Roman Virgil
thou didst look clearly upon the destiny of nations and the designs of the gods
but thou didst not fail to note a little boy striding beside his father with unequal step; graciously infuse into our pages a little of thy spirit.

ALMA MATER

On her hill Paseo towers
Fair and strong and high;
Shaken not by wind and tempest,
Pointing to the sky;
Catching on her lofty turrets
Dawn and sunset glow;
Grant that we in all our living
Equal beauty show.

CHORUS

Dear Paseo, Alma Mater,
Pledge we now to thee
Mind and hand and heart's devotion
Sworn to loyalty.

Here today we proudly gather
Bringing thee our youth;
Guide our hands in high endeavor;
Stamp our hearts with truth.
Make us ready, hold us steady
Wherever we may go,
That Paseo's noble precepts
All the world may know.

Parent-Teacher Association

The aim of Parent-Teacher work is to promote the welfare of the youth; to create a better understanding between parent and teacher; to sponsor a spirit of friendliness and good fellowship in the school and community.

The Department of Mutual Help has functioned according to the program outlined by the council, having been affiliated with the Mutual Help Departments of all other High School Associations.

Another outstanding department has been the Parent-Education Class. Books reviewed have been very popular and well received.

The association has had the required number of meetings, including two night meetings, and has sponsored the Open House, Band Concert, and Fashion Show.

The membership increases every year, and each year the teachers have turned in 100% memberships.

The outstanding accomplishment of the Association has been the purchase of an original painting each year for the school.

The 1931 officers were: president, Mrs. C. R. Goodhart; night presiding officer, Mr. G. C. Tinker; first vice-president, Mrs. E. L. Terry; second vice-president, Mrs. R. B. Melton; third vice-president, Miss Mabelle Miller; recording secretary, Mrs. H. G. Flury; treasurer, Mr. H. R. Shepherd; auditor, Mr. G. M. Lortz; sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. Roy Bates.

The members of the standing committee were: ways and means, Mrs. William Shepherd; parents' education, Mrs. C. L. Sharratt; publicity, Mrs. W. R. Hoffman; mutual help, Mrs. F. Noel; standard of excellence, Mrs. Hugh Grout; Founders Day, Mrs. A. Barnby; press, Mrs. John Sleeper; hospitality, Mrs. Walter Parkins; better films, Mrs. Frank A. Ross.

Those in the picture are, from left to right, first row: Mr. Harry Shepherd, Mrs. Ray Melton, Mrs. L. E. Terry, Mr. B. M. Stigall, Mrs. C. R. Goodhart, Mrs. Clyde Smith, Mrs. H. G. Flury, Mr. G. M. Lortz. Second row: Miss Mabelle Miller, Mrs. Frank Noel, Mrs. John Sleeper, Mrs. Frank A. Ross, Mrs. Walter Parkins, Mrs. W. R. Hossman, Mrs. A. Barnby. Third row: Mrs. William Shepherd, Mrs. Roy Bates, Mrs. Hugh Grout.

Twenty-one

Once upon a time, long ago, a great man, wise in the ways of life, offered this advice to some friends whom he loved:

"Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; think on these things."

B. M. Stigall

Auri frondentis opaca ilice. Aen. VI, 208.
"Golden branch amid the shadows"

This has been a notable year in Paseo's history. We have experienced the unfolding of a spirit peculiar to our own school. It is a precious possession. Let us safeguard it and pass it on as our gift to those who come next year and next and next.

Miss Delle Miller

The Paseon in past years has been a book of beauty. This achievement of sincere art has been the result of Miss Delle Miller's work in developing among her students an ideal of dignity and honesty in the production of the year book.

Miss Miller has been unable to act as art adviser for the 1931 Paseon. The staff wishes to take this means of thanking her for the inspiration of beautiful annuals, and hopes that she will not be disappointed in this—the first Paseon printed without her guidance.

Student Council

The Student Council of Paseo High School, which was organized to develop the highest ideals among the student body, in the first semester carried on the various activities started in previous years. The athletic department through this body was able to sell 632 football and 439 basketball tickets, and after launching a Paseo Press subscription campaign, more than 1,000 subscriptions were sold through the home rooms. The donations to the Red Cross amounted to over $237, and the voluntary contributions to the Student Floral Fund was $96. The Christmas tree added much to the joy of the Christmas season.

A short play, emphasizing the difference between courteous and rowdy conduct in the cafeteria, was given in assembly under the direction of the Courtesy Committee. Harriet Gaylord, chairman, Morris Tahman as chairman of the School History kept the School History book up to date. Jack Lyons served as chairman of the Property Committee, and Owen Compton as chairman of the Safety Committee.

The officers for the first semester were: president, Wells Burton; vice-president, Frank Heck; secretary, Jane Heffner; treasurer, Dick Flury; sergeant-at-arms, John Drisko. The other members of the Executive Board were: James Groat, Margaret Perkins, Margaret Blachley, Morris Tahman, T. J. Settle, Eugene Pirtle, Isabel Bash, Bud Brunner.

The theme upon which the second semester Student Council based its work was "Improvement."

Through this body an extensive safety campaign was launched, which included a series of talks given by Mr. Armour, and slogan, essay, and poster contests. It was the purpose of this campaign to develop a safety consciousness in our students. Prizes were given by the school and by the Paseo Press. As a result of the emphasis put on this subject a temporary walk was constructed at Forty-seventh and Paseo, and along Swope Parkway. This was a greatly needed improvement and did much to help decrease danger to Paseo students.

The sale of the Paseon was also carried on by this organization. The sale brought extremely satisfactory results, 1,650 annuals being sold.

Each spring, in Paseo's history, the Council has sponsored a "Paseo the Beautiful" drive, carrying forward the work of improving Paseo. The officers for the second semester were: president, Bob Adams; vice-president, John Drisko; secretary, Virginia Smith; treasurer, Dorothy Crary; sergeant-at-arms, Owen Compton. The other members of the Executive Board were: Louise Eviston, Robert Gibbons, Margaret Yates,

Junior Officers

We all know that there has never been a more distinguished group to graduate as seniors of Pasco than the class of 1931. However, we must not forget the invaluable support rendered them by the equally distinguished junior class of 1931. The seven juniors to lead the class were chosen from 530 other students as a result of a ballot held in the home rooms. The class officers are, first row, from left to right: Harriet Drayer, vice-president; June Boyce, reporter; Laura Withrow, secretary. Second row: George Hart, treasurer; Jack Lyons, president; Howard Svoboda, gift receiver; Jack Kinzy, sergeant-at-arms.

Jack Lyons was head cheerleader, first lieutenant in the R. O. T. C., an officer in the Keats, and a member of the traffic squad. Harriet Drayer was an officer in the Iota Literary Society and is a member of the Choral Club. Laura Withrow was a Thicton officer and a Pasco Press reporter. BOYS ATHLETICS

Paseo held a record for green teams this year, but in spite of the fact that lettermen were scarce on all of the teams, the Bucs always managed to give a good account of themselves. The good ship "Paseo" started the grid season with a willing crew that gave promise of developing into championship contenders under the expert guidance of their veteran captain, Don Short. The Bucs encountered rough seas in their two pre-season clashes. The first was a defeat by the Alumni, 18-0; the second was lost to Rockhurst, 28-7. The first intercollegiate clash was scheduled for October 4, when Central, the defending champion, invaded Pirate ground in an attempt to start another victorious season. The final score was Central 19, Paseo 6. The second game found the Paseo gridsters with another defeat in their bag, when the Westport Tigers completely demolished the Buc stronghold to the tune of 15-6. A Buc eleven, thoroughly fed up on defeats, awaited the invading Manual team the following week. The Pirates ran rough shod over the Cardinals and when the Red-Devils withdrew they carried with them a 19-0 trouncing. With restored confidence, Captain Short set the compass at Northeast and the "Paseo" set sail for enemy waters. Again the Bucs were victorious, and succeeded in sinking the Viking ship with all on board, 6-0. However, Southwest proved too strong for the valiant Pirates, and aided by McKnight, they scalped the Bucs by a 16-0 score. A Stoup-Light-Silvey cyclone in the form of East swept over Paseo the following week in the last game of the season, and annexed a final 19-0 victory from the ever-fighting proteges.

Paseo Seasons

"All-Star"

The Selvidge charges launched their 1931 court campaign with the Paseo Alumni classic. The Grads won this game by virtue of a third canto rally, 26-18. The first intercollegiate clash was staged on the Hall court, Friday, January 9, when the Central cagers defeated the Bucs 23-15. It took four games before the Pirates were able to hit their stride. They lost to Westport, 26-16; Manual, 22-16; Northeast, 20-15. The Bucs bested the Indian crew from Southwest, 20-19. They then defeated the East crew, 19-11 in the last game of the season, to finish in fourth place, with a percentage of .333. The Pirates played two outside games before the play-offs, which were held to decide the two teams to go to Columbia, one with Rockhurst, that was lost 23-19, and the other with De La Salle, which Paseo won 24-11. Paseo was defeated in the first round of the tournament by Manual, 15-10.

Coach Fisher's track team took first place from Central in the Missouri-Kansas classic, and was defeated by them in the K. C. A. C. meet. The annual intramural event was started on Thursday, March 19, and concluded on Monday, March 23. The final score showed the seniors leading with 63 points. The juniors had 27, and the sophomores 32. Paseo was defeated in the first outdoor event, the Wyandotte-Paseo meet. The Kansas Bulldogs won by a score of 61-30. The Bucs were only able to take first honors in the pole vault, high jump, and shot put. The Pirates defeated Westport the following week by a score of 63-28. In this meet Harry Greene broke the school high jump record of 5 feet 4 inches. Harry's jump measured 5 feet 5 inches.

Coaches

Backed by the good coaching system that prevails at Paseo, the Buc teams cannot help but possess the fighting spirit that has come to be characteristic of the Pirate basketball, football, and track teams.

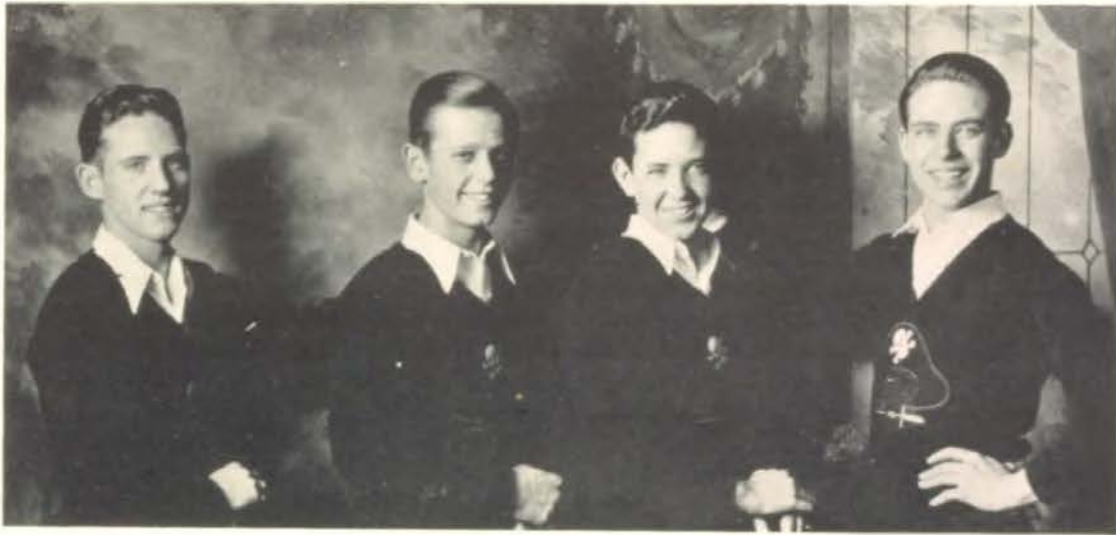

Coach Harley E. Selvidge, Paseo's football and basketball mentor, was born in Warrensburg, where he played on the high school football, baseball, and basketball teams. He attended Missouri University, where he also played on these teams. He spent two years in coaching after graduation and then went to Manual where he taught drafting until 1914. He then took the job of coaching the Red Devils. While at Manual he had one championship team and two that tied for first place. His outstanding success, however, was in track. His Cardinal Jerseys were seen at Chicago, where the Manual team won the National Championship. Coach came to Paseo in 1926. The Pirate football teams have already finished twice in the runner-up position in the interscholastic league.

Mr. Raymond Fisher, Paseo's track and second team football coach, has been with Paseo for four years and in that time has produced Buc track teams of unusual merit. Coach Fisher began a career at the Winfield, Kansas High School that is unparalleled by any other American high school star. While still in high school he equaled the old world record in the 220-yard dash that had been broken previously by Charles Paddock. He also equaled or broke many records in the fifty and 100-yard dashes, and the one mile relay. He continued smashing records at the Kansas University. He lowered the Kansas mark in the century to 9 and 4/5 seconds and the 220 to 21 and 3/5 seconds. He was also on the one-mile relay team at K. U. that broke the world record.

Mr. Robert Armour, a new addition to Paseo's coaching staff, is a Kansas City man, being featured at Westport in baseball and track and at Junior College in the same two events. At Junior College he was on an undefeated track team that romped over Haskell, William Jewell, Warrensburg, and others. He also attended the American Gymnastic Union of Indianapolis and the Warrensburg Teachers College. He was gyn instructor at Benton for seven years. During that time his track teams won the city championship twice, and won eleven cups. Mr. Armour coached the Paseo basketball yearlings through a successful season this year.

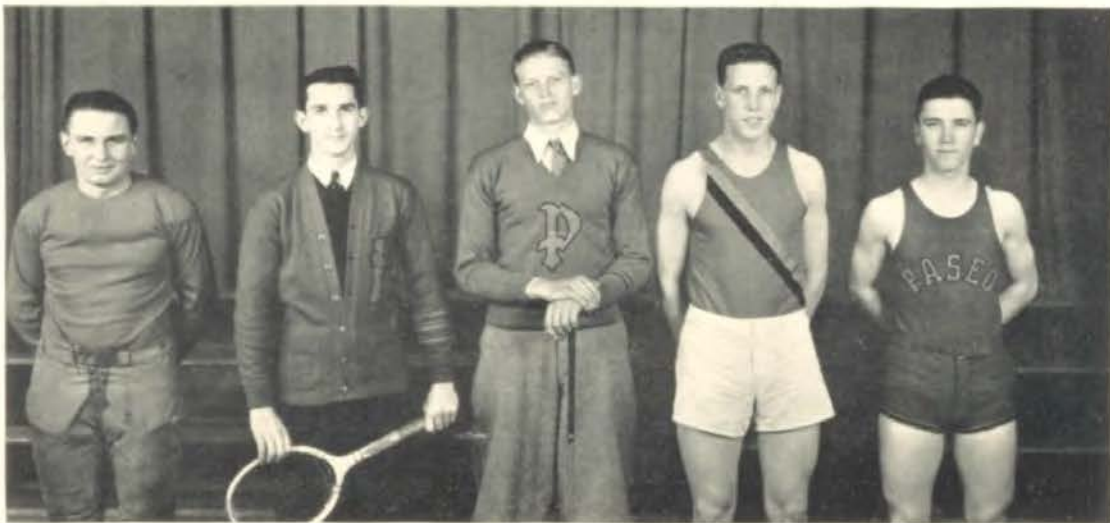

Paseo Cheerleaders

The Paseo cheerleaders were: Eddie Bowles, Howard Svoboda, Jack Kinzy, Jack Lyons. Virgil, to whom this annual is dedicated, once wrote, "A city without support must fall." The same holds true of athletics. A team that does not have the loyal support of the student body, does not stand as good a chance of winning as one with a peppy group of rooters backing it. The Paseo cheerleaders did much this year to promote this spirit. The Buc's seasons have been successful from the standpoint of support. One of the most popular yells, and one that was very effective at indoor events, was the slow, musical Paseo Chant, while for outdoor occasions the "Bull Pup" proved very popular.

Paseo Captains

Paseo was honored with a fine group of captains. Don Short, who was elected captain of the football team, is a two-year letterman, having played on the first team in 1929. Cameron Tinker, shiek of the captains, was pilot of the tennis team. "Cam" has a fast service and backhand. His strongest point, however, is his ability to place the ball just out of his opponent's reach. Alvin Reith, the lanky golf captain, consistently turned in scores in the low eighties. Hollis Sawtell, the 1931 track captain, showed beautiful form in his event, the shot-put. Virgil Flanders, the stocky little basketball captain, played guard, and received mention for his fine defensive court work.

First Football Squad

The 1930 football season was opened Tuesday, September 2. Paseo made a fair showing in the league, considering that the squad had only one letterman, Don Short. The final tally found the Pirates in fifth place.

The second team squad members were, from left to right, top row: Thompson, Offutt, Ralls, Worm, Burris, Miller, Polte, Hewitt, Garbacz. Second row: Hays, Pach- ter, Walden, Purpus, Moon, Adams, Lowe, Dewey, Shiner. First row: Rollins, Dow- ling, Allen, Oldfield, Scott, Lotts, Henry, McCann. The Buc reserves opened the season by defeating Rockhurst, 26-18. In the next two games they lost to Central, 6-0; and downed Westport, 6-0. The Pirates trounced the Manualites, 13-0; but lost to Northeast, 7-6.

The first team basketball squad, front row: Adams, McDaniels, Goldman, Flanders, Compton, Witham. Back row: Williams, Furry, Greene, Coach Selvidge, Nester, Fingberg, Sawtell. It was admitted that Pasco possessed a fast team, but she was not doped to win many games. The Bucs lost the first two clashes, "Lefty" Williams and "Holly" Sawtell joined the team at mid-year. Then Pasco pulled a surprise when she played the league leaders, Northeast, and although the Bucs did not win, the Vikings were given a bad scare. Pasco did win in one of the fastest games of the season, when the Pirates defeated East.

First Basketball Squad

Second Basketball Squad

The second team squad, back row: Walden, Hays, Coach Armour, Settle, Adams, Howerton. Front row: Stealey, Hart, Dasta, Talman, Oldfield. Longan was absent from the picture. The Pasco second team, coached by Robert Armour, contested the Eagles and were defeated, 19-15. The Bucs defeated Westport, 16-9. They downed the Pembroke first team, 22-11. With two victories and one defeat Pasco succumbed to a Viking attack, 32-22. The Bucs made a victorious finish for a successful season by defeating Southwest, 18-14, and downing East, 22-8. The reserves elected Vincent Dasta as their captain.

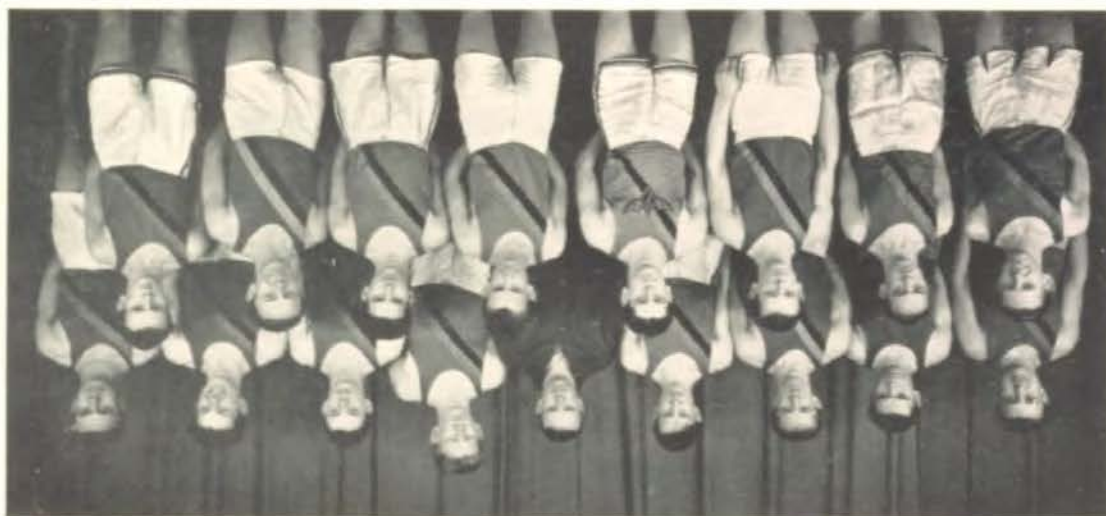

The members of the team in the picture, from left to right, were: Edward Boles, Edward Gould, Coach Ray Fisher, Nick Koyce, and William Nixon. Byron Smith was a member of the team also. The annual cross country classic between Pasco and Manual was run at the Manual-Pasco football game. This year the Hatton-Turner-Strieby Athletic Goods Company offered medals to the winners of first, second, and third places. Pasco took all three places. Byron Smith, who won his letter in this event last year, took first place, running the course of a little more than a mile in six minutes and forty-five seconds. Ed Boles won second place; Ed Gould, third place.

The indoor track squad, from left to right were, back row: Tweedie, C. Smith, Wright, Shepherd, Coach Fisher, Drisko, Van Cleave, Erfurth, Nixon. Front row: Boles, Barnett, Svoboda, Ebert, Morris, Quinn, Sigall, Lewis. The Bucs, with 18 points, lost to Central, who had 19 points. The two-lap relay team (Sigall, Morris, Boles, Ebert), took a first place in this meet. In the K. U. M. U. meet held February 28, the Pasco tracksters defeated Central, 15-13. In this meet the two-lap relay team lowered its time to two minutes, twenty seconds. Shepherd won the 880-yard run; his time was two minutes, ten seconds.

Indoor Track

Tennis

The interscholastic tennis tournament was launched September 29, on the Rockhill courts. Paseo's entries included, in the doubles, Tinker-Moon and Hogan-Rosenburg, and in the singles, Gadwood-Morsinkhoff. The only Paseo boys left after the first round were Tinker-Moon. The Tinker-Moon combination went to the semi-finals to be defeated by the Westport number one ranking team. This pair won the city championship, defeating the Tiger's number two ranking team, 6-1, 6-2, and 6-1. Top row, left to right: Hedrick Hogan, Frank Miller, and John Morsinkhoff. Bottom row: Mr. Lortz, Bernard Gadwood, Captain George Tinker, Harry Moon, Henry Rosenberg.

Golf Team

The Paseo golf team: Kubitzki, Gregg, Flanders, Mr. H. V. Campbell, White, Sharp, Reith. Much credit is due Mr. Campbell for his efforts in developing the teams. This year's group got off to a fast start in the interscholastic golf league, by downing Southwest, a dark horse in the tournament, 13-2. Kenneth Gregg turned in the low score of the day, a brilliant 79. Captain Reith led his Pirate golfers out the following week, and defeated the East quartet, 9-5. The Bucs won again the following week, this time by defeating Central, 14-2. Paseo won the city golf title last year and is headed for another victorious season this spring.

GIRLS ATHLETICS

Tennis

Tennis is one of the major sports, but the pictures of the tennis teams have never been in the Paseon. The singles finalists of the 1929 tournament were Myrtle Patterson and Kathleen Bentley. Kathleen won the championship with 6-2, 6-3. The doubles finals was played between Bentley-Pfister, and Malone-Patterson. With a score of 6-0, 9-7, Bentley and Pfister were crowned champs. In the spring another tournament was held with the result that Bentley again won by overpowering Nora West. In the doubles Bentley and Pfister outscored Burch and Watson to regain their doubles championship. First row, from left to right: Nora West, Myrtle Patterson, Kathleen Bentley, Viola Gille. Second row: Mary Louise Pfister, Virginia Watson, Mary Maude Burch, Miss Julia Smith, Grace Malone.

Coaches and Managers

The coaches, Miss Julia Smith, Miss Aileen Ennis, and Miss Katherine Pipkin, assisted by the managers of the respective sports, comprise the athletic staff of a successful season in the athletic department. Miss Smith supervises the seniors and juniors, Miss Ennis the sophomores, and Miss Pipkin the freshmen. The managers are selected from the junior class at the end of each year by the coaches. They are chosen on the scale of good sportsmanship, leadership, ability to excel, intuitiveness and persistency. The managers and their respective sports for 1930-31, from left to right, first row: Helen Frick, hockey; Kathleen Bentley, tennis; Mary Louise Pfister, soccer; Mildred Staton, baseball; Grace Malone, basketball; Nora Beasley, volleyball. Second row: Miss Aileen Ennis, Miss Katherine Pipkin, Miss Julia Smith.

Baseball

Baseball is the last sport of the year and never has been mentioned in the Paseon heretofore. We have quite a few "Babe Ruths" on our teams. The members of the teams in the top picture, from left to right were, first row: Helen Frick, Nadine Brown, Myrtle Patterson, Nora Beasley, Kathleen Bentley, Mary Louise Pfister, Louise Jensen. Second row: Lois Yeager, Corinne Harper, Alma Thorpe, Miss Julia Smith, Mildred Slaton, Grace Malone. The members in the bottom picture were, first row: Florence Perkins, Ila Shelton, Viola Gille, Letha McCracken, Jean Haist, Silva Wheeler, Marian Lambert, Mary Martha Rizk, Mary Frances Daniels. Second row: Vivian Botdorf, Georgia Hanover, Miss Aileen Ennis, Miss Katherine Pipkin, Edith Anderson, Isabel Owens, Edith Breeding, Maybell Eisfelder. Third row: Frances

Soccer

Soccer again became the opener for the girls' athletic season this year. The seniors emerged victorious as they did the year before. This year the practice of choosing tournament winners changed and the championship team automatically becomes the All-Star team. The games were played on the parkway at Forty-ninth and Paseo.

The first of the minor sports of the year and third on the regular sport calendar is the enjoyable game of volleyball. The juniors upset the dope by coming out at the head of the list when the senior team had been fa-

R O T C

R. O. T. C.

Paseo's R. O. T. C. Battalion looks back at this past year with pleasure as it has accomplished feats attained only by great diligence. She has embarked on this successful advance by first winning the second place cup in the Theoretical Tests given to the units by Captain Mitchell on the fourth of February. This cup is to remain the property of the school as these tests have been discontinued. The success of this venture was largely due to the constant work of the instructor, Sergeant A. V. Burnett, who came to Paseo last year from Manual. An unfortunate accident disabled him from service last year. On March the fifth, Captain Mitchell conducted the last competitive inspection of the various units of the R. O. T. C. Our unit placed two hundred percent hours and in the third hour of R. O. T. C. only one mistake was made. This was the highest percentage ever made and Paseo received another cup—a first place cup. This also remains the property of the school. This record was the result of cooperation of the officers, the privates, and the instructor.

Under the command of Major Staver, Captain Alger, and Captain Taylor the unit gave a tent drill as one of Paseo's main contributions to the R. O. T. C. Circus held in Convention Hall the night of April 17. Company C. entered in the jump stick relay contest at this Circus. The girls gym department gave a dance at the Circus. Sponsor Major Ellison received her cape and cap along with the commanding sponsors of the other schools. Sponsor Captains Heffner and Gaylord and Sponsor Lieutenants Hale and Eviston received their caps at the close of the Circus.

One of the outstanding features of the Circus was Paseo's Military Drill by the girls in the gym department. About one hundred and fifty girls dressed in red and white costumes, entertained with a tay dance and drill with flags of Paseo's colors. When the girls were assembled they held the flags overhead and reversed them, to form a huge American flag.

The rifle team was made up of the highest scorers in an individual match. The first ten in this match were allowed to purchase the new rifle team jackets. This jacket was black with a red band on the pockets and a yellow target on the back. The team this year made a higher score than it did last year. Its members were: Major Robert Staver; Lieutenants Ayers Blocher, and Ray Slocum; Corporals, Jim Boyd and Martin Goldbeck; Privates, William Krebs, Stanley Redd, Thomas Sharpe, and Carrol Stephens. Sergeant Burnett coached this team. The Corps Area inspection to determine the best unit in the Seventh Corps Area was held on May the first. The inspection was conducted by Major Lind.

The school to have the Colonel was largely determined by its place in this inspection. This inspection consisted of platoon drills, squad drills, extended order drills, and guard mounting. The annual Field Day meet was held during the last part of May between the several units of the Kansas City High Schools. This event is of interest to every cadet as well as the whole school. The winner of this meet receives the Colonel. Other honors include company, platoon, squad, and individual drills. The judges were various officers in and about Kansas City. On May the twenty-second, three medals were awarded to the three most outstanding cadets or non-commissioned officers. The medals were given by the Heart of America Legion Post, number 135. This year's Battalion leaves to next year's unit a responsibility which is to take up the work and carry it to a grand finish by playing the game fair.

Sponsor Major

(Out of the five sponsor officers elected February the ninth by the R. O. T. C. cadets, Miss Maxine Ellison was elected by the senior girls to the position of Sponsor Major of Paseo's battalion of the R. O. T. C. From the many girls nominated for sponsor offices by the cadets, the unit selected five. The faculty then eliminated two of the girls, who became Sponsor Lieutenants. The senior girls elected from the three remaining, Miss Ellison as the Sponsor Major. The other two girls received the rank of Sponsor Captains. The position of Sponsor Major is considered by the cadets as the highest honor a girl can be given in high school. The battalion has been loyally supported by Sponsor Major Ellison and is proud to acknowledge her leadership.

Major

On the tenth of March Captain Robert Staver was promoted to the rank of Commanding Officer of Paseo's battalion of the R. O. T. C. by Sergeant A. V. Burnett. Robert was a member of Paseo's rifle team, the city rifle team, and the crack company. Last year he was a sergeant in Company C. At the R. O. T. C. circus Major Staver was in command of the tent drill which was Paseo's contribution to the event. He was active in many school events, was a member of the Keats Club, and played a part in the production of Dido and Aeneas. Bob's brother, William Staver, was Major of Paseo's battalion in 1929. The Staver brothers have left their mark of high achievement as a goal for the cadets in years to come.

Sponsor Officers

Toward the end of January the cadets of each of the three hours of R. O. T. C. were asked to name senior girls as nominees for the sponsor offices. This they did, and when the last hour had made their nominations the list was closed and the number totaled close to twenty-five names. This list was taken to the office to be checked as to eligibility. Each girl must have no failures and must have no record of bad conduct against her name. When the list was returned, there were about twenty names left. At a later date these twenty girls were brought before each R. O. T. C. hour, introduced, and their honors were read. Following this, the boys were asked to eliminate all but five. This they did and the five were: Maxine Ellison, Louise Evison, Harriet Gaylord, Ernestine Hale, and Jane Heffner. Later these five were introduced to the faculty at a faculty meeting, and the faculty was asked to eliminate two of the five girls, who were to be the Sponsor Lieutenants. The other three were automatically made Sponsor Captains. The Sponsor Lieutenants were: Louise Evison, and Ernestine Hale. The Sponsor Captains were: Maxine Ellison, Harriet Gaylord, and Jane Heffner. Two weeks later the senior girls voted at large for the office of Sponsor Major. Miss they wanted for Sponsor Major. Maxine Ellison was the pick of the majority of the senior girls. Sponsor Captain Harriet was vice-president of the Zeta Literary Society, a member of the Atlantias, the Student Council, and the Choral Club. She played in the "Lucky Break." Sponsor Captain Jane Heffner, reporter of the junior and senior classes, was a member of the National Honor Society. She played in several of the plays, was an officer of the Student Council and the Zeta Literary Society. Sponsor Lieutenant Ernestine Hale, a member of the band and orchestra for four years, was an officer in the Iota Literary Society and Home Room Editor of the Paso Press. Sponsor Lieutenant Louise Evison played parts in many of the productions put on by the dramatic department, and was a member of the Girl Reserves, the National Honor Society, and the Zeta Literary Society.

Rifle Team

While Paseo's Rifle Team didn't do quite as well as last year's, they worked hard and tried. The rifle range was open to any cadet. About the first of January, Sergeant Burnett began choosing the high ten. From these the Sergeant picked the five men and a substitute. The five were: Major Robert Staver, Tom Sharp, Lieutenant Ray Slocum, James Boyd, Carroll Stephens, Cecil Leis, who was hurt in an automobile accident January 2, was the best shot but was unable to fire. However, he will be back next year.

Officers Club

The Officers Club consists of all commissioned and non-commissioned officers. Miss Marguerite Downs was re-elected as lady sponsor. The members are: first row, from left to right: Lieutenant Ernestine Hale, Captain Jane Heffner, Captain Harriet Gaylord, Major Maxine Ellison. Second row: Miss Marguerite Downs, Captain Alger, Captain Taylor, Major Staver, Lieutenant Smith, Captain Purdue, Lieutenant Blocher, Lieutenant Lyons, Lieutenant Slocum, Lieutenant McCollum, Sergeant A. V. Burnett. Paseon Staff

The Staff of the 1931 Paseon, chosen partly by means of contest held last summer, and partly by try-outs during the first part of this school year, is composed of a representative group of students from the upper three classes. Four members of the staff have had experience in working on the Paseon in past years. The other members have made up in zeal what they have lacked in previous knowledge, and the result has been a well-balanced group, striving for only one goal—the success of the Paseon.

The Staff seeks no praise and offers no apologies for the results of their efforts. Without the aid of a large number of students and teachers, no year-book is possible. Because this aid has been forthcoming, this Paseon continues the ideal which its predecessors established—a book representing in some way every student of Paseo High School. The advisers of the 1931 Paseon were: Miss Irene Blase, Literary adviser; Miss Willa K. Schmidt, Art adviser; Mr. G. G. Carman, Business adviser.

Paseo Press, First Semester

"The paper must come out!" Twice a year a new staff steps up to the limelight and diffuses its interpretation of school life through the organ of the Paseo Press. Twice a year also, a new staff awakens to the realization that copy must be turned in before Tuesday noon and not at Tuesday midnight. And Miss Helen Keohane, the competent newswriting instructor, patiently repeats, "The paper must come out!" It does.

The first term staff of this year attempted to eliminate a portion of the conservative style in make-up, which the Press had gradually acquired in former years. Photographs, cartoons, features, and banners served well in varying the style in each issue and in livening up the columns. Journalism contests, both national and state, provided the students of this class opportunities to show their talents.

Paseo Press, Second Semester

The 1931 staff feels that their attempt in upholding the high ideals set by their predecessors has been a most enjoyable and valuable experience. The first issue of the second semester was published on January 22. In addition to the regular issues, three Treasure Chest editions were published and a special senior edition was distributed on April 7. It contained material which applied to the activities of the senior class.

Twelve members were taken into the Quill and Scroll, and several placed in the various contests sponsored by that magazine. Much credit is due Miss Helen Keohane, the instructor in newswriting, who has served as an inspiring guidance to the students connected with the Press, to Mr. James Voth, head of the printing department, and to the art department for its excellent cooperation.

Dido and Aeneas

"Dido and Aeneas," the senior play, was the most spectacular performance ever staged at Paseo. It was presented May 8 and 9, with a different cast each evening, under the direction of Miss Anna McCoy Francis. This pagan-drama was given in observance of the two thousandth anniversary of Vergil's birth. Every effort was made to be true to the original narrative and to preserve the spirit and language of Vergil. The entire production was made possible by the whole-hearted cooperation of the art, dramatics, sewing, music, gym, Latin, woodwork, and printing departments.

The scene of the Prologue was a mountain top overlooking the Mediterranean near Carthage. In the midst of a wild storm the gods discussed the fate of Aeneas. Prince of Troy and Dido, hapless Carthaginian Queen, Juno, Queen of the gods, was ably played by Florence Lucille Terry and Dolores Wal- ters; Jupiter, King of the gods, by Glen Lambert and Bob Staver; Venus, Goddess of Love and mother of Aeneas, Dorothy Lyman and Virginia Smith. Act I depicted the arrival in Carthage of Aeneas and his followers. The part of Aeneas was ably taken by James Burnley, and Achates, his faithful friend, by James Covert and Alfred Woodward. Dido, Queen of Carthage, was splendidly acted by Betty Lindgren. In classical lore Aeneas paid court to Dido who welcomed him to her realm. Cupid, in the person of Jane Heffner, conspired with The Three Graces, Elizabeth Colt, Margaret Swineheart, Virginia Spears, Lucille Hirsch, Margaret Perkins, and Edith Noel, to pierce the hearts of Dido and Aeneas. Ascanius, son of Aeneas, was played by Rosema Eldridge, and Iarbas, a Numidian prince, by Leland Harned. Ilioneus, a ship-wrecked Trojan, was portrayed by Bill Gibson and Bert Harper.

Dido and Aeneas

Act II opened with a sumptuous banquet scene. Anna, Dido's sister, played by Clyda Miller, and Robert Cothorn, Jarbas' attendant was Loyal Cross. Dido's attendant were Patricia Park, Helen Rams, Lucille Sink Clair, Marianna Blucher, Cynthia Wilson, and Harriet Levene.

The Carthaginian soldiers were James Cole, Howard McIlraith, Donald McCollum, Jerry Duggan, Walter Parkins, Ray Slocum, Helen Brown, Helen Crowe, Laeona Border-Lambert, Margaret Yates, Constance Batty, Francis Field, Jessie Epstein, Miriam Collicotte, Katharine Carr, Mildred Griffith, Margaret Yates, Constance Batty, Dan Kelliher and William Zellar were the Trojans. The part of chancellor and the voice of Neptune was given by Wells Burton.

The part of chancellor and the voice of Neptune was given by Wells Burton.

The closing Act was laid in Dido's chamber. Dido pled with Aeneas to remain in Carthage and be king, but reminded of his duty by Mercury, played by Tom Bash and Burdette Heinemann, Aeneas left Dido and returned to Italy. Dido was heart-broken, and making a funeral pyre of her beautiful raiment, stabbed herself and died. Iris, rainbow goddess, was Frankie May Hanna; the Messenger, Victor Hurlock and James Groul; the Minstrel, Lawrence Linck; the

"The Kangaroos"

The spirit of aviation pervaded Paseo on the evening of December 12, when the annual Christmas play was presented in the form of "The Kangaroos." The setting was at a Long Island summer home where many of the social elite were enjoying the sports and pastimes of the idle rich. The opening scenes found the lives of these ladies and gentlemen disturbed by the mysterious disappearance of the Arlington jewels and family heirlooms. But the height of excitement was reached by the appearance of two handsome aviators who "dropped in" on the scene at the opportune moment, though by accident. The accident was an airplane crash which brought the Arlington guests to the aid of the injured aviators. There was some mystery as to the true identity of the aviators. The love element was then introduced, for the youthful debutantes fell in love with the romantic young men. The men proved to be detectives, the jewels were found, and all ended happily.

Dorothy Lyman took the feminine lead as Beatrice while James Covert, in the character of Edward Sampson, had the leading masculine role. Both of these people displayed a degree of histrionic cleverness which their friends had hitherto failed to suspect. Second leads were taken by James Burnley and Jane Heffner. James played the part of Edward Sisson with his usual ease and Jane was an eminently satisfactory Ann Myrtle. The supporting cast was one of unusual ability. Alfred Weideman as Mrs. Arlington played the difficult roles of elderly people with a dignity that would have been a credit to much more mature actors. The humor of the play was furnished by Bert Harper in the character of Colonel Dominy. Theda Dennison played an acceptable Mrs. Chatt, while Clyda Wilson as Mrs. Whitehouse and Louise Eviston as Gertrude both acted their parts well. The remaining members of the cast were the following: Florence Hopping as Phoebe, Arthur Kusnetzky as Chubb, Daniel Kelliher as Stone, and Norma Lispi as Marguerite.

The stage crew added some life-like touches to the play, the high spot of the operations behind the scenes being the airplane crash which brought some of the spectators out of their seats. It is rumored that the members of the scene-shifting crew would have made the crash even more realistic had they not been restrained by their adviser.

Glee Club

The Glee Club, under the able direction of Miss Marguerite Zimmerman, won for Paseo a first place in the bass solo section of the spring contest; first in the quartet; third in the baritone solo; and third in the mixed octet. Those who were members of the Glee Club were from left to right, in the first row of the picture: Sherman Hartnett, James Mylar, H. B. Gardner, Robert Cothorn, Mervel Lunn, Ben Lake, Marguerite Hay (pianist), William Peterson, George Thomas. Second row: George Ross, George Anderson, Tom Bash, Harry Gilbert, Miss Marguerite Zimmerman, Bruce Walker, Alfred Woodward, Verne Hutson. Third row: Lawrence Linck, Mortimer Alpert, Glenn Hanneman, Robert Lowe, Harold Martin. Charles McFadden, Mason Kilmer, Ray Kennedy, Henry Hodges, Norman Elsworth, and Robert Conrad were not in the picture.

Orchestra

The orchestra, under the capable direction of Miss Marguerite Zimmerman, has proved to be one of the outstanding organizations of Paseo. The members, who have entertained in assemblies, at the school plays, and have taken part in many other activities, are well on the way to becoming finished musicians. The orchestra members have also been represented in many other school organizations. The members are from left to right in the first row: Hofheins, Pairisi, Ferry, Lemons, Austin, Pierce, Soots, Bradley, Cooper, Caywood. Second row: Walters, Keys, Kaplan, Jones, Hayward, Miss Zimmerman, Hanna, Rice, McPhearson, Leib, Brown. Third row: Bucklew, Sangren, Gaumer, Peed, Quendet, Collins, Gleeson, Watson, Thompson. Fourth row: Vance, Goldman, Cross, Haywood, Lillenus, Alpert, Martin, Butterbaugh.

Second Hour Chorus

The members were: soprano section, Harriet Gaylord, Lotus Mayes, Dorothy Clouse; second soprano section, Virginia Mayes, Mary Martha Kizk, Rosena Eldridge; alto section, Dolores Allen, Marjorie Davis, Mary Louise Castledine, Pasco placed third in the mixed octet. The members of the octet were: Doris Brooks, Mary Jayne Fouts, Evelyn Parsons, Maxine Gamm, Alfred Woodward, Lawrence Linck, Verne Hutson, and Harry Gilbert. In the soparno solo event, Doris Brooks of Pasco won. Members of the Choral Club also participated in the Spring Music Festival, held on Friday, April 10. An A Capella chorus of selected voices from each high school sang three numbers. Pasco members of this chorus were: Dolores Walter, Doris Brooks, Dorothy Clouse, Mary Jayne Fouts, Margaret Ireland, Evelyn Parsons, Marjorie Davis, Velma Redd, Maxine Gamm, Harry Gilbert, Ben Lake, Alfred Woodward, Ray Kennedy, Rob Low, and Harold Martin.

Choral Club

The Pasco Choral Club has contributed much to the honor of the school this year. A pageant was presented at Christmas, which furnished the program for that assembly. This pageant of the nativity, was written by the director, Miss Margaret Zimmerman. About a dozen students from both the Choral and Glee Clubs were chosen for parts in the pageant, while the other students composed the chorus. The brilliantly dressed wise men; and Mary, the mother of Jesus, depicted by Doris Brooks; the angel, Evelyn Parsons; and the poorly clothed shepherds; presented striking contrasts and truly made an impressive scene. On the day before the Christmas holidays, the girls caroled through the halls, beginning on the fourth floor and winding solemnly to the first floor. Also on this same day, in conjunction with the Glee Club, they sang at the Union Station. The Kansas City Star highly praised their singing in the write-up of the event.

A city-wide music contest was held March 10, in which the girls' triple trio placed second.

Choral Club

Senior members of the Chorus will sing in the Senior Play, "Dido and Aeneas" May 8 and 9. They will sing "The Slumber Song" and "Hymn to the Dawn." The girls will wear long flowing robes in pastel shades, representing the colors of dawn.

The chorus has had many engagements to sing at various churches throughout the city. Among these are the Ivanhoe Temple, and the Linwood Methodist Church. The club has a very attractive pin and ring which have the emblem of the Choral Club on them. They will sing one number at the graduation exercises this year. The officers for this year were: president, Evelyn Parsons; vice-president, Lotus Mayes; secretary, Maude Rae Craig; treasurer, Virginia Mayes; reporter, Frances Harris. Bettye Gunn has been the accompanist all year, with Mary Martha Risk assistant for the first semester, and Dorothy Wickstrom for the second semester. The members of the second hour chorus were, from left to right in the first row: Marjorie Brown, Mary Elizabeth Cayton, Mary Hudson, Jane Manley, Mabel Lotz, Maxine Wells, Mary Martha Risk, Edith Story, Clara Kerr. Second row: Helen Clemens, Hazel Keller, Nancy Bolinger, Rosamond Fowler, Miss Marguerite Zimmerman, Lucille Hogan, Margie Davis, Lotus Mayes, Dolores Walter. Third row: Isabel Hayes, Marie Malsion, Virginia

Third Hour Chorus

Band

The band has played twenty-four concerts this year, playing for all football and basketball games and besides these for Open House, Armistice Day, the Admiral Byrd Lectures, and the State Teachers' meeting. Each spring the band takes a trip to Louisiana, Kansas, where it has its annual picnic and while there plays a concert from eight to nine p. m. at the City Park. Last year a very large crowd was present to hear the concert. Almost the entire band, with a group of their parents and Messrs. Leach and Brady of the faculty as chaperons made the trip. This year a much bigger and better trip is planned. Twenty-six members of the band graduate this year. Most of them have been with the band for four years and it will be quite a problem for Mr. Edmonds to attempt to replace them with new members from the new people coming in. The band also has a new band room this year in Annex-1, which is a much better arrangement than the previous room they have had. This is due to the efforts of our principal, Mr. Stigall, to give us a permanent house.

One Hundred Twelve

Five years have elapsed since Paseo started her first band, a small group of twelve members, meeting at that time two days a week and after school. Before the first year had passed the group grew to some twenty-seven members. At the beginning of the school year of 1931, one hundred and forty-eight people were enrolled in the Band and this number increased to one hundred sixty before the year closed, making our band one of the largest high school bands in the United States. Not only large in numbers, the band has a large and high class repertoire from which it selects its concert numbers. Some of the best numbers written for bands have been used the past two years, among them The Bat-Strauss; Semiramidi-Rosini; Mephistophele - Boito; Bocaccio and Poet and Peasant-Suppe; Hungarian Comedy-Kela-Beler; selections from Aida and Slavonic Dance No. 3-Dvorak.

The band is divided into three groups, A, B, and C. Group B is the R. O. T. C. Unit and combined with group A, comprises the concert band. The C group is composed of beginners and people whose programs could not be arranged for the A or B groups.

Rhythm Pirates

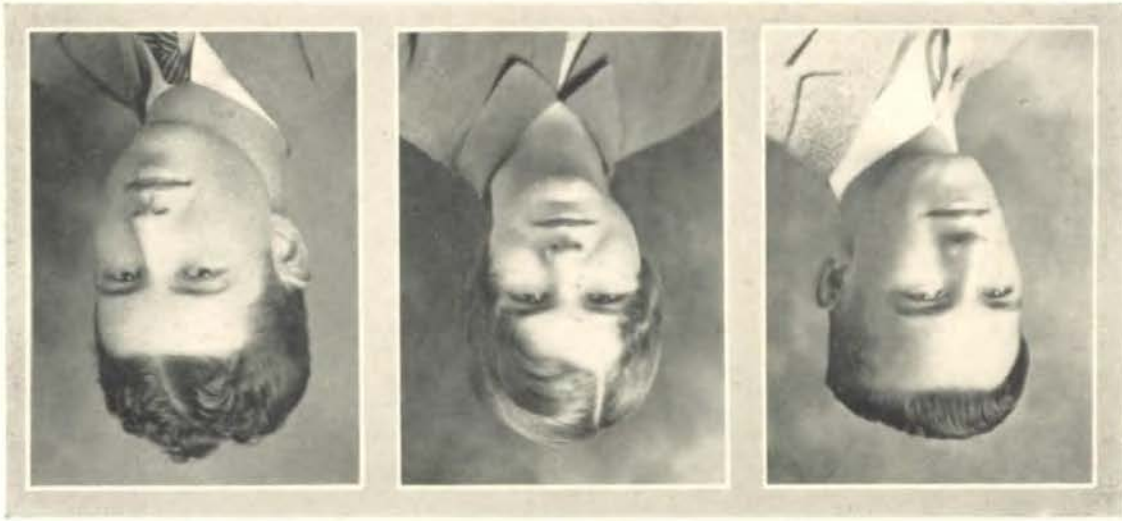

A tryout was held in the girls' gym Monday, October 6, 1930, after school, to determine who would furnish the music for the mixers. Dick Jacob's orchestra was chosen. Students who were appointed on the entertainment committee, the faculty, and a few other students witnessed the tryout. Dick's orchestra won by popular vote. In previous years orchestras have been hired to play for the mixers, but Captain Dick and his Rhythm Pirates, in their bright outfits, have given their services free. The orchestra being honorary, the mixer committee feels that the service donated by the Rhythm Pirates is equal to that given by the Traffic Squad and the Stage Crew. Two mixers were given each class during the year, each on Friday immediately after school. The mixers were attended by large numbers on all occasions and not a little of the enjoyment of these affairs is due to the Rhythm Pirates. Captain Dick hopes that the faculty and the student body will continue to enjoy and cooperate with the mixer orchestras in the following years as they did with the Paseo Rhythm Pirates. They also entertained in assemblies at different times, and various dances during the year. One of the features of the spring concert given by the Paseo Band was music furnished during the intermission by this orchestra. Each member hopes to continue his career in orchestra work after graduation. Every member except the banjoist, Eddie Graham, who is from Central High School, is a member of the Paseo student body. The organization of a dance orchestra of the high quality of the Rhythm Pirates in a high school is an unusual achievement, and Captain Dick and his helpers are to be congratulated. The members were: piano, Virginia McClure; banjo, Eddie Graham; drums, Bill Van Orman; saxophones, Dick Jacobs, Roland Sandgren, Roland Stinson; trumpets, Cecil Collins, Jerry Duggan; trombone, Kenneth Cloud; bass horn, Allan Anderson.

William Keith, who won a first place for on the senior class ballad. Bill was also a vocal soloist in the Minstrel show, "What's de Groom" which was presented by the Let-termen's Club in 1930. Besides this he has also taken part in assembly programs.

BASS SOLOIST

Doris Brooks, a member of the Paso Choral Club, was the winner of first place in the city-wide spring music contest, in the soprano division. She played the part of Mary, the mother of Jesus, in the Christmas pageant, which was presented by the music department, under the most capable direction of Miss Marguerite Zimmerman. Doris has taken part in Paso's octets during her junior and senior years, which both placed in the music contests. She also won a third in the State music contest.

SOPRANO SOLOIST

Wells Burton delivered an impressive oration on the "Expansion of the Constitution in the Regulation of Business" as Paso's orator in the Star's oratorical contest. He also had a well worked out extempore address, the topic of which was "To What Extent May the Government under the Constitution Enter into Private Business in competition with its Own Citizens?" He was president of the senior class, and the Paso chapter of the National Honor Society. He was also editor of the Paso Press.

ORATION SPEAKER

Mask and Wig Club

Hidden like the inner workings of a watch, seldom seen, but accurate and exact, each movement timed to a cue, our stage crew is a very important factor in all of our stage productions. Careful and accurate handling of the lighting, curtain and stage management and arrangement gives the finishing dash of color to the stage picture, and at a time when mental tension is at its height and would plainly show the effects of errors in stagework. The crew this season under the supervision of Mr. Campbell, were as follows: Homer Thompson, stage manager, who operated the switch-board and has constructed a miniature stage to be presented to the art department; Aylmer Davenport and E. C. Hawkins handling the curtains; Bob Staver having charge of the booth; Charles Hofheims being general stage utility man.

The National Honor Society is an organization to which members are elected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and service. A committee of faculty members, Miss Kautman, Miss Wulfekammer, Miss Lenhart, Mr. Franklin, and Mr. Marshall, under the direction of Miss Adams, selected the members. At the induction of this society in the assembly on Friday, April 17, the Right Reverend Robert Nelson Spencer, Bishop of the Episcopal churches in west Missouri, gave an address. The officers for this year were: president, Wells Burton; vice-president, Florence Lucille Terry; reporter, Christine Kaper; sergeant-at-arms, Glen Lambert. The members were from left to right in the upper picture, top row: Elwood Shirling, Joseph Bachus, Leo Mnookin, Robert Gibbons, John Mor-sinkhoff, Bernard Cadwood, Robert Schaff. Middle row: Kenneth Scott, Dorothy Cray, place in the Southwest States Division in the news judgment contest. Beatrice Snyder won second place in the Southwest States Division in the news writing contest. Kenneth Scott won third place in the feature story contest in the South Central States. Robert Turpin received honorable mention in the current news contest in the South Central States. In the third contest Dorothy Wickstrom received fifth place in the editorial contest in the Missouri Division. A pin, shown above, is awarded each member. They are also given subscriptions to the magazine, "Quill and Scroll".

Quill and Scroll

The Quill and Scroll is an International Honor Society for high school journalists. The purpose of this society is to encourage and reward individual achievement in the field of journalism. Each year a small percent of the news-writing class is selected by the instructor in accordance with the following qualifications: all members must be at least juniors, they must be in the upper third of their class in scholastic standing, they must have done superior work in some phase of journalistic or creative work, they must be recommended by the instructor, they must be approved by the secretary-treasurer of the National Organization. A sample of the work of each qualifier is sent to the National Headquarters and on approval the qualifier becomes a member of the Quill and Scroll. This society has over five hundred chapters located in every state and in many island possessions. Three times a year contests are held in which all the journalism students enter. In the first contest the work of Wells Burton won first place in the Missouri Division in the editorial contest. Helen Rams won second

Thicion Literary Society

In October, 1930, the Thicion Literary Society began its fifth year. Their motto is "Always seeking the beautiful." The club colors are blue and mist, and the flower is the tea rose. The name of the club was taken from a small city in Greece where there is a shrine to which the people from the neighboring villages and from the country all around brought gifts of beauty, love, and sacrifice. The club's social events during the year began with a luncheon and a theater party during the Christmas holidays. On March 28, they gave, in conjunction with their brother club, the Juntos, their annual dance. The club has been well represented in all branches of school activity. Many were members of the National Honor Society, on the honor rolls, the Choral Club, the Student Council, the Girl Reserves, and in several of the school plays. Many of the sponsor-major nominees were Thicions. Two of the junior class officers were members of the Thicion Literary Society. The club also participated in the inter-society dance given in the spring.

The club officers for the first term were: president, Rose Myers; vice-president, Virginia McClure; secretary, Lyle Naylor; treasurer, Irma Watling; sergeant-at-arms, Loes Sarazan; reporter, Eva Myers; initiator, Lyle Naylor; treasurer, Irma Watling; reporter, Eva Myers; initiator, Martha Werthe; parliamentarian, Laura Withrow; parliamentarian, Helen Brandon. The second term officers were: president, Virginia McClure; vice-president, Helen Millard; secretary, Loes Sarazan; treasurer, Loes Sarazan; sergeant-at-arms, Loes Sarazan; reporter, Eva Myers; initiator, Lyle Naylor; treasurer, Irma Watling; parliamentarian, Laura Withrow; parliamentarian, Helen Brandon. The second term officers were: president, Virginia McClure; vice-president, Loes Sarazan; treasurer, Loes Sarazan; secretary, Loes Sarazan; sergeant-at-arms, Loes Sarazan; reporter, Eva Myers; initiator, Lyle Naylor; treasurer, Irma Watling; parliamentarian, Martha Werthe; parliamentarian, Norma Liski. One Hundred Twenty-two

Junto Club

The Junto, one of Paseo's earliest chartered clubs, has made its fifth year a most successful one. The Club has continued in the promotion of the interest in literature, athletics, and social activities. In the field of literature, the club was represented on the staffs of both the Paseo Press and the Paseon. In athletics, the Juntos were represented on the football, basketball, and the track teams. The Juntos were also represented with officers in both the junior and senior classes. The club had members in the National Honor Society and on the honor rolls. Paul Christy, one of the members, was on the all-star football team. The Juntos gave a very successful spring dance with their sister club, the Thicion Literary Society. Hurley Kayler's Victor Recording Orchestra furnished the music. The decorations were carried out in the colors of both clubs, blue, gold, and silver. A huge dome suspended in the center of the room from the side balconies, proved to be a very attractive decoration. The orchestra was placed just below this. The Juntos, under the fine leadership of Mr. Marshall, continued to wear their ever popular club sweaters.

The officers for the first semester were: president, Owen Compton; vice-president, James Grout; secretary, John Morsinkhoff; treasurer, Dick Flury; sergeant-at-arms, Myron Ellison; reporter, Bert Harper. The officers for the second semester were: president, Dick Flury; vice-president, John Morsinkhoff; secretary, Myron Ellison; treasurer, James Grout; sergeant-at-arms, Harold Martin, reporter, Ralph Smith; critic, Owen Compton. In the first row of the picture, they are from left to right; Myron Ellison, Jack Kinzy, Howard Svoboda, John Morsinkhoff, George Hart, Richard Parsons, Bob Ebert, Owen Compton, Hedrick Hogan, Dick Flury, Jim Grout. Second row: Jess Allen, Ayres Blocker, Max Concannon, Alvin Wilson, Mr. Earl Marshall, Dick Jacobs, Frank Lang, Harry Reitz. Top row: Fred Worm, Ralph Smith, Harold Martin, John Engberg. Those not in the picture were: Paul Christy, Cecil Collins, Kenneth Gregg, Bert Harper, Earl Van Cleave. Mr. Marshall is the club's adviser. Alvin Wilson, post graduate member, served in the capacity of junior adviser.

One Hundred Twenty-three

Zeta Literary Society

The Zeta Literary Society was the first club organized at Paseo for the purpose of promoting literary work. The ideal which every Zeta earnestly tries to uphold is embodied in their motto, "Having received the torch, pass it on." In the past year the Zetas have received many honors. They have held offices in the junior and the senior classes; they have been well represented on both honor rolls; many Zetas are members of the National Honor Society; they were on the Paseo Press staff, on the Senior Ballot, and the play casts; and four of the five sponsor officers were Zetas, including the sponsor-major. The Zetas and their brother club, the Keats, gave the first dance of the school year. It was a Thanksgiving dance, and the gym was decorated with the colors of both clubs. The officers who served during the first semester were: president, Maxine Ellison; vice-president, Harriet Gaylord; secretary, Bettye Mary Opel; treasurer, Jane Heffner; sergeant-at-arms, Louise Eviston; reporter, Helen Rams; critic, Margaret Perkins. The officers for the second semester were: president, Bettye Mary Opel; vice-president, Virginia Smith; secretary, Louise Eviston; treasurer, Helen Rams; sergeant-at-arms, Marianna Blucher; reporter, Marguerite Nielson; critic, Maxine Ellison. The girls adopted a new club dress this year. They were made of deep green flat crepe with the emblem embroidered on the collar. In the top row, left to right: Marion Corson, Lillian McKinley, Ruth Brown, Virginia Dodson, Helen Brown. Second row: Esther Turner, Mary Lee Jones, Nadine Ervin, Dorothy Barnes, Betty Bates, Cynthia Wilson, Dorothy Schoonmaker, Margaret Yates. Third row: Martha Kuhn, Kathryn Woodley, Ella-Mae Player, Florence Perkins, Miss Betz, Dorothy Owings, Martha Karges, Maxine Duncan, Haroldean Bell. Bottom row: Marianna Blucher, Margaret Perkins, Jane Heffner, Maxine Ellison, Bettye Mary Opel, Louise Eviston, Helen Rams, Harriet Gaylord, Virginia Smith. The girls not included in the picture are: June Herd, Lucibelle Hirsch, Marguerite Neilson, and Margaret Swinehart. Miss Betz has been the Zeta's able advisor for the last three years.

One Hundred Twenty-four

Keats Club

With the closing of its fifth year, the Keats Club has completed another successful chapter in its history. The society is named for the famous English poet, John Keats, and its colors are gold and black. The activities of this year's members have been wide and varied. They have participated in all branches of athletics and many of the members have been in the R. O. T. C.

They have also been on the Paseon Staff, Paseo Press Staff, on the basketball, football, and track teams, in the plays, the National Honor Society, and many other activities. Both the junior and the senior class presidents, the presidents of both term Student Councils were Keats. The Keats, in conjunction with the Zetas, their sister club, staged the first social event of the year with a dance during the latter part of November. This club also took part in the Inter-Society dance presented in the late spring. Those who were elected to office during the first semester were as follows: president, Bob Adams; vice-president, Wells Burton; secretary, Jack Lyons; treasurer, Jerry Duggan; Keatonian, Virgil Flanders. The of-

ident, Virginia Brasher; secretary, Dorothy Cray; treasurer, Miriam Hancock; sergeant-at-arms, Lucille Moore; reporter, Maxine Scotten; endymion, Lois Mayes; editor of Cynthian Star, Edith Breeding.

The officers for the second semester were: president, Dorothy Cray; vice-president, Catherine Epp; secretary, Dorothy Lyman; treasurer, Edith Breeding; sergeant-at-arms, Elizabeth Hinkle; reporter, Dorothy Wickstrom; endymion; Miriam Hancock; editor of Cynthian Star, Dolores Walter.

The Cynthian Literary Society is very pleased to have so successfully completed its fifth year. The students have continued their literary work in programs in which they have contributed interesting reports on famous women. Much talent has likewise been shown by various members of the group. The club paper, the Cynthian Star, has flourished to the pride and joy of the Cynthians. The members of the society were prominent in school activities. They were represented in the Choral Club, the Student Councils, the Paseo Press Staffs, the National Honor Society, the honor rolls and the play casts. One of the most important social events of the school year was the annual Christmas dance of the Cynthians given in accordance with their brother club, the Engineers. The Cynthians have thoroughly enjoyed the feasts which they have held at numerous regular meetings.

The Cynthian Literary Society is very grateful for the fine supervision and companionship that was given by its advisor, Miss Spencer. The officers for the first term were: president, Dolores Walter; vice-pres-was organized during the first year of the school's existence for the purpose of fostering an interest in engineering and affording an opportunity for its members to study the field of engineering through group discussion and visits to industrial plants. To be eligible for membership, a boy must not only meet the require-of science and mathematics combined with a minimum of one year in each field.

The programs this year have consisted of chemical demonstrations, talks by members on various scientific subjects, and talks by visitors. A moving picture showing the process in electrical refrigeration was shown at one of the meetings.

In conjunction with the chemistry classes,

the Engineers visited the Sheffield Steel

Iota Literary Society

The Iota Literary Society was organized in November, 1928, for the purpose of promoting an interest in literature. The name of the society is "Ion," the Greek name for violet, but upon the suggestion of a member of the club the word "Iota" was agreed upon as the public name of the society. The club colors are lavender and silver, and the flower is the violet. The Iotas have been represented on the honor rolls, the literary supplement of the Press, the Press and Paseon staffs, National Honor Society, among the sponsor officers, in the Student Council, Choral Club, on athletic teams, and in assemblies. The club held its annual dance on January 18. It was called a "Snowball Dance." The Iotas gave their banquet at the Ambassador Hotel, Saturday, April 18. The club also participated in the Inter-Society Dance.

The officers for the first semester were: president, Juanita Holton; vice-president, Maude Rae Craig; secretary, Marie Basile; treasurer, Ernestine Hale; sergeant-at-arms, Louraine Welsch; reporter, Lorraine Radley; critic, Bernice Timken; initiator, Harriet Drayer. The officers for the second

Marie Basile, president, was absent the day the picture was taken.

One Hundred Twenty-eight

Paseo Peppy Pirates

"All for Paseo and Paseo for all." This is the motto of the gay group of girls called "Peppy Pirates." The mascot of the club is tiny Virginia Ann Christine, and the worthy adviser, Miss Eva Faulkner. The Pirates have been represented in the school plays, on the highest and general honor rolls, in the National Honor Society, on athletic teams, in the Treasure Chest Club, the Student Council, the Choral Club, the Paseo Press and the Paseon staffs, and have taken an active part in the social life of Paseo. The annual dance was a huge success, the gym was decorated as a hull of a Pirate ship and black and gold hats were given to all. This was given in conjunction with the Glee Club. A lively party was given at the home of Maxine Lininger, who was the first term president. A club song written by Clyda Wilson was adopted, and a secondary song by Louise Gardner. The reelection of Miss Faulkner as the sponsor of the Peppy Pirates since their organization in 1926, has been a prominent factor in making the club the success it has been.

The first term officers were: president, Maxine Lininger; vice-president, Verna Jacobson; secretary, Genevieve Paul; treasurer, Ruth Van Cleave; reporter, Peggy Barnes; sergeant-at-arms, Loretta Present. The second term officers were: president, Clyda Wilson; vice-president, Mildred Slaton; secretary, Velma Loth; treasurer, Virginia Lee Watson; reporter, Ruth Weideman; sergeant-at-arms, Helen Clemons; critic, Maxine Lininger. In the top row, left to right: Nadine Colbert, Velma Loth, Irma Jean

The Peppy Pirates had a very clever costume composed of red sports skirts with red and gold buttons and their white sweaters with the Pirate emblem.

Virgilians

Several members of the class were honored by important parts in the spring play, "Dido and Aeneas." Betty Lindgren played the part of Dido, the queen; Florence Lucille Terry, the goddess, Juno; Louise Evison, Anna, Dido's sister; and Roseana Aeneas. Eight seniors and one junior were elected members of the National Honor Society, and the scholastic standing of the class was very high. The class motto was: "Forsan et haec olim meminisse iuvabit." Perhaps at some time it will be pleasing to remember these things also. The motto was taken from Virgil's poem, the Aeneid.

The members were: first row, from left to right: Roseana Eldridge, Beatrice Snyder, Marianna Blucher, Leonard Sosland, Bernice Timken, Eva Kollins, Bernard Gadowood, Louise Evison, Corinne Harper. Second row: Marguerite Nielson, Annabelle McCully, Marcia Horst, Florence Lucille Terry, Miss Jane Adams, Helen Brandon, Betty Lindgren, Kenneth Scott, Jack Lyons. Third row: Doris Bird, Wesley Vance, Robert Steele, Richard Kneeland, Leslie Laws, Virginia McClure, Dona Brandt was absent the day the picture was taken.

The Virgil class this year, under the supervision of Miss Jane Adams, has in many ways observed and celebrated the Bimillennium of the birth of the poet, Virgil. This was done most fittingly by organizing a club, the Virgilians, by holding instructive programs about the poet, in which many interesting facts and happenings in his life were brought out. Photographs and pictures portraying many of the places which Miss Adams visited while on her Aeneid Cruise abroad last summer were exhibited. The class presented the school a picture, "The Dance of the Muses," by Romano. "This picture—along with another, "Aurora," by Guido Reni, which the class of 1930 presented—was purchased by Miss Adams in Italy while on her Aeneid Cruise.

Treasure Chest Club

The Treasure Chest Club, which has for the past four years supplied a convenient means of publishing the literary endeavors of Pasco's students, has reflected in its poems, stories, editorials, and essays the varied activities and interest of school life. This year under the head supervision of Miss Blase, with the assistance of Miss Betz and Mr. Carman, the club has edited and published four supplements, which are distributed through the agency of the Pasco Press. (One must write some article and have it accepted and published by the Treasure Chest to become a member.)

Soterian is a Greek word meaning health. The Soterian Club was organized in 1925 by the girls of the first hour physiology class, and has since profited under the able supervision of Miss Thomas.

Among many enjoyable activities, and programs, the girls formed a line party, during the visit of Sir Phillip Ben Greet Players in Kansas City. The girls in conjunction with the three other physiology classes, as has been the custom in former years, gave a tea for the mothers of the girls, on the first of May. The reason for choosing this was that May day is health day and it was considered a very appropriate time for a tea. A musical program and refreshments added to the pleasure of the occasion. There were more than two hundred guests.

The pins, which are shown above, were ordered early, so that the club could have them a whole year, and enjoy them. The guard "31" completes a very handsome pin, which all are proud to wear. The course has been very engrossing and all feel that they have profited by it. The committee that was largely responsible for the success of their many undertakings consisted of the

Der Deutsche Verein

Der Deutsche Verein (The German Club), which began as an activity club in 1927 and which for two years was continued as an activity of the advanced German class, has this year reorganized as an after school club. Its purpose is to study German achievements in music, literature, art and science, and to afford opportunity for the informal use of the German language. In so far as possible, all meetings are conducted in German. The activities of the club have been varied. One meeting was a large dinner during which the conversation consisted of nothing but German. Meetings were devoted to the study of German composers, artists and poets. German games were played at each meeting and entered into with enthusiasm by the members. On December 22, the club gave a Christmas party for the parents and friends. A short play was presented in German and all joined in the singing of German songs. The club is expecting to send members to the scholastic contests held in Columbia, Missouri, in May. Last year Fred Polte won second place in the essay contest and second place in the declamations. The first semester officers were: president, Catherine Epp; vice-president, Juanita Ulrich; secretary, Ruth Sandford; treasurer, Harry Lotz; sergeant-at-arms, Grace Eldridge; reporter, Evelyn Wolfson. The officers of the second semester were: president, Juanita Ulrich; vice-president, Catherine Epp; secretary, Evelyn Wolfson; treasurer, Grace Eldridge; sergeant-at-arms, Harry Lotz; reporter, Paul Meyer. In the first row, left to right: John Sorensen, Robert Butterworth, Sam Levitch, Billy Asjes, Rose Nadlman, Esther Nadlman, Ruth Spector, Evelyn Wolfson, Julia Smallfield, Robert Johnson. Top row: Maurice Boyer, Harry Lotz, Forest Richardson, Fred Polte, Hewitt Wagner, Max Doubleday, Ruth Sanford. Those not in the picture are: Norman Friedberg, Bob Hawkins, Harry Reitz, Eugene Tarpy, Gertrude Reicher. Miss Betz is the adviser of the club.

Lettermen's Club

The purpose of the Lettermen's Club is to forward athletics at Paseo. This club is composed of boys who have been awarded the school letter for interscholastic competition in football, basketball, track, tennis, or golf. The club is represented in the National Honor Society, honor rolls, Student Council, senior class officers, chartered clubs, and other organizations. Mr. Selvidge, Paseo's athletic director and coach, is adviser of the club. The officers who directed the affairs of the club for the year were: president, Virgil Flanders; vice-president, Donald Short; secretary, Robert Adams; treasurer, Ivan Tweedie; sergeant-at-arms, Ray McDaniel. In the first row, left to right: Jimmie Wright, Bob Adams, John Morsinkhoff, Bob Ebert, Ivan Tweedie, Don Short, Junior Stigall, Sol Bachos, Virgil Flanders, Owen Compton. Back row: Alvin Wilson, Don Painter, Harry Sharp, Alvin Reith, John Engberg, John Drisko.

On March 27, the Lettermen's Club presented their fourth annual minstrel show, which proved to be a great success. The first part of the show was a musical program provided by members of the club and the Rhythm Pirates. The last section was a play, "Humbug's Button Pushers." The cast was as follows:

Panhandle	DON SHORT
Lorzenger	OWEN COMPTON
Humbug	RAY MCDANIEL
Shuffle	BOB ADAMS
Scout	HARRY GREEN
Ranrod	JIMMY WRIGHT

The junior organization this year was composed of students who have won their second team letter in high school competition. This is a most loyal organization and was instrumental in the success of the undertakings of the Lettermen's Club. These athletes, once eligible and elected, remains a member throughout his high school career. If these junior members are awarded a first team letter they will become full fledged members next year.

Atalanta

The Atalanta Club is composed of those girls who have been awarded a letter for earning seventy-five points in the girls' gym department. The points are won by the girls for being on any of the class teams which com-peted in hockey, soccer, volley-ball, basketball, baseball, tennis, R. O. T. C. dance, hikes, and term grades of "E." The club is represented in the Student Council, senior ballot, Paseon staff, National Honor Society and honor rolls. (One of its members, Harriet Gaylord, was elected as a Sponsor Captain, Miss Julia Smith is the advisor of the club. The club has taken many enjoyable hikes and picnics. A special anniversary party in honor of the successful completion of the first year of their existence was also held. The name of the club, Atalanta, was taken from an old Greek myth. She was the fastest runner in Greece and could outrun every man. She was very beautiful and said that any man that could beat her running could marry her. The cost of the aspirant's defeat was death. One man won victory over Atalanta by the use of a golden apple. The purpose of the club is to make the girls see the necessity of

Boys' High School Club

The Hi-Y is an organization of young men whose purpose is "to create, maintain, and extend throughout the community, high standards of Christian character." At every other meeting of the senior Hi-Y group, the programs were made up of discussions, with a speaker in charge of them. In these discussions, everyone brought out his personal opinion, and the speaker in charge would crystalize them. A new system for dues was introduced this year. Instead of the usual assessment fee used in former years, every member signed a pledge card promising to pay a definite amount each week. This amount was to be as small or as large as the person wished. A freshman Hi-Y was established this year, under the leadership of John Dennis. This was done to promote an interest in the organization among the younger boys of the school. Later in the year, H. B. Gardner was appointed to assist John Dennis. The officers that served for the year 1930 and 1931 were elected during the latter part of last year. These officers were as follows: president, Don Short; vice-president, Bob Adams;

secretary, Bert Harper; treasurer, Owen Compton. The cabinet members were the above mentioned officers and H. B. Gardner, Jack Lyons, John Dennis, Ray McDaniel, Ed Scanlon, Wells Burton. The members are, first row, from left to right: Clark Parkins, Jorles Alberg, Myron Ellison, Howard Svoboda, Eddie Scanlon, Jack Kinzy, George Hart, Paul Meyer, Chester Jones, H. B. The Girl Reserves are to help the girls of the different classes become better acquainted and to establish friendship between them. The code of the Girl Reserves best explains its ideas and purposes. "As a Girl Reserve, I will try to be gracious in manner, loyal to friends reaching toward for service, earnest in purpose, seeing the best, beautiful, eager for knowledge, reverent to God, victorious over self, ever dependable, sincere at all times. I will do my best to honor God, my country and community, to help other girls, and to be in all ways a loyal, true member of the Girl Reserves."

The officers of the club were: president, Dorothy Owings; vice-president, Virginia Smith; secretary, Melba Slaughter; treasurer, Helen Brown; senior triangle chairman, Bettye Mary Opel; junior triangle chairman, Margaret Yates; sophomore chairman, Ruth Gardner; freshman chairman, Bernice Larson. The chairmen for the different committees were: Devotional, Billie Sorber; music, Margaret Blachley; service, Velma Tanner; social, Virginia Smith; publicity, Betty Meyers; camp and conference, Louise Evison; program chairman, Margaret Perkins. The membership this year was six hundred. Miss Marie Friend was the general adviser. The other advisers were: senior, Miss Minckemeyer; junior, Miss Eckles; sophomore, Miss McMillan; freshman, Miss Pipkin. Mrs. Flury is the club mother.

Group A of the band constitutes the House Room and it is this hour that all band activities are directed. The president and the student manager of the band are members of this group, as well as the Student Council representatives.

The motive of the home room is to increase a desire for better music; to study the best possible band numbers from every angle, that of musical literature, history, art, and techniques. When one listens to the great bands of Sousa, Branson, Goldman, Clark, and Fryor they must become convinced that bands are great musical organizations similar to the symphony orchestra. Paricle Gilmour was the father of the American Concert and it is due to his efforts that such organizations have been made possible.

During the World War bands were a very potent factor in every campaign, playing both military and concert music. The combined Great Lakes Naval Training Station Band under the general direction of Commander John Philip Sousa numbered sixteen hundred and fifty musicians during the spring and summer of the year, 1918. While music for the average person may not be a financial paying proposition, yet no finer hobby can be had. It is a great utilize of leisure time and is a character builder as well. In most cases the best high school musicians are good students in other subjects. Paseo's band has four members in

Jolly Gyms

Miss Julia Smith's home room in B-1 was a second year gym class. Their primary purpose was for character development; however, much time was spent in dancing for the development of grace and poise. There have been a few social events. The girls had a Halloween party, at which they displayed some of their personal talents through readings, dancing, vocal and piano solos. At Christmas they adopted a poor family, and the girls responded so well that they were able to help give two families a happy Christmas. They had a party with Miss Ennis and Miss Pipkin's girls. A candy cane was given to each girl after the party. The officers of the first semester were: president, Melba Slaughter; vice-president, Betty Blucher; secretary-treasurer, Viola Gille; reporter, Mildred Johnson; Student Council representatives, June Mully and Rose Eisenberg; cashiers, Margaret Fletcher and Margaret Long. The officers elected for the second semester were: president, Erma Herrin, vice-president, Bernice Barnes, secretary-treasurer, Maxine Balgrath; reporter, Alma Stucker; cashiers, Ruth Gray and Doris Hoag.

Sigma Kappa

Sigma Kappa is the name adopted by home room 112, a physiology class with Miss Eleanor Thomas as instructor. Sigma and Kappa are the Greek letters standing for "World Health," the theme of the club. In keeping with this theme was the address made by Senior Carlos Ganiola, the Mexican Consul, who told of the life in his country. Mrs. Cochel, Mrs. Meriman, and Miss Biggar from Russia, Greece, and Korea respectively, completed our year's circle on World Health. Miss Lockett spoke to the class on "The Schools of Yesterday." At Christmas time the class adopted a large fatherless family. The Sigma Kappas are a 100% room. They were 100% in banking, Paseo Press subscriptions, and the sale of Paseons. Home room 112 won two pictures—one for the sale of football tickets and the other for the P. T. A. membership. The officers for the first and second semesters were: presidents, Lorraine Welsh, Rosena Eldridge; vice-presidents, Ella Mae Player, Catherine Epp; secretaries, Rose Myers, Christine Rapiet; treasurers, Willa Johnson, Marianna Blucher; sergeant-

Three Dozen Club

The history class of 116, under Miss Pearl Lenhart, has adopted the name "Three Dozen," as it indicates their membership. The members have had class programs, parties, and joined home room 232 in aiding a family at Christmas. An unusual feature of the room was a secret class ballot, in which the winners would be announced in the Paseon. The results were: Best Boy Student, Harry Myers; Best Girl Student, Rosemary Raymond; Most Popular Boy, Jack Weldon; Most Popular Girl, Dorothy Crary; Best Boy Dancer, Harold Pittel; Best Girl Dancer, Dorothy Crary; Best Boy Athlete, Lawrence Witham; Best Girl Athlete, Helen Durham; Class Pest, Eddie Scanlon; Best Looking Boy, Jack Weldon; Best Looking Girl, Mildred Wagner; Best Dressed Boy, Harold Pittel; Best Dressed Girl, Ruth Van Cleave; Best Actor, Homer Thompson; Best Actress, Norma Lispi; Most Polite Boy, Glenn Freeman; Most Polite Girl, Margaret Nason; Most Bashful Boy, George Lawrence; Most Bashful Girl, Mildred Bear; Best Speaker, Harry Myers; Class Sweetheart, Miss Lenhart; Best Gum Chewer, Eddie Scanlon.

The home room claims the circulation manager of this Paseon, the treasurer of the Student Council, the manager of the stage crew, and three students in the National

"Know your tools and how to use them" has been the slogan of home room 148. There has been much accomplished by this class of energetic workers who went to their daily tasks with a smile under the supervision of their faithful instructor, Mr. Campbell. Many students made special pieces of work which are valuable to them and their homes. The required projects for the first semester were: a paper weight, screwdriver, flat box, and a chisel; for the second semester, a steel hammer, ball peen hammer, and a match box or a funnel. Each boy spent two weeks in the tool room checking tools in and out to the other students. This experience enabled him to become familiar with the names and types of tools. The five weeks' grade depends upon the quantity and quality of the work. Most of the home room periods during the first semester the group spent discussing the Paseo hand book, and collecting books which had been used in the schools of yesterday, some of which were displayed in the show cases during "Educational Week," from November 10 to 15. During this period in the second semester, the members of the class read from books and papers, sketches from the lives of famous men. The home room periods, three days each week, were given over to the discussion of Life Situations and Cultural Topics, which proved to be very beneficial. This home room was represented in the basketball, in the Hi-Y, the Bank, and by the captain of the football team. The officers of this class for the first semester were: president, Don Short; vice-president, William Long; secretary-treasurer, Lefty Williams; reporter, Don Short. The students who served as officers during the second semester were: president, Don Short; vice-president, Walter Gosting, secretary, Irvan Corwine; treasurer, Lefty Williams; reporter, Elton White. French Club

The French Club, Mr. Paul C. Constant's class of French students, has completed a very successful year, both in the study of French and home room activities. The annual play was presented by the club and enthusiastically received by the student body at the assemblies on December 5. The play was "French Without a Master," a farce that develops, after numerous complications, into a happy ending for the romance. The French national anthem, "La Marseillaise," was sung in French by a chorus of girls in costume. Other features were: a toe dance by Lorna Wolfe, an attractive tap dance by Marie and Pauline Basile, and the "Madelon" was sung by Maxine Stinson. The cast:

Newtonians

ROOM 214—E. E. Pringle.

The Newtonians, under the able supervision of Mr. E. E. Pringle, finished one of the most successful years ever enjoyed by a physics class at Paseo High School. The name is very appropriate for this home room, because the science of physics is largely responsible to Isaac Newton, the great English scientist. The students were favored by many varied and interesting programs sponsored by Roger Bird, chairman of the program committee.

The officers were: presidents, John Drisco and Fred Polte; vice-presidents, Roger Bird and Clarence Hansen; secretary-treasurers, Constance File and George Anderson; reporter, Harry Shear; sergeants-at-arms, Fred Polte and Hugh Wade; parliamentarians, Bob Catenhauser and Leonard Sosland; cashiers, Bob Hawkins and Bob Catenhauser; assistant cashiers, Hugh

Towles Toilers

Miss Hester Towles' home room 322 was one of the many science classes; but it studied one of science's most interesting branches, Zoology. The class spent much time in experiments under the able tutelage of Miss Towles. The students conducted much of their work with the aid of the microscope. The studying of the characteristics of these small and minute animals aroused much interest among the students. The work in class consists of a number of insect collections submitted by each member of the class. Each of these collections were classified as to the scientific names of the insects. The collections were mounted and now comprise a part of the school's zoology equipment. They feel that they have contributed, to quite an extent, to the zoological collection of Paseo High School. The slogan or chief purpose throughout the year has been, "If you can't push, pull; if you can't pull, get out of the way; in other words, don't knock, be a booster."

The officers for the first semester were: president, Earl Van Cleave; vice-president, Virgil Flanders; treasurer, Doris Woods; assistant cashier, Gilbert White; reporter, John Gadwood; Student Council representative, Edward Meakin; alternate, William Nixon; sergeant-at-arms, Bill Keith. McMillan Master Minds

Miss Sadie McMillan's home room group call themselves the McMillan Master Minds. The purpose of their home room has been to develop character and cooperate with the school in all of its activities. The discussions have grown heated at times making the atmosphere quite lively. On the appointed day set by the office, a Christmas party was held. Part of the story of the "Other Wise Man" was read by Erma Watling. Clyde Tomlin provided records and a portable victrola, which was played while the students devoured chocolates and ice cream. This party was planned at the first of the semester. There were two sides in banking; the losing side, being that of Erma Watling, provided for the entertainment of the party. The ice cream was a Christmas present from Miss McMillan. We judge that the Christmas spirit had its hold on Robert Brenner, as he provided the class with a large box of chocolates. Miss McMillan, the instructor of this peppy group, has proved a most satisfactory and pleasant adviser. The M. M. M.'s think that their discussions have had some effect and have somehow led somewhere.

The class officers of the group were: president, Erma Watling; vice-president, John Bornhauser; secretary, Ruth Levy; treasurer, Robert Brenner; reporter, Virginia Lee Titus; critic, Victor Hurlock; Student Council representatives, Edith Rauspaw and John Dewey; alternates, Erma Watling and Joe Waller; sergeant-at-arms, Clyde Tomlin; banking cashier, Ruth Levy; assistant cashier, Virginia Lee Titus.  GLENN ROWLAND

At Christmas the class had a party which everyone enjoyed greatly. Refreshments were served and small gifts exchanged. Santa Claus proved to be exceedingly generous, and the recipients were made happy with toys and candy. The school song and several Christmas songs were sung and the hour ended with many wishes for a pleasant Christmas and a happy New Year.

414 Harmonizers

The motto for home room 414 is "In tune with the world," and each member of the class has tried earnestly to uphold it. Since the first banking day this home room has been decorated with a 100 per cent sign. It was also one of the rooms winning a box of chocolates, during the subscription campaign for the sale of Paseons. The class is doing mixed chorus work under the direction of Miss Claribel Woodward. The officers elected were: Student Council representatives, Martha Herter and Nellie Warren; alternates, Dorothy Hogan and Norma Wymore; presidents, Nellie Warren and Harriet Levene; vice-presidents, Lois Derby and Pauline Basile; secretaries, Robert Hall and Frances Bucklew; treasurers, James Taylor and Margaret Hamilton; reporters, Helen Louise Schmidt and Dena Krehbiel; sergeants-at-arms, Earl Sarazan and Oscar Reed; cashiers, Sylvia Lachs (both terms), Harriet Levene, Esther Rosenbloom.

This home room, of which Mr. Owen Lovejoy was the instructor, was composed of a group of young ambitious scientists, who spent the year in the study of Botany. The class had many activities and took a prominent part in school life. During the year they held several breakfast parties at Swope Park. Banking was raised from ten per cent to one hundred per cent by a contest. A snapshot squad took pictures for use in the Snapshot section of the Paseon. A weiner roast was held in the spring.

The officers for the two semesters were: presidents, Virginia Dodson and Bill Goldman; vice-presidents, Elmer Englehart and Bob Turpin; secretaries, Stephen Counts and James Lewis; treasurers, Myrtle Patterson and Leo Mnookin; sergeants-at-arms, Bob Staver and Joe Bachus; reporter, Vin-

The generosity of the home room was manifested thru the hearty contributions which were made during Christmas time to a large family which was in need of food and clothing. In the programs which were held throughout the year much student tal-ent was displayed. The students enjoyed a

“What’s In a Name?”

A very interesting and profitable year was participated in by the members of Miss Mary Agnes Swinney’s home room, in 445. The main purpose of this class was to gain a more extensive knowledge and appreciation of good literature and to awaken interest in creative writing. Various activities to promote good fellowship were conducted during the year. One of the outstanding events of the year was the Christmas season. The students adopted a family and presented to them a very nice Christmas dinner and tree. Besides this, they also gave them extra canned goods, clothing, and various kinds of toys for the children. For the students’ entertainment many programs were furnished by the members of the home room, thus displaying their individual and various talents. Those who held offices in this home room during the first semester of this year were as follows: president, Bob Hanks; vice-president, Warren Foster; secretary, Rita Elmer; sergeant-at-arms, Raymond Young; reporter, Rita Elmer; cashier, Bess Miller; assistant cashier, Martha Werthe. The officers for the second semester were: president, Lewis Young; vice-president, Mollie Eisen; secretary, Maxene Scotten; treasurer, Bob Ebert; sergeant-at-arms, Ray

PIRATES' LOG

October 14.

"The ship was open for inspection and a great number turned out of their cabins to enjoy the occasion.

October 25.

"Again the Pirates score a victory over their opponents, the Northeast Vikings.

November 14.

"We are honored! Seven members of the orchestra took part in a concert given by the All-State orchestra.

November 20.

"Many signs of festivity as the holiday season approaches. "The Kangaroos," the Christmas play was given, the chorus caroled the halls, and the pageant was given in assembly.

December 25.

"The holidays arrive at last and the Pirates take a vacation, and then the dreaded exams.

September 2.

The huge dirigible "Paseo" with its great list of passengers and five new members of the crew sets out in the hopes of seeing the sailor, Vergil, on the seas below. Pirate Jym, seated by the radio apparatus, is ready to broadcast all the news.

September 25.

"Pirate Jym speaking. I am very pleased to announce that Frances Mickadeit has become Editor of the Paseon and Wel's Burton, president of the Student Council.

October 5.

"Caught in a fog, the Pirates are downed by the Eagles.

October 9.

"All safe ahead! The Press is handed into the safe guardianship of Wells Burton.

"Mr. Stigall has a birthday today. (Shh)

January 26.
"Two more captains of the crew are acknowledged, Jack Lyons as junior class president and Bob Adams as the Student Council executive.

February 19.
"There is more news to be imparted today. Maxine Ellison was selected as sponsor major and Bob Gibbons has taken up the Press.

February 22.
"Fifty-four students are voted into the National Honor Society.

March 19.
"Hep! Hep! Hep! Robert Staver is major of the R. O. T. C. unit and Paseo takes second place in the city-wide music contest.

March 27.
"The Lettermen sing, dance, and make love in their annual minstrel show.

April 7.
"The Press staff issues a special senior Editor. A whole paper for the class of '31.

April 11.
"Wells Burton represents Paseo in the Star's oratorical contest. Another feather in our hat, Paseo's golf quartet defeats Central.

April 17.
"Pirate Jym will see you all at the R. O. T. C. Circus tonight.

May 8.
"The senior play proves to be the most spectacular production ever presented at Paseo.

May 16.
"Pirate Jym takes a date and all make merry at the Junior Prom.

May 22.
"Class Day! Things are pretty lively around here today, specially for the lower classmen, as the seniors make whoopee—then bid Alma Mater good-bye.

June 2.
"As a grand climax to the colorful high school days, the class of '31 receives diplomas at commencement.

Class Prophecy '31

HARRY SHEAR

'Twas on a balmy spring morning early in the year of 1960 when I, my fortune (totaling one billion, three million, nine hundred thousand dollars and three cents) having been amassed, began to get restless. Seated on the deck of my billion aero-sub-yacht, I began to think of my high school days. How Mary was getting along; if Peggy still had dimples and if Eddy was as boisterous as ever.

While thus reminiscing, a brilliant thought entered my mind. I would take a trip through the States and look up the members of that glorious class of '31. I would visit cities, valleys, ports, and mountains until I learned how my school mates fared.

Having thus made up my mind, I spoke sharply to the robot sitting at my side. "A-22," I said, "full steam ahead, we're going home." A-22 was quick in learning my wants. He gave the dials of my radio controlled ship a twist and the yacht soon began gaining speed preparatory to taking off. For so was my yacht equipped for under sea work, flying, or smooth sailing. Faster and faster sped my yacht as it gained momentum for the take off, for it required a tremendous speed for this operation.

We had just passed the four-hundred-mile-an-hour mark on the gauge when suddenly my aero-sub-yacht rocked violently and the next instant there came a terrific crash. My false teeth were almost jarred out and I was completely dazed, so much so that for a few minutes I was completely unable to take any action to find out what had happened.

I recovered, and having ascertained that we had hit nothing but another sub, began to look for the other ship. I was not worried. I had not paid a billion dollars for this ship for nothing. I knew that there was practically nothing that could do any damage to it. Soon I spied the other sub. It had not been damaged any more than mine.

And then to my utter amazement I recognized the occupants of the ship. "Blow a bubble, if it isn't John Engberg. Harry Greene, Leland Harned, Rose Myers, Maxine Lininger and Ira Witschner," I exclaimed.

I was too surprised to do anything but stare for a minute, but they recognized me and smiled in a friendly fashion. After solicitous inquiry with Mr. Engberg about each other's boats, we had to know what the other was doing in the ocean.

I told him that I was on my way for a trip through the country to hunt up the members of that illustrious class of nineteen hundred thirty-one. He smilingly asked if I expected to find any of them in the deep. I reminded him that I had done that very thing, even if I hadn't expected to.

He also informed me that Junior Christy had recently been appointed commander-in-chief of the U. S. Navy and was doing all in his power to make life easy for his old classmates, Roger Bird and Eddie Scanlon. They were nothing but lowly gobs.

After bidding John and his party farewell, I started my sub up again and was soon in the air winging my way back to old Missouri. In my haste I ran past three stop signs, cut through four safety zones, and completely forgot the speed limit of one thousand miles an hour. Soon the wailing screech of the air patrol reached my ears. I cut my motor and remained motionless in air waiting for the officer.

He drew up beside me politely inquiring the need of such haste.

Knowing this would interfere with my plans, I argued with him, I begged him, I even offered him money. However, this was all in vain for he was determined to "haul me in." So, much to my humiliation, I was hustled down to the court house.

Immediately upon arrival, I was placed before the judge. "Holy mackerel, Glen Lambert," I exclaimed and my face lit up with a beaming smile (for I really expected to receive a cordial greeting from the judge). However, Judge Lambert, too, wished to show his authority.

"Silence in the courtroom," he roared. "Officer, what is this man charged with? "Making an inside turn, busting through a stop sign, running past a couple of red lights, and speeding," replied the curly-headed Flanders, still grinning. With a gasp I turned and pounced on the taunting one's windpipe.

"Order!" yelled the judge. Then he continued, "You have been charged with grave violations of the law. You have broken every statute of safety. By your wanton carelessness and reckless speeding you have endangered the lives of other citizens of this great country of ours. However, this court will overlook the above facts, but it cannot forget the fact that you might have damaged and put out of running a perfectly good airplane. It is therefore my cheerful duty to find you guilty. You are hereby ordered, commanded, and fined the sum of one dollar. The said dollar to be placed in the clerk's hand before the culprit be allowed to make his exit from this house of justice." With these words Judge Lambert sprang from the bench and grasped my hand in a hearty clasp.

"You old snozzleblooker," he said, "what have you been doing with yourself? Why, its been thirty years since I've seen you." Taken back by this sudden change, I was dumfounded. I had imagined myself behind prison bars. I smiled weakly, then asked how he was, what he knew and how he had received the position of judge.

Glen then went on to tell that he had barely defeated a former Centralite. Well, I thought, at least the old Pirates stuck together. That was good news. As I realized that if I were to take a trip, I must hurry, I bid adieu to Judge Lambert, promising to return and see him again in the near future. From there I proceeded to my hotel and here I made out a list of the places I was to visit on my trip. This having been done, I clambered into my plane and started for my old Alma Mater, Paseo High School, for this was the first on my list and I also wanted to see if the dear old school still towered fair and strong and high, whether it had been shaken by wind or tempest and how the years had changed its appearance.

I volplaned down to a perfect landing on the gridiron and almost ran into Bob Adams, who was acting coach now. He had succeeded Coach Selvidge, who had retired after winning the interscholastic football championship for the thirteenth consecutive year. I was indeed delighted at the sight of Bob, who seemed quite startled to see me.

However, he quickly regained his composure and after salutations invited me into his private office. "You haven't seen anything yet," he said as he prepared to show me the building. Little did I realize the surprises in store for me.

First he took me to the office where I received the first of my many blows. Maxine Ellison and Earl Van Cleave were principal and vice-principal, respectively. They joined Bob in escorting me through the halls. Down we walked, we three, as we had thirty years before, past the library and auditorium.

And I must confess that I really did not expect to find so many former students on the faculty. The number teaching was appalling. Whoever thought we had even one teacher in our midst in the gracious class of '31?

Leaving K. C. behind I soared on to Chicago. I landed on the business avenue among the whizzing bullets. These I brushed aside, and as I was hungry, began to look for a place to feast.

I had traveled about a block when a big sign almost slapped me in the face, "C. Cohn's Cabaret," it read, "Featuring Pittel's Collegians." Well, Chicago provided another big surprise, for Cyril Cohn and Harold Pittel were old buddies of mine.

The place looked tempting so I entered. Sure enough I was greeted by the business smile of Mr. Cohn. He didn't recognize me, so I pretended to be a stranger. "The best table in the house as near to the orchestra as possible," I said.

And what an orchestra it was. Boy, it was hotter than hot. The boys were sitting on asbestos chairs blowing hot air all over the place. Harold Pittel was directing and rightly, I thought, had he been rated the best in the country.

may make a house, but not a home

A home is built of convenience and comfort, of ease and contentment, and even the small American home of today enjoys more conveniences than the mansion of yesterday ever dreamed of—electricity did it! Electricity for the lights, the telephone, the vacuum cleaner, washer, range, refrigerator.

Electricity is your most useful, least expensive servant.

CHAS. CRAWFORD MUSIC CO.
1011 McGee St. Kansas City, Mo.

After bidding adios to my friends, I sailed on to New York. I landed on Broadway amid the bustling traffic. One of the first things to catch my eye was a big sign reading, Gardner, Gadwood & Raymond, Manufacturers of Vest Pocket Cars. I wanted something as a souvenir so I entered and asked to see the head salesman. He was none other than Bob Staver. After hearty greetings, he invited me into the big shot's office. There I met the persons whose names I had seen on the signs. After purchasing four cars, one for each of my vest pockets, I departed, and started strolling down Broadway. As I walked I noticed that a few of the old students had turned out to be actors and actresses. Some had their names in the big electric light, while others were just printed. Betty Lindgren, James Covert, and Alfred Woodward were just a few of those I saw. As I came to the Roxy a sudden urge told me to enter and see the show. It was a modernistic version of Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet. Esther Turner was playing Juliet, while James Burnley had the role of Romeo. Turning slightly to assume a more comfortable position, I noticed the figure of Lloyd Hall. I decided to watch him. He seemed intent on the show. And as James and Esther went through the usual embraces and love scenes, Mr. Hall sat gnashing his teeth with an enviable look in his eyes. I'll bet he decided right then and there to become an actor. Well, after seeing the performance three times, so did Lloyd, I left to continue my inspection of New York.

Suddenly I was confronted with a messenger, who handed me a telegram informing me that my business was practically on the rocks, and that my immediate attention was needed at the home office. So, much to my dismay, I had to call off the remainder of my trip. However, the joys of seeing my old classmates thrilled me and they will remain always treasured memories, and I look forward to that glorious class reunion of the year 2000.

Typography is most certainly one of the great aids in building business . . . through advertising . . . There is no better way of getting advertising attention than through the use of good type faces . . . Type, rightly used, has a powerful appeal to the eye . . . It is selling merchandise with greater ease than most other forms of sales effort

In your advertising use color — good cuts — and modern type faces for the decided contrasts so popular today.

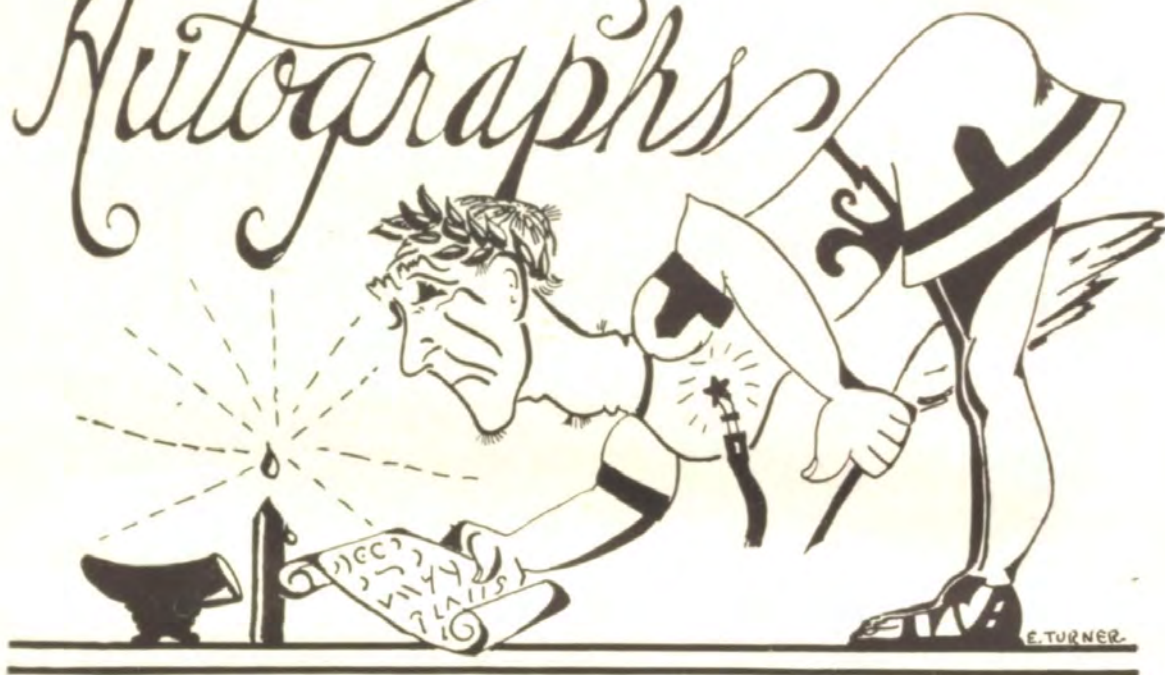

The results will agreeably surprise you.

Acknowledgments

April 15, 1931.

The '31 Paseon is published! There'll be no more long hours of composing the book's contents for the staff, but in looking over the results of their efforts they wish to make known their appreciation of the whole-hearted support and assistance of friends, the student body and members of the faculty, the patrons of Paseo who have cooperated by advertising in the book, and Miss Irene Blase who "saved" the Paseon by remonstrating when biased opinions were expressed in the write-ups of the seniors,

Miss Willa K. Schmidt, whose forethought has prevented the possible indignation of persons whose pictures were intended to appear among the cartoons,

Mr. G. G. Carman for his continual assistance and the merriment occasioned by his congeniality which was marked by ready laughter and good humor,

Mr. R. R. Maplesden of the Burger-Baird Engraving Company, whose counsel and encouragement made easier the problems of producing an annual,

And Mr. George Sayles of the Empire Printing Company for the advice and his cooperation in compiling the material which brought the Paseon to you.

This isn't an obituary for they'll experience the same annual trials and troubles next year and the next year.

I thank you, too,

PIRATE JYM.
