An Appreciative Tribute to Miss May Blanche Duggins

from

THE FACULTY OF THE NORTHEAST HIGH SCHOOL

February 19, 1925.

ALTHOUGH the Northeast High School is but little over 10 years old, she has already lost six of her teachers by death,—the last being Miss May Blanche Duggins, who passed away on February 7th; and on February 8th, her remains were interred at Marshall, Mo., where she had taught many years, and where some of her relatives still live.

Miss Duggins was born in Cambridge Township, near Marshall, and came from an exemplary ancestry.

She had persistently and assiduously equipped herself for the teaching profession until she secured her Master's Degree from the Chicago University.

Most of her teaching was done in Marshall, Mo., and in Kansas City, to which place she came in 1920, so that she might be with her sister, Miss Elizabeth Duggins, who teaches in the Yeager school. As a teacher, she demonstrated her sterling qualities of keenest sympathy and personal self-sacrifice, in a life of unselfish service for others.

All who knew her speak of her cheerfulness and patience with her pupils, who gladly strove to do what "Miss May" instructed them to do. She was tearfully appreciative of what others did for her, and professionally she exhibited to her school supervisors a spirit of hearty co-operation.

In our school she endeared herself to the members of the Clonian Society as their adviser, by her genial nature and by her ardent spirit of helpfulness.

Her four years of faithful service have thus endeared her to the hearts of all her appreciative pupils and fellow teachers. Since no good work or deed is ever lost, thrice-blessed is the home, school or community which has felt the refining influence of a wholesome character like that of Miss Duggins.

Thus to have lived is not to die.

"Like the vase in which roses have once been distilled,—
You may break, you may shatter the vase, if you will;
But the scent of the roses—will linger there still."

E. D. PHILLIPS, Chairman,
MISS ERDICE GRUBE,
MR. G. W. DAVIS,

Committee.

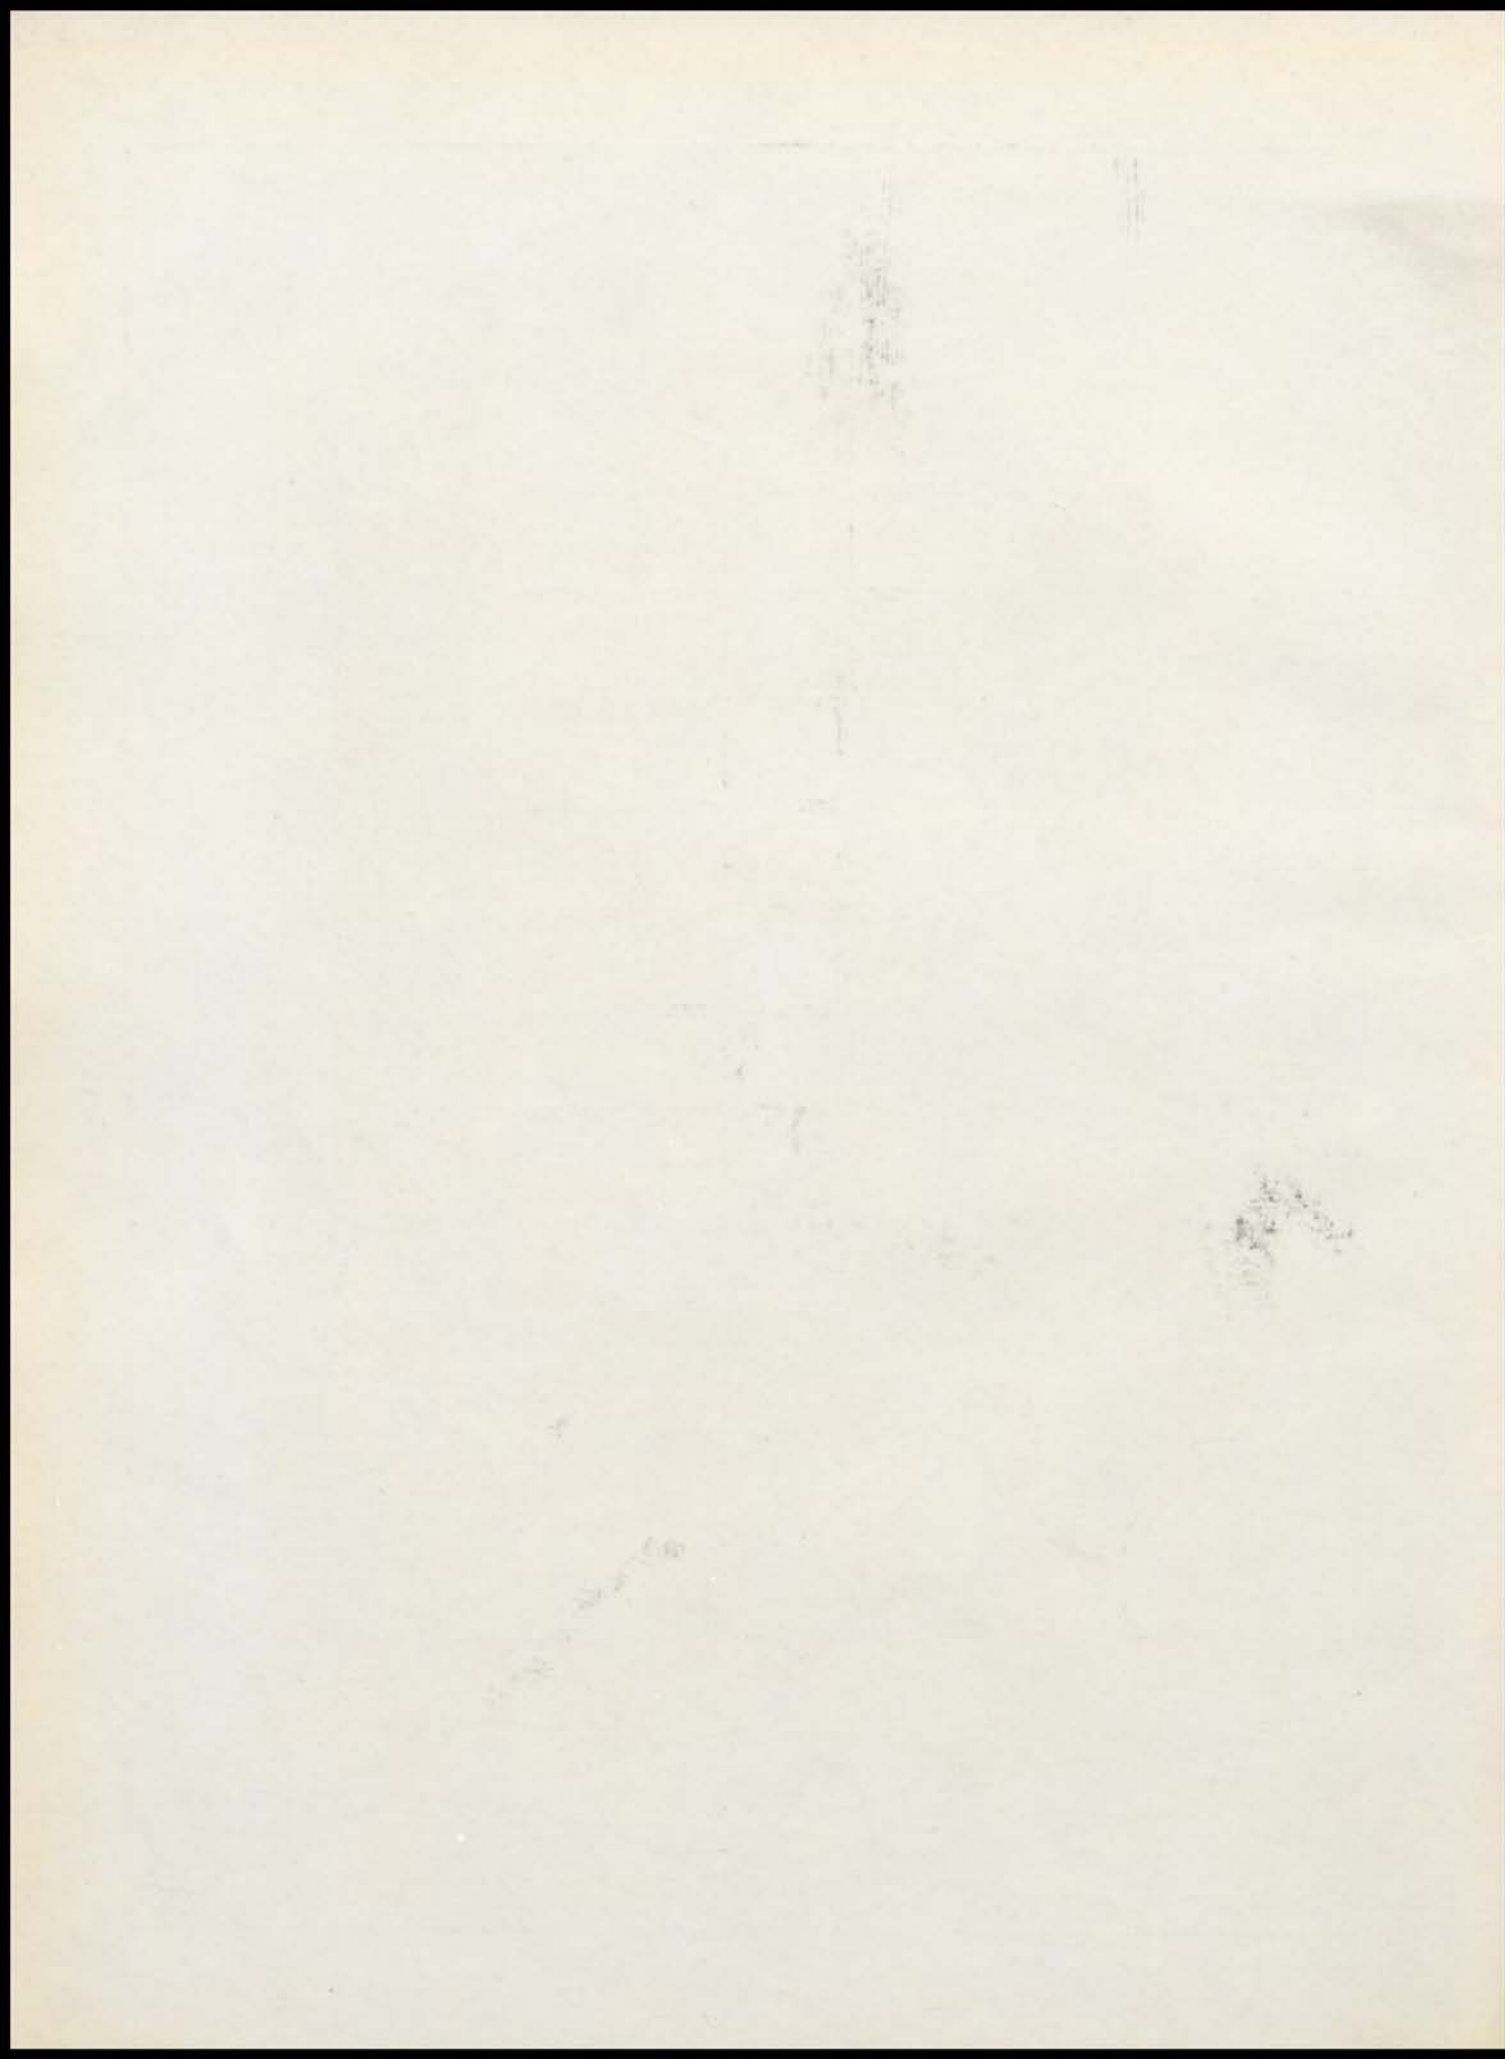

A Tribute to Miss Willie Walker

Futile is our attempt to express the aching void in our hearts since our beloved comrade, Miss Willie Walker, left us. It is not necessary for us to memorialize her, for Miss Walker's life itself will ever be a "majestic memory, divinely sweet." Her departure has been an irreparable loss to the faculty and the students of Northeast High School and to the community of which she was a part. Her brilliant mind ever alive to vital issues, her sympathetic insight into the joys and the problems of student life, her courage to defend her convictions, her unselfish and magnanimous spirit endeared her to everyone. All who knew her, and especially those who had the privilege of close friendship, miss the charm and cheerfulness of her culture. "Tho life be fled," the great soul of Miss Willie Walker "is living still, immortal in its ministry of song."

And it came about that in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and twenty-one on the fourth day of September sounds of new voices rang through the halls of Northeast. For the mighty class of '25 had entered the portals of higher learning.

Their ignorance was colossal and their mistakes as countless as the sands of the sea. But the patience and perseverance of the upper classmen was as unending and relentless as time. And from them the "Freshies" learned many things.

The sands of time did swiftly flow and again with head erect and bearing more assured did come the class of '25, now as Sophomores. But behold! there was a new order, for there forthwith appeared Junior High and the Sophomores were deprived of much joy making.

The months passed by and the erstwhile "Sophs" became Juniors. The class had by now become so learned that they could well impart knowledge to the less fortunate members of the school.

And lo! in the cycle of the years there appeared the Senior class—mightiest among all mighty classes—greatest among all the great. The class of '25 accomplished more than the fondest hope could have wished for it. Its claims to supremacy lay not only in visible winnings but in the invisible force that will go forth as this class goes out into the world.

Little mites o' Freshies,
 Little Sophs with sass
 Make the noted Juniors
 Then the finest Senior class.

An atmosphere of expectancy hung over the vast throng of people gathered in the majestic stadium of Time. The throng was the world, for had not the eyes of the world been cast upon that splendid class of '26. The main event of the year was the great Relay of Time, which is eternal; one class passing on to another the torch of Northeast's glory to be carried once more around the track of that venerable stadium, which had seen class after class try to surpass the preceding one.

The people waited impatiently for the start of the much heralded class of '26, which was to carry on the responsibility of defending Northeast's fame and glory from her rivals.

The race is on!

The class of '26, the Juniors, is running brilliantly ahead of a field of unsurpassed rivals, not even beaten by the class of '25.

Northeast needs to fear not for the future when such a class as this is to guide her on to victories and glories undreamed of in the past.

Why should not these things be expected when the class of '26, the most successful Junior Class that ever tread the revered halls of Thou Dear Northeast, is pledged in solemn duty to thy glory.

ROBT. RICHARDS.

Sophomore Class

Last year's Freshmen, this year's Sophomores, here we stand, the best class ever in the history of the school and one which has added more glory to dear Northeast than any other Sophomore class has yet done, be it known.

We have representatives on the Honor Rolls, we have boys in track, on the basketball team, and outstanding men in R. O. T. C. We are also represented on the girls' debate team. Indeed, many cups would not have been won without the aid of this Sophomore class and best of all we have only begun to add glory to our school. We shall be an example for the classes to follow and though not fully appreciated it is really the class of '27 which is outstanding in everything at North-east.

Christmas Play

"Heartease," a romantic comedy, which was presented in the auditorium the nights of December 12 and 13, was the first of its kind to be given for a number of years. It was welcome, if one can judge by the reception accorded it by the three thousand people who witnessed it.

The story of the play is woven around the struggles of a young musician with his first opera. The climax, when the musician recognizes his stolen opera, is a gripping one, and was enjoyed to the utmost. John Holland portrayed the musician in a very able manner. He was supported by Virginia Whiting who, as Margaret Neville, made a charming heroine. Winfield Bowser, as Lord Neville, and William Gill, as Padbury, displayed the most natural ability. Theirs were eccentric character parts difficult for high school people. Charles Luckman, who played the role of Captain O'Hara, was well suited to the character of the laugh provoking, blarneying Irishman.

The play was under the direction of Miss Hobbs, and Mr. Pinkney had charge of the lighting effects, which were exceptionally good.

The time of the play was the eighteenth century and both the costumes and scenery used were very picturesque. The third act had a most unusual setting, that of the lobby of an opera house. About four hundred dollars was made on the play.

KATHERINE FRICK.

Antigone

The presentation of the Greek tragedy "Antigone" November 21, 1924, was one of the most spectacular plays ever produced at Northeast. The simplicity, dignity and beauty of the play were characteristic of Greek style.

Ardene Stephens played the title role exceptionally well—her voice being suited to this type of play.

The king was played with much impressive, regal poise by Baron DeLouis.

The most difficult character, aged prophet, was ably played by Fred Hawkins. Strangers were impressed with his ability to play such a character, and friends could hardly recognize him, so complete was the disguise.

Much research work was necessary to produce "Antigone" so accurately, which was all done by the faculty of the history department.

The chorus created a real Greek atmosphere, reflecting from audience to players and from stage to audience the moods of the scenes. The orchestra heightened the effect with occasional appropriate music.

One unusual feature of this play was that the curtain was up when the audience arrived, and was never lowered, true to ancient outdoor style.

Music Department

The music clubs have had the greatest support this year from the school-at-large of any in their eleven years organization. All energies were concentrated on the winning of the music contest at Convention Hall, March 31. In preparation of this event the seventy-five members of the Glee Club and Treble Clef met for seven-thirty morning rehearsals from Christmas on, for seven-fifteen rehearsals from February on, and came at seven o'clock the last two weeks. The eleventh victory was worth all this effort.

In recognition of the ten years of such an unbroken record a tablet was presented to the school. This year the cups won were Boys' Chorus and Sight Reading.

A boys' and girls' quartet were formed in January. The members—Raymond Barr, Uhl Winans, Joe Jennett, Arthur Castleman, Ruth Reynolds, Hazel Hopkins, Lucille McNeeley, Clella Hobbs. This Octette sang in several school assemblies and outside places. A letter was received from the Samoa Islands after hearing a program broadcast from Sweeney's Radio at which Northeast musicians performed, including the Octette.

The Northeast orchestra is the pride of our hearts. They play for all school assemblies and evening performances. The entire orchestra of forty played in a concert at the Grace Presbyterian Church, Grand Avenue Temple, before the Missouri Teachers' Convention in November, and in demonstration before the National Music Supervisors' Convention in April. They also accompanied the cantata, "The Building of the Ship," which was directed by Mr. Chaffee at Manual High School in February. In the above mentioned cantata Northeast won the solo contest held between the four high schools. Those winning solos were: Hazel Hopkins, Lucille McNeeley, Lois Swaney, Rega Kelso, Raymond Barr, and Robert Randazzo. Most of the members of the orchestra have played as soloists before outside organizations during the year.

The All-Star Orchestra is composed of members of the four high schools. Eighteen Northeast people played in it with leading parts—concert master, pianist and others of equal importance. This orchestra played in the contest between orchestras of several states, before the Music Supervisors' Convention.

The Northeast Trio have had many engagements also. They are: violin, Alfred Boyington; cello, Elmer Gifford; piano, Leith Stevens.

Origin of Our Song.

During the first year's existence of the Northeast High School (1913-14), Principal C. B. Reynolds proposed that the school have its own song.

After Professor Frank E. Chaffee had selected the simple, beautiful, and popular air from Dr. A. W. Noll's tune of "Naples," the pupils were requested to submit original and suitable verses to fit this tune. From these poems were chosen the verses written by Mrs. Ethel Mae Rush-Randall, whose father, Professor Elmer E. Rush, was then a member of our faculty.

Miss Clella Hobbs, '25, transposed the music to conform to the wording. Bemis Lester, '24, designed the copy from which the cut was made, as herewith printed.

Ethel Mae Rush Randall was born in Kansas City, Mo., May 24, 1896. She was graduated from the Garfield school June, 1909. She was graduated from the Northeast High School June, 1914.

She made thirty-two E's, and four G's in solids, and eight E's in non-solids, totaling forty points.

She helped to organize the "Alpha Literary Society," and was its president during the first year.

She helped to organize the German Club, and became its president.

She was one of the editors of the "Nor'easter."

She won a gold medal for poem in the "Lit." contest.

She was secretary of the Senior class and gave the oration at commencement. She wrote our School Song.

She was graduated at Junior College with the highest honors in 1916; and was elected a Phi Beta Kappa at Kansas University.

Interior Views of Prof. E. D. Phillips' English Literature Room

These pictures are two glimpses of Prof. E. D. Phillips' old Rhetoric and English Literature room, 414, through which possibly 2,000 pupils have passed since Northeast High School was established.

In this consultation and composing room many pupils have cultivated their literary powers in preparation for some useful station in life as newspaper or magazine writer, lawyer or teacher. Herein has presided the same mentor who for forty-eight years has been engaged in cultivating in the minds of Kansas City high school boys and girls a love for best literature, and an ability to use their mother tongue efficiently in the business world, or elegantly as accomplished writers and speakers.

The above picture shows the entrance to this literary laboratory, while the picture at the left gives a glance at the south side of this room.

Similarly—the other walls are adorned with beautiful, useful, and attractive prints and engravings, characteristic of the letter and spirit of this study-nook. Three of the pictures are works of art executed by former students of Mr. Phillips, and the three expressive wall mottoes were lettered by Mr. Frank Askew, member of the Askew Sadlery Co., and whose father, Gen. Frank Askew, was once an honored member of our Board of Education.

Boys' Debate

Under unusual circumstances eight, no seven, boys emerged from glorious contests March 27, not with a cup, but realizing that they had played the game and worked their hardest. That four of the six judges, two at each debate, remained unconvinced was a strange twist of fate. Perhaps the unkindest fate of all was that coming in the form of mumps to the negative second speaker, Robert Richards, two days before the debate. However, Paul Ford, alternate, unflinchingly rose to the occasion.

The Affirmative, maintaining that "The United States is Justified in Prohibiting Japanese Immigration," opposed Manual's Negative at Manual. Warren Konizeski opened the attack, Fred Hawkins next hurled volleys of facts, and John Holland concluded the Northeast argument. Russell Atkinson, as alternate, proved of great value. Fred was the only veteran on this team and third rebuttalist.

At home, Northeast Negative, opposing Central's Affirmative, fought bravely but with no better results from the point of view of votes. Charles Grote was first speaker, Paul Ford, second, and Forrest Judd, third. Forrest, the only veteran, has represented Northeast three years in debate.

Mr. Snell, Affirmative coach, and Mr. Hibbs, Negative coach, deserve great praise for their tireless zeal and faithful training of the boys.

Girls' Debate

Debaters must possess diligent perseverance, knowledge, and persuasiveness. These attributes, which debaters must possess, make the inter-scholastic debates real tests of one's intellectual ability. The girls' debates, April 7, showed that the Northeast teams were excellent.

Northeast's Affirmative team at Manual against Manual's negative team upheld that the "President and Vice-President of the United States Should be Nominated by the Direct Primary." Foline Eppstein gave a clear-cut opening presentation of the Northeast stand. Ruth Campbell was very decisive and emphatic in her argument. Elizabeth Polley closed Northeast's main speeches with liveliness. Ruth Dwight as alternate was ready for any emergency. After Foline's and Elizabeth's earnest refutation, Ruth closed the debate with fiery argument. Nevertheless Northeast lost the decision by a two to one vote of the judges.

The Northeast Negative held the bulwarks at Northeast from Central's Affirmative. Marion Shockley, Laura Judd, and Ardene Stephens battled furiously in this critical situation. On rebuttal Ruth Spicer and the three speakers courageously refuted Central's stand and defended their own. But Central was able to influence two of the three judges.

Much credit should be given the three coaches, Miss Guyer, Miss Burton, and Miss Aber. They were largely responsible for the splendid quality of the argument and excellent type of debating presented.

The greatest value of the debate was the development of confidence in the girls as result of practice in clear thinking, quick and accurate judgment.

THE JAPANESE EXCLUSION LAW—RIGHT OR WRONG?

First Place in Essay by Helen Lord

The late Japanese Exclusion Law passed by the United States Congress has been the cause of much heated discussion by all parties concerned. Japanese immigration is a world problem of immediate interest to many nations and to the peace of the world. It is economically a part of a great international economic adjustment between nations and races. In its political aspects it is one of the outstanding diplomatic factors of our times, for today the "alien" has come to play a new role in world relations. We may, therefore, well consider the various aspects of this new law.

Let us first consider it from the Japanese point of view. Japan has been very successful in extending her national influence during the past half-century. She is very proud, as she has a right to be—in fact, as much reason to be proud as we have. The Japanese have a very ancient and splendid civilization. They are poets, artists and scientists. In patriotism and efficiency they compare favorably with all other peoples. In fact, they consider themselves superior to others. The Japanese people are very sentimental and sensitive and with this mental attitude they take the American affront very much to heart.

It is the high esteem cherished by the Japanese toward the American people that makes them protest so violently and bitterly against the action of Congress prohibiting their immigration. They criticize Americans on the ground that we have violated the high moral principles of liberty, equality, and justice, as expressed in the Declaration of Independence and in the sentiments of Washington, Lincoln and the Christian preachers. But it is the extremity of folly for the Japanese to fool themselves into thinking that a Christian nation always conducts itself according to the teachings of Jesus. It must be remembered that the so-called Christian nations of Europe have just devastated that continent with bitterness and hatred. They are capable of doing even more if necessity demands; and the American nation might do the same under the stern law of necessity.

Japan believes that the measures which her government has enforced for the past two and one-half years in regulation of emigration of laborers to the United States have proved entirely satisfactory and far more effective than any prohibition of immigration can be. Those measures of restraint were undertaken in order to prevent any dispute between the two countries on the subject of immigration. Any special exclusion law is not only not necessary, according to the Japanese, but is an engagement which, if continued, is more liable to give rise to misunderstandings than to remove difficulties. In any case it, not unnaturally, is distasteful to national sensibilities. Japan asserts that it is needless to state that international discriminations in any form are opposed to the principles of justice and fairness upon which friendly intercourse between nations must depend. Still more unwelcome are discriminations based on race. Yet discrimination of a racial character is included in the new statute of the United States.

Japan does not ask for an open door for labor immigration. She thinks herself widely misunderstood on this point. She does ask for a square deal on the basis of equality with other races. One Japanese citizen expresses the opinion of many in these words: "We want and have earnestly endeavored to arrange the immigration to your satisfaction and to ours. The American people should recognize our position in the matter and prevent it from destroying friendship of nearly sixty years. They should understand, too, that we are a proud nation. They should appreciate that the Exclusion Law was a slap in the face which no first class power could permit to pass unnoticed. I say this in the spirit of greatest friendliness for I have been a strong admirer of the American people and American institutions."

Next let us consider the position of the United States as expressed through Congress. The action of Congress seems to have been based upon economic and anti-social considerations, and in these matters Congress apparently was largely influenced in its action by the conditions in California.

The Japanese were lowering the American standard of labor. California's opposition is chiefly because of economic considerations. Candidly, California acknowledges that the Japanese, given free reign within her borders, would become economic competitors against whom the white man could not hope to struggle successfully. Through sacrificial effort they are capable of accomplishing greater results than can the white man, ever eager for his own personal pleasures and comforts. One is willing to work, work, work; the other insists upon a little "honkhonking along the highway of Joy." Because the Japanese laborer is a cheap workman he was being brought from Japan in increasing numbers. He is also willing to work hard seven days in the week, disregarding Sunday which is one of the great blessings of the American workman. There is no denying the fact that he is a docile, untiring workman. As Kipling truly says, he seems to come into the world with "a devil-born capacity for doing more work than he ought." All this quite naturally is very irritating to California.

California anticipates that this new law will tend ultimately to eliminate a factor which is constantly irritating to American labor: namely: that the Japanese are driving the Americans out of any community in which the two civilizations meet in economic competition. They rapidly are attaining complete mastery of communities in which they have settled. The Japanese are also making rapid incursions into the commercial life of the islands as well. Sugar planters insist that the Japanese will dominate absolutely that industry in the event of free sugar, for the Japanese can and do control the labor markets of Hawaii.

California hopes that the new exclusion law will also prevent a further increase in the property controlled by the Japanese immigrants. The Japanese have been most effective bidders for land—they have outbidden the Chinese, Italians, and even the native white men. Moreover, they have sometimes been effective because they would reduce land to cultivation which white men would not consider purchasing at the price offered by the Japanese. Is it not naturally distasteful and irritating to California to see her citizens driven out of communities by the Japanese, and to see these same Japanese occupying a large part of their best lands and controlling some of their industries? California states that she does not propose inviting an economic struggle with the Japanese for manifestly the West cannot meet the Far East on the same level, for the standards of living are not even remotely similar.

The other main grievance which California holds against the Japanese is one growing out of the anti-social conditions existing there. The Japanese are clannish in their community life. The white people of the Pacific coast have no relations of a social nature with the Japanese. There is no mingling or fraternizing between the two races. The Japanese continue to speak their own language even after they come to our country; they eat, sleep and live as far as possible in the Japanese style; they have their own temples, and work seven days in the week; they preserve as far as possible their own institutions; and wherever sufficiently numerous they conduct supplementary schools in their own language. The Japanese children born under the American flag are compelled to attend these schools usually after public school hours, where they are taught the language, the ideals, and the religion of Japan. They are taught in the main by Buddhist priests, evidently linking up the Japanese language with their religion. These priests frequently speak no English and most invariably know nothing of American citizenship.

Everyone, including even the Japanese, recognizes the validity of the considerations which led Congress to enact this law. The "opposition" is based rather upon the conviction that Congress went to an extreme altogether unwarranted by the facts in the case; and that the desired results would have been obtained had the Japanese been placed in exactly the same category as the other nations.

There is another factor in connection with Japanese exclusion which must be given as much consideration as any of those mentioned above. Great numbers of our own population are opposed to the Japanese provision on the ground that it is unchristian. They cannot reconcile it with the Golden Rule. They feel that it is entirely out of line with the principles of universal friendship and brotherhood. They are insisting that there is a friendly and an unfriendly way for carrying on relations with other people. In this admittedly difficult situation they hold that Congress is following the unfriendly method.

Then again this exclusion act has seriously affected the entire Christian missionary program in Japan. The Japanese claim that if the Christian religion produces this sort of spirit in America they don't want it in Japan. This naturally is a handicap to the effectiveness of the missionary agencies. "The Christian forces of America feel that we should seek a fundamental solution of our relations with Japan which, while completely protecting the Pacific coast states from all dangers of Asiatic immigration, shall be thoroughly courteous and free from humiliating race discriminations. The issue is not closed! Some friendly adjustment must be found!"

Nothing is settled permanently until it is settled right. The very fact that there is so much opposition to the Japanese exclusion provision—opposition from people whose integrity, motives and intelligence are beyond question—suggests the probability that some of the provisions of this act are not what they ought to be. May the day soon come when the questionable provisions of this law will be so altered that everyone will recognize them to be "right."

"GREATER LOVE HATH NO MAN—"

First Place in Oration by Bernice McLeod

Greater love hath no man than this "That a man lay down his life for his friends." This noble principle given us by the greatest teacher the world has ever known has been illustrated by the death of almost all the world's martyrs.

This was the directing power in the life of the peasant girl of France, it enabled her to make the supreme sacrifice; to leave friends and family for an almost certain death; so too was it the guiding principle in the life of the martyred English nurse of the late World War, and as the name of Joan of Arc has been revered in ages past so shall our posterity reverence the name of Edith Cavell.

Miss Cavell devoted her life to the alleviation of suffering. When the war brought its hideousness and horror to Brussels, she was at home in England on her vacation, but hastened back to care for the wounded German soldiers as zealously and impartially as she did those of her own country. Could it be possible that one of these she had nursed back to health was in the party that murdered her? Such would be the true tradition of frightfulness.

Edith Cavell risked her life in doing works of charity and kindness, to aid men in distress and danger. This was the only charge her enemies could bring against her; not even the venomous trickery of German diplomacy could do more. Very shame, we think would have caused her judges to inflict none but the slightest penalty; they condemned her to death. It was enough to them that the few young men she had aided reach England were fighting against Germany. Therefore they said: "This evil woman must die, in order to frighten those who may presume on their sex, to take part in the enterprises punishable with death."

She was aware, from the beginning of the extreme danger she was incurring under Germany's military law, that the solicitude for her friends outweighed the love for her life, and she did not hesitate to do what she considered her "unquestionable duty to her country and fellowmen."

Not once did it occur to her judges that this stupid and brutal murder would add hundreds of men to the forces of the allies, while she had added but six or eight; nor did they realize that every soldier would fight more courageously because of her example. How could these cold, heartless men know that after her death, her virtues would

"Plead like angels: trumpet tongued
Against the deep damnation of her taking off.
Or pity, like a naked new-born babe
Striding the blast, on heavens
Cherubim horsed upon the sightless
Couriers of the air, should blow
That horrid deed in every eye,
That tears should drown the wind."

No great achievement in Edith Cavell's life became her more than her leaving of it. At the most cheerless hour of day, just between darkness and dawn, she walked down the St. Gillis prison steps into the courtyard where the firing squad awaited her. A stranger in a strange land, away from friends and family; among enemies—facing a more terrible ordeal than a battle field—the moments creeping slowly and remorselessly on and death already swallowed up in victory. When asked by the chaplain she said:

"I have no fear or shrinking. I have seen death so often before that it is not strange or fearful to me. But this I would say, standing as I do in the presence of God and eternity, I realize that patriotism is not enough, I must have no hatred or bitterness toward any one. I want my friends to know that I am happy to die for my country."

All the world recognized in her death a martyrdom, a sacrifice offered by a noble woman for the rights of humanity; and she did not die in vain.

Ministers shall eulogize her in their sermons, poets in verse, artists in paintings and sculptors in marble, but to add brightness to the sun in Heaven is as impossible as to add glory to her life. Let none attempt it, but with solemnity and awe pronounce her name, and leave it shining on through ages, foremost on all earth's records.

Poem

THE STORM KING

First Place in Poem by Mildred Schneider.

The stage is set; the world expectant waits.
 Each quivering blade of grass inclines its ear.
 All sounds are stilled, the whistling wind abates,
 Increasing darkness tells a storm is near.

The glorious Sun calls back his charioteers
 His golden beauty hides in thick'ning clouds
 The rumbling vanguard louder now he hears
 And leaves a world of light in misty shrouds.

The Storm King comes! His thunder nearer roars.
 He hurls torrential rain and lightning flash.
 Conquers the cowering earth, then Heavenward soars
 And calls his forces there 'neath threatening lash.

The storm blown clouds are pierced. From that retreat
 The Sun comes forth once more to cheer and warm.
 And now the sky's more blue, the air's more sweet,
 The grass more green than 'fore the storm's alarm.

Short Story

WHICH?

First Place in Short Story by Henry Brokmeyer.

Crack! The left fielder watched the ball sail swiftly over his head and over the fence, while Harris, Tyler and lastly, Renfrew Jones, slugger of the East Side Bearcats, were trotting over the plate. Another game for the Bearcats. Another hot contest pulled out of the fire by the "cats-paw" magic of Jones's bat. And tomorrow they played the North Side Sluggers for the Mill Creek League pennant.

After the game Jones went swinging home with long strides. A furtive-faced man, small in stature and slightly slinky in manner, detached himself from the homeward bound crowd and hastened along immediately in back of Jones like a paper in the suction of a passing train. Jones recognized him instantly as Andrews, manager of the North Side Sluggers.

"Scouting, probably. He's a little sneak, anyway," thought Renfrew.

"You're in an awful hurry to get to that dance with Clytie May. It doesn't begin till half past seven," sneered Andrews.

"Well, what do you want?" growled Jones.

"Oh, just a little business," replied the outward Mr. Andrews. The inner Mr. Andrews was thinking rapidly, as usual. "This one is a tough cooky for sure. Handle with care. Big body. Big jaw. Both can 'go some.' Brown as a nut. Fine player. Slick, too. Eyes rather close together. Chin like a boat's beak. Lives down in the Mill Creek bottoms, sports a lot at school, and has a girl that takes a lot of upkeep. Hard worker, ambitious, a good student and thinker.' Mr. Andrews' nimble mind had skipped over this much ground in much terser terms even before Jones made his reply.

"Business? Well, yes. Lets talk it over, across the street, there."

They not only went across the street, but even into the Mill Creek Soda Emporium. Jones stared hard at the fountain. Andrews ordered two cokes, and piloted Jones to a table in the corner.

"I'll bet the game's going to be close tomorrow, kid."

"Uh-huh," replied Renfrew. He knew more was coming.

"Would you like five dollars? There's sure to be a pinch tomorrow. You'll be sent in. If you strike out, you'll get the fiver."

"Five dollars! I'm not a soda jerk!"

"No. They pay the squiters a lot more than you make down in the East Side lumber yard. Well, I'll make it ten."

"I'll consider."

"Humph. You'll consider. And when shall I learn of your decision?"

"By what I do in the game."

A couple of stags were looking on.

"There's Clytie May and Jones. She's sure some doll and a nifty dancer. Jones is some lucky."

"Yes, he sure is. And you notice that no one 'cuts in' until he's through with her dance, at least."

Clytie was thinking. Jones stepped so surely, guided so well, that she didn't have to pay much attention to the timing of her own steps.

Was it possible that Renfrew could be bribed? Yet hadn't Slim, her father's office boy, a member of the Sluggers, told her that Andrews, their manager, had offered Jones ten dollars to throw tomorrow's game? Would he do it? She would see.

"Renfrew, I hope you win tomorrow."

"But your governor is a north side manufacturer. It would mean a lot to him to have the Sluggers win," Jones protested.

"I know, but I hope you will win, and I will be proud of you if you do."

"Uh-huh," said Renfrew.

Clytie watched his eyes as he spoke. "Well," she said to herself, "'on with the dance.' We shall see what we shall see."

It was the morning of the Sunday of the game. Renfrew Jones sat in the luxuriously appointed living room of May mansion, the largest house in town. Opposite him sat Mr. May.

"I heard you had a bet on the game, Mr. May?"

Mr. May's small eyes snapped. His large, red face worked, and his cigar shifted

"—— —! That office boy of mine will get fired tomorrow!" he said to himself.

"Yes, it would mean quite a bit to me to have the Sluggers win. Of course, you understand that no one is to know of the bet. Be careful, especially with my darling daughter. She's adept at learning what she shouldn't. Keep mum. You understand."

"Well, I just wanted to know."

"Listen," opened Mr. May, "I suppose you know that the East Side Lumber Company is going to close down?"

"Yes, I've heard so."

"I suppose you'd like a job then. Well, listen here. If you throw the game today, I'll give you a good one in my plant. And a hundred dollars, not published on the payroll, to boot. Also, any social objections which Mrs. May has to your associating with Clytie will cease to be in evidence. Do you understand?"

Renfrew Jones understood.

"Here's your uniform, son, all pressed."

"Thanks, mother, you're a gem."

"I didn't get that order washed. I guess I'm slow. The work's harder, and prices are higher than ever. I do hope the yard doesn't close down, but I suppose it will. We need the money so. Well, I'll be at the game, son, and I wish you luck. But remember son, whether you win or lose always play according to your idea of the right. Do you understand?"

Jones understood—again.

Something would break soon. The stands sensed it and sat forward in strained silence. The heat of the summer Sunday, the blue of the sky, the green of the park, the colors of the stands, and above all the thrill of the game, had crept insidiously into the players, filling them with a warm, nervous energy, running through their blood like liquid fire. But the strain was unreal—impossible. Both teams were running bases, hitting, fielding as they had never done before. Something had to crack.

It was the last of the twelfth, the Bearcats up, two out and the score 9-8 in favor of the North Side Sluggers. Hard-working Harris had let two strikes go by, hit a foul over the roof of the grandstand; let two balls go by, tipped one that the Slugger catcher nearly held on to, finally got his much battered hip into the path of the ball and trotted, conscientiously groaning to first.

"Jones now batting for Tyler!" bawled the announcer, while under the awning which served as a dugout, the Bearcat manager gripped Renfrew's hand and whispered hoarsely, tensely, "You can do it! Break up the game! Do you understand?"

There was no yelling as Jones walked to the plate. Yelling at such a time would have been as much of a sacrilege, as incongruous, as howling at a funeral procession. Renfrew rubbed his hands in the dust, wiped them on his uniform and faced the pitcher. His brain was whirling. He was dizzy. From out of the fog surrounding him, detached, distinct, yet terribly clear, fearfully significant, came, "Strike one!"

Next time, clearer, less detached, "St-r-r-r-i-i-i-ke Two!"

The ball went spinning back to Griggs, grinning Slugger pitcher. He ground his toe into the mound, spun his arm deftly, and threw, straight and hard.

To Renfrew's whirling brain, Griggs' movements appeared as fantastically grotesque, as horribly, grindingly slow as those of an athlete in a slow-motion movie. The ball advanced slowly; an irresistible oncoming cataclysm; looming tremendously, growing terrifically. Jones felt the sweat break out in cold prickles under his cap. A quaking shiver ran down his spine. There was a void, a feeling of infinite space, under his heart. His knees sagged, his arms rested on his hips. He could foul it! No! If he remained there much longer, a little longer, he would faint. Get hit? No, it would be too obvious a fake, and besides, the ball was fast enough to lay him up if it hit him. Fast enough to be a homer if he hit it!

Everything was sharp and clear. He saw Andrews, his mother, Mr. May. He was still weak. '$110 and a job! 'I will be proud of you.' And Clytie at the next dance. A job. His mother, 'according to your idea of the right.' 'You understand?' 'You can do it. Break up the game!' '$110 and 'I will be proud of you.'

His energy welled up, tensing him again. He saw Andrews, his mother, May, Clytie, his manager, Griggs and last of all, Harris, dancing off first. The ball! He felt his grip tighten on the bat. His heart beat faster, in great fluttering thumps. He lifted his bat off his shoulder, and drew it back, poised and balanced.

Now, if he won, what did he do? Did he win if he lost, or lose if he won? Did he gain by winning, or lose by gaining? And if he gained either by winning or losing, what did he gain?

Corps Area Champions

The "Wentworth squad" is the title given this squad since their victorious competition with the pick of one of the most outstanding military schools of the United States. Holding the championship of the seventh corps area, the squad was willing to challenge West Point; but not wishing to humble the nation's pick we withheld the challenge.

The members of the squad have gone on now, and are among the most efficient officers of the Northeast Battalion.

Especial credit is due to Sergeant Fitzpatrick, who drilled the boys continually; and to Harry Zane, who commanded the squad.

It is our most earnest wish that Northeast will never lose the championship that she now holds; that the Northeast squad will ever bring home laurels as rich as did this squad.

Northeast Officers

The officers feel a debt of gratitude, not only to Sergeant Fitzpatrick, but to the cadets individually for the exceptional co-operation they have received throughout the year. The cadet corps under the splendid work of Sergeant Fitzpatrick has grown to be not only the largest in the state of Missouri, but also one of the largest in the country.

We feel that the ultimate object of our work has not been to teach the military maneuvers but to develop in them patriotism, character and leadership. In this work we feel our work has not been in vain; but that the boys will go away better fitted for the future, that they as American citizens must face in upholding the traditions of our people.

Rifle Team

Northeast was favorably blessed with material for a rifle team this year. There was for a nucleus, Archie Johnson, Philip Wilson, Clyde Wolfe, Hubert Flucke, and Harry Zane, of last year's team. Among the raw material, George Elston, Roy Fann, and Richard Huber made the best impressions.

This year's team did a very good work for the school and will have an excellent outlook for next season.

In the city matches, Northeast won the Kneeling-Standing match, and Archie Johnson was the individual star, and Clyde Wolfe was a close second. In the matches to follow, Archie Johnson, Philip Wilson, Clyde Wolfe, Hubert Flucke, and Harry Zane held the purple banner high.

Next year the purple team is expecting to make a better showing.

Crack Squad

The "new" crack squad cannot boast victories such as can the "old" one; but the shouting will come after the Field Meet, when it will be called the "Mid-West's best."

The silent drill that won for the first squad has been perfected by us; with minor changes that have been made by Sergeant Fitzpatrick, making it more spectacular and using all close order "school of the squad" movements.

In the actual performance of the maneuvers, preciseness, and accuracy have been developed to a state of perfection.

The work of the squad has aroused attention throughout the whole corps area. At the military circus it received compliments of some of the highest ranking officers of the army.

"No competition is too stiff for us, send them on," says the squad.

To Company "B" the whole battalion looks with pride. As the largest company, our problems have been the hardest. But in the face of these we have come victoriously through.

Our grander aim, that of building true blue citizens has been a glorious triumph, and North-east will look with pride to the men produced in Company "B."

With this opportunity, the captain wishes to say in appreciation of the splendid effort that the cadets have shown, that he wishes his men a successful career, not only in the succeeding years of their high school course, but during their entire life. Realizing that he would have been powerless but for them.

Company "C" is Northeast's pride, Northeast's delight, when it comes to military work, for Company "C" is the "crack" company of the regiment. Peerless it stands, and will stand in the Field Meet. Ours not to boast, but victory will surely be ours, for who can go against "the invincible."

Victory onto victory, honor upon honor have ever been ours. Company "C" has ever been a model company, both in the spirit of military discipline and courtesy, and in the drill prescribed by our instructors.

Always has the loyal Sergeant Fitzpatrick backed us up, and always have we responded to the call of the bugle.

The drill is done with an accuracy and a preciseness that enthralls every onlooker. From the beginning we have been one of the best companies in the battalion. It must be said, however, that our high record of achievements cannot be boasted by another company.

To our instructors and our company officers go the credit of making us the best company. For the co-operation of the non-commissioned officers and the cadets, there cannot be a peer.

Company "D" must 'ere lead all the rest, "though Rome fall."

The Northeast "N" club was organized to take the lead in improving the sportsmanship and school spirit among those trying out for the school athletic teams. It has gone far toward achieving its purpose in the last few years.

The club is composed solely of those boys who have won letters in some of the various branches of inter-high athletics.

Football and basketball letters are awarded to boys who play a majority of the quarters during the season of each sport. Tennis letters are given to those advancing as far as the semi-finals of the interscholastic tournament. A runner must win first or second to a Northeast runner in a dual meet, or place in the finals of the indoor meet, quadrangular meet, or state meet in order to be awarded a track letter.

Prologue: Northeast has been handicapped in football by the lack of veterans. Clifford "Jakey" Stockwell and Miles Henley are the only veterans to return. Coach Peters has had to build a team from entirely green material.

BEVERLEY

Scene I

The Northeast team visits St. Joseph to play the Central High School of that city. The curtain rises showing the two teams battling valiently. Central, however, by virtue of a heavier and more experienced squad, gradually wears down the Purple defense. The Petersmen seem wild and unable to cope with their opponents. The score is 9-0 at the end of the game.

Scene II

The Northeast squad journeys to Carrollton where the curtain rises on the scene. The Van Brunters show more pep and manage to get the best of the Carrollton players. The score board shows the score to be 19-12 in favor of Northeast when the final whistle blows.

DICKHOUT
Captain-Elect

FURTNEY

Scene III

The scene shifts to Muebach Field where the annual tourney for the city title is held.

Northeast goes into the offensive early and scores a safety, but soon wears out and the Central squad starts its much vaunted short pass system to working. Time after time the Purple and White men are drawn from their positions by fake plays. The score board shows the final score to be Northeast 2, Central 19.

Scene IV

Again the plot is laid in Muehlebach Field, and again the Petersmen fail to win, in fact they even fail to score. Martin and Morgan, Manual's stars, tear through the Northeast line. The heavier Manual line does absolutely as it pleases with the lighter rivals. "Jakey" Stockwell proves himself a fighter through and through. Time after time the plucky little captain stops the Manual attack. The game ends with the score Northeast 0, Manual 33.

MEYERS

STOCKWELL
Captain

Scene V

As per schedule, the Northeast team plays the Westport team at the usual stamping ground. Kennedy of Westport rips the Van Brunters' front line asunder for big gains. Johnny Walker, "Jakey" Stockwell and Cam Thomas stand out prominently for Northeast.

PENSINGER

Scene VI

Northeast is playing Central. The team shows a vast amount of improvement and fights hard. Walker and Thomas stop several charges. In the heat of the third quarter Captain Stockwell is taken out with a broken collar-bone. "Ted" Dickhout is moved from half back to quarter back and performs in his new position creditably.

HENLEY

Scene VII

Manual trounces Northeast 33-0. Without the services of their captain, the Purple team battles valiantly against overwhelming odds. Several times the lighter team holds staunchly to its position under the "Red" onslaught.

HENRY

Scene VIII

Westport starts out to wipe the Purple from the maps. They almost accomplish their aim, but play themselves out by the fourth quarter. In this period the Petersmen plunge to the attack and force their opponents back to their goal line. Here the Blue and Gold twice hold and keep the frantic Northeasters from scoring. Finally, "Ted," the acting captain, raps out his signals, takes the ball, and plunges over the opposing team. Sam Thomas kicks a perfect drop kick. Greatly encouraged the Northeast team again launches its offensive, but all too soon the final whistle blows, ending the city series. The score board shows the score to be 38-7 in favor of the Southsiders.

Place: Wherever the team is, mostly in Convention Hall.

Characters: Hartwell, forward.
Jones, forward.
Offut (captain), center
Dickhout, guard.

Stockwell, forward.

Prologue: When the basketball season started, Coach Reeves Peters had four veterans back, around which to mould a championship quintet. The Northeast mentor got together a fine group of players, Ivan Offutt, "Jakey" Stockwell, "Gene" Hartwell, and Virgil Jones formed the nucleus, with Soloman, Dickhout, Chas. Allen, Thomas, Lapin, and Benton supporting them.

DICKHOUT

Scene I

The curtain rises on the initial scene in the Northeast gym. Warrensburg, 1924 State Champions and runner-up in the National Tournament, is the visiting team. The play is slow at the outset, but quickens considerably in the second stanza. Northeast comes from a 5-2 handicap to lead at the half, 12-11. The play in the last half is fast and furious. The score stands 21 all at the last minute of play. Suddenly out of the melee comes Captain Offutt with the ball, and, while the crowd cheers madly, snares a goal. Then the whistle blew, with the score 23-21 for the purple.

Scene II

The plot is again laid in the Northeast gym. A number of former Northeast players are to play our boys tonight. The younger, lighter Northeast boys completely outpass their opponents, but the deadly eyes of the alumni are too much. The present succumbs to the past, 20-22, after a desperate five-minute play-off.

Scene III

All the action in this scene comes off in Convention Hall at the opening of the 1925 inter-high season with Manual. The play is slow at the beginning. Captain Offutt is ill and not fit to play. Manual is wary and not ready to assume the offensive; Northeast cannot start things without her leader. Finally Manual starts things moving and the game gets a little more interesting—for Manualites. When the "Reds" finish their destruction the count is 29-11. The score was tinged a violent red.

HARTWELL

Scene IV

For the last time the stage is set in the Northeast gymnasium. Lawrence High School team has journeyed down and is trimmed for the fray, but so are our fellows. The Red and Black assume an early lead and at the half hold a 17-8 advantage. Then comes the third quarter. "Ted"

JONES
Captain-Elect

Dickhout becomes an offensive star. Time after time he eludes his guard and counters. Hartwell chips in with a field goal. The score at the end of the third chapter is 20-19 for Lawrence. The Purple guns are silenced in the fourth quarter, and Lawrence scores a safe lead, then plays for time. The final standing is 25-21.

Scene V

The Van Brunters start the game with Westport with a rush. Fighting hard, they compile a good lead in the first stanza and manage to hold it in the second. Westport finally awakes to the fact that they are not going to have an easy time subduing Northeast. Consequently they begin work. The Purple quintet is put on the defensive and are finally beaten by the strong Westporters, 22-15.

Scene VI

This is a battle scene. Opposed to one another are the Central and Northeast armies. The Purple geniuses open the battle with a surprise attack on the Centralites, but a complete rout is wrested from them by General Nilsen of the Blue and White. The Van Brunt army now holds a slight advantage. Central brings some of her heavier artillery into action and starts to batter down the Purple breastworks. Under cover of this heavy carnage, the Centralian troops make a gallant attempt to carry the heights held by Northeast, but fail. The Northeast general has his powerful guns unlimbered and moves to the attack. His troops carry the day. The fight ends 20-14.

Scene VII

The draperies on one side are again colored red while the other side of the scene is purple. The play of both teams is slow at the outset. Manual assumes an early lead and is ahead at the quarter 7-1, and at the half 8-5. Coach Peters' charges come back in the last half considerably stronger and lead at the third quarter mark, 13-12. Then the Purple wearers suddenly come to life. Time after time they charge down the floor and ring up goals. Manual is completely outplayed. The whistle ends the game when the score is at 19-13 for the high school on Van Brunt.

OFFUTT
Captain

Scene VIII

The Southside quintet jump off to a commanding lead at the start. Northeast, however, manages to keep within striking distance of their opponents. The first chapter ends 9-5 for Westport. The Petersmen cut down the Blue and Gold advantage one point in the second stanza. The last half seems to belong to Westport, for its color bearers outplay their rivals. The game ends with the score 29-19.

Scene IX

The first period of this game is slow—very slow. Each team seems to be trying out the other. The first quarter ends 2-1 for the Van

Brunt school. The second period ends 9-6. Central snaps out of its lassitude in the final half and entirely outplays the wearers of the purple. The game is considerably marred by the slickness of the floor. Time after time the players sprawl over the floor. The final score is 31-18 in Central's favor.

Results 1924 Season

1924 TRACK

When the Annual went to press last year, the track team had not finished its string of victories. That string is so impressive that it was thought best to record them here. Here goes:

Won: K. C. A. C. indoor meet; M. U. K. U. indoor meet; Missouri Valley indoor meet; dual meet with Manual. At the Kansas Relays, the team set new records in the two mile and medley relays, finished second in the mile and third in the half mile relays. Drake Relays; first in two mile relay (a national record), first in medley relay (a new record), second in 880 yard relay and second in one mile relay. The tracksters also annexed the Missouri State track meet. At the Missouri Valley Relay Carnival at Manhattan, they placed first in the 440 yard relay (a world's record), first in the 880 yard relay (a new record), first in the two mile relay (record), and second in the one mile relay event. The Purple team finished sixth out of 187 high schools entered at the National Interscholastic track meet at Chicago.

During the season, the team won sixteen cups, thirteen gold watches and fifty-nine medals.

Northeast

ACT THREE

Place: Sometimes at Northeast, sometimes at Central, at Convention Hall and wherever else the track team journeys.

Time: Track season.

Characters: Too many to be listed. See pictures and names elsewhere.

Prologue: Northeast has established a wonderful record in track the last two years. No cups or gold watches have been won by other Kansas City High Schools. Coach Peters has five letter men back. Two runners, a hurdler, and two high jumpers. One of the runners and the hurdler become ineligible on account of their studies. The captain, Miles Henley, is the only runner left. Ivan Offut and Leonard Smith are the high jumpers. Coach Reeves Peters, however, is not a bit dismayed. He sets to work and puts together a team that has wonderful possibilities. The situation stands thus when the curtain rises on the first scene.

Scene I

The stage is set in Convention Hall at the K. C. A. C. indoor meet. Wilcox of Liberty, Mo., and Wilcox of Westport beat out Henley in the fifty yard dash. Henley comes back and captures the 440 yard dash. Central beats out the Purple one lap relay. Northeast places second in the half mile event and first in the two lap relay. Northeast 21, Central 14, Westport 12, Manual 4.

Scene II

Again at Convention Hall. It is the M. U.-K. U. dual meet. Henley is beaten in the fifty, but wins the 440 yard dash. Northeast wins the one and two lap relays and places second in the half mile run and fourth in the 440 dash. Northeast 18, Westport 13, Central 6, Manual 5.

Scene III

For the third and last time the stage is set in Convention Hall. Henley comes in second in the fifty, but wins the 440 yards, as usual. Thomas places fourth in the 440 dash. The Purple thoroughbreds also win first in the two lap relay and half mile. Northeast 19, Central 10, Manual 9, Westport 5.

Scene IV

The scene is laid at Central. It is a dual meet between Manual and Northeast. Northeast completely overwhelms the "Reds." They win twelve firsts and five seconds in twelve events. The pole vault is the only event Manual wins first in. The score is 81 to 28.

Scene V

The plot is laid at Central. Westport has challenged Northeast's supremacy in the track world and the contest is on. Henley beats out his old rivals, Wilcox and Kennedy, in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Thomas shines in the discus, shotput and 440 yard dash. Westport takes the hurdles, half mile and relay. All the other firsts go to the Purple trackmen. The final score is 62 to 47 for the Van Brunt school.

Won 3rd consecutive quadrangular meet with 95.2/6 points, May 9, 1925.

Epilogue: Unfortunately the annual has to go to press before the track season is over. The track act is then, necessarily, a serial; that is, it will be continued in the next issue.

Northeast

Scene VI

The scene is in the stadium, Lawrence, Kansas, at the Annual Relays. Coach Peters and his chargers are on the stage. When the half mile relay is called, Henley, Rhoads, Gebhardt and Thomas appear. Then comes the race. Northeast steps the distance in 1:32.2, setting a new inter-scholastic record. The one mile team ran its distance in 3:32.5, making a new record. Smith takes Gebhardt's place in this race. Northeast wins third in the medley relay.

Scene VII

Northeast is at Des Moines to participate in the Drake relays. The 440 yard relay team—Henley, Thomas, Rhoads and Gebhardt, set a new Drake record of 45.3 seconds. The 880 yard relay, made up of the same runners, sets a new Relay record of 1:32.8. The mile team breaks the old Drake record and chalks up a new one of its own, which is 3:30.5. In this relay, Gebhardt is replaced by Smith.

Scene VIII

The track team has gone to Columbia, and is ready to compete when the curtain rises. The half mile relay breaks a record and makes the state record, 1:32.9. Thomas sets a new mark in the second division of the 440 dash, at 51.4 seconds. Sam places first in shot put and second in discus. Rhoads wins first in the first division of the 440 dash and first in the half mile. Henley places second in broad jump and 220 yard low hurdles, and third in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Offutt captures the high jump at 5 feet 10 and 5-8 inches. Smith places third in the high jump. Ross hurles the javelin, winning third place, while Sloan pole vaults, taking third.

When the end comes the score is: Northeast 481-2 points; Liberty 22; Westport 21; Central 20. Other high schools ran, but did not make enough points to entitle them to be mentioned.

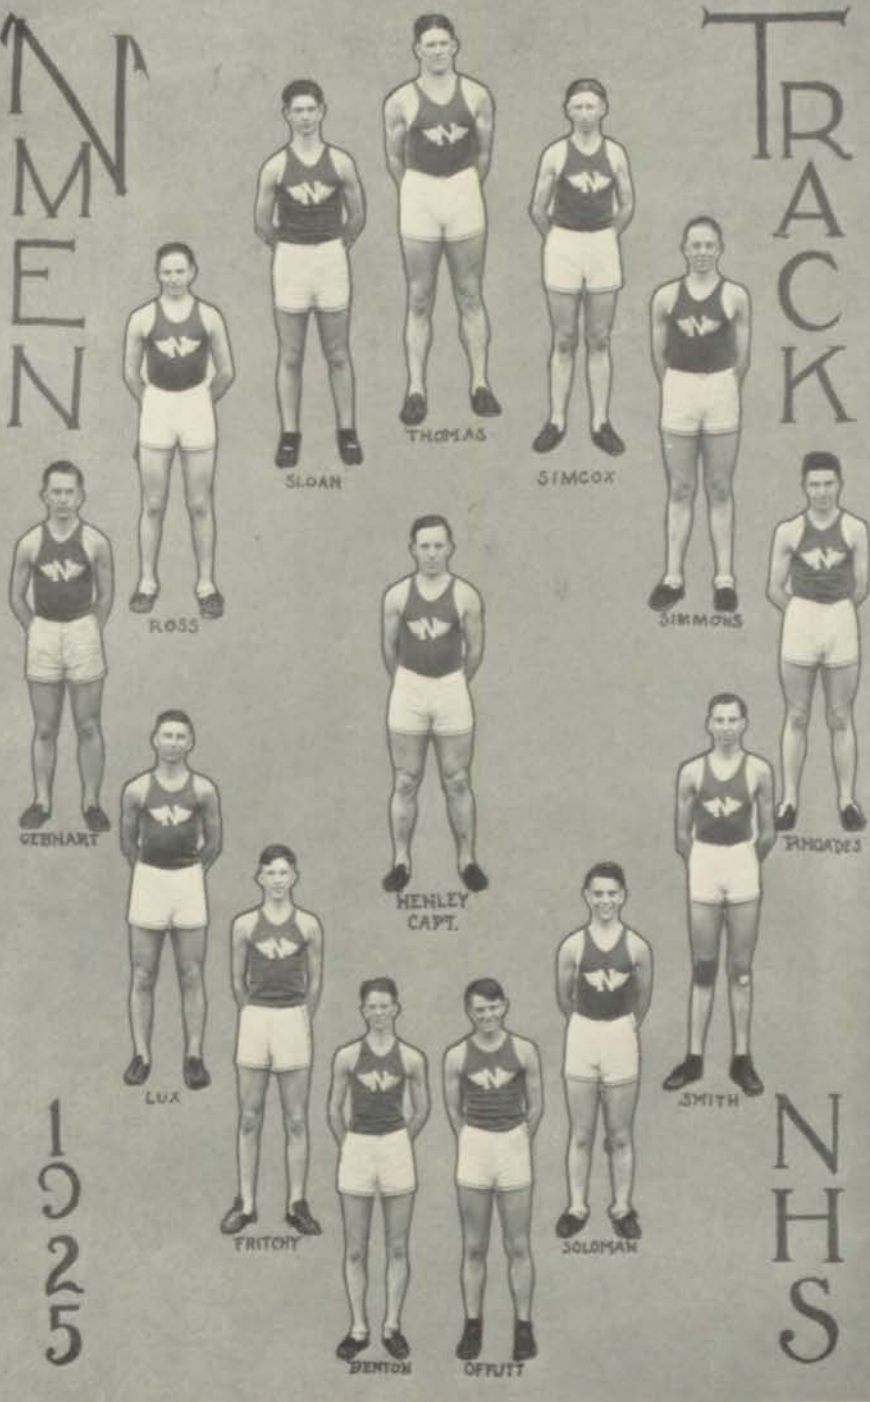

Epilogue: Because the Annual must go to press before the track season ends, the doings of the Northeast track team must be in serial form.

ACT FOUR

Time: Tennis season.

Place: Rockhill Tennis Courts.

Characters: Boys' tennis team: James Jewell, Houston Sides, singles; James Jewell and Charles Sears, Chandler Parks and Robert Johnson, doubles; Charles Sears, mixed doubles.

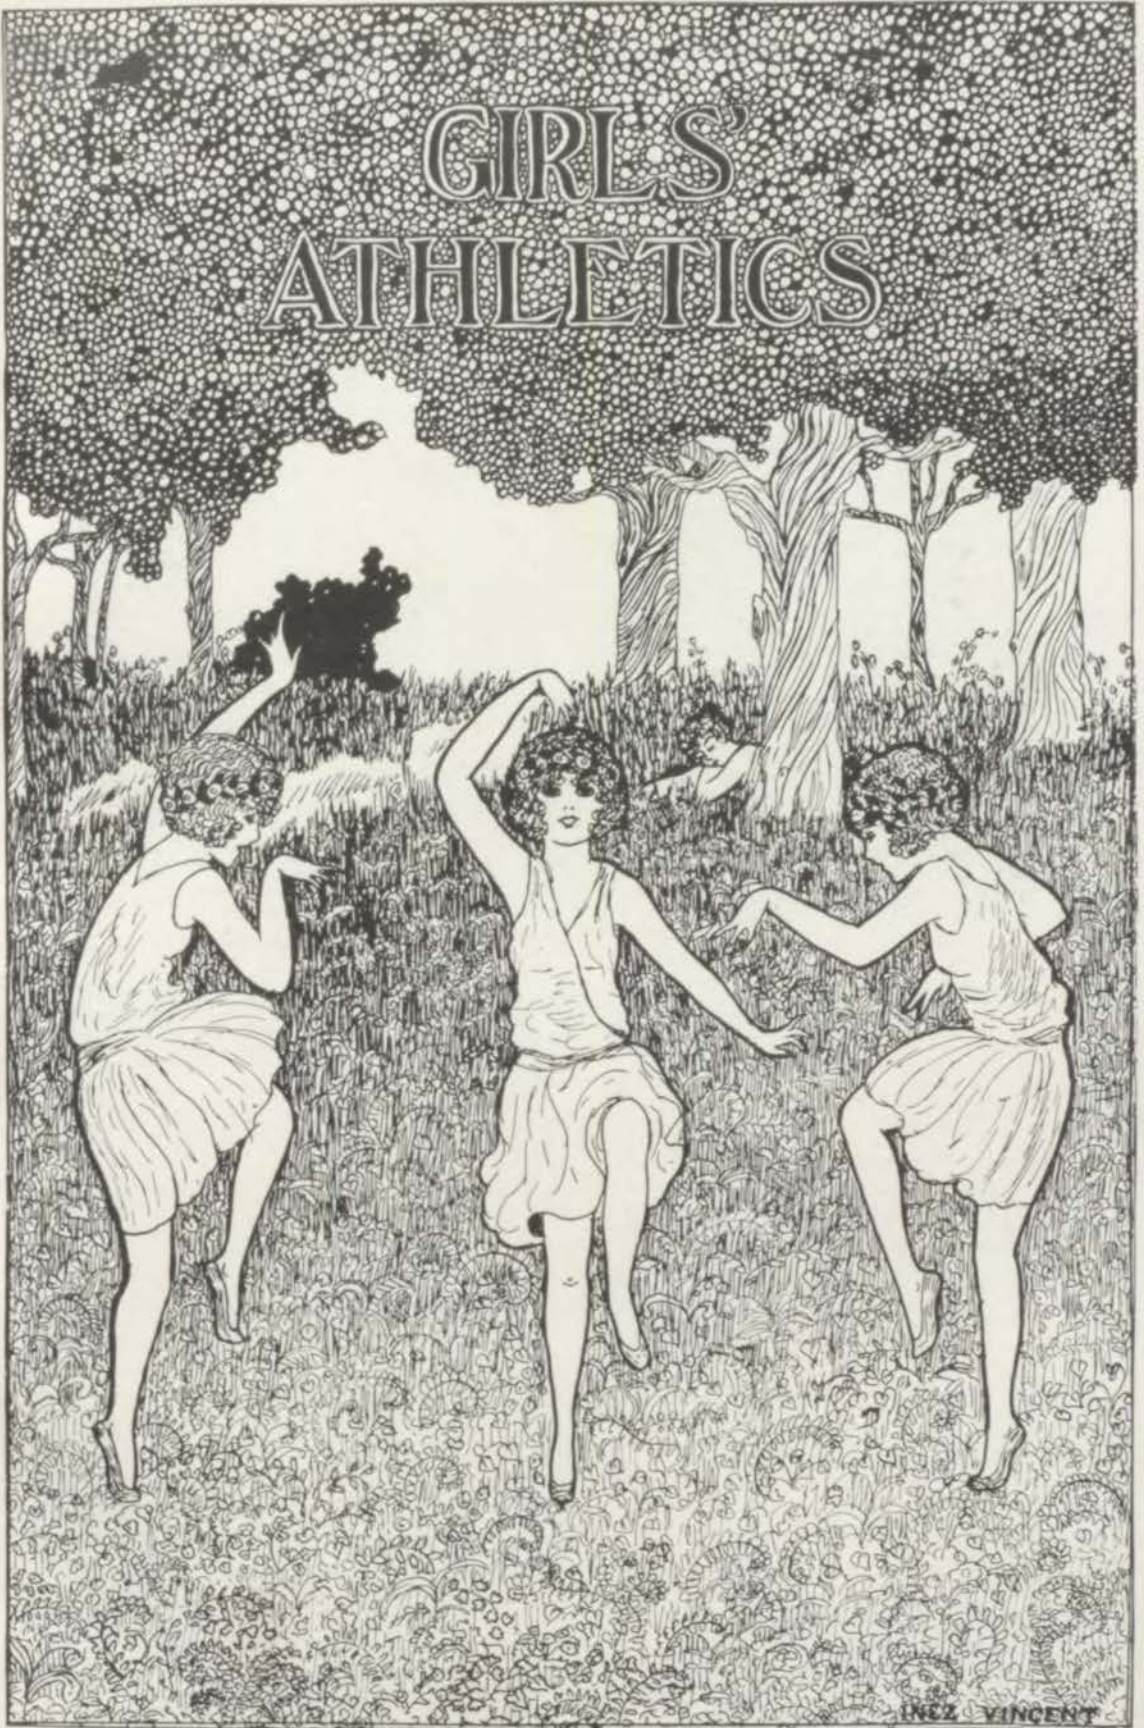

Prologue: Winfield Bowser and Walter Scott, who ranked with Jewell and Sears as the four best players, failed to make the grade requirements, so Parks, Johnson and Sides were substituted.

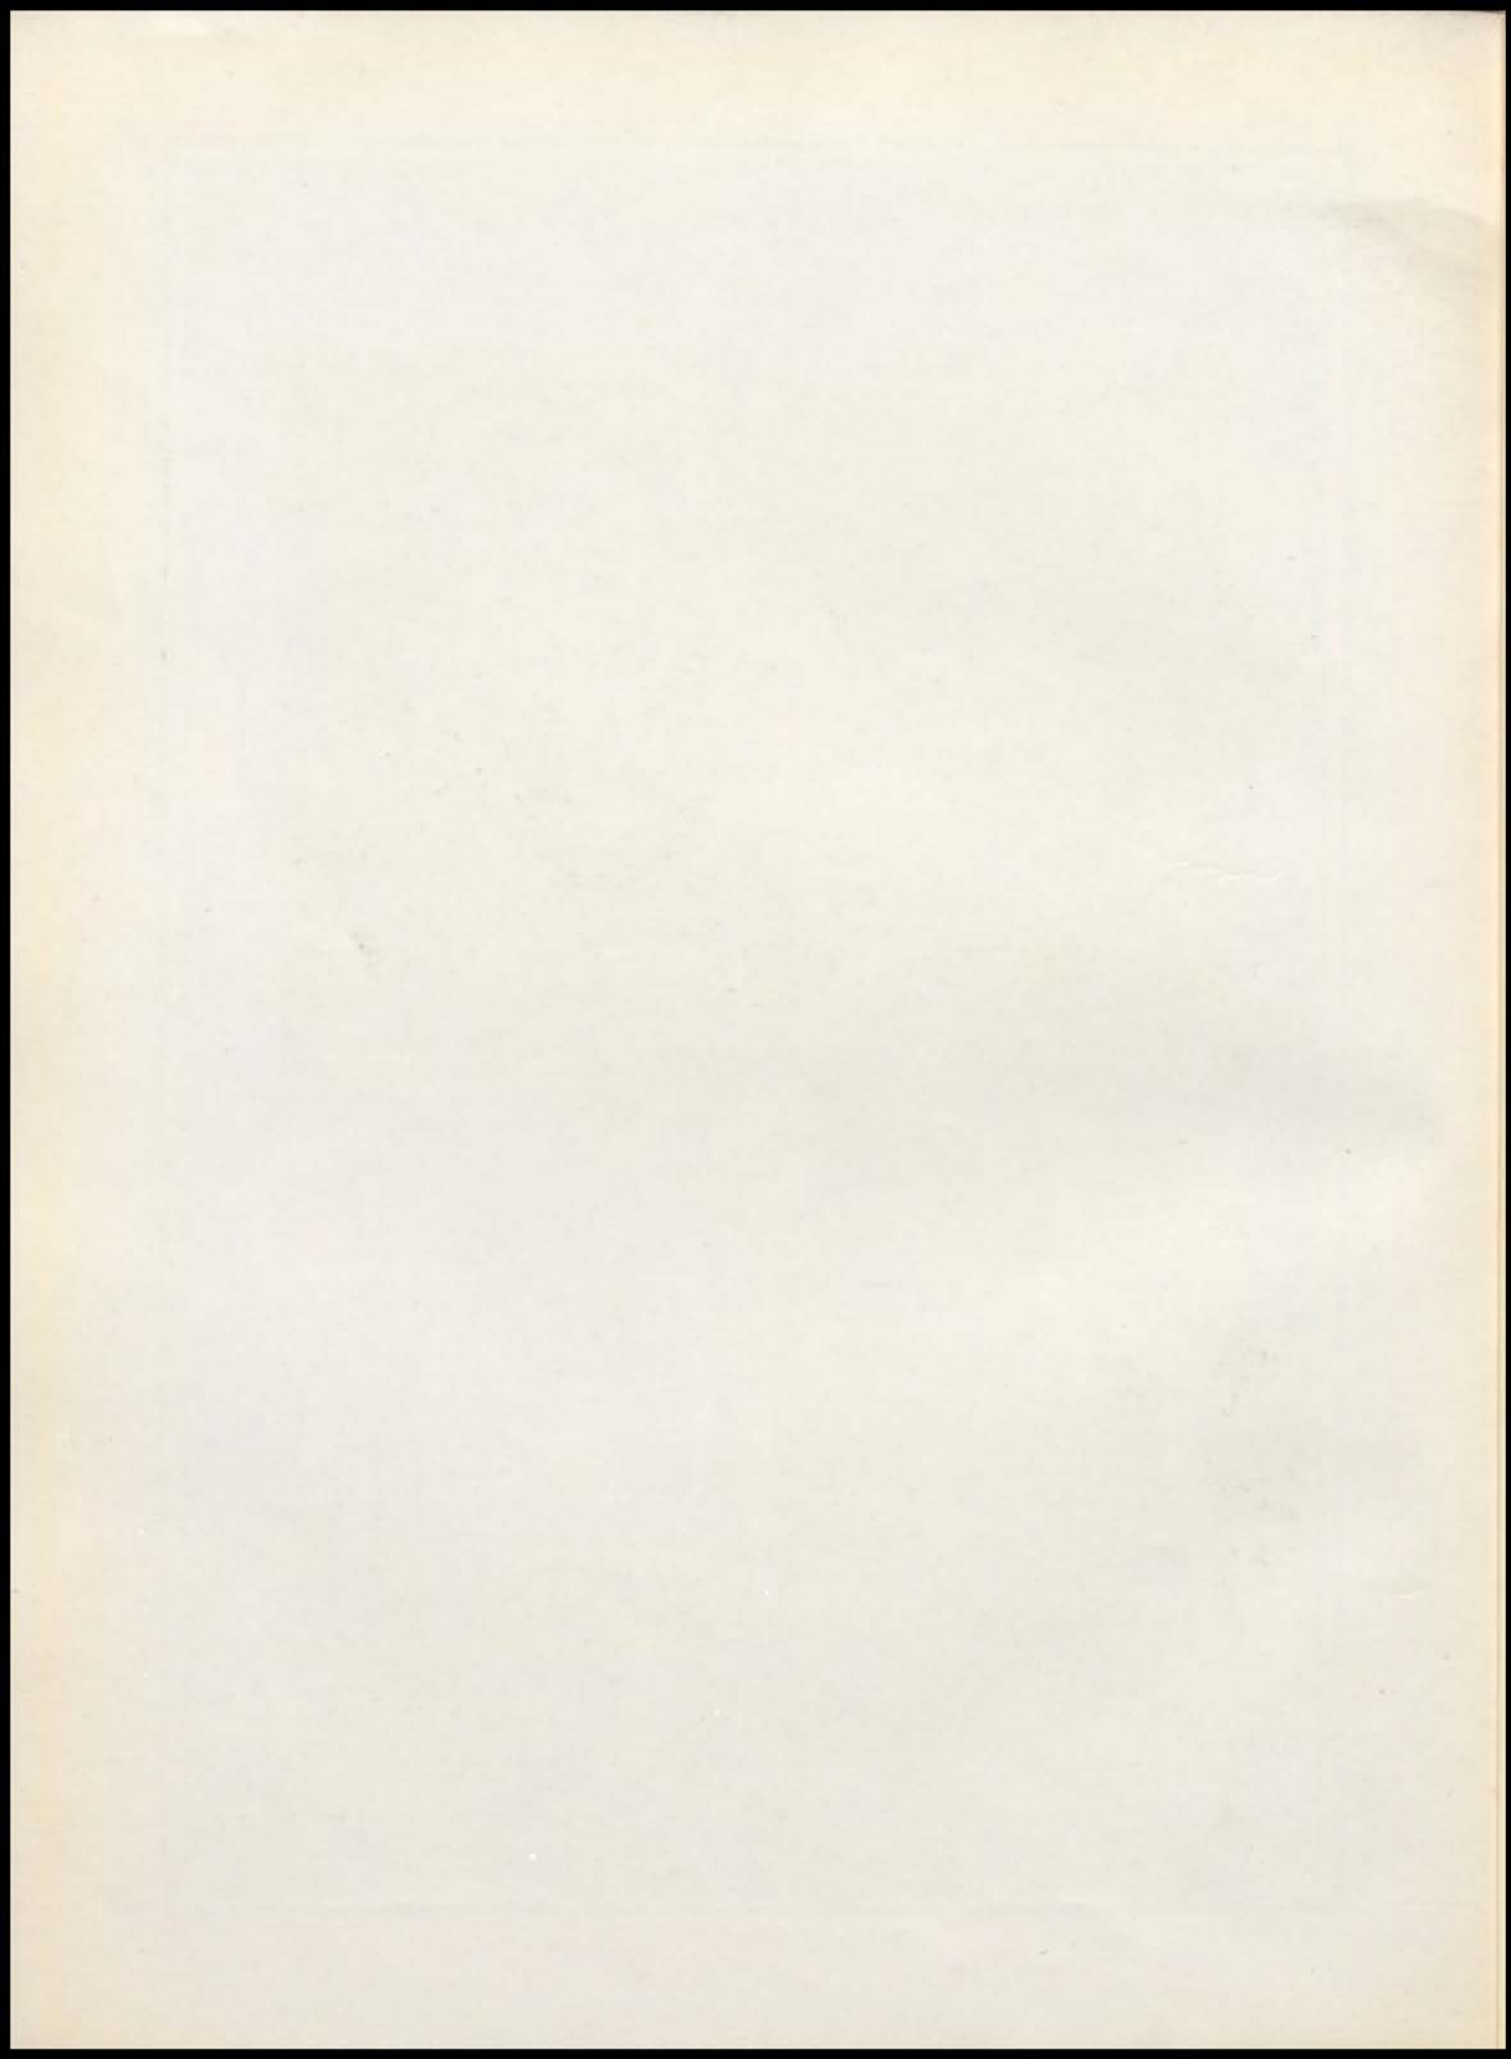

Scene I

Parks and Johnson are defeated in the first round of the doubles tourney. Sides is put out in the first round of singles. Jewell and Sears stay in until the finals, where they are defeated by Westport. Jewell is beaten in the semi-finals of singles. Westport places both single finalists. Sears continues playing, and with his partner, Leola Shawhan, captures the mixed doubles title.

End of Act Four.

The purpose of the Northeast Olympic Association is to promote interest in athletics. The working for the Missouri State Letter has done much to sustain this interest.

Many of the girls have already won their points and others will have before the year has terminated.

The Olympic Association is the only girls' club of its kind at Northeast which works for the physical as well as the social betterment of its members. Much has been accomplished by our club and it has established a precedent for service for Northeast.

Hikes

The girls of the Physical Education Department are more interested in hikes this year than ever before; partly because they are so interested in winning their state letters, toward which one hundred points are given for hiking one hundred miles.

There have been six "all gym girl" hikes and several individual class hikes this year. These hikes were supervised by Miss Heible and the hike supervisors. Fifty girls have hiked forty miles this school year, and the following girls have hiked that number or more: Ardene Stephens, Mildred Schneider, Mable Woodard, Marjorie Tarwater, and Evelyn Talbott.

EVELYN TALBOTT,
Hike Supervisor.

Swimming

The Inter-class Swimming Meet of 1924 was won by the Seniors, with a score of 33 points; the Sophomores second with 31 points; and the Juniors third with 26 points.

The contest was very close as the score indicates. The high point winner was Merle Davis, '25, 12½ points. The events were as follows: Strokes for form: side, breast, and back; treading water for form; relays; stunts; porpoise; dash; float for time; and dives.

The fall of '24 was the first real season for hockey at Northeast. A great deal of interest was taken in this sport, thus resulting in keen competition in the inter-class games.

The championship was tied between the Seniors and Juniors. Each team won two games, lost one, and tied one. The captains of the class teams were: Senior, Uarda Newsom; Junior, Marjorie Books; Sophomore, Margaret Black.

After a very tumultuous season the Seniors were the victors by a narrow margin. Every game in the series was excellently played and the outcome was in doubt until the last minute of play and then it was only decided by counting the scores and taking the percentage.

The Senior captain, Marjorie Tarwater, headed her crew in a very gallant manner. The captains for the losers were Eloise Edlund, Junior; and Anita Parr, Sophomore.

Baseball is fast becoming one of our foremost sports. It is especially adaptable for use in high school physical training because it allows a greater number of girls to participate than do some of the other sports, and it is at the same time intensely interesting.

Practice has begun for the inter-class contest and from all signs so far rivalry between classes will be spirited.

Last year the Seniors carried off the baseball honors, because of their fast pitcher and clever team work.

THE LAST BELL.

"Dingle, dingle, little bell,
How I wonder what you tell,
Am I early? If I'm late
It is you who seals my fate."

There is nothing worse
Than the terrible curse
Of examination day.

I want to write
Things that are bright
But I don't know what to say.

On my pencil I chew
And in spirits blue
Search in my aching brain.

On my brow perspiration
But no inspiration
As I hope in vain.

I am plunged in gloom
And feel my doom
It was hopeless to cram, I fear.

But I solemnly swear
To thoroughly prepare
For the coming exam—next year.

JUST WIND

To those who talk and talk and talk,
This proverb should appeal;
The steam that blows the whistle
Will never turn the wheel.

Mr. Sharp—"James, define space."

Jimmie Caskey—"I can't state it, but I have it in my head."

Freshman (picking up a Caesar book)—"Oh shucks! Latin is easy. Wish I had taken it. "Forte dux in oro"—forty ducks in a row. "Passus sum iam"—pass us some jam. "Boni legis Caesaris"—bony legs of Caesar. "Caesar sic dicat undecur egressi licum"—Caesar sicked the cat on the cur and I guess he licked him."

Senior (to photographer)—"Which way do you wish me to turn my eyes?"

Photographer—"Toward that sign, please."

(Sign reads)—"Terms cash."

NOT MISSING

(Heard behind the scenes in Debater meeting.)

"Mr. Chairman," said the speaker, "I have been on my feet for nearly ten minutes, but there is so much noise and so many interruptions that I can scarcely hear myself speaking."

"Cheer up," called a voice; "you're not missin' much."

It was during a death bed scene where Miss Hobbs thought the acting of the hero was poor. "Come on," she shouted; "put more life into your dying."

Mr. Snell—"If you go far enough back in man's history you may find the ape the forefather of man."

Pupil—"How far back?"

Mr. Snell—"I don't know, I wasn't there."

Mary DeRubertis (to Morgan Goodhart)—"Morgan, I know someone that just loves red hair. You ought to cultivate her friendship."

Robert Richards—"I guess I'll dye my hair."

Mr. Davis—"What do we owe to chemistry?"

Houston Sides—"Most of all blondes!"

Miss Spencer asked for a composition describing the sound of an approaching automobile.

Harry Eager's reply was somewhat brief—"Honk! Honk!"

Like Some People We Know.

The Soph stood on the railroad track,
The train was coming fast;
The Soph stepped off the railroad track
And let the train go past.

The Senior stood on the railroad track,
The train was coming fast;
The train got off the railroad track
And let the Senior past.

Advice to young hopefuls who expect to enter Northeast next year:
Part your hair in the middle, for every block must have an alley.

HEARD IN ASSEMBLY

Speaker—"As I observe your bright and shining faces——"
Miss 1925—"Oh, gosh! Where's my compact!"

OVERWORKED

The indignant mother wrote thus to the principal of a high school:
Dear Sir—My son tells me that he has to study too hard. He says he has to translate fifty hexameters of Latin a day. I looked "hexameter" up in the dictionary and find it is a poetic verse of six feet. Now that makes 300 feet or 100 yards of poetry for my poor son to translate each night. I think about half a hexameter, or six inches of this Latin is enough for a boy of his age.

Pauline—"What part of school do you like best?"
Lucille—"Going home."

Mr. Miller—"What kind of a circle do we have here?"
Martha Burlie—"A round circle."

Mr. Coleman—"I've just discovered who my brightest pupils are: The ones who never ask any questions and never get anywhere."

NOTICE.

"All the Ancient history teachers please meet after school."
Was anyone there?

Pauline Preston—"A table is something with four legs."
Mr. White—"We have one at home but we call it a cat."

Fred Hawkins (translating Virgil)—"Her face fell and her voice broke."

Mildred Freeman—"I don't seem to have any powder left."
Brilliant One—"Look on your face."

William Scharer—"Dad, I'm a big gun here at school."
Pater—"Then why don't I hear better reports?"

Morgan Goodhart (in history)—"After Burr killed Hamilton he fled in several different directions."

Mr. White (in geometry class)—"Now if I was variable, I would approach zero."

Miss Burton (in expression class)—"What is the matter with you, Virginia; can't you speak any louder? Be more enthusiastic. Open your mouth and throw yourself into it."

Mr. Chaffee—"Heaven' is a hard word to sing."
Uhl Winans—"Yes, but it's a harder place to get to."

Miss Taylor (in Spanish)—The main difference between a girl chewing her gum and a cow chewing her cud is that the cow generally looks thoughtful."

A beautiful girl is seen walking down the street. She is, of course, feminine. If she is singular, you become nominative. You walk across to her, changing to the verbal and then become dative. If she is not objective, you become plural. You walk home together. Her mother is acusative and you become imperative. Her brother is an indefinite article. You walk in and sit down. You talk of the future and she changes the subject. You kiss her and she becomes objective. Her father becomes present.

Roy Green—"Oh, Mr. Snell, I am right at the door of flunking!"
Mr. Snell (very obligingly)—"Never mind, don't worry, I'll pull you through."

Miss Begey—"Your themes should be written in such a manner that even the most ignorant person can understand them."
Ruth Alexander—"What part is it you don't understand."

Fred Hawkins (in that oratorical voice!)"—I believe that every man should do something to advance the cause of science. When I die I shall leave my brain to science."

Katherine Frick—"Oh, you stingy old thing."

MADE CLEAR.

Mr. Green (to Nor'easter reporter)—"What's that? Spell my name? Certainly. G for Gynecomorphous; R for Rhizophoraceae; E for Electrodynamometer; E for Eudaemonical; and N for Nyctaginiaceous."

Miss Sizemore—"Why are you late to class?"
Dorothy Teller—"Class started before I got here."

Mr. Davis—"What is the difference between tinctures and spirits?"
Esther Henderson—"Spirits contain more alcohol."
Mr. Davis—"You're thinking of evil spirits."

PRIMARY COLOR BOX

Freshman.....	Blue (very, sometimes)
Sophomore.....	Black (a dreary outlook)
Senior.....	Yellow (gold)

And the fusing and blending thereof, of primary colors maketh strange combinations and interesting shades. Fuse the Junior and Senior colors together and the color of most brilliance shines forth, or throw the golden light of Senior over the Freshman blue, and behold, the Freshman looks like the grass in color.

BIRTH STONES.

For Freshmen—Emeralds.
 For Sophomores—Moonstone.
 For Juniors—Grindstone.
 For Seniors—Tombstone.

Fred (on telephone)—“Hello, Clella, may I come over tonight?”
 Ruth—“Yes, Robert, come right on over.”
 Fred—“But I’m not Robert.”
 Ruth—“Well, I’m not Clella, either.”

Books some of us might know:
 “Little Men”—The Freshie.
 “The Reign of Terror”—Day before we get our report cards.
 “The Disaster”—Day after we got them.
 “The Common Lot”—Flunking.
 “Paradise Lost”—When we can’t talk to her.
 “The Comedy of Errors”—The English themes.

Ruth Henderson (wildly waving her hand)—“Oh, Mr. Sharp, I have an idea.”
 Mr. Sharp—“Well, hold it down and don’t let it rattle so.”

“Are you laughing at me?” demanded Mr. Chaffee of his class, very angrily.
 “No,” came the answer in chorus.
 “Well,” insisted the irate teacher, “what else is there in the room to laugh at?”

A BOUDOIR CONVERSATION.

“I’m up against it,” said the wallpaper.
 “Hard luck,” replied the horseshoe over the door.
 “Cut it out,” cried the scissors.
 “Well, I’ve been walked on lately, too,” remarked the carpet.
 “I’ll get someone to look into this,” said the mirror.
 “Needn’t,” said the desk. “I haven’t any kick. Everything is all write for me.”
 “Oh, shut up,” shouted the window shutter.
 Whereupon the gas became very angry and, after flaring up, got hot, and saying that he refused to throw any light on the subject, went out.

Little Boy—"Mother, our teacher was absent today and we had a submarine."

Mr. Pinkney—"What can you tell me about nitrates?"

Elizabeth Gornall—"Well—er—they're a lot cheaper than day rates."

Ardith Burns (in Spanish class)—"What gender is 'case'?"

Senora—"It takes both genders to make a case."

JUNIOR

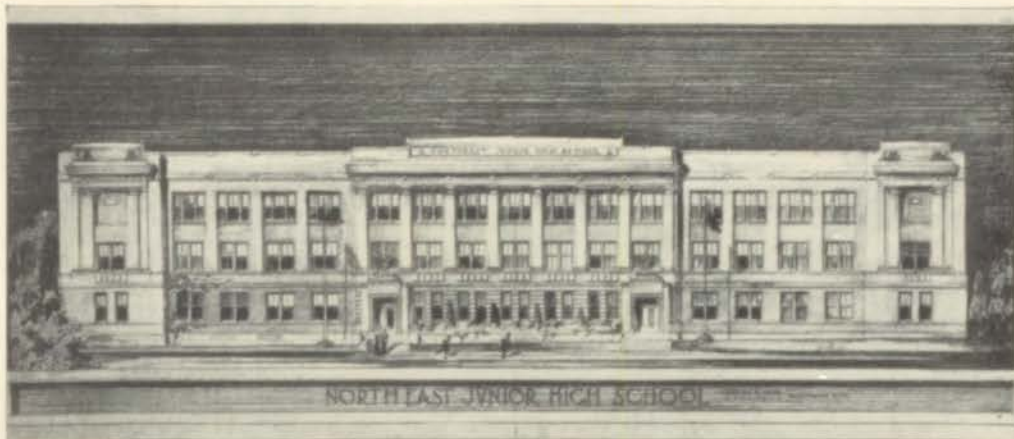

HIGH

NANCY HEAD ~

Future Junior High School Building

The contract was let, on April 16, for our new Junior High building. This school house is to be nearly square, of dimensions 240 feet by 254 feet, and is to stand at the north end of the block bounded by Independence Avenue, Chelsea, Thompson and Brighton. It will front south and will have a basement and four stories.

The basement will contain the boiler and fan rooms and the tunnels for the hot air ducts.

The first floor will have a double front entrance, the principal's offices being between the two entrances. On the first floor will be located the main floor of the auditorium, shops, science rooms, a bicycle room, laundry, emergency rooms, commercial rooms, and the pool, 18 feet by 45 feet.

On the second floor are the two gymnasiums, the balcony of the auditorium, a library, a study hall, and many class rooms.

On the third floor are the remaining class rooms, a sewing room, cooking room, music room, and the gallery of the auditorium.

The fourth floor will house a well lighted and beautiful cafeteria large enough to seat seven hundred people at a time.

An elevator for freight will carry supplies to the domestic science classes and the cafeteria. Four double flights of steps, and wide corridors around the auditorium, will enable pupils to reach their rooms in the shortest possible time. Built-in steel lockers in the corridors will be ample for wraps, and two showers for boys and one for girls will be available for the classes in gymnasium and in swimming.

The auditorium is to seat a thousand on the main floor, four hundred twenty-five in the balcony, and two hundred sixty in the gallery—in all 1,685. The walls will be acoustically treated so that it will be easy to hear in every part of the room. A large stage with forty-two foot proscenium will give ample room for our young actors.

The outer walls combining strength and beauty will be built of gray brick, stone, and terra cotta, with a liberal use of Ionic columns.

Altogether it will be commodious, convenient for use, beautiful—indeed, the last word in high school architecture.

Third Annual Junior Jubilee

Friday the thirteenth of March was unlucky only for those patrons of Northeast who did not attend the Junior Jubilee. Northeast Junior does everything on a big scale and this was the biggest event of the year.

The three-part program in the Auditorium was a complete success. The dancers from the girls' gymnasium did their work daintily and artistically. The players in the one-act comedy, "The Knave of Hearts," entered into their parts in such an excellent spirit that everyone proved to be a star in his own role. The work of the boys' glee club proved to the world that junior high school boys can be trained to do excellent work. To accommodate the multitude the program was given twice. Then there were the sideshows and markets, thirteen of them, running full tilt from seven-thirty to eleven. Here the Jubilee spirit was carried out in all details. Fun reigned supreme.

Why were there 4,400 tickets sold to the Jubilee, 14,000 sideshow tickets purchased and $1,727.71 taken in? All of Northeast Kansas City knows that this success is due to the spirit of Northeast Junior High School, which is made up of 100 per cent loyalty and co-operation on the part of every teacher, pupil and patron. It would be hard to find anywhere another institution with such a record in three short years of life.

Campfire

The An-aki-ci Campfire group of Northeast Junior High was organized in November with Miss Abbott and Miss Malter as Guardians.

At Christmas time in order to live up to the Law of the Fire the Campfire girls of the school gave a basket to a family less fortunate than themselves.

In the group there are six wood gatherers: Dorothy Sears, Helen Closson, Margaret Broaddus, Pearl Durham, Marjorie Hamilton and Margaret Bishop. Among these are several that are working on the Firemaker's rank. The other girls of the group are: Maxine Van Meter, Lucretia Russell, Margaret Hennessy, Monica Goddard, Margaret Ebel, Audrey Otts, Margaret Smith, Ruth Feagan, Rhoda Shotliff, Helen Leibrecht, Dorothy Karr and Mary Louise Hepworth.

The girls attended a District Council Fire held at Northeast in March, 1925. This was conducted by Mrs. Lott, and Mr. Nowlin gave several interesting Indian legends.

One of the unusual hikes of the year was a Sound Hike, on which each girl listed every different sound she heard. A local honor was presented for the longest list. Dorothy Sears and Marjorie Hamilton each turned in a list of one hundred sixty-five sounds.

Local honors were also won by all girls who learned and were able to repeat at any Council Fire the three ceremonies of Lighting and Extinguishing the ceremonial candles.

Girl Reserves

Sixty-seven girls organized into triangles working with Miss Dobyms, Miss Dorothy Elliott, Miss Hoar, Miss McClure, Miss Patt and Miss Wilson as advisers, have given very inspiring programs twice a month during the school year.

The Triangles contributed Thanksgiving dinners to five worthy families, sent Christmas gifts to orphans in Mexican Mission schools and spent some very happy hours taking the babies at the Evans Home out for airings.

The Northeast Junior girls are very proud to have won the Inter-Club Council shield in January.

Girl Scouts

Motto: "Be Prepared."
 Slogan: "Do a Good Turn Daily."
 Local Troop: American Goldfinch.
 Colors: Black and Gold.

Service, citizenship and fun are characteristic of Girl Scouts. The American Goldfinch Troop has had a year of fun, some of the high spots being a swimming party, a Valentine party at Nancy Ralston's home with Nancy and Marjorie Smith as hostesses, and an overnight camping trip at the Girl Scout Cabin near Olathe, Kansas.

Perhaps the thing the girls enjoyed the most this year was the Christmas they gave to families adopted by the patrols. Twelve girls marched in the Flower Show Parade. Four girls demonstrated sewing in a display window downtown. Two girls spoke in behalf of Scouting for girls before two of the Men's clubs of the city. Several girls received honors at the local spring rally, and all of the girls are making rapid progress on their various scout tests.

The Boys' Glee Club although a new undertaking in Northeast Junior, has been a very successful one. During the year the club has sung at the State Teachers' Association, National Music Supervisors' Conference, WDAF, Memorial Hill Program, Junior Jubilee, and many assembly programs. There are boys in the club who have changed voices as well as many whose voices have not changed as yet.

Basketball Team

THE BASKET BALL SEASON OF 1925

Coach Cohlmeier started the season with only one man from the previous year's squad. This successful team was built around Jake Lapin, the veteran, who was shifted from back guard to floor guard. Jake played his new role in a creditable manner. Joe Campbell, who was honored with the captaincy, filled the job of back guard with satisfaction. Park Borden made an excellent kangaroo and controlled the ball at center the greater part of the time. Earl Renfro and Everett Moore developed into a shifty pair of forwards. Lorne Wells and Louis Rubenstein carried the brunt of the utility work, Louis as a forward and Lorne as any old thing that was needed at that particular moment. This account would not be complete unless we paid high tribute to the boys who made the work of the foregoing seven possible, boys who carried on the spirit we have established here at Northeast Junior and played the bench and slaved on the scrubs with never a whimper or sign of protest at their unfortunate lot. Roy Becklean, Paul Fifield and Lawrence McKinney were suited up for each game but failed to get up a sweat in any game of the season: Vernon Schad, Lawrence Brumm, Murl McNeil, Ray Prough, Ray Moorehouse, George Holferty, and Ray Wingo practiced faithfully each night of the season and never even sat on the bench in a suit. Boys of such royal stuff make good teams possible.

The season's record:

Northeast, 23; Country Day, 18.	Northeast, 26; Ottawa, Kans., 13.
Northeast, 34; Country Day, 6.	Northeast, 39; Westport, 15.
Northeast, 33; Rosedale Jr., 2.	Northeast, 33; Central, 29.
Northeast, 24; Westport, 11.	Northeast, 19; Manual, 26.
Northeast, 33; Central, 21.	Northeast, 9; Manual, 13.
Northeast, 17; Manual, 19.

Total Points—Northeast, 290; Opponents, 173.

Cheer Leaders

SOME DETAILS OF THE BASKETBALL SEASON

The season opened with a 23 to 18 victory over Country Day on their court. Then followed the Christmas holidays and after the rest the home season was initiated with a 34 to 6 win over the same opponents. This disappointed the boys somewhat and when Rosedale Junior came over to do battle our Kansas friends ran up against a little tighter defense, resulting in a 33 to 2 game on the right side of the ledger. The team was now ready for the league season to open and on January 23 they journeyed out to Westport and did a workmanlike job, with a score of 24 to 11. They sailed into Central the next week and came off with a 33 to 21 triumph; and then came the Manual game and in the last minute of play a long goal by Daleo gave us our first defeat, 19 to 17. The next night in Ottawa, Kansas, we were good enough to win 26 to 13. The second round of the league started on February 13 and Westport visited our court; they picked up 15 points while Northeast was busily engaged in gathering 39. Then came the Central game at Central and in a nip and tuck battle the orange clad boys emerged with a 33 to 29 victory. Manual came over to Northeast on March 3 with two defeats chalked up against her, with Northeast in first place and another championship in easy reach, and Manual won 26 to 19, thus tying the two for the league championship. In the play-off on March 10 Manual repeated her two previous triumphs and carried off the cup.

Indoor Championship Squad

INDOOR JUNIOR HIGH TRACK CHAMPIONSHIP TO NORTHEAST

Northeast Junior High School virtually ran away with all honors in all of the indoor meets this year. In the first meet of the indoor season, the Kansas City Athletic Club meet, Northeast Junior finished first with 10 points, Manual second with 9 points, and Central third with 1 point. Westport failed to place.

Next came the Missouri-Kansas meet, and our boys gathered 12 points to Manual's 5, and to top this off, broke the Junior High Relay record, formerly held by Central. The old record stood at 1 minute, 7 seconds. In this meet our boys ran the event in 1 minute, 6 and 6/10 seconds. The members of this relay were Richardson, Leach, Binner and Dorsett. Rubenstein won the 50-yard dash from his old rival Daleo, from Manual. His time was 5 4/5 seconds.

Then came the Missouri Valley meet. Northeast again won the meet, although we were hard pushed by Manual. Manual finished second with 9 points as against Northeast's 10 points. Again our Relay team came to the fore, and not being satisfied with our own record made in the meet previous, we shattered this record and established the new time of 1 minute, 6 and 2/10 seconds. The members of the record holding relay team are Richardson, Binner, Rubenstein and Dorsett.

The members of the Indoor squad were Richardson, Miller, Dorsett, Rubenstein, Leach, Morris, Binner, McKinney, Lynn.

Track Squad

Some eighty boys answered the first call for outdoor track tryouts and Coach Warren is hard at work developing a team from this group. Among some of the outstanding men of the squad are: Joseph Campbell, Shot Put; Jack Peterson and Rudolph Isom, High Jump; Louis Rubenstein, Sprints and Hurdles; Fred Leach, Sprints and Hurdles; Everett Moore, Pole Vault; Billy Miller, Pole Vault; Frank Richardson, Albert Dorsett, Walter Binner, and Ross Morris, Sprints; Russell Lynn, Broad Jump.

Two outdoor squad captains were elected this year—Fred Leach for the unlimited class, and Albert Dorsett for the 115-lb. class.

The Duck Club is composed of swimmers of unusual ability. To become a member a girl must pass the swimmers' test which is on a hundred point basis. A girl must have high ideals, high scholastic standing, know the full meaning of sportsmanship and be an unusually good swimmer in order to become a member of this organization. The Duck Club is just one year old but it will be a permanent organization in Northeast Junior High. Only members of this Club can become Junior Red Cross Life Savers. Every girl expects to pass the test the last week of April. Charlotte Ford, a Duck, is also a member of the K. C. A. C. swimming team. She holds the local record for the hundred-yard breast stroke and is a strong contender for the Western Association Amateur Athletic Union record.

The Duck Club has members who are unusually good divers. The following girls have shown exceptional ability: Bernice Lach, Ruth Biggerstaff, Pauline Griffin, Julia Mae Handley, Pauline Geis, and Mary Glenn.

Girls' Baseball Team

Top Row—Edna Boucher, Annabelle McBride, Ruth O'Keefe (instructor), Florette Preston, Frances Hurst.
Middle Row—Ruth Noble, Irene Fike, Lois Carroll (captain), Beulah Brown, Hazel Dickson.
Bottom Row—Letha Hill, Margaret Deuser, Ruth Biggerstaff, Betty White, Margaret Gill.

This Girls' team can play real baseball. The girls of Northeast Junior High School have been organized into several teams. The above team is composed of the star players of the school. Continued practice and consequent development of a "baseball sense" have enabled these girls to enjoy the great national game and to play it smoothly and scientifically. A large amount of "team work" has been developed so that each girl forgets personal praise and is lost in the spirit of the team. This team boasts of two right handed pitchers, Hazel Dickson and Ruth Noble, and one southpaw, Beulah Brown.

Girls' Track

Top Row—Mildred Paradise, Diamond De Remus, Helen Miller, Delma Riley, Florette Preston, Grace Riddle, Bertha Fahlstrom, Beulah Brown.
 Second Row—Alice Miller, Frances Hurst, Imogene Downing, Miriam Henry, Violet Borders, Mildred Geabhart, Irene Wingo, Velma Wynn, Julia Mae Handley.
 Third Row—Letha Hill, Margaret Deuser, Margaret Mulligan, Thelma Bamford, Ruth O'Keefe (coach), Ruby Hamilton, Marjorie Eads, Blanch Bumbarger.
 Fourth Row—Mildred Cooper, Thelma Jackley, Olive Davis, Betty Johnson, Marion Barber, Ruth Burke, Faye Worsfold, Elizabeth Porter.
 Fifth Row—Kathleen McGarry, Marjorie Hamilton, Ruth Biggerstaff, Pauline Drake, Betty White.

The girls of Northeast Junior High School have an organized track team. The various events meet the needs of all types of girls; furthermore, each girl receives outdoor exercise, which is more beneficial than that received in a gymnasium. The track girls are gaining bodily control and the ability to meet unexpected situations in an intelligent manner. Competition will inevitably bring out the best qualities in our girls and will teach them the value of true sportsmanship. The track meet which is held in May features many events. Every girl will be able to participate in one or more events according to her ability. The fastest dash runner is Blanche Bumbarger.

The track events are as follows: 50-yard Dash; 75-yard Dash; 100-yard Relay; Baseball Throw; Basketball Throw; Hop, Step and Jump; Running High Jump; Running Broad Jump.

Home Room Clubs

THE SNOOPER CLUB

This club was so named because the club members snoop into the reasons for everything. The president for the first semester was Raymond Russell, while Toleman Skinner pilots our ship through the second semester. The biggest event of the year for us was the winning of the first prize for selling tickets for the Junior Jubilee. The prize was a five layer cake made by Miss Gufler's Cooking classes.

THE "?" CLUB

The "?" Club is a mystery to Northeast Junior High. The members wonder why. This class of brilliant girls belongs to Miss O'Keefe. The members have taken the tennis, track, swimming, Girl Reserve, Student Council and Honor Roll honors. They have given many parties and hope to close the year by giving a spring dance.

HANDCRAFT CLUB

The first hour class in Room 400 organized a Handcraft Club. Some of the articles made were silver and ivorene pendants and watch fobs, tied and dyed handkerchiefs and scarfs, plaques and parchment shades.

THE VIVID ENGLISH CLUB

The Vivid English Club of Room 311 has held one program and one business meeting a month, alternating on the second and fourth Wednesday. The Club held a Hallowe'en party and a Christmas party, with appropriate programs. At Thanksgiving time instead of a private donation, the Club increased its contribution to the work of the Junior Red Cross.

THE TOP-NOTCH CLUB

Early in the fall the first hour class in 416 organized a club which was named the "Top-Notch Club." One of the Top-Notchers' early activities was a weiner roast breakfast hike to Prospect Point. Once every month the club entertains. At Christmas time there was a Christmas tree and all gave presents. On Valentine's day, a valentine box was in evidence.

THE X Y Z CLUB

The X Y Z Club, so called because it was organized by Miss Willis' first hour algebra class, has enjoyed several programs and parties this year. These included a Hallowe'en party, a Christmas program with an exchange of gifts and an Easter party. One member of this club, Richard Jones, had the honor of getting the most ads for the annual in the Northeast Junior High School.

THE GIRLS SEWING CLUB

The Girl's Sewing Club in room 316 elected officers at the beginning of the second term. The president, Virginia Shaw, has an able cabinet with Thelma Jackley as secretary; Ruth Roach, student representative; Betty Lou Poulis, alternate representative, and Alice Teepen, news reporter.

THE CAREFUL, ACCURATE, RELIABLE ENGLISH CLUB

The Careful, Accurate, Reliable English Club, sponsored by Miss Trenchard, has been helpful to each of its members. Programs have been held on Fridays and the response to the call for numbers has been excellent. Its officers have been very efficient and members have received an idea as to how meetings should be conducted.

Nor'easter

S. P. Q. R. CLUB

The S. P. Q. R. Club is an organized Latin class which meets in Room 313 under the direction of Miss McClure. The letters are abbreviations for Senatus Populusque Romanus, meaning the senate and the Roman people, which represented the republic. The purpose of all programs of the club has been two-fold, to be entertaining and instructive. At the Christmas meeting a short play was presented, entitled "Saturnalia," which explained the festival held in Rome the week of December 17. Gifts were sent to the children in one of the orphans' homes of the city.

JUNIOR SCRIBBLERS

The Junior Scribblers Club of Room 310 has a two-fold purpose—literary and social. Several members of the Nor'easter staff belong to this club, which is an English class, and all the pupils have pledged themselves to make the Junior High page of the Nor'easter as interesting as possible. They are constantly on the lookout for news and they have much of the responsibility for writing up news-items and editing the material.

LOUD SPEAKERS

The Loud Speakers of the first hour Expression class, not only talk but act. The group is divided into sides with a point system of accomplishments for the sides. Each five weeks the losers entertain the winners. The club has achieved one hundred percent in Banking, and Red Cross membership, and second place in the Jubilee Cake race. Kenneth Knowles sold the most tickets for the Jubilee. Each holiday is celebrated with party or program. A Christmas basket was taken to the Castle Rest Home.

THE BASKETBALL DINNER

Novel Decorations Used at Annual Dinner of Cooky Cutters.

The members of the Cooky Cutters Club were hostesses Friday night, March 28, to the basketball boys, Mr. Cohlmeier, their coach, Mr. Warren and Mr. Nowlin. A four course dinner was served. Addresses were made by Mr. Nowlin and Mr. Cohlmeier, after which the boys presented Mr. Cohlmeier with a watch chain and knife and Mrs. Cohlmeier and Bobby with a box of candy.

The Cooky Cutters Club is composed of girls from the Foods and Health classes and membership is limited to the high-ranking students. Miss Gufler is the adviser.

THE CIVICS CLUB

Miss Gales' first hour Civics class was organized for the purpose of training better citizens and studying the problems of the community. Hallowe'en, Thanksgiving, Christmas, Valentine and Easter were party days, when programs were given and refreshments served.

SEMPER FIDELES

The Semper Fideles Club of Room 218 has had regular monthly programs this year in which the students furnished the talent. Special programs were given Thanksgiving, Christmas and St. Valentine's Day for which various students volunteered their services. The purpose of these programs has been to acquaint the pupils to a certain extent with the rules of Parliamentary Law and to promote sociability.

O. H. O. E. CLUB

Miss Doby's first hour English class is organized as the "Our Hour of English Club." Its object is to have the whole class work together in perfect unison in the preparing of programs and entertainments of value and interest to an English class. The meetings are held every other Friday in the class period.

THE BOOK OF POPULAR SCIENCE

This new work just published tells in clear understandable language the things you want to know—about the universe in which this world is such a tiny speck—the earth on which we live—the life in us and about us—the powers we have summoned to our aid—the industries we have developed—the methods by which we buy and sell—the social relations in which our communities are organized—the health that should be ours—the foods and household conditions that home life demands—and the truths concerning present day topics and problems.

In fifteen volumes, 5300 pages, containing 20,000 index references, this work furnishes the high school student a veritable gold mine of valuable information.
