foreword . .

The anticipation you felt as school began anew in September . . . the roar of the crowd as the Viking teams rushed out to meet their opponents . . . the everyday classroom activities . . . that panorama of faces around you in assembly . . . the lunchroom line that seemed never to grow shorter . . . your feeling of pride as the Band marched in their new uniforms . . . the good times you had at the annual Fairyland picnic . . . your Friday evenings at Viking Village . . . the seniors' mixed feelings at commencement time . . . and the lasting friendships made at Northeast—these are some of the memories that will linger with you.

In the hope that you may recall this year as a pleasant part of your life, we have attempted to produce in pictures a lasting record of your many experiences at Northeast in 1950-'51.

MR. J. L. LAUGHLIN, Principal

Another school year has come to an end under the skillful leadership of our Principal, Mr. J. L. Laughlin. Patrons, students and teachers find Mr. Laughlin to be a fair-minded, tolerant, friendly man, with a genuine understanding of young people and their many problems. The community is fortunate to have such an able executive to play the leading role in providing the boys and girls of Northeast High School with a thorough education.

MR. G. W. DAVIS

Vice-Principal

Mr. G. W. Davis, vice-principal, possesses a subtle sense of humor and administrative ability. He assists Mr. Laughlin in all the varied duties of high-school leadership. Perhaps one of the busiest persons in school, he is known by every student from the scared sophomore to the smug senior.

MISS HELEN JOHNSON

Miss Johnson endeavors to be a true counselor to the students by encouraging them to come to her with all their problems. Besides helping them to make adjustments in school programs, she advises them on the selection of a college, helps them to secure scholarships, and guides them in the choice of a vocation. Through the use of a standard testing program, she works hard to keep the scholastic achievements of Northeast graduates high.

p. t. a. is a "family affair" in 1951

During the 1950-'51 school year, the P. T. A. sponsored tuberculosis tests, sold seals for the fight against T.B. and cancer, sewed for Mutual Help, and held many night meetings.

Coach E. A. Markey's Men's Activity Night enlivened the January meeting, while a panel discussion, "What do you know about your P. T. A.?" was featured at the February Founders' Day meeting. At the Family Museum Nights, members of the P. T. A. had gay times on the treasure hunts, made guided tours, and became better acquainted with each other.

Because of these many interesting group activities during the year, the Northeast P. T. A. was indeed a "family affair" in 1951.

Corresponding Secretary.....	Mrs. F. W. Jergins
Treasurer.....	Mrs. Frank Maret
Auditor.....	Mr. Fred Heine
Historian.....	Mrs. D. M. Myers

Past presidents—Mrs. J. S. Palmer, Mrs. Theron A. Redmon, Mrs. V. W. Hollopeter, Mrs. J. L. Tarbet, and Mrs. Harry Kern—return for Founders' Day.

Dr. G. Dewey Smith leads panel discussion on "What do you know about your P.T.A.?"

Homemade cakes and hot coffee appeal to everyone at the Founders' Day Tea.

Mrs. Frank Maret reads treasurer's report while recording secretary, Mrs. Louis Porter, takes notes.

democracy stressed in homeroom period

"There goes the bell to end homeroom." Why do we devote twenty minutes of every busy school day to homeroom? One answer is that this period presents an excellent opportunity to train students in democratic procedures. Here officers are elected, informative bulletins are read and discussed, and contributions for charity drives are collected. Also, elections for Student Council president and for the All-City Student Day officers are held in a democratic manner.

Periodically programs for special occasions and holidays are given for the training as well as for the enjoyment of the group. Often an ill student is cheered by a friendly card or note sent by his homeroom.

Through these and many other activities, the students learn the importance of teamwork and co-operation.

driver training emphasizes safe driving

Because of the ever increasing number of cars and drivers on the highways today, steps have been taken in high schools to teach beginning drivers the safe, correct way in which to handle a car. Driver training has now become an important part of our school curriculum. The course is taught for one semester, limited to a maximum of fifty students who spend two days each week in class, studying their manuals on different phases of safety. One day of each week a student drives a training car, which is provided through the Automobile Club and the Union Chevrolet Company. The car is dual controlled, so that when the student drives, the instructor is able to take over quickly in an emergency. The course teaches techniques and skills in handling a car, as well as traffic safety.

This program enables students to earn their high school diplomas and at the same time gain actual work experience. These students attend school in the morning and, from Mr. Roedl, receive classroom instruction on how most effectively to handle their jobs. They leave school at noon to go to their places of employment.

The careers class helps students in choosing the vocation for which they are best suited. The requirements, preparation, and rewards of each occupation are analyzed, thus providing an excellent opportunity for careful and wise selection.

This year there are five hundred and eight members enrolled in the Junior Class at Northeast, all proud to be juniors, for now, for the first time, they are considered upper-classmen! These students are looking forward to their senior year, and many are giving careful consideration to the choice of a career. This class elected as its officers the following: President, Richard Trekell; Vice-President, Donald Chapin; Secretary, Nancy Wasson;

Treasurer, Jo Ann Lusby; Sergeant at Arms, Suzanna Brown; Giftorian, Donald Hatfield; and Reporter, Donald Best. They acted as a committee to help plan one of the most important social events of the year, the Junior-Senior Prom.

Another happy incident in the life of the Juniors is the day they order their Senior Class rings and pins, for they realize that they are now about to reach the dignity of being called SENIORS.

these seniors head class of '51

Four hundred and twenty-six strong, the class of "51" elected its Senior Officers in a special Senior assembly. These student leaders count the Junior Officer ballots, help plan the Junior-Senior Prom, the last social event to be held before the seniors leave, and sponsor a Senior assembly consisting of many types of dramatic talent.

Donald Childs was chosen as class President. Tops in basketball and in making friends, he is always ready with a smile for everyone.

As Vice-President of the class, towering Nugent Adams literally "fills" his position.

The fun-loving Patricia Hayes handles the job of class Secretary.

Orlo Enyeart, whose quiet good nature has been noticed by all, is class Treasurer.

The role of Giftorian is played by Josephine Ranallo. This peppy girl has numerous and varied activities.

John Dods is class Reporter and, on the Senior Ballot, was voted the boy who has done the most for Northeast.

Bill Strawn, prominent football player, is Sergeant at Arms.

student council promotes good government

Once a month we see representatives from every homeroom hurrying to the student council meeting. To enable representatives to attend all meetings, sessions this year, for the first time, were held during the second hour instead of after school.

Each member must have good scholastic ranking. The president, chosen each semester from the entire student body, leads the council in electing its own officers. Divided into eight committees having a chairman and faculty sponsor, the council is active in health, history, civic, safety, personal property, Red Cross, trophy cases, and courtesy projects.

Under the guidance of Miss Johnson and Mr. Roedl, co-sponsors, the council promotes good government throughout the student body. Special assemblies that spice up the school year, campaigns for keeping the cafeteria floors free of waste paper and food remnants, Red Cross drives, a safety limerick contest, and support of the new Viking Village are just a few of the varied activities on the agenda of the council.

Annual High-School Day in City Hall is one of the major events. From every high school, representatives take one of the offices in our city government and spend the day trying to learn how the city officials work.

"Sped—dead, fast—past." Everyone tried to be a rhyming genius when the Safety Committee sponsored the limerick contest in April.

The writer of the winning limerick, Don Gates, received a trophy from the police department. At the end of the Safety Week, a mock court case, demonstrating the dangers involved in hitch-hiking, was presented in a special assembly.

Listening to the motions, the ayes and nays of the members, we conclude that this body of students is really a minor Congress of Northeast in action.

The editor in chief, Margaret Porter, discusses a page layout with Mr. Arthur O. Kresse, Nor'easter adviser.

"Who wrote this trite thing?"—"Connie, what happened to that telephone booth picture?"—"I can't help it if they wouldn't get here to have a picture taken."—"What did Mary do with the index?"—"Anne, how many annuals did we sell today?"—"Have Virginia and Betty read those printer's proofs?"—"Mr. Kresse, did you take that Spring Play picture? Oh-h, don't fall off that chair!"—"Miss, er, ah Margaret, where are the new engraver's proofs?"—"Elva, what did you do with the senior pictures?"—"Tomorrow the printer comes, oh-h!"

Yes, the time flew fast, but we flew fast too—working hard and long to produce an annual telling the story of our year at Northeast. You may think it was an easy job, but just ask any staff member, and he'll tell you how "easy it was." But now, as we leaf through these pages, we remember the fun we had making the 1951 Nor'easter.

courier staff keeps the presses

Anyone standing outside the Courier Room near "deadline" time will hear newspaper jargon. For the past thirty-eight years alert Courier Staffs have supplied school news to the students of Northeast.

The Courier has grown from a quarterly magazine to a bi-weekly, four-page newspaper. "Putting the paper to bed" is the regular job of the editor in chief, who, of course, is assisted by the page editors. Deadline worries fall on the business, mailing, circulation, exchange, and editorial editors, as well as on the reporters.

"Of course there is a difference between proof and copy," Mr. Thomas Ditmars tells a future staff. Courier staff members are not set up in a day. During one complete semester they study the correct procedure for publishing stories. By the time the next semester rolls around, a competent newspaper staff has set the news machine rolling.

rolling with the year's news

"Get your school news. Buy a subscription!" Every semester the staff holds its sales campaign to raise funds to finance their paper. Many extra single copies are sold to non-subscribing students. A lively inter-school paper exchange is also carried on.

"Snooping," curious, intent, note-taking reporters roam the school for tidbits of news. "Get your stories in on time," shouts the page editor, as she worries about a page layout. "The print shop is ready to go to press," states Mr. O. W. Kunz, and once again the Courier begins to roll off the press.

The Northeast Courier provides a record of past and present events and creates interest in school activities. But even more important, it gives student writers an opportunity to express their thoughts in print and become future journalists.

cabinets plan future society events

Every Tuesday morning finds the Alpha cabinet members meeting in room 219 with their sponsor, Miss Isabel Gilmore. These officers help plan the weekly meetings, mid-semester events, and general society business.

As the Christmas holidays began, the Clio girls met for their mid-year "get together." This year the society had a delicious chili dinner at the home of Carol Goehner.

President Marlene Ryerson seems to be leading the Delta officers in a heated discussion. Perhaps these girls are conversing about the number of new members to be taken in, Lit work requirements, the farewell banquet, or some important business of the week.

Officers of the Benton Literary Society are holding their weekly meeting with their sponsor, Miss Thompson. These business meetings give the boys an opportunity to develop leadership and practice co-operation by planning the year's activities.

The subject of this Debater cabinet meeting seems to be of a humorous nature. These first-place Lit winners are probably thinking of all the good food they will have at their annual farewell picnic.

As the new year rolled around, the Theta Literary Society held its mid-semester social event. Shirley Plaskett's house was literally buzzing with conversation as these Thetas gathered for a tea party.

societies develop literary interests

Student life at Northeast includes the literary societies, the functions of which are supervised by Mr. G. W. Davis. There are six societies at Northeast, four for girls, and two for boys.

During the school year, society members prepare their literary creations for the annual Lit Contest, which is the highlight of the year. On the evening of the contest, excitement reigns supreme as everyone speculates on the probable outcome of the contest. The enthusiasm is heightened by the singing of songs, both "sweet" and "slam" selections, as the organizations await the announcement of the winners. Finally winners in all events—oration, declamation, poem, short story, and essay—are announced, and the student receiving a gold, silver, or bronze medal in any of the events becomes the pride of his society.

In addition to the Lit Contest, society activities include open house, one mid-year event, and an Inter-Society Dance.

At the close of the year, senior girls bid tearful good-byes to society friends at farewell banquets, and the boys hold farewell picnics.

Not only do societies develop literary ability, but they foster many lasting friendships.

speech arts members learn show business

"Lights, camera, action," and the Speech Arts club is at work once again. This year has been a busy one and has revealed many students of considerable acting talent. Being an actor or actress "out front" is only one of the many jobs in presenting a production. Make-up men, stage hands, directors, and business and publicity managers are behind-the-scene workers.

Monologues, declamations, pantomimes, and radio scripts are a few of the performances given throughout the year. The club has frequently gone to outside plays to gain tips from the more experienced people of the stage.

Under the supervision of Miss Cassell and Mr. Western, all members receive valuable experience and a knowledge of show business, and have lots of fun while working together.

olympians hold peppy club meetings

"Send that ball to your right wing! Drive for that goal!" It's hockey season and the Olympic Club members meet once more as school begins. After fall open house and election of new members, these girls battle for goals during the basketball tournaments. Then it's mid-semester, and the Y-building is filled with ravenous Olympic members who eat chili and more chili at the annual chili supper.

As the new year is ushered in, the sports-women elect new officers, hold spring open house, initiate members, and play spirited games of volleyball. Following this season, the most common sound heard is the crack of a bat as some Olympian sends a baseball whizzing through the air.

It's May, and we find the club members laughing, eating, and playing at their annual picnic. But the outing ends on a more solemn note, for this is the last meeting for the Olympic Club, which has done much to develop sportsmanship and friendship among its members.

y-teens roll many events into busy year

The Y-Teens, a branch of the YWCA, is open to all high-school girls who desire to grow in friendship with people of all races and religions.

This year their membership drive was carried on in a most unusual way. Feudin' McCoy's and Hatfields held a contest to see who could get the most members to join their respective "clans."

Outstanding social functions of the year were the "Dog Patch Party" and the annual Sweetheart Dance. Besides these entertaining activities, the organization undertakes many service projects throughout the year, such as gathering old clothes, helping charity homes, and sending donations to YWCA organizations in other countries.

32 boys sent to "youth and government"

Crackle, snap, a cheery fire in the Y fireplace—this means that another session of the Hi-Y is about to begin. This branch of the YMCA, which meets in the Northeast Y-Building, is divided into sophomore, junior, and senior groups.

In October the boys start a Youth and Government study plan, which lasts until Christmas vacation. In November a pre-legislative conference is held.

In the middle of December a model legislature is set up in Jefferson City. This year the Northeast Hi-Y sent thirty-two delegates to "Youth and Government," the largest representation from any one club in the state. From this delegation Charles Whitson, a senior, was elected governor of the Second Model Legislature, and many other Northeast boys held office in the House of Representatives and in the Senate. During this convention, the boys saw how bills are passed and observed the actual workings of our state legislative bodies.

After the first flurries of an early December snowfall, plans for the annual "Snowball" dance begin. Although this is their most important social function, hayrides, picnics, and swimming parties also afford fun and fellowship.

band proudly struts in new uniforms

The Northeast Concert Band is one of the outstanding musical groups in Kansas City. The eighty-three members played at our football and basketball games, spurring our teams on to victory, marched in various parades, took part in the school variety show and in a Spring Band Concert.

Under Mr. Wasson's direction, the band tried for two years to raise funds to purchase new uniforms. The entire school felt very proud when the band recently marched down the aisles of the auditorium in their magnificent new uniforms.

On March 13, friendly competition among seven high-school bands took place at Northeast in the All-City Band Concert. Our band was commended very highly by several music judges.

orchestra gains steadily in numbers

Northeast is proud of its fine orchestra, for, in addition to merely learning to play and enjoy orchestral music, its members have devoted many extra hours of practice to make it one of the best school orchestras in the city.

Mr. Keenan, who came to us last year from Southwest, has worked hard with this group to improve its already outstanding artistry.

The orchestra welcomes opportunities for public performances. This year it played for various assemblies, for the Spring Play, and on the Christmas Vespers Program, which has become so much a tradition at Northeast.

Fifteen students were chosen from the Northeast Orchestra this year to participate in the All-City Orchestra, which appeared at one of the main sessions of the State Teachers Meeting held in the Municipal Auditorium last November.

As the orchestra is steadily increasing in size, Mr. Keenan is confidently looking forward to a time in the near future when its membership will equal that of the Northeast Band.

scores of northeast students show

Northeast has an excellent music department to serve those interested in vocal music.

The beginning music students are in Miss Cain's girls' and boys' choruses, where they learn the basic fundamentals of singing.

The Treble Clef Club, an all girls' music class, sings for many activities outside school and participates in the annual Spring Song Festival.

There are two advanced mixed choruses, one taught by Miss Clausen and the other by Miss Cain. Here the students study various composers and learn to understand the different musical symbols.

The highest honor bestowed upon a vocal music student is to be selected for the A Cappella Choir, which is directed by Miss Clausen and is widely and favorably known among music lovers. Not only does this group perform at our school assemblies, but it sings before many clubs of the city. Each fall it entertains at open house, presents a beautiful program at Christmas, and in the spring it gives a religious Easter program for students and visitors.

The voice class affords special training for students interested in carrying on their vocal interests after graduation.

In the harmony class the principles of song composition are first studied, and then students attempt to write songs of their own.

appreciative crowds enjoy spring play

"Change of Heart," a three-act comedy, featured the trials and tribulations suffered by a university professor's daughter. The professor, a trifle opinionated and tyrannical, has written a popular psychology book about a model child—his own daughter. But he shows little genuine understanding of her as an individual. She fancies herself in love with a college senior who only stirs up trouble for himself when he advises her to "be herself" instead of the ideal her father has created.

Fast-moving, comic complications grow as the model child has a date with a university football hero, leads a band at the rally, is the belle of the ball, gets her picture in the local papers, and brings down calamity upon nearly everyone concerned. But before the girl and her funny friends finish with them, the members of the older generation are also "being themselves."

Thus on May 11 and 12 everyone who saw the annual Spring Play enjoyed a comedy of youth in which youth versus age was the theme.

outstanding student talent displayed

The school variety show presented on December 7 and 8 in our auditorium was a musical comedy in which some European travelers explored the American way of life and entertainment. The quest for a good cup of tea at a New York dock led the visitors west to Coffin Creek, Arizona, where they captured Dead Carcass Dudley, notorious bandit. Next they traveled down to New Orleans, where they were entertained by a floor show, which in "thank your lucky stars" show consisted of singers, pianists, a Dixieland Band, and Charleston dancers. Their travels end with a tour of Hollywood movie sets.

The original script was written by Joan Fagan, Jo Ann Lusby, and Donna Sheridan.

Scenery was designed and painted by the art department. The Northeast Band entertained the audience before the curtain went up. A fine stage crew, gracious ushers, and an efficient make-up committee helped make the performance a success.

First Sergeant Ernest Kaiser was transferred to Korea for combat duty this year, and two new instructors were added to the teaching staff. They were Sergeant Duncan and Sergeant Schaeffer, who were transferred here from Fort Leavenworth. Sergeant Schaeffer was later sent to Westport High School, and Captain Frank W. Sellmyer came to Kansas City from Fort Sheridan, Illinois, and was detailed to Northeast High School. Sergeant Archie Morris is still the senior instructor of the R. O. T. C. organization here.

Lt. Col. James Owen was appointed battalion commander. He commands a cadet battalion of four companies, one more than last year. Lt. Col. William McClure is the executive officer, and next highest in rank to Owen. There are also a number of Company and Staff Officers.

The Color Guard is made up of four sergeants appointed for this duty. They are the Battalion Color Bearers and Guards. They also lead the flag ceremonies at school assemblies. They carry the flag in all parades, performing a very impressive service.

The Regimental Staff is set up like the regular army, having the same general divisions. Four girls are enrolled in the R. O. T. C. and help with the officework, typing, and filing. These girls, Norma Lusher, Pat McClelland, Frances Powell, and LaVerle Yates, receive an honorary rank of captain.

In addition to regular training, several activities are carried on. Approximately thirty participants served as an Honor Guard escort for the 990th Signal Operations Company when it was ordered to active duty.

best in sports

Flying sticks, spinning balls, bruised spots, and sprained limbs—this is the hockey season. As soon as school begins in September, sophomores, juniors, and seniors practice left-hand lunges, dribbling, goal driving, and other techniques under the supervision of Miss Ruth Biggerstaff and Mrs. Lucille Hensley. Then as long as pleasant weather prevails, these athletes engage in terrific hockey battles.

When cold weather and snow arrive, the girls retreat to the gymnasium, where they lay aside hockey sticks and shin guards to take up badminton rackets and shuttlecocks.

"Guard that forward! Get those rebounds!" As the school year begins, the girls' physical education classes play basketball. First they practice ball handling, footwork, and goal shooting, and then competitive games are held in each class.

With the beginning of a new term, anyone near the girls' gym may hear, "Set 'em up! Spike that one!" In reality it's only an energetic game of volleyball being played. As warm weather arrives, the feminine athletes take to the outdoors. America's favorite sport, baseball, then brings out a spirit of competition while teaching group cooperation and good sportsmanship.

"Charleston, Charleston . . ." Could this be the roaring '20's? No, but it is modern dancing day. Not only do the girls learn interpretive dancing, but they are also taught ballroom dancing. Swimming, another weekly activity, teaches the girls many new strokes and diving forms.

"Staying for intramurals tonight?"

Send that ball to the left wing.

I'll bet it's a strike.

for viking girls

This is an often heard question among girls enjoying sports and working for their letters. During each season intramural games are held after school. From credits accumulated, a girl first earns her small shield, then a large shield, and finally attains the honor of receiving her school letter.

Each year three sportsdays for high-school girls' teams are held. This year Southeast played host for the hockey sportsday. The first game for N. E. ended in a 0 to 0 tie with Westport, while the second game with East resulted in a loss for the N. E. hockey stars. The girls then perked up in the third game and won over the Southwest team with a score of 2 to 0.

Basketball sportsday at Westport saw our N. E. team walk over the Paseo team with a 26 to 2 score. Following up in the second game, the team beat Southeast 21 to 7. However, in the third game, the Central cage stars defeated our Vi-Queens.

Thus during a year of physical education, girls play new sports, participate in intramurals, gain Sportsday friends, but, most important of all, learn teamwork and sportsmanship.

tough opponents make the vikings

The early prospects for the 1950 football season looked great, for in the lid-lifter the Vikings smashed through with a score of 12 to 6 over Rockhurst, last year's champions of the Catholic League.

In the first Interscholastic League game, Northeast defeated Central for the eighth year in succession.

An easy victory over Manual followed. By stopping the Vikes' surge, East Bears next gained a scoreless tie.

The tie with East, plus the loss to Southeast, put Northeast out of the running for the championship.

Paseo upset Northeast for the first time since 1938 and also marked the first time since 1946 that Northeast had lost two games in one season.

Northeast and Westport then fought, point for point, a 13-all tie.

The next game proved to be the game of the season, since our victory over Southwest threw them into a championship tie with Southeast. In eight years of play against Southwest at the Blues Stadium, Northeast has won six games, lost one, and tied one.

For the tenth consecutive year Northeast defeated Wm. Chrisman.

second team really goes to town

Coach Hawthorne's second team football boys made a fine record by winning eleven of their thirteen games. In the non-league series, the team lost to Rockhurst by a score of 13-12. It then beat Wyandotte 6-0, North Kansas City 13-6, and Argentine 12-0, but the team from Gower, Missouri, defeated the Vikes 25-0. Winning over Central, Manual, East, Southeast, Paseo, Westport, and Southwest, the second team won the league championship.

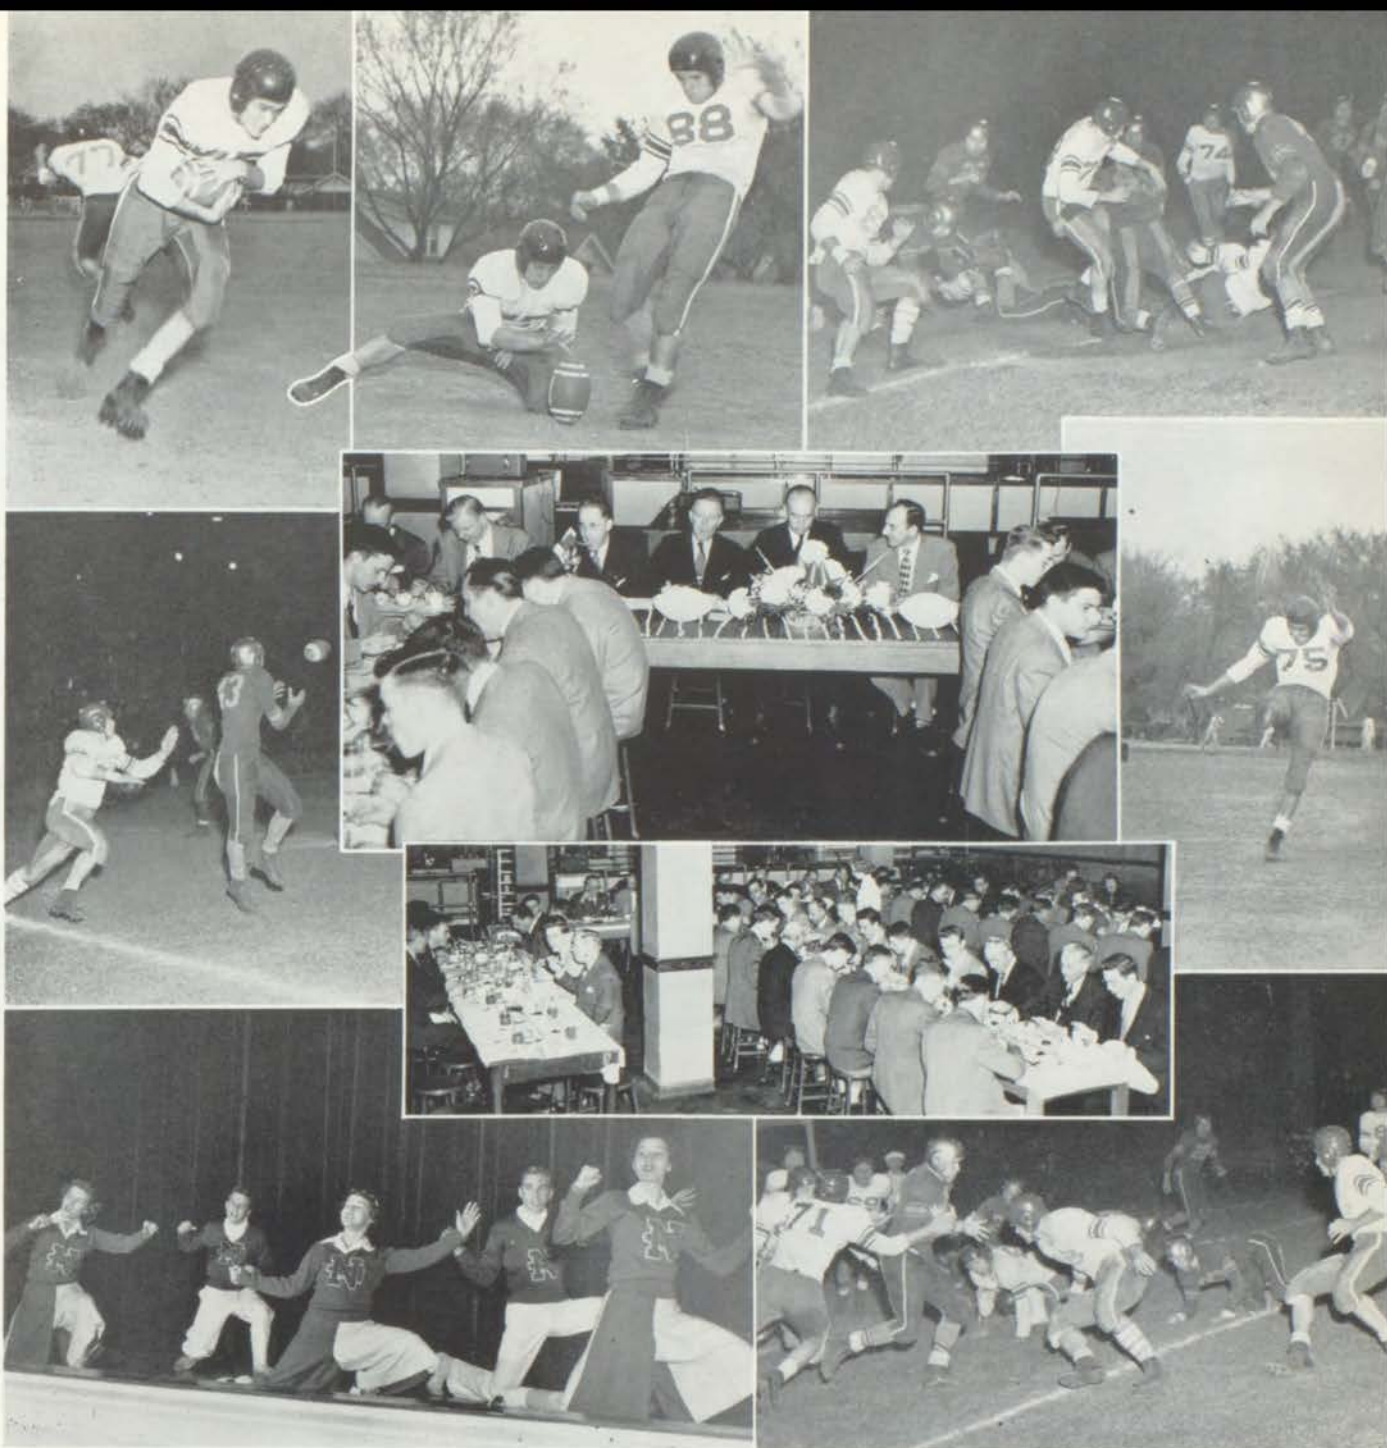

The experience these boys gained makes them good prospects for the first team next year.

vike cage stars tie for second place

The Vikings had a highly successful pre-league season by defeating North Kansas City, Topeka, Liberty, Excelsior Springs, Pem-Day, Ward, and Glennon. In the Inter-Scholastic League, Northeast racked up victories against Paseo, Manual, Southeast, Southwest, and East. The last two league games resulted in losses to Central and Westport, which tied Northeast and East for second place. Don Childs was elected to the All-Star First Team and Tony Scardino to the All-Star Second Team.

In the regional tournament, Northeast won from De La Salle, and got sweet revenge by victories over Central and Westport.

The team then went to Columbia for the State Championship Tournament. It won its first game with Sikeston, but lost its second game to Maplewood. Don Childs earned a spot on the All-State Second Team.

Under Charles Huhn's efficient coaching, the team made an excellent showing this year.

championship of the Kansas City Interscholastic League, sponsored by the Big Seven, with a score of eighteen points.

In dual meets so far this year, the scores are as follows:

Northeast 55½	Central	49½
Northeast 55½	Southeast	49½
Northeast 46½	East	58½

Dual meets yet to be run are with Paseo and Southwest. Northeast attended the Shawnee-Mission relay, held at Shawnee-Mission, Kansas. Our team, composed of Fred Brown, Orlo Enyeart, Charles Pullen, and Don Best, won the two-mile relay in the fine time of 8:28.2. Verne Zugenbuhler was third in the mile run and Marvin Kinnett was second in the shot put.

The track team is looking forward to the state meet at Columbia on May 12, the St. Joseph relays on May 18, and the city meet on May 26.

Football players are awarded their letters at a special assembly. We wonder if they looked quite as angelic to their interscholastic adversaries.

Basketball boys pose for the camera just before boarding the bus to go to the state tournament in Columbia. They won their first game with Sikeston 55-50, but lost to Maplewood of St. Louis.

It may be football, basketball, or track season, but during each season a special assembly is held when many boys are formally introduced as they receive their school letter. These are the boys who have been the members of Northeast's outstanding teams. The N-Club is an honorary organization made up of boys who have won letters. The lettermen stand for the highest ideals of sportsmanship in team play.
