Seeing Is Believing

Most people hear the name Northeast Law/Public Service/Military Magnet High School and think the school is one of two things. Either it's a staunch military school where students walk around in uniforms in straight narrow lines, while they study military tactics, law and how to serve the community in some precise fashion.

Or they think that the school is under military or the law's rule, because it's so unruly and it's the only way to control the students. They usually think this way because they have heard of Northeast's "outstanding" reputation for disorder!

But when people meet a Northeast student they're amazed to find out that Northeast's students, for the most part, are orderly, well mannered students who do well in school and are very friendly. They find out that Northeast students don't pack guns and knives, but instead pack books, papers and pens in order to learn. They care about their community and other people and strive to do their best.

However, most people aren't convinced that Northeast is the best school and the most integrated in the Kansas City area. Thus, we have a yearbook with the theme, "Seeing Is Believing", in order to prove that Northeast students really are "The best getting better" and that Northeast is a "normal" school where just about everyone gets along and that there aren't racial or gun fights every day. Sure there is the occasional fight, but what school doesn't have those?

I suppose the only way to prove it would be to show everyone the 1992-1993 Nor'easter yearbook because seeing really is believing.....

STUDENT LIFE

The brush of shoulders, the scrambling about the crowded halls, up and down the stairs, finally reaching your locker, you realize you can't remember your combination. By the time you reach your class, there goes the tardy bell, you're late!

Does this routine sound familiar? Oh, of course not! Northeast, home of the Vikings contains the most well-educated and finest of students. So what is the typical average day? The day starts out by counting anxiously towards those countless minutes till you get the privilege of satisfying your hunger with delicious, warm, almost home cooked cafeteria lunch. No, I didn't think so. Well, maybe for some of those blood-thirsty students that have a large well-rounded appetite, I guess it could be a highlight.

The every year activities such as, football, basketball, volleyball, track, etc., were of memorable importance to that participated and cheered the teams on. Then there's the other events that take place during school. One of them is pep assemblies. These events gave everyone a chance to show support and some people showed just a little more than that. Students were allowed to live a little and release school tension at another, "let your hair down event".

Our school dances. Lets just put it this way, there was no sipping tea and talking about literature during these occasions.

Who's dull? Not us. This school year has been a blast in more ways than one.

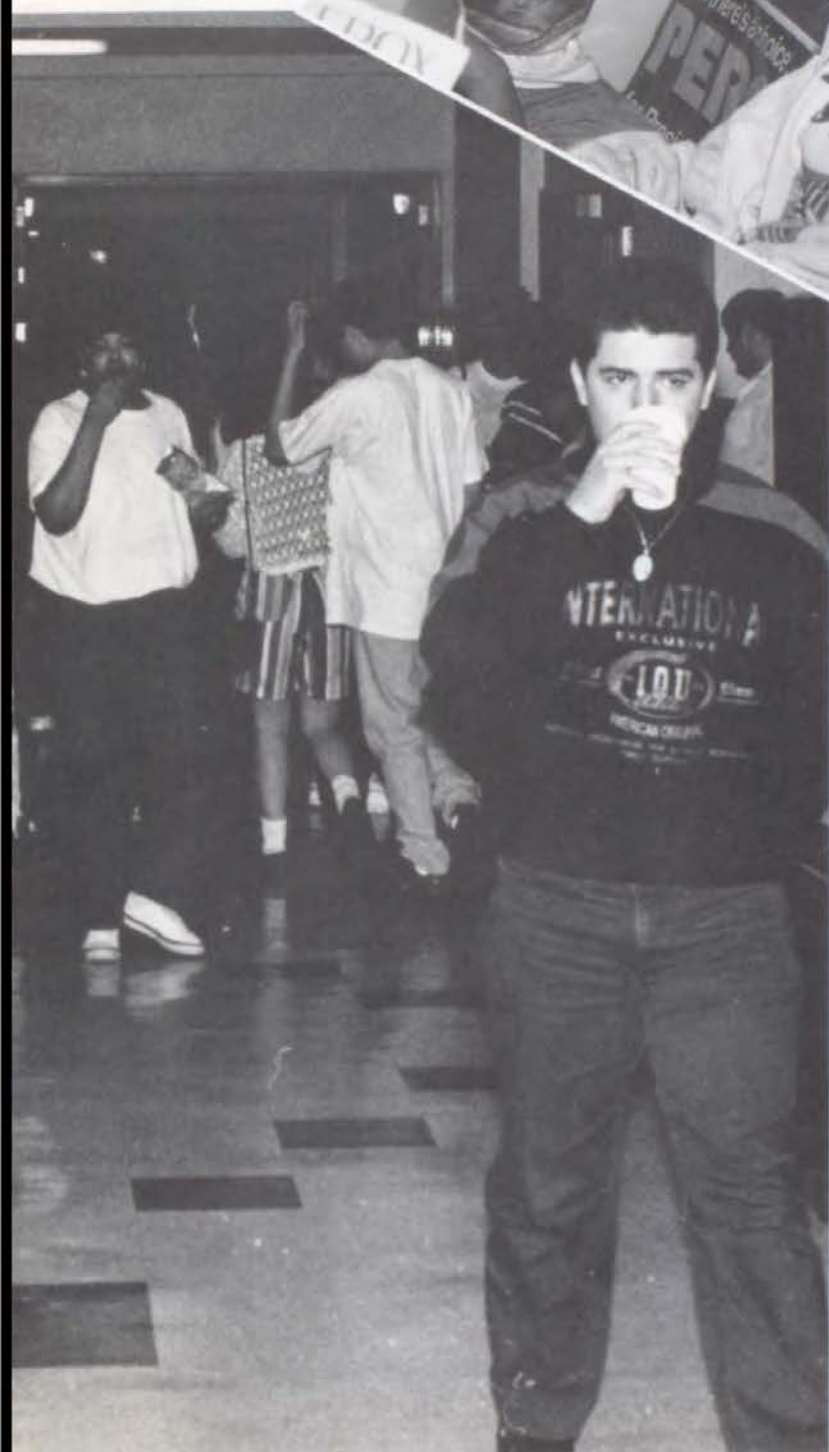

"I got one thing to say...You better get to work."

PALS

"I guess he could sit with us Tonya, but when he lifts up his arms he smells."

"We are men, we are made of tin!", chant Shawn, Jimmy and Todd

You see it everyday..in the lunch-room, out in the halls, it's guaranteed that every student has had one at one point or another. What is it? It's not quite the ordinary, everyday acquaintances, they're what you would call your pals, you know, the ones you run to when you have juicy gossip! They'll be the first that you'll call! Believe it or not, it's important to have these friends, they'll be the ones you'll remember when you think back to the "good old days." The ones that have gone through all your teenage crisis. They were there when you were down... and they witnessed your peak of maturity.

Deuandara and Phanh Sysavath are cousins; however, they are also good friends!

"Shawn never eats with a fork," thinks all of his pals.

NORTHEAST'S "ROOTS"

Lydia Alvarez (Mexican), Trang Tran (Asian), Teresa Tran (Asian), Gina Fontana (Italian).

Asha and Sharma Sadrangani (Indian).

When you walk down the halls of Northeast High, do you know exactly who it is that you pass? Is it the name you remember? Perhaps their face? Or, maybe it's the person's color? White, black, tan, yellow...a variety of not just people, but different backgrounds as well. Chinese, Hispanic, Italian, their roots are almost endless. From trendy clothes to cultural foods, believe it or not, there is a thing or two we can learn from them all.

We can learn our cultural differences and how to relate better to these people of ethnicity. We can learn and appreciate their ideas and beliefs. This is a start on bettering our school, community, and the world become a better place.

Volunteer

Helping others. Something rarely done by people in our world today. Our society seems to think we should help no one but ourselves. That volunteering is petty and demeaning; but who's to say that's the right way to think or act?

Fortunately, Northeast Law-Public service/Military Magnet H.S. thinks differently. Our school has put community service and volunteering in its curriculum. It has done this to better the school structure and our students on their outlook on life. So, in the future maybe our society can take a major u-turn toward helping people, other than ourselves.

Based on our school curriculum, each class is to do a certain amount of community service. For example: Seniors 36 hours, Juniors 45 hours, Sophomores 54 hours, and Freshmen 63 hours. This is set up so that each incoming class does more community service hours than the one before.

This program is not a program made to burden the students, it was made to better our communities, students, and society in general.

Teresa Tran and Lori Hainen stack up volunteer hours to help victims of Hurricane Andrew.

Teachers... Where do they get their information and great talent to know what your going to do, before you actually do it? If you've walked through the hallways of Northeast, you've seen the brightly lit faces of visitors who come to our school yearly. They come to observe, share information, and do their best to get on a one on one basis with our student body. Who are these people? These people are striving young college students form Central Missouri State University who want to dedicate the rest of their life to teach and preserve young minds. So as you can see teachers aren't exactly the bad guys their just your guides who prepare you for the future.

HOMECOMING '92

The first dance of the 1992-93 school year was held on Halloween night, October 31, 1992. Yes, you guessed it, it was the football Homecoming Dance. Everyone gathered in Northeast's gym for this event. Because of the dance being one of the more casual dances, everyone felt comfortable and nothing stopped them from dancing. There was a live D.J. and our very own Mr. Glenn Spillman was taking pictures of this memorable event. The presentation of the Homecoming Royalty was done with a lot of school spirit and pride. Black, orange and white balloons were dropped from the ceiling when our King, Charles Whitebear, and our Queen, Crystal Jackson were announced. Dancing resumed and no one stopped until the end. This dance was an unforgettable one.

NATIONAL YOUTH SERVICE DAY RALLY

Volunteering dedicated time and energy is the key to helping our youths of American today. This is the goal of the National Youth Service Day Rally, held here at Northeast April 20, 1993.

This rally consisted of many guest speakers, including the founder and chairman of the YMCA Adult Role Models for Youth Program and also a volunteer with the White House Office of National Service. This person was no other than Nick Lowry of the K.C. Chiefs.

This assembly enlightened students on the importance of volunteering and community service. It showed how a few hours of your time can really make a difference. Every speaker and performer did their best to convey this message to the audience.

In addition, T-shirts and buttons were given to every participant of this assembly. So that they could take home th memory of this recognition rally, and keep in mind the message that was meant to be passed on to them.

How Do We Get To School?

Do you think about where you are going when you get on the school bus? Of course not, you know you are going to school. However, this is the first step to a world that is waiting for someone that has the courage to make a better life for themselves than what they already have.

To go to school most people ride the school bus, others drive themselves or have a parent or relative drive them, some go by cab, others walk. Which ever way you go to school it is the start of the day to your education

Now where are you going?

CLASSES ELECTIONS I VOTED TODAY!

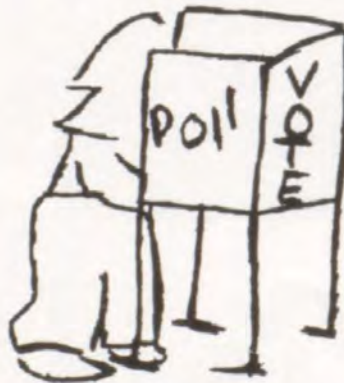

These are the class officers of the 1992-93 school year.

Leading our school into the world of politics are our Northeast Class Officers. These students show their dedication to our school by wanting to represent it to make new changes. These young politicians go through a lot to be voted in as officers. They start by campaigning, bringing up new ideas, writing speeches and much more.

These students are the epitomy of each class. They help the student body work with the staff and administration.

These officers show this school that if you put your mind to something, its possible the outcome holds great promise for you. Each of the students at this school should consider running for one of their class offices. It not only is an experiance, but will help you in the long run. "Competition" is the word of the future, and what better way to start, but right here at Northeast..

Putting people first. A promise made by our President, Bill Clinton during his campaign. He plans to put America to work, invest in communities, middle-class tax fairness and much more. This is something our country needs to head it in the right direction.

William Jefferson Clinton a middle-class American born in Hope, Arkansas, was the former governor of his home state before entering the rat-race for presidency. "I refuse to be part of a generation that fails to compete in the economy," said Bill Clinton in his speech Oct. 3, 1991. He promotes world growth and encourages Americans...he is definitely the man with the plan.

Recognized for his leadership abilities Vice President. Al Gore comes from a line of prominent politicians. He not only was a U.S. House Representative for his hometown, Tennessee. Born and raised in Tennessee, Al Gore was announced to be Vice President in July of 1992. It was said he understood what was happening to Americans and was committed to making government work again. "I'm here because the country I love has a government that's failing our people," said Al Gore. This is a man who can nourish and please Americans deepest interest. He is a leader indeed.

This dance was held on February 14, 1993, at the Park Place Hotel on Universal Avenue. Although, there wasn't a big crowd, the people who attended enjoyed themselves. There was a live D.J., and plenty of food and drinks. There was a professional photographer there taking pictures of all the couples and friends. Law

Where students learn the procedures of a courtroom Mrs. Teresa Gilyard and Mr. Larry Thomas team teach three Law Advocacy classes. In their classes they teach the students the many responsibilities of the court system. The students learn the preparations of the judges, attorney's, and witnesses. The first semester of the school year the students go through extensive training. They also perform several mock trials which help prepare them for competition. The competition the students prepare for is held at the Jackson County Courthouse. Schools from all parts of Missouri compete in this competition. This year Northeast entered two teams into the mock trial competition. The first team consisted of Attorney's: Bianca Gaston, John Parish, Tim Ledgerwood, and LaKedra Coleman; Witnesses: Charles Whitebear, Tiffany Blunt, and LaTonya Taylor. The second team consisted of Attorney's: Gina Fontana, Suzanne Cedras, Charmain Burns, and Lydia Alvarez. The Witnesses: Robert Johnson, Rea Rivera, Heather Minet, Amy Kirk, and Anitra Hubbard. This school year, the second Law Advocacy team made it to the finals. It was the first time in seven that Northeast ever made it this far.

Would You Believe That...

Would you believe that our country has its first democratic president in 12 years, that wars are happening all over his world, that nothing happened in October so we had to put a jack o' lantern in the picture slot? I could go on and on. The one major question in our world today is, "Where is the country headed?" We now have a new administration, our first lady is the head of the health task force (major plus), and sox the cat is now main event news. Who cares about Sox? What about the death of Thurgood Marshall, the bombing of the World Trade Center, Hurricane Andrew, and all the "Wackos is Waco" and the Vancouver Summit with Mr. Yeltsin. It seems that more bad than good is happening in our country. We are still in an economical slump, we still can't figure out if the ozone is still there. People are losing their jobs everywhere, And front page news is whether Chelsea Clinton goes to a private or public school. Does this make sense? Or is it just me.? Unfortunately our society has its priorities in the wrong place. Surprise!? Didn't think so. anyway, follow the time line and see for yourself what's happened this year. SENIORS

As we entered Northeast our Freshman year, we would all agree that it's size gave us a feeling of fear

By our sophomore year, our fears were subsided, and to make fun of the Freshman we were delighted

Before we knew it, we were upperclassmen as we entered the 11th grade, by this time our memories of our times at Northeast had been made

We'll ready or not here we are! We're Seniors and we are gonna make it far

As we're dressed in our cap and gown saying goodbye, we are all thinking "Wow, time sure did fly"!

Although we will all choose different plans and go our separate ways, we would never trade the memories of our Northeast days

We are the Vikings and for the future we are willing to fight!

Our goals will remain high, and we will never forget those proud, vivid colors of purple and white

We are the graduating class of 1993, and proud of this is what we will forever be!

Mike Gray and Jason Provo show Senior spirit as Mike paints "93" on Jason's face.

"Senior year is very expensive, however it is really exciting to know that graduation time is soon and our lives in the 'real world' are about to begin!" said by Senior Sayam Chaiyote.

Seeing is definitely believing when it comes to the progress that the Senior class has made, since the days of our zit-faced Freshman woes. Our appearances have changed, our maturity has increased and our stress levels are sky-rocketing.

We are all definitely relieved that our school days are coming to an end, but deep down we all will truly miss them. Life at Northeast is like a soap-opera; we have our villains, our lovers, and our scandals. At Northeast anything is possible.

We came to this place together to learn, to grow, and to share. With the passing of time we have acquired knowledge and friendships that will last a lifetime. We have different talents, different dreams, and different destinations. But, we have one common thread -- Northeast, Class of 1993. by Christy Cramer

"What Do Seniors Do On Their Spare Time?"

Aside from school and work, what DO seniors do with their spare time?

Well, there's the usual parties given by friends for various reasons, such as mom and dad are out of town.

Another is after school activities like Youth In Government, cheerleaders, or sports that can take up a great deal of time if you get really involved.

But the thing about being a senior that's really ironic is that Seniors don't have free time!!! If the Seniors aren't at school they're at work. There is very little time for cruising the mall, parties or activities at school.

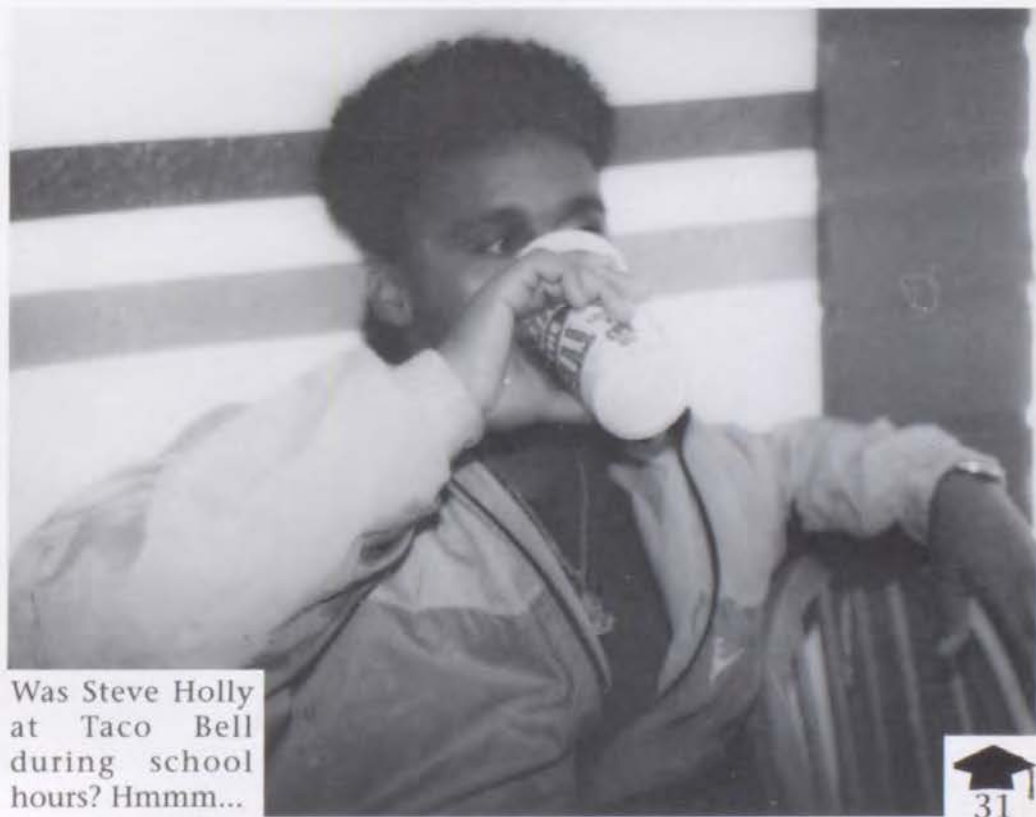

However, there are those lucky people who don't have a job and they spend their time watching TV or wandering the streets. But, yet again there are those talented, luckier people who manage to go to school, work and have plenty of time to have fun in after school activities, go to parties or just hang out or watch TV and you thought being a Senior was Fun?!?!?!?!?!?

Who's Who Among Seniors

Alisha Gambino and Tonya Hankins are the top two in the class of 1993. When asked how she feels about being in the top of her class she says she is very happy because she worked so hard. Alisha has been here four years and has been actively involved in band and the honor society while maintaining a 4.0 every year. Alisha says "I am motivated because I want to succeed in life." After high school Alisha plans to go the Kansas City Art Institute because she wants to become an artist. Alisha says she has wanted to become an artist ever since the day she picked up her first pencil.

Tonya Hankins is also at the top. She feels she is setting an example for others when they are Seniors. Tonya has also been here for four years and has maintained an almost perfect 4.0 throughout. She is actively involved in Leadership Academy, Close-Up and National Honor Society. She plans to attend U.M.K.C. to study business. "One day I hope to become a CEO in a large corporation."

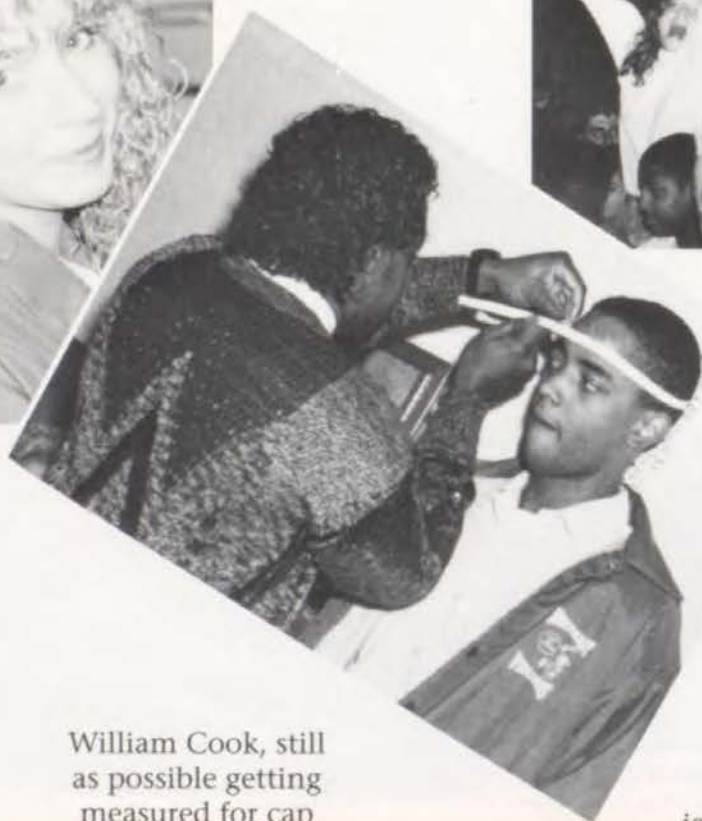

Good luck to both of you ladies in the future.

"What can I say, seniors are the best!" exclaims, Shavelle Rose.

Are your favorite clothes the ones that let you be yourself? The ones that express uniqueness. If they are then you are probably one of the best dressed persons at Northeast Magnet High.

Being best dressed is not always a lot of glamour, glitz and name brands. Sometimes just sticking to the basics is a trend that's in. Think of some of the clothes that you wear today--like faded blue-jeans, pleated skirts, leggings, and even the plainest t-shirts. These things have been in since the late

After four years of waiting it finally came! The Senior ballot was passed out to all Seniors giving them the chance to select who they would like to see on the ballot.

Like every Senior in the past classes, we finally got our chance to choose who would represent various parts of our class as a whole. It was a tough decision to pick one person for each slot, but it was done and tallied and throughout the section you will see the results.

These are some of the memories of high school that will last. When we have our first class reunion, it will be interesting to see how reliable are ballot was. By: Jen Abbott

BELIEVING IN THE FUTURE

Seniors have to believe in their future in order to succeed. These seniors think they'll prosper, and thus they've determined that they will achieve their goals. Senior Diana Dang is preparing for her future by applying to colleges as well as with the military. Diana plans to start college immediately after high school. Her goal is to get a degree in cardiothoracic surgery or sports medicine. Diana claims "The reason why I want to be a doctor is because I am able to hold the balance of life and death in my hands".

"Military is probably the only way for me", senior Jason Provo stated. Like many of the military strand seniors here at Northeast, Jason hopes to go to college at the University of Kansas through the Navy scholarship program. He has decided that he will major in computer engineering to help him succeed in his military career.

After college Jason must complete four years of military service. He has yet to decide whether or not he'll leave the military or go on further with a lifetime career in the military.

Christal Jackson has artistic goals in mind for her future. She plans to attend Northwest Missouri State University to major in computers while pursuing a career with the state ballet. She also wants to be in "A Chorus Line" and perhaps dance professionally until she opens her own dance school--"Christal's Classics of Dance".

THINGS THAT SENIORS WILL MISS

Seniors have had their good times and bad times together; and we'll miss these times a great deal. We'll also miss being the oldest and most respected people in the school. Some will go to college or the military and be the youngest again. While others will go to work and prove themselves to be respectful and mature.

We'll probably even miss our teachers....a little bit. They are the ones who basically gave us advice when we needed it and when we had no where else to turn. They were also the ones who gave us that little nudge to try harder and to work harder to attain our goals.

However, the one thing that Seniors will miss the most is each other. We've spent the last four years of our lives growing up together. We've made

We have struggled through midterms, finals, and our math classes, but we preserved and triumphed. Now we have reached a pinnacle in our lives—the responsibility of being Seniors.

We are all lead to believe that the basic aspects of Senior status is to party, coast to graduation, and to party some more. We were mislead!

Being a Senior requires all of us to take the ACT and / or SAT. Our accumulative average can make the difference between attending an Ivy League college or Burger King University. After we have agonized over the test

Raging with Class

PRIDE

Shy? Not this class. The shyness of the Freshmen 3 years ago has certainly faded away. This is the class of togetherness. You'll never see anyone from this class on their own. They're always together, never taking on any thing alone.

The class of '94 is the class of spirit, pride and dedication. After sitting for hours wondering what to name this section, I finally realized, our theme was in my face the whole time by our actions; Juniors Raging with Class Pride. This was the perfect way to describe these awesome teenagers.

This year the Junior class started off with a bang by winning most spirited class at the first assembly. While browsing through this section you will not only see images of class pride, but of friendship and determination.

by Chad Harrington

 Standing: Teresa Tran, Pres. ; Chad Harrington, Vice-Pres.; Kneeling: Keona Ballard, Sec.; Batini Green, Treas.

A lot of progress is being made this year by the Junior class officers. They are enthusiastic and they take pride in their jobs. Teresa Tran, President said, "Being class president is a lot of fun, But it is also a tough job." Chad Harrington, Vice-President; Along with Batini Green, Secretary; and Keona Ballard, Treasurer; are the other hard working officers.

"I was thrilled to be selected as the Junior class sponsor", commented Mrs. Bradford, who is also proud of the progress the Junior class and it's officers have made. There is no doubt that these officers have the potential and ability to represent the Junior class in the best way possible. They have already made many contributions to the class of '94, and they plan to make many more. Mrs. Bradford stated, "I am certain the entire class of '94 will have many positive remembrances of this school year."

CLASS RINGS

Getting a class ring is a very special moment in a young persons life. It symbolizes the beginning of a new chapter in a persons life. It represents the changing from adolescence to adulthood.

Choosing a class ring gives a person responsibility. It gives them a chance to make their own decisions, without the input of their parents.

At Northeast , it is has been a tradition ,as a Junior to purchase your class ring. Buying your class ring is totally awesome. But, don't take it from me, just listen to these spirited Juniors.

Gina Fontana, the first member of the class of "94" to receive her class ring said,"I felt as if this was it. Next year is going to fly by fast,and soon I'll be on my own." In addition, Chad Harrington, a very spirited Junior said," My soul was filled with joy and I was proud of my class."Soon these Juniors will be graduating ,and all they will have left are the memories of Northeast.

WHAT THE CLASS OF '94 THINKS OF THEIR PEERS

The class of 1994, is a special one. This page features students that the Junior class is most proud of. It also includes the opinions of the Junior class toward other classmates. Each student in the class of 1994 has been blessed with his or her own talent. Some were better in sports, while others were better in academics. Some showed their Viking pride by letting their loud voices ring through the old Northeast halls, and some showed their pride through their humble ways. But, no matter what gift or talent we have that makes us different, we all have the unique class of '94 bond to make us strong.

Sights On The Future

The class of 1994 eagerly awaits to be the best graduating class of the school. They hope that maybe it will be a record that can stand for a long time to come.

Many Juniors are excited and have many different views on how their Senior year will be. "My Senior year is when I kick back and relax", says Hour "Joey" Meng. Is it really going to be that easy? Olivia Raya doesn't think so, "I'm gonna have to get myself together and study harder so I can go to a good college, but I look forward to early dismissal!", she adds.

Becoming a Senior is always a big deal to high school students. "It makes me happy to think I'll be a Senior soon", states Mary Taylor. "But even though I'm closer to getting out of Northeast, I'm scared because I'll be venturing out into the new world.

Some of us agree with Mary Taylor's statement. Most of us feel the same way as Joe Shelton. He hopes to graduate with maturity, knowledge and wisdom. We would all like to walk across the stage in our caps and gowns to receive our diploma, and make our parents proud.

Becoming Seniors is very important to the Juniors in the class of 1994. I think Kim Jones summed it up when she said, "We are the best and better than the rest in this decade!" by Rea Rivera

Mrs. Harris' 7th Hour : Tonya Taylor, Dee Ellis, Geneva Rambo, Darrell Domerese, and Joe Shelton. All working steadily to make that "A".

WHAT YOU SEE IS WHAT YOU GET

There is no better person than a Junior to be editor of this section in the yearbook. The only thing better than that is to have two Juniors working on it. We know that you the class of 1994, only wanted the best section because you are the best! That is exactly why we were glad to be the ones working on it for you.

It took time and a lot of hard work to put this section together. As you read the articles and look through the pictures, you will be able to see what your class is all about. Although we are Juniors ourselves, we have learned a lot about the class of '94. We have learned that this class, our class is full of pride, spirit, determination, intelligence and most of all the willingness to help one another.

When people from other classes, and the class of '94 walk up and down the halls, they see that the Juniors stick together as one. They see that our class spirit is like none other. That's why we won the spirit links and hall decorating contests. Our class is so full of many different races and cultures, because of this, we have so many good ideas and wonderful perspectives of things. Things such as dances, fundraisers and most of all PROM!

We hope that you, the class of 1994, is pleased with your section, because you deserve the best.

Sincerely,
Your Editors,

As you sit through a Viking pep assembly, you hear the energetic call of the competing classes. As usual, the class of "95" rises above the rest showing that Sophomores have school spirit and aren't ashamed of it.

Sophomore Nykia Littlejohn describes the Sophomore class as "Energetic and Exciting." Ava Ford adds, "Talented and outgoing." You can see this in any of the schools' pep assemblies when the band (auxiliary), the military drill teams and even when the athletic teams such as the Varsity Volleyball team, the J.V. basketball teams, and the cheerleaders show off their skills. All of these organizations have Sophomores who have taken leadership positions by becoming their backbone.

As with the new President of the U.S. and a new administration, there is new hope for the students of the Sophomore class. They find this hope through sports, music, dance, drill teams and in the classroom. We as Sophomores pledge our integrity, resourcefulness, and judgment to be examples to our peers and guide them into tomorrow. We are the future.

Best Friends Both New & Old

Christina Farbro and Karen Williams-Best Friends
Raquel Raya and Lori Nickell -Best Friends

This year's Sophomore class came into this school last year as Freshmen, many people having their close friends, and others not to sure of who they would become close to as the time passed. Since then this class has developed some new great friendships and strengthened the old ones. Two great examples are pictured above.

Christina Farbro and Karen Williams became best friends this year. They were both football managers, and also run track together. This is a friendship they hope will last through their Senior year together and then some!

The two other girls pictured are Raquel Raya and Lori Nickell. When they say, "It takes a long time to build a good friendship," these two have really done this. They have been best friends for the past four years. Their friendship began in the junior high and has held up through everything that was for or against them. Raquel and Lori hope to remain best of friends for many years to come.

This class has had two great years and hopes to have many more. A lot of the people in this class have developed some great friendships, but for those who haven't, don't worry you have two years to go. I'm sure you'll discover friendships you never expected.

What comes to mind when you hear the word Sophomore? Is it that Sophomores are considered wise fools? Being a Sophomore means getting caught in the middle, because you're not in the lowest class but, it also means you're not in highest either. Many will say that it gives us some time to think about the future, while others will say that it's only two more years until graduation.

"You will have some people looking down on you but you will also have some people looking up at you too", says Jamie Afrisio. There will be some upper classmen that will look down on you because you're not in their class. However, you will have those who look up to you because they are in a lower class than you are and need to have someone to look up to and set examples for. Sophomores will always be known as wise fools but, as the years go by they will grow to become better role models for the future.

Dear Sophomore class,
 I've been working on your yearbook section for quite a few months now, and I think it came out pretty good. It took a lot of time and patience because I really wanted to get everything just right for you.
 During these past months I've really learned a lot about you and your class. You're very original, you have many talents, and you have a lot of potential. I really hope you take all of this, and put it together, and be the best of what you would like to do the most in your lives. You only have two years left so be very careful and stick with it. In the end it will all certainly pay off!

Thank you for being such a fun class to work with. It was very enjoyable for me.

ΦΙΡΣΤ ΙΜΠΡΕΣΣΙΟΝΣ

(First Impressions)

Walking in the front door, I think "Where do I go?"
Then I rush to my first hour: "Oops it's the wrong class."

I'm dressed like a doofus but, "How could I know?"
This year is my first but, "How long will I last?"

I study my schedule: "What does this mean?"
I don't understand but, "I don't give a bit!"
Fell asleep in one class: "Is it all a bad dream?"
The lunchroom's so full I ask "Where can I sit?"

While I'm waiting in line: "Hope we have a good lunch."
As I look at the gravy: "It looks like Jell-o!"
I eat mashed potatoes: "Are they supposed to crunch?"
I don't really deserve this: "Oh, no, it's the bell! No!"

Hurrying off to ... "Oh, how should I know?"
I question a senior: "Where's my next class at?"
He laughs in my face: "Tell you where to go?"
He sneers at me: "Don't bug upperclassmen, you brat!"

Two-thirty at last: "I survived the first day!"
Now all classes share just one goal: "The front door!"
Just ask any Viking: "Well, what can I say?"
'Bout first days for Freshmen: "Don't do it no more!"

"Being a freshman at Northeast has been a big step for me. It has made me mature in a lot of ways. And it is also fun."

Cynthia Harrington

"When I first came here, I was expecting everything to be like my old school... but, I guess that's the old days, and now it's time to start acting mature."

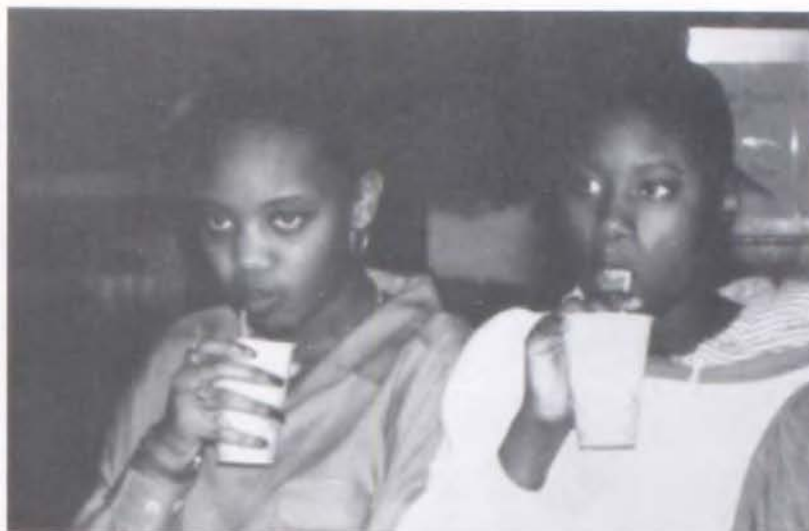

Terra Wheeler

"I like the military theme at this school and going to Northeast is a tradition in my family... my two sisters and my grandmother graduated from here."

You once were the oldest in your junior high school
Now you're the youngest, in this big pool.

In this pool of big kids, you're just a small drop,
One day you'll evaporate and rise to the top.

When you get there, down pours the college rain,
And just like before, you're a small drop again.

This year the freshman class officers spent the year getting acquainted with the procedures of office. Although they didn't get much done, Michelle Story commented that, "I hope to do this next year". Other members are pictured above. They all share the hope of being able to share their learned skills to help the class of '95 in the future.

Freshman Profile :
Melinda Woolsey

Melinda Woolsey sure has her hands full. Besides keeping a 3.4 grade point average, Melinda participates in a diverse number of organizations. She participates in Students Against Drunk driving (otherwise known as S.A.D.D.) and Hi-Step (High School students taught elementary program), both in which she is an active member.

These are not the only clubs she belongs to. She also belongs to S.R.T. where she is a mediator, DARE where she serves as a positive role model for elementary students, and is a representative for the Leadership Academy.

Melinda has some pretty high expectations for herself. She expects to graduate in the top 15% of her class and attend college to become a pediatrician.

In her spare time she watches t.v., listens to the radio, and hangs out with her friends.

As you can see, she is the perfect example of being able to have your cake and eat it too.

Athletic Freshmen

Through the years freshmen have been known to be the shy individuals of the school. This year proves to be different. The class of '96 have come out of the woodwork to join clubs, organizations, and especially sports.

As the cross-country season began, many freshmen faces appeared. One face stands out among the rest, and that is the face of Nick Minet. He practiced every night for three hours and competed in many meets. His hard work paid off in the League

Championships where he won first place. His running ability and dedication will surely help the track team this spring.

Another member of the track team is Tyrone Berry. Tyrone played on the football team as a cornerback. His small size and light weight provided speed and swift movement. His speed will be greatly needed on the track team as well as on the field.

Size of an athlete has no effect on their performance. Jalal Winbush knows this for a fact. He played basketball this year and found it to be a challenge. Not only is he the smallest on the team, but also in the league. With faith in himself and support from the team, Jalal had an exciting eventful season.

Basketball is popular with the girls too. Holly Brown joined the volleyball team a little too late in the season, but found an interest in basketball. She played J.V. and was good enough to play Varsity also.

Although Holly did not make it in time for the volleyball team, Tricia Bunner did. She practiced every night for three hours, and earned a spot on the Varsity team. She played on the Varsity basketball team as well.

Baseball is a popular sport among Americans and with Johnny Rodriguez. He played football as a middle linebacker and decided to give baseball a try, as a second baseman.

As you can see, freshmen are stepping into the spotlight as scholars, individuals, and ATHLETES. Hopefully over the years, freshmen will continue to do so.

In Memory of

Francille Howard 1977-1992

Francille Howard's precious life was tragically taken from her friends and family, on November 8, 1992.

Francille's family and friends want to remember how her life was spent in the short time she was with us. Francille's friends say she was a nice, sweet, outgoing person. Angela Shelton says, "She was always making you laugh. She always had something funny to say." Norma Lara lived down the street from Francille. Norma says, "My relationship with Francille was a very special relationship, I will always have good memories of her." Norma adds, "Where ever you are Francille, may God keep you in his arms." By Amy Kirk

Seasons Change

It's been so long since we lost you,
It seems like yesterday.
Feelings change even people change,
I'll sacrifice tomorrow just to have you here today.
At the beginning I was thankful to have you by my side.
And for us it was so hard to say goodbye,
But I believe you are in a better place.
Where you'll feel no hurt and no sorrow,
Now we're all waiting to walk hand in hand in the place you are in, tomorrow.

SPORTS

Sports started off in the usual way: Volleyball, Football, and Cross Country. Volleyball had only one returning senior; however, the team did come in third place. The football team was put back into the Interscholastic League after two years of suspension, and the team worked as hard as possible to show that Northeast was back. The Cross Country teams proved how tough they were. Sherry Cloe, junior says, "We were consistent in our winnings as a whole; it took a lot of energy to pull it off." Basketball season came and went. Aisha Thornton, senior, led the girl's basketball team in assists and had the highest free throw percentage. The guy's basketball team, led by Coach Sanger who has been here for the past twenty-three years, said in the winter sports assembly that he was very proud of the team and all of the individuals involved. Even though the track season had started off in a difficult way, the runners are young and inexperienced. "I believe if they practice and stick to it, they'll do well," commented Coach Debbie Cottrill. This is the second season for the newly formed baseball team. Simon Oeum, a starting pitcher says, "The baseball team is starting with a good season because many of our players have experience and confidence."

All of our teams and individuals have worked hard for the 92-93 season. We are very proud of everyone. Northeast would like to thank all of the cheerleaders for their support. The cheerleaders have been there to support the teams, winning and losing!

Of Mind and Body

The sport of hiking and hitting, bashing and beating, believe it or not is just as much a sport of the athlete's mind as it is on the physical body. Sure the sport of football is a game of throwing and catching, running and blocking. However, the game requires a great deal of intelligence and concentration in everything you do.

The team is broken down into eleven individuals each with individual efforts. It is the team together and the team effort that gives a team the edge. The lack of this effort can be the difference between victory and defeat of any team, good or bad.

At 7:30 am in the morning the dew is drying from the emerald green grass as the golden ball of fire breaks from its horizon. Many people are still asleep at this time while the dedicated girls of the Northeast Volleyball squad approach from all directions and methods to school. They will spend an exhausting day sweating and trying to concentrate on hitting the ball so that it smokes as it flies to the competitors side. It hasn't been a walk in the park, but the lady vikings have achieved success. These talented teens worked their way up to gain the 3rd place in the league. The team consisted of many energetic players. Dana Watson (captain) was backed up by Angie Ruhlman, Dawn Depasquale, Jennifer Franklin, Ericka Williams, Suzanne Smith (co-captain), and many others who have supported the team. And leaving the best for last is Coach Swoffer. Without this man the team would have gone no where and would not have achieved as much this year.

SPOTLIGHT ON SUZANNE

It's a bird, it's a plane, it's super white letterer Suzanne Smith! She has been playing throughout all of her high school career. Suzanne was elected to the first-string All Star volleyball team in the Interscholastic league this year.

During this 1992 season, Suzanne was the only Senior playing on the Northeast squad. Suzanne was a starter, a setter, and a spiker. She led the team to a third place finish in the league.

In the future, Suzanne hopes the team will regain its title as the Interscholastic League Champions. Suzanne offered these words of encouragement, "I hope that the team succeeds in all that they strive for. I also hope that the team stays together mentally as well as physically to achieve their goals for the upcoming years."

COUNTRY

"I'm almost there" says Sherry Cloe.

"I just gotta catch my balance!" says Christina Farbro.

Sports are very popular with high school students. However, one sport isn't recognized as much as Football, Basketball, Volleyball, etc. This sport is none other than Cross Country.

Practice started in the middle of August. Only the month that is the hottest of the year. Which made practices long and rigorous.

The season officially starts in September after school begins. The first meet was sponsored by Northeast at Swope Park on September 8, 1992. Northeast competed well in this meet, dominating most of the participating schools.

The girl's team grew from the previous year. This year's team consisted of nine girls. New faces were present in the boys team also. Most were freshmen. Although most of the team was inexperienced, the school came out on top in many of the meets.

Competing prepared the team for the League Championships. Nick Minet, a freshman, took first place in his division. The varsity boys had only one runner, Keith Walters, who finished in the top ten. Maelynn Pena and Christina Farbro finished in the top ten of the girls division.

"The team competed in many meets and did very well," says Coach Wade, "many returning athletes gives hope to a brighter '93 season."

CHEERLEADING

The Cheerleaders at Northeast are not exactly what they seem to be. You see them doing stunts and cheers so perfect, you wonder how they make it look so natural and easy.

These girls put in a lot of hard work not only during the school year, but also during the stifling heat of the summer. The key to their success is teamwork, dedication and school spirit.

Now don't get me wrong, cheerleading isn't just hard work filled with long hours of practice. There is also fun and excitement you get from the sport. Not only do you get the experience of working with others, but you also get the chance to become involved in school and have a great time doing it.

The 1992-93 boy's basketball team showed a lot of promise and determination. Yet teamwork was what they lacked. This year, the boys had a record of 4-20 overall and in the league.

When the season first started it looked as if these extremely talented guys would take over. But this could not happen because they did not work together as a team to achieve it. Coach Sanger, head coach commented, "There was too much individual play and not enough teamwork."

Next year all but Vincent Smith, Charles Whitebear, and Jeffery Daniels will return to the team.

The 92-93 basketball team holds a lot of promise for years to come. This year there were enough Freshmen to have a Freshmen team. If they stay together, they should be really strong in a couple of years.

The only two returning starters were Aisha Thornton, a senior, and Tiffany Osborn, a junior, and there was only one more returning senior, Carmen Morgan. Though there was a lack of varsity experience, the team did the best with what they had.

The overall record was 7-13, due to a numerous amount of forfeits because of eligibility complications. This was a major setback that made the girls work harder to improve their win-loss record.

Dana Watson, who will hopefully receive her white varsity next year, says, "This season was a learning experience." The team went through what Head Coach Karen Jamison calls "a transitional period." Dana also commented, "I am looking forward to next year because it will be so competitive." The only thing the team can do is prepare themselves for next year, and hopefully they come out on top.

This year's 1992-93 Track and Field team is one of the biggest teams ever. Usually when track starts, there will be a big turn-out but a week or two into the season, many people will decide that they can't handle the discipline and endurance. That's what it takes in order to have a team that works.

Many of the more dedicated runners started conditioning at the beginning of the school year by running cross country or just staying after school and working out in the weight room and running on their own. Coach Wade is the boy's coach with Coach Middleton assisting. Coach Small and Coach Cottrill the girl's coaches, are excited about the season because of the great turn-out. They would be even happier if most of the girls that began would complete the season.

Even though a lot of runners are new, track and field is having a good season. Team members hope that this year's runners will return next year and put their experience toward a winning season.

This year's girls track team was bigger than it's been in the past four years. It took a lot more patience to be able to finish out the season, however one young lady, Annamarie Occhipinto finished it out with this being her fourth year. Annamarie started running track her Freshman year and is the only Senior running who had the dedication to stick with it all four years, which means she'll be receiving her white letter. Annamarie started running track in order to keep in shape and make new friends, which she did both. Since her Freshman year she has run long distance, and improved her personal times each year. At her first meet she says, "I felt very nervous at first, and it was a lot harder than I expected, but I came out with a great feeling in the end." She also said that, "Track really involves hard work and dedication, especially if you want to stay with it for all four years. By Sherry Cloe

Baseball started the season in high gear this year. Many young men eagerly tried out for the team hoping for a successful season. Baseball for Northeast H.S. is a new concept. This is only our second year participating in the sport and Northeast is eager to make it a winning team. Leading our team this year are five experienced Seniors: David Jackson #16, James Fetters #28, Simon Oeum # 18, Mike Gray #12 and Shawn Stevenson #17. Although the season got off to a slow start because of rain cancellations, the sun finally came out and we finished the season. Hopefully baseball at Northeast will continue and every year our success will be greater!

Not everyone is the same, and no one is expected to be the same as anyone else, that's what is unique in the clubs and organizations at N.E.H.S. The only requirement is participation.

In the band or choir, you can sing or play music and hone your skills with practice. In SRT, Peer Helpers and the Leadership Academy, students deal with problems that are close to the heart. Youth Court, Youth in Government, Close-Up work on a larger scale, that effects lots of people.

There are also more specialized groups such as the Nor'Easter/Viking Voice that improve communication and organizational skills in the public service or the Leadership Academy that provides assemblies for information as well as entertainment.

With diversity, our school grows. Join something and grow with us.

THE PROUD N.E. BAND

Members of the Northeast Marching Band not in order of appearance: Dena Igou, Charmain Burns, Alisha Gambino, Bruce Furlow, Jamond Williams, Rachelle Vargas, Ramael McGee, Victoria Little, Armond McDonald, Lemuel Williams, James Gordon, Roy Fuimono, Aisha Jones, Bernis Jackson, Elisa Copes, Nicole Biggens, Stecey Ellis, Lekesha Cravens, Leslie Dozier, Delaundra Bowden, Lashonda Rodriguez, Tamara White, Elena Biggens, Erica Stevenson, Ricky Cravens, Lashanda Mitchem, Angelette Scott, Jerimiah Furlow, Brian Draper, Stephanie Byers, Jarrod Billups, Belinda McCall, Alex Furlow, Ryan Harris, Batini Green, Chris Findly, Roosevelt Hampton, Amy Kirk, Robin Karn, Abby Torres, Catrice Johnson, Michelle Woods, Karen Rebecchi, Sandra Lopez, Michelle Vitale, Tasha Langly, Jillian Hisser, Mary Rodriguez, Reginald May, and Gary Thomas.

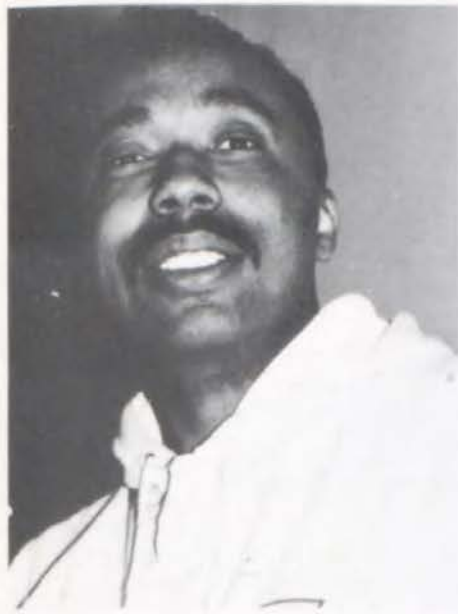

What do words like determination, pride, dedication, and tradition mean? To members of the Northeast Band the true meaning of these words are brought to reality everyday. They dedicate their afternoons and Saturdays, show their Viking pride at every performance, and are determined to carry on the tradition of being number one.

The band is a primarily young group composed of many Middle School students. This wasn't a downfall, however, because the veterans helped pull it all together. "It doesn't matter who is in charge. The band doesn't focus around a few individuals. Winning takes a group effort," comments Alisha Gambino, the head drum major.

This year the band again came out on top at the Interscholastic League Championship. They received a rating of Excellent, which is the highest that can be attained. They also received outstanding Brass and Woodwind awards. In addition to carrying on this tradition a new honor has been bestowed upon them. On November 6, 1992, the band performed at the dedication of the new American Royal Visitors Center. The interior of this center contains a life size mural of the band, past and present. This is an extraordinary honor. Many schools wonder why the Northeast band was chosen. It was hard work that achieved the goal. Charmain Burns, the assistant drum major said, "I'm really proud to be a part of something historical. I've been a part of the band since my seventh grade year and we're the best getting better." Though we've had a successful year, we must look ahead to the future, with Mr. May's big plans that are in store for us..... his dream.

Gary Thomas

For the past twelve years, Gary Thomas has been the assistant band director. He is in charge of the drill team, flag girls, and the ethnic awareness dancers. Mr. Thomas works at the Together Center, and all the time he devotes to the band is completely voluntary.

The N.E. choir, on average, is made up of 40-55 people. Most of these people are in choir 1 or choir 2 class, but there are a few who stay after school to practice that are not a part of the regular class. The choir director is Mr. Lindsey.

Mr. Lindsey has taught and directed choir for eight years. Some of the musical pieces that they sing range from the classics to jazz and anything in between. In December the choir had several chances to "show-off" their skills. They had five concerts that were held at two elementary schools, Graceland and New West; Glenning Place Nursing Home, Crown Center, and City Hall.

The choir is mostly made up of soloists, 14 of which are going to district. There are some other groups that get together by themselves to practice and out of those groups Mr. Lindsey will choose who will perform. To help Mr. Lindsey from "going crazy" he has an assistant, Virginia Doty, who has been with him for 2 years, and helps by playing the piano.

A lot of work, concentration, practice, and time is required from each individual. On Monday and Tuesday the male and female sections stay after school to practice, and on Wednesdays the full choir practices together. Mr. Lindsey has a saying that he learned from Lincoln University that goes, "Good, Better, Best -Never let it rest, till your good is your better, and your better is your best." The choir not only practices to become their best, but they also practice because they really enjoy singing.

CLOSE-UP

Every year, 10-15 students from Northeast are chosen to be a part of the Close-Up Club, and to represent the school in Washington. Close-Up is an organization that gives political minded students a hands-on governmental experience.

This year Heather Minet, Chad Harrington, Suzanne Cedras, Robert Norris, Trang Tran, Lydia Alvarez, and Jennifer Moss were the students chosen to be a part of Close-Up '92. Early Sunday morning, Nov. 14, 1992, these students headed on their way to a week of excitement, fun and lots of hard work.

Equality, Justice, and freedom were the main issues on the minds of the teenagers. This experience gave the students a chance to actually talk to their senator, other senators and different state representatives.

These students represented Northeast well, They were outspoken and open-minded. Two thumbs up for the Close-Up '92 members.

Students helping other students, is the Student Response Team. The Student Response Team is a group of patient students who mediate other students disputes and try to help them come to a non-violent solution.

As a student mediator, you receive training from other experienced student mediators on how to talk to students without sounding like someone who doesn't care, but someone who is not biased

One of the most important advantages to having a mediation team is that it is offered as an alternative to suspension. With a reduced number of suspensions, more students can stay in school and receive their education

Future Business Leaders of America

Every year a special group of students that are involved in F.B.L.A. (Future Business Leaders Of America) have the opportunity to compete against other schools in fields ranging from Information Processing to Job Interview. This year, eight students represented Northeast at Rockhurst College on March 10, 1993. These students who dedicated their time to the competition were : Lydia Alvarez, Amanda Bruemmer, Gina Fontana, David Jackson, Robin Karn, Jennifer Moss, Rea Rivera, and Martin Thibeaux.

Northeast walked away from the competition with two winners, Gina Marie Fontana who competed in "Public Speaking," placed second, and Lydia Alvarez who competed in "Impromptu Speaking," placed fifth.

All the F.B.L.A. members did a superb job preparing for their competition. When it came time to compete with students from nine other schools, Northeast ranked quite high.

Ms. Reichart stated , " I was very pleased with how the students performed, but I was most pleased by their behavior. The eight students made me very proud to be a Viking sponsor."

YOUTH IN GOVERNMENT

Mrs. Love, Martin Thibeaux, Lori Hainen, Charmain Burns and Mrs. Palmer.

This year's convention was a success for Northeast in terms of recognition and awards.

Junior Martin Thibeaux, who participated in the judicial part of Y.I.G., was able to make it to the final round of the Mock Trial competition as a witness for defense.

Also in the Judicial section was Charmain Burns who presided as Chief Marshal during the convention.

While Lori Hainen, who was in the Print Press of Youth In Government, received Honorable Mention for Most Outstanding Editor.

The sponsors of Youth In Government this year were Ms. Love and our new addition, Ms. Palmer. The group this year was considerably smaller than last year's group of 19. Hopefully next year Youth In Government will be stronger than ever!

PEER HELPERS/HI-STEP

The sponsors of Hi-Step and Peer Helpers are Mrs. Fischer, Mrs. Morgan, and Mr. Kelly. Hi-Step and Peer Helpers started off on the wrong foot this year. They didn't have any funding so they had to change the plans they had made last year. Mrs. Fischer, the primary sponsor, personally paid for activities that were needed.

Hi-Step didn't actually get started until second semester after an emergency organizational meeting was called.

Hi-Step works with fifth graders to help them with self-esteem, peer pressure and the realities of middle and high school.

The group also participates with DARE, the program that lets high school students talk to fifth graders about the dangers of drugs and alcohol.

YOUTH COURT

As an active member of Youth Court, I've seen the good and bad of both sides, from the first-hand experience the attorneys and judges receive, to the second chances the juveniles receive.

Youth Court is not a simulation of mock cases. The cases are real and the attorneys and judges are trained. The training takes place at the UMKC Law School and the dedication it takes to stay and listen is well worth it.

Youth Court deals with juvenile offenders aged 12-19, who have been accused of committing misdemeanors. The juveniles are chosen, along with their parents, or guardians, to participate in Youth Court instead of going to Juvenile Hall. Youth Court destroys the offender's record after the punishment has been served and/or the juvenile turns of age.

The Youth Court program gives these offenders a second chance. It allows them to err once and understand the consequences and see how the legal system works.

This year was the first year for the Leadership Academy, which is an organization that promotes positive attitudes and peaceful solutions to problems. Leadership Academy is sponsored by Mrs. Gilyard.

This year the leadership Academy sponsored two assemblies. One was "Stop the Violence," with guest speakers, Doc Bass and Lady Vivian. Black ribbons were passed out to symbolize the "Stop the Violence" theme. The other assembly was the "Apollo" talent show where Northeast students showed exactly what they were made of.

Other than their assemblies, the Academy also participates in "Kids Congress," which consists of five Leadership students. This program is made up of meetings where the students discuss the problems of the community and their solutions. This program has been very successful.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Student Council is made up of the Advisement representatives and their alternates. This year the Student Council is sponsored by Mr. Huehnergath.

To date, the Student Council has sponsored the Homecoming Dance and is in the process of raising money for different sports.

In order to help our fellow students, STUCO is forming committees to act as liaison for different organizations. These committees will help them to know what they can do to make themselves and our school better.

The STUCO Cabinet consists of Co-presidents, Nykia Littlejohn and Tonya Hankins; Vice-president, Catrice Johnson; Corresponding Secretary, LaTonya Law; Recording Secretary, Hadith Zalzal; and Treasurer, Martinus Sayles.

ACADEMICS

*"THE UNEXAMINED LIFE IS NOT

SOCRATES

Sitting, studying, laughing, and talking, that's what it's all about. Academics is not a serious institution in which all you do is work all day. It's learning, but having fun also. Academics is the dancing or exercising of the mind. At Northeast we seem to specialize in this particular field. Not only do we excel in academics, we excel in other areas such as harmony and teamwork which in turn improves our academics. This year, we seem to have a large crop of students who take this philosophy to heart. This section is dedicated to them, the students who play hard but also work hard. Even though not all of these special people are featured, we still commend them for all the effort they put into make the Northeast name proud in the academics field.

Outstanding

The one freshman that seems to be the most outstanding is Lashanda Woodard. Lashanda has a very positive attitude, and is as nice and generous to others, as she is smart.

Lashanda wants to do good things in the future, but the starting point is here. She thinks that the first thing is to come to class everyday, listen to what the teachers say, and most of all, study hard and get good grades.

What motivates Lashanda is herself. Lashanda thinks that everyone should have self-discipline, and that's the start of positiveness.

One of Northeast's outstanding honor students is Teresa Tran. She is the Junior Class President, and has been on the honor roll for three years. In 1992, she was the first student from Northeast to be chosen for the Missouri Scholars Academy. She also received the Women's Chamber of Commerce Leadership Award twice.

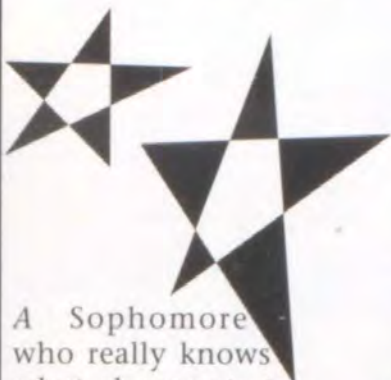

Besides being academically excellent, Teresa is involved in many extracurricular activities including SADD, Hi-step, and Peer Helpers. This year, she joined SRT, CAP, and the yearbook staff.

To keep up with all these activities, Teresa said that her role model, her older sister, encourages her to keep her spirit up. She tries not to worry or have anxiety and to take things one step at a time.

Teresa plans to take college courses next year and she hopes to find more challenges in her senior year through more extracurricular activities.

Students

A Sophomore who really knows what she wants to do with her life is Jennifer Woolsey.

Jennifer started off her high school experience by winning the Women's Chamber of Commerce Leadership Award in her freshman year. She also won a history award at the end of that year. Jennifer has been a 4.0 student and also one of the top five students of her class for two years running.

In addition to her academic achievements, Jennifer is also very involved in her school and community.

Jennifer has been a member of SADD, Hi-Step, and Peer-Helpers for two years. She is a member of SRT and the Community Service Club. In her spare time, Jennifer rakes leaves for and reads to the elderly.

Jennifer says that she is so involved because she likes a challenge. Her mother is her role model because she works hard and reaches for high goals. One of Jennifer's goals is to attend UMKC and become a CPA.

If you want to talk about outstanding, someone should look at Diana Dang's record.

Diana is the 1993

All-City

Colonel.

Last year, Diana was the JROTC All-City Sergeant-Major. She has received the Tuskegee Airmen Inc. Leadership Award in addition to the Women's Chamber of Commerce Leadership Award.

Don't misunderstand that Diana neglects her school work because of all these honors and activities. She is currently taking two college classes through Northeast. She has also been on the Honor Roll for the last three years and is still on it. She is the current president of the National Honor Society, of which she has been a member for three years. Diana has also been a member of the Drill Team, Close-Up Washington, and the National Youth Leadership Conference on Security and Defense. Diana has also served her school as the Student Council Corresponding Secretary, Sophomore Class Secretary, and Junior Class President.

In addition, she has been very active with community service commitments. She is presently a member of the ARC Teen Council and Kansas Citizens Committed to Youth. She makes Christmas cards for veterans and occasionally visits the Veteran's Hospital. She was even a member of Hi-Step and SADD.

Diana is motivated for personal gratification and success. Her role model is her mom because she also is hard working. Diana's advice to underclassmen is, "If you want to succeed or pursue your dreams, you must have confidence, knowledge, and not care about obstacles."

Getting a

Start

The English 110/204 class was unusually large this year. This is surprising because there haven't been a lot of students who signed up for the course in the past. This year, there were enough students for two classes! I guess more seniors are waking up to the fact that English 110/204 taught by Mrs. Abner-Jackson, is a class that most seniors should take. This is a college course offered through NEHS by the University of Missouri-Kansas City at a fraction of the usual cost.

This is a valuable opportunity for college-bound seniors to get one of their "basic" courses out of the way. By taking this course, Northeast students get a head start on college before anyone else.

Now don't get the wrong idea that this is an easy credit. When you decide to take this course, you must be prepared to work hard. This class requires writing skills and will teach you the fundamentals of writing a good paper. You have to be prepared to write a lot!

Here's a message from the current class, "If you want to challenge yourself, you should definitely take English 110/204."

Would you like to earn college credit?

College American History is a perfect opportunity to do just that. There are currently fifteen students enrolled in this college course and a big advantage of this course is that you can earn six hours of college credit at low cost.

Besides the many college credits you can receive, there are also many interesting subjects you can explore. For instance, students have studied the Civil War, slavery in the north and the south, World War I and II, The Depression and recently the Holocaust.

During the study of the Holocaust, We invited a guest speaker, Mrs. Brauna, a survivor of the Holocaust who was placed in a concentration camp at a young age.

The work in this class is hard and extremely challenging but by the time the year is over you know how to take good notes, understand the politics better and see how our current state of government came into being.

The Partners in Excellence (PIE) program is for college bound students who wish to get a head start on college credit hours. The program coordinator is Kim Monroe who has worked with this program for three years.

The program is available to juniors or seniors in high school. There are approximately 20 high schools, including the Kansas City School District, that are participating in this program. There are currently 300 students who are involved in the program, and 37 of them are from Northeast.

To become part of this program, interested students had to take a placement test to help them choose a class.

Kim Monroe helps students keep informed of activities and workshop dates. The workshops are provided for students in high school and college as well. To complete the requirements of the program, students have to attend two workshops, their regular class, and fill out bi-monthly forms that report on their attendance to college.

At the end of the program is an awards assembly where students receive a certificate of completion at their high school. There is also an awards ceremony for students and parents at the end of the semester.

"PIE is tough, but well worth the time and effort put into it."

Math & Physics Institute

Every year, Northeast seniors have the unique opportunity to earn free college credit from the University of Missouri-Kansas City. This program is called the Math and Physics Institute where five schools: Northeast, Van Horn, William Crisman, Fort Osage, and Truman participate. Our sponsor from NE is Mr. Nelson who helps our students with their work and teaches at MPI.

The program is unique because these students attend classes at UMKC's Truman campus in Independence and then return to their respective schools for regular classes. Often this means waking up at five o'clock in the morning to get ready for seven o'clock classes. It is worth the effort. Students in this program receive their credits for calculus and physics for free, whereas, if they took these classes in college, it would cost them anywhere from hundreds to thousands of dollars! This is a fantastic, money saving incentive.

Aside from the credits earned, students get a feel of college life. After a week in this program, one can decide whether to quit or go on. This program involves serious consideration for study habits. "You have to study hard and not lag behind. Get involved in class discussions and you'll enjoy it more," said MPI student Billie Cramer.

These ambitious students do take time out to enjoy themselves. "We are not always studying! We enjoy our yearly trip to MIZZOU and Worlds of Fun. In addition, we frequently have enrichment speakers who enlighten our week. In addition, MPI students stage a talent show every christmas.

"MPI was like a club; the work was hard but we all helped each other."

Sayam Chaiyote

First row: Shelly Carter, Sayam Chaiyote, Cristy Cramer; Second row: Dueandara Sysavath, Billie Cramer, Thao Nguyen.

The Gifted

Christy Cramer is a student of many words. Her words this year helped her win the district level of the "Voice of Democracy" sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The subject of this year's competition was "My voice in America's Future." The paper was sent to a board of judges where it was judged on its content, originality, and character.

Christy won the district level and on February 6, competed at the state level in Jefferson City where she placed fourth.

Christy is a person that knows her dreams and goes after them. She is a senior at NE and plans to attend Rockhurst College and major in political science. One day she wants to be a malpractice lawyer. Christy is definitely the "best getting better."

Who has a gift for creative writing? Well, Lori Hainen seems to think she does and she is justified in this belief. Apparently the judges of the "Freedom, Our Responsibility to Preserve it" essay contest also thought this because they awarded her first prize.

This wasn't an easy win even though Lori has won other essay contests and always did well with creative writing. From the moment

Lori heard about the contest through Mrs. Jackson's English class, she wrote and rewrote and rewrote until the essay was perfect to her. Lori was surprised that she won; but, she is very happy and proud that she did.

A Talent For Teaching

Do you know who Mr. Nelson is? If you don't, you will, eventually. Mr. Calvin Nelson has been at Northeast for thirty-seven years. If your parents went to Northeast, then they might recognize his name. He was hired by the Kansas City School District in July 1956 and has been here since. He has witnessed many changes, such as the diversity of the student body and the renovation of our school during his career.

Mr. Nelson is definitely an invaluable asset to the teaching staff of Northeast. Most students who have taken his classes will agree that Mr. Nelson is a very easy going and understanding teacher.

His great human nature and his ability to recite the metric system in two seconds rate him among the favorite teachers by his students.

Not only do his students have high regard for him but so do his co-workers. Mr. Campbell, vice-principal, says that Mr. Nelson is "quiet, efficient, and unassuming."

Aside from teaching, Mr. Nelson is the sponsor of the Math and Physics Institute for the NE students attending UMKC. He has also been the senior class sponsor for the last twenty years, only recently sharing that responsibility with Diane Coffman and now Judy Reichart. In addition, he is also the school's athletic director.

Thanks, Mr. Nelson, for thirty-seven years of devotion and knowledge.

Here's The Proof

Top 5 Freshmen

These freshmen are role models for their classmates. They're starting off on the right track by being in the top five in spite of their sudden transition from elementary level to high school. They are Lana Scroggins, Dung Pham, Jason Astry, Lashanda Woodard, Justin Thomas, and Hoa Nguyen.

They feel very proud of being in the top five and they are optimistic about their future. Dung says that she wants to attend UMKC's six year dentistry program. Justin wants to be a pilot, and as for Lashanda, she just wants to go to college. Hoa says that she just wants to be "somebody," but Lana Scroggins says that being in the top five is "better than being in the last five!"

Yes! Just two more years to go." Is what the Sophomores are saying,

The Sophomores are just half-way to graduation, and they're topping it off with the top 5. These students got where they are today because they "set goals and made plans of what to do," said Jennifer Woolsey. Well, goals and plans, as it is, Qui said he's not surprised because he's been getting good grades ever since middle school. For Ngoc, she's looking ahead to the future, she wants to be a teacher. But topping all these is Minh, who says she feels proud of her accomplishments and those of her peers.

Top 5 Juniors

The top five juniors should be commended for being the top students in their class because they have had to work harder than anyone else. They will be the first class to graduate with 26 required credits. They have had a list of required strand courses sprung on them at the end of their sophomore year; leaving them scrambling to fit these new requirements into their schedule. They also had to deal with three different schedules for each of the years they have been at Northeast and next year, their senior year, (it is rumored) will be yet another operating schedule! Through it all, the five juniors featured have kept their morale and grades up.

All of these scholars are honored with their positions; however, Joey Meng put it the best, "Being in the Top 5 is a stepping stone to my future as an engineer." It is obviously a step in the right direction for the others as well.

Top 5 Seniors

Amanda Bruemmer, Sayam Chaiyote, Deuandara Sysavath.

The academic section would like to thank the following people for their contributions: Judy Morgan, Joyce Brown, Diana Dang, Billie Cramer, Jean Becker, Melody Conklin, John Bray and Dwon Littlejohn.

These seniors have worked hard for four years. They suffered through the different schedule changes. They were at NE throughout the Persian Gulf War; were here when the Berlin Wall came down.

As graduation draws near, the Top 5 students of the senior class are more recognized for all their struggles to remain or become one of the Top 5 in the last four years.

Salutatorian Tonya Hankins stated, "I am very proud to be one of the Top 5. I feel that I deserve to be here and hope to be a good example to other Northeast students."

Third place Sayam Chaiyote said, "I knew taking all these hard classes on an unweighted scale would make it hard to remain in the Top 5. Therefore, I am grateful."

Also at number three, Deuandara Sysavath said that she is very honored and that all her hard classes have paid off.

Fourth place Amanda Bruemmer stated, "Without my honors classes I would not be prepared for college as I am."

We expect a lot in ROTC this year. The first major drill meet for the Drill Team and Color Guards went very well. The ROTC BALL was a success even though there was snow on the ground. The next major event in ROTC is the upcoming BFI. This year the Senior cadets have to put forth all of their effort and determination to win the gold star. The Northeast Viking Brigade will definitely come out on top again.

FEMALE Drill Team

Lady Vikes!!

Picture yourself, if you will at a National Championship Drill Meet. Preparations is dripping off your forehead, your white gloves are dripping wet from sweat that is starting to brake out all over your body.

As you are about to get ready perform in front of two thousand people who are all competing for the same title, you march into the floor praying that you remember the counts and movements. You feel the pressure of the crowd watching your slightest movement and you begin to feel uneasy. Then a voice of confidence yells- "Team Ready" and you respond with all of your body's energy to give the performance of a lifetime.

Each movement after this will require bearing and quickness and you must keep your concentration at all times. Because by now, the crowd is cheering and this really makes your adrenaline flow . After the performance you wait eagerly to find out how you fared with the other teams at the meet. To your satisfaction you hear these words: First Place Unarmed IDR Drill. Being on the female Drill Team requires a lot of hard work and practice. But in the end it all pays off by winning all of the trophies: First Place Exhibition Drill, First Place Overall at the Pioneer International Drill Meet, Second IDR and Exhibition at Joplin High School, etc... We'll look forward to seeing you next year!

by Ericka Williams

Kneeling front: Commanders Tiffany Henderson and Nichole Elder; Kneeling back: Amy Riggs, Karen Robinson, Nona Ortiz, Ericka Williams; Standing front: Glenda Snow, Chrystal Jackson, Juanita Williams, Tashana Brown; Standing back: Sharon Williams, Ava Ford, Kelly Hardin, Jennifer Carter and Nekiza Vann.

MALE DRILL TEAM

The male drill team for the 1993 school year has shown well across the region and is looking for a national trophy. Hard work and dedication are what makes a team and this team strives continually to be the best.

THE VIKING CO-ED COLOR GUARD

Kneeling: Jessica Santoli, Charlotta Hilbus; Standing: Eddy Enriquez, Raymon McGee, Marcus Grimes, Shawn Stigler, Michelle Story, Chris Duke, Allfie Roberts, Brian Taylor and Tom Griffen.

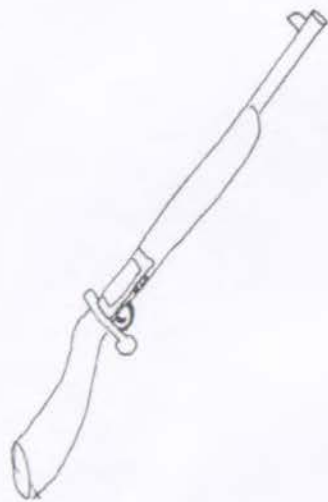

The color guard 1992-93 school year has been very successful for mighty Northeast. This year has been very different from the past. Instead of having a Male Color Guard and a Female Color Guard, it is coed. The young men and women work together to make Northeast number "1" and the hard work has really paid off. Both Color Guard teams won: three 1st place trophies, one 2nd place, and one 3rd place trophy. All this was before Colorado, Florida, and Field day. The Northeast Color Guards definitely put their best foot forward and are NUMBER "1".

by Charlotta Hilbus

VIKING RIFLE TEAM

Rifle Team Standing: Andrew Johnson, John Gallegos, Jason Provo, John Bray, John Butler Kneeling: John Mallas.

This year the Northeast Rifle Team made a gallant try for the number one spot in the city, but still fell short to Van Horn High School. The teams future looks promising with new and enthusiastic members. With lots of hard work and dedication, the team should once again be first in the city.

Ready, Aim,Fire!!

Civil Air Patrol

Many people don't know what Civil Air Patrol is about. I went around our school and asked what students thought Civil Air Patrol was. The final results were disappointing. Most people just said, "They're a bunch of nerds!!"

Civil Air Patrol is an auxiliary unit of the United States Air Force, it was officially founded in 1941. Civil Air Patrol or CAP does 98% of the search and rescue missions for the United States. For every hundred dollars that goes to CAP, a hundred would have gone to the Air Force. So as you can see the Civil Air Patrol is a lot more than "nerds", they save lives and money.

In our school Lt. Messinger is Deputy Commander in charge of all operations and training schedules for the cadets. The cadets learn about search and rescue techniques, military discipline and leadership.

Every Monday cadets wear their CAP camouflage uniforms and after school have meetings and inspection. In the summer, encampment at Fort Leonard-Wood Army Base where they earn their cord and badge.

This year CAP has gained many new members and have acquired a lot of future cadet leaders. They have accomplished their goals for the year and are awaiting next year with high expectations.

Navel Sea Cadets

This is the first year that Northeast has had the Sea Cadet program. The uniform consists of a summer white uniform, a dress blue uniform and working dungerees. Drill is on Sundays and they participate in a number of parades and community events. Cadets receive advanced training at different naval bases around the world. They also participate in naval activities, which include working aboard ship and they learn more about life on the sea.

THE STAFF

Behind every great person is an equally great group of people. This is true for the Northeast Brigade Staff.

These extraordinary teens help Colonel Berry and all the other Military Instructors. They are Suzanne Smith, S-1; William Cook, S-2; Tiffany Henderson, S-3; Charlotta Hilbus, S-4; and Jason Provo, S-5. Each has a special or specific job to perform for the well being of the Brigade. Next year, these jobs will be handed down to the juniors able to handle them best.

The R.O.T.C. Ball was held on February 26, 1993 at the Arrowhead Stadium Clubhouse. The schools that participated in this year's ball were Northeast, East, Metro and Van Horn. The evening was formal with all Females in formal gown and Males in Class A uniforms (green with all medals and ribbons) with white shirt and bow tie. Everyone looked nice and respectable. The festivities slowed at 12:30 when everyone left for home. well, as SGM Wickman would say, "Were kicked out!"

Northeast Law and Public Service Military Magnet is one of the most extraordinary schools in the nation. Not just because we have excelled in the study of Law and of Military. Also not because we have the most mixed cultural school body in the Kansas City School District. It is because we have an excellent student body.

Each and every student has a different spark in his or her soul that makes Northeast out shine the rest. Some of us have seen different corners of the world and some of us have been in Kansas City long enough to light up the city on the gloomiest days. But no matter what special talent, we all need someone to bring that special person out. For the students of Northeast that someone is in the Northeast Administration. The Principal, Vice principals, counselors, and teachers all have a special something about them. They have a way of making you respect them, by respecting you first.

Our Administration also has a way of disciplining us, but at the same time they can show us that they love and care for us. Writing about our Administration is simply not enough because, "SEEING IS BELIEVING!"

A Life Too Short

This year Northeast experienced a great loss on September 23, 1992. Diana Lee Coffman, a young woman in her early forties was a marketing teacher of eighteen years at Northeast when she passed away.

Miss Coffman was a very dedicated and active teacher. Those who knew her could tell you how involved she was within the school. During her teaching years she exhibited great leadership while sponsoring the cheerleaders and then the pom-pom squad. Miss Coffman was also a co-sponsor of the Senior class for ten years.

Through all her giving, and being helpful, Miss Coffman will be remembered always by those she touched.

QUALITY CARE CLINIC

Diana Thompson, Bonnie Jones and Denise Sanders.

Northeast High school has many services that are provided for students. Our Quality Care Health Center is offered to students for a small fee of $5.00.

The clinic is fully staffed with professional physicians, a nurse practitioner, social workers, medical assistants, nutritionist, substance abuse counselor as well as a health information coordinator to assist students with any problems they are having.

The clinic provides physical checkups for students that want to play a sport and other types of treatments. The clinic has a large effect on the students. In the past several years they have been very friendly and helpful, and always greet people with a smile. Students can come to the clinic for a friend, doctor and even a mother.
