolls in General Mathematics and loses all fear of figures.

Charles Miller helps Theoploes Taylor complete a mural on the birth of constitutional government. This mural is an outgrowth of several reading assignments used to improve comprehension.

Herman Cooper and Ovelia Henderson practice writing in an effort to improve their penmanship.

This student finds math is easy after all.

These pupils are in the process of assembling and typing news.

The Callotype Is Published

Enroll in Newswriting and become involved in the complex but exciting process of publishing a newspaper. Here news is gathered and edited; the finished product is typed and proofed; and the final paste-up is readied for press. Future salesmen solicit advertisement; for the paper pays for itself. In addition, busy newspapermen find time to contribute to the Youth Page of the Kansas City Call, a local newspaper.

Final paste-ups are made and the Callotype is ready for press.

Homemaking Produces

The family centered homemaking program encourages projects which broaden the pupil's interests, foster wholesome attitudes, develop more discriminating tastes and help to improve techniques and skills. These activities tend to make life richer and more meaningful for girls and boys.

Homemaking I and II is a general or family centered homemaking course. It consists of 16 weeks in Managing the Family Meals, 16 weeks instruction on Clothes for Young Moderns, with three short units on Laundry, Home Care of the Sick, and Living With Your Family.

Girls in foods measures ingredient for their favorite cookie recipe.

A representative from the Kansas City Power and Light Co., serves foods which she cooked on a new electric range after demonstrating the ease with which a meal may be prepared on a new electric range.

Efficient Homemakers

Homemaking III and IV follows Homemaking I and II and continues to offer the family centered program with 15 weeks on Family Food Problems, 15 weeks on Be Smart—Dress Smartly, and three additional short units on Interior Decoration, Child Development, and Money-time Management.

Advanced Foods and Advanced Clothing are offered for girls interested in becoming more efficient homemakers.

These girls learn the art of interior decoration with this small scale house and small scale furniture.

Mrs. Lynk shows these two girls how to launder a sweater.

Girls in Advanced Clothing are making coats and dresses for spring.

Commercial And

Junior and senior high school pupils are well aware of the many opportunities offered one who has a good knowledge of typing, shorthand, bookkeeping and business machines. For this reason the majority of them take such training whether or not they plan to go to college.

Likewise, Industrial Arts is becoming an important part of high school training and voluntary enrollment in drafting, woodwork and crafts has increased. Boys and girls are made aware of the advantages of Industrial Arts training as a vocation as well as an avocation.

Roma Smith operates an electrical typewriter with speed and accuracy.

Jean Latimore and Gloria Flowers place a stencil on a mimeograph machine.

Bobby Graves adds finishing touches to a stencil on a mimeoscope.

Industrial Arts

Jimmy Young, an advanced pupil in drafting draws cross section of an outlet valve.

This boy is tooling a handbag in crafts.

The skillful use of machines is an important part of woodwork. Here Charles Johnson operates a jigsaw.

Upholstering is another phase of woodwork. Famous McElwee learns to be an upholsterer.

These pupils in Biology observe the flatworms under the microscope.

Future Scientists

Future scientists learn about the chemical and physical composition of the world in which they live in such courses as biology, general science, zoology, chemistry, and physics. The need for good scientists and opportunities afforded them are stressed in all science courses. Interested and promising pupils get special help and encouragement.

What happens in a vacuum? Alford Arnold is performing the Bacchus' experiment with air pressure, while Kenton Keith is checking his equipment to experiment with sound in a vacuum.

Pupils in Advance Art use a classmate as a model for this portrait.

Art And Photography

Talented and interested pupils study Art and Photography with zeal and enthusiasm. Both courses provide creative activity which is stimulating, enjoyable and often remunerative. The eccentric artist with his easel and the shutter-bug with his camera are permanent fixtures at Lincoln.

"Plump" Arvil is about to have his portrait taken.

Retouching is a skill which this pupil is learning to master.

Chorus Sings To Wide Audience

A long list of engagements, all of which cannot be filled, keeps the Chorus in good voice. In addition to the annual Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter assemblies, the Chorus sang at Brown Chapel Church in Topeka, Kansas; and at Metropolitan Baptist Church and Second Baptist Church of this city. Appearances were also made before several PTA and cultural groups. Along with the Band, the Chorus participated in the International School Music Project. Vocal recordings were sent to the Philippines and instrumental recordings to Switzerland.

Orchestra

A blend of strings, percussions, trumpets, saxophones, and piano makes the music from the orchestra smooth and mellow. Such popular ballads as "Tenderly," "Two Different Worlds," "Canadian Sunset" and "Night Lights" received fine treatment at the Band Assembly in March. These boys and girls are conscientious musicians, and they spend long hours rehearsing.

Good Musicians Make-Up Band

Talent and enthusiasm combine to make Lincoln Band a good Band. Most of the boys are serious musicians and play more than one instrument. Eight of the boys—Robert Shumate, Willie Pippens, Gerald Beechum, Douglas Lacy, Arthur Gordon, Alfred Lomax, Carroll Waller, and Arthur Jackson—are members of the All City Band.

The Band marched in the American Royal Parade in October. On February 5, the Band played an engagement at the Y.M.C.A. and participated in the Westport Band Festival in March.

ROTC Has Varied And

"About face, march! Hut one, two, three". Sounds familiar, doesn't it? It's the cadence of the Reserve Officers Training Corps cadets as they drill, drill and drill. Perfection in drill is not the only goal of the cadets; for they must learn well such basic subjects as military courtesy, discipline, rank of insignia orders, commands, first aid, personal hygiene, military organization and weapons.

Also the cadets develop skill in marksmanship which they display at various matches.

Enthusiastic cadets participate in a number of events beginning with Veterans Day in November and ending with summer camp in June. Intervening activities include

A Good Driver or A "Nut Behind The Wheel"

Driver Education is fast becoming an important part of high school training. The necessity for such training cannot be stressed too much. The "nut behind the wheel" is a menace to himself and to his fellowman; the good driver is an invaluable asset. "The life he saves might be yours."

Lee Burton, a COE student, gets on the job training at one of the Milgram's Foods Stores.

COE

Cooperative Occupational Education serves the needs of boys and girls interested in learning while they earn. Pupils are given aptitude tests and are placed on jobs for which they are best suited. Good employer - employee relationships are learned before the pupil is placed.

MEMBERS OF THE STUDENT COUNCIL:

Student Council Active

Government of the students, by the students and for the students is the working motto of the Student Council. Here we work in conjunction with the administration for the common good. This year the Council has engaged in such activities as selling pop corn at football and basketball games, participating in All City High School Day, decorating the building at Christmas time and leading the pupils in worthwhile campaigns such as: March of Dimes, United Funds Campaign, and Fire Prevention Week.

Student Council Treasurer Carolyn Wilson and sponsor, Mr. Luke Ponder count contributions to the March of Dimes. Pupils contributed more than $121.00 to this worthy cause.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY
New Members:

NHS Inducts New Members

In a ceremony characterized by simplicity and dignity, three seniors became full-pledged members of the National Honor Society. These pupils rank high in scholarship, leadership, service and character. At the same time six probationary members became associated with the organization.

Probationary Members:

Claretha Webb, Jacqueline Roberts,
Florine Dean, Frederick Jones, Edward

Americana Co-eds do not have to worry about underclassmen invading their ranks; for membership is limited to senior girls outstanding in scholarship, character and service. Social and charitable activities keep the girls busy and happy. At the annual Christmas party, last year's members were entertained lavishly. Christmas baskets to the needy were not overlooked.

100 Girls

An unusual combination of brains and beauty make the 100 Girls Club popular and outstanding. Beauty is incidental since the girls are chosen solely on scholastic achievement. The club is city wide and is sponsored by the American Association of University Women. At the annual brunch, Melba Zachery, a former Lincolnite and member, shared her first year college experiences with the girls.

Dramatics Club

If you're interested in debates, skits, plays, or any type of public speaking, then the Dramatics Club is just the thing for you. According to Mr. Vaughn, the club sponsor, membership is increasing steadily. Any boy or girl who has successfully completed Speech I and II and who receives recommendation from three faculty members is eligible to join the club.

Carolyn Shepherd, Bonnie James, and Valerie Brice create suspense in "Nine Girls."

Alford Arnold and Sandra Alexander are anxious about a report card in "Where Is That Report Card?"

F. T. A.

Although membership has not increased, pupils are showing interest in activities of the Carolyn Brydie Chapter of Future Teachers of America. Effort is made to acquaint interested boys and girls with the teaching profession. In November, delegates attended the Missouri State Teachers meeting where they mingled with teachers and shared with them thought provoking experiences.

ROW ONE: Josie Russell, Zella Vann, Delorise Gines.

Junior Red Cross

Filling Christmas stockings, visiting the Veteran's Hospital and wrapping gifts are some of the services performed by the Junior Red Cross.

In October representatives attended a regional training center at Unity Village. Through panel discussions, movies and lectures, the boys and girls learned about the work of the Red Cross.

A microscope, the smell of phamaldahide, a chemical flask, the russle of a dry plant; all these things are familiar to these science students. Under the guidance of Mr. Darton, Mr. Caruthers, and Mr. Ponder, they pursue activities which are of interest scientifically. In November, the club visited Kansas University in Lawrence, Kansas for the annual "Science and Mathematics Day" where they were able to witness many scientific experiments and exhibits. Students are encouraged to enter the Science Fair; each year they make a good showing.

Cultural, spiritual and recreational activities make up the yearly program of the Y-Teens Club. Y-Teens Clubs the offspring of the Young Womens Christian Association, help young girls develop into finer womanhood. The girls are civic-minded also. They participate in YW drives and other worthwhile community projects. Needy families were remembered at Christmas with gifts of food, fruit and candy.

Del Magnas

Del Magnas

The Del Magnas is a club which is built around strong moral principles. They count among their membership the president of the Student Council, the president of the Senior Class and many boys who rank high in scholarship and character. The boys are interested in becoming active, worthwhile citizens. Well known speakers versed in their particular fields have helped to enlighten them as to the opportunities offered to young men with high ideals.

The boys are also interested in cultural and social development. In addition to several small parties, the boys were hosts to their many friends at the annual Cherry Tree Hop and their spring formal. Also, the club contributed Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets to needy families.

The president, his executive committee and members of the club have worked hard to leave a tradition at Lincoln which will be carried on in years to come.

Lapakas

Something new has been added in the form of Lapakas. We recognize a number of the girls as former Akapals. Do you see a similarity? We know the girls rank high in scholarship and character. Of course social activities are important to them, also.

LAPAKAS

RHO

Although RHO is a social club, the girls participate in activities which develop good character traits. They also help each other maintain high scholastic averages. Social activities included a Christmas party and a picnic and tea in May. The annual scholarship of $100 was awarded to an outstanding RHO graduate.

These comely young ladies "poured" at the annual RHO tea. They are Norma Letcher, Sonja Watkins, Cecilia Raphael, Joyce Williams, Emma Townes and Elaine McClellan.

Community Night

LINCOLN HONORS FORMER GRADUATES

Old graduates as far back as 1901 rubbed elbows with 1956 graduates at the annual American Education Week observance on November 15. As a special feature of community night the oldest graduates were honored with ceremony and awards.

Mrs. Alberta Walker Hardy, a graduate of 1901, received the first place award, an engraved loving cup. The other three awards went to David G. Emery, a 1906 graduate, Mrs. Carolyn Perry, a 1913 graduate, and Mrs. Bernice L. Osborne, a 1916 graduate.

The community night program planned jointly by the P.T.A. and a faculty committee chaired by Mr. Edmund Washington was held in two parts. Parents and patrons assembled in the auditorium for a short program presented by the Music and Dramatics department. The second part of the program consisted of classroom displays in the gymnasium.

Neal F. Herriford, a more recent Lincoln graduate presents the first place award for the oldest registered graduate to Mrs. Alberta Walker Hardy, a graduate of 1901.

Recipients of third, second, and fourth place awards are pictured in that order. They are Mrs. Carolyn Perry, David G. Emery and Bernice L. Osborne.

P.T.A. appeals to all parents to become active members.

This Is Our Story

All stories do not have local color. Perhaps it is not necessary. But our story is not complete without it. Where is the joy and fun of school without football, basketball, track, parties, plays, concerts and conference periods. If you have not rooted for the Tigers in zero weather with the north wind whizzing through the bleachers, then you do not know the half-frozen delirium of a 7-6 victory in the last minute of the fourth quarter! If you have not sat breathless through a Tiger basketball game at 50 seconds-to-game too hoarse to force a scream from an emotion-racked body, then you do not know the inexplicable excitement that brings forth the sigh, "I can't stand much more of this"! If you have not followed a 100-yard dash with a Tiger track man then you do not know the joyous fatigue of running a race standing still! Add to this the soothing chords of a concert, the hilarity of a "balloon" social, the suspense of a murder mystery; and there is a mixture of memorable and unsurpassable joy and fun.

Bad luck stalked the Tigers' trail from the very beginning when Southeast ambled away with a 41-0 victory which was more or less uncontested. The boys were beaten but not down and after some ups and more downs, they finished fifth place in the Interscholastic League. This was their favorite place last year.

To prove that they were not down the Tigers took the Manual Redbirds for a ride in the very next game. It was Tiger eat Tiger when Westport snarled at Lincoln in game number three. Although Westport Tigers took the first bite, Lincoln Tigers bit twice and forced the Westport Tigers to surrender to defeat. The thriller of the season was the 20-20 deadlock when Lincoln went after Paseo. The Pirates were as determined as the Tigers and secret weapons were unveiled by both teams. John Holoman and Bruce Masters sparked the Tigers and set up plays for the first two touchdowns. Mike Mabon made the plunges. Half time score stood at 7-7. In the third quarter the Tigers were forced to kick and the Pirates pushed on to put Paseo ahead 20-7. From this point on Tigers took over with passes here and there eluding the Pirates at every turn.

Central and East put the Tigers back where they started.

VARSITY SQUAD

KNEELING: Stanley Daigle, Samuel Hollins, Jackie Gilbert, Harold Wyatt, Homer Hutchinson.

Tigers Take Inter

With ease, gusto, and showmanship backed by superior coaching, and basketball "know-how" the 1957 Cager walked off with a 9-0 record to capture the coveted title of Interscholastic League Championship. First honors also went to two Lincoln Cagers for high point men. Jackie Gilbert finished with 185 points and Stanley Daigle, with 183 points. The Tigers were undefeated during the entire season with a 17-0 record.

Tiger Cagers opened the season with a 82-48 victory over Christian Brothers of St. Joseph, Missouri (non league) and closed it with a 79-56 wallop for Westport, a principal contender for league championship. Only one team seriously threatened Lincoln's chances for undisputed championship. The fired-up Pirates of Paseo gave the Tigers a rough time with their clinging vine strategy. Tiring of this unwelcome attention for three quarters, Tigers shook the Pirates and won out 42-36.

Pirates fell into a Tiger trap!

B-TEAM

FIRST ROW: Claude Augmon, Willie Davis, Douglas Lacy, Burton Dillard, Fredrick Waller.
 SECOND ROW: Sterling Roath, Fred Moore, Leon Dixon, William Bostic, Lemmie Watson, Paul Gipson, Leandrew Pippens.

scholastic Title 17-0, Record for Season

Game after game Lincoln Cagers proved their superiority offensively and defensively. With Hollins, Wyatt, and Hutchinson pressing court; Daigle and Gilbert kept the bucket filled. Supporting cagers like Bruce Masters, Sylvester Henderson, Marshall Williams, Michael Mabon, Lemmie Watson, Robert North and Samuel Watson were always on the spot for relief.

In addition to the 17-0 record being outstanding, a factor equally important and impressive was the gentlemanly manner in which the Tigers performed.

It will soon be a "dead ball" boys.
 Jackie is set for a basket.

Last time out before Victory!
Tigers grip hands with Coach
Kirkpatrick.

"Tigers Shake Pirates"

They both want it! Stan "Tiger" looks like he'll get it.

There'll be no basket! Sam and Jackie see to that.

Esprit-de-Corps — One reason for the outstanding success of the Tigers was a singleness of purpose combined with determination and fine teamwork. Here the boys repeat The Lord's Prayer before game time.

This Is Not The End of Our Story

This is not the end of our story. This is but a logical break in the natural sequence of significant events which go to make up one's life. We view this break with pangs of sadness; yet with a great deal of joy and pride in our accomplishments, and a great deal of hope and faith in the future. It is at this pause that we express sincere thanks to all of you who have made our story worth telling, and to all of you who have helped us tell our story.
