"All the world is a stage," and we are standing in the wings waiting for our cues in the Drama of life. Before we were ready for these parts, we studied and practiced at the Northeast Play House. Our training in the traditions of the theater was under the finest of dramatic coaches. The period of learning was pleasant.

As an actor collects his clippings and press notices in a scrapbook, so we are recording here the delights of our apprenticeship. You are just in time to see us re-enact one of the greatest performances ever given on the Northeast stage. So settle down as the house lights dim, and the play begins.

F O R E W O R D

A great tragedy occupies the world stage today. The actors and the spectators alike are moved by the pathos of this tragic drama.

But we are looking for the time when the curtain will fall upon this tragedy. Architects are even now designing a wonderful theater; playwrights are creating a glorious drama; and the actors are studying for the greatest parts in their careers.

They are preparing for a play which will run forever on the world stage. Their masterpiece will be entitled, "World Peace."

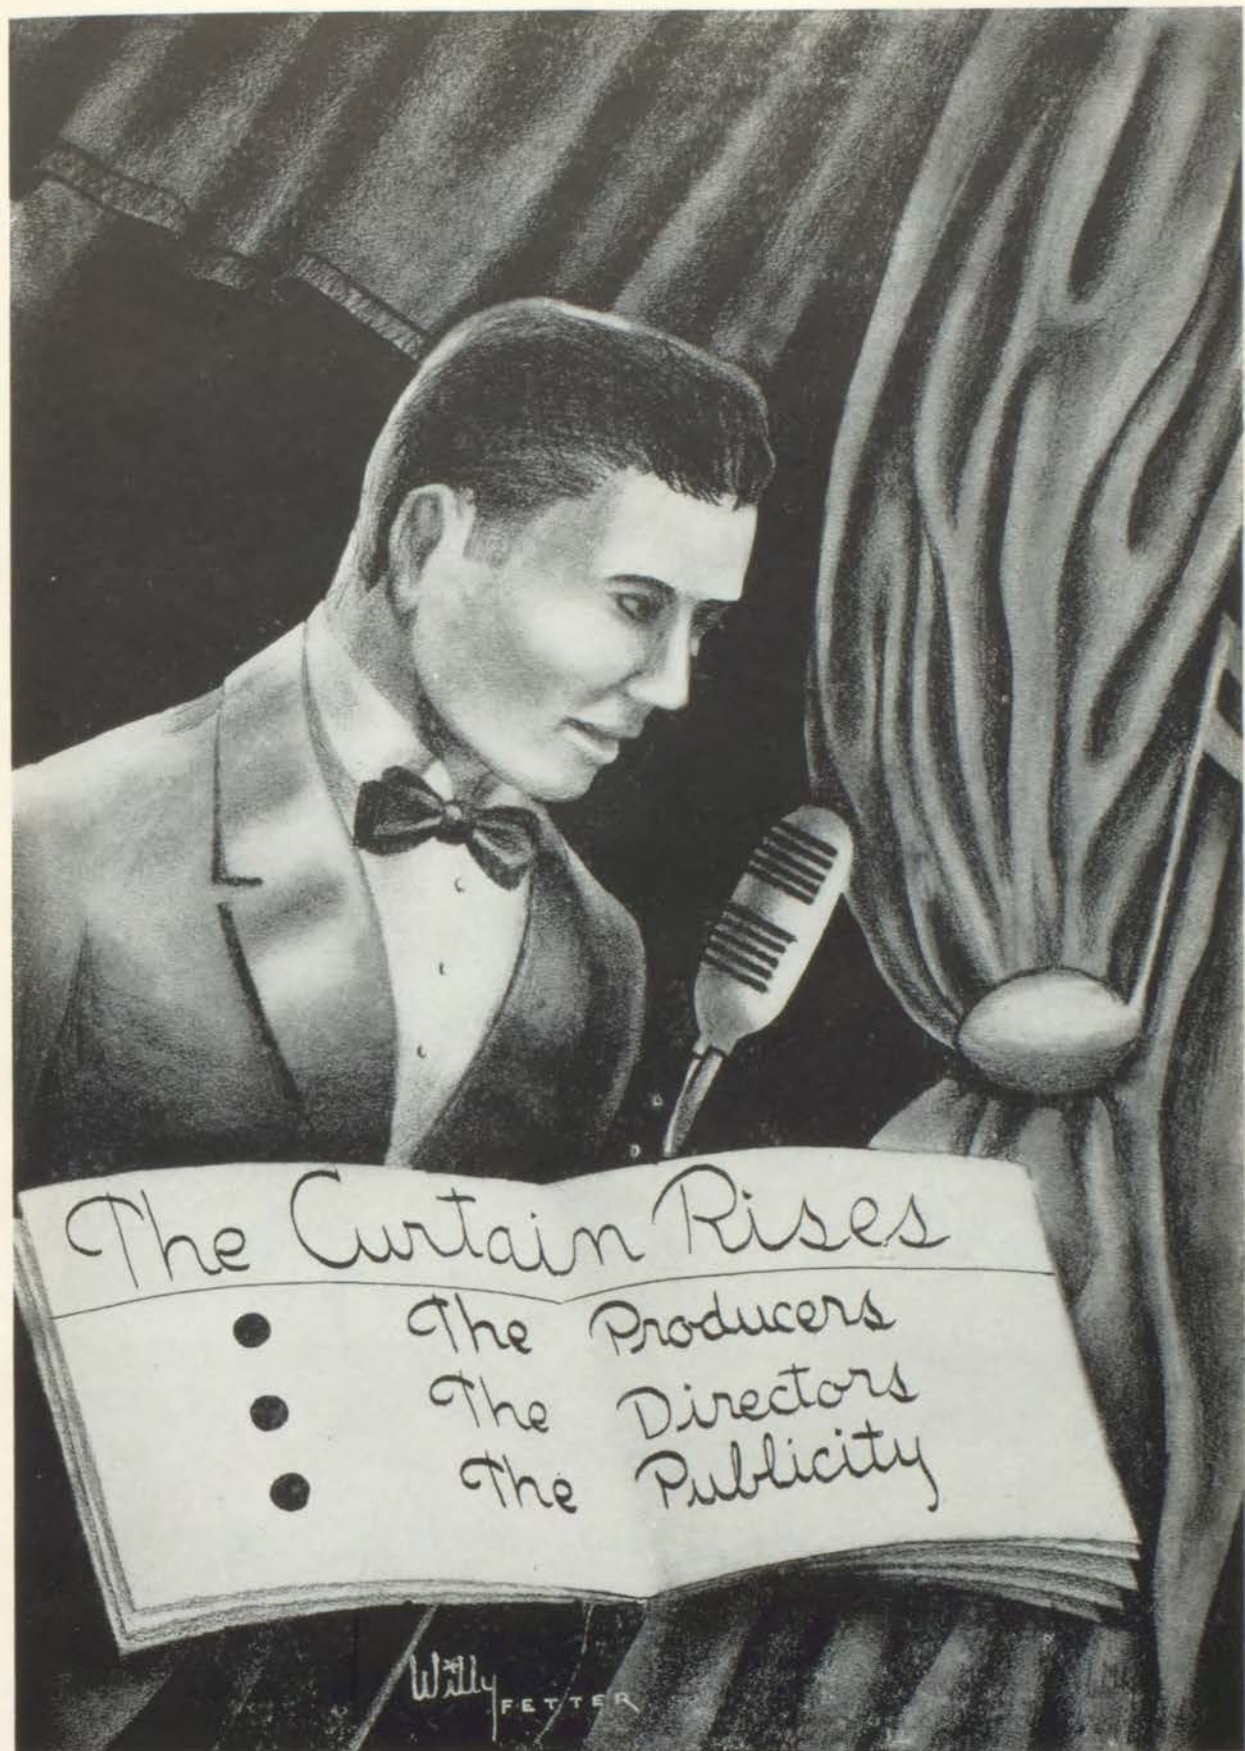

To that production we dedicate this book

Bob Anderson, our class president, has shown remarkable leadership, not only as president of the Student Council, but also on many other occasions. For us seniors he has set a perfect example of responsibility, sincerity, and friendliness.

Our popular vice-president, Lawrence Lortscher, is well known around Northeast because of his many achievements. His scholastic record, as well as his interesting and engaging personality, makes him deserving of his office.

Harlan Miller, giftorian, is best known for his friendly nature, sunny disposition, and flashing smile. His accomplishments vary from staff work to Hi-Y and other club activities.

Our class secretary is Ruth McGill, one of the most versatile students our school has ever known. We are all familiar with Ruth's brilliant scholastic record. She has done Northeast great services through her work as editor in chief of the Nor'easter and the Courier.

Besides being a friendly, popular girl, the class treasurer, Mary Carolyn Crabb, has done much toward helping us to succeed in charity drives and in various other school projects.

Our pretty, competent sergeant at arms, Nancy Marquis, is known for her bronze curls and flashing green eyes. A capable, dependable girl, Nancy could always be found where there was activity.

Reporter Romala Robinson has been first in everything during her high-school life. Northeast's most popular girl has proved that she has character and ability as well as beauty.

SENIOR WILL

The remarkable cast of '45 is leaving the Northeast stage, for it is going on to the greater, more spectacular stage of the world. The run has been long; the performance has been magnificent.

We cannot help but look forward to closing night with a great deal of sadness in our hearts. For even though the going was tough at times, the final production was well worth the effort, and all in all, we've had a lot of fun.

Some of the cast of '45 have decided to leave a fraction of their talents and assets so that you understudies will be able to carry on in the traditional Northeast manner. So take advantage of our benevolence, you future stars. Remember that our eyes will be upon you and that we shall accept nothing less than a sterling performance.

"Ye Old Ed," Ruth McGill, has decided that Bill Cunningham is the guy for the job of next year's head man.

That little gal with the sweet, sweet charm, Barbara Brammer, leaves some of same to "Little Audrey" (Giesy).

Harlan Miller leaves that amazing ability to "win friends and influence people" to Paul Parker.

Byron Welch leaves his nice, big, friendly grin to Don Fisher.

Those two super screwballs, Jerry Lou Hopkins and Mary Lu Diamond, will some of their sparkling wit to Jean Clark and Sunny Fuller, to be used for carrying on in the traditional moron manner.

Major Clarence Atkins leaves his ability to shine buttons and get in good with sergeants to Johnny Fox.

No adjective is sufficient to describe the Vi-Queen, Romala Robinson, who possesses a little bit of everything. We can't think of any particular girl who qualifies for next year's "Queen," but watch for La Vaughn Hall and Margo Pierce to be in there pitchin'.

Princess Polly Seward leaves that perfect measurement figure to Dot Kurtzeborn, and her heart to Eddie Arenson.

Ann Ballard leaves her golden voice to her sister Jean, to be used one octave lower.

There are three middle-grade morons running around loose this year, whom everybody humors along, but we love them just the same. I'm referring, of course, to Beverly Patrick, Frances Otto, and Shirley Beasley. So far, no juniors can be found who are brave enough to accept anything from them.

Jack McClary will inherit Donn Martin's basketball speed and fighting spirit.

Cutest couple of the year is Bill Fetter and Jackie Elliott. Their title will probably go to Jimmy Ruby and Lora Mae Akers.

Petite Eileen Hamilton and adorable Judy Thurber have been the cause of many a battered Vi-King's heart. If the Vi-Kings want a word of warning this time, watch out for Peggy Palmer and Dolores James, next year's heartbreakers.

Mary Ann Walker bequeaths all her non-rationed shoes to Irene Schaffhausen.

Bob Chartrand leaves his love of harmonizing to Lane Merrill.

Tom Howard wants to leave those perfect good looks to some lucky junior, but again we are at a loss to find one who qualifies.

Nancy Marquis, Judy Hagerty, and Jackie Elliott, those three Vi-Queens with all the style (and the men) have picked Barbara Dietrich, Virginia Lanham, and Freda Harger as runners-up.

Dick Allen is teaching that smooth way of handling women to Harry Cloverdyke, while Charles Parsons is giving Jack Sebring a course in "How to Attract Women and Keep Them Fascinated."

Cute Barbara Schumaker's famous bronze curls go to Anna Marie Dee.

Dorothy Thomas wills some of her admirable dramatic talent to Glenna Smith.

Bettie Garrett, that little chick with the overflow of pep, wills some of her bubbling vivacity to Evelyn Johnson.

Martha Mahrle leaves her twinkling eyes and sense of humor to Margaret Weissbeck.

Shirley Mallen leaves that always-likable personality to Earlene Hamilton.

That wonderful guy who's first in everything, Bob Anderson, leaves his leadership to Ed Lee.

Bill Hahn leaves to Sam Donnici his ability to warm the bench.

Dick Geames leaves—thank goodness!

Dorothy Anderson wills some of her deadly, irresistible charm to Dot Smith.

Bill Cofer leaves his position as Master of Ceremonies to Bob Trussell.

Lee Bridgewater leaves all of his football padding to Norman Thomas.

If there's a club, she'll be president; if there's a program, she'll be front row center; if there's a campaign, she'll make the speeches. I'm talking, of course, of that charming Miss, Mary Carolyn Crabb. Watch for adorable, vivacious Pat Scott to be the "Spotlight Queen" next year.

Dolores Antrim leaves her long, wavy blonde hair and happy-go-lucky attitude to Marilyn Cook.

Ione Watley leaves her roller-skating ability to Mary Lou Epperson.

Bill Salmon bequeaths his magic baton and the ability to twirl it to Eddie Dix.

Pretty Virginia Davis leaves that sweet, engaging smile to Mitzi Watt.

Mary Belle Evans bequeaths all her meanness and the trouble it gets her into to Doris Irwin.

Lawrence Lortscher wills the mile race to David Breidenthal.

Well, kids, that's about all, except that each one of us graduating seniors leaves his best regards and his sincere wish for loads of success in '46 to all you juniors and sophomores. Remember what I said about that sterling performance. Give Northeast one she'll never forget.

SENIOR PROPHECY

One lovely evening in the spring of 1955, my friend Barbara Brammer and I, then living in New York, attended the latest musical. We departed about seven o'clock from our luxurious rooms in the Waldorf Astoria. (Barbara is third assistant to the fourth cook and I am scullery maid.) The elevator man, Charles LaFevers, rushed us to the first floor. Going through the lobby, we said hello to Nadyne Julian, Lois Tennis, and Barbara Johnson, who were busily operating the hotel switchboard.

Near the door we spied handsome Russell Campbell, all done up in a grand uniform, with shiny brass buttons. He opened the door for us with a flourish. (Russ is New York's best doorman.) It seemed as if we ran into a pal from good old Northeast everywhere we went, for it was none other than Don Eagle who, performing his duties as Hotel Starter, hailed us a Viking Cab. What a pleasant surprise it was when our old friend Ned Bradley jumped out of the cab and jauntily tipped his chauffeur's cap to us.

In a flash we were at the theater. The marquee blazed, "Bill Cofer Presents 'Presentations of 1955,' a Musical Comedy by Ruth McGill." At the ticket office sweet Dorothy Morris was waiting for us with two passes, given to us by our old friends, Jack Selsor and Edward Price, who were directing the show. Who should be at the door to take our tickets but tall, handsome, and dignified David Shepherd. As we entered the elaborate foyer, we were overjoyed to find some of our old friends ushering people to their seats. Opal Reid, Laura Jo Prather, and Pat Payton looked very cute in their trim little uniforms. Opal conducted us to a box seat.

Once settled, we began to look around for old friends and important people. In the box next to us was the socially prominent Mrs. Bill Fetter (formerly known as Jackie Elliott), whose talented husband is one of New York's leading artists. (He does the illustrations for Esquire Magazine.) Down in the audience we spied the famous Shirley Hoffman, who had just won the Women's National Tennis Tournament. Shirley was talking to those leading fashion models, Jean Greenwood, Virginia Planck, and Maxine Tubbesing. General Clarence Atkins, wearing his grand uniform and all his decorations, waved gaily to us from the front row. Bob Anderson, sitting next to him, was taking time off from his presidential campaign.

The orchestra began to take their seats. It was Bill Salmon's famous swing band, featuring Shirley Feiser at the piano and Ethel Austin with her magic violin.

At last the show began. It consisted mainly of Northeast alumni. Speaking the opening lines were those brilliant Broadway performers, Conley Baker and Dorothy Thomas. Soon the theater was filled with the golden voice of America's favorite songbird, Ann Ballard. The melody was then picked up by Bob Chartrand, famous ballad singer. In the front row, among the dancing girls, were Dorothy Anderson, Delores Antrim, and Mary Ann Walker, smiling broadly and time-stepping like mad. Applause rang through the auditorium as our old friend Mary Carolyn Crabb made her grand entrance.

We glanced at our programs and found that the gorgeous costumes were designed by Marjory Lee, with stage settings by Wayne Symonds and Florence Bresel. The musical score was by Buel Barnett. Giving sparkle to the comedy lines were those celebrated comedians, Vito Di Capo and Martha Scrivner.

Soon intermission came, and Barbara and I rushed back to the lobby just in time to meet Lawrence Lortscher, that world-famous mathematician, who told us of his new plan for trisecting an angle. We were joined by Harlan Miller, the stock-market tycoon, who quoted for us the safest bets in stock investments. Over in the corner news photographers, Byron Welch and Dick Geames, were snapping "pics" of Nancy Marquis and Romie Robinson, those two Hollywood beauties, who had just breezed in to catch the show. After talking to those prominent socialites, Marjorie Nelson and Sylvia Marshall, who are famous for their lavish parties, we rushed backstage.

Here we just had time to say hello to Tom Howard, who was operating the lighting effects, and to Tom Pott, who was preparing to raise the curtain for Act II. We discovered that Kathleen Gash, Mary Lou Barnes, Eileen Fitzgerald, and Elizabeth Huffaker had also come back to see the boys. The girls assured us that they were New York's best secretaries. Upon asking them what had become of Faye Critcher, Marie Davidson, and Dorthaleen Poe, we found that the girls were happily married and were enjoying their roles as housewives.

Hurrying back to our seats for the next act, we nearly knocked down John Herbst, who invited us to come to his freshman history class the next day and hear him lecture to his students.

When the show was over, Barbara and I decided to run over to the Stork Club and see Shirley John in her latest act. Upon arriving, whom should we meet but Lee Bridgewater, Chuck Buschhorn, and Dick Allen, those notorious playboys about town, with their gorgeous dates. Headwaiter Jimmy Rice rushed us to a front table.

We were immediately besieged by cigarette girls Judy Hagerty, Charlotte Morris, and Mary Ann Master-son, who had bounced over to greet us. They pointed out a table, and we were delighted to discover Mary Jean Larson, America's leading hair stylist, chatting with two of Power's models, Barbara Schumaker and Martha Mahrle.

When Frances Woodruff, one of America's ten best-dressed women, stopped to chat, we invited her to join us; but she said that she and her husband were going over to the Follies to see Princess Polly Seward's latest original bubble creation. As we finally tore ourselves away from the Stork Club, we waved to Lorene Johnson and Joanne Louthan, who were busy checking hats.

And so ended a perfect evening.

P. S. If any senior goes mad from thinking of the horrible fate in store for him, just remember, kid, that sometimes the prophecies made by Senior Editors do not come true.

Mr. President, Ed Lee, has distinguished himself and Northeast by helping to win the basketball championship. We are glad he will be back for football next year. Ed is also president of the Junior Hi-Y Club, a member of the Courier staff, and a Debater.

Doing much for the school spirit of Northeast, Jimmy Ruby, the only junior cheer leader, has done a fine job. The vice-president of the junior class is interested in sports and is in Hi-Y and the Debaters.

Bill Cunningham, giftorian, does so many different things that we can hardly list them all, but here are a few: Junior editor of the annual, first page editor of the Courier, reporter for the Debaters, and a member of Hi-Y.

Our secretary is a credit to any school and to any class. Of course, we mean Pat Scott, that vivacious brunette! Pat is also secretary of the student council, an Alpha, and a very active Girl Reserve.

Margo Pierce, treasurer, needs no introduction. Everyone is acquainted with Margo and her sense of humor. She is a band member, a Girl Reserve, and songleader for the Alphas.

Our "he-man," Paul Parker, will be winning still more friends next year with his football techniques. Sergeant-at-arms isn't his only job, as he is an active Hi-Y boy.

Mitzi Watt captures all with her dazzling smile. We shall always remember her as our junior class reporter and a popular student.

Miss Gertrude Weaver is sponsor of the Junior Class.

THE JUNIOR CLASS SPEAKS

We are not Bernhards or Barrymores, but the Junior Class of 1945 knows its lines well and is ready to take the lead for '46.

Last year as sophomores we were a little timid in front of the "foots." Now, after two years of "script reading," we need no encouragement. We shall be the leaders next year as we have been this year.

Although the seniors have left a part that will be hard to "cast," we will try hard to merit as many "curtain calls" as they have.

We have caught our cue, we are on the stage, and now unfolds a new drama which will make a long run at Northeast, "Presentations of '46."

INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE CHAMPS 1945

Buford Manbeck, John Glorioso, Dick Allen, Ray Maddox, Ed Lee, Darell Norris, Bill Hahn, George Mills, Pat Murphy, Donn Martin, Coach Peters.

BASKETBALL

Coach Reaves Peters celebrated his twenty-fifth year as coach at Northeast High School by winning his ninth Interscholastic League Championship. Coach Peters' Northeast teams have also won one state consolation, one national consolation, and four state championships.

In winning seven straight league contests, the Vikings were fighting an up-hill battle all of the way. Forced to come from behind many times, they displayed courage and fine teamwork in every game. Much credit must be given to each player for his individual performance.

Ed Lee, who was chosen as center on the Kansas City Star All-City, All-Star Team, played brilliantly in every game. Ed was one of the best ball handlers and cleverest floor men in the league.

At forward on the All-City Interscholastic League All-Stars was John Glorioso. John played a fine game, both defensively and offensively. He was honored by being the only athlete in the city to be selected for both the basketball and the football all-star teams. Immediately after the season's finish, John left to join another All-Star Team—Uncle Sam's Navy.

At the other forward position was Pat Murphy, who was a demon on rebounds, and pushed in several spectacular shots.

The tallest member of the team was Darell Norris, who made the second All-Star Team. Darell was a mainstay on rebounds, and through his ability to make shots was able to grab scoring honors in the league.

The best defensive player on the team was Donn Martin, who was a brilliant floor man and could always be depended on to be where he was most needed.

FOOTBALL

With five lettermen returning, Coach E. A. Markey had little difficulty in building a squad of Vikings into a triumphant football team. The Vikings lost only three games during the season, two of which were by one point.

In the first game the Northeast boys showed their ability by defeating, for the third successive year, the William Chrisman Bears, 13 to 12.

The Vikings suffered their first defeat in twelve starts against the Westport Tigers 6 to 0. The lone score came after Westport had recovered a Northeast fumble on the Vikings' one-yard line.

The second defeat in as many weeks was administered to the Vikings by the Ward Cyclones, 14 to 13. The Vikings showed much power against a heavier team, piling up 57 more yards than the Cyclones.

After two straight defeats the Vikings suddenly exploded, plowing over the Southwest Indians 18 to 0. Northeast unleashed a powerful offensive, showing much ability in both passing and running attacks.

Northeast's second defeat in the league, the third of the season, came from the Southeast Knights, 14 to 13. In subduing the Vikings, the Knights played superior football.

In winning their second league contest over a strong Central Eagle team, the Vikings demonstrated a strong line and a fine running attack. There were many fumbles, the game ending 6 to 0 in favor of Northeast.

By defeating the East Bears 6 to 0, the Viking forward wall proved to be the best in the league. During the first three quarters, both teams demonstrated fine defensive play, with Northeast unleashing a powerful drive late in the third quarter and scoring on the first play of the fourth quarter. Both teams illustrated fine passing attacks.

In the final game of the season, the Vikings smothered the Paseo Pirates 20 to 0. The Vikings dominated the play most of the time, capitalizing on accurate passing and fine runs to score their three touchdowns.

Capable and efficient was the line of Northeast Vikings, and against strong opposition it proved to be the best in the league. At the center position was Charles Buschhorn. The two guards were Albert De Weerd and Dick McNamera. Paul Parker and Jack Phillips were the Viking tackles. The ends were Darell Norris and John Hix.

LETTERMEN

Coach E. A. Markey has done a magnificent job in helping to build the high school youth of today into the men of tomorrow. He is indeed an inspiration to those who work under his direction. By building a powerful offense around the "T" and single-wing formations, Coach Markey was able to guide the Vikings into third place this year.

Because of the strong Viking line, Northeast had the best defensive record this season, having only 20 points scored against it. In the last four seasons, Northeast's opponents have crossed the Viking goal line only 12 times, making a total of 77 points. This is an average of 3.2 points a game for the opposition. This is the best defensive record in the league. Northeast and Coach Markey can be proud of this record.

Four Northeast Vikings were honored by winning berths on the All-Star Teams. Two of the boys won positions on the first team. At left half was John Glorioso, the most versatile player and the hardest runner in the league, which is proved by the fact that he gained more yardage than any other player in the Interscholastic League. At the center position is Charles Buschhorn, the most aggressive linebacker in the league. Charles saved many a game through his brilliant defensive play. On the second team were two boys who should easily win their positions on the first team next fall. Very few gains were made through right tackle this year, as this position was very capably filled by Paul Parker. End runs seldom were successful around left end, as Darell Norris was a fine defensive player and a good pass snatcher.

The prospects for next year's team are exceptionally good. Six of this season's starting line-up and two additional lettermen are returning, making a total of eight lettermen for next fall.

MAJOR CLARENCE ATKINS

Sergeant LeRoy E. Sipes enlisted in the Army May 1, 1940, and was stationed as an M. P. at Fort Leavenworth for one year. He received his military training through Company "K" of the 17th Infantry. On September 29, 1942, he received his present rank. From Fort Leavenworth he was sent to Davenport, Iowa, where he was a sergeant instructor. After showing his adeptness as an instructor of R.O.T.C., he was transferred to Northeast. By the hard work and the time he has given to the battalion and to the improvement of its quarters, he has set an excellent example for the cadets in his charge.

We of the battalion wish to express our sincere appreciation for the way he has instructed us, led us, and helped us to attain honors.

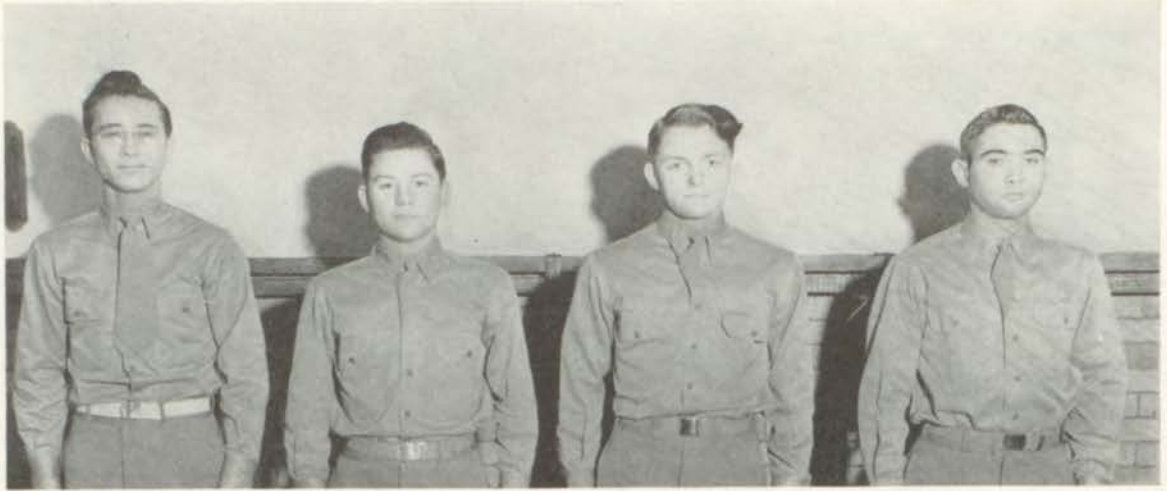

The Northeast Battalion was the largest in the city this year. It made a good record in drill, theory, and inspection, but doing this has become standard in our school.

Although under the able leadership of Captain Buel Barnett, our rifle team was not so successful this season as was expected.

Sergeant Sipes and the company commanders, Captains Buel Barnett, Robert McCormack, Harold Holcomb, and Richard Allen, are largely responsible for the standing of the battalion.

This year Northeast Battalion was commanded by Major Clarence Atkins.
