This year has been a most successful one for the dramatic department under the direction of Mr. C. C. Fairchild. This department presented this fall a three-act mystery-comedy, "The Ghost Parade." The actors were: Gail Cunningham, Glen Shaffer, Clifford Canaday, Dwayne Smith, Geneva Kramos, Leora Major, Israel Mendelsohn, Lawrence Burton, Clem Fairchild, Lorraine Larson, Wayne Boring, Amber Wight, Erma Martin, Minnette Capito, Reuben Levine, and Dorothea Ozar.

Spring Plays were: Rooms to Let, A Case of Suspension, and Squaring it with the Boss.

The outstanding dramatists this year have been Clifford Canaday, Glen Shaffer, Dwayne Smith, Geneva Kramos, Gail Cunningham, and Mary L. Bosley.

Manual's Debate Team has finished a most interesting year by debating with Westport, William Chrisman, and Southwest. The question for debate was "Resolved, that the United States should adopt the essential features of the British System of radio control and operation."

In the Freshman-Sophomore contest, Richard Dinus placed first and Anthony Sanna placed second.

The winners of the Boys' and Girls' orations were Frank Scholzman, Geneva Kramos, first; Clem Fairchild, Leora Major, second.

"A Bit of This and That," sponsored by Dr. Helen Perkins proved to be one of the most splendid and popular entertainments that Manual has ever had. This show included all departments.

The National Honor Society is the goal toward which all pupils try to reach during their four years of high school work. This is a very high honor, and those who attain it should be highly congratulated. To become a member of this society, the pupil must be superior in scholarship, character, service, and leadership.

Members of our faculty composed the committee which spent many hours in carefully checking the candidates' High School records. They considered both the scholastic averages and the outside activity work during the four years course.

On May 24, there was a beautiful ceremony before the student body in assembly. Several alumni of this organization assisted with the ceremony. Ida Mae McCroskey, in a white robe, administered the pledge. Mary Lomax Iseman, wearing a white robe portrayed scholarship and Jack Baughman wearing a purple robe, represented leadership.

The four junior girls who assisted in this ceremony were: Rosemary Zittin and Bertha Major, candle bearers; Dorothea Wilson and Rosemary Dalton, flag bearers.

Under the able instruction of Sergeant Fred Faust, our Reserve Officers' Training Corps have completed another highly successful year of discipline and military training. On April 13, the annual R. O. T. C. Circus was held in Convention Hall. Manual cadets commanded by Capt. Workizer put on a company inspection. The company was inspected by Colonel O. Payne. Immediately following the Grand March, the orchestra played the "Bugle Call Rag."

On November 11, 1933, the Manual Battalion participated in the annual Armistice Day Parade.

Taking its share of honors, the Manual Battalion, on November 13, 1933, participated in the Grand Entry at the Stock Show which was held at the American Royal.

In the Inter-Scholastic Rifle Match, our rifle team, headed by Capt. Silva, placed fourth.

The Kansas City Rifle Team composed of members from the several high school teams, fired in the Corps Area rifle match and won first place. Manual was ably represented on this team by Capt. Silva, who in return for his most excellent marksmanship received a very beautiful medal.

One of the outstanding social events of the school year, the R. O. T. C. Hop, was held on the evening of March 9. Major Grant, his wife, Colonel Payne, and Lt. Depew were guests of honor. Dwayne Smith was our Master of Ceremonies.

In the Grand March, the couples paraded around the hall according to officer's rank, followed by honorary guests, faculty, alumni and members of the Battalion. After a refreshment recess, Major Smith introduced Sgt. Faust, who in turn presented Major Dwayne Smith a commission. Major Smith then presented our Sponsor Major, Gail Cunningham, the sponsor officers, Marguerite Sherard, Ellouise Green, Leora Major, and Winifred Fagg their commissions.

The R. O. T. C. picnic held at Swope Park was attended by a large crowd and a very enjoyable time was had by all.

NAUTILUS CALENDAR, 1934

Sept. 5—Annual stock of greenies come skating in, hunting for the elevator to carry them to the third floor where assembly tickets could be purchased. Among our building's new decorations are Miss Lou Brown and Mrs. Lottie Reber.

Sept. 22—Our Manualites arrive full of gossip and news, which the copy cat has already begun getting through nosing into other peoples' business. Just another Walter Winchell.

Sept. 26—After a contest in singing, these boys were chosen as cheer leaders for our school: Birch Shepherd, Clem Fairchild, Jack McKinstry, and Frank Allen as the alternate. My, what healthy lungs they have.

Sept. 30—The East Bears conquer our Crimson Cardinals but not without a hard fight.

Oct. 7—Even if the Northeast Vikings did beat us 12-0, we've still got our fighting spirit.

Oct. 14—Are we ever good? The Blue Eagles, who are the champs so far, just had a lucky break when they emerged 0-0 from our battling football team.

Oct. 21—Many feminine hearts went pitter-patter as our handsome he-men dished it out to Westport, who may think their players are Tigers, but they're mere kittens to us.

Oct. 25—And I thought seniors were dignified, but Dean Litts took the yo-yo championship from a Southwest guy so I guess we'll forgive him.

Oct. 28—Even if Southwest did beat us 17-0, wasn't it thrilling to see Cuba make that 80 yard run?

Nov. 11—Kicking season ends with an exciting game as Paseo Pirates narrowly escaped defeat (9-6). Our own Herbie Knecht, again, is all-star center on the first team while Bernard Cuba holds the position as halfback on the second team.

Nov. 29—Thanksgiving holidays begin! More turkeys, cranberries, and tummy aches!

Dec. 8—Shivers and more shivers as the "Ghost Parade," presented by the Dramatic Department, marched across the stage with black hoods and long capes with a background of spooky noises, lightning, and thunder!

Dec. 22—Was Eugenia Wilds' face red when Eagle Plume picked her as his squaw and bid her to "cum up an' see me some time."

Dec. 23—Who said there is no Santa Claus? Even Mr. Barrett knows there is 'cause dear St. Nick, recognizing his talent as an Ed Wynn, left him a fire-chief hat at our mixer.

Jan. 2—After many "Ohs" and "Ahs" Manual students return from a week of merriment.

HERBIE KNECHT—Awkward Squad, 1, 2, 3, 4.

Forty-Five

Jan. 5—Basketball season opens with the Northeast Vikings winning, but our boys certainly showed teamwork. (12-19)

Jan. 12—Ahem! Haven't the R. O. T. C. boys been popular since they've been choosing the 22 sponsor nominees! The explanation for the disheartened faces one meets is that the time has come for them to 'fess up to all they don't know. Meaning tests.

Jan. 22—First day of the term goes off with a whiz-bang as we conquer our old rival—Central, with a score 29-21, in our grandest basketball game of the year.

Jan. 26—Was our toe ever stepped on when the Tigers burst forth in a 2-10 score!

Jan. 29—Here's to Gail, our sponsor major. A girl who's proved to be a loyal and capable leader of our R. O. T. C.

Feb. 2—We had more fun as we watched our Crimson Cardinals pluck the Southwest Indians' feathers! Even if they are the Champs we beat 'em 16-12.

Feb. 9—The "big shots" of the societies have been elected to positions equal to their imaginative ability.

Feb. 16—Oh, me! The Northeast Vikings escaped with a 11-17 score but we'll get even next year!

Feb. 22—"Keep young and healthy" is our slogan from now on, and we've even gone so far as to organize a Health Club.

Mar. 1—Because Richard Dinus had the largest mouthpiece and the biggest bag of hot air he won the Freshman-Sophomore Contest, sponsored by the Demosthenes, in spite of his numerous close rivals. (Don't take us seriously, Richard.)

Mar. 9—Our R. O. T. C. Hop looked like a flower shop. Girls, beauty, and a tempting atmosphere, punch dancing, and romancing were here.

Mar. 22—The Dramatic department presented three laugh squeezers for a mere ten cents. But say, this is the first play Gail's been in that she wasn't kissed. But I know of lots of boys who are willing to make it up for her.

Apr. 6—Our longlegged boys were asked to go out for track today as the season will soon open.

Apr. 13—Manual's colors flew high in the Ward-Liberty Track Meet in the 46 1-3 to 34 1-3 score. It was because dear old Cuba, Shanklin, Shaffer and Tyndall did their "stuff."

WE DELIVER

Apr. 20—A whirl-wind of music, dancing, singing, stunts, parades, etc., marked a successful climax of weeks of practice and work in which the faculty and students jointly labored to make a grand program and overfill the auditorium with an appreciative audience! Ivaruth Brotherton surely named it when she called it "A Bit of This and That."

May 16—Amid a splendid banquet of music, food, and speeches, the Astorians were taken into the Demosthenes. (Both boys and girls were thrilled.)

May 18—What a lovely prom the juniors gave the seniors who were so overcome by the jolly juniors that they lost their dignity! (Tee-Hee.)

May 23—We all donned rompers and became tots again (at least we acted as such) as we skipped to the P. T. A. Picnic and rode on bumble-bees!

May 24—The solemn beautiful service of the National Honor Society was so impressive! At least it inspired me to resolve to work for better grades.

May 25—Class day took us into the mystic future as weird gypsies looked into crystal balls and predicted the downfall of the juniors. (That after the grand prom we gave 'em!)

May 29—Our dear seniors left (for a vacation) today while the ripening greenies (freshies to you) gazed wonderingly, longingly, and admiringly after them. It really is sad for that handsome senior in my second-hour was so generous in passing out gum. (Boo-hoo!)

SMILE

Webster put into his book,
A page that was worth while,
When he took his pen and wrote the page,
On which was written, Smile.
—Nancy Maynard '34

BOOKS OF THE DAY

"My Gold Medals," Dwayne Smith. This novel is getting rather well-known.
"How I Became a Speaker," William Greenberg. A rather long-winded tale.
"How to Make Love," by Lawrence Burton, an experienced author.
"Why I Cut Classes," Jack Ritz. Confessions of a criminal.
"The Thoughts of a Freshman," La Verne Goforth. She presents the athletic view of dear old Manual.

SENIOR CLASS WILL

To Whom it May Concern:

We, the collectors of troubles, arguments, and money (?), etc., as members of the worthy class of 1934 of Manual Training High School, do hereby bequeath the following implements, mannerisms, and characteristics to you remaining strugglers.

To the faculty, we the students of 1934, leave the gray hairs we caused them. No dye is allowed.

INDIVIDUAL BEQUESTS!

I, Gail Cunningham, bequeath my cape to the girl whose neck will fit the collar.

To Glenn Shaffer, I, Clifford Canaday, leave my marvelous acting ability. May you do it justice!

My magnetic voice is left by me, Geneva Kramos, to Dorothea Ozar. May she win a medal, too!

I, Frances Hindman, bestow my beautiful blond tresses to Maria Munoz.

I, Mister Frank Allen, leave my girl attracting ability to Elmo Hargrave, providing he can take good care of it.

I, Sir Edgar Riderburg, leave my speaking ability to Frank Schlozman, if he can find something worth talking about.

My most precious possession, my dancing ability, I, Leoma McReynolds, bequeath to Thelma Whitten.
