

PASEON 78

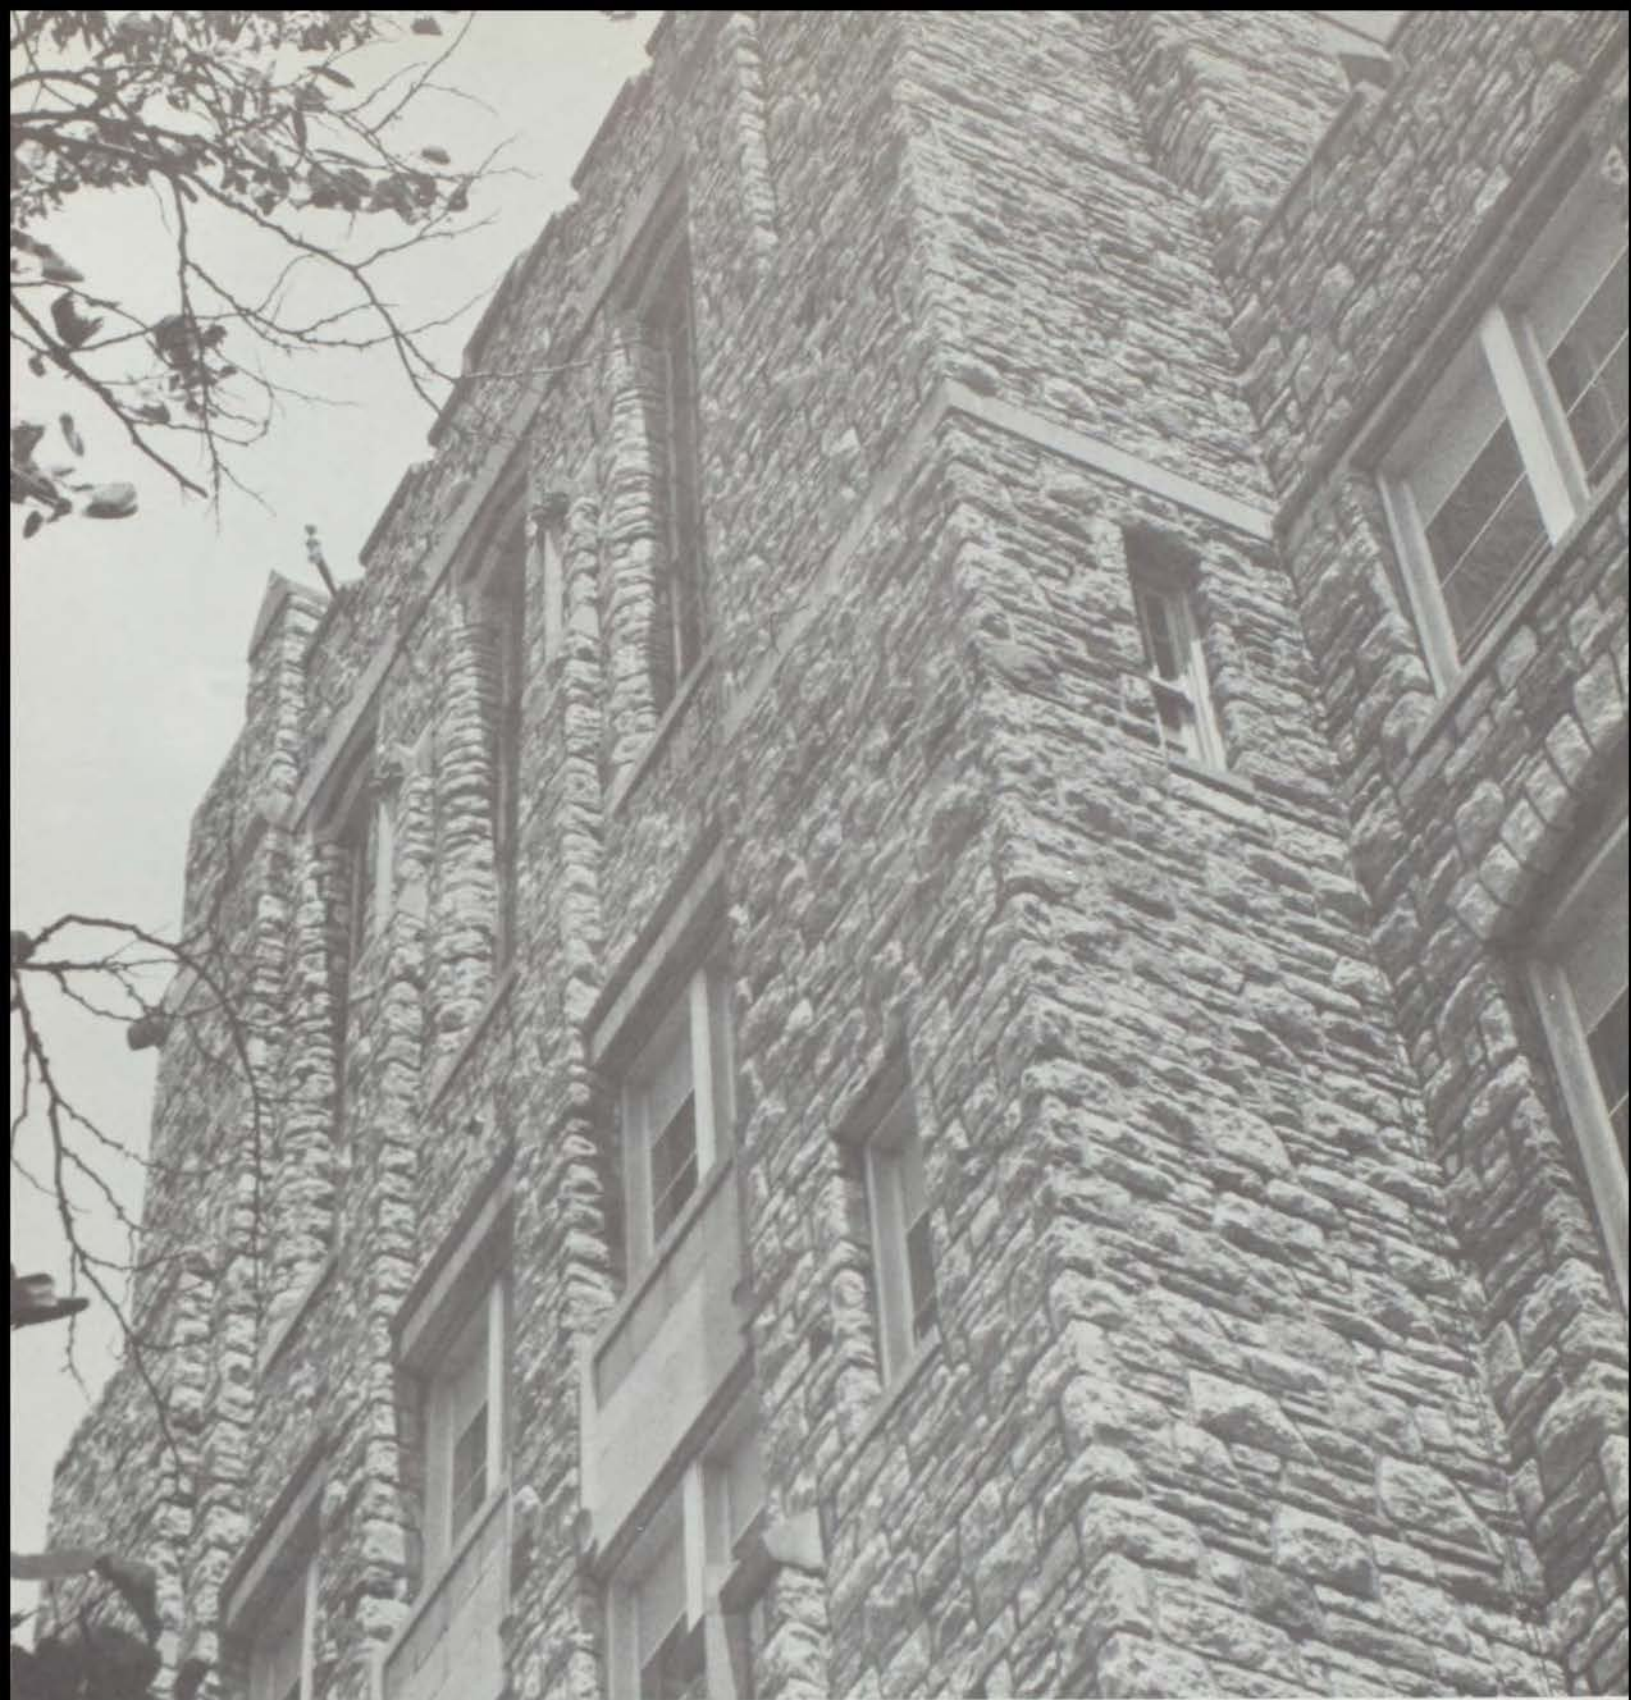

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry, no matter how small, should be recorded to ensure the integrity of the financial data. This includes not only sales and purchases but also expenses and income. The document provides a detailed list of items that should be tracked, such as inventory levels, supplier payments, and customer orders. It also outlines the procedures for recording these transactions, including the use of standardized forms and the importance of double-checking entries for accuracy.

The second part of the document focuses on the analysis of the recorded data. It describes various methods for identifying trends and anomalies in the financial records. This includes comparing current performance against historical data and industry benchmarks. The document also discusses the importance of regular audits to verify the accuracy of the records and to detect any potential fraud or errors. It provides a step-by-step guide for conducting these audits, from the selection of samples to the final reporting of findings.

The final part of the document addresses the reporting and communication of the financial information. It explains how to prepare clear and concise reports that provide a comprehensive overview of the company's financial health. It also discusses the importance of transparency in financial reporting and the need to communicate the results to all relevant stakeholders, including management, investors, and regulatory bodies. The document concludes with a summary of the key points and a call to action for the reader to implement the discussed practices.

GETTIN' IT TOGETHER

A year of spirited beginnings, disasters and rebuilding has come and gone. Many events have made this year unforgettable. But for Paseo High School, it must be said that great strides were taken toward the rebirth of our hidden greatness. We have proven that we can recover from major set-backs and push on toward our goals.

That first week we thought we were off to a good start. Then the September 12 flood occurred. This natural disaster took 25 lives and caused many millions of dollars damage. Many students and their families had their homes and possessions damaged or destroyed by the flood. The torrential rains which caused the flooding (16 inches in 24 hours on ground previously water-soaked) also caused considerable damage to Paseo. Several math rooms were damaged so much from roof leaks that classes had to be held in other rooms for the remainder of the year. For the first time we had a "flood day," the first of many days to be made up at the end of the year.

We had just about recovered from the unsettling effects of the flood when we had to undergo a complete reorganization the first part of October. During the summer the attendance boundary lines were changed which sent many pre-enrolled Paseo students to other schools. With the drop in enrollment figures, we lost several teachers. Therefore, it seemed that we started school all over again in October.

Photos: Cars washed into Brush Creek by the flood.

For several months school went on as usual, with a couple of surprise ice and snow vacations. Then, on Saturday morning, February 25, 1978, disaster struck again.

This time it was again in the form of a major fire. The main office, the administrators' offices, and the counseling center were completely destroyed, as was the whole communication system for the building. At first it was thought that the student records burned. However, they were just charred around the edges so could be salvaged. The pre-enrollment for 1978-79 had recently been completed and was burned so had to be done all over again. The whole building had a great deal of smoke damage. The fire department estimated the damage in excess of $250,000.

After day and night clean-up through Monday, we were back in school. The whole student body rallied as true Pirates. Everything in the lockers was covered with a greasy, black smoke film. We had no tones to end and begin classes, only air horns operated by assistant principals on each floor. What could have been utter chaos was not because of the "together" attitude of the students.

The year had many events and activities which indicated that Paseo is on its way to the goal of togetherness. During the spring holiday, 14 seniors and class sponsors, Ms. Whitfield and Ms. Sadler, went to New Orleans. The junior class was extremely active and capped their efforts by giving a fantastic prom. The student council sponsored a school clean-up week.

February 25, 1978

During the past several years we have watched the band grow mightily under the leadership of Mr. Williams. This year they embarked on the ambitious project of raising funds for new band uniforms. Some of their fund-raising events were a dinner-play at the Waldo Astoria, St. Valentine's Day dance, a band vs. faculty basketball game and the Paseo alumni sponsored a dance. The band does a great deal toward creating greater spirit at all events.

For the first time, Paseo had a May Day celebration. It was originated and coordinated by the physical education department under the leadership of Coach Bowie. The physical education classes performed various popular dances of by-gone years. Each class gave a one-act play under the direction of Mrs. Hunter. Other activities included an art contest, a cake-baking contest, and a track meet between the classes. Hopefully, this will become a yearly event.

The Class of '78 demonstrated true school spirit in their choice of gift to the school. They did not selfishly give a decorative object to call attention to themselves but gave a "living" gift in the form of a new set of drums to the band. For years to come, the Class of '78 will be a part of each school event, increasing school spirit among the whole student body.

We have proven this year that we can "get it together" and overcome flood, ice, snow, and fire. Let's make togetherness a habit. With a unified student body we can create a new spirit, proud to be Pirates, the BEST!

An Unforgettable Year of Experience

Now it's spring, and with spring comes graduation. I imagined myself wearing a long yellow robe, a hat with a tassel, my name announced as I walked across the stage to receive my diploma. Then, after commencement, I dreamed of throwing my hat off and—Wait! Hold everything!!!

What about all the fun I had during this one year? Remember the time you skipped class to have a little fun? Remember the senior picnic and the parade? Do you remember the senior trip? Do you remember the hard work you put into your classes? Remember your grade cards? They showed how hard you worked—or didn't work. Remember the senior dinner dance? I know you remember the term paper you wrote for Mrs. Hurt. Remember the times we had substitutes and didn't do our classwork? Do you remember your 18th birthday? Hopefully growing older and wiser? Do you remember the friendship and learning experiences you shared with your friends? Do you remember the people you grew up with? Who you practically spent your life with? Before I threw off my hat, I thought of past experiences. I almost wished to go back. I know graduation is a happy event, but there is one sad moment about your senior year—Saying goodbye to all your peers.

I threw off my hat and, suddenly, I realized I was an adult and have a whole future ahead of me.

A Change

From red and white
To black and gold.

From flying in the sky
To sailing on the sea.
From Manual
To Paseo was quite . . .
A change.

New friends, new foes,
A whole new life I didn't want.
Time has passed, things have changed.
The past's behind me now.
I love the old school, and miss old friends,
But Paseo is my home.

We are survivors. The Junior Class of "78" has come a long way. We have survived through fires, snow storms, blowing rains, and unsuccessful segregation. Our sense of survival has been within ourselves, and yet we still remain strong. To our fellow classmates, upperclassmen, and underclassmen, we say a strong will to survive is the key to a successful life.

Fellow Pirates, stand tall and be proud of your school. It has given the world a large number of doctors, lawyers, teachers, dentists, engineers and members of other professions, as well as a multitude of good citizens. Do we want to be counted among the successful Paseo graduates? It is all up to us. No one else can get us to class on time, do our work or pass our courses.

A school is its people. Do your part to make Paseo the BEST!!

ADMINISTRATION

The Paseo Administration is a creative, intelligent and hard working team who helped us and guided us in to channels best suited for us, the students of Paseo High.

On February 25, Paseo was set on fire. With only that weekend to work, our administrators planned how they were going to communicate with the students since the communications system were destroyed in the fire. They came up with plans that enabled school to reopen on Tuesday and run smoothly despite the lack of any communication system in the building.

Our administrators have actively supported the students both academically and in extra-curricular activities. With people like them behind us, we can make Paseo# 1.

We cleaned out our lockers
Then we left.
The halls are silent now
Empty of life,
The year is over.
The building waits . . .
For us to come back
And make it alive again,
The birth of a new year.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry, no matter how small, should be recorded to ensure the integrity of the financial data. This includes not only sales and purchases but also expenses and income. The document provides a detailed list of items that should be tracked, such as inventory levels, supplier payments, and customer orders. It also outlines the procedures for recording these transactions, including the use of specific forms and the assignment of responsibilities to different staff members.

The second part of the document focuses on the analysis of the recorded data. It describes various methods for identifying trends and anomalies in the financial records. This includes comparing current performance with historical data and industry benchmarks. The document also discusses the importance of regular audits and reconciliations to catch any errors or discrepancies early on. It provides a step-by-step guide for conducting these audits, from the selection of samples to the final reporting and corrective actions.

The final part of the document addresses the overall management of the financial system. It discusses the role of the finance department in providing strategic advice to the management team. This includes forecasting future financial needs, identifying areas for cost reduction, and evaluating the impact of different business decisions. The document also highlights the importance of clear communication and collaboration between the finance department and other departments, such as sales and operations, to ensure that the financial system is aligned with the overall business goals.
