Paseo Honor Roll

If the honor roll may be taken as a gauge, scholastic standards at Paseo are going up. When the honor rolls at the end of the first semester were compiled, it was found that twenty-six students were eligible for the Highest Honor Roll and sixty for the General Honor Roll. This compares very favorably with the mid-semester honor rolls, compiled a year ago, which list ten on the Highest and seventy-one on the General Honor Roll. Pupils eligible for the Highest Honor Roll must be carrying at least four solids, or the equivalent, two non-solids to count as one solid. An E average must be maintained in each subject. There are two sets of standards for the General Honor Roll. A student must carry at least three solids and one non-solid, or the equivalent, and the final semester grades must meet either of the following conditions: No grade below M and as many as three E's in solids, or two E's in solids and two E's in non-solids; or no grade below S and as many as two E's in solids or one E in a solid and two E's in non-solids. The grade received from physical education counts the same as the grade received in a non-solid in placing pupils on the honor rolls, but does not count in keeping pupils off of them. Another honor roll is compiled at the end of the year, and it is to be hoped that Paseo students will maintain, or even better, the high standard of scholarship, which was set at the middle of the year.

Oration Speaker

Hubert Presley, Paseo's representative in the Kansas City Star's Oratorical contest, placed sixth in the district finals. His oration on "Our Constitution" was very well presented. In his oration, Hubert explained how and under what conditions the constitution was drawn up, and showed its advantages. He said, "It provided three ways by which the people were to be fortified against mis-government: first, the terms of offices were made short; second, the three operative branches of the government were to be provided with checks and balances; and third, the individual was guaranteed far-reaching rights not to be violated." In his four-minute extemporaneous speech on "The Constitution and the Doctrine of State Rights." He showed the trend of our government at the present time. Hubert proved a most able representative of Paseo.

National Honor Society

The members of the 1930 Paseo Chapter of the National Honor Society were notified of their election to membership, March 20. The selection of the members is based on scholarship, character, leadership, and service. From the upper fourth of the senior class in scholarship, the faculty elects a tenth of the students who have demonstrated their capability as leaders, who have proved their soundness of character, and who used their ability in serving their school. The induction ceremony of this chapter was held during assembly, April 25. One per cent of the junior class is elected on the same basis as the seniors. The officers are: Felice Stampfle, president; Marie Roediger, vice-president; secretary, Marietta Seay; treasurer, Danae Walters; reporter, Eleanor Pratt; and sergeant-at-arms, Franklin Carr. The senior members are: Frances Barnes,

Student Council

Carrying on the different lines of work started by the Student Council of past years, the Student Council during the first semester conducted the sale of football and basketball tickets and the subscriptions to the Paseo Press. In October the yearly donations to the Junior Red Cross were collected. Since Paseo's first year, the Student Council has sponsored a Christmas tree. This is financed by a collection of a cent from each student. The tree this year was large and beautifully decorated. In order that any student who passes away may be honored, this council initiated a student floral fund. The officers for the first semester were: President, Jack Duncan; vice-president, Danae Walters; secretary, Charlotte Noble; treasurer, Bill Talbott; sergeant-at-arms, Bob Fitzgerald. The Executive Board was composed of the following students: Jack Duncan, Danae Walters, Charlotte Noble, Bill Talbott, Bob Fitzgerald, Frances Barnes, Gilbert Palen, Jane Heffner, John Engberg, Cameron Hurst, Hurshel Mooney, Robert Butter-

The faculty advisor of the Student Council is Miss Thomas. The representatives were: Margaret Swinehart, Maurice Bayer, Cameron Hurst, Florence Kearney, Minford Sherman, Mary Katherine Wiley, William Lutz, John Howard, Robert Fitzgerald, Juanita Holton, Dorothy Ayers, Betty Milot, Ralph Bright, Harriet Swain, Jack Kinzy, Jane Heffner, Danae Walters, Mildred Moody, Beth Blachly, George Hart, Gilbert Palen, Earl Caster, Lyle Naylor, Angelina Spalletto, Wells Burton, Harold Francis, Robert Butterworth, Felice Stampfle, John Engberg, Ethel Grant, Lantz Patzer, Louise Davis, Robert Garnett, Melvin Whitsell, Ann Polsky, George Burrell, Gerald Novorr, Kenneth Elbert, Eva Myers, Hurshel Mooney, Walter Parkins, Betty Brandon, Norma Lispi, Frances Barnes, Laura Edwards, Charlotte Noble, Cecil Collins, Maxine Ellison, James Hazlett, Frances Yates, Richard Lyon, Virginia Mayes, Irwin Stone, Jack Duncan, Lillian Bernstein, Bill Talbott, Eugene Pertle, Virginia Hanna and Park Harnden.

Student Council

Upon the second semester Student Council fell the duty of carrying on several projects which were of exceeding importance to Paseo. Under its supervision, the Paseon subscription campaign easily surpassed the goal which had been set for it, nearly sixteen hundred annuals being sold. The "Paseo the Beautiful" campaign was resumed from last year in an effort to improve the appearance of the school through the cooperation of the student body. Shields were placed in all rooms, and slogans were placed on them twice weekly. Four fine reproductions of paintings were purchased for the halls by this Student Council. The first collection of the Floral Fund was another undertaking of the council. The officers of the Student Council were: President, Van Woodward; vice-president, Donald Ruben; secretary, Helen Martha Motley; treasurer, Bob Adams; sergeant-at-arms, Irving Lachs. Much credit for the work of Student Council is due to Miss Thomas, whose assistance as faculty advisor does much to contribute to their work and accomplishments. The members of the executive board, exclusive of the officers, were: Seniors, Eleanor Duggan and Alvin Wilson; juniors: Maxine Ellison and Leland Harned; sophomores: Virginia Dodson and Fred Polte; freshmen: Jimmy Hazlitt and Merritt Purpus. The members of the second semester Student Council were: Helen Rams, Kenneth Elbert, Alfred Rosenstock, Franklin Carr, Rose Ross, Donald Ruben, John Morsinkhoff, Denton Cook, Dorothy Bagley, Virginia McClure, Meriam Hancock, Glen Defabaugh, Floyd Ming, Martha Karges, Joyce Kivovitch, Bob Barnes, Virginia Dodson, Merritt Purpus, Mary Kelly, Letha McCracken, Roberta Lutz, Fred Polte, Alvin Wilson, Jack Duncan, Fred Ghrist, Helen Motley, Van Woodward, Ed Schifelbein, Eleanor Duggan, Paul Marchant, Kathryn Nigh, Mary Withrow, Maxine Mullis, Virginia Mayes, John Engberg, Leland Harned, Ruth Gibbons, Bert Marvin, June McMullely, Mildred Slaton, Constance Gostings, Irving Lachs, Ruth Van Cleave, Jimmy Hazlitt, Marcus Smith, Leslie Nelson, Juanita Holton, Jean Summers, Virginia Titlow, Danae Walters, Robert Adams, Howard Svobado, David Turner, Merritt Swim, Haney Snyder, Marion Bright, Nellie Warren, Helen Schmidt, Virginia Hunt, Marie Roediger, Dorothy Cooper, Maxine Ellison and Cecil Leis.

Paseon Staff

Despite the usual trials and tribulations of student editors and business managers, the Paseon staff of 1930 feels that it has been a decided pleasure and privilege to edit the fourth annual of Paseo High School. The purpose of an annual is to preserve a true picture of school activities and events, and in this 1930 Paseon we have striven to bring before our readers a cross-section of modern high school life with its varied academic, athletic, and social interests; but it is impossible to present every phase of the hundreds of activities of the two thousand students who throng Paseo halls.

In this volume we have made a careful effort to include all the best features of former student publications, and at every opportunity we have attempted to introduce new ideas. The staff wishes to express their thanks to those students who so ably assisted the editors of the literary and art departments. Much of the success of this Paseon is due to the faculty advisors, who have always been ready to lend a helping hand to the toiling editors. These advisors are: Mr. Cramer, business director; Miss Delle Miller, art director; and Miss Blase, literary director.

Paseo Press Staff

The editing of the Paseo Press is one of the most interesting and valuable phases of school life. The Press staffs are made up of energetic and alert students interested in all lines of school activity, and each staff endeavors to present to Paseo students and patrons, a vivid, concise record of each school week.

Miss Keohane, Mr. Voth, and Miss

Delle Miller, deserve thanks for the cooperation and unlimited help which they have given to the struggling reporters, printers, and artists. Miss Keohane is the newswriting instructor; Mr. Voth supervises the groups of inky, young printers; and Miss Delle Miller is responsible for the superior quality of the art work.

Paseo Press Staff

Last year the Press became a member of the Missouri State Press Association, the National Scholastic Press Association, and the Quill and Scroll, a national society for high school journalists. In May, 1929, the Press was awarded the grand sweepstakes in the state-wide contest, sponsored by the Missouri School of Journalism.

In the third year of its existence the Press has proved a distinct success in the eyes of both the staff and the student body. This year a new plan of distribution has been instituted. Formerly the papers were given out during the sixth hour; now they are distributed during the home room period, and a ten-minute reading period allowed.

Girls' Choral Club

The Girls' Choral Club has been in many programs this year. They sang at Open House and have twice been on the program for the Parent Teachers' Association. The Choral Club, in conjunction with the Glee Club, furnished the Christmas program. The Choral Club sang as the choir. At this time they also caroled in the halls. The girls held an honored place with Westport at the Union Station where they sang Christmas carols. The carolers wore their black robes and made a very impressive picture. The club sang at several churches, and one of their next engagements is at Ivanhoe Temple where they will sing for the Largest Men's Bible Class in the city. At one of the spring assemblies the Choral Club shared honors with the girls of the sewing department, who presented a fashion show. Their two selections, "Andante," by Tschaikowsky and "Fly, Singing Bird, Fly," by Elgar, were favorably received by the students who seemed to enjoy them.

One of the most important events of the year for the Choral Club and Glee Club is the Spring Festival to be given in Convention Hall, May 16. The young singers have been busy for several months preparing for this festival. They will sing six numbers. All the schools will furnish one number in addition to the six they sing together. Paseo's Choral Club will sing "Sanctus," from St. Cecilia's Mass. Every choral club is required to have its girls dressed in white. On April 25, the solo and group contests will be held, and Paseo is cherishing high hopes for its contestants. The following girls will take part: Triple trio, Maxine Stinson, Lotus Mayes, Vera Robinson, Opal Vanskike, Phyllis Clow, Ruth Leffler, Margaret Swineheart, Evelyn Parsons, and Ramona Blunt; octet (to be sung with the boys)—Doris Brooks, Helen Field, Wanda Holt, and Zelpha Ashwill; soloists—Maxine Stinson, soprano; Phyllis Clow, mezzo, and Evelyn Parsons, alto.

Choral Club

The members of first hour Choral Club are: Delores Allen, Ila Ashwill, Nora Belton, Mary Margaret Bowser, Doris Brooks, Josephine Carnegy, Mary E. Cayton, Marjorie Cobleigh, Harriet Drayer, Helen Field, Maxine Gamble, Betty Gunn, Lillian Hansen, Isabel Hayes, Jane Hershey, Julia Hewitt, Lucille Hogan, Wanda Holt, Jeweleve Hornbeck, Virginia Hull, Maybelle Israel, Ida May James, Anabelle McCully, Lotus Mayes, Juanita Merchant, Betty Milot, Dorothy Murdock, Lorene Murray, Ruth Nelson, Ruth Palmer, Coramae Patterson, Esther Raines, Elsie Ruce, Mary Martha Rizk, Vera Robinson, Margaret Ross, Virginia Swift, Margaret Swineheart, Hazel Thornton, Ruth Weidman and Ardath Workman. The officers of the Choral Club are: President, Ruth Leffler; vice-president, Betty Milot; secretary, Helen Field; treasurer, Lotus Mayes; sergeant-at-arms, Adeline Terwilliger, and reporter, Margaret Ross. These girls have proved very capable officers.

The members of the third hour Choral Club are: Zelpha Ashwill, Henrietta Barnes, Ramona Blunt, Betty Clemons, Dorothy Clouse, Phyllis Clow, Rosina Eldridge, Virginia Houghton, Savilla Hamilton, Francis Harris, Marjorie Hull, June Hutchinson, Esther Joseph, Clara Kerr, Helen Kuckinski, Anne LaCulia, Ruth Leffler, Dorothy Lind, Virginia Mayes, Jeannette McCreight, Pauline Odesnick, Evelyn Parsons, Velma Redd, Ethel Rowland, Alice Sandford, Cecile Stoller, Maxine Stinson, Adeline Terwilliger, Opal Vanskike, Mary Jane Watt, Maxine Wells, May Wilk, Nellie Williams, Frances Wilson, Roberta Wilson. The Choral Club has two accompanists, Helen Field and Adeline Terwilliger. They are both outstanding pianists, and their cooperation has contributed to the success of the music department. Miss Zimmerman has proved a most understanding and accomplished director. The girls are planning a social event which will mark the end of a very successful year for the Choral Club.

Band

The Paseo Band, under the direction of Mr. Edmonds, has had a very successful year. The band increased its membership from 60 in 1928-1929 to 116 in 1929-1930. It has not only had a year of marked improvement in membership but also one in quality of music as well. The night concert on March 28 in the auditorium was very successful. Those who played in the band and their instruments were: Trumpets, Paul Marchant, Ralph Kindel, Norman Howell, Lowell Myers, J. W. Bradley, Richard Kneeland, William Lee Owen, Leon Thompson, Cecil Collins, Welford Bagby, Jess Allen, Robert Manning, Jerry Duggan, Francis Jones, Dean Young, Ernest Hawkins, Jack Fullerton, Glen McCann, David Weaver, Louis Hansen, Junior W. Young, George Grant, Elden Davis, Robert Bucklew, Mason Kilmer, Niel Meek, Glen Ralston, Denton Cook, John Sorenson, Arch Lee, Jarles Alberg, Edward Blair, and Robert Cothorn; horns, Harry Green, Herbert Robinson, Jack Main, Edith Noel, and Bernice Robinson; trombones, Paul Arnold, Ernestine Hale, Paul Bergman, Allen Wright, William Martin, Paul Ralston, Levere Land, Woodrow Parrent, Chester Dornees, Kenneth Clond, John Shepherd, Leland Harned, Walter Parkins, Francis Warren, and Earl Holtman; baritones, Vincent Diehl, Fred Nixon, and Gerald Na-voor; basses, Wells Burton, Dale Franse, Allen Anderson, Robert Stackhouse, Floyd Ming, Fred Baker, Oscar Bourn, Robert Harris, Edward Nauman, and Leland Nichol; snare drums, Joe Gleeson, Ellsworth Van Orman, Donald Ruben, James Mueller, George Thompson; bass drum, Warren Paine; cymbals, Glen Rowland; oboe, Claude Lawter; librarians, Edwin and Glen Rowland; clarinets, Ben Lake, Zackie Clouser, Richard Winkler, Macine Grant, Forrest Richardson, Frank Miller, Paul Watson, Sheridan Goldman, Jack Kinzy, Arthur Nichols, Burton Beebe, Gwendolyn Cook, Sara Harris, Maxine Clough, Paul Lynch, Clark Parkins, Major Barnes, Bennie Anderson, Richard Loudon, Willis Heal, and Walter Baird; alto saxophones, Carroll Godbey, Ray Stinson, Richard Jacobs, Roland Sandgren, Clayton Marker, Francis Schauble, and Edward Williams; tenor saxophones, James Evans, Stanley Clark, Howard Robinson, Roland Stinson, O. W. Thomas; soprano saxophones, Forrest Rodabaugh and John Morsinkhoff; flutes-piccolos, Marietta Seay, William Hewitt, Ethel Grant, Orville Remick; drum major, Jack L. Haley. Paul Marchant, Norman Howell, Lowell Myers, Zackie Clouser, Carroll Godbey, Marietta Seay, and Ethel Grant have been in the band for four years.

Orchestra

The orchestra, under Miss Zimmerman's capable direction, has progressed farther along the road to finished musicianship. With a personnel of thirty-four students, it is the largest in enrollment since the orchestra of 1926. This year's members are: Mortimer Alpert, June Austin, Ben Anderson, Paul Bergman, Agnes Bradley, Verabell Brown, Carl Buterbaugh, Cecil Collins, Roy Cramer, Zachie Clouser, Loyal Cross, James Gleeson, Roy Guettler, Ernestine Hale, Harry Hayword, Marguerite Hay, Lewis Hutson, Pearl Keys, Richard Kneeland, Edward Linck, Anne Polsky, Frank Miller, Willis Quant, Forest Richardson, Frank Roberts, Beatrice Sangren, Marietta Seay, Ernest Slabotsky, Laura Soots, Dudley Taylor, Leon Thompson, Marian Vanscoy, Virginia Wilkinson, and Lorna Wolfe.

"The New Poor"

Paseo's aspiring young actors and actresses made their debut in the Christmas Play, written by Cosmo Hamilton. The lead, a Russian Grand Duke with an elegant, black beard which enchants the ladies, was played by Richard Lyon; and one of the leading ladies was charmingly portrayed by Florence Lucille Terry. The second leads were taken by Woodson Longan and Dolores Walter. Earl Van Cleave, Virginia Smith, and Bill Baldwin provided the humorous atmosphere which enlivened the whole play. Ralph Kindel played opposite Dorothy Lyman and both were quite successful in their parts. The remaining characters were well played by Charlotte Noble, Betty Lindgren, and Bill Lutz. "The New Poor" presented numerous amusing characters and situations, which entertained a large audience.

"Contents Unknown"

"Contents Unknown," a mystery drama in three acts was presented as the annual spring play to a large audience on Friday, March 21. The play, under the able direction of Miss Anna McCoy Francis, was filled with laughs and funny situations as well as deep, dark mystery. Woodson Longan, as Keith Winthrop of the United States customs department, and Dolores Walter, as Meredith Marshall, who unwittingly became an accomplice in a burglary were outstanding in the leading roles. Bill Baldwin as the bold, bad villian, Craig Rutherford, and Alfred Woodward as his Chinese servant, Wu Fong, made their parts seem fairly alive with action. Kenneth Gordon, played by Glen Lambert, and Verna Jacobson as Judith Shelby furnished the necessary love interest. The rest of the cast, including Virginia Lee Watson and Irving Lachs as Sally and Sidney Stanton, a young married couple; Cynthia Sayre, portrayed by Dorothy Lyman; Louise Eviston as Claudia Van Buren, a Broadway actress; Jane Heffner as Laura Lee; Ted Gordon, played by Jack Kinzy; Carol King played by Sophia Mc

Williams; Bobette, a dancer, played by Bobbie Lee Carter; McDonald, a detective, played by Homer Thompson, and James Covert as Donald Gordon; all played their parts well. The story concerns Craig Rutherford who forces Meredith Marshall to smuggle some pearls for him, she not knowing that they are stolen pearls. Keith Winthrop is sent by the United States customs department to find the pearls. Meredith, whom Keith is in love with, tells him where she thinks the pearls are but they cannot be found. Rutherford seeing that he is about to be trapped for this and many other important burglaries, decides to leave the country but is stopped and killed and his servant, Wu Fong, who is in reality a Chinese patriot. The pearls are still missing, however, and cannot be found. The mystery is solved when Sally Stanton, a young bride, who has accidently gotten hold of the pearls, returns them to Winthrop. The story ends with all of the characters satisfied and the audience feeling that they have seen a good play.

The Mask and Wig Club

The Mask and Wig Club was in previous years an activity club, but this year when the activity clubs ceased, the Mask and Wig club was changed to a service club; because it was essential that it exist so as to make up the characters in the school plays. Except for this slight change the club has continued its work as in years before, making up the casts for the Christmas, Spring, and Senior plays. They also made up the characters in the Letterman's minstrel. The members of the club were: Angella As-hour, Jesse Epstein, Mildred Evans, Lucille Gentry, Roy Guettler, Lewis Hutson, Margaret Knox, Marie Kubitzki, Ferne La Fevre, Jack Lyons, Edith Myers, Martha Oldham, Marjorie Parcell, Dorothy Pigg, Elizabeth Wilkes, and Ira Witschner. The two presidents of the club were: Jack Lyons and Marjorie Parcell; the secretaries, Marie Kubitzki and Lucille Gentry.

Stage Crew

Though they were seldom visible to the audience, the stage crew has played an important part in the production of all school plays and entertainments. The stage crew is made up of six boys, who have been initiated into all the mysteries of lighting effects, scenery, and stage properties. Clarence Lewis, manager of the crew, operated the switch board and was the over-seer of all the departments; Joe Glover had charge of the booth; Herbert Posnack assisted in stage setting and flies; Christian Rick and Aylmer Davenport had charge of the curtains; Homer Thompson represented the crew in the mechanical department; and Dick Lyon represented the art department. The crew has enjoyed their work, and at the same time has seen that all entertainments ran smoothly. Mr. Cramer, the advisor, has found the boys a most capable crew.

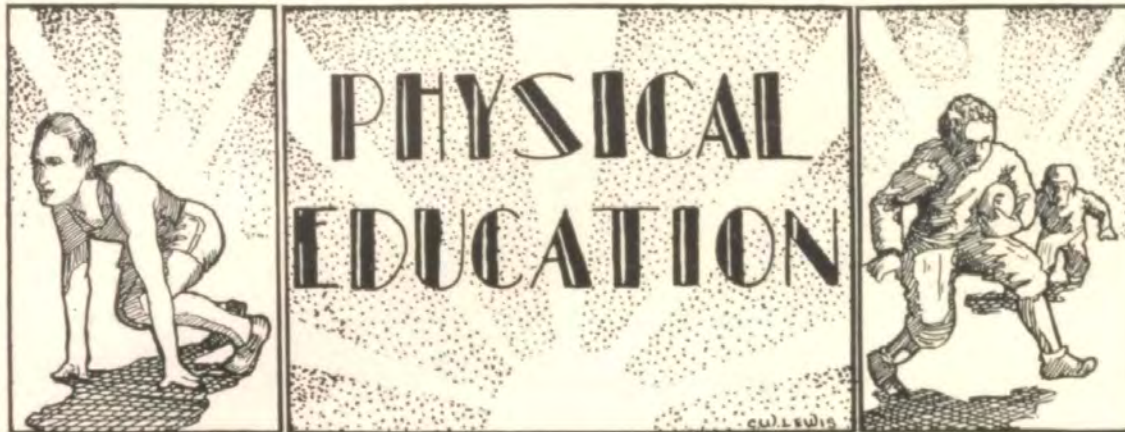

Ushers

At the end of last year each home room, was allowed to nominate ten boys from whom the present cafeteria ushers were chosen. The captain of this year's usher squad was Howard Stock. Arthur Leppert, Marcus Smith, and Franklin Carr served as chairmen of usher squads during each of the three lunch periods. The members of the usher squad were chosen by the teachers and approved by Mr. Stigall and Mr. Shepherd. The purpose of having cafeteria ushers is to accelerate the movement of students in the cafeteria. This has been successfully accomplished by the fifty boys on the squad by courteous and kindly suggestions. The efficiency of the boys was greatly increased by a free lunch every month, given to the entire squad by Mrs. Gibson. These fifty boys have been a great help to the student body and to the cafeteria employees.

It is the belief of the Athletic Department that physical fitness is something everyone can and should enjoy, and it is the policy of this department to make it possible for every boy in Paseo to play on some athletic team; so, not only the few who make the varsity teams, but every boy can reap the benefits gotten from actual participation in a game. In order to make this possible every year before the regular basketball season starts, all boys are invited to try out for the interclass basketball teams; and from those that turn out, the teams are chosen. All basketball lettermen are barred from competition, and they are usually appointed by the coaches to act as coaches of the teams. The teams are divided into two groups, the upper classmen and the freshmen. One group plays basketball one day, and the boys in the other group participate in various events which include, the push-up, the pull-up, the traveling rings, free throws, and various distances on the indoor track. The following day the groups change around; the ones that played basketball go up on the track, and the others play basketball.

Every spring an interclass track meet is held, and this not only enables many boys to receive valuable training and wholesome exercise, but it also develops keen enthusiasm and friendly rivalry among the different classes. Just as in basketball, lettermen are not allowed to compete; and they act as coaches. Later in the spring the boys in all the gym classes are tested in seven standard events, and the record made by each boy is posted in the gym. One of the most progressive and beneficial units of the Physical Education Department is the R. O. T. C. Battalion. This military training, which was established in 1927, has increased in recognition and honor. The purpose of physical education is not making a great name for the coaches, or the athlete, or the school but to help in developing a boy physically; and by making it possible for every person to take part in some clean sport or to take some kind of wholesome exercise, the Athletic Department accomplishes this. The same standards are maintained by the Girls' Athletic Department, which is yearly increasing the others interest in athletics.

The Paseo Battalion of R. O. T. C. has just completed its fourth year, which has proven a very successful year under the training of the two best sergeants that can be found. The work was started by Sergeant Burnett, who was transferred from Manual High School with a splendid record as a military instructor; but by an accident Sergeant Burnett was layed up in the hospital and not able to get back on the job till May. Sergeant Amy, who was teaching at West Junior High School, was transferred to take Sergeant Burnett's place. Sergeant Amy's splendid knowledge of military training caused the drill to go on without a hitch. As the rifle team had trained under both sergeants, they started off by winning third place in the city, and fourth place in the valley matches, Major Sherman won a saber for high man in the city. Before Sergeant Burnett left, he put Paseo up in the Theoretical Test to third place in the city, with Company C winning second place cup for being second high company in the city. This year Paseo's R. O. T. C. was represented in the drill, which was commanded by Major Sherman, at the American Royal Livestock Show. An important event of the year will be the R. O. T. C.

Circus which will be on April 11, at Convention Hall, where all of the schools in Kansas City will be represented by their R. O. T. C. units and girls' gym departments. This year Paseo will do a company drill commanded by Major Sherman, and the girls' gym department will give a dance. There will be two sabers given away to the two who sell the most Circus tickets this year. At this Circus the Sponsor Majors of the Kansas City schools will be presented with their caps and capes. As Sergeant Burnett was in the hospital, there was no annual R. O. T. C. Hop; but there will be a picnic for the cadets to make up for the loss of the hop. This year there were many candidates for Sponsor Major, Miss Ruth Leffler finally being elected to this honorary position. As there was no hop this year, the sponsor officers were presented in an assembly. This year the Heart of America Legion Post will give three medals, gold, silver and bronze, to the first, second and third cadets of the battalion. These medals are presented to the cadets, who achieve prominence in the R. O. T. C. work during the year. The year will be ended by a city-wide field meet.

Sponsor Major

As a result of election of February 13, Ruth Leffler was named Sponsor Major. In the first election, February 12, Frances Tucker and Ruth tied for the honor, and it was necessary for the senior girls to vote again. The election was very close, but Ruth received the greater number of votes. This year the plan of having five sponsor officers was again followed. These officers are: Major, Ruth Leffler; captain, Frances Tucker; captain, Frances Barnes; lieutenant, Vivian Dodson; lieutenant, Bobbie Lee Carter. Ruth was presented officially with her cap and cape at the annual R. O. T. C. Circus, April 11. To quote Mr. Stigall, "All five girls are girls to be proud of."

Major
Minford Sherman

Major

The rank of commanding officer of Paseo's battalion of the R. O. T. C. was given to Minford Sherman, who was promoted from the rank of captain to that of major on February 28. During his three years of R. O. T. C., he has proven himself an outstanding cadet. In his junior year he was a member of the rifle team and an expert rifleman. He also held the rank of sergeant and won second place medal in the contest sponsored by the American Legion. In his senior year, as expert rifleman, he broke the city record and established one of his own. In January he was appointed captain of the rifle team. At the American Royal Livestock Show Sherman commanded the calisthenics drill given by the R. O. T. C.

Sponsor Officers

The system of five sponsor officers, inaugurated last year, was again used this year and has proved most successful. Each cadet is allowed to nominate as many girls as he wishes. A list of the candidates is compiled and sent to the office where it is cut to twenty-five. These twenty-five nominees are introduced to the boys, a list of their honors is read, and the cadets then select five girls who are to be the sponsor officers. The sponsor officers appear before the faculty, and, after due consideration of the five girls, they advance three to the rank of captain. The senior girls have the privilege of casting the final vote to determine which of the three captains shall be sponsor major. The captains are Frances Tucker and Frances Barnes. Vivian Dodson and Bobbie Lee Carter are the lieutenants.

Rifle Team

At the beginning of the fourth year Paseo's rifle team was organized with David Caldwell as captain. The members are: David Caldwell, Minford Sherman, George Kegin, William Maloney, and Ray Slocum. Carroll Stephens served as alternate. After Caldwell graduated, Sherman was elected captain, and William Kerbs was chosen as alternate. The year was begun with a flash of the good old Paseo spirit. The team took third place in the city championship. Captain Sherman broke the city record by winning five hundred and fifty-eight points out of a possible six hundred. In February, a team composed of Sherman, Kegin, Maloney, and Slocum went to Booneville to enter the Missouri Valley Rifle Matches, in which they placed fourth. The team also entered the Corps Area Matches and the National R. O. T. C. Rifle Matches.

Officers Club

The Officers Club of Paseo's R. O. T. C. was organized by Sergeant Burnett (whose place was later taken by Sergeant Amy on account of an accidental injury to Sergeant Burnett) for its fourth year. The first meeting was held January second, and the following officers were elected: President, Minford Sherman; vice-president, George Kegin; secretary, Woodrow Johnson; treasurer, Park Harnden; reporter, Sherman Rosenberg. The sponsors elected for the Officers Club are Sergeant Burnett and Miss Downs. The club is composed of officers and non-commission officers for the purpose of doing work that it would be impossible for the battalion as a whole to do. On January 27, 1930, Captain Harry E. Mitchell made a talk to the Officers Club on "The Efficiency of Officers and Non-commissioned Officers."

Athletics at Paseo during the year of 1929-30 have been a huge success. Although the Pirates were not victorious in every contest in which they participated, it can always be said that they played the game fairly and squarely and were in there battling to the very end. The football team has done remarkably well this year. The Buccaneers placed third in the Interscholastic League and lost only two games during the entire season with a thirty-one to zero victory over De LaSalle. They followed up the good work by trouncing Rockhurst thirteen to zero. Central then put a stop to the victories by defeating the team twenty-five to two, and a week later Westport downed Paseo six to two. The Bucs quickly recovered from their losing spell by drubbing the Manualites forty-four to zero, and then carried off an eighteen to zero victory in the Northeast game. Southwest was the next victim and it went down before the Pirate onslaught, nineteen to six. In the last game East put up a game fight but finally succumbed to the Bucs, seven to six. The Pirates were equally successful in basketball and they finished up the season in a three-way tie for third place in the Interscholastic League.

The Bucs won two out of their six league games and one out of their two outside games. This year all Kansas City high schools went through a separate tournament in addition to the league, to choose the two Kansas City entries in the state tournament. Paseo defeated Manual in the first game and thus qualified for the second round. The Pirate quintet was eliminated in this round, however, by the state champion Blue Eagle team. Paseo played a consolation game in the tournament with Southwest, and was defeated by one point after two overtime periods. The track team has not had a chance to get fully underway but the indoor team easily carried off second place in both indoor meets. Much credit for the success of the teams is due to our coaching staff which includes: Mr. Harley Selvidge, football and basketball coach; Mr. Ray Fisher, a nationally known sprinter, track and second team football coach; and Mr. Jess Cross, the new second team basketball coach. In addition to the three major sports, the two sports, golf and tennis, are steadily increasing in favor and popularity among the boys. Mr. Campbell supervises the golf team, and Mr. Lortz has charge of the tennis team. The athletic department desires to thank the student body for their loyal support.

Our Captains

Paseo has had an exceedingly fine group of captains this year, and better leadership in athletics could not be desired. Howard Stock was captain of football; Billy Duncan, basketball; Marcus Smith, track; Virgil Flanders, golf; and Clark Emmert, tennis. Hoddy Stock is a three-year letterman in football and basketball and a one-year letterman in track. Hoddy played end on the football team his first year but was shifted to quarterback his second year. He ran his team smoothly and intelligently, and he was given a berth on the second all-star team. This year he proved to be all-star material from the very start, and at the end of the season he was made captain and quarterback of the all-star team. In addition to being a two-year veteran in basketball, Billy Duncan is a track letterman. Bill was a great defensive player, and he also had a good eye for the basket, but, above all else, he played entirely for the good of the team.

Red Smith is a three-year veteran on the cinder path and has been a member of the cross country team for two years. Red is a streak in all the short dash events and also is a relay man. His biggest asset is the fact that he puts his whole heart and soul into his work, and the result is an excellent trackman. Virgil Flanders is a one-year veteran in golf and also a second team letterman in basketball. Virg shoots an exceptionally fine brand of golf for a high school player; all his scores are in the high seventies or low eighties. He is only a junior, and great things are expected of him next year in basketball as well as in golf. Clark Emmert piloted the tennis team through a successful season. This little southpaw had a fast deceptive serve and was an excellent back court man. Every one of these boys are true sportsmen of the highest caliber and the student body of Paseo may well be proud of all five of them.

Cheer Leaders

“Everybody up now!—Everybody up. All right, let’s give ‘em a big pirate yell—great big—Let’s go now.” With such fiery enthusiasm as this Paseo’s cheer leaders were ever backing our athletic teams, whether in victory or defeat. With perfect coordination and unity of movement the cheer leaders led the ringing yells and songs, which rang in the ears of our teams and spurred them on to victory when they were battling valiantly for the scarlet, black, and gold. As usual, the cheer leaders were selected by the students, and their services were in demand at all pep gatherings. Jack Duncan was made head cheer leader, and Bill Talbott and Alvin Wilson were the other two. Lloyd Hall was the assistant. Let’s give fifteen great big ones for our cheer leaders and show our appreciation of the never tiring and excellent efforts.

HOWARD STOCK

“Hoddy” was Paseo’s captain and quarter-back. He was a clever field general and was made captain of the Interscholastic all-star team.

JACK BENSON

Jack played halfback and fullback with equal skill. He was a fair ball lugger and his tackling was deadly.

FRANKLIN CARR

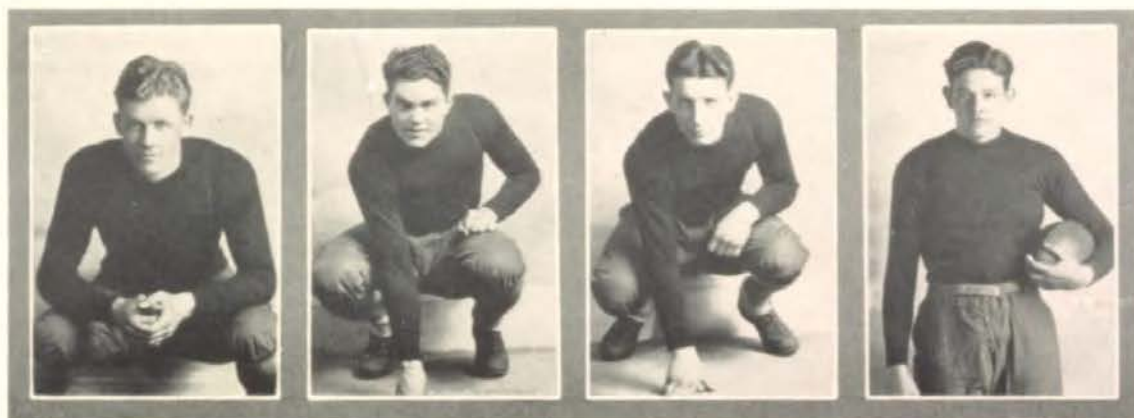

Franklin was a valuable offensive guard. He had the rare ability to out-guess his opponent’s actions.

HOWARD DUVALL

“Hoddy” was a hard low hitting tackler that could always be relied on to take care of his end. Receiving passes was his long suit.

THE NINETEEN HUNDRED THIRTY PASEON

ALFRED EISFELDER

"Bus," our towering fulback, was a good ground gainer. We all remember his spectacular playing in the Northeast game.

FREDERICK HARGIS

"Fred" was a tower of strength in the line, and his position was filled exceedingly well at all times.

ROBERT FITZGERALD

"Firpo" was a fleet-footed halfback, who could certainly tote the pig-skin around either end. He also was a powerful line plunger.

ARTHUR LEPPERT

"Art" was made center on the all-star for two years. Exceptionally strong defensive ability made him watched by all.

WILLIAM GOLDMAN

"Bill" was an exceptionally fast end. In one game he got down under a punt before the ball hit the ground.

CLAIR MARLOW

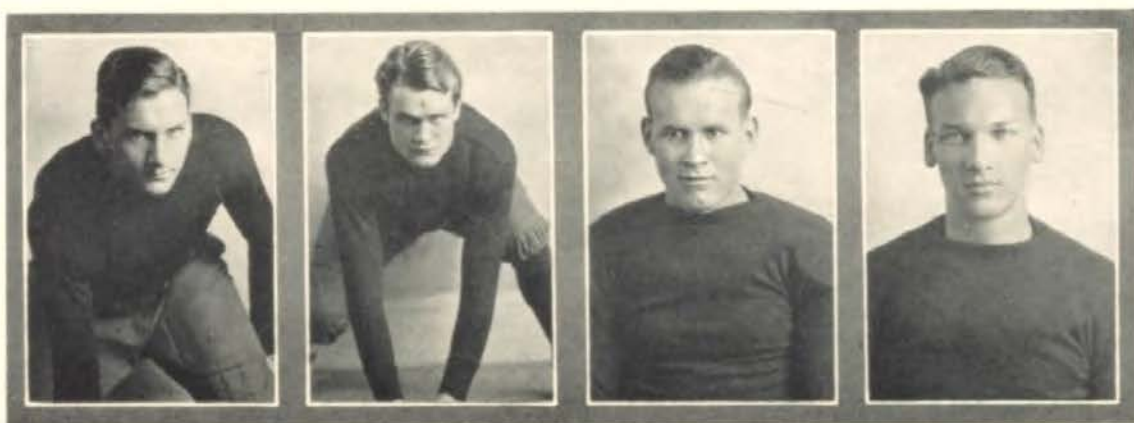

Clair, our stocky little right halfback, was a spiker to perfection; and he never missed a tackle.

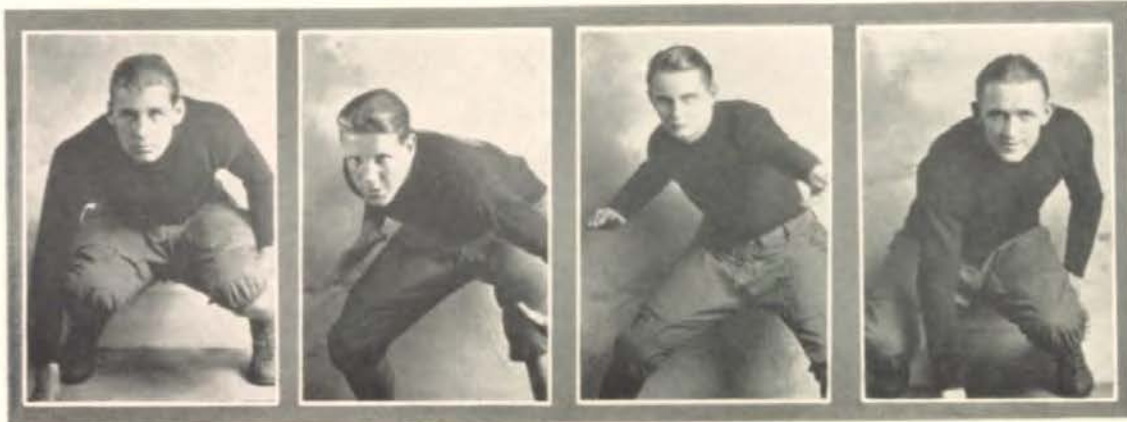

ROBERT HANKS

"Bob" had a habit of stopping opponents behind the line of scrimmage, and flying tackles were his specialty.

DONALD PAINTER

"Don," a guard, excelled in taking out secondary men, but he always opened up a nice hole for his backfield men.

GEORGE RICHMOND

George, an end, allowed very few gains to be made around his wing. He was a tough customer for any tackle.

HOLLIS SAWTELL

"Holly," a two-year veteran in the line, gave a good account of himself, and we're expecting to see his name on the all-star next year.

DONALD SHORT

"Don's" offensive work as well as his fine defensive ability would make him an asset to any team.

GILBERT SKAER

"Gil," our right end, was especially adept on following punts and dropping opponents in their tracks. His end was always taken care of.

Football

Much credit must be given to the second team; for a school without a plucky reserve team, that battles from start to finish, cannot have much of a first team. Through the able coaching of Mr. Fisher, the young Pirates won four out of the seven games they played and so placed themselves in a tie for second place in their league. The team played De LaSalle and Rockhurst as well as all the second teams in the league except East. Lewis Ankerson was the captain. The second team lettermen are: Smith, Christy, Compton, Erfurth, Flury, Stigall, Adams, Dawson, Tweedie, Burris, Engberg, C. Lepert, Drisko, Bachus, Beck, Englehardt, Klass, Van Orman, Wright and Polte. With these members of the second team, Coach Selvidge hopes to build a championship team, which will carry off the city football laurels next year.

Basketball

WILLIAM DUNCAN

"Billy," our fine captain, had a keen eye for the basket and could hit from any position on the floor.

ROY AUDSLEY

Roy had a style of shooting that was hard to stop. Long shots were his specialty.

GLEN DEFABAUGH

Glen was a center whose work was always dependable. His shifty style and great speed made him a real threat.

ALFRED EISFELDER

"Bus" played guard and center with equal skill. He had rare ability in "getting" his man.

FREDERICK GHRIST

Fred was a fast dribbler and an excellent floor-man. His defensive ability was always outstanding.

MAX HEFFNER

Max was a flashy little forward, with a habit of breaking under the goal for setups. He seldom missed a free throw.

DONALD PAINTER

"Don" was a scrappy guard, who helped keep the opponents away from the home goal; and very few got by him.

HOLLIS SAWTELL

"Holly" excelled in taking the ball off of the back board. He nearly always managed to sink a so-called "heaven shot."

GILBERT SKAER

"Gil" was a hard fighting center, whose accurate goal shooting made him a valuable player.

HOWARD STOCK

"Hoddy," a guard, had the ability to go down with his offense and sink a pretty shot.

Basketball

If this year's second team is anything to judge from, prospects for next year's team are exceedingly bright. Led by Captain Bob Adams, this scrappy bunch of young Pirates won six out of the ten games they played. The following boys played on the team: Captain Bob Adams, Owen Compton, Jim Dougherty, Dick Flury, John Engberg, Everett Skaer, Harry Green, Virgil Flanders, Vincent Dasta, Ray McDaniels, Harris Moon, and Bill Goldman. The boys fought hard in every game, and if they lost, they took it like good sportsmen and determined to do better next time. Mr. Cross coached the team, and it was largely through his efforts that the team developed into one of the best second teams in the Interscholastic League. To these fighting Pirates Paseo gives praise for their untiring efforts.

Indoor Track

Paseo Indoor Track artists have taken part in two meets this year at Convention Hall and have finished second to Central in both of them. "Firpo" Fitzgerald, Paseo's track flash, carried off many points for the Bucs by winning the four hundred and forty yard dash. The team missed the services of Fred Ghrist, city champion in the eight hundred and eighty yard race, as he was on the basketball team and was unable to compete. The members of the team are: Lawrence Linck, Donald Ruben, Junior Jennings, Elmer Englehardt, Sumner Brooks, Jimmy Wright, Bob Ebert, Byron Smith, Red Smith, Lambert Englehardt, Firpo Fitzgerald, and Nick Royce. Mr. Ray Fisher, a member of the world champion four hundred and forty yard relay team, coached this successful squad of speedy athletes.

Track

This year the Paseo Cross Country team ran only one race, and that was with Manual between the halves of the Manual-Paseo football game. The Pirate crew walked away with the race by taking every place except second. Fred Ghrist easily took first and Dave Swartz finished a scant yard behind the Manual man for third. Leland Harned, Red Smith, and Sumner Brooks finished fourth, fifth, and sixth, respectively. Paseo's 1929-30 outdoor track team, with Bus Eisfelder for captain, was one of the best ever turned out at Paseo. It was a well balanced team, that was equally as strong in the running events as in the field events. Bus Eisfelder was a sure point winner in the shot-put. His distances averaged well over forty-five feet, and he is expected to break the city record this spring. Fred Ghrist, city champion in the eight hundred and eighty yard dash, was another crack performer. Red Smith, this year's captain, and Roy Englehardt were both streaks in the short dash events. The other members of the team are: Glen Defabaugh, Hoddy Stock, Alvin Wilson, Holly Sawtell, Fred Hargis, Bill Goldman, Ed Donnelly, George Hax, Firpo Fitzgerald, Don Ruben, and George Bartholomeus. Through the diligent efforts of these boys, Paseo placed second in the Interscholastic meet and also was victorious in the majority of the dual meets, even though they were given some stiff competition in all of the events.

Tennis

Tennis has been rapidly increasing in popularity at Paseo during the last few years, and at present the boys chosen to represent Paseo on the court are given honor comparable to those given in the three major sports. Under Mr. Lertz a tournament was arranged, and the finalists comprised Paseo's tennis team. Captain Clark Emmert and Dave Townsend were the representatives in the singles, while Cameron Tinker and Harris Moon made up one doubles team, and Don Painter with Lloyd Hall, the other. To win a letter in tennis, at least one round in the Interscholastic Tournament must be won. Tinker and Moon went to the quarter finals. Painter and Hall were defeated in the first round by the team which later won the championship. In every way we are more than proud of these net men.

Golf

The Paseo golf team, represented by Captain Virgil Flanders, Ex-Captain Harry Sharp, Alvin Reith, and Kenneth Gregg, has been displaying an excellent brand of golf; and it looks as if the team is headed towards an unusually successful season. So far our golfers have played five matches and have maintained Paseo's prestige in four of them. In pre-season games this fall, the Bucs were victorious over Westport and Northeast. A schedule has been made this spring for the Interscholastic teams and our Pirates have played three league matches. They chalked up victories over Central and Northeast, but were unsuccessful when they played Southwest. One of the local newspapers presents a magnificent loving cup to the championship team in each of the five sports, and Paseo has hopes that these boys will bring home a trophy.

Girls' Athletics

The 1929-30 season of the Girls' Athletic Department of Paseo ranks as another big success in the athletic records, although the girls have as yet no adequate gymnasium or swimming pool. The prosperity of the department has resulted largely from the splendid cooperation of the coaches, Miss Julia Smith, Miss Aileen Ennis, Miss Katherine Pipkin, and of the girls of the department. The principal aims of Paseo's Girls' Athletic Department are as follows: To instill in the girls the love of wholesome activity; to develop girls with organic vigor, nervous energy, and strong muscles; to emphasize the participation in all sports; to set high ideals and arouse the ambition to acquire them; to make the girls capable of quick thinking and quick acting; and last but not least, to make girls good sports at all times.

Managers

On Award Day at the end of each year, the coaches select six girls to be managers of the different sports for the coming year. These girls are to assist the coaches as much as possible in practices, in selecting the teams, and in planning the tournaments. These girls are all girls who have been outstanding in the sport which they have been chosen to manage. The managers and their respective sports for 1929-30 are as follows: Mary Holman, soccer; LaVerne Mason, hockey; Mary Titterington, volleyball; Mary Louise Allegri, basketball; Lucille Owens, baseball; Felice Stampfle and Kathleen Bentley, tennis; Catherine Allen, badge test; Harriet Gaylord and Gladys Marlow, hiking. The managers are awarded arm stripes to be worn on their sweater sleeves. This system of managers has proved profitable both to the coaches and the students.

Soccer

The athletic department opened its season with the sport of soccer. This was the first time that soccer was played at Paseo. The game is similar to football and has proved very popular with the girls, in spite of "sore shins." The juniors were champs. The teams were: Freshmen, Letha McCracken, Mary L. Balsly, Mildred Hacker, Viola Gille, Vivian Batz, Katherine Stevenson, Jean Haist, Pearl Hanley, Cogley, Norine McNerny, Lilia Langly; sophomores, Edith Anderson, Ruth Van Cleave, Edith Breeding, Mary Maude Burch, Lucille Owens, Dorothea Eib, Elizabeth Brown, Virginia Watson, Frances Alpert, Helen Mossman, Louise Gardner; juniors: Grace Malone, Juanita Ulrich, Corrinne Harper, Mildred Slaton, Dorothy Bagley, Catherine Purcell, Kathleen Bentley (captain), Bernice Timken, Mary L. Pfister, Myrtle Patterson, and Alma Thorps; seniors: LaVerne Mason, Phyllis Mitchell, Dorothy Calvin, Mary Titterington, Virginia Mueller, Catherine Allen, Mary L. Allegri (captain), Dorothy McCain, Nina Gore, Roberta Sanderlin, and Hazel Johnson. The all-star team was: Kathleen Bentley, Dorothy McCain, Mary M. Burch, Myrtle Patterson, Lucille Owens, Catherine Stevenson, Catherine Purcell, Mary L. Pfister, Catherine Allen, Frances Alpert, and Louise Gardner. The girls showed great interest in soccer. The inter-class scores were:

Seniors	0	Sophomores	0
Juniors	1	Freshmen	0
Juniors	1	Seniors	0

Basketball

Basket ball, the fourth and most popular sport, began as scheduled, March 24. Since this sport is such a favorite and so many girls come out for practice, the selection of the teams proved to be quite a difficult task. Finally the following girls were selected: Freshmen, Katherine Stevenson, Mary Martha Rizk, Verabelle Brown, Florence Perkins, Lethia McCracken, Jean Haist, Barbara Ayres, Mary Gunn, Viola Gille; sophomores: Francis Alpert, Edith Breeding, Elizabeth Brown, Maybell Eisfelder, Peggy Martin, Francis McLearn, Loretta Present, Lucille Owens; juniors: Myrtle Patterson, Grace Malone (co-captain), Mildred Slaton (co-captain), Lois Yeager, Mary L. Pfister, Nora Beasley, Kathleen Bentley, Lorna Davis, and Faye Regan; seniors: Lucille Owens, LaVerne Mason, Dorothy McCain, Mary L. Allegri, Hazel

Johnson, Anna Lemmon, Mary Holman, Gladys Marlow (captain), and Catherine Allen. From these four teams an all-star team is chosen. The tournament promises to be a very close one this year, although the juniors seem to have the stronger team, just as they have been superior in the other sports. The coaches chose second teams as well as first teams in order to round the regulars into tip-top condition. The second teams also have a tournament, in which the rivalry is strong. Their games are played as preliminaries to the first team games. The admission to the games, which are held in the boys' gym, is ten cents. The last few years the girls' games have been attracting more attention than usual, though they are still handicapped by the lack of their own gymnasium. The girls appreciate the support that has been given their teams.

Volley Ball

The third athletic activity was the enjoyable sport, volley ball. Quite the opposite of hockey and soccer, the main object of volley ball is to keep the ball in the air. This game also gives the girls preliminary preparation for basket ball. This year the teams were evenly matched. The juniors were also champs in this sport. The teams were as follows: Freshmen, Lethia McCracken, Barbara Ayres, Florence Perkins, Haroldean Bell, Jean Haist, Mary L. Balsley, Eva Keys, Catherine Stevenson, Virginia Lackey, Pearl Keys, Doris Hoag, Mildred Hocker; sophomores: Frances Alpert, Edith Anderson, Mary M. Burch, Henrietta Barnes, Bernice Latimer, Vivian Botdorf, Peggy Martin, Virginia Watson, Frances McLearn; juniors: Grace Malone, Myrtle Patterson, Nadine Brown, Corinne Harper,

Mary L. Pfister, Lois Yeager, Nora Beasley, Louise Jensen, and Kathleen Bentley; seniors: Virginia Mueller, Mary Holman, Phyllis Mitchell, Mary Titterington, Catherine Allen, Lucille Gentry, Dorothy Calvin, Gladys Marlow, Dorothy McCain, and Helen Messick. The all-star consisted of: Phyllis Mitchell, Dorothy Calvin, Grace Malone, Nora Beasley, Myrtle Patterson, Peggy Martin, Virginia Watson, Mary L. Balsley, and Catherine Stevenson. The inter-class scores, which show the closeness of the games, were:

Juniors	38	Sophomores	36
Seniors	43	Freshmen	35
Sophomores	37	Seniors	36
Juniors	60	Freshmen	26
Juniors	47	Seniors	36
Sophomores	63	Freshmen	39

Hockey

The second schedule on the sport calendar to claim attention was hockey. The hockey tournament was held on the parkway field between Forty-eighth and Fortyninth and Paseo. The weather for the first two games was cold; however, the weather was ideal for the championship game. The freshmen team showed remarkable cooperation; the sport of hockey is not taught in the grade schools and this was their first acquaintance with the sport. The upper classmen have all played the game before. The juniors emerged victors from the conflict. The teams were, freshmen: Letha McCracken, Mary L. Balsley, Vivian Batz, Barbara Ayres, Virginia Hackey, Catherine Stevenson, Jean Haist, Sarah Newcome, Norine Mc Nerney, Eva Keys, Lelia Langley; sophomores: Edith Anderson, Margaret Barnes, Frances Mc Lear, Isabell Owens, Mary M. Burch, Helen Bailey,

The home rooms this year, more than ever before, have been a vital force in controlling school activities. This year they succeeded in raising the banking percentage several points. A new Paseo record was established in the sale of both The Paseo Press and the Paseon. This work was carried on by the Student Council through the home rooms. The home rooms succeeded in selling a large number of football and basketball tickets and supported all of the other school activities. In addition to the routine work of the year, the home rooms also have varied social programs. At certain times during the year, especially the days before Thanksgiving, the Christmas holidays, and Washington's birthday, parties and entertainments are given. Each home room is allowed a picnic in the spring. A musical program might be had by reserving the small piano, which is easily carried from one room to another. Programs usually consisted of readings, singing, and short prepared talks on miscellaneous subjects. Miss Adams' Latin class and Miss Betz's German class added zest to their programs by singing a version of Alma Mater in the languages that they are studying.

A new type of discussion was introduced to the home rooms at the start of the second semester. It was the discussion of "Life Situations and Cultural Topics," compiled by Dr. Germaine of Missouri University. Dr. Germaine got the ideas for his "Cultural Topics" by associating with high school students and learning from them their ideas of what constituted a helpful and interesting topic for discussion. His list of "Life Situations" is based on the problems that concern the present day high school student. Delegates were chosen from each home room, and they met in separate groups, according to their class rank. They then chose the subjects that were to be discussed in their home rooms. The freshmen chose such subjects as "Should Pupils of High School Age Have an Allowance?" and "School Loyalty." The sophomores chose as two of their group "What Is the Best Way to Get the Most Out of High School?" and "Improvements of Study Habits." "How Can I Develop Strong Will Power?" and "Leisure Time" were discussed by the juniors. To the seniors such topics as "How Can I Refuse to Conform to the Practices of My Group and Retain Its Good Will?" and "Personal Appearance," seemed more important.

B1

The first and second term officers were: Presidents, Phyllis Mitchell and Helen Heath; vice-presidents, Marian Bright and Marie Ross; secretaries, Dorothy Shelton and Mary Holman; treasurers, Edith Breeding and Martha Werthe; sergeant-at-arms, Mable Ellis; reporters, Hilda Levitz and Norma Lispi. The Student Council representatives for the first term were: Betty Brandon and Norma Lispi. For the second term they were Marian Bright and Nellie Warren. The alternates for the first term were Helen Bailey and Harriet Bergh. For the second term they were Ruth Norman and Edith Breeding. The members of the Dancing Club were: Mary Allsman, Agnes Bradley, Betty Brandon, Edith Breeding, Marian Bright, Mary Maude Burch, Ruth Burke, Mary Cahill, Dorothy Clauss, Marjorie Cobleigh, Gwendolyn Craig, Mary Crauss, Molly Eisen, Maybelle Eisfelder, Mable Ellis, Jessy Epstein, Frances Field, June Fleshman, Lucy Neal Fletcher, Lily Ford, Georgine Foster, Naoma Gudelsky, Betty Gunn, Helen Heath, Florence Hitch, Mary Holman, Maybelle Israel, Florence Joslin, Nettie Karnes, Anna Keller, Ellen Kelley, Freda Kemptner, Violet Leonard, Norma Lispi, Mavis Manning, Redona Moore, Ruth Morris, Genevieve Munson, Ruth Norman, Isabel Owens, Genevieve Paule, Myrtle Pederson, Marie Prague, Frances Pollman, Bernice Robinson, Gladys Rosenberger, Marie Ross, Martha Rouen, Vivian Royce, Laurisa Shireman, Myrtle Smith, Tina Spalitto, Emma Stuckert, Gladys Vanskike, Marjory Walsh, Nellie Warren, Martha Werthe, Goldie Williams, Kathryn Woods. The purpose of the Dancing Club was to get acquainted and improve the social dancing. The club enjoys the supervision of Miss Smith.

The second term officers of Miss Ennis' home room were: president, Virginia Sanders; vice-president, Martha Kuhn; secretary, Virginia Button; treasurer, Mary Scott; reporter, Billie Morris; bank cashier, Elosia Schroer, Pauline Thompson, and Mary Scott. The members of the class are: Vivian Adler, Catryn Allen, Margaret Atchison, Ruth Barr, Betsy Blucher, Pauline Brenner, Frances Buckleir, Virginia Button, Ruch Christy, Waymoth Clark, Frances Colyer, Earlene Crispin, Vesta Dixon, Loretta Foley, Viola Gille, Helen Gulick, Helen Harris, Julia Hewitt, Norma Hossman, Virginia Hunt, Carolyn Jones, Anna Freda Kiltner, Martha Kuhn, Bessie Langer, Mildred Lasater, Mildred LaScala, Margaret Long, Elizabeth Leach, Freda Levin, Cleo Mathis, Billie Morris, Ruth Miller, Norma Montague, Mary Ellen Mylar, Dorothy Neubauer, Zudora Padgett, Catherine Pfister, Evelyn Renfro, Virginia Rose, Virginia Sanders, Helen Louise Schmidt, Elosia Schroer, Mary Scott, Arleen Seeley, Eleanor Shelton, Velma Shivers, Fern Sims, Inese Smith, Pauline Thompson, Jean Turner, Rosalie Viall, Nora Wist, Nellie Williams, Eula Wiss, and Kathryn Thelen. The most outstanding extracurricular activity of the first semester was "Pranks of the Pirates." This program consisted of a series of stunts, and was one of the most popular of the side shows at the Carnival. The girls who took part in the Carnival stunt were busy this spring practicing for the dance which they gave at the R. O. T. C. Circus, April 11. The girls have found Miss Ennis a most delightful advisor, who was always ready to assist them in planning their various activities. As a whole the girls have enjoyed this home room.

102

Home room 102 is the cub news writing class, taught by Miss Keohane. This class is preparing to edit the Press next year. Laura Withrow was president of the class; Charles Leppert, vice-president; Henry Katz, secretary; Student Council representative, Helen Rams; alternate, Eva Meyers; cashier, Bill Gibson, and assistant cashier, Hedrick Hogan. The members are: Wells Burton, Donald Commons, Robert Ebert, Bill Gibson, Kenneth Gregg, Bert Harper, Gerald Hodges, Hedrick Hogan, Chester Jones, Henry Katz, Elmo Korthank, Charles Leppert, Fred Nixon, Kenneth Scott, Ralph Smith, Paul Watson, Helen Bailey, Margaret Barnes, Harriet Bergh, Dorothy Gleason, Lucibel Hirsch, Marcia Horst, Frances Mickadeit, Betty Meyers, Eva Meyers, Helen Mossman, Dorothy Owings, Helen Rams, Lois Sarazen, Maxine Scotten, Josephine Stillwell and Laura Withrow.

106

Junior German Club

The Junior German Club was organized under Miss Betz in home room 108. The officers of the club were: presidents, Elizabeth Pickell and Harry Lotz; vice-presidents, Newell Simon and Alfred Rosenstock; secretaries, Ruth Spector and Gerna Hill; treasurer, Martin Goldbeck; sergeants-at-arms, Robert Hawkins and Charlie Roxburg; reporters, Alfred Rosenstock and Fred Worm; representatives, Maurice Bover and Alfred Rosenstock; and cashiers, Martin Goldbeck and Juanita Ulrich. The members are: Billie Asjes, Maurice Boyer, Martin Goldbeck, Walter Lamblader, Harry Lotz, Alfred Rosenstock, Charlie Roxburg, Newell Simon, Beverly Stuessi, Hewett Wagner, Fred Worm, Grace Eldridge, Gerna Hill, Irene Moseley, Esther Nadleman, Rose Nadleman, Elizabeth Pickell, Helen Schuler, Ruth Spector, Juanita Ulrich, Caroline Weber, and Evelyn Wolfson.

109

During the first semester, Miss Wade was the advisor of 109, but in the second semester the room was divided into three groups, each with an advisor, to discuss personality traits. This home room is represented on the football, basketball, and track teams, both honor rolls, National Honor Society, and the Paseon and Press staffs. The officers are: president, Max Heffner; vice-president, Gilbert Skaer; secretary, Sumner Brooks; sergeant-at-arms, Alfred Eisfelder; cashier, Darrel Corwin; and assistant cashier, Harold Carmichael. The Student Council representatives first semester were: Franklin Carr, Jack Duncan, and Frank Engle. During the second semester the seniors of 109 had Mr. Marshall for advisor. The Student Council representative was Franklin Carr, and Bill Owen was alternate. The other members were: George Bartholomaeus, Sumner Brooks, Harold Carmichael, Paul Christy, Darrell Corwin, Allen Coughenour, George Eib.

"Accuracy is better than speed" was the motto of home room 110, a bookkeeping class taught by Mr. Terry. The students in home room 110 are juniors and seniors. With but two exceptions they are spending their second year together in the highly specialized and useful subject of Bookkeeping and Accounting. Since the students have been so brought together it has been an easy matter to develop a definite and consistent trend of thought. As is the purpose of the home room period, much time and thought was spent in the way of debates and general discussions of such wholesome and helpful topics as offered in the ninety "Life Situations" which was supplied by the office. Such subjects as "How can I be a true friend?" "Whom does cheating in school injure," were given a large measure of time allotted to home room periods, and each member felt that it was time well spent. The Cultural Topics were also given proper consideration. "Good manners and charm" was especially emphasized. "Personal appearance," perhaps was given second choice. The class owes many thanks to several of the students and especially to Mr. Terry for making their home room period a very enjoyable one.

The officers for the first semester in home room 110 were: president, Holly Sawtell; vice-president, Earl Van Cleave; secretary, Eileen Hodgins; treasurer, Tereas Kite; sergeant-at-arms, Cyrl Cohn; cashier, Jane Hill; reporter, Rose Ross. The second semester officers were: president, Ralph Kindel; vice-president, Melvin Holmes; secretary, Velma Loth; treasurer, Corrine Sorber; sergeant-at-arms, Mr. Terry; reporter, Max Concannon. The members of the class were: George Blevins, William Browning, Cyrl Cohn, Max Concannon, Melvin Holmes, Ralph Kindel, Woodrow Parrent, Kenneth Ramel, Hollis Sawtell, Earl Van Cleave, Marjorie Balthauser, Juanita Bent, Elsie Davis, Luvena Fishback, Mildred Fisher, Vera Fauch, Mary Giner, Jane Hill, Eileen Hodgins, Wanda Holt, Clara Kerr, Teresa Kite, Velma Loth, Vivian Mack, Madeline McHenry, Avenell Musser, Lena Nuccio, Pauline Odesnik, Elsie Peterson, Geneve Phelps, Rose Margaret Ross, Anna Blanche Scherl, Ruby Schofield, Gertrude Shukert, Leona Smith, Corrine Sorber, Virginia Wilkinson, Alta Wilson, Lorraine Workman, and Frances Yates.

Salmagundi Psychology Club

"A mixture of many ingredients—salmagundi." Home room 112, a senior psychology class under Miss Thomas adopted the name "Salmagundi" because it indicated their varied and miscellaneous activities. The club invited Dr. G. Leonard Harrington, a local physician and consulting psychologist, and Dr. Edward T. Gibson, to speak during the second semester. Dr. Harrington spoke on modern psychology. Dr. Gibson also spoke on a subject of interest, and the club found both of these well known men very interesting. Several members of the Salmagundi Club attended the lectures of Dr. David Seabury of New York at the Grand Avenue Temple on February 13-14. Those who attended reported to the class about his very interesting talk on psychology. One of the outstanding achievements of this class was the successful carrying out of the first contract system of study to be used by a Paseo psychology class. Under this system each member of the class turned his attention to one or two particular phases of psychology in which he was especially interested. This type of study is in harmony with the modern educational trend, which allows individual differences and interests to find expression.

The fine programs that the club enjoyed during all of the second semester were prepared by a program committee headed by Margaret Knox. The officers of the club were: President, Gilbert Palen; vice-president, Margaret Knox; secretary, Mary Elizabeth Everly; cashier, Mary Titterington; Student Council representative, Donald Ruben; alternate, Mary Titterington; and reporter, Henry Fox. The members of the club are: William Donnelly, A. J. Duggan, Henry Hudson Fox, Jr., Morris King, Ralph Marcotte, Warren Paine, Gilbert Palen, Cleveland Rex, Frank Roberts, Donald Ruben, Richard Schauble, Howard Stock, Albert Swanson, William Ward, Dorothy Berry, Harriet Brown, Mary Elizabeth Everly, Peggy Gill, Agnes Glenn, Frances Hall, Frances Hunter, Florence Kearney, Mary Faye Kranitz, Margaret Knox, Hilda Levitz, Kathleen Love, Edith Meyer, Marjorie Parcell, Ella Louise Pottkamp, Pauline Sarazen, Nota Mae Smith, Madeline Snyder, Opal Talley, Mary Titterington, Claudine Vogelsang, Audrey Willey and Ruth Willoughby. The students have found psychology a most interesting subject, and Miss Thomas, a most satisfactory advisor.

McCormick, Tom McNerney, William Oder, Minford Sherman, Milton Stomp, Homer Thompson, Francis Uken, Bill Von Demfange, Jimmy Winter and Bob Fitzgerald. An airplane club was organized in this room several weeks after school started.

The members of home room 206, under Miss Sutherland, had as their motto "Observe the postage stamp! Its usefulness depends upon its ability to stick to one thing." The members are: Jack Ball, Burton Beebe, Walter Closson, Cecil Collins, Max Cooper, John Dewey, Elmer Engelhardt, James Keltner, Frank Loeblich, Thomas Moellenbrock, Edward Ro——, Porter Randall, Clifford Remm, Raymond Rogers, Ellsworth Van Orman, Frances Alpert, Dona Brandt, Marie Egbert, Mildred Holmes, Helen Hefter, Martha Karges, Eileen King, Frances Martin, Bess Miller, Susan Morgan, Dorothy Pigg, Glendora Peters, Laurette Present, Evelyn Reinkensmeier, Velma Richard, Ethel Rowland, Clyda Wilson, Elizabeth Wilson. The officers were: President, Leonard Gray; vice-president, Cecil Collins; secretary, Elmer Englehardt; sergeant-at-arms Thomas Mollenbrock.

Printers' Club

The Printers' Club, organized for the purpose of creating an interest in printing and of learning more about the subject, is composed entirely of boys, who revel in the lack of any feminine presence. The boys have spent the extra periods on assembly days in setting up type, for the student's grade is determined by the number of lines of type he sets. The club's motto, "accuracy before speed," has been Mr. Voth's standard for many years, and it is an excellent slogan for obtaining a good grade and learning the fundamentals of printing. Extra time spent in learning the case proved profitable, both in increasing the printer's speed and in aiding in insuring accurate printing. During the course of the year, the second year students have instructed the beginners in running the cylinder press, which prints cards, tickets, and circulars, for the benefit of the school. The club sponsored a basketball team which played the team of a printing class of another year. The young printers have all enjoyed working under Mr. Voth's supervision and appreciate his efforts to instruct them. Boys who intend to become printers have found this course particularly valuable.

The officers of the Printers' Club for the first term were: president, Homer Collins; vice-president, Sherman Rosenberg; secretary, Donald Buchanan; sergeant-at-arms, Claude Lawter; Student Council representative, Irwin Stone; cashier, Edwin Newport; and reporter, Sherman Rosenberg. The officers elected during the second term are: president, William Watts; vice-president, Sherman Rosenberg; secretary, James Wilson; sergeant-at-arms, Elston Swanson; Student Council representative, Floyd Ming; cashier, Floyd Ming; and reporter, Sherman Rosenberg. The members of the Printers' Club are: Morton Baker, Robert Bradley, Homer Collins, Vincent Dasta, Varden Dislerod, Glenn Freeman, Billy Garton, Joe Glover, Liesure Hagberg, Harold Harris, William Kubitzki, Claude Lawter, Hillyard Ledeen, Floyd Ming, Edwin Newport, Herbert Posnack, Eugene Pyke, Alva Redd, Sherman Rosenberg, Gus Seested, Ford Simpson, Abraham Singer, Forrest Stone, Irwin Stone, Ellston Swanson, Morris Talman, Wayne Thompson, William Watts, James Wilson, Raymond Yount, and Russell Nelson.

French Club

The motto of Mr. Constant's French Club in 208 is "La Fin couronne l'oeuvre." The end crowns work. The members feel that through their participation in all school events they have made a fitting crown for the year's end and for the coming members to work and strive for. This year the programs of the French Club have consisted of speeches, debates, and other numbers given by the members. At Christmas time, the club gave a party, and at Thanksgiving all the members contributed food to be given to a poor family. The club entertained the students of the fourth hour study hall with a one-act play, involving the troubles and trials of a girl burdened with a deaf father, who refused all offers for his daughter's hand. The crowning event of the year will be a huge picnic in which all the members and Mr. Constant, the advisor, will participate. As a whole, the French Club of this year feels that it has been successful in upholding the standards set by the clubs of previous years. As in former years, Monsieur Constant is responsible for many of the club's enjoyable hours, and the club takes this opportunity to thank him for his efforts.

The first term officers were: president, Joyce Kivovitch; vice-president, Ella Mae Player; secretary, Phyllis Clow; treasurer, Betty Opel; sergeant-at-arms, Robert Purdue; and reporter, William Lutz. The students who served as officers during the second semester are: president, Betty Opel; vice-president, Dorothy Gundlach; secretary and treasurer, Ella Mae Player; reporter, Maxine Duncan; and sergeant-at-arms, Mr. Constant. The members of the French Club are: Helen Bergh, John Blair, Elizabeth Browne, Phyllis Clow, Minniebelle Coburn, John Dennis, Maxine Duncan, Lucille Gibian, Dorothy Gundlach, Ernestine Hale, Margaret Hamilton, Doris Hedges, Mary Lee Jones, Anabel Jones, Joyce Kivovitch, Harriett Levene, James Lewis, William Lutz, Lotus Mayes, Margaret Nason, Lee Nichols, Betty Opel, Robert Purdue, Bella Mae Player, Virginia Richart, Ida May Selders, Maxine Stinson, and Jefferson Wilkerson. These students, who make up the French Club, are studying first year French, and are looking forward to next year when they will continue their interesting study of this language.

Home room 210, which is taught by Mrs. Lawrence, had as its motto: "Work and Win." The class spent much of its time in the study of parliamentary law and character development. The members of the class enjoyed learning some of the more complex parliamentary rules. During the second semester, the class made a specialty of the study of "Life Situations and Culture Topics." A special committee was appointed to handle each individual question. This committee discussed this question thoroughly and led in the class discussion of it. The question was then open for discussion by the class. This was found to be a very successful way of getting the most out of the discussions. Social parties were given by this room on Thanksgiving and Christmas. The room was suitably decorated, and various contests and games were held. On Washington's, Lincoln's, St. Patrick's, and Thomas Jefferson's birthdays, special programs suitable for the day were given. At these programs, prepared talks were given about the man whose birthday was celebrated. These programs also contained musical numbers and readings by members of the class. On the days before school was dismissed for the Christmas holidays, the home room was entertained by Christmas songs sung by various members of the class, and by appropriate talks and readings on the subject of Christmas. The officers for the first semester in home room 210 were: president, Bob Barnes; vice-president, Clara June Bridges; secretary, Beverley June Squires; treasurer, Mary Jane Pottcamp; sergeant-at-arms, John Phillips. The second semester officers were: president, Earl Caster; vice-president, Edwin Baum; secretary, Cora Jean Clark; treasurer, Florence Perkins; sergeant-at-arms, Braden Strahm. Those enrolled in the home room are: Bob Barnes, Edwin Baum, Earl Caster, Alvin Gladstone, Lee Iles, Robert Oliver, John Phillippe, Paul Ralston, Arlyn Schaffer, Melvin Shirley, Braden Strahm, Leona Andrews, Thelma Arelier, Nadine Baker, Cora Jean Clark, Cleo Daugherty, Maxine Golbraith, Mivila Krieg, Fredericka Kesler, Norma Keck, Sara Lint, Lelia Langley, Mildred Ellis, Vivian Munson, Mary Jane Pottcamp, Florence Perkins, Marie Rinehart, Helen Ridgell, Vivadel Roberts, Anna Scott, Beatrice Sandgren, Blanche Smith, Bessie Smith, and Beverley June Squires.

Home room 226, an algebra class taught by Miss Minckemeyer, spent its valuable home room time doing a little bit of everything and a whole lot of nothing. Varied types of programs were given during the year at various times. The feature act of the year was the trial of Bernice Latimer, who was brought to trial for wearing to class a Central High School athletic sweater. Bernice, as the defendant, chose for her defense attorney the fluent and magnanimous Bill Goldman. The prosecuting attorney was bold, bad, Sheridan Goldman. The judge was that quiet and forceful gentleman, Fred Lord. After much deliberation and haggling on the part of the attorneys, Bernice was found guilty of the crime as charged and was properly punished. This class spent much of each home room period during the second semester in discussing the Cultural Topics and Life Situations. They discussed such questions as "How Can I Get the Most Out of High School?" and "How Can I Be a True Friend?" very thoroughly, and each pupil in the class was allowed to give his own opinions and views on all of these subjects. Miss Minckemeyer inaugurated a new system by choosing a class ballot of her own. This ballot includes only three names—Fred Lord, class pest; Jerry Duggan, class wit, and Bill Goldman, champion whistler. The officers for the first semester were: President, Orville Washburn; secretary-treasurer, Ethel Grant; reporter, John Gadwood; parliamentarian, Jack Lyons; cashiers, Jerry Duggan and Forest Rodabaugh. The officers for the second semester are: President, Alvin Wilson; secretary-treasurer, Miss Minckemeyer; reporter, John Gadwood, and cashier, Fred Lord. Alvin Wilson was the Student Council representative. The members of the class are: Robert Alger, Anthony Basile, Robert Bates, Paul Bergman, Edward Collins, Redell Dawson, William Dolan, Jerry Duggan, Lewis Fowler, John Gadwood, Bill Goldman, Sheridan Goldman, Harold Grossman, John Hamarstrom, Walter Jahnke, Aylette Lee, Fred Lord, Paul Lynch, Jack Lyons, Ralph Meyer, Gustav Olson, Walter Parkins, Forest Rodabaugh, Lawrence Sliner, Dwight Stevenson, Bruce Stultz, Alvin Wilson, Orville Washburn, Irma Jean Arend, Marseilyn Flynn, Ethel Grant, Maxine Howe, Bernice Latimer, Leola Legg, Evelyn Le Roux and Virginia Mueller.

216

To help the progress of science is the purpose of home room 216. The young scientists are: Jarles Alberg, Eldon Carter, Alvin Gould, David Grimley, Barnabas Hayes, John Howard, David Martin, Kenneth Mathis, Denzil Miller, Harry Noble, James Oldfield, Roddy Osborn, Julius Pachter, Wayne Perry, William Player, T. J. Settle, Lawrence Swem, Hartley Seenson, Arthur Thieman, John Watling, William Zeller, Edithe Butler, Marie Connor, Lorraine Crosswhite, Jane Dasta, Martha Fizzell, Kathleen Hoag, Mary Kelley, Sylvia Lachs, Bernice Larson, Helen Lumary, Helen McMahon, Lucille Melton, Virginia Pfeiffer, Thelma Phillips, Virginia Rodabaugh, Dorothy Stark, Dorothy Steward, Esther Strickland, and Mary Wyatt. Mr. Cramer was the home room advisor during the first semester and Miss Jackson, during the second.

Sem-Parat Club

The students who held offices in Miss Redmond's Sem-Parat Club in 218 are: Letha McCracken, Reed Gentry, Rosamond Fowler, Ryburn Hackler, Robert Greeley, Virginia Lackey, Ormond Rose, Gerald Novorr, Patricia McIlrath, Louis Hansen, Winifred Finley, Forest Richardson, Barbara Ayres, and Jess Allen. The other members are: Allen Lilla, Billy White, Clark McCarthy, George Sandford, Julius Roth, Leland Nicoll, Major Barnes, Robert Johnson, Wayne Mishler, Alberta Moore, Alice Rosenberg, Chesley James, Helen Hamilton, Helen Hensley, Mary McNamara, Sarah Harris, Sarah Newcomb, and Sylvia Wheeler. The name of the club is taken from the Latin phrase "semper parat" (always prepared), which is the home room motto. The "Band," made up of musically inclined students, has provided interesting programs.

Alpha

The name "Alpha," which was chosen by Miss Pipkin's home room 220, means "the beginning," and seems very appropriate for freshmen. The officers are: president, Inez James; vice-president, John Antonello; secretary, Junior Mosely; treasurer, Helen Garnett; sergeant-at-arms, John Canino; parliamentarian, Dorothy Wilson; and reporter, Jack Gunn. The other members are: Dixie Andrade, June Austin, Pauline Basile, Betty Bates, Jane Beasley, Virginia Clow, Harriet DeBusman, Alice Eaton, Wilma Gosney, Maxine Hattersley, Virginia Hawkinson, Earleen Israel, Florence Judd, Roberta Lutz, Ida Richman, Amy Rozelle, Virginia Ryneal, Claribel Smith, Elizabeth Smith, Vivian Tunstall, Rose Vaughn, Vera Walters, Thelma Wutke, Paul Hieronymus, Sol Nadlman, Morris Richards, Robert Ross, Carl Sharratt, Aubert Slocomb, Hugh Talbot, and Owen Withrow.

228

Miss Eckles' home room in 228 is composed of seniors and juniors, who have tried to promote interest in school activities as well as in their school work. During the course of the year the students have carried on many and varied discussions, and the discussions on Life Situations and Cultural Topics have proved particularly beneficial to the class. Home room 228 carried off the spoils in the contests for the sale of football and basketball tickets, and ranked high in the Paseon and Paseo Press sales. It has also been a hundred per cent in banking. The party given at Christmas time was a great success, and an enjoyable time was had by all. One of the special home room activities was a checker tournament, which was won by Frank Ramel after several weeks of closely contested play. Miss Eckles is the advisor of this home room. She has always been eager to help any of the students and to take part in the class activities. Her presence has contributed much to the success of the meetings, and her efforts are appreciated by the members of the home room.

The officers of home room 228 for the first semester were: president, Howard Stock; vice-president, Frances Tucker; secretary, Lew Wenzell; reporter, Charles Schmidt; cashier, Don Painter; and Student Council representative, Robert Fitzgerald. The officers elected during the second semester are: president, Lew Wenzel; vice-president, Don Painter; secretary, Charles Schmidt; reporter, Frances Tucker; Student Council representative, Jack Duncan; and cashier, Mildred Holloway. The students of home room 228 are: David Alexander, Paul Arnold, Roger Bird, Edwin Barnes, Jack Duncan, Clark Emmert, Bert Harper, Edward Hart, Arthur Léppert, Abraham Lesser, Edward Linck, Ralph Lipsitz, Leonard Mansfield, George Moats, Don Painter, Frank Ramel, Roland Sandgren, Charles Schmidt, Raymond Skates, Roy Walker, Edgar Welty, Lew Wenzel, Lorene Blentlinger, Vida Mae Brindly, Opal Clark, Edna Cook, Lucille Gentry, Dolores Green, Mildred Holloway, Howard Stock, LaVerne Mason, Frances Tucker, Frances Morse, Katherine Nichols, and Vera Robinson.

"To do common things uncommonly well" has been the motto and aim of home room 232, which is made up entirely of girls who are studying second year shorthand under Mrs. Martha E. Neher. In addition to their regular class activities, these young stenographers have had the responsibility of auditing all the bank deposits for the entire school during the past year. Home room 232 is proud to announce that from their number have come Paseo's sponsor major, the secretary of the Student Council, the stenographers for the Paseon and the Paseo Press, the secretaries for the French, English, and psychology departments, and the clerks for the office. It is evident from this list of honors that they have learned "to do common things uncommonly well," and, at the same time, have been successful in more "uncommon" fields of activity. The girls have displayed unusual loyalty and have given their hearty support in all school drives and campaigns. In the contest for the sale of the Paseon, they were the first home room to be one hundred percent. As a reward of merit their picture was published in the Paseo Press. Mrs. Neher's help and co-operation have been sincerely appreciated.

The home room officers for the first semester were: president, Helen Martha Motley; vice-president, Audrey Trenery; secretary, Marjie Rardin; treasurer, Anna Rose Weiss; Student Council representative, Louise Davis; Student Council alternate, Eleanor Pratt; reporter, Anastasia Frisby; cashier, Anna Rose Weiss; and assistant cashier, Dorothy Craig. The officers for the second semester are: president, Dorothy Craig; vice-president, Audrey Trenery; secretary, Rosamond Jenkins; treasurer, Josephine Carnagey; Student Council representative, Helen Martha Motley; Student Council alternate, Eleanor Pratt; reporter, Anastasia Frisby; cashier, Luerle Gosney; Student Council alternate, Eleanor Pratt; Student Council representative, Helen Martha Motley, Virginia Cahill, Josephine Carnagey, Amy Cobleigh, Cecelia Corrigan, Dorothy Craig, Louise Davis, Anastasia Frisby, Mary Garland, Luerle Gosney, Marguerite Heuler, Rosamond Jenkins, Julia Klement, Nona Leen, Ruth Leffler, Helen Motley, Eleanor Pratt, Marjie Rardin, Mildred Rehagen, Margaret Ross, Margaret Sampson, Roberta Sanderlin, Ruth Schwartzberg, Virginia Sherlock, Audrey Trenery, and Anna Rose Weiss.

"Discover the key and Land on it" is the motto of home room 230, a typewriting class taught by Miss Faulkner. This home room had a varied program during the year consisting of music, readings, discussions on Cultural and Life topics, and speed contests in typing. In this first year typing class, each pupil is required to average thirty words per minute for ten minutes on new material. Many get to the point where they can average forty or fifty words a minute. The officers for the first semester were: President, Almeda Austin; vice-president, Leo Mnookin; secretary, Pauline Schmidt; Student Council representative, Betty Milot; alternate, Harry Bornstein; cashier, Mary Titterington. The officers for the second term are: President, Hoddy Duvall; vice-president, Evelyn Burke; secretary, Betty Milot; representative, Fred Ghrist, and cashiers, Maurine Meadows and Almeda Austin. The members are: Almeda Austin, Mercedes Ackerman, Evelyn Burke, Alice Cheatham, Lucille Cochrun, Mildred Dolan, Helen Fawver, Chloe Foster, Ruth Fuqua, Ruth Gudelsky, Frances Harris, Nellie Hockensmith, Muriel Hume, Louise Jensen, Juanita Joh, Dorothy Lind, Katherine Low, Mary Lee Lucas, Dorothea McCain, Alene Magee, Maurine Meadows, Ruth Mendelsohn, Betty Milot, Mildred Moody, Marjorie Moore, Louise Myer, Emiliene Packer, Mary Pfister, Rosemary Raymond, Pauline Schmidt, Alta Schryer, Lulu Schultz, Mary Thomas, Alma Thorp, Mona Ward, Margaret Weinstein, Lorraine Welsch, Vivian Worden, Darrell Ashpole, Harold Barrett, Harry Bornstein, Donald Brookshier, Frederick Coc, Hoddy Duvall, Fred Ghrist, Henry Henkle, Raymond Johnson, Jack McMahan, Leo Mnookin, and Alvin Robinson.

The members of Mr. Fisher's home room are: Alfred Blumberg, Alvin Brandt, Ralph Bright, Harold Brown, Howard Bryan, Billy Burch, Leonard Capps, Stanley Clark, Elmer Crenshaw, James Evans, Enos French, Carl George, Robert Gareld, Herbert Harris, George Halton, Willis Heal, Harry Heuler, Charles Hirsch, Earl Holtman, Frank Kiefer, Chester Kelley, Edgar Barnett, Sam Levitch, Woodrow Means, Neal Meik, Kenneth Moots, Moran Mooris, William Mooris, Eldon Nesbit, Garland O'Conner, Richard Offutt, Jerry O'Hara, Clark Parkins, Harold Scott, Benjamin Selders, James Sexton, Donald Simpson, Orma Skates, Ward Slusher, Don Smith, William Smith, John Sorenson, Robert Stampfle, Skelly Storck, Merritt Swim, Hanev Swyden, Victor Swyden, Leonard Thomas, John Thomason, James Tulley, Robert Turner, James Weaver, Ellis Williams, Lewis White, Jack Winter, Robert Zwilling and Ben Boyer.

As in Mr. Selvidge's group, no officers were elected in Mr. Fisher's section of home room 246. The Student Council representatives took charge of all Paseon, Paseo Press, basketball, football, and play ticket sales. The Student Council representatives for the first semester were Merritt Swim and Ralph Bright. The representatives for the second semester are Merritt Swim and Hanev Swyden. Their alternates are Robert Stampfle and Clark Parkins. The boys in this group also participate in an all-gym basketball tournament. This home room did not spend much of its time on regular home room discussions but instead used the added time to continue their pursuit of athletic perfection. Mr. Fisher, the home room advisor, was coach of the Paseo track team; and because of this, he was not able to take charge of the class on various occasions.

Timm, David Turner, William Vinberg, Evan Walden, Gene Wolverton, Allen Wright, Robert Young, Earl Atkinson, Lewis Ankersen, Herbert Flanigan and Harry Benjamin. Mr. Selvidge's home room did not elect officers, but whenever there was business to be brought up, the Student Council representatives took charge. The Student Council representatives for the first semester were Hurshel Mooney and Howard Svoboda. The representatives for the second semester were David Turner and Howard Svoboda. Their alternates were William Brenizer and Ted Parsons. The boys in the gym class did not spend much time on home room projects but, instead, continued their athletic pursuits. Basketball teams were chosen at the start of the year, and a basketball tournament was held. The boys have enjoyed working under Mr. Selvidge, who has proved a very satisfactory advisor.

Paseo Pen Pushers

The students of Miss Riley's home room, who are striving to master their mother tongue, call themselves "Paseo Pen Pushers." The P. P. P's are: Sumner Barrow, John Bowser, Claude Chumlea, Joseph Duer, Grant Henning, Bobby Manning, Harry Myers, Fred Polte, William Schaffer, Harold Shipley, Leonard Sosland, Lloyd Tinsley, Joe Waller, Edwin Weast, Louis Wolfson, Ethel Boren, June Boyce, Helen Brown, Dorothy Comer, Iola Crawford, Helen Crowe, Theda Dennison, Harriet Drayer, Mary Jayne Fouts, Martha Goodrich, Frances Hoshaw, Maxine Husic, Rachel Knox, Mary Allen Leinbach, Ruth Palmer, Dorothy Rumbeck, Katherine Schram, Laura Soots, Velma Tanner, Frances Wilkes, and Margaret Yates. The first term president was Mary Jayne Fouts; the second term president, Leonard Sosland. The Student Council representatives of home room 224 were Eva Myers and Fred Polte.

Architects Club

The officers of the Architects Club which was sponsored by Mr. Lortz in home room 302 were: president, Bill Duncan; vice-president, Clair Marlow, secretary-treasurer, Van Woodward; sergeant-at-arms, Paul Williams; bankers, Bill Gibson and Junior Jennings. 312

The seniors in 312 have conducted programs connected with personality development and literary study. Occasionally there have been extra features, such as a talk by Miss Woodward on her Alaskan trip. The members are: Roy Audsley, Maurice Beitchman, Eugene Black, Pearson Crow, Dale Hay, Woodrow Johnson, George Kegin, William Maloney, Paul Marchant, Alexander Meek, John Moffitt, William Nye, Nicholas Royce, Winfield Packer, Bill Talbott, Carl Thomas, Zelpha Ashwill, Clara Blitz, Ramona Blunt, Pearl Broyles, Dorothy Daugherty, Virginia Davis, Bobbie Jean Ehbauer, Charlotte Fitzgerald, Mary Elizabeth Ford, Nina Gore, Elsie Gregg, Esther Joseph, Ruth Kempe, Margaret Reardon, Alice Sandford, Katheryn Shepherd, Rosalind Stern, Ruth Wallace, Ethel Weide, and Marion Worm. Miss Weeks is the home room advisor.

Swastika Club

The Swastika Club was organized in home room 310 under Miss Delle Miller. After some discussion "Swastika," the name of an Indian good luck symbol, was adopted as the name of the group. The purpose of the group is to develop an appreciation of art in all forms. One of the most enjoyable meetings of the year was that at which Miss Woodward spoke on Alaskan Art and her trip through the North. Miss Woodward's talk was especially interesting as she showed the club her collection of souvenirs, which included a totem pole and several small bone carvings. In the carnival the Swastika Club managed the Silhouette Studio. The club derived much amusement from one of the programs planned by Dick Lyon and his committee. A large sheet of paper was tacked on the bulletin board and three different people drew the head, the body and the legs without knowing whether they were drawing man, fish or animal. When the complete sketch was revealed, the absurd combinations set the class to gales of laughter.

The officers for the first semester were: President, Fred Hargis; vice-president, Iris Egan; secretary, Katherine Ruppert; sergeant-at-arms, Warren Sanderson; representative, Felice Stampfle; and alternate, James Burnley. The second semester officers are: President Bill Baldwin; vice-president, Dick Lyon; secretary, Felice Stampfle; sergeant-at-arms, Ed Ralls; representative, Eleanor Duggan; and alternate, Christian Rick. The members are: Sol Bachos, Jack Bright, James Bryan, James Burnley, Loyal Cross, Roy Guettler, Clarence Lewis, Richard Lyon, Edward Ralls, Christian Rick, Warren Sanderson, Byron Smith, Eugene Smith, Joe Waller, Scott Weaver, Richard Winter, Bill Baldwin, Lawrence Cummings, Ava Beguhn, Dorothy Calvin, Wilma Covey, Lois Cra-baugh, Helen Crowl, Helen Donnel, Eleanor Duggan, Iris Egan, Neta Ellefson, Mildred Fawver, Hazel Johnson, Catherine Opie, Harriet Rams, Katherine Ruppert and Felice Stampfle. During the year the club has had three advisors, Miss Delle Miller, Mrs. Colip and Mrs. Binger.

The members of Miss Warren's home room 314 are: Roberta Anderson, Julia Beebee, Lillian Bernstein, Clara Betts, Dorothy Brown, Stella Brown, Clementine Browning, Laura Butterworth, Julianna Campbell, Alice Day, Norma Dixie, Oma Edens, Ethel Greaves, Rose Leah Grant, Pearl Hanley, Juanita Hatfield, Lillian Helverson, June Herd, Vivian Jones, Edith Nernes, Pearl Keys, Helen Kuckenski, Ruth Levy, Martha Mason, Virginia Lee McCollum, Kathryn High, Wilma Rapiet, Else Reece, Lorrene Skaer, Helen Stein, Catherine Stevenson, Cecile Stoller, Lois Tidd, and Maxine Wells. The second term officers are: president, Alice Day; vice-president, Catherine Stevens; secretary, Laura Butterworth; treasurer, Vivian Jones; Student Council representative, Kathryn Nigh; and reporter, Ruth Levy.

Ray Englehardt and Roger Geary were the first and second term presidents. The club's advisor is Miss Mabelle Miller.

The Nonchalant

The members of Mr. Franklin's home room in 326, who call themselves the "Nonchalant," are: George Anderson, Harry Benjamin, Virgil Flanders, Leland Harned, Frank Hashaw, Julius Levey, Woodson Longan, John McNerney, Dellivan Morgan, Lawrence Woodruff, Ila Ashwill, Mary Casitedine, Lucille Cressy, Lauretta Edmonds, Jane Heffner, Barbara Meyer, Ruth Nelson, Myrtle Patterson, Helen Roediger, Hortense Smith, Hazel Sunderlin, Frances Wilson, and Lorene Witte. The first term officers were: president, Robert Staver; vice-president, Jane Heffner, secretary, Mary Holman; sergeant-at-arms, Fred Ghrist; reporter, Myrtle Patterson; and Student Council representative, Jane Heffner. The second term officers are: president, Leland Harned; vice-president, Lorene Witte; secretary, Jane Heffner; sergeant-at-arms, Woodson Longan; reporter, Myrtle Patterson.

328

Home room 328 had three groups of officers during the year. Those officers were: presidents, Ruth Gibbons, Katherine Balestrere, and Lucille Moore; vice-presidents, Lucille Moore, Virginia Hanna, and Edith Anderson; secretaries, Erma Herrin and Mary Long; treasurers, Kathleen Love and Iva Hinton; sergeants-at-arms, Fae Webb, Mary Young, and Vivian Botz; reporters, Melba Jacobson, Minnie Snyder, and Katherine Balestrere; and critics, Ruth Gibbons and Katherine Balestrere. The other members are: Dorothy Beck, Martha Blackburn, Lela May Clark, Frances Daley, Mary Ferguson, Henrietta Runk, Mary Hamburg, Wilma Hatchitt, Harriett Hogue, Elizabeth Holland, Lena House, Helen Legate, Leona Rethemeyer, Ada Snelling, Mary Vaughan, Dorothy Walker, Beatrice Wilson, Edith Rauspaw, and Rhoda Hanley.

World Events Club

Mrs. Park's World Events Club has spent much of its time discussing current topics of interest. The members of this home room are: Ada Allen, Helen Barrett, Dolores Beck, Dolores Döbel, Frances Dunn, Florence Elliott, Nadine Erwin, Ruth Gardner, Lorene London, Marie Malson, June Mullay, Phyllis Ohlson, Alice Rice, Lucille Rapiar, Frances Reynolds, Nadine Townsend, Jean Stock, Mary Martha Rize, Lucille Willis, Richard Berne, Wyley Baxter, Lee Clark, Kenneth Clarkson, Morris Risen, Stephen Haun, Hammond Holt, Merle Kistler, Joyce Reuter, Elza Runkle, Oscar Shaer, William Skaer, Victor Thompson, James Webb, De Vere Whitesell, and Melvin Whitesell. The officers for both terms were: presidents, Katherine Stevenson and Nadine Erwin; secretaries, Jean Stock and Phyllis Ohlson; and representatives, Melvin Whitesell and June Mulley.

Three Thirty Trumps

The roll call of Miss McMillan's Three Thirty Trumps is as follows: Owen Alloway, Robert Butterworth, Jack Chapman, William Dressman, Merrit Glidden, Edwin Hathaway, Louis Hollenbeck, Robert James, Bert Marvin, Warren Scott, Charles Wadlow, Betty Aines, Haroldean Bell, Ruth Brown, Mary Lou Burroughs, Elma Ruth Cole, June Cooper, Marion Corson, Anita Dennis, Marjorie Griffith, Marguerite Hay, Elsie Hett, Doris Hoad, Thelma Huffman, Yvonne Miller, Geraldine Raber, Maxine Richey, Roberta Riley, Floriene Robison, Jessie Scholbelen, Laura Beth Soots, Marion Vanscoy, Marion Walkey, Jane Wallace, and Kathryn Woodley. The officers for both semesters were: Student Council representatives, Robert Butterworth and Bert Marvin; presidents, Marion Vanscoy and Ruth Brown; vice presidents, Laura Beth Soots and Jane Wallace; secretary, Maxine Richey; treasurers, Robert James and Haroldean Bell; sergeants-at-arms, Geraldine Raber and Floriene Robison; reporters, Jane Wallace and Doris Hoad; critic, Kathryn Woodley; and cashiers, Edwin Hathaway and Marion Corson. Miss McMillan has proved a satisfactory advisor.

The enterprising Three Thirty Trumps have made the purpose of their home room to develop personality and leadership, and to promote loyalty. On Halloween, Christmas, and St. Valentine's Day, the Three Thirty Trumps held parties at which readings were given and games played. The ice cream for the Christmas party was donated by Betty Aines' father. In addition to their social activities, the students have also carried on more serious work. They have found the discussions of Life Situations very interesting. The different topics were distributed among the students and each one studied his topic and made a short speech on it, after which the class was free to state their opinions on the matter. To add to the pep and zest of the meeting, the class elected two cheer leaders, William Dressman and Floriene Robison; and a number of students were asked to submit yells. Two of the yells submitted are: "Three Thirty is the room, We go over with a boom, Up, up, over the top, Whiz, boom, bang, pop, 330—330—330"; "For room 330 we'll yell, Hip, hip, hurrah, Sis—boom, Our home room, 330." The T. T. T.'s feel that their home room has been a decided success.

The gay group of freshmen in "cell" 422 call themselves the Krazy Kids; their teacher, Miss Taylor, is known as the "Magic Lunatic Tamer." The home room motto is "Kure Krazy Kids." At Christmas time the home room held a party. The students drew names and exchanged gifts. While the refreshments were passed, games were played. The refreshments, consisting of Eskimo pies, cookies, popcorn, hard candies, chocolates, and apples, were consumed with great gusto. Another party, which was equally successful, was held on Valentine Day. The Krazy Kids were entertained by a program of readings by Helen Glenn and Rose Eisenberg, and a Piccolo solo by William Hewitt; then they exchanged valentines while the refreshments were being served. The students are anticipating several more of these enjoyable events. Not to be outdone by the upper classmen, the Krazy Kids held a class ballot. Esther Rosenblum and Harry Higgins were elected the most popular girl and boy, and Helen Kitsmiller and Jimmy Hazlett were selected as the girl and boy who have done the most for the home room.

Little Botaners

"Little Botaners" was selected as a name for home room 424. The class made many very interesting discoveries in the botanical field under the efficient leadership of Mr. Lovejoy. In the carnival, the club participated in a stunt, "Two Minutes to Live," with Miss Spencer and Miss Woodward. It was second in sales. Mahlon Bullock and Marcus Smith represented the stunt in the annual carnival picture. A botany field trip was taken to Swope Park in the fall. In the spring a kodak trip was taken to demonstrate kodak picture taking. The members: Kenneth Asbury, Frank Beck, Mahlon Bullock, Robert Catenhauser, Manford Flinn, Harold Francis, Harry Greene, William Long, Jack Maas, Richard Michael, Henry Rosenberg, Clarence Satterlee, Marcus Smith, Edward Stevenson, Albert Swanson, David Townsend, Jack Weldon, Howard McIlrath, Angella Ashour, Mil-

The motto of Miss Johnson's home room was "To support the best."

The motto of home room 439, a history class taught by Mr. Edmonds, was "To promote Interest in History." The class has succeeded very well in their aim and has had a good time as well. The activity hour was held on Thursday assembly days. Each hour was devoted to a distinct program. Hallowe'en, Thanksgiving, and Christmas programs were held. In addition to the regular programs on these days, refreshments were served, cakes being baked by the girls and ice cream and punch purchased by the boys. On the Hallowe'en program a large supply of peanuts was furnished by Ray McDaniel. This home room made a careful study of the "Life Situation and Cultural Topics" bulletins, which were given to each of the students, and did some good work on them. Personality development has also been studied in connection with the "Life Situations." The class has had a good year in banking, and their percentage was over one hundred for Paseon sales. As a whole, the class has had a successful, profitable, and very entertaining year. The officers for the first semester in Mr. Edmond's home room were: president, Gladys Marlow; vice-president, Ray McDaniel; secretary, Lois Derby; treasurer, Richard Winkler; reporter, Mary Margaret Cairns; sergeant-at-arms, Raymond Rittmaster; Student Council representative, Juanita Holton; alternate, Allan Anderson. The officers for the second semester were: president, Gladys Marlow; vice-president, Ray McDaniel; secretary, Mary Margaret Cairns; treasurer, Richard Winkler; reporter, Lois Derby, sergeant-at-arms, Mr. V. V. Edmonds; Student Council representative, Juanita Holton; alternate, Ruby Mae Brauch. Paseo Angels

The Paseo Angels are a group of peace-loving draftsmen, under Mr. Guisinger, who inhabit the heavenly regions of the fourth floor just a jump from cafeteria and just around the corner from Miss Zimmerman's Boys' Glee Club. The Paseo Angels occupy room 444 which is in the northeast corner of the building, the nearest room to heaven. The height and rarefied air gives those Paseo Angels a distinction unknown to other students of the school. During the year the Paseo Angels have enjoyed their home room hour. Many activities have been enjoyed throughout the year, varying from a Christmas party with all its fun to the discussions of Life Situations. Under the leadership of their chief angel, Mr. Guisinger, the angels of 444 have learned much more about drafting and its place in the business world. They have discussed the lives of famous draftsmen and engineers in order to see the value of their work. The Angels have shown their ability in many ways. Perhaps their work this year was the huge success of their magic show at the carnival.

The Angels are: Tom Bash, Michael Bernet, John Black, Eugene Caffey, Palmer Crow, Eldred Davis, Paul Deffenbaugh, Maurice Frazier, Ben Glover, Joseph Guisinger, Clarence Hansen, James Hines, Paul Krichevsky, Charles Lane, Richard Laudon, Ralph Locatelli, Bill Lovell, Duane Main, Harold McLaughlin, Harold Pearce, Courtland Pearce, Paul Schwark, Robert Smith, Bob Stackhouse, Earl Stealey, Earl Stubbs, Lester Swanson, Ivan Tweedie, Marvin Townsend, Kenneth Van Cleave, Joseph Van Sittert, Danae Walters, J. A. Wood.

A PASEO ANGEL

Who stands sedate like an easter flower
 In drafting class the home room hour,
 And, while he looks so debonair,
 Can't find his pencils anywhere.
 He looks so circumspect,
 And tries in vain to recollect
 Which place or pocket holds those things,
 While time speeds by on golden wings.
 Then just as he begins to think,
 He finds a pocket full of ink!
 And yet, he swears he never swore—
 An angel from 444.

The officers of home room 441 are: president, Milton Hogan; vice-president, Luther Marshall; secretary, Elmer Mills; cashier, Doris Burns; reporter, Helen George; Student Council representative, Jo Phipps. The close of its fourth year finds Paseo supporting a flourishing group of organizations. This year, in addition to the eight literary societies, the Hi-Y, the Girl Reserves, and the Lettermen, five new clubs have been added to the list of organizations. These clubs are: the Soterians, a health group under Miss Thomas; the Virgilian Club, started by fourth year Latin students in honor of the two thousandth anniversary of the birth of the poet Virgil; the Senior German Club, whose purpose is to give students an opportunity to use the German language informally; the Atalantas, a girls' athletic club; and the Treasure Chest, the sponsor of the Press literary supplement. The foremost purpose of the literary societies has been to foster an interest in literature. The members have not only studied the lives of great writers, but have been encouraged to present their own original literary efforts at the meetings. Many of the most enjoyable programs consisted of poems, essays, and short stories, contributed by the students. The G. R. and the Hi-Y are branch organizations of the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A., and they uphold the same worth-while standards.

The Lettermen's Club is made up of boys who have made their letters in interscholastic competition in football, basketball, track, tennis, or golf. Each of the literary societies usually gives a dance some time during the year, in addition to a social event limited to members of the club. One of the highlights of the social year is the inter-society dance, which is always anticipated with great enthusiasm. The following is a complete list of the organizations and their advisors: the Engineers, sponsored by Mr. Cramer; the Cynthians, sponsored by Miss Spencer; the Juntos, sponsored by Mr. Terry; Thicions, sponsored by Miss Keohane; the Keats, sponsored by Mr. Ogg; the Zetas, sponsored by Miss Betz; the Iotas, sponsored by Mrs. Reber; the Peppy Pirates, sponsored by Miss Faulkner; the Lettermen, sponsored by Mr. Selvidge; the Girl Reserves, sponsored by Miss Friend; the Boys' High School Club, sponsored by Mr. Selvidge; the Soterians, sponsored by Miss Thomas; the Virgilians, sponsored by Miss Adams; the Senior German Club, sponsored by Miss Smith; and the Treasure Chest, sponsored by Miss Hardin.

Engineers Club

The executive board of the Engineers Club this year installed a new plan of procedure and programs which have undoubtedly been of benefit to the club. A definite routine was exacted, creating the plan of one program and one business meeting a month; thus, undue emphasis on business was prevented. The club enjoyed a series of lectures concerning modern electrical appliances and recent inventions.

The club has taken tours of the city manufacturing firms in order to obtain an unbiased view of modern industry. The Engineers, together with their sister club, the Cynthians, entertaining with an effective Christmas dance. The club has been prominent in the Student Council, the honor rolls, the Paseon, the National Honor Society, the Press, the Glee Club, and the plays. The officers for the first semester were: president, Raymond Waldron; vice-president, Minford Sherman, secretary, Irving Lachs; treasurer, Christian Rick; sergeant-at-arms, Franklin Carr; reporter, David Turner.

The officers for the second semester are: president, Irving Lachs; vice-president, David Turner; secretary, Horace White; treasurer, Paul Marchant; sergeant-at-arms, Eugene Black; reporter, Raymond Sweeney; critic, Raymond Waldron. The members are: Edward Barnes, Tom Bash, Eugene Black, James Boyd, William Brenizer, James Burnley, Franklin Carr, Wilbur Cavender, Alvin Frick, Bernard Gadwood, John Gadwood, Winfield Grimley, Henry Henkle, Junior Jennings, Irving Lachs, Woodson Longan, Jack Moss, William Malony, Paul Marchant, Christian Rick, Minford Sherman, Roy Smith, David Turner, Ivan Tweedie, Raymond Waldron, Horace White, James Wilson, Francis Jones, Ben Ditlow, Clyde Peters, Maurice Boyer, Bill Ward, Norvel Waldron, Fred Hall, Stanley Wade, James Haskins, and Lawrence Linck. The Engineers regard this year as one of the most successful since the organization of the club four years ago. Mr. Cramer has proved a satisfactory advisor, and his assistance has been greatly appreciated.

Cynthian Literary Society

With the close of its fourth year as a chartered club, the Cynthian Literary Society feels that it has succeeded in furthering the ideals of its founders. The literary programs have run the gamut from the study of the literature of the ancients to discussions of present day fiction, and, at times, have been varied by musical and dramatic sketches. The Cynthian Star, the club paper, has flourished, and is regarded with pride and interest by the devoted followers of Cynthia. The members have entered into all forms of school activities. They were represented on both the Paseon and Press staffs, the Student Council, the National Honor Society, the honor rolls, and the play casts. One of the important social events was the Christmas dance, given with the Engineers. April 12, the Cynthians lunched at the K. C. A. C. and attended a theater party. The girls have enjoyed the feasts, which have been held occasionally during the regular meetings.

The society owes much to Miss Weeks, the former advisor, and Miss Spencer the recent advisor. First semester officers were: president, Marjorie Parcell; vice-president, Frances Barnes; secretary, Felice Stampfle; treasurer, Dorothy Lyman; sergeant-at-arms, Virginia Hull; endymion, Dolores Walters; editor of Cynthian Star, Felice Stampfle. The second semester officers are: president, Virginia Hull; vice-president, Mary Titterington; secretary, Virginia Brasher; treasurer, Beth Blachly; sergeant-at-arms, Louise Davis; endymion, Frances Barnes; editor of Cynthian Star, Marjorie Parcell. The other members are: Wilma Covey, Dorothy Crary, Catherine Epp, Miriam Hancock, Elsie Goldbeck, Mildred Wilcox, Lotus Mayes, Margrette Wolverton, Helen Crowl, Vivian Patton, Lucille Moore, Elizabeth Hinkle, Virginia Richart, Irene Williams, Edith Breeding, May Wilk, Evelyn Bailey, Maxine Scotten, Mary M. Bowser, Audrey Trenery, Ruth Willoughby.

Junto Club

During its fourth year, after a rather slow start, due to the graduation of many of its former members, the Junto Club blossomed forth with an array of new members to enjoy one of its most successful years. The club continued in the promotion of interest in literature, athletics, and social activities. In the field of literature, the club was represented with editorships on both the Paseon and Press staffs. The club had members on the play cast and on the National Honor Society. Four places on the senior ballot went to Juntos. In athletics, the Juntos were represented on the football, basketball, and track teams. In the line of social activity, the Juntos held a very successful spring dance with their sister club the Thicion Literary Society, and they also took part in the inter-society dance. The Juntos were the first boys' literary society in the school to introduce sweaters and they seemed to be quite a "hit." Mr. Terry, the advisor, has long been popular with past and present Juntos.

The first term officers were: president, Max Heffner; vice-president, Joe Waller; secretary, Danae Walters; treasurer, Richard Lyon; sergeant-at-arms, Hollis Sawtell; reporter, William Lutz; and critic, Fred Hargis. The officers of the second term are: president, Alvin Wilson; vice-president, Bill Lutz; secretary, Joe Waller; treasurer, Fred Hargis; sergeant-at-arms, Duane Main; reporter, James

Thicion Literary Society

The Thicion Literary Society began its fourth year of activity in October, 1929. The motto of this club is "Always Seeking the Beautiful." Blue and mist are the club colors, and its flower is the tea rose. The name of this club was taken from a small vil- lage in Greece. Here was a shrine, and people came from neighboring towns to bring their gifts of beauty, love, and sacri- fices. The Thicions gave a lunch- eon and a theater party in the fall. For a spring event, the dance with the Juntos was given on April 26. The club has been represented in all branches of school activi- ties, the National Honor Society, general honor roll, sponsor major nominees, girls' athletic teams, Student Council, and school plays. The club officers for the first term were: president, Dorothy Craig; vice-presi- dent, Charlotte Noble; secretary, Betty Milot; treasurer, Joyce Kivivitch; sergent- at-arms, Dorothy Scott; initiator, Margaret Barnard; parliamentarians, Alice and Elsie Hathaway; reporter, Blythe Fife.

The second term officers were: president, Charlotte Noble; vice- president, Betty Milot; secretary, Mildred Casey; treasurer, Jose- phine Carnagie; sergent-at- arms, Rose Meyers; reporter, Betty Eviston; initiator, Edith Meyers, parliamentarian, Mar- jorie Bullock; and critic, Dor- othy Craig. Miss Keohane re- mained the advisor and helper. The members are: Helen Bailey, Margaret Barnard, Marjorie

Keats Club

The Keats Club, one of Paseo's earliest chartered clubs, has enjoyed one of its most successful years. Originated to promote and encourage literary talent and all school activities, the club has urged its members to participate in both of these fields. Six members of the club have held offices in the Student Council, while others have held offices in the senior and junior classes, as well as editorships on the Paseo Press.

The club has also been represented in the National Honor Society, both honor rolls, the R. O. T. C. officers, and the play casts. The Keats presented the first dance of the year, a Halloween Balloon dance, given in conjunction with its sister club, the Zeta Literary Society. In addition to the outside activities, many interesting and varied programs were presented to the members; these programs have included talks by outside speakers and talented members of the club. Mr. Ogg was again the advisor of the club and has done his part in making the club successful.

The officers for the first semester were: Bill Duncan, president; Van Woodward, secretary; Jack Duncan, treasurer; Bill Talbott, reporter; Frank Beck, sergeant-at-arms; and Park Harnden, Keatonian. The officers for the second semester are: Van Woodward, president; Bill Talbott, vice-president; Jack Lyons, secretary; Donald Ruben, treasurer; Bob Adams, reporter; Glen Defabaugh, sergeant-at-arms; and Bill Duncan, Keatonian. The members of the Keats Club are: Robert Adams, Walter Burton, Robert Catenhauser, Darrell Corwin, Ralph Curry, Glen Defabaugh, John Drisko, Bill Duncan, Jack Duncan, Jerry Duggan, Roy Englehardt, Virgil Flanders, Harold Francis, Robert Gibbons, Leland Harned, Park Harnden, Henry Katz, Hugh Kuder, Jack Lyons, Bill Owen, Gerald Movarr, Fred Polte, Donald Ruben, Everett Skaer, Gilbert Skaer, Bill Talbott, Scott Weaver, Van Woodward, and Fred Ghrist.

Zeta Literary Society

The Zeta Literary Society was the first club organized at Paseo. "Having received the torch, pass it on" is the motto which every Zeta tries to uphold. In the last year the Zetas have received many honors. They have held offices in the junior and senior classes; they have been represented on the honor rolls; three Zetas are National Honor Society members; they are found on the Press staff, on the senior ballot, and the play casts; and three of the five sponsor officers are Zetas. The Zetas and their brother club, the Keats, gave the first dance of the school year. It was a Halloween dance, and the gym was decorated with jack-o-lanterns and colored balloons. The officers for the first term were: president, Vivian Dodson; vice-president, Frances Tucker; secretary, Ruth Holmes; treasurer, Anastasia Frisby; sergeant-at-arms, Laura Edwards; reporter, Helen Motley; and critic, Margaret Knox. Miss Betz has been the Zeta advisor for the last two years.

The officers for the second term are: president, Frances Tucker; vice-president, Maurine Meadows; secretary, Marjie Rardin; treasurer, Helen Motley; sergeant-at-arms, Louise Eviston; reporter, Jane Heffner; and critic, Vivian Dodson. The Zeta roll call reads as follows: Haroldine Bell, Mariana Blucher, Bobbie Lee Carter, Dorothy Cooper, Virginia Dodson, Vivian Dodson, Maxine Duncan,

Paseo Peppy Pirates

On October 28, 1926, a group of peppy girls at Paseo met with Miss Eva Faulkner and organized a very lively club, Paseo's Peppy Pirates. Their purpose, to create an atmosphere of pep and loyalty to the school athletics, has continued through these four years and will go on as before. The group was cleverly dressed this year in sport costumes of red skirts, white blouses and white sweaters with a pirate emblem on the left side. Little Miss Virginia Ann Christine is the mascot. The Paseo Peppy Pirates have been represented in school plays, general honor roll, Student Council, athletic teams, school committees, and the Paseo Press Supplement. The motto of the club is "All for Paseo, and Paseo for all." For the annual fall event, a weenie roast was given at the Milburn Country Club Golf Course. The spring event was a line party followed by a tea. Miss Faulkner's great interest in the Peppy Pirates, "her girls," has been one of the elements vital to the success of the club.

The first term officers were: President, Marjorie Harnden; vice-president, Eleanor Duggan; secretary, Eleanor Pratt; treasurer, Mary E. Ford; sergeant-at-arms, Evelyn Burke; reporter, Laura Ward. The second semester officers were: President, Eleanor Duggan; vice-president, Adelyne Terwilliger; secretary, Mary Garland; treasurer, Nona Leen; reporter, Maxine Lininger; sergeant-at-arms, Mildred Slaton; critic, Marjorie Harnden. The members are: Peggy Barnes, Margaret Blachy, Evelyn Burke, Helen Clemens, Nadiné Colbert, Eleanor Duggan, Mary E. Ford, Mary Garland, Marjorie Harnden, Frances Harris, Maxine Howe, Frances Hunter, Verna Jacobson, Vivian Jones, Sadie Jordan, Florence Kearney, Nona Leen, Maxine Lininger, Velma Loth, Virginia Messecar, Lorraine Miller, Genevieve Paul, Eleanor Pratt, Loretta Present, Mildred Rehagen, Katherine Ruppert, Alice Sandford, Pauline Sarazan, Mildred Slaton, Velma Tanner, Adelyne Terwilliger, Marie Toelke, Ruth Van Cleve, Laura Ward, Ruth Weideman, and Lorene Witte.

Iota Literary Society

The Iota Literary Society was organized in November, 1928. The society was organized for the purpose of promoting an interest in, and a love for literature. The real name of the society is "Ion," the Greek word for violet, but upon the suggestion of a member the word "Iota" was agreed upon as the public name of the society. The club's colors are lavender and silver, and the flower is the violet. The Iotas have been represented in the school plays, on the highest and general honor rolls, in the charity speaking contest, and in the literary supplement of the Press. The Iotas are proud to state that Ruth Leffler, a member of the club, was elected as sponsor major. In January, the club held its annual dance; and later the Iotas gave their usual banquet at the Ambassador. The girls have also enjoyed the literary programs and feasts, which have been given during the course of their regular meetings. The club is anticipating a successful year in 1930-31, as many new members have been elected.

The first term officers were: President, Ruth Leffler; vice-president, Dorothy Jones; secretary, Frances Watling; treasurer, Dorothea McCain; sergeant-at-arms, Juanita Holton; reporter, Mary E. Taylor. The second term officers are: President, Frances Watling; vice-president, Phyllis Clow; secretary, Ethel Grant; treasurer, Davenna Melton; sergeant-at-arms, Maud Rae Craig; critic, Ruth Leffler. The members are: Geneva Allen, Vivian Allen, Marie Basile, Dorothy Calvin, Phyllis Clow, Maud Rae Craig, Harriet Drayer, Maxine Deming, Marjorie Frayling, Ethel Grant, Ernestine Hale, Selma Hampel, Dorothy Hanenkratt, Geraldine Herold, Eileen Hodgins, Juanita Holton, Rosamond Jenkins, Willa Johnson, Annabell Jones, Dorothy Jones, Ruth Leffler, Davenna Melton, Dorothea McCain, Katherine Nichols, LoRane Radley, Rose Ross, Mary E. Taylor, Bernice Timken, Mildred Timken, Claudine Vogel-sang, Frances Watling, Lorraine Welch, and Nellie Williams.

Soterian Club

The name "Soterian" means health and was chosen in 1926. The club has always been composed of the members of Miss Thomas' first hour psychology classes. During the second semester various prominent persons have spoken to the club upon subjects studied during the semester. The club is represented by nine members in the National Honor Society, Student Council representatives, and members of the Paseo Press staff. Opening exercises are used each morning and consist of Bible readings and the school song. The Soterians, in conjunction with the other psychology classes, gave a tea for all of the mothers. It was held in the cafeteria and was a successful affair. The members of the general committee which managed the tea, are: Margaret Wolverton, Marie Roediger, Vivian Dodson, Lucille Gentry, Mary Elizabeth Everly, Pauline Sarazen, Dorothea McCain, and Mildred Hollaway, Charlotte Noble, Ruth Leffler, Marjorie Rardin and Mary Elizabeth Taylor.

The members are: Genevieve Allen, Angella Ashour, Beth Blachly, Cecelia Brown, Pearl Broyles, Frances Byrne, Minniebelle Coburn, Dorothy Dougherty, Eleanor Duggan, Marjorie Frayling, Jeanette Gillespie, Dorothy Hanenkrafft, Alice Hathaway, Elsie Hathaway, Mildred Hollaway, Edna Mae Kearney, Ruth Kempe, Kathleen Love, Frances Lucksinger, Erdine McChesney, Margaret McLaughlin, Aileen Magee, Edith Meyer, Mildred Moody, Harriet Rams, Margaret Reardon, Rose Ross, Marie Ross, Dorothy Scott, Madeline Snyder, Frances Staddler, Opal Talley, Mary Elizabeth Taylor, Mary Titterington, Gladys Tupper, Laura Ward, Margarette Wolverton, Kathryn Woods. The presidents were: Beth Blachly, Mary Titterington and Dorothy Cooper. Those who held other offices were: Edith Meyer, Eleanor Duggan, Dorothy Scott, Dorothy Dougherty, Mary Elizabeth Taylor, Mildred Hollaway and Alice Hathaway. As in former years, the Soterians have enjoyed the help and advice of Miss Thomas.

Virgilians

The Virgilians were organized this year to further the interest in the Bimillennium Virgilianum, a world-wide celebration of the two thousandth anniversary of Virgil's birth. Virgil, the most celebrated of Roman poets, was the author of the Aeneid, the subject of this year's study. As a part of this celebration in honor of Virgil, the Bureau of University Travel is planning an Aeneid Cruise. This trip covers the course followed by Aeneas in his wanderings. Among the books written in honor of the occasion is a novel "Dido, Queen of Hearts" by Gertrude Atherton. In view of this world-wide event, the class has selected the motto, "Forsan et haec olim meminisse iuvabit." Perhaps at some time it will be pleasing to remember these things also. The motto was selected from the speech of Aeneas. The wooden horse was chosen as the symbol of this club because of its significance in the Trojan war in which Aeneas played a great part. The Aeneid is an epic dealing with the hero's wanderings.

The first semester officers of the Virgilians were: President, Marjorie Parcell; vice-president, Franklin Carr; secretary-treasurer, Marie Roediger; sergeant-at-arms, Harry Shear. The officers for the second semester are: President, Harry Shear; vice-president, Elsie Goldbeck; secretary-treasurer, Eleanor Pratt; sergeant-at-arms, William Lee Owen. Left to right the members are:

Der Deutsche Verein

Der Deutsche Verein (the German Club) has for the past two years been a regular activity of the advanced German class, and has proved one of the most interesting and successful parts of the course. Its purpose has been to stimulate in its members an interest in German achievement in music, literature, art, and science, and to afford opportunity for the informal use of the German language. The German Club has taken for its motto "Gluckauf," which is an expression used by the German miners upon entering the mines. It means "may good fortune be with you." Catherine Epp, Mildred Timken, and Fred Polte, all advanced German students, entered in the state contests in German, which were held in Columbia, Missouri, on May second. The officers for the first semester were: President, Fred Polte; vice-president, Julia Smallfield; secretary, Junior Jennings; treasurer, Catherine Epp; sergeant-at-arms, George Bartholomaeus; and reporter, Norvel Waldron.

The officers of the German Club for the second semester are: President, Julia Smallfield; vice-president, Mildred Timken; secretary, Catherine Epp; treasurer, George Bartholomaeus; sergeant-at-arms, Henry Henkel; and reporter, Norvel Waldron. The members of the club are as follows: Mortimer Alpert, George Bartholomaeus, Henry Henkel, Junior Jennings, Charles Mollenkamp, Fred Polte, Harry Rietz, Sherman Rosenberg, Ernest Slabotsky, Norvel Waldron, Anna Aubrecht, Helen Clauder, Helen Crowl, Catherine Epp, Ruth Norman, Erna Reitz, Edith Roxburg, Ruth Sandford, Julia Smallfield, Barbara Stoltze, Mildred Timken, and Mary Jane Watt. Miss Betz is the advisor of the club and has contributed much to the meetings. In so far as possible all meetings have been conducted in German and this practice has been of great benefit to the members of the club. A German play was presented by the club at one of the regular assemblies.

Treasure Chest

The members of the Treasure Chest contribute material—poetry, essays, short sketches and short stories—for the Paseo Press Literary Supplement, which is published four times a year. Each student who writes a poem, essay, story, or sketch accepted for the Treasure Chest Supplement is elected a member of the Treasure Chest Club and is entitled to wear the Treasure Chest pin and attend the meetings. At one meeting Mr. Herbert L. Drake of Horner Conservatory read "The Queen's Husband," a comedy by Robert Sherwood. At the second meeting Mr. Carman entertained by readings from Cross's "Nize Beby." The Treasure Chest pin was designed by Christian Rick and is a quill pen leaning across a silver Treasure Chest. Prizes are awarded each year for the best poem, the best essay, the best short story, and the best short sketch. Last year George Bartholomeus won the short story prize with his story "Too Old," and Roger Bird won the poetry award with the poem "Guardian of the Night."

The members of the Treasure Chest who have all had their work published in the Supplement are: Mary Elizabeth Everly, Beth Blachly, Harriet Levine, Dorothy Daugherty, Kathleen Love, Marie Roediger, George Bartholomeus, Marcus Smith, Robert Steele, Richard Lyon, Lowell Myers, Jack Olson, Christian Rick, Bill Cross, Charles Gussman, Angella Ashour, Earl Boyce, Roy Guetler, Emilienne Packer, Davenne

Lettermen's Club

The Paseo Lettermen's Club is composed of boys who have been awarded the school letter for interscholastic competition in football, basketball, track, tennis, or golf. There is also a junior organization composed of second team boys. Mr. Selvidge, Paseo's athletic director and coach, is the advisor of the club. The purpose of the club is to forward athletics at Paseo. The club is represented in the senior offices, Student Council, National Honor Society, and honor roll. The officers of the club are: President, Arthur Leppert; vice-president, Howard Duvall; secretary, Franklin Carr; treasurer, Clair Marlow; sergeant-at-arms, Hollis Sawtell. The members are: Roy Audsley, George Bartholomaeus, Jack Benson, Harold Bramble, Franklin Carr, Glenn Defabaugh, Bill Duncan, Howard Duvall, Alfred Eisfelder, Lambert Englehardt, Robert Fitzgerald, William Goldman, Kenneth Gregg, Fred Christ, Robert Hanks, Fred Hargis, Max Heffner, Milton Hogan, Arthur Leppert, Clair Marlow, Harry Moon, Don Painter, George Richmond, Donald Ruben, Hollis Sawtell, Harry Sharp, Donald Short, Gilbert Skaer, Marcus Smith, Howard Stock, Cameron Tinker, and Alvin Wilson.

The most important event of the year was the minstrel show entitled "Whar's de Groom?" which was presented in the school auditorium on the night of April 4. It was produced through the combined efforts of the first and second team lettermen. Mr. Selvidge was the general director of the show, and Mr. Edmonds was in charge of all the music. The proceeds of the show are to be used in bettering Paseo's athletic equipment. The cast of the minstrel was as follows:

Vacuum and Static, pagesGLENN DEFABAUGH and IVAN TWEEDIE
Exodus Endive, bride's motherALFRED EISFELDER
Economy Endive, bride	DON PAINTER
Pest in Ripcord, rejected suitorARTHUR LEPPERT
Shoofly Tallox, Folium's friendFRED HARGIS
Folium Endive, bride's fatherGEORGE RICHMOND
Officer Chipmunk	HOLLIS SAWTELL
Rev. Skidfoot	JOHN ENGBERG
Puttyheel Nosegay, best man	FRED GHRIST
Halitosis Hairpin, maid of honorMAX HEFFNER

Atalanta Club

The Atalanta Club began its career on the twenty-fifth day of February, 1930. It is the second girls' sport club to be organized in Paseo. However, from all aspects, the Atlanta Club is destined to be a complete success. At the first meeting the officers were elected. They are as follows: President, Gladys Marlow; vice-president, Grace Malone; secretary-treasurer, Mary Holman; sergeant-at-arms, Mary Louise Allegri; reporter, Myrtle Patterson; and critic, Mildred Slaton. The club is composed of girls who have won their school letter, pin, or ring. The club is represented in the Student Council, Senior Ballot, Paseo Press, and Paseon staff. The constitution committee was made up of Mildred Slaton, Grace Malone, Mary Titterington, sponsored by Miss Ennis. The advisors of the club are: Miss Smith, Miss Ennis, and Miss Pipkin. The members of the club are: Myrtle Patterson, Grace Malone, Gladys Marlow, Mildred Slaton, Mary Louise Allegri, Mary Holman, LaVerne Mason, Mary Titterington, Marjorie Parcell, Mary Maude Burch, Lorna Davis, Lucille Owens, Harriet Gaylord, Catherine Allen, Kathleen Bentley, Edna May Kerney, Edith Anderson, Mary L. Pfister, Frances Alpert, Dorothy Scott, Alma Thorpe, Corinne Harper, Ida Cunningham, Lorene Best, and Frances Watling. A few of the officers' honors are related here. Our president, Gladys Marlow, has been on all of her class teams, was elected Best Girl Athlete on the Senior Ballot, has won a letter and a 100 point pin, and is the hiking manager. Vice-president, "Ted" Malone, says she's proud to be a member of the junior teams, who have won all of the championships so far this year. She has a letter, pin, and ring. She is one of the two girls in Paseo who has won a 200 point ring. Secretary-treasurer, Mary Holman, another member of the senior teams, has won a letter and pin and is soccer manager. Sergeant-at-arms, Mary Louise Allegri, another of our seniors who has won places on the teams, has won a letter and a pin and is manager of basketball. Reporter, "Buddy" Patterson, is of the junior teams and also claims a letter, pin, and ring. She is the other of the girls in Paseo who has won a 200 point ring. Critic, Mildred Slaton, one of Paseo's set of triplets, is of the junior teams and has won a letter and pin. The chief aim of the club is to make the girls good sports.

Boys' High School Club

The purpose of the Boys' High School Club is "to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character." At the last meeting last year the club elected officers to serve this year. The group discussion meetings were employed this year and seemed to be very popular with the members. Mr. Selvidge was chosen to lead one group, and Mr. Phil Morgan led the other. Mr. Morgan's duties at the "Y" kept him so busy that it was thought well to get an assistant to serve in his absence. Mr. Lorne Buckner was chosen to be the leader. Several banquets were held during the year, and the Hi-Y club owed a very successful year to the leadership of their three sponsors. The officers of the club were: President, Hugh Kuder; vice-president, Danae Walters; secretary, Park Harnden; treasurer, Bill Talbot. The cabinet members, other than the officers were: Edwin Barnes, Billy Baldwin, Bert Harper, Jack Lyons, Gilbert Palen, Don Short, Ray Sweeney and Frank Ramel. The members of the club are: Bob Adams, Edwin Allen, Roy Atchison, John Bornhauser, William Brenizer, Sumner Brooke, Bob Catherhouser, Owen Compton, Max Concannon, Vincent Dasta, John Dennis, Ben Ditlow, Jerry Duggan, Bill Duncan, Bob Ebert, Myron Ellison, Clark Emmert, George Ewald, H. B. Gardner, Fred Ghrist, Hugh Gibbens, Bob Hawkins, Henry Henkel, Norman Howell, Verne Hutson, Woodrow Johnson, Francis Jones, Hugh Kuder, Arthur Kusnetsky, Irving Lachs, Frank Ramel, Frank Lang, George Lawrence, Abe Lesser, William Maloney, Fred Lord, Jack Lyons, Clair Marlow, Harold Martin, Ray McDaniels, Elmer Nester, Warren Paine, Woodrow Parrent, Christian Rick, George Richmond, Alfred Rosenstock, Glenn Rowland, Edward Scanlon, Ed Schifelbein, Charles Schmidt, Ford Simpson, Marcus Smith, Ralph Smith, Howard Stock, Bruce Stultz, Earl Van Cleave, Norvel Waldron, Ray Waldron, Roy Walker, Joe Waller, Jack Weldon, Edgar Welty, Horace White, Alvin Wilson, James Wilson, Van Woodward and Fred Worm. The Hi-Y Club hopes for another successful season.

Girl Reserves

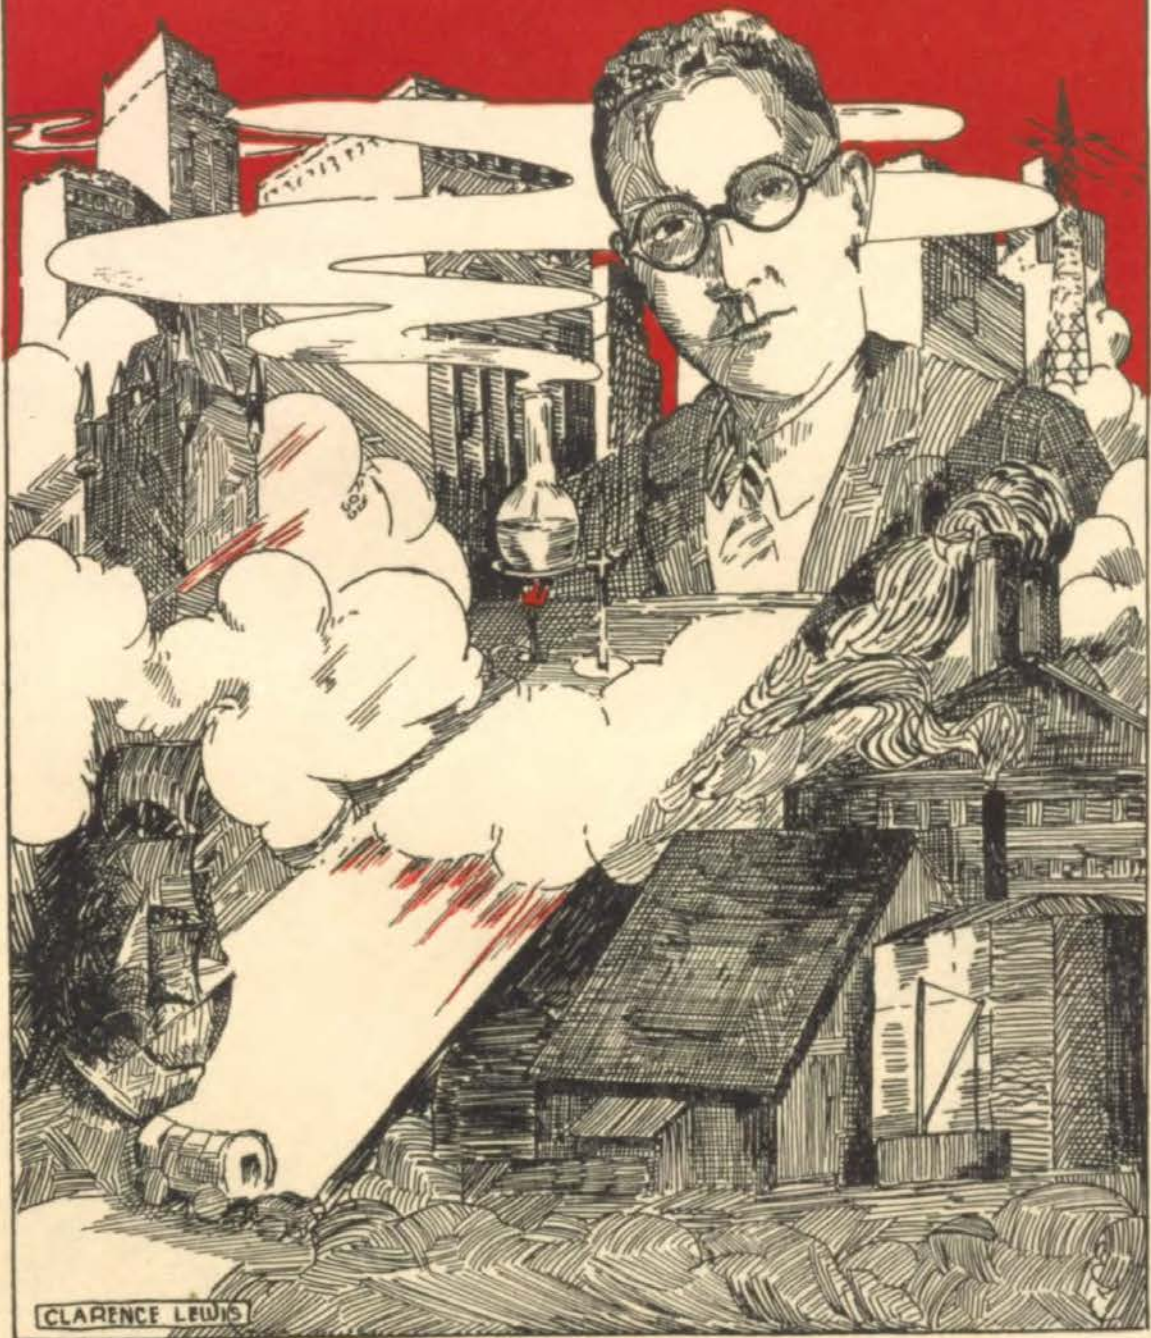

In addition to promoting a feeling of friendliness throughout the school, the Girl Reserves have endeavored to carry out their purpose, "to face life squarely and to find and give the best," by providing programs which would stimulate interest in more than just social pursuits. As before, the Girl Reserves began the year with a party for the incoming freshmen, for the purpose of acquainting them with the school and the older girls. This year, the attendance was unusually large, typical of the interest in the movement. This interest continued, and, before the end of the year, the membership was one hundred and thirty-five. The privilege of wearing the ring, discontinued several years ago, was granted the girls this year. The ring is not given as an award for achievement but as an incentive toward higher ideals, for which the girls are always striving.

These girls are wearers of the ring: Margaret Knox, Beth Blachly, Marthel Oldham, Eleanor Pratt, Lucille Gentry, and Marjorie Parcell. The officers of the club are: President, Margaret Knox; vice-president, Marjorie Parcell; secretary, Norma Lispi; treasurer, Helen Brandon; senior triangle chairman, Beth Blachly; junior chairman, Aileen Sorber; sophomore chairman, Betty Brandon; freshman chairman, Melba Slaughter. The chairman for the committees are: Devotional, Helen Brandon; music, Marie Kubitzki; service, Marthel Oldham; social, Francis Tucker; publicity, Margaret Blachly; and camp and conference, Margaret Perkins. Miss Friend is general advisor of all the groups. Miss McMillan is senior triangle advisor; Miss Minckemeyer, junior; Miss Eckles, advisor for the sophomores; and Miss Pipkin for the freshmen. Mrs. Oldham is the club mother.

MR. J. B. JACKSON

Secretary of the Board of Education for more than twenty-one years at the time of his death, March 22, 1930.

Mr. Jackson began his service with the Board of Education when he was a boy of eighteen and remained in this service for more than forty years. By his un-failing courtesy, sympathy, and helpfulness, he won and held the friendship of all who knew him. His friends will carry with them all their lives beautiful memories of their association with him.

Let us study the Art of Friendship—watching for chances to serve a friend's interests, protecting his good name from those who would do him hurt, speaking no ill of him, keeping in mind that he is precious to us beyond price and can bring us happiness beyond measure.

Dr. Stigall

Loyalty is a virtue which all of us admire and respect. We earnestly desire to have those with whom we come in contact speak of us as being loyal. Every day situations arise in our lives that in a measure test our loyalty. Do we keep our promises? Do we play our part at the appointed time? If we respond nobly to these situations and perform faithfully each duty for which we are held responsible, then we may be stamped loyal.

BAILEY, EVELYN E.

Demure Evelyn was a member of the Cynthians, the Student Council, and secretary of her home room. She is interested in art, and after a K. U. course intends to take up designing.

BARNARD, MARGARET

Dancing is the future profession of our gay "Margareta," who was a Thiclon officer, a Buccaneer Booster, on the honor roll, exchange editor of the Press, and in the orchestra.

BARNES, FRANCES ESTELYN

Frances, a sponsor captain, was a member of the Student Council executive board, on three honor rolls, and held two Cynthian offices.

BARNES, EDWIN JAMES, JR.

Ed, who will be remembered as a devoted tennis player, was a member of the Engineers and a member of the orchestra and band for three years.

BARROW, CLAIRENE

This blossoming dramatic star was a member of the Book Lovers Club for three years and was sergeant-at-arms of her home room. Instead of going to school, she will go to work after graduation.

BALDWIN, BILL

Bill's chief interest at Paseo was appearing before the public in school plays. He had major parts in "Out of the Stillness," "Lucky Break," "The New Poor," and "Contents Unknown."

BEGUHN, AVA M.

Art is Ava's forte, and she plans to utilize her talent as a commercial artist. She was a member of the Palette and Brush and Swastika Clubs. Another student for the Art Institute.

BEITCHMAN, MAURICE IRVING

Maurice was an officer and a member of the crack platoon in Paseo's R. O. T. C. He was vice-president of the Recreation Club, and a member of the Parliamentary Law Club.

Virgie was a member of the Recreational Club and took part in the "Footlight Fantasies" and the R. O. T. C. circus. She will go to business college.

BELTON, NORA C.

Nora was a member of the newswriting class, a Girl Reserve, associate editor of the Paseon, and a member of the Choral Club for three years. She intends to take up secretarial work.

BENDER, MARY MARGARET

A loyal G. R. for four years, Mary has also been a member of the Treasure Chest, the Student Council, the Press staff, and the Quill and Scroll. J. C. will claim her next year.

BENT, JUANITA

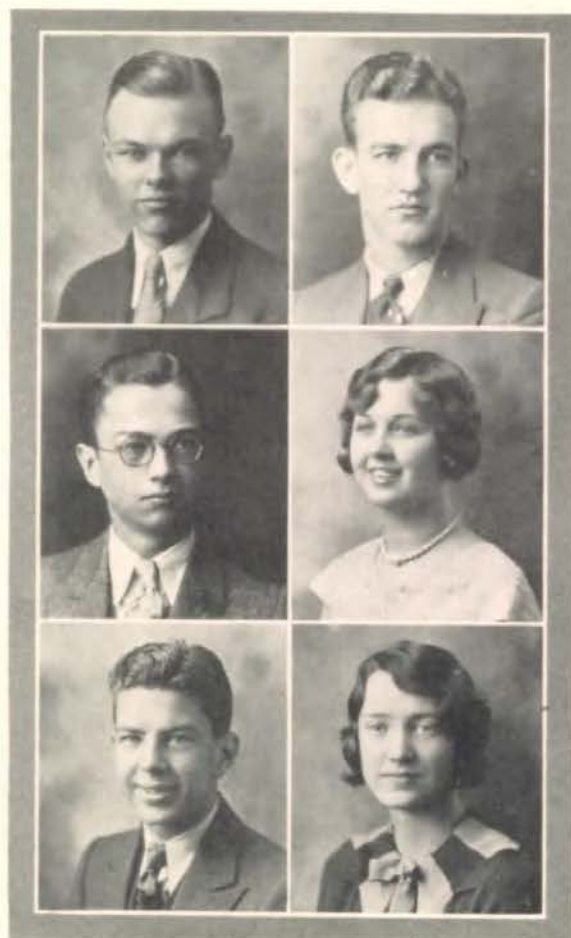

Printing was Juanita's unusual favorite subject; her hobby, equally unique, is collecting old books. After attending Texas University, she will become a nurse.

BERGUIN, JOHN RAYMOND

John was a member of the Junto Literary Society and president of the public speaking class. He graduated at the middle of the year.

BERRY, DOROTHY HESTER

Here's a domestic maid, whose favorite subject was home economics. Dorothy was an officer in the Vocational Guidance Club, the Needlework Club, and the Accountancy Club.

BEST, LORENE C.

As a stenographer Lorene will have great use for her favorite subjects, typing and shorthand. She was a member of the Secretarians, and the winner of a typing pin and athletic letter.

BIRKETT, RUTH VIRGINIA

Ruth plans to get her teacher's training at Teachers' College, which she will attend next year. She was a member of the Girl Reserves, the Friendship Club, and the Homemaking Club.

BLACHLY, BETH

The true G. R. spirit is personified in Beth, a Frances Scarritt Hanley girl, who was Student Council representative, a Cynthia, a member of the Quill and Scroll and the Treasure Chest Club.

BLACK, RUTH ELIZABETH

The large subject of science was the favorite study of this very small young lady. Ruth was secretary of the Homemaking Club.

BLACK, EUGENE H.

"Gene" was sergeant-at-arms of the Engineers Club, president of the Vocational Information Club and his home room, and a second team letterman in football.

BLAIR, JOHN R.

This boy, who can make sweet music come from the depths of a pipe organ, was a member of the French and Spanish Clubs, and a Press editor.

BRADLEY, ROBERT LESLIE

Robert was a member of the Glee Club and was on the second team football squad. He will utilize his knowledge of printing, which he gained at Paseo, when he makes it his profession.

BRAMBLE, HAROLD

Harold was a letterman in football. He was another of those who graduated at the end of the first semester.

BRENIZER, WILLIAM F.

Bill, whose special interest at Paseo was tinkering around in the chemistry laboratory, was a member of the Engineers.

BRIGHT, BEULAH

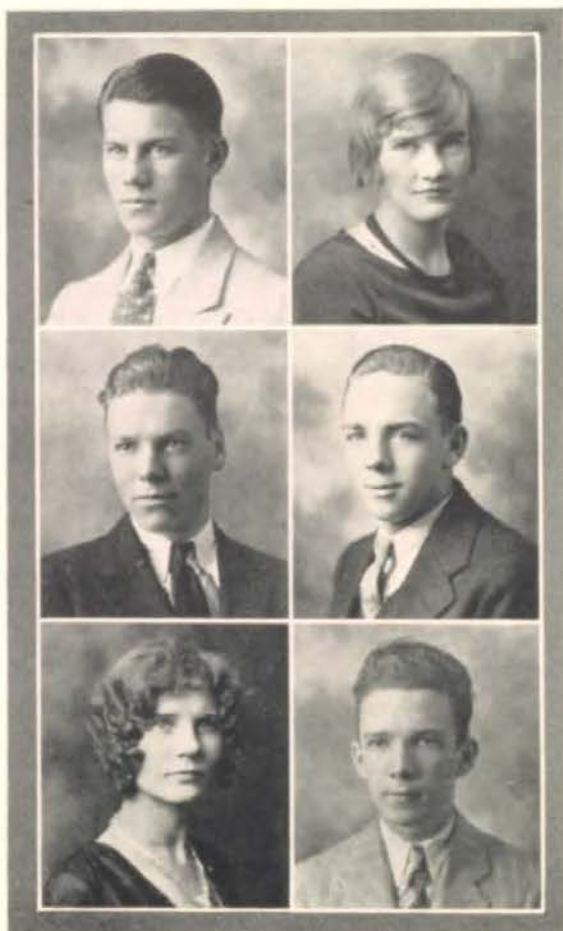

The president of the Etiquette Club tells us her hobby is dancing, but she has her business side too, for her favorite subject is bookkeeping. She plans to go to business college.

BRIGHT, JACK EARLE

Jack, whose hobbies were Commercial Law and the members of the fair sex, will succeed his father in business.

BRINDLEY, VIDA MAE

Junior College has another recruit in Vida Mae, a member of the Girl Reserves, whose chief interest at Paseo was her sewing class. She anticipates an artist's career.

BENSON, JACK A.

This football letterman was president of his home room and a member of the Lettermen's Club. After attending college, Jack will study electrical engineering.

BLUNT, RAMONA FRANCES

Ramona's interests range from swimming to art and music, her favorite subjects. The future interior decorator was a member of the Choral Club, the Jeune Artistes, and a Press reporter.

BOWEN, DONALD

Don was a member of the Glee Club for two years and a charter member of the Buccaneer Boosters. He will attend either J. C. or K. U. in preparation for his chosen profession as an architect.

BROOKE, SUMNER BARFIELD

This air minded young man was president of the Chess and Checkers Club and a member of the track team. He will study to be an aeronautical engineer at the Massachusetts Technology School.

BROWN, CECELIA MARIE

Cecelia was president of the U and I Club, a member of the Soterian and Recreational Clubs, secretary of her home room, and was chosen Best Girl Dancer on the senior ballot.

BROWN, STANLEY

Stan graduated after the first semester.

BROYLES, PEARL IRENE

Pearl's fingers, so nimble on the typewriter keys, will stand her in good stead, when she begins her work as a secretary. She was a Soterian and secretary of the P. K. Club.

BUCHANAN, MARIAN

Marian's interests at Paseo have been centered around sports, both girls' and boys', though her favorite subject is typing.

BURKE, EVELYN E.

This blithe member of the Paseo Peppy Pirates employed her pretty brown head with diligence and made the highest honor roll her senior year. She served as vice-president of her home room.

BURTON, ESTHER MYRTLE

Books of all sorts are her constant pleasure and delight. Esther, who was a member of the Etiquette Club her junior year, is planning to enter the world of business this fall.

BYRNE, FRANCES DELORA

Frances must know all the ins and outs of newspaper work for she has been both a reporter and printer! She was a Soterian, a G. R., a Secretarian, and a member of the Dramatic Club.

CAHILL, CATHERINE VIRGINIA

Virginia has been a member of the Checker, the Friendship, the Social Games, and Soterian Clubs. She plans to be a nurse.

CAHILL, MARY ELLEN

Mary was a member of the Homemaking and the Girls' Sports Clubs. She will study to be a nurse.

CALVIN, DOROTHY EILEEN

In Dorothy we find the artist successfully combined with the athlete. She was an Iota, a member of the Swastika Club, the Palette and Brush, and on six athletic teams.

CALDWELL, DAVID WILLIAM

Dave was a captain in the R. O. T. C. Since he graduated in the middle of the year, his other honors are not available.

CAMPBELL, WILLIAM J.

Bill was a member of the Keats Club. He is planning to attend the Missouri School of Mines next year.

CARPENTER, GRACE

Her experience in her favorite class, office training, so intrigued Grace that she has decided her future calling shall be office work. Her main interest at Paseo was sewing.

CARMICHAEL, HAROLD A.

This young engineer, whose favorite subject was chemistry, will go to college at the Kansas University of Engineering.

CARNAGEY, JOSEPHINE DALE

"Jo" who says her favorite subject was history from Mr. Franklin, was treasurer of the Thicians and Secretarians, and a member of the Student Council and the Choral Club.

CARR, FRANKLIN D.

This prospective physician was a consistent member of the honor rolls, a member of the National Honor Society, football letterman, and an officer of the Engineers and Lettermen's clubs.

CARTER, BOBBIE LEE

Bobbie Lee, a graceful sponsor lieutenant, was president of the Playreading Club and her home room, a member of the G. R.'s and the Zetas, and a Student Council representative.

CASEY, MILDRED

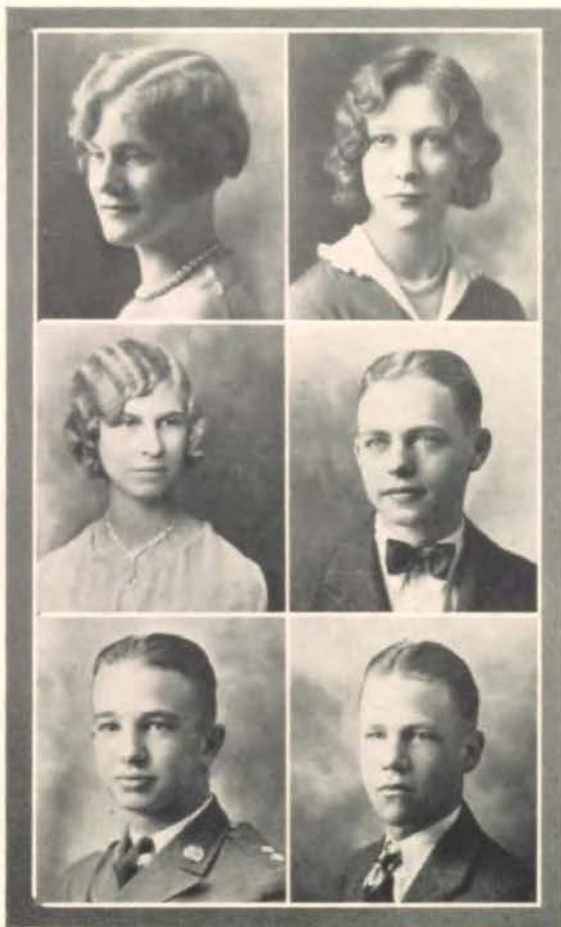

A business college course is Mildred's next step in becoming a stenographer. She has already demonstrated her efficiency as banker of her home room and Thicion secretary.

CHILDRESS, VIRGINIA IRENE

Despite its complicated verbs, Virginia still declares that French is her favorite subject. Mademoiselle was a member of the Mask and Wig.

CLARY, BONNIE IRENE

The last bell of her last high school day is anticipated with great glee by Bonnie. She was a member of the Speed Demons.

CLOUSER, ZACKIE

As Zackie has been in the band and orchestra almost continuously since her first year, we are not surprised that she is to be a musician. She was in the Mask and Wig, and the Spanish Club.

CLOW, MARY PHYLLIS

Singing is the delight of Phyllis, as well as that of her listeners. She was a member of the Iota Literary Society and the Choral Club.

COBLEIGH, AMY MAY

The commercial department has claimed most of Amy's time and interest at Paseo, but she surprises us with the statement that tennis is her favorite pastime.

COEN, ARTHUR

Arthur, whose favorite subject was drafting, will follow up his hobby of aviation and will make it his vocation.

COLLINS, HOMER

This youthful beau brummel was a first lieutenant in the R. O. T. C. his senior year. Homer was a member of the Officers' Club, the Buccaneer Boosters, and the Hi-Y.

COMPTON, OWEN GAULT

Owen was a member of the Juntos, and the Etiquette, Kodak, and Hi-Y clubs during his high school career. He was a second team man in both football and basketball.

COOKE, EDNA

Edna will have ample time to cultivate her taste for reading when she takes up her duties as a librarian. She plans to go to Park College.

COOPER, BILLIE

Billie will begin her preparation for teaching at Junior College which she will attend next year. French was the favorite subject of this enthusiastic tennis player.

COOPER, DOROTHY GERALDINE

The president of the Soterians will continue her education at William Woods. She was a member of the Zetas, the Student Council, and vice-president of the Etiquette Club.

CORRIGAN, CECELIA MARY

Cecelia was a member of the Homemaking Club, the Sports Club, the Secretarians, and vice-president of the Recreational Club. She will take up office work.

CORWIN, DARRELL E.

This member of the freshman basketball team of 1926, was an interested follower of all athletics, although he did not participate in them. He was a member of the Keats Club.

COUGHENOUR, ALLEN J.

Allen, a track man, will study to be a lawyer at Missouri University. His chief interest at Paseo was following the doings of the track team.

COURTNEY, ORA E.

It was not possible to list Ora's honors as she was another of the mid-year seniors.

COVEY, WILMA HELEN

Reading and art are the pleasantest hobbies of this member of the Cynthians, who was a Soterian, treasurer of the Friendship Club, and on the general honor roll.

CRAIG, DOROTHY MAE

Diminutive, "mais si chic," Dot wielded the gavel for the Thicians and Secretarians. She made the honor roll twice and is a member of the Buccaneer Boosters and the Treasure Chest.

CROSSWHITE, THELMA

Here's an outdoor girl, whose favorite pastime is hiking. Thelma was assistant cashier of her home room and has won a typing pin.

CROWL, HELEN EULALIA

Armed with her palette and brush, Helen will enter the field of commercial art. She was a Cynthian, and a member of the Swastika Club and "Der Deutsche Verein."

CUNNINGHAM, IDA MARIE

We judge Ida was the joy of her teachers, for her chief interest at Paseo was her studies. She was a G. R., a Soterian, and on three athletic teams.

CURRY, JENNIE ELIZABETH

Jennie came to Paseo this year from Wichita High School. She found English her most interesting subject at Paseo. Stephens College is her goal.

CURTIN, JAMES J.

James, whose favorite subjects were commercial law and public speaking, was in the finals of the school oratorical contest.

DAUGHERTY, DOROTHY L.

Dorothy was a member of the Thicians, the Soterians, the Girl Reserves, the Treasure Chest, and the Student Council. Her sophomore year she was a charity speaker.

DAVIS, LOUISE

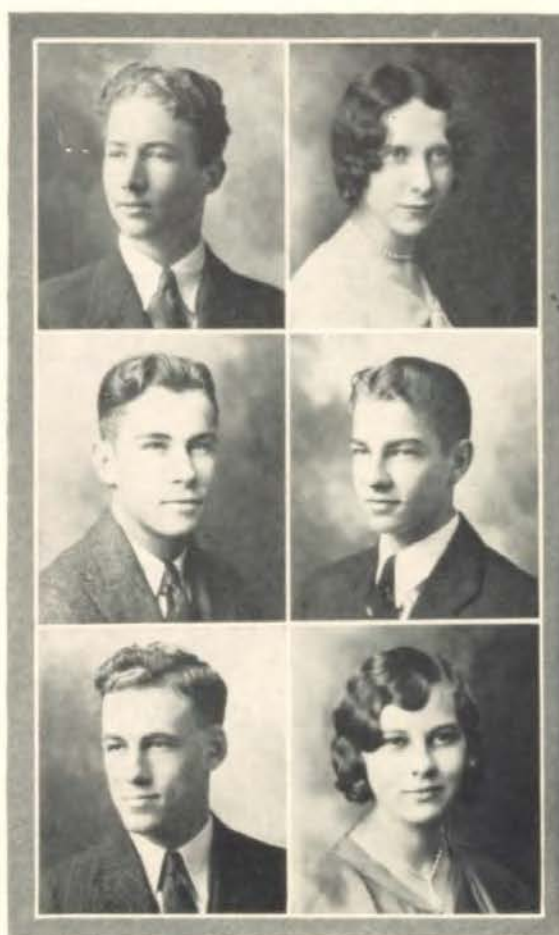

The stenographer of the Paseon gained her position through her proficiency in her favorite subjects, typing and shorthand. She was a Cynthian officer and on the honor roll.

DAVIS, VIRGINIA KATHERINE

Virginia's tastes verge on the esthetic, for her hobby is collecting poetry, and her interest at Paseo has centered around art. She will be a stenographer.

DAY, ALICE MARIAN

She was her home room president her senior year, and a member of the Kodak Club, the Soterians, and the Recreational Club. She rivaled the boys for interest in science.

DEFABAUGH, GLEN EDWARD

Glen was a letterman in both track and basketball, sergeant-at-arms of the Keats Club, president and cashier of his home room, and a member of the Treasure Chest and Lettermen's clubs.

DITLOW, BEN M.

Ben was a member of the Glee Club, the Hi-Y, the Treasure Chest, the Buccaneer Boosters and the Paseo Engineers' Club. The golf course is Ben's favorite haunt.

DODSON, VIVIAN ALICE

Vivian, one of our fair sponsor lieutenants, was Zeta and Recreational Club president, and a member of the Student Council, the Choral Club, and the Buccaneer Boosters.

DOLAN, WILLIAM J.

Bill, whose hobby was sports of all kinds, will attend Kansas University. He will study to be a draftsman.

DONNELL, HELEN MARIE

Next year holds unlimited possibilities for Helen when she begins her training at the Kansas City Art Institute. She was a member of the Swastika and U and I Clubs.

DONNELLY, WILLIAM J. P.

"Packy," who spends most of his spare time either ice skating, swimming, or playing baseball, came to Paseo from Rockhurst.

DUDLEY, ALBERT

Albert is another of those innumerable boys whose main interest in life is sports. He was one of the very few boys who took shorthand and liked it.

DUGGAN, ELEANOR FRANCES

In addition to having been both vice-president and president of the Peppy Pirates, Eleanor was a member of the Quill and Scroll, and art editor of the Paseo Press.

DUNCAN, JACK

The honors of versatile Jack range from the presidency of the Student Council to the captaincy of the cheer leaders. He was treasurer of the Keats and a senior officer.

DUNCAN, WILLIAM H.

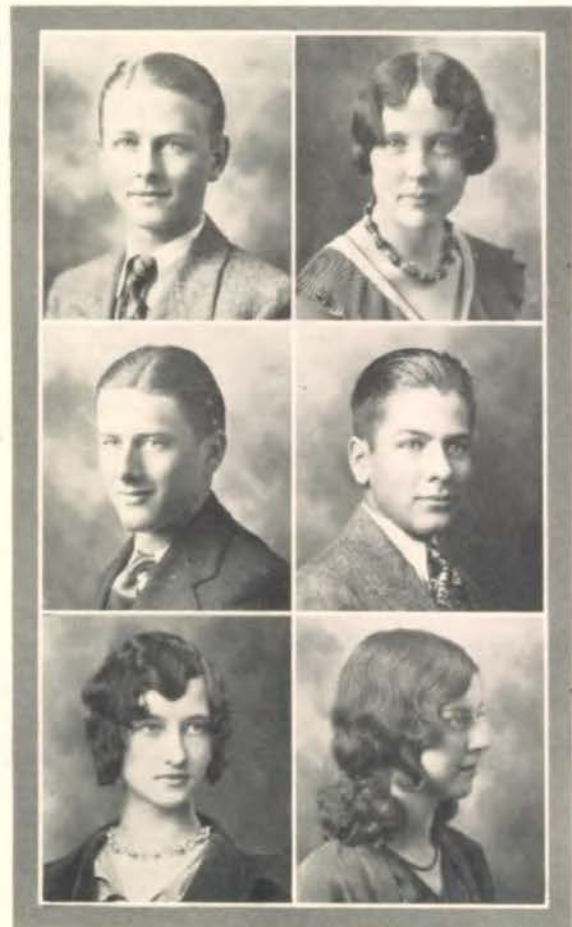

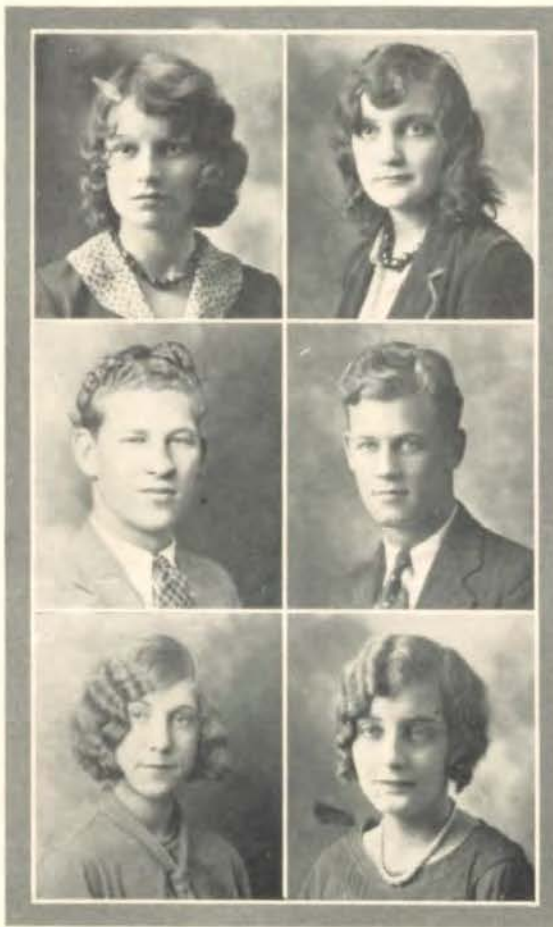

Bill was president of the Senior class, vice-president of the Junior class, captain and two year letterman in basketball, a two year letterman in track, and president of the Keats Club.

DUVALL, HOWARD WESLEY

"Hoddie" was a letterman in football, president of his home room for three years, and vice-president of the Lettermen's Club.

EDWARDS, LAURA

In Laura we have another of those "news hounds," whose hobby is the Press. She was a Zeta and Soterian officer, and a member of the Buccaneer Boosters and the Student Council.

EGAN, IRIS M.

"Whoopie" is the hobby of this young modern, who intends to become an illustrator, after attending the Art Institute. Iris was a member of the Swastika Club.

EHBAUER, ELIZABETH JEAN

That Bobbie Jean is absorbed in sports may be readily seen when one knows that she was a member of the Hiking and Archery Clubs, and an enthusiastic Buccaneer Booster.

EIB, A. GEORGE

George, a member of the football team his senior year, will attend the Kansas City School of Law, though he later intends to take up aviation.

EISFELDER, ALFRED

This promising letterman was captain of the track his junior year, and has been on the football team three years, the basketball team, two years, and the track team, three years.

ELLIS, WILMA MABEL

Wilma graduated from Paseo at the end of the first semester.

EMRICH, THELMA MAGDLEN

We wonder just what is the substance of those day dreams in which Thelma says she indulges. She was a member of the French Club both her sophomore and junior years.

EMMERT, CLARK H.

Clark, the captain of the tennis team, is found on the tennis court in the summer and the ice skating rink in the winter.

EVERLY, MARY ELIZABETH

Mary Elizabeth was a member of the Zetas, the Treasure Chest, and the Buccaneer Boosters. She will travel far and attend the University of Southern California.

ENGEL, FRANK

This R. O. T. C. corporal was a member of the Officers Club and played on the second football team. He held an office in his home room.

EWALD, GEORGE B.

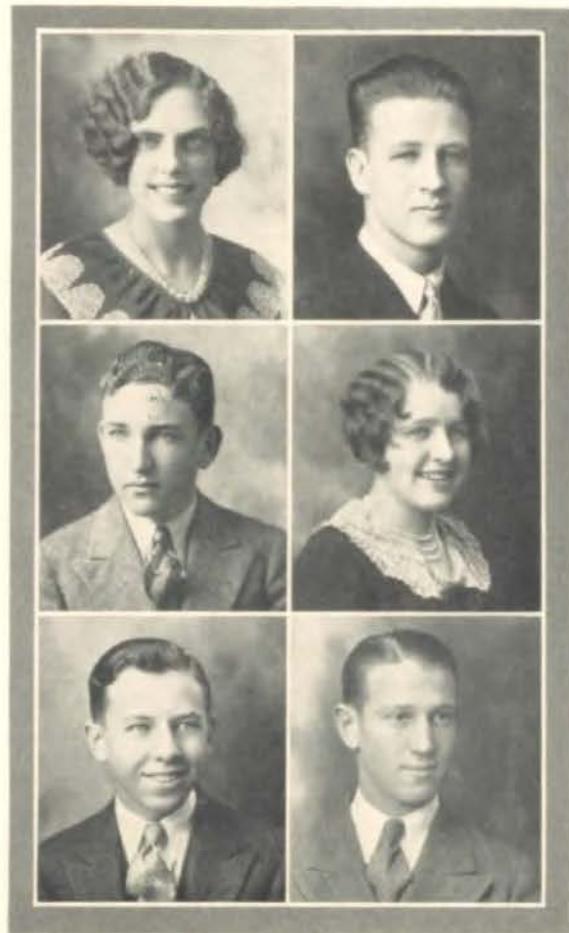

This member of the Glee Club will return to Paseo next year for a P. G. course. George belonged to the Stamp Club, the Hi-Y, and the Vocational Guidance Club.

FAWVER, MILDRED MAY

Her junior year Mildred was a member of the U and I Club, and this year she belongs to the Swastika Club. She will enter the business world after attending business college.

FIELD, HELEN JOLLY

Already an able pianist, Helen will continue her study of music at the Horner Conservatory. She was a member of the Zetas, the French Club, the Choral Club, and on the honor roll.

FIELDS, MARGUERITE

Marguerite is planning to join the ranks of stenographers, but she will first attend a business college. She was especially interested in English.

FISCHBACH, LUVENA KATHERINE

Whether she will become a typist or a bookkeeper is yet to be decided by this student, whose favorite subject was commercial arithmetic.

FITZGERALD, ROBERT L.

Bob was a three year letterman in track, a letterman in football, and was voted best boy athlete of the senior class.

FITZGERALD, CHARLOTTE

Charlotte is undecided as to her future occupation, but she has no doubts on the subject of her favorite pastime, swimming.

FLINN, MANFORD

Manford, another would-be golfer, was a member of the Social Dancing and Know Kansas City clubs. He will attend J. C.

FORD, MARY ELIZABETH

Another feminine golf champ is found in Mary Elizabeth. She was a Peppy Pirate officer, and a member of the Mask and Wig, and the Choral Club.

FOUCH, VERA L.

Art of all sorts holds great charms for Vera, though she plans to specialize in costume design at the Art Institute. She was her home room cashier and on two athletic teams.

FOX, HENRY HUDSON, JR.

Henry was a member of the executive board of the Student Council, president of his home room and the Book Lovers Club, and was a Press reporter.

FRANCIS, HAROLD DAVID

This member of the Keats was chairman of the property committee during his senior year. He also served on the cafeteria traffic squad.

FRAYLING, MARJORIE

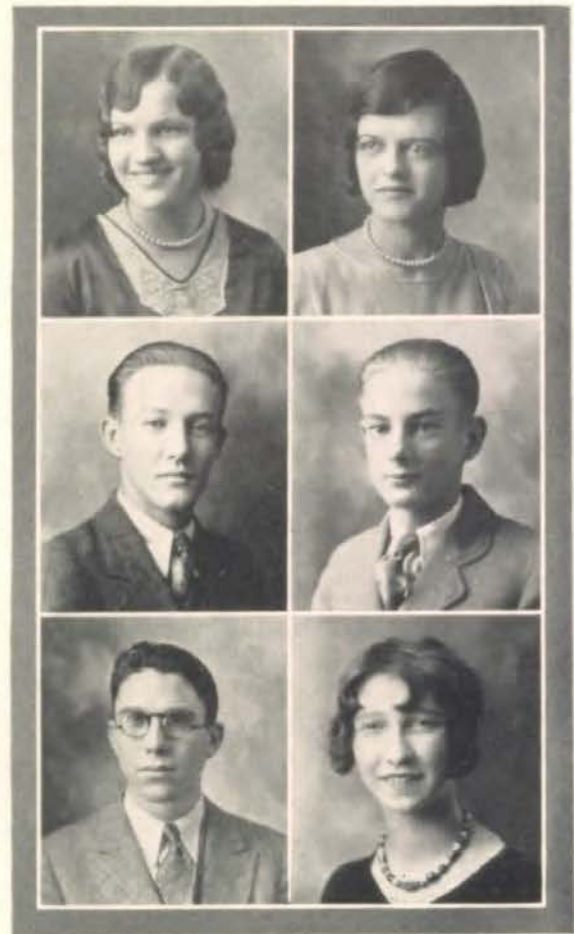

Marjorie is one of those students who have been on the highest or general honor rolls all through high school. She was a member of the Lotas, the Soterians, and the Virgilians.

FRICK, ALVIN E.

This promising engineer was a member of the Engineers Club for three years and a member of the stage crew. Alvin will go to Iowa State University.

FRICK, ADOLPH HENRY

Adolph, whose chief interest at Paseo was following all of the athletic teams, will attend business college.

FRISBY, ANASTASIA

The treasurer of the Zeta Literary Society was also Secretarian reporter, and a member of the Student Council and Buccaneer Boosters.

FRONDIZI, JAMES

This senior boy belongs to the small group of seniors who graduated at mid-year.

GARDNER, H. B.

H. B. was a member of the Student Council, the Glee Club, the Hi-Y, and the traffic squad. He submitted the name "Buccaneer Boosters" for the Pep Club.

GARLAND, MARY JEANETTE

Mary was both treasurer and secretary of the Peppy Pirates and has won a typing pin. The Student Council and the Secretarians also claim her as a member.

GARTON, BILLY ALFRED

Billy was a member of the Tennis and Officers' clubs and was a corporal, sergeant, and lieutenant in the R. O. T. C.

GEARY, ROGER E.

Roger was president of his home room for two semesters and was a member of the second team football squad.

GENTRY, MINNIE LUCILLE

Lucille, who has taken an active part in girls' gym work, was a G. R., a Zeta, and a member of the Mask and Wig, and the Recreational Club.

GEORGE, BLANCHE ELIZABETH

After finding that Blanche has been a member of a needlework club her freshman, sophomore, and junior years, we conclude that she likes to sew.

GHRIST, FRED A.

This speedy track man played on the first basketball team his senior year. He was a member of the Keats and the Student Council.

GIBBENS, HUGH

This golf "bug," who was a member of the Student Council, will study electrical engineering at Missouri University.

GIBSON, CHARLES K.

Charles was advertising manager of the Paseon, assistant business manager of the Paseo Press, Student Council representative, and member of the traffic squad.

GIDINSKY, MARGARETE M.

Here's another highest honor roll student, who delights in "parlevoing." Margarete was a member of the Virgilians, and has won a typing pin.

GILLESPIE, SARAH JEANNETTE

This tiny miss was a member of the Social Games Club and the Soterians, secretary of the U and I Club, and on the Spanish class honor roll.

STOREY, JACK WESLEY

Jack is one of the few boys who say that typing is their favorite subject, and books, their hobby. Jack hopes to be an engineer.

SWEENEY, RAYMOND G.

Raymond, a member of the Quill and Scroll, was assistant editor of the Press, reporter of the Engineers Club, a Buccaneer Booster, and group secretary of the Hi-Y.

STOCK, HOWARD

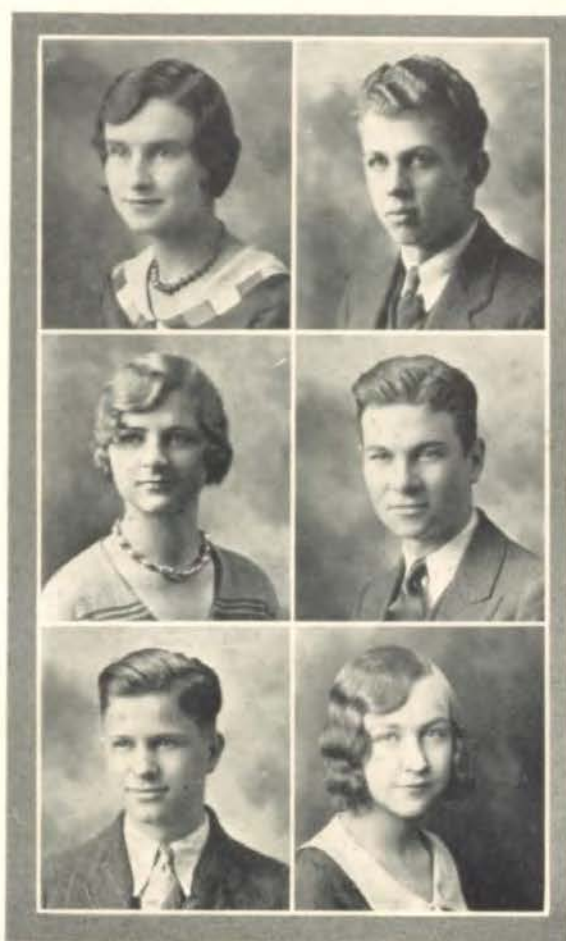

"Hoddie" was junior president, senior vice-president, letterman in basketball and football, and captain of the interscholastic all-star football team.

TALBOTT, WILLIAM B., JR.

Bill, a popular cheer leader, was treasurer of the Student Council and the Hi-Y, reporter and vice-president of the Keats, and a member of the Buccaneer Boosters and the traffic squad.

TALLEY, OPAL

This feminine member of the senior class, whose favorite subject was sewing, was a member of the Salmagundi Club.

TAYLOR, MARY ELIZABETH

Mary Elizabeth, a member of the Iotas, president of her home room, and the possessor of a typing award, expects to become a stenographer.

TAYLOR, WILBUR L.

Wilbur, a newcomer to Paseo the latter part of his junior year, was a member of the Vocational Guidance Club and was elected best student in his home room.

TERWILLEGER, J. ADELYNE

This talented pianist, who won second place in the state contest, was Peppy Pirate vice-president, Student Council representative, in the Choral Club, and has won a typing award.

TESSON, M. CHARLES

Charles, a member of the R. O. T. C., is interested in law and expects to become a lawyer after studying at Baker University.

THOMAS, CARL K.

History was the subject which Carl found most interesting of all his studies. Carl will attend a business school.

THOMAS, ZILPHA

She was a member of the Treasure Chest, president of her activity club, cashier of her home room and Student Council representative.

TIMKEN, MILDRED MARIE

Mildred, an accomplished student of German, was vice-president of the German Club, president of her activity club, and a member of the Iotas.

TITTERINGTON, MARY B.

Here's a most athletic miss, who was Soterian president, Cynthian vice-president, and a member of the Choral Club. She was on the all-star volley ball, baseball, and hockey teams.

TOELKE, ELSIE MARIE

Marie was a member of the Paseo Peppy Pirates, the Girl Reserves, and the Recreational Club. She is devoted to the art of Terpsichore.

TOWNSEND, DAVID

David was on the executive board of the Student Council, was a member of the tennis team for two years, and was a second team football man.

TRENERY, AUDREY JANE

In Audrey lies the making of the perfect secretary, who possesses skill, tact, and a winning disposition. She was a Cynthian, vice-president of her home room, and on the general honor roll.

TUCKER, FRANCES

A vivacious sponsor captain, who was Zeta president, secretary of the junior class, reporter of the senior class, assistant editor of the Press, on the honor roll, and G. R. treasurer.

TUPPER, GLADYS

Gladys left school in the middle of the year and it was impossible to obtain a list of her honors.

TURNER, DAVID HARRISON

The vice-president of the Engineers Club was also a member of the Chess Club, the Treasure Chest, and the Stamp Club, and on the track squad.

VANSKIKE, OPAL MAE

Opal was president and cashier of her home room, reporter of the Etiquette Club, and a member of the Choral Club and the Kodak Club.

VOGELSANG, CLAUDINE ELEANOR

Claudine was a member of the Iota Literary Society and the Salmagundi Club. She was also elected to the National Honor Society.

WADE, STANLEY

Stanley was a member of the Glee Club both his junior and senior years. After attending Kansas University, he plans a musical career.

WALDRON, NORVEL WILLITTS

Norvel belonged to the Engineers, the German Club, and the Glee Club, and played in the band his sophomore year. He was a Press reporter.

WALDRON, RAYMOND S.

This future journalist held three offices in the Engineers, was secretary of the Glee Club, a member of the Hi-Y and the Buccaneer Boosters, and assistant editor of the Press.

WALKER, ROY EDWARD

The R. O. T. C., in which he was a sergeant, has claimed most of Roy's time and interest at Paseo. He will go to University of California.

WALLACE, RUTH J.

Though Ruth says Paseo's greatest attraction for her was her lunch hour, we are sure that her Alma Mater conferred other than gustatory delights upon her, as she is fond of typing.

WALLER, JOE

Joe, the sports editor of the Press, was secretary and vice-president of the Juntos, and on the golf team his junior year.

WALTERS, DANAE

Danae, a highest honor roll student, held offices in the junior and senior classes, was secretary of the Juntos, vice-president of the Student Council, and editor-in-chief of the Paseon.

WARD, LAURA JOAN

This Peppy Pirate, who is looking forward next year to Ward Belmont, was a Soterian, a G. R., and a member of the Buccaneer Boosters.

WATERS, DOROTHY EVELYN

Dorothy, a member of the Choral Club, left school before graduation.

WATLING, FRANCES

The jolly little president of the Iota Literary Society was on the endball and volley ball teams for three years, and she has won a fifty point letter in athletics.

WATT, MARY JANE

This member of Paseo's senior class found her gym work a most welcome diversion, particularly after a round of exams. She will be a nurse.

WEAVER, SCOTT

Scott was reporter for the Keats Club, Student Council alternate, home room editor of the Paseo Press, and on the general honor roll.

WEBB, LEONARD V.

Leonard was vice-president of his senior home room and held numerous offices in his home rooms of other years.

WEIDE, ETHEL C.

Ethel, a newcomer to our school this year, says that the athletic events claimed the greater part of her interest at Paseo.

WEISS, ANNA ROSE

Here is a thrifty miss who says that her chief interest at Paseo was banking. Anna Rose was treasurer and bank cashier of the Secretarians.

WELCH, VESTA

Vesta, a member of the Vocational Guidance Club, the Soterians, and the Homemaking Club, was voted into the National Honor Society her senior year.

WENZEL, LEW

Lew, a young collector of old coins, has been a member of the track squad for three years. This Junto anticipates a J. C.-M. U. course.

WEST, PAULINE OMEGA

Pauline was a Student Council representative her first two years. She will advance still further in her favorite subject, bookkeeping, at business college.

WHITE, EUNICE B.

Evidently Eunice believes in having a good time because one of her many interests at Paseo was "fun." She was Student Council alternate.

WHITE, HORACE, JR.

Horace, secretary of the Engineers, Student Council representative, home room president, a member of the Glee Club, and business manager of the Press, will go to the University of Minnesota.

WILCOX, MADALYN LILLIAN

Ambitious Madalyn, a girl who really liked her chemistry, expects to be a technician. She was on the general honor roll and was a Girl Reserve.

WILCOX, MILDRED

Mildred was a member of the Cynthian Literary Society and the Student Council, and president of her home room. J. C. is her next stop.

WILKES, ELIZABETH CROWLEY

This tall senior, who is to be a journalist, was junior basketball captain, on the Press staff and honor roll, and a member of the Mask and Wig, the Virgilians, and the Student Council.

WILKISON, VIRGINIA

Virginia has largely spent her time in the art and music departments, much to the benefit of both. She was secretary and treasurer of her home room and a member of the orchestra.

WILLEY, AUDREY

Audrey served as a Student Council representative. J. C. is her future school, and teaching her prospective career.

WILLIAMS, NADINE

Nadine, a clear-headed young person with a flair for mathematics, intends to go to Junior College. She is a member of the National Honor Society.

WILLOUGHBY, LEONA RUTH

Ruth will be an addition to any library when she takes up that work. She was an officer of the Cynthian Literary Society and her home room secretary.

WILSON, FRANCES

Frances, whose hobby is having a good time, was a member of the Social Dancing, Community Singing, and Etiquette clubs, and sang in the Choral Club for two years.

WILSON, JAMES M.

This "high flying" Engineer has chosen aviation as his future profession. James was a member of the Buccaneer Boosters.

WINSELL, BERTHA MAE

Bertha Mae graduated at the end of the first semester.

WINTER, RICHARD HENRY

Richard, who aspires to be a commercial artist, has not as yet selected his college. Golf is the hobby of this artistic gentleman.

WITHROW, MARY MARTHA

Mary Martha was Student Council representative. She tells us history was her favorite subject, but there are few things she likes better than tennis.

THE NINETEEN HUNDRED THIRTY PASEON

WITTE, LORENE

Lorene was a member of the basketball team her sophomore year, and her senior year she was elected to membership in the Peppy Pirates.

WOLVERTON, MARGRETTE

Margrette was a member of the Cynthian Literary Society and the Soterians, and a reporter on the Paseo Press. She has planned a J. C.-K. U. course.

WOODWARD, VAN

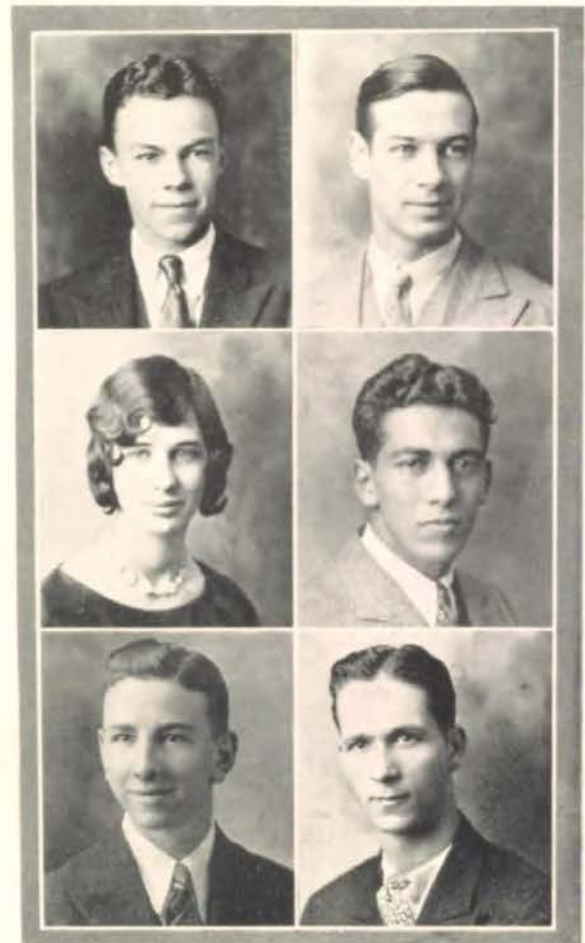

Van was editor of the Paseo Press, president of the Student Council, president of the Keats, on the general honor roll, and a member of the National Honor Society and the Hi-Y.

WORDEN, VIVIAN

Vivian, a girl who loves books, was vice-president of the Latin Club her sophomore year, and her junior year she was on the honor roll.

WORM, MARIAN

This small Buccaneer Booster, an energetic rooster at all athletic events, was a member of the French Club, the Etiquette Club, and the Kodak Club.

WILSON, ALVIN

Alvin, a cheerleader, whose pep and enthusiasm are unboundable, was president of the Juntos and a track letterman his junior and senior year. He will attend K. U.

YATES, ALFRED

Alfred, a senior, who goes in for all kinds of outdoor sports, was secretary and reporter of the Vocational Guidance Club, and a second lieutenant in the R. O. T. C.

YATES, FRANCES

Frances has been both alternate and representative of the Student Council. She has confessed that her hobby is home economics.

ZAMMAR, EDWARD RICHMOND

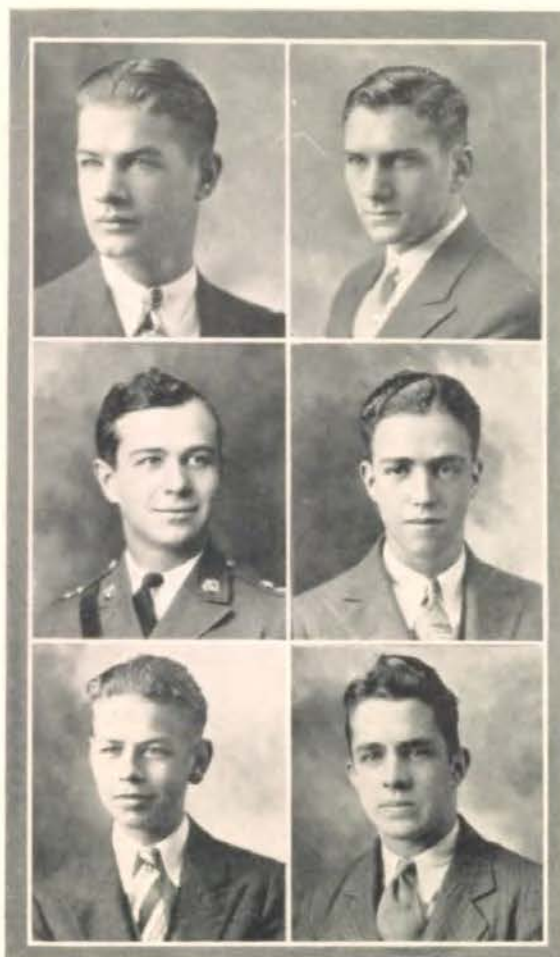

Edward, a golf enthusiast, was a member of the golf team his junior year. He was vice-president of the Checker Club, home room reporter, and has worked on the Paseo Press.

BARTHOLOMAEOUS, GEORGE

George was president and vice-president of the Stamp Club, president of the Treasure Chest Club, a letterman in track, and was awarded the prize for the best short story appearing in the Press.

BULLOCK, MAHLON

This member of the Glee Club was also a member of the Social Dancing and Etiquette clubs. He will study to be a physician at K. U.

CROW, PEARSON

This boy, who will attend the Universal Aviation School, was reporter of his home room and a member of the general honor roll.

HARGIS, FRED

Fred was a letterman in football and track, a Student Council representative, a member of the Junto and Lettermen's clubs, and a member of the traffic squad.

HOWELL, NORMAN

Norman, whose hobby was bowling, was a member of the Junto Literary Society and a member of the band. He will go to law school.

MYERS, LOWELL C.

Lowell was a four year member of the band and a member of the All City band. He was also a contributor to and a member of the Treasure Chest.

REX, CLEVELAND I., JR.

Cleveland, whose hobby seems to be dancing, was a Student Council representative and sergeant-at-arms of the Public Speaking Forum.

ROBINSON, VERA MAE

Vera has devoted much of her time at Paseo to her work in the Choral Club and Triple Trio, but she has also been interested in the Girl Reserves and was secretary of the junior triangle.

SHEPHERD, KATHRYN MAE

A loyal member of the Zetas, Kathryn also belonged to the Buccaneer Boosters and the Recreation Club. She was Student Council representative her sophomore year.

SPECTOR, ROSE

Rose has been a member of the Know Kansas City, the Social Games, and the Kodak clubs. Another girl who enjoyed her study of music.

STARK, HARRIET

One silver and three gold pins testify as to Harriet's efficiency as a typist. She was a member of the Thicians, the Girl Reserves, and president of her home room.

STEVENSON, EDWARD

Edward thinks there is no better way to spend your spare time than chasing a golf ball over the fairway. He will go to J. C.

HANOVER, LOUIS ROSS

Louis, one of Paseo's loyal sport followers, was a member of the Checker Club. He will attend Missouri University.

Senior Ballot

On Monday, March 17, the senior class met, amid much hilarity, to fill the positions on the class ballot. This year the two new positions, those of Best Boy and Best Girl Dancer, were added to the original list of fourteen. The results of this ballot were acknowledgements of the service, efforts, and popularity of the students chosen.

Junior Officers

Having duly viewed pages and pages which record all the glory and virtue of the senior class of 1930, we now turn the spotlight on that lively group of students, the juniors, who are demanding their rights. The first business of the juniors was the election of their officers. Through balloting carried on in the home rooms, the five hundred juniors elected seven of their number to lead them on to further glory. As a result of the final ballot, April 4, Bob Adams was elected president; Dick Flury, vice-president; Maxine Ellison, secretary; Wells Burton, gift receiver; John Dennis, treasurer; John Engberg, sergeant-at-arms; and Jane Heffner, reporter. All of these officers are students who have been prominent in all branch school activities. Bob Adams was treasurer of the Student Council, captain of the second team basketball, a second team letterman, and reporter of the Keats Club. Dick Flury was sports editor of the Press and on the second football and basketball teams. Maxine Ellison, a member of the executive board of the Student Council, upholds the scholastic standards of the juniors. To Wells Burton goes the honor of being a junior member of the National Honor Society. John Dennis is a coming football man and Jane Heffner plays an active part in Paseo's dramatic department. These students are representative of the talent of ability of the juniors who are found on the Paseon and Press staffs, on the executive board of the Student Council, on the National Honor Society, the honor rolls and the athletic teams. The usual junior program was given by the juniors for the seniors and was one of the most successful in "prom" history.

CHEST O' PIEP

CLARENCE LEWIS

The next few pages make up one of the most interesting and entertaining sections of the Paseon. Here one finds a series of pictures taken in and about Paseo at all times of the school year; instead of formal groups of students wearing that "having my picture taken" expression, there are delightful snapshots which give the reader a glimpse of the happy, lighthearted existence which the majority of modern high school students lead. There are views of the auditorium, the cafeteria, pictures of the athletic field, the library, the class room at an informal moment, and the halls, to say nothing of the beautiful views of the building and campus, snapped from every conceivable angle. In this section the photographic editor has continued the "baby picture" feature which caused much hilarity among the students last year, and proved one of the best selling points of the annual. For three years the gayly painted box, labeled "Paseon Snapshots" has remained empty, but this year the students responded to the call for Paseo snapshots, and the box has actually served its purpose. The photographic editor takes this opportunity to thank the students who heeded this call.

Some years hence this section will be one of the most interesting parts of the annual to Paseo's students. It will present a cross-section of school life at Paseo, as they knew it. Here one sees pictures of the class rooms "in action." This year the ubiquitous photographic editor, armed with his camera, has invaded the physics and chemistry laboratories, the botany room, and the art room during the class sessions, and in the Paseoscope section you may view the spoils of his invasion. Of interest equal to that of the class room interiors are the views of the building and campus, which will prove enjoyable to those who have grown to love Paseo's beautiful setting. One page of this section which will be well thumbed is that devoted wholly to snapshots of Paseo's football, basketball, and track stars. The other pictures include those of the R. O. T. C. cadets, the major and the sponsor major, teachers, and a view of the office. The photographic editor, James Burnley, and his assistant, Byron Smith, deserve a large vote of thanks for the time and effort they have spent in collecting these snapshots, which give the reader an idea of the varied activities of high school students.

Chancing upon the dusty records of Pirate Jym's former adventures, we found many a fascinating yarn. There were tales with a salty tang, recalling his first voyage as a jolly buccaneer; then the thrilling account of an aviator's "ups and downs"; and lastly the scholarly journal of a gentleman pirate in search of the Book Beautiful. This year, however, the log of our versatile pirate takes the form of the diary of the keeper of a lighthouse. Each day has found Pirate Jym on his lofty perch in the lighthouse tower, carefully tending his beacon light which has guided the course of Paseo's youthful adventurers over the turbulent seas of knowledge. Through his powerful glasses he has witnessed the daily progress of his venturesome squadrons, and in his diary, he has faithfully recorded all their trials and triumphs. Frequently he mentions the bravery and gallantry of the commanding officers, Captain Stigall and First Mate Shepherd, who guided the course of the lusty voyagers. Occasionally he reports a few men overboard. These casualties usually occur around "grade card time," when some young adventurer loses sight of Pirate Jym's beacon light (which as you may have guessed is the light of learning) and his craft goes on the rocks.

The first entries in the diary described the busy days of enrollment and the beginning of numerous activities, the organization of the Student Council, the renewal of club life, and the publishing of the much heralded free issue of the Paseo Press. Later we find Pirate Jym's comments on the hard fought gridiron contests, in which his hardy Bucs battled valiantly with enemy crews from other high schools. As we read on, we are reminded of that gala event, the Carnival, which Pirate Jym witnessed from afar with longing gaze. At intervals there is mention of the dramatic efforts of the young voyagers. According to our pirate, "The New Poor" and "Contents Unknown" were most successful and were opportunities for the display of much talent on the part of Miss Francis' aspiring young Thespians. Again we read countless entries in which fierce encounters of the pirate athletes at Convention Hall during the basketball season are described. Then there are many pages which supply ample evidence of the diligence of the hard-working students as they draw nearer and nearer to Pirate Jym's beacon light, though in between we discover delightful accounts of the days when the squadrons dropped anchor and made merry with song and dance—but turn the page and read for yourself Pirate Jym's record of 1929-1930.

PIRATE JYM

Mounts His Tower
To Guide The
Squadrons Over The Seas of Knowledge

September 3, 1929.

Pirate Jym mounts his lofty tower and sees two thousand one hundred and three students aboard the waiting ships which are to carry them over the seas of knowledge.

September 26, 1929.

On this day, writes Pirate Jym, the young adventurers elect Jack Duncan president of the Student Council.

October 3, 1929.

Pirate Jym records the first gridiron victory of the Buccaneers. De LaSalle is defeated 31 to 0.

October 24, 1929.

An unlucky day was this. The plucky Bucs go down fighting with a 2 to 6 score in the Westport battle.

October 31, 1929.

The head squadron launches the sturdy craft, the Paseon, under the captaincy of Danae Walters.

November 21, 1929.

Two hardy adventurers are honored. Hoddy Stock and Art Leppert became members of the all-star football team.

November 22, 1929.

The squadron drops anchor and pauses to make merry. The Carnival Spirit reigns at Paseo.

December 5, 1929.

Ahoy! Bill Duncan is elected to guide the seniors during the remaining voyage.

December 13, 1929.

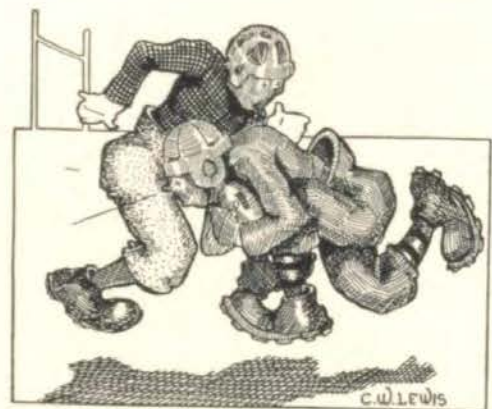

Black-bearded and mysterious Russians pace the deck before the presentation of the Christmas play, "The New Poor."

January 9, 1930.

The Buccaneer Quintet starts the new year right by defeating De LaSalle 29 to 11.

January 30, 1930.

Marjorie Parcell lays down her pen, and Van Woodward takes it up as the new Paseo Press editor.

February 20, 1930.

Two more students step up before the spotlight and take their bow. Pirate Jym hails Ruth Leffler as sponsor major and Van Woodward as Student Council president.

February 24, 1930.

Two Chinese visitors, Mr. and Mrs. James Ding, guests of Miss Spencer, came aboard to see how things are done at Paseo.

February 27, 1930.

We salute Minford Sherman as R. O. T. C. major.

March 14, 1930.

The juniors become frivolous and frolic in the gym at their class mixer.

March 21, 1930.

Pirate Jym enjoys a pleasant thrill at the presentation of another mystery play, "Contents Unknown."

April 4, 1930.

The Lettermen black their faces and entertain with "Whar's De Groom."

April 10, 1930.

Pirate Jym approves of the choice of Bob Adams as junior president.

April 11, 1930.

The cadets go ashore to take part in the annual R. O. T. C. Circus.

April 12, 1930.

The orators wax eloquent at Convention Hall. Hubert Presley represents Paseo.

April 25, 1930.

A most solemn occasion. Pirate Jym witnesses the induction of the new members of the National Honor Society.

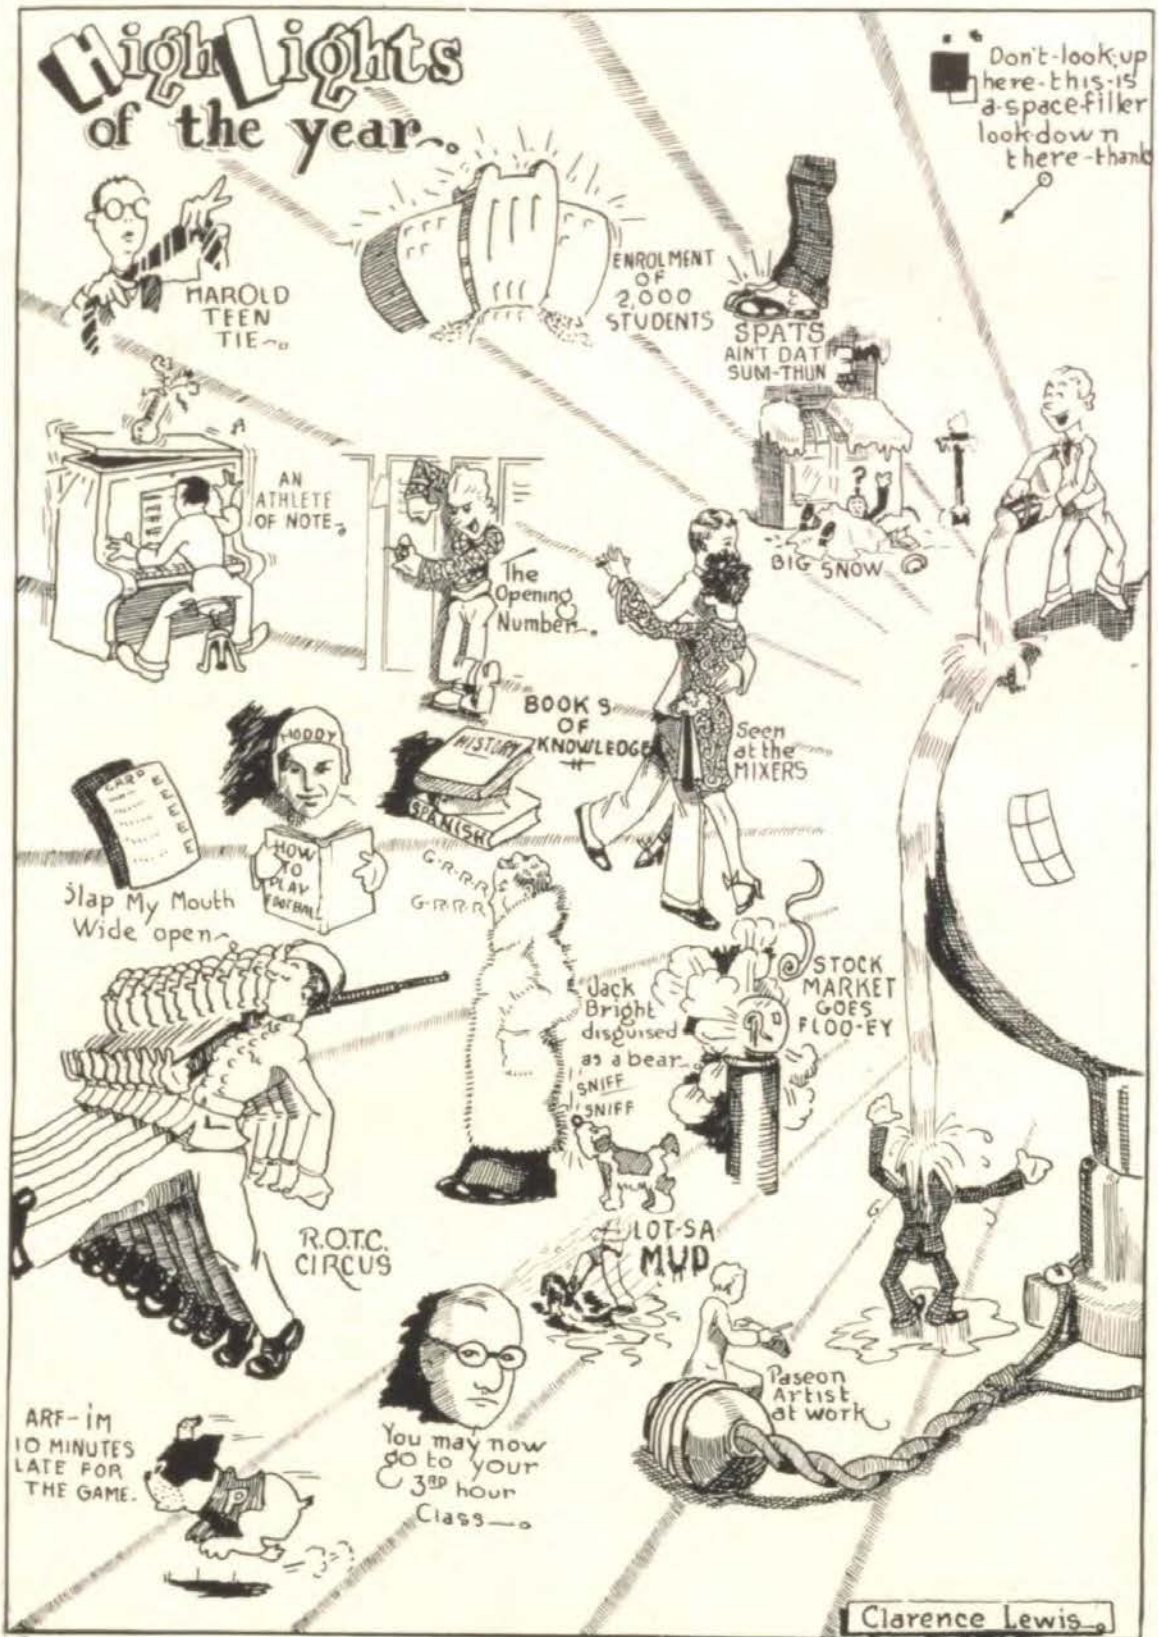

May 16, 1930.

Paseo's Choral and Glee Clubs tune up for the Music Festival.

May 23, 1930.

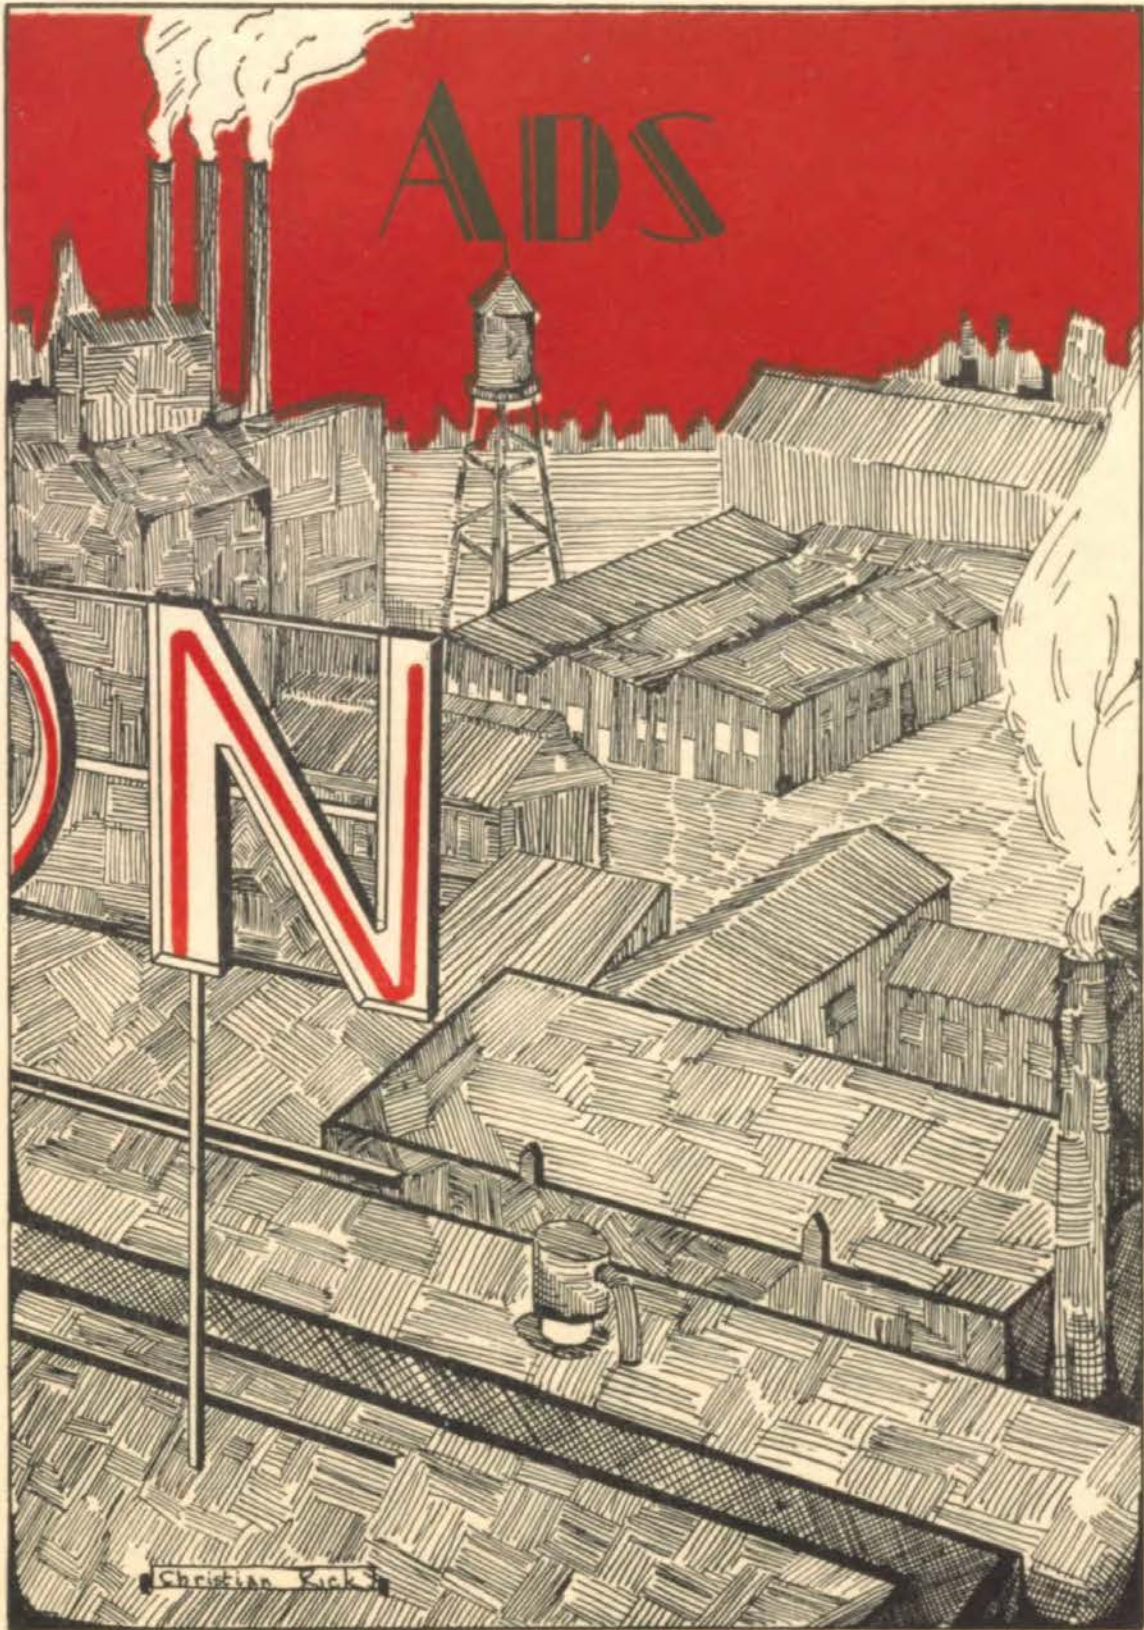

Land Ahoy! The seniors disembark having safely traversed the seas of knowledge.

AN OLD SONG UP TO DATE

Believe me if all those endearing young charms

Which I view with admiring dismay,
Are going to rub off on the shoulders and arms

Of this suit which was just cleaned today,
Thou wilt still be adored with my usual zeal;

My sweetheart, my loved one, my own;
But I'll sternly suppress the emotions I feel
And love thee, but leave thee alone.

It is not that thy beauty is any the less
Nor thy cheeks quite unnaturally gay;
They are lovely indeed, as I gladly confess,
And I think I shall leave them that way.

For the bloom of your youth isn't on very tight,

And the powder rubs off of your nose.
So my love is platonic, my dear, for to-night,

Since these are my very best clothes.

Bus Eisfelder: "Will these shoes wear long?"

Dealer: "Wear long? Why, sir, nobody has ever yet come back for a second pair."

Bill: "Did you hear about the Scotchman who went to have a profile picture taken?"

Woodson L.: "No."

Bill: "He only had one side of his suit pressed."

"It is high time you were insured against accident, sir."

"Why?"

"You are sitting on the boxing champion's hat."

Miss Weeks (in English): "I'm looking for some sentences that are wrong. Read yours, Miss Fields."

Rosalind had just done everything wrong, disregarded signal lights, made a prohibited left turn, and then stalled in the middle of the street. An irate traffic cop rushed up. "Say, lady," said he, "Do you know anything at all about traffic regulations?"

Rosalind: "Sure, what is it you wanted to know about?"

Margaret Swinehart: "Dad, define homework for me, won't you?"

Mr. Swinehart: "Sure, carrying wood, feeding stock, wiping dishes, mending clothes, running errands, etc."

"Is Thranetown a healthful town?" asked a gentleman of a native in a small town.

"It sure is," replied the native, "When I came here I couldn't utter a word, I had scarcely a hair on my head. I hadn't strength to walk across the room, and had to be lifted from my bed."

"That is wonderful," replied the stranger. "How long have you been here?"

"I was born here," retorted the native.

Bus received this from an old friend: "Washout on line cannot come."

Bus wired back: "Come anyway borrow a shirt."

Wm. Long: "Pardon me, sir, but will you get off my foot?"

Frank Beck: "I would, but it's too far to walk."

LOAFERS LOGIC

We go to school to improve our faculties. Our instructors are our faculties. Therefore, we go to school to improve our instructors.

Ruth Leffler: "I'm never happy unless I'm breaking into song."

Adelyne T.: "Why don't you get the key? You wouldn't have to break in."

Ray Waldron: "Is there anything you can do better than anyone else?"

Van: "Yes, read my own handwriting."

Lawyer (for auto accident victim):
"Gentlemen of the jury, the driver of the car stated that he was going only six miles an hour. Think of the long agony of my poor client, the victim, as the car drove so slowly over him."

Mother: "Bobby, what would your father say if he saw you'd broken that branch off?"

Bobby: "He'd say trees are not so well made now as they were before the war."

Mrs. Stock: "Oh, Hoddy, you've been playing football again, and lost two teeth."

Hoddy: "No I haven't, mom. They're in my pocket."

Stranger: "How far is it to Paseo High?"

Freshie: "Well, as you're headed, its 24,999 miles; but if you turn around it is only one mile."

Craig: "My mother will be surprised when she gets my letter."

Bus E.: "Why?"

Craig: "Well, she used to say that I could never hold a job. And in the last six months I've held seven."

Grocer: "We have some very nice horse-radish today."

New Bride: "Oh, but we keep a car you see."

Miss Downs: "The farmer gets only 17 cents for eggs now. What will they be in June?"

Mahlon B.: "They'll still be eggs, I guess."

J. W.: "Talk about a woman's sympathy! I told my best girl the other night that I was broke."

Bob: "And what did she say?"

J. W.: "She said our engagement was too."

Miss Eckles: "Margaret, what are the Middle Ages?"

Margaret S.: "They used to be 30 to 45. Now they are 50 to 70."

Miss Redmond: "If I tear a piece of paper into four what do I get?"

J. W. McCormack: "Quarters."

Miss R.: "And if I divide it into eight what?"

J. W.: "Eighths."

Miss R.: "And if I divide it into eight thousand?"

J. W.: "Confetti."

Eleanor D.: "Oh, doctor! Do I have to take ether? How long will it be before I know anything?"

Doctor: "Now Miss Dugan. You mustn't expect too much of ether."

Mr. Lovejoy: "Should a husband keep anything from his wife?"

Mr. Richmond: "Well, enough for lunch and carfare, I should say."

Zackie C.: "What are those things on the cow's head?"

Farmer: "Those are horns."

Just then the cow mooed.

Zackie: "Which one did she blow then?"

Mr. Lovejoy: "What is the penalty of bigamy?"

Richard M.: "Two mother-in-laws, sir."

"Is that all the work you can do in an hour?" asked Sam's new employer.

"Well, boss," said Sam, "I dussay I could do moh—but I nevah was one for showing off."

Guest (at seance): "You certainly have a wonderful medium. With the tips of his fingers he lifts up chairs, tables, cabinets, etc."

Hostess: "Yes, he used to be a piano mover."

He (teaching girl to drive): "Now in case of emergency, the first thing to do is to put on the brakes."

She: "Why, I thought they came with the car."

Judge: "Why is it that you want the man's description of the house?"

Man: "Because creditors have better memories than debtors."

Van W. (In physics lab.): "Say, Mr. Cramer, I've been sitting here for an hour, and this vanishing cream hasn't moved yet."

"Nature," explained the philosopher, "always tries to make compensations; for instance, if one eye is lost, the sight of the other becomes stronger, and if a person grows deaf in one ear, the hearing of the other becomes more acute."

"Faith," said Pat, "and I believe you're right, for I've noticed that when a man has one leg shorter, the other is always longer."

Max H.: "So I won't be lonesome while you are sleeping, dear."

Mr. Zammar: "Son, come down out of that tree."

Ed: "I can't, father. I just had a letter from the sophomores at correspondence school telling me to haze myself."

Miss Down: "Gilbert, give me a sentence using the word 'selfish'."

Gil Skaer (after much deep thought): "My father and I sell fish."

Fred Ghrist: "Here comes my buddy, Roy. He's a human dynamo."

Roy A.: "How come?"

Fred: "Everything he has on is charged."

Mr. Leach: "Tell me of the five most important races of man."

Gladys M.—Marjorie R.—Heartache.

Vivian D.—(Preparation)—Bluff.

Gil Palen—(Notebook)—Failure.

(Ruth—Park)—notes—Heroic Couplet.

Van—Absent mindedness—A perfectly good editor.

PROMINENT PUPILS' PET PASTIMES

Hubert Pressley, studying the Constitution, and giving orations upon it.

Van Woodward, finding the news and getting it into the paper.

Frances Tucker, writing and receiving notes. Receiving preferred.

Louise Eviston, finding something to say "I resent that" for.

Bill Duncan, getting over one speed test, and getting his nerves steeled for the next one.

Felice Stampfle, finding nice things to put in the Paseon about people.

TRAGEDY

Laughter—

A hush—

The ominous quiet of a crowd.

Breathlessness—

Tenseness—

No whispering or talking aloud—

Silence—

Awe—

Questions, dreadful and restrained.

A whisper—

More silence—

A groan—

What Vivian lost, she had regained.

 "It is that," said Michael, "and I think so the more every time I put me pick in it."

Miss Zimmerman: "Name the world's greatest composer."

Horace White: "Chloroform."

Miss Eckles (to filling station attendant): "I want a quart of red oil."

"A quart of r-r-red oil," gasped the poor attendant.

Miss Eckles: "Certainly, my tail light has gone out."

Miss Kaufman: "Now we find that X is equal to zero."

 Kicked out.

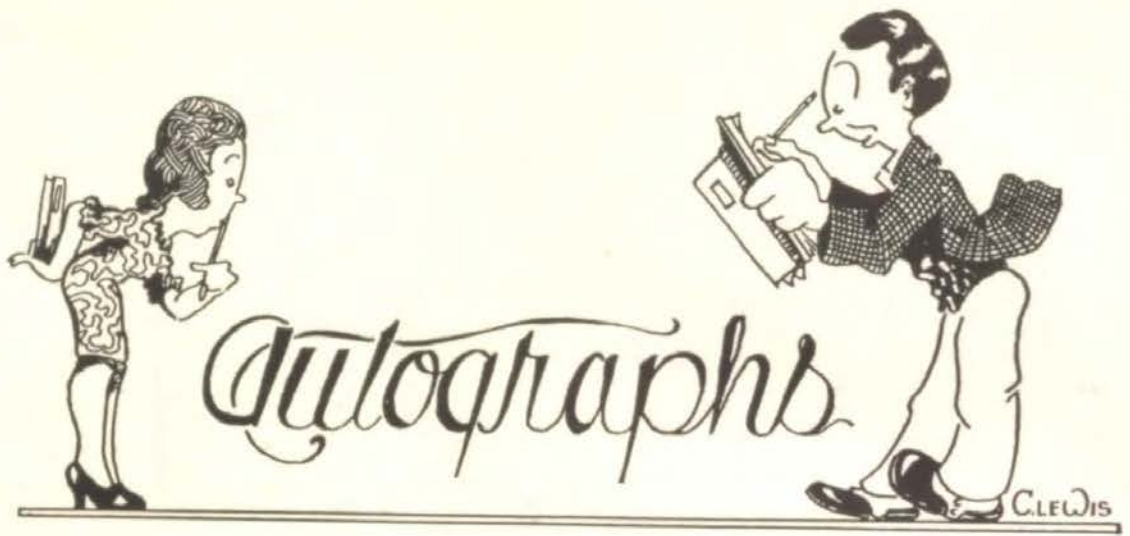

Major Sherman: "Forward, march! Company halt! Forward, march! Squads, left! Squads, right! On left into line! By the right flank, march. Halt! Rest! Attention!"

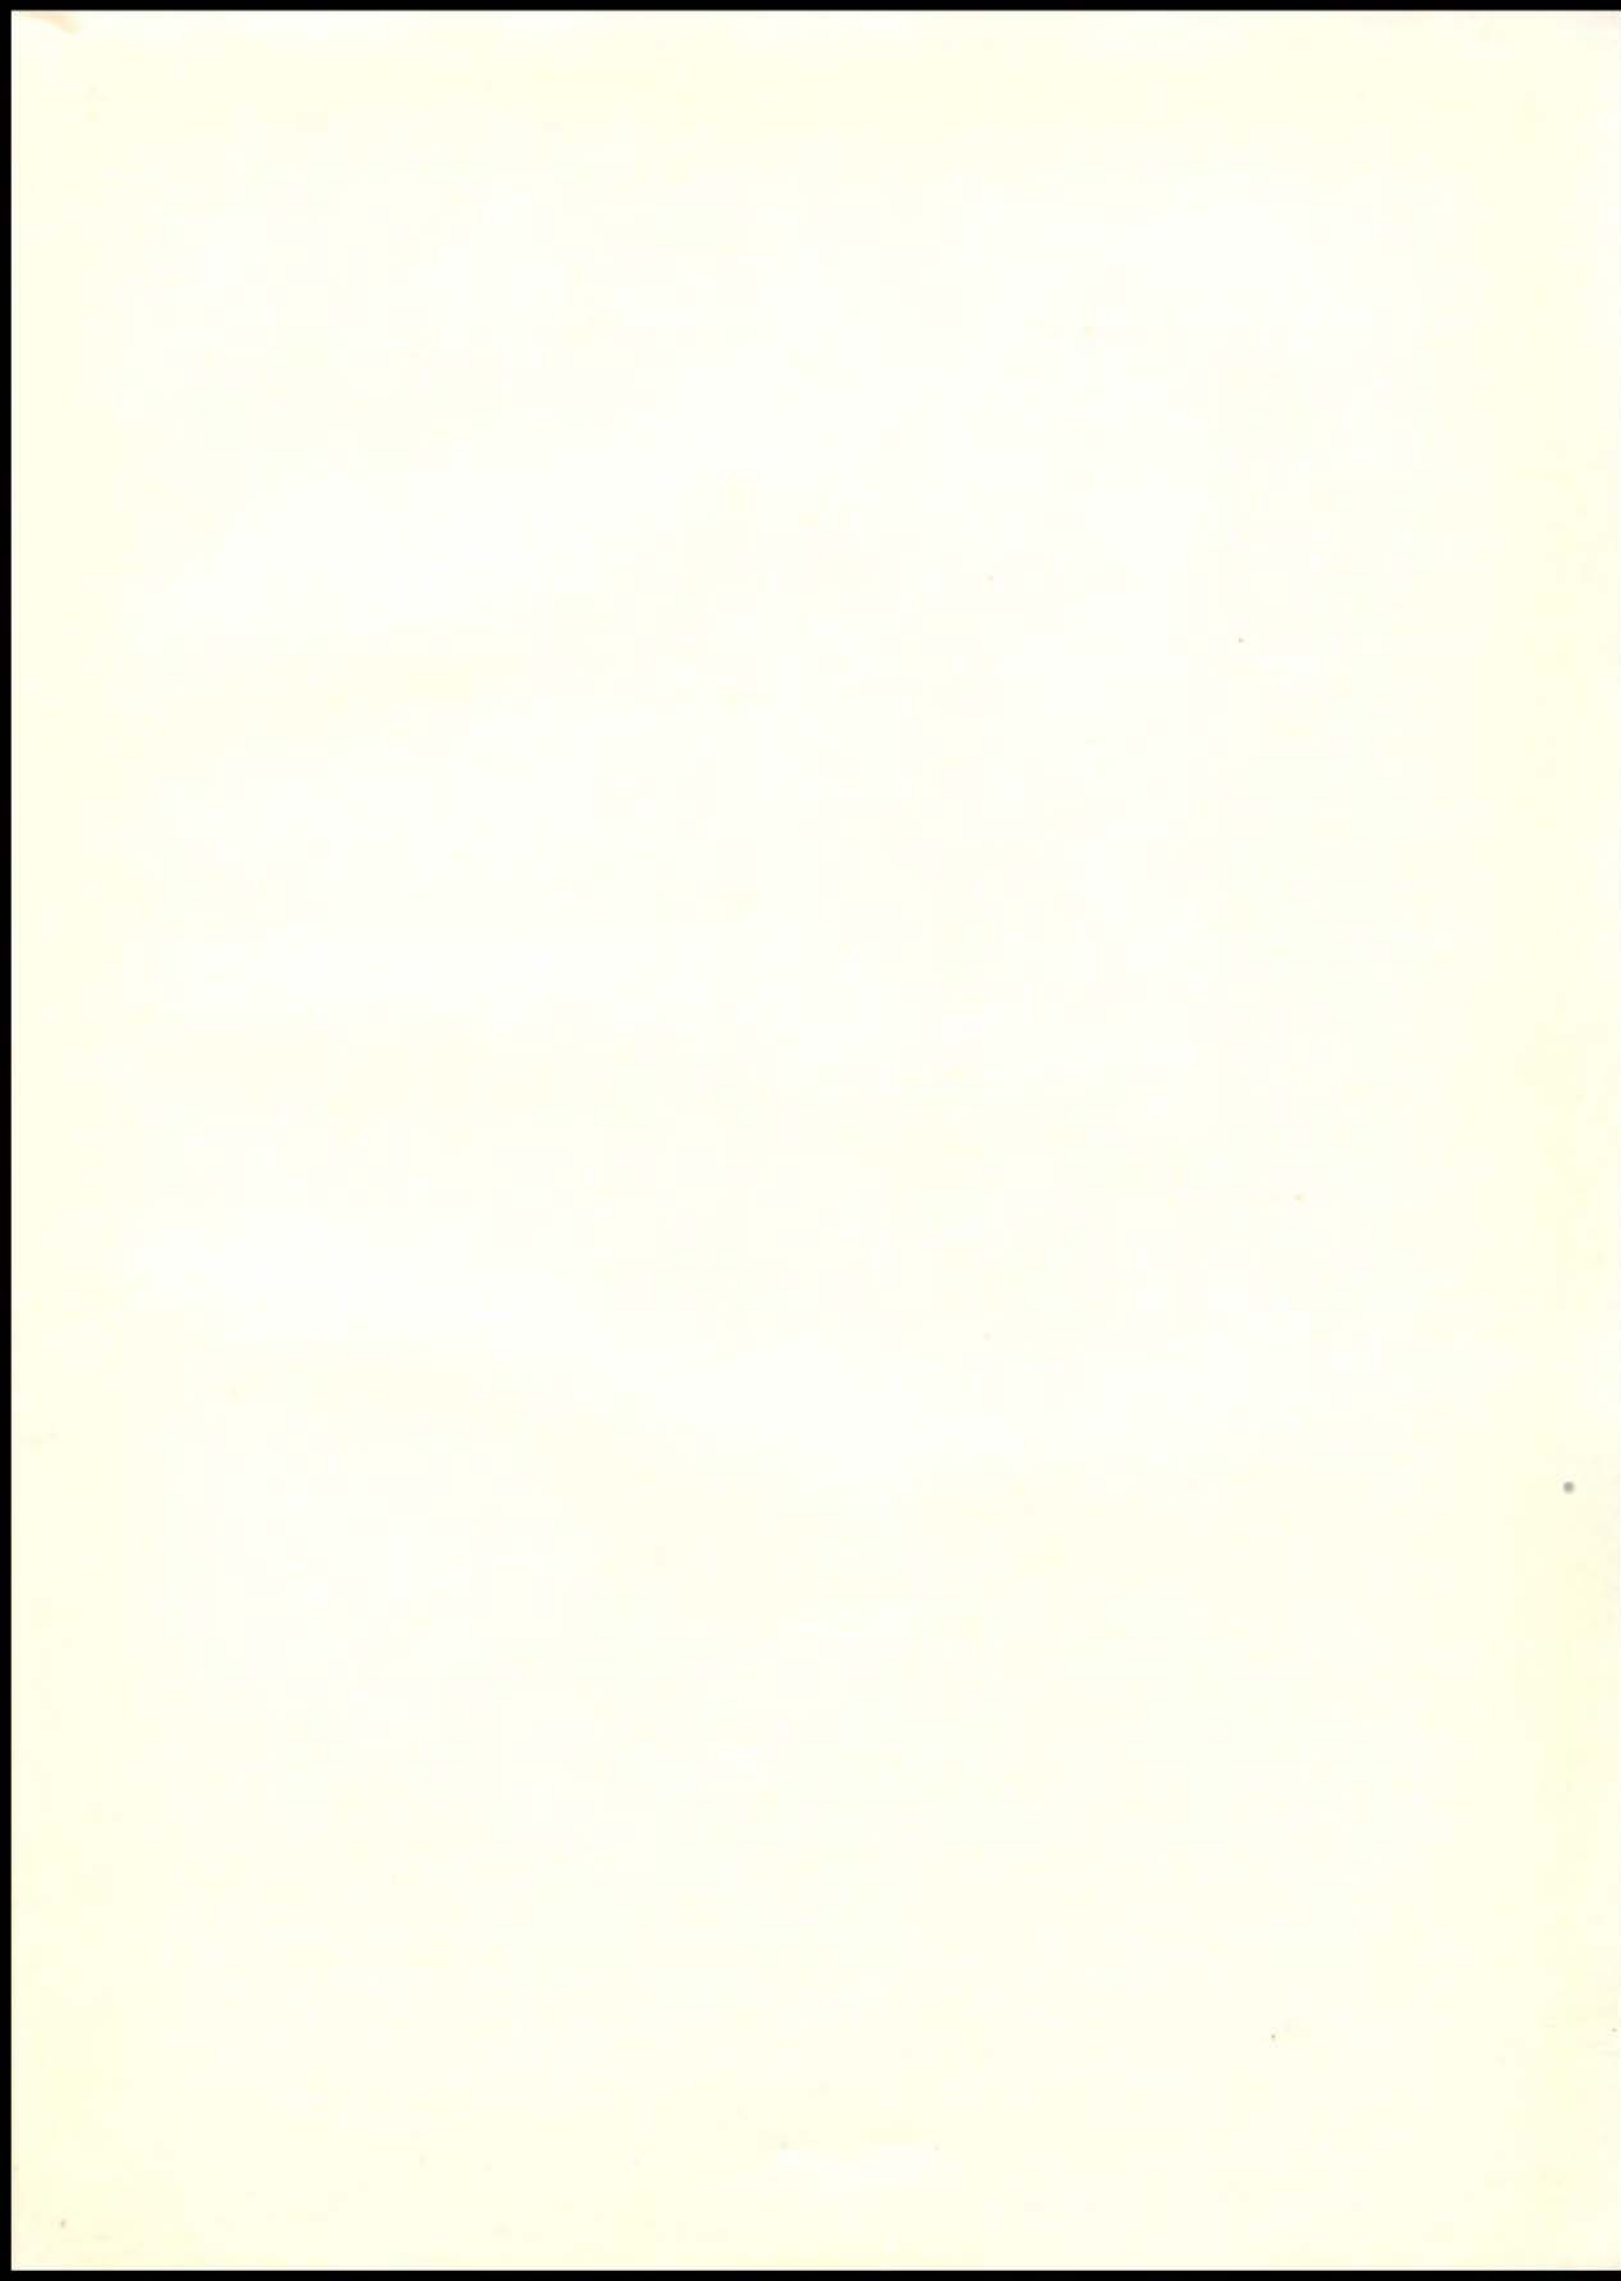

Freshie: "Darned, if I'll work for a guy that changes his mind so often."

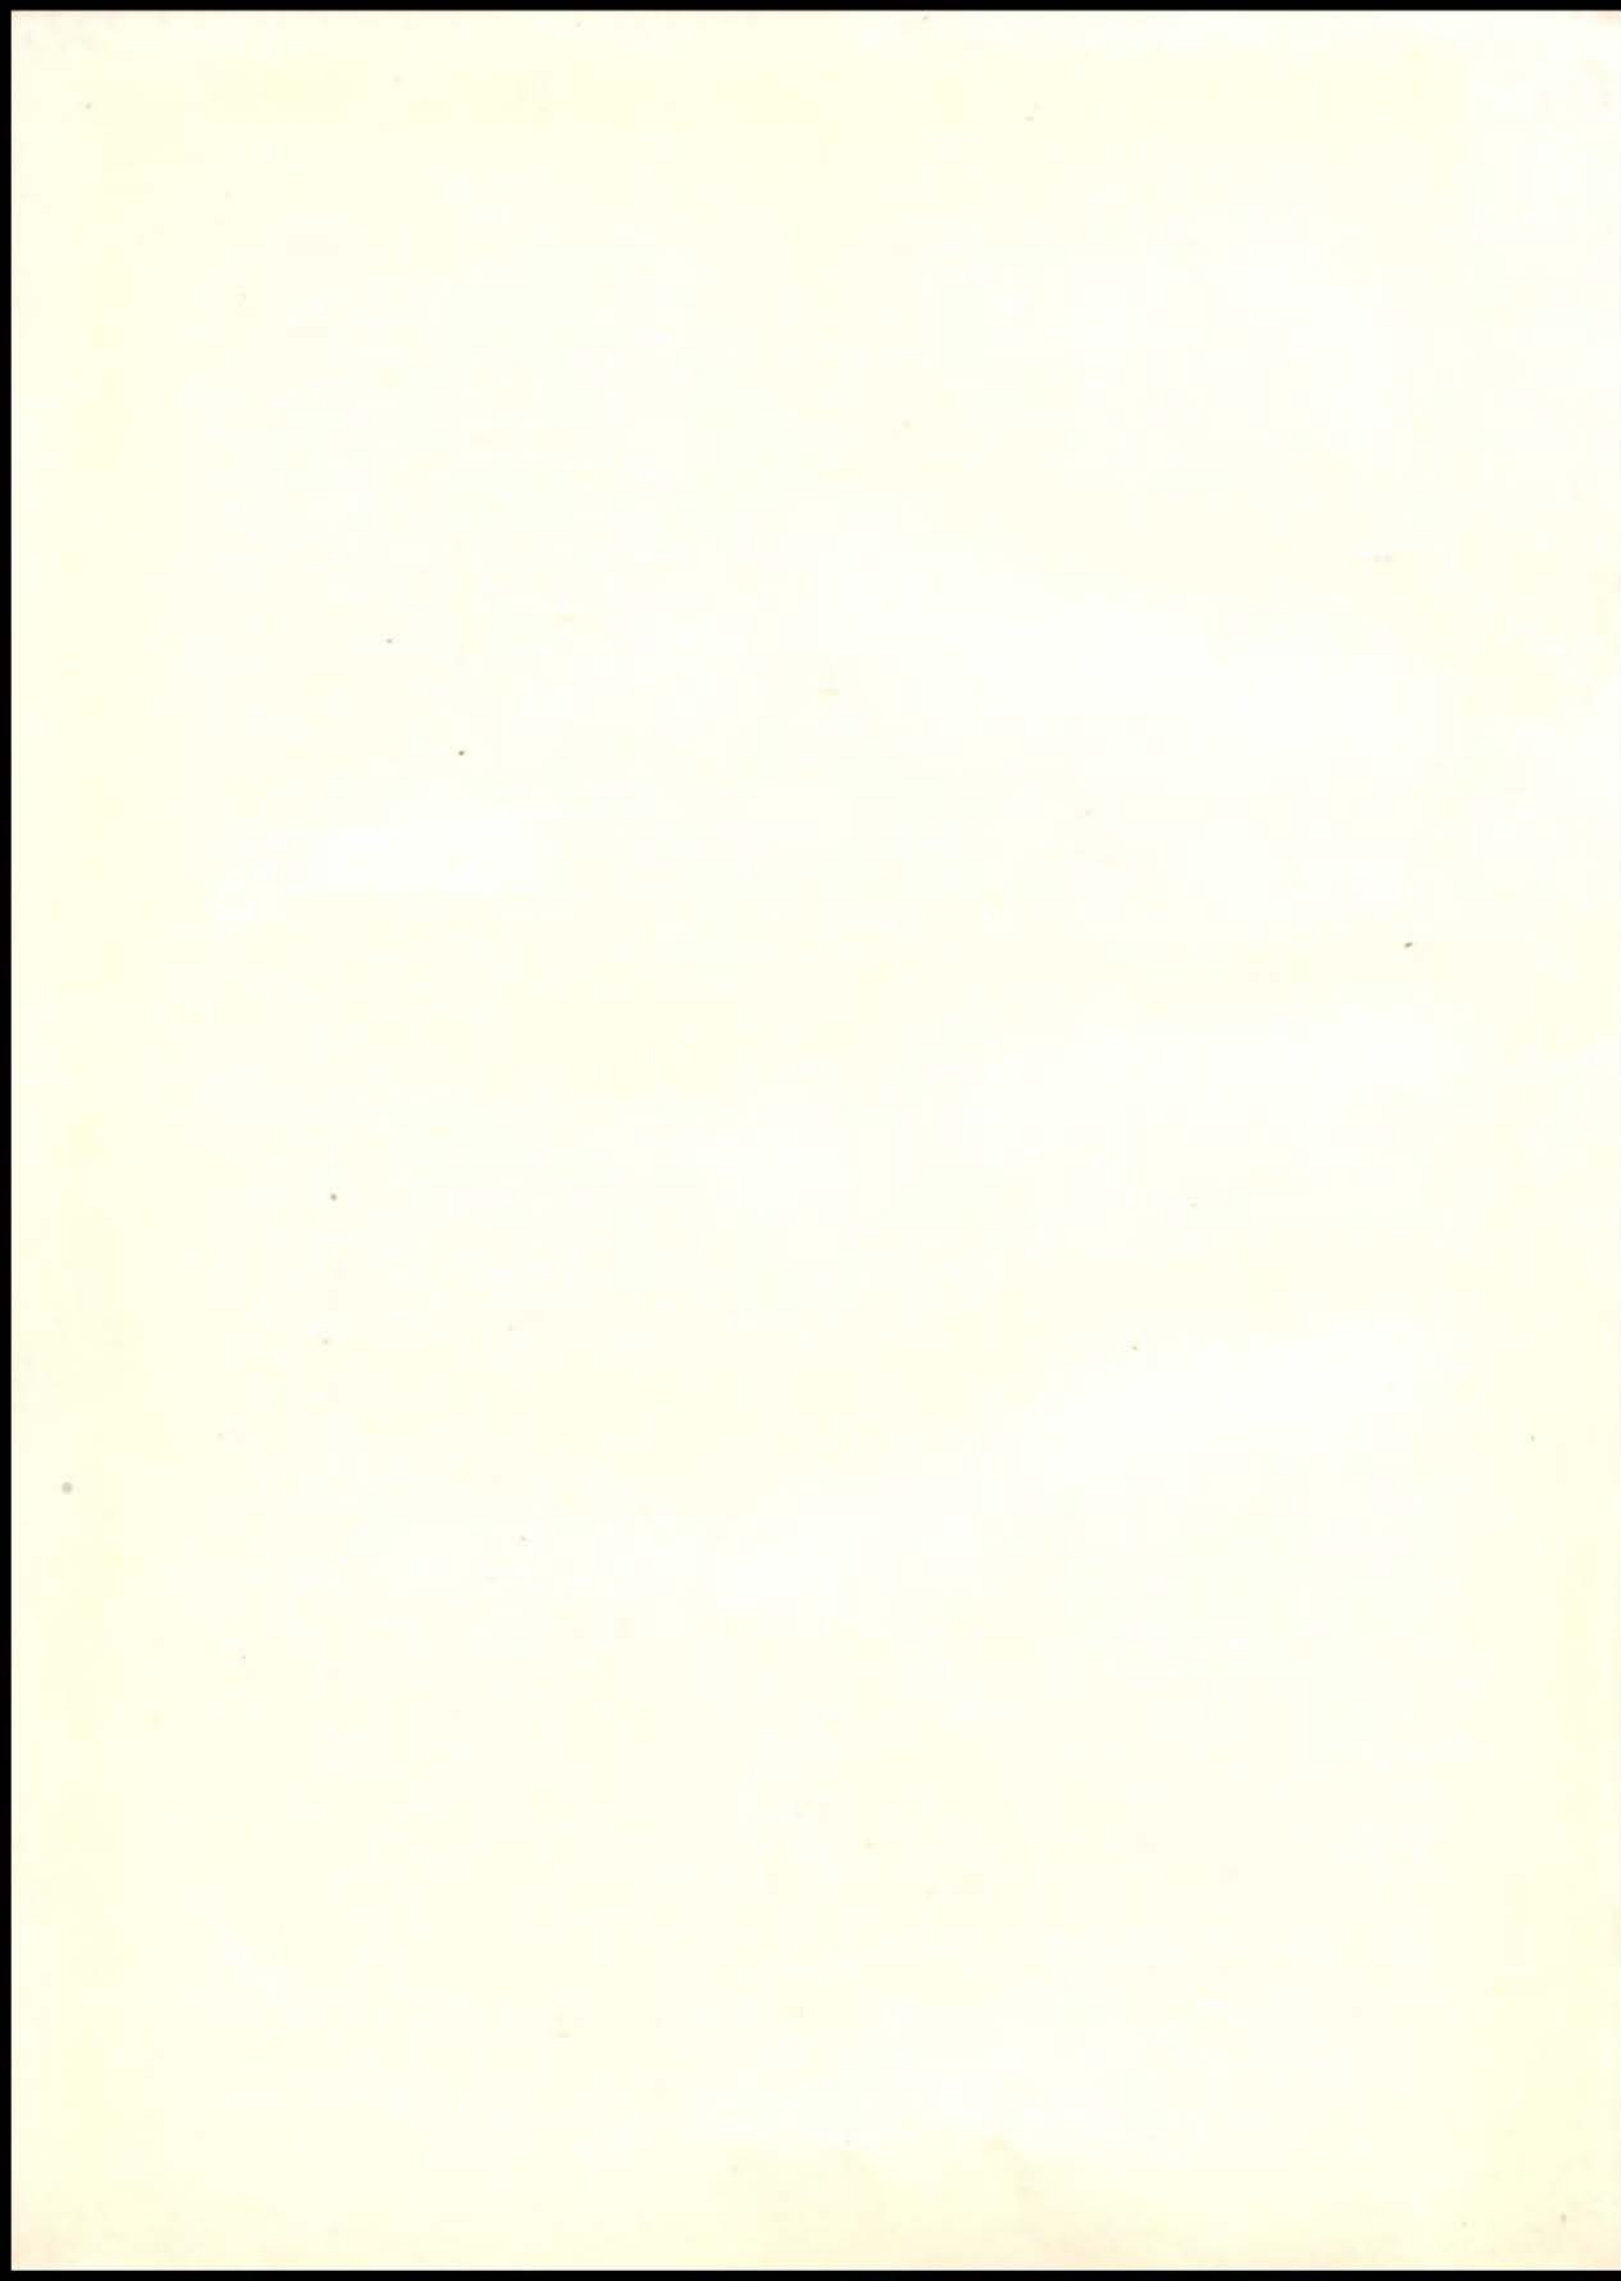

Mr. Franklin: "Who surrendered to Washington during the Revolution?"

Gil Palen (slowly): "Cornwallis, Burgoyne—"

Mr. Franklin: "And Howe."

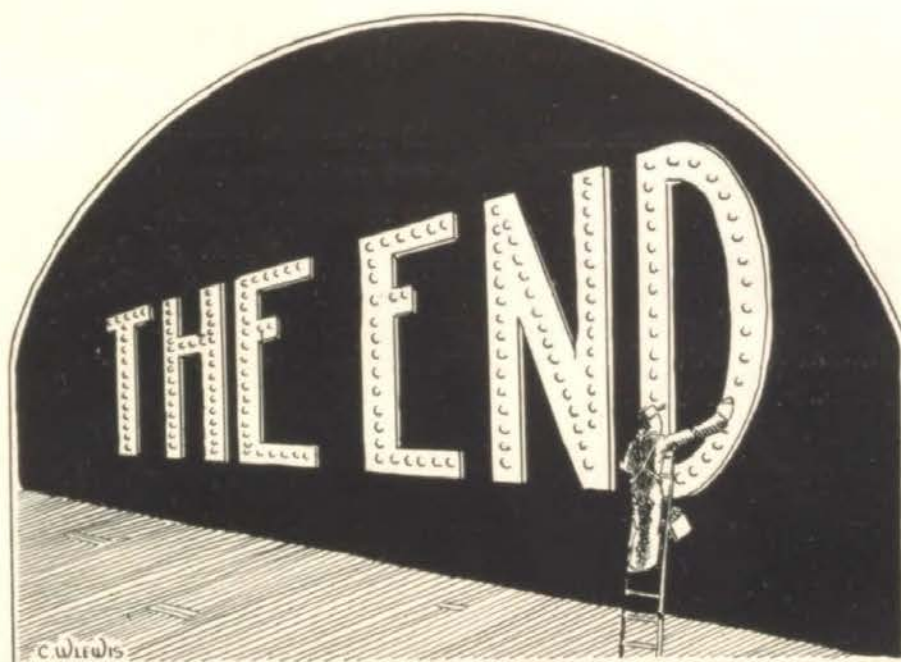

Acknowledgments

The Paseon Staff of 1930 takes this opportunity to thank the many friends and assistants who have been untiring in their efforts to make this Paseon possible. We wish to express our appreciation of the moral and financial support given by the student body and of the whole-hearted cooperation and suggestions of our advisers, Miss Blase, Miss Delle Miller, and Mr. Cramer.
