Administrators Extend An Optimistic Note. . .

The Lincoln Academy is fulfilling its mission. It was conceived to be a school which would have expanded curricular offerings and a program that would allow students to accelerate their learning so that they arrive at a pace commensurate with their abilities. This educational approach — entirely appropriate for an urban school district — is rapidly reaching these two fundamental goals.

The staff, students and community are to be commended for the implementation of this program which shows strong promise of being in the vanguard of changes that secondary education must accomplish in the future.

*Robert R. Wheeler
Superintendent of Schools*

As we strive to continue the acceleration of student learning, regardless of ability level, many non-traditional educational experiences are offered to our students. In a multi-racial, multi-cultural environment we intend to continue to offer more non-traditional opportunities for student growth to meet the challenges of society in the 1980's and beyond.

I want to personally express my appreciation to the staff and student body for the excellent manner with which you have approached non-traditional education.

*William L. Rowan
Dean, Lincoln Academy North*

Having arrived at Lincoln Academy South one semester after the Academy's inception, I have witnessed and participated in many changes. Most significant has been the successful effort to convince students and parents who reside outside of the Lincoln Academy attendance area, that L.A. can deliver accelerated quality education without resulting social problems. And I have watched the PTA's of both campuses unite to work towards providing a model school that brings into realization — integration without force.

*William Love
Dean, Lincoln Academy South*

Living in an age of progress and change, we, at Lincoln Academy, are aware of our responsibility in initiating changes in our school, community, and society. Through innovative programs and accelerated, individualized studies, we are moving forward.

The theme, "one step further", best embodies our ideals of progress and change. The theme describes an overall change in attitude, at Lincoln Academy, which is reflected in improved scholarship and a more vibrant school spirit. Each year we are one step closer to realizing our ideals for the Academy.

*Flawn Barber
Editor, North Campus*

*Progressing,
Never satisfied with our position,
Hoping for better,
Never for worse,
Starting anew each year,
Going one step further.*

*Monica Tindall
Editor, South Campus*

ROLL CALL

Roll Call 1981 at Lincoln Academy, North and South, found more than the usual ado as some 1,300 students made their way from class to class. More than the after-summer reunion with old friends, and the getting-to-know-you sessions with new acquaintances, was an indication that a very remarkable school year was about to be recorded in the history-book of Lincoln.

Patrons of the school district were no longer wondering if Lincoln could make the Magnet concept work. The pessimists were saying: "We didn't mean it wouldn't work the first year." Others with greater vision, like Sharon Jones, a junior, were summing up the Academy this way: "It gets better and better every year!"

Many faculty and staff members were saying that there were many positive experiences that had come together to generate a momentum that could take the Academy through a successful year. Making references to some of these experiences, Ms. Pat Hawkins said, "Our high percentage of retention, the fact that we went over our projected non-minority enrollment of 17.5%, by 4%, we are having positive feed-back from parents, and 50% of the present 7th grade class being non-minority, are just a few of the positive factors responsible for the sense of success."

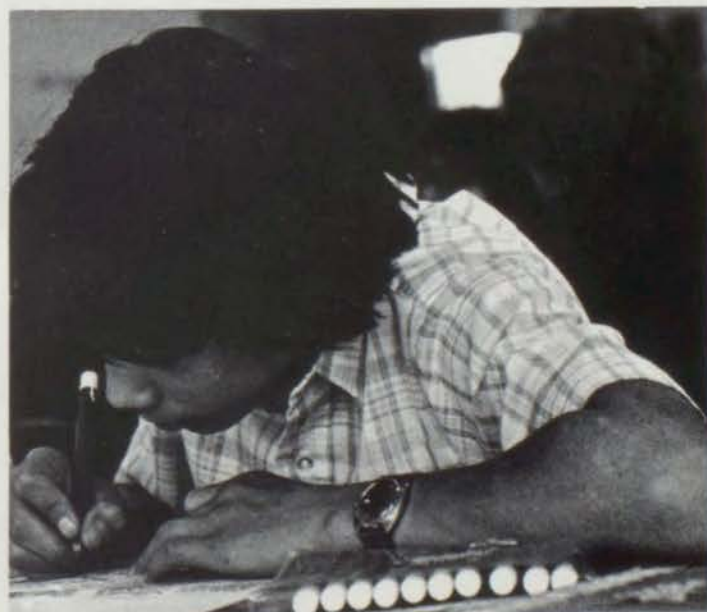

True enough, students pay little attention to statistics about the school; however, the spirit and sense of movement were contagious. There was a new enthusiasm and a new spirit among faculty, staff and students. As one student said, "... maybe more pride in our school." Whatever the reason may be, this enthusiasm was to set the stage for an exciting and productive school year.

At the close of the first few weeks, the unwritten headlines for 1981 should read as follows: "Lincoln Academy answers 'present' to 1981 Roll Call and proudly announces that we have moved the Magnet program in the past two years, and it is our goal to move the Academy 'one step further' for the year 1981."

LINCOLN ACADEMY, 1981

Fall Sports (Cross Country and Girls' Volleyball)

Ready, aim, shoot!

Running to the end . . .

Did you see which way she went?

Look at those legs!

This fall we had a great season in the sports arena! In addition to inter-scholastic football, we also had teams participating in cross country and girls' volleyball.

The cross country team worked very hard in perfecting their strides and were well rewarded. One member of the team, John Tancredi, said, "I like the challenge of cross country running because you feel you accomplish something after every race."

In the meantime, the girls' volleyball team was spending time learning the "how to's" of their own game. "We learned a lot about the game, and about each other," reported Bridget Walker.

These two sports helped to keep Lincoln's fast sports pace rolling and helped bring about an all-time high in Lincoln's school spirit.

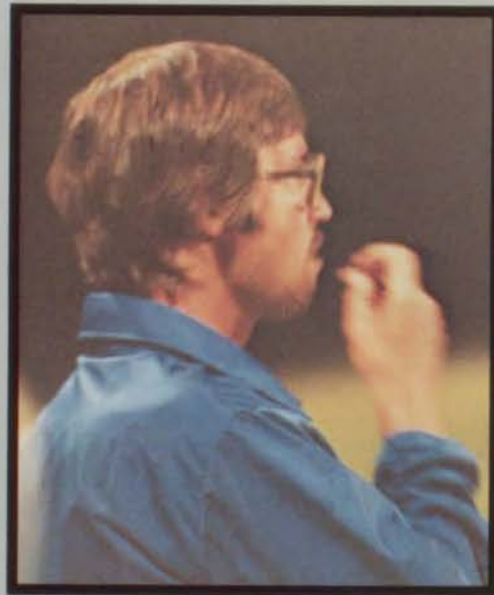

Did you see that?

The Best One Yet!

The word "Homecoming" conjures up images of togetherness and celebration. The corridors of Lincoln Academy were draped in blue and gold, and plastered with pictures of tigers eating eagles. The pep assembly stirred the feeling of competition for the impending football game. A gala array of paraders marched down Woodland Avenue exhibiting a portion of the talent that Lincoln Academy has in abundance. The always exciting football game was followed with the crowning of the King and Queen and their court at halftime. Afterwards, the band played "Backstabbers". Homecoming activities were culminated with the dance back at L.A., which was packed with jubilant fans!

But "Homecoming" is more than celebration. For some, it is a time for a resurgence of pride in school. For others, it is a time to put talent on display. Still, others expend their best effort in being the most enthusiastic fans. There's always a place and a task for everyone.

Homecoming, this third year of Lincoln Academy, was the best one yet! Both North and South Campuses were in high gear! Spirits soared and bubbled over as the L.A. Blue Tigers tromped over the Central Blue Eagles, 19-0! Lincoln Academy returned home triumphant, as we had taken 'one step further'.

S-O-U-L, We got soul!

"You're stepping on my dress!"

FALL HAPPENINGS

Freedom Shrine

Courtesy of the Kansas City Star and the Exchange Club of Kansas City, Lincoln Academy, this year, was designated as the only school in the metropolitan area to house a Freedom Shrine. This 'Freedom Shrine' consists of twenty-eight (28) copies of the most famous documents in American history. It is presently located in the Resource Center, offering a valuable learning opportunity for all who use it.

Mark Ebera accepting plaque.

Halloween Festivities

As Kansas City carried on a normal business day, Lincoln Academy, North was being invaded by beings not of this world. On October 30, the Drama department threw a Masquerade Jam to earn money for their up-coming projects. Thanks to Ms. Rivette and her classes, the halls were filled with cowboys, space creatures and Shakespearean characters, all heading for the masquerade in the gym. Prizes were offered for the best costumes. The decision was tough, but Lance Malone was declared the winner in his space bounty hunter costume, and Ronald (Flip) Mize took second place in his Incredible Hulk disguise.

As the North Campus was being overrun by witches, the South Campus was going pumpkins! A contest was held through the MST's to determine the best jack-o'-lantern. Pumpkins resembled everything from businessmen and cowboys to cats and space creatures. Everyone involved had lots of fun in the 'designer pumpkin' display of talent.

Back to the Books

Sports, banquets, and royalties fade into the background as students focus attention on books, tests and learning. Like Langston Hughes, their declaration is:

"We have tomorrow
Bright before us
Like a flame.

Yesterday, a night-gone thing
A sun-down name."

ONE

FURTHER . . .

IN ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

WORKING TOGETHER FOR

Mr. Michael Reese hopes that the individualized approach to instruction will give his students an edge in social studies.

Some teachers are "merely" interested in their students' progress; Mrs. Theya Lewis is very enthusiastic about it.

A few more lessons and Mr. Henry West may succeed in erasing that puzzled look from his student's face.

Advanced Placement English for Mrs. Mabel Moore and her students also had a serious side to it. In addition to regular classroom instruction, they spent two class periods weekly at Penn Valley, with Dr. Jeremiah Cameron as instructor.

A BETTER TOMORROW

College day is an added academic opportunity open to all juniors and seniors. By talking with college representatives, students may explore and learn more about college programs.

For Sybil Buford, language arts classes don't have to be routine.

If computers are about to take over, Earnestine Wilkes knows that she'd better be prepared.

A good background in science, means extensive lab work, among other things, in Mrs. Joanne Sabatka's chemistry class.

When Bennie Smith and Vernon York "slip away from" the building, two days, weekly, they mean business. They're on their way to U.M.K.C. for an advanced math class.

Mrs. Mabel Moore

For Mrs. Moore, "dedication to teaching", has been an ingrained part of her philosophy and her life. Mrs. Moore's teaching career has spanned 30 years. She began teaching kindergarteners in Illinois State School for Boys. Upon ending her 7 year hiatus in Illinois, Mrs. Moore immigrated to Kansas City and became a reading teaching at Lincoln High School.

Mrs. Moore has left an indelible mark on the minds of numerous young people over the past 20 years while she has taught at Lincoln. She has contributed her time and talent in diverse ways. Along with her teaching responsibilities, she has worked on committees — Textbook and Honor Society. She has sponsored the senior class and a Culture Club which grew out of her students' desire to further their knowledge of their culture and the desire to share their knowledge with others.

Since the Academy's inception, Mrs. Moore has chaired the English Department which includes classes in foreign language, and reading.

Having spent 30 continuous years as an instructor, Mrs. Moore summarizes her feelings this way: "Teaching has been a rewarding career as I've always had a great affection for children and young adults. Watching minds mature and seeing the wonders of learning never fail to delight me. It has made the past 30 years never cease to be a challenge. Every time a student comes back to say "thank you", I feel my time has not been wasted."

SPECIAL RECOGNITION FOR DEDICATED SERVICE

Mr. Fred Coleman

Mr. Fred Coleman, a fifteen year veteran teacher at Lincoln, deserves more than a pat on the back. His service of dedication to youth is an impressive one and includes the following: Math teacher, Chairman of the Special Education Department, Sponsor of the senior class, and chairperson of various committees on instruction and discipline.

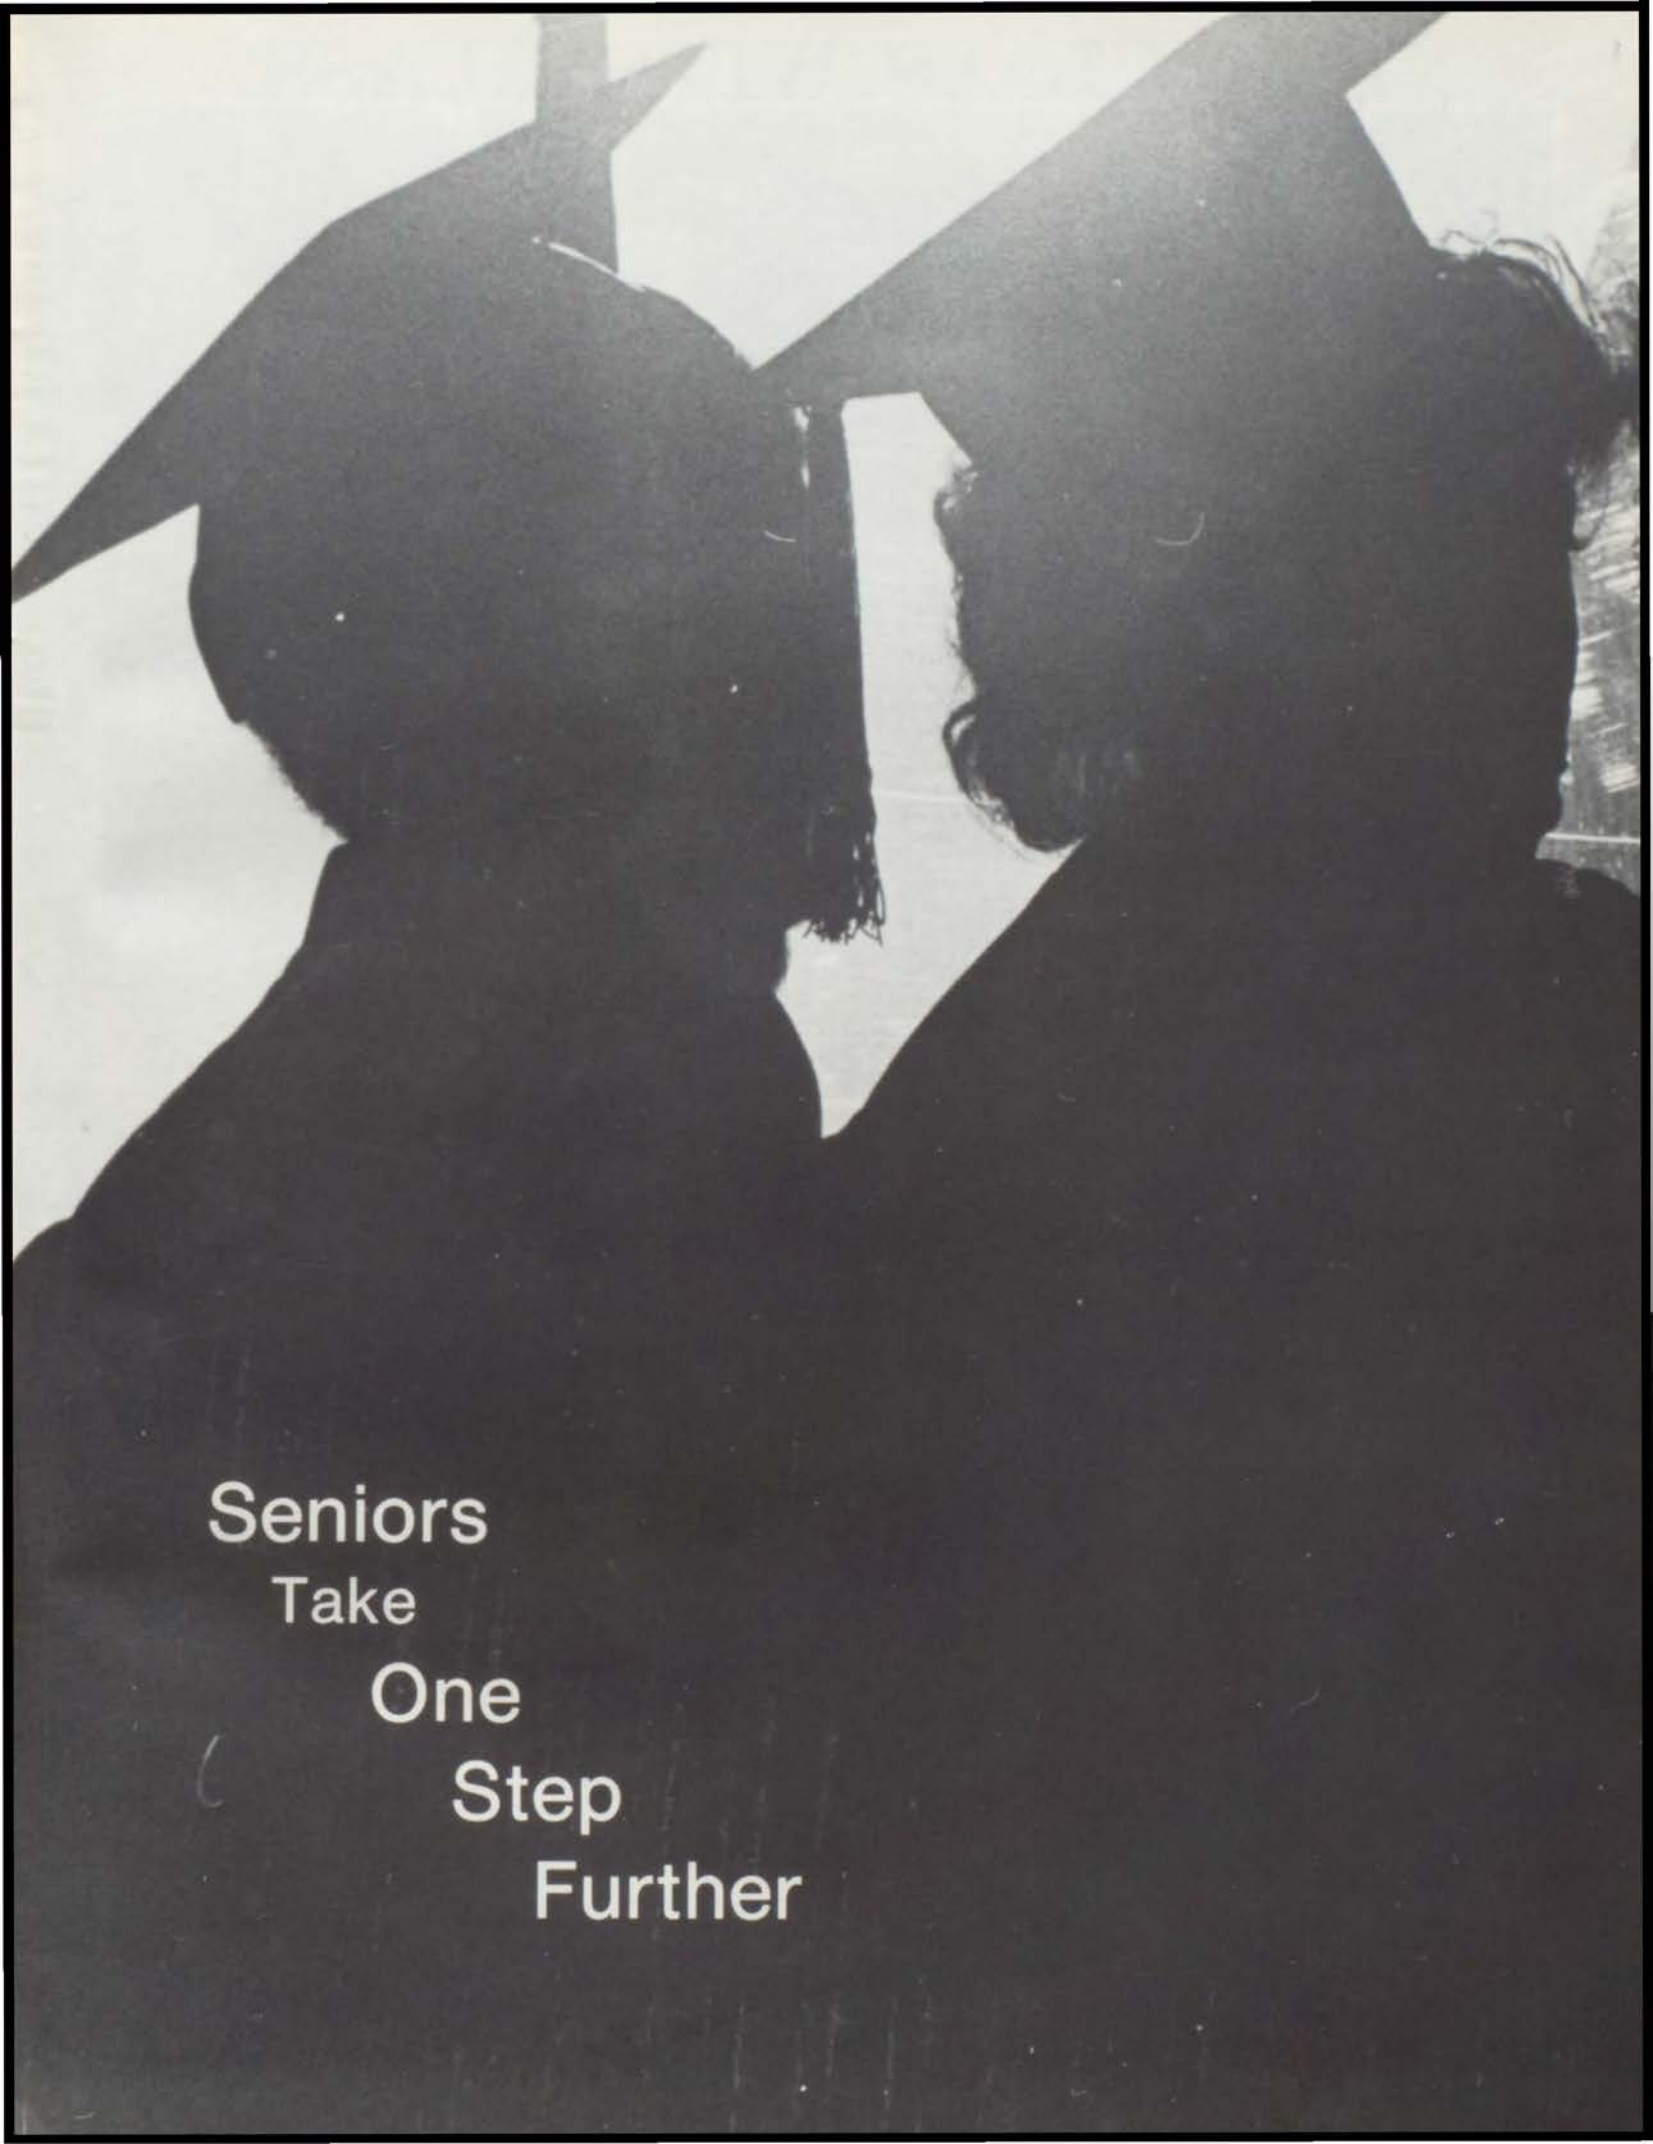

Since the organization of the magnet program, Mr. Coleman has chaired discussion groups, and shared with the faculty his expertise and experience in individualized instruction. He has also sponsored, through Mutual Support Teams, various charity projects.

Most recently, he has co-chaired and worked with the North Central Evaluation Committee — a project to which he devoted many long and tiring hours.

Mr. Coleman, in summing up, makes mention of his teaching career as an experience that afforded him tremendous opportunity to work with and for many young people on whom he has made an indelible impression.

To Mr. Coleman, Mrs. Moore and other teachers as dedicated as they, the Lincolnian staff pays its deepest respect. It is our wish that many students and teachers will continue to learn from the exemplary and professional careers of two very fine teachers.

Pamela Dickerson - Asst. Secretary,
Rossie Redmond and Daryl Davis

Daryl E. Grayer expresses his feelings about being president this year: "Patience is not the only quality a president must possess, but I've found that it's the quality of most importance." Daryl has devoted much of his time and great effort to making the senior class what it is, "Number one". Daryl is grateful to the senior class for having and keeping the faith that he could fulfill his elected office.

Daryl has been active in both varsity football and basketball since his sophomore year.

Daryl's will to the underclassmen is to strive for excellence.

Mr. and Miss Senior

Jean Moss, Miss Senior, is grateful to the senior class for selecting her as a representative of "The Class with Class". "I feel anyone who occupies this position should carry herself in a manner which expresses the attitudes, emotions and thoughts of the ladies of '81 as a whole."

Jean is an honor student, active in many of Lincoln's extra-curricular activities. Her ambition is to be a Mechanical Engineer specializing in design.

Jean wishes for every lady of '81 what she hopes for herself in the future, success and happiness in all endeavors.

Thomas A. Prewitt, Mr. Senior, has received the highest honor a high school football player could hope to receive: Most valuable player in the Interscholastic League. Another honor, Thomas feels, is reigning as Mr. Senior. "It's satisfying knowing that your class feels that you can represent them in any situation."

Class of '86

The definition of president is, "one who presides". But Darrin Greene, president of the Junior Class, found out that there is much more to the job than a fancy title. "It's a hard job!" exclaimed Darrin, "It demanded qualities of me that I didn't know I possessed. Yet, I somehow found them." Darrin said, "It always felt good to know that the class was backing me 100%.

The class has really pulled together this year, despite the obstacles, everpresent. The class no longer carries the attitude of "looking out for number one". They have adopted a new motto which states that, "There is power in numbers". Besides, said Darrin, 82 has always been our magic number."

Mr. and Miss Junior

Mr. Junior is 17 year-old Travis Yeargans. He has attended Lincoln Academy for three years. He participates in class activities and has been very active in sports, including, track, football and wrestling. Travis feels it was a great honor to be chosen Mr. Junior. His advice to underclassmen is: "Make good grades and participate in school activities."

Patricia Isaac is Miss Junior. Pat says, "Being Miss Junior makes me feel like I am an important person in my class. "It is truly an honor to be chosen to represent the mighty class of '82." Some of Pat's activities are band, martial arts, student government, and mediation and arbitration. Pat is also an honor roll student.

Diana feels that the sophomore class is "hyper." She says that they're not satisfied with things the way they are. "Sophomores are a group of people who want to accept challenge — to change what can be changed and to improve those things which can't be changed."

"Being president of the sophomore class is not an easy job but every job has its rewards. Especially when a project is completed, I feel proud that my classmates chose me to be their president," says Diana Irby.

Mr. & Miss Sophomore

Marilyn McGautha is a dynamic sophomore. She felt thrilled when she was selected to be Miss Sophomore to represent her class. She enjoys her classes and the activities at the Academy and she is proud to be a part of the sophomore class.

Kenneth Lee Hylton is a 16 year-old Sagittarian. His hobbies are drawing, participating in sports, (baseball and football), and spending money. He hopes to pursue a career as a cartoonist or a psychologist, after high school.

Kenneth feels that he was chosen as Mr. Sophomore because of his ability to relate to others.

Sophomores

The class president, Robert Shepherd, feels that it is fun being a class leader and he takes the job seriously. He feels that, because the freshmen class is the first to go the entire six years at the Academy, they are obligated to set an example for those who will follow them. As president, Robert feels that he should make good grades and encourage school spirit.

MR. AND MISS FRESHMAN

Miss Freshman, Lenetta Conway is an Aquarius. Her hobbies are skating, and swimming. She enjoys being a part of the 23rd Street Cobras and bike riding.

She feels that she was chosen as Miss Freshman because of her ability to communicate with her classmates. Representing her class, Lenetta feels that she should attend school activities and show a lot of spirit.

As Mr. Freshman, Damon Hopkins believes that he represents his entire class. He feels that his responsibilities are to obey all school rules, help to keep the school clean, maintain a good grade point average, and set a good example for others.

9th

The Gifted and Talented focused their attention this year, on the theme, "Learning to Live in the Future." Ninth and tenth graders participated in mini-courses. Learning/work sessions were conducted in the library. Students, assisted by librarians of the K.C. public library, received instruction and practical experience in the use of the library as a resource medium. An expansion of this project included a study of "Effective communication across racial and cultural barriers."

Students also studied problem solving and general systems.

Eleventh and twelfth graders were involved in small groups or individually. Internships were available at such places as Midwest Research Institute, City Hall, Headstart Programs, and K.U. Medical Center. Through the generosity of these organizations, students were able to spend one day each week at a work site, thereby gaining invaluable work experience.

The Lincoln Academy Blue Tigers Are Marching To A New Beat

Sounding off on a high note, the Lincoln Academy Blue Tigers, added most of the "umph" to our assemblies, games and general school atmosphere this year. Under the direction of Mr. Calvin Whitmore, the band consists of two groups, the Symphonic band of 63 members and the Marching band of 54 members.

The goals and accomplishments of the band extend beyond the confines of Lincoln Academy. In their appearance at the homecoming parade for the University of Arkansas, Pine Bluff, the team earned third place in competition against sixteen units. They were also awarded the following trophies: First place in the Hispanic Day Parade, 4th place in "Best in Parade" competition at the Antioch Pre-American Royal Parade, First place for "Best Marching Band Class S", first place for "Best Performing Band", and National Rating in the Interscholastic League Marching Band competition - 1980.

MARCHING COBRAS

String Orchestra

The string orchestra includes both North and South Campus students. The members are very enthusiastic about playing their instruments. The orchestra performs for programs at the Academy, at elementary schools, and takes part in the All-city orchestra Festival each year.

Two students, Yolanda Murray and Cynthia Harris are also members of the Kansas City Youth Symphony.

Row 1, left to right: Jill MacDonald, Adam Walsh, Vanessa Daniels, Brian Bratton, Andrea Dawson, Cynthia Harris, Mary Kelso. Row 2: Yolanda Murray, Mia Clifton, Shenetter Moore, Diane O'dell, Raymond Rennock, Robert Allen, Wendell Moore, Sonya Brunson, Thomas Griffin. As much as the TV and movie world has become a part of our lives in this society, it is not uncommon for many students to see themselves as actors. The Drama Club has become the "channel" that students have been able to switch to as they try to express their natural talent for acting.

The Drama Club demands work far more demanding than the turning of the knob of TV. Even so, students find fulfillment and pride when, after long hours of practice, they see themselves in the middle of the act.

The Drama Club, under the direction of Mrs. Brenda Rivette, is involved with many activities. The club has 26 members, who possess dynamic acting abilities. They are responsible for planning the two major school productions, for the year. They are also involved in a weekly workshop, with an instructor from the Norman Theatre of Arts. They enjoy perfecting their dramatic talents by attending the Waldo Astoria Theatre, the Lyric Theater, UMKC, and other interesting places. They have performed for state P.T.A. meetings, and many local organizations.

VOCAL ENSEMBLE

CONCERT CHOIR ADDS THE "ZING" TO SCHOOL LIFE

They're "Singing our Song", may sum up what people are saying about the North Campus Concert Choir. From Christmas carols to Broadway hits such as, "Hello Dolly", "Tomorrow", and "What I Did for Love", make up the range of selections and everyone's favorite seems to be included. Mrs. Dorothy Shepherd, choir directress, her accompanist, Mr. Michael Dolman, and her 40-voice concert choir have done better than an excellent job.

The year's performances started with an A+ rendition at the Performing Arts Extravaganza, South Campus, followed by other performances for Thanksgiving, Freedom Shrine and Black History Assemblies. Off campus performances included appearances at the following: Crown Center Square, the Plaza City Square, and Gates Restaurant.

The choir hopes to accomplish "winning" a tradition. Following last year's makeups, the choir is proud to announce that six students qualified for All-City Concert Choir and one student qualified for All-State Concert Choir.

The enthusiasm generated by Mrs. Shepherd keeps the choir on key. She says, "I like the freedom of the Academy as opposed to the traditional high school and I don't want to do anything but teach."

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY RECOGNIZES SCHOLARSHIP

It is the philosophy of Lincoln Academy that every student, given an equal opportunity, has a fair chance to excel academically. In addition, this philosophy holds that students who have excelled should be acknowledged and rewarded for their accomplishment.

Through the National Honor Society, Lincoln has been able to recognize students with outstanding academic achievement and character. Each year this society inducts qualifying students into the organization. New members are welcomed to the chapter at a formal induction ceremony. At this time old members, faculty and other students have an opportunity to honor and congratulate these students for their contribution to our school.

The French and Spanish Clubs participated in many activities this year.

In October the French Club attended the French and Latin concert at the Music Hall. In December the students took a trip to The Buttonwood Tree for a Christmas dinner. A trip to the Poetry Declamation and Art Contest at the University of Missouri-Columbia has been planned, also.

September 15-19 was designated as Hispanic Week at South Campus. Films were presented in the auditorium during the MST periods. Examples of Spanish/Mexican artifacts were on display. A visit to a restaurant to have an authentic Spanish meal was enjoyed by all club members.

A special program of Spanish/Mexican folklore dances was presented at an MST assembly held January 23. Beautiful authentic Spanish costumes were worn by the dancers. Many parents and family members shared in the programs this year.

BOOK CLUB

The purposes of the Book Club are: to improve the general reading habits of students at the Academy; to cultivate an interest in selecting various reading materials; to acquire knowledge and to learn to distinguish between facts and propoganda.

Some activities engaged in are: Presentation of a food basket to a senior citizen family; National Week Poster contest in April; and entertaining kindergarteners in April.

EXPLORER POST

The Explorer Post is designed to make students aware of various careers. It is sponsored through the Boy Scouts of Greater K.C. Hallmark Cards sponsors the Academy's post. The group has gone to Topeka, Kansas and they have listened to various speakers from businesses.

DEBATE AND FORENSICS

Make believe you're in a room in front of a judge and other contestants. Now . . . begin. Introduce your selection and start performing. Shut out the outside world and become different characters. For that eight minutes or more, you are a "pro" — in charge of your audience, never letting go. Your adrenalin pumps, your creative juices flow and your blood runs cold. That's competition! That's what Debate and Forensics is all about.

This year Lincoln Academy's debate and forensics squad brought home 14 trophies, 10 medals, and 2 certificates for outstanding performances. Directed by Ms. Carolyn James, the team began its 1980-81 season in September, preparing for the first tournament at Oak Park High School. From that point on, it was full speed ahead! A quote from Sandy Dennis sums up the feelings of the debaters: "Debate has created and generated enthusiasm in students to motivate them to become self-directed and self-disciplined."

Student Advisory Committee

South Campus

In a school such as Lincoln which offers a diversified and untraditional program, the need for communication between faculty and student body may be crucial. There is the need on the part of the students to be heard and understood. On the other hand, there's a need on the part of the faculty to let students know that the faculty wants to listen and wants to respond to the needs of the students.

The Advisory Committee represents the attempt on the part of the faculty to establish a line of communication between students and faculty.

Will the real Salazar please stand up? Student Government added to our confusion when "Sprit Week" featured "Twin Day".

"The Voice of the Student Body" would be an appropriate title to be conferred on the Student Government of Lincoln Academy for the 1980-81 school year. This group has actively been involved with the concerns of the student body. It has made an effort to bring the interest of their fellow students to the attention of the faculty.

The Student Government consists of five officers and approximately 45 MST representatives. Officers are voted on by the student body. MST representatives are selected by members of individual MST groups.

Officers with sponsor meet weekly on Mondays to formulate plans for activities. On Wednesdays the MST representatives meet jointly with officers to elaborate on their plans. Such projects as Sprit Week, Keep the Building Clean Contest, Student Exchange Day, Faculty vs. Student Basketball Game were the result of the effort on the part of the Student Government to boost School spirit through participation.

Highlights Of The Year For R.O.T.C.

For the second consecutive year Lincoln was able to capture the Honor Star with distinction in the Annual Federal Inspection. The Battalion worked hard to win the star and they deserved it.

The R.O.T.C. Battalion continue to assist in community and during school functions. They assist with the United Way Campaign, Career Fair, College Day, football and basketball games, and Home Comings.

February brings the annual R.O.T.C. Ball, a very formal event which is one of the highlights of the year.

LINCOLNIAN STAFF GETS THE JOB DONE

With the deadline ticking closer and closer — staff members and sponsors make plans and take a careful look at the last minute details.

Hard work keeps them jumping, but staff members: (L. to R.) Carla Gadson, Sharon Jones, Tanje Johnson, and Bridgette Baskin wear the grin of optimism on their faces.

“Saga of the Darkroom”

When the yearbook staff was given permission to use the “Darkroom” as production headquarters, we had no idea how symbolic the word, “darkness” was to become in our working experience. The times we found ourselves struggling in the “dark” were numerous. It was only the dedication of faithful staff members that kept the flame of determination and enthusiasm glowing in the darkroom.

Mrs. Gordon, one of the sponsors, feels that every student, with the ability, should get a chance to work with a project as challenging as the yearbook. Remembering that every mistake you make will come back to haunt you, the student learns to follow directions, to work accurately and to have respect for deadlines. Ms. Abner, also one of the sponsors, feels that working with the yearbook is an overall enriching experience for everyone involved, because it is necessary to work together, to persevere, to take initiative, and to wait for the reward and/or consequences.

Fortunately, the yearbook saga has a brighter side. According to Flawn, yearbook editor, “It was a great learning experience.”

TO VARSITY PLAYERS

Lincoln finished third in its district for the state play-offs. The first and second place teams qualified. Lincoln led the league for the first five weeks of the season. (See scoreboard on preceding page.)

The most unusual game of the season was played against East. The game was played in a driving rain storm. The players were forced to play a scoreless game plus 4 overtimes in ankle-deep mud before the game was called a tie. Three weeks later, after 2 more overtimes, the game finally ended with East the victor. The six overtimes tied a state record.

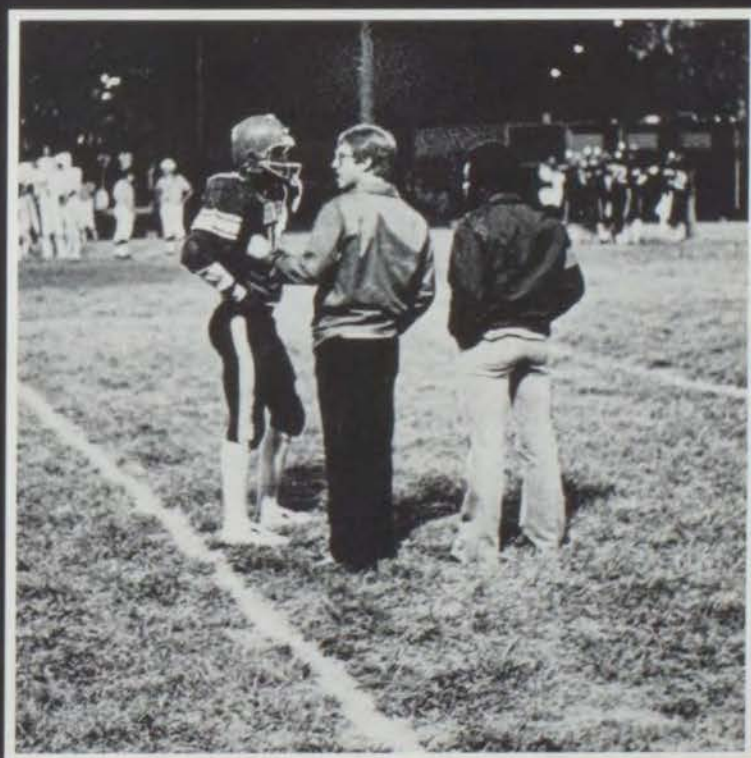

However, the highlight of the 1980 season came with the recognition of the varsity players who received honors: All conference first team offense - Bennie Smith; Center - Vernon York; tackle - Thomas Prewitt; quarterback - Ernest Griffin; running back, first team defense - Hamp Fondren; end - Gerren Moore; corner back, second team defense - Jeffrey Hurd; tackle - Donald Conway; linebacker - Bennie Smith; linebacker - Daryl Grayer; safety, honorable mention, defense-Ernest Griffin; safety, All-Metro second team offense - Bennie Smith; center, honorable mention, offense - Thomas Prewitt; quarterback - Daryl Grayer; running back - Ernest Griffin; running back - Vernon Youk; tackle, defense - Hamp Fondren; end - Gerren Moore; defensive back, second team offense - Thomas Prewitt; quarterback - Ernest Griffin; runningback - Vernon Youk; tackle - Bennie Smith; center, second team defense - Hamp Fondren; end - Jeffrey Hurd; tackle - Bennie Smith; linebacker - Ernest Griffin

FRESHMEN FINISH .500

As a member of the freshman football team, I saw our season as a building block for bigger and better seasons to come. Coach Reese and Coach Rashad taught us about ourselves and how to use all of our strengths. Coach Misemer helped us too, in building our football unit.

Fresh out of Junior High, most of us had less than two years of little league experience. Our first three games of the season were not very successful. But after changing quarterbacks and attitudes, the last half of the season showed Lincoln Academy what we really could do. (See scoreboard.) All season, we strived to do our utmost — to give our all. By the time we become seniors, we will rise to the top and become state champ.

VARSITY BOYS' BASKETBALL

The Lincoln Academy Blue Tigers made a valiant effort to win the league title for the second consecutive year. The Tigers posted victories over highly ranked Southeast, O'Hara, and Harmon High Schools. However, two crucial losses, one to East and the other to Southeast, ended the Tigers bid for the league title.

Nevertheless, after the regular season was over, the Tigers entered the Regionals and were successful in their attempts to participate in the state play-offs.

BASKETBALL HOMECOMING

Coming close to the finish line after a season of hard work, the basketball team was ready to mix business with pleasure. February 24, in their Homecoming game against the Southwest Indians, the Tigers took care of business and added a good amount of pleasure to their winning.

The 1980-81 Homecoming game brought the fans out in large numbers, kept them in suspense for the first and second quarters, then got them to their feet as the Mighty Tigers defeated the Indians 51 to 50!

The taste of victory was sweetened when the evening's highlight — the coronation of the Basketball Royalty, and the appearance of the Cobras brought cheers from the excited fans.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL AND VOLLEYBALL, "THEY WERE THE BEST"

Women's sports got off to a rousing start and continued in high gear until the season ended. Both basketball and volleyball teams experienced the joy of winning this season. According to one of the players, "girls' sports should receive as much acclaim as the sports dominated by boys because our sports are important to us and participation in sports, rather than being in the crowd watching, helps us in many ways, such as helping us to grow in unity, learning to share, to lose without giving up and other things."

MEET THE WINNERS

'81 Baseball Team

The Lincoln Academy Blue Tigers Baseball Team starts its second season with Bernard Williams and Robert Rashad as coaches. Last year's team went 12-2 and this year we hope to do better. The goal of the team is to win the State Championship.

The Tigers are led by seniors, Willie Davenport and Ronald Mize and juniors, Earnest Griffin and Jeffrey Hurd. The team eagerly awaits the return of pitcher/first baseman, Reginald Williams. The Junior Varsity's top players are, freshmen, Brent Marley and Miguel Warren and sophomore, Terry Raily.

The Magnet Advantage

- Courses geared to student's individual interests, abilities, and career goals
- Low adult/student ratio with one-to-one counseling as often as the student wishes
- Valuable community experience through off-campus courses and work/study internships
- Effective college or job placement counseling
- An education that is related to the real world, the chance to move quickly toward tangible success in life
- An opportunity to make decisions about the future

Computer Programming

In computer programming, the student learns computer languages such as BASIC, COBOL, and FORTRAN. Students work at their own paces with over twenty (20) computer terminals available at the Academy. Programmers often come as guest speakers and demonstrate the abilities of various computers.

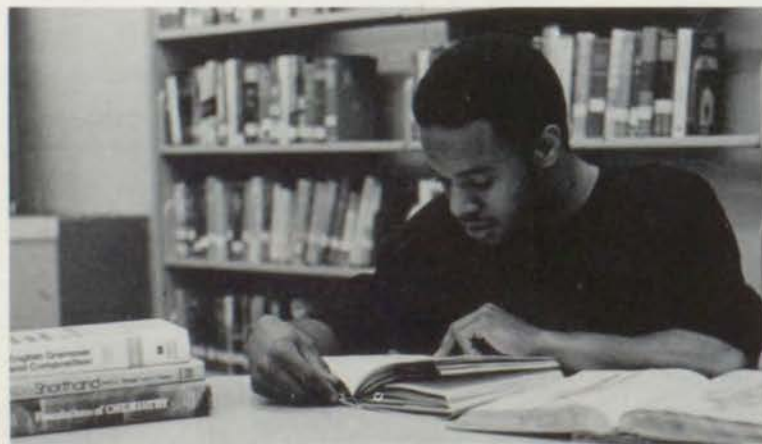

Expanded Physical Ed

L.A.'s physical education classes exceed the traditional 'gym' classes. There are classes in archery, baseball, golf, gymnastics, martial arts, modern dance, recreational swimming, tennis, and others.

Gifted and Talented

North Campus Gifted and Talented students are allowed 4-day school weeks, using the fifth day for exploring career fields and developing life, work, and leisure skills. There are over three hundred and sixty (360) G/T students at the Academy, adding up to about 1/3 of the campuses' population.

Independent Study

Students who take courses through independent study, may complete all assignments necessary for the course without actually reporting for classes at a scheduled time, the student receives normal credit.

Internships

Internships are offered to upper-classmen for hands-on experience in a chosen career environment. One day per week in the environment, with a written report of that day's experience, enables the student to receive 1/2 credit per semester for serving the internship.

L.A. Justice Center

Instead of faculty/administration dictatorship at the Academy, student mediators and arbitrators help compromise disagreements among students or between students and faculty. The L.A.J.C. will prove that there are more ways than one to settle disputes.

Mutual Support Teams

Lincoln Academy's MST's are designed to meet a variety of needs. Before or after lunch, a student is given the opportunity to discuss problems with a Mentor. The student may participate in rap sessions, seek assistance with classwork, work on MST projects, study, or just use the time for leisure.

Enriched Classes

Most classes are considerably smaller than the traditional ones, with many having fewer than ten (10) students. This lower teacher/student ratio allows for more individualized assistance, thereby enabling students to progress at their own pace.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

To all — teachers and students — who in any way assisted in the preparation of the New LINCOLNIAN, we offer our sincere thanks.

Special recognition to Mrs. Gassaway's class for large candy sales, to Deborah Collins and Lisa Harris for voluntary yearbook membership, to Linda Taft and Anna Gosnell for collage pages, and Damon Bryant for assistance with ad work and to Ms. Abner's classes for their understanding attitudes.

We are especially indebted to Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Swinton, and Mr. Jim Reed for their kind assistance and to Mrs. Thomas and Ms. Ramey for their generosity and patience in the use of the typing room.
