To EDWARD N. STEFFEN . . .

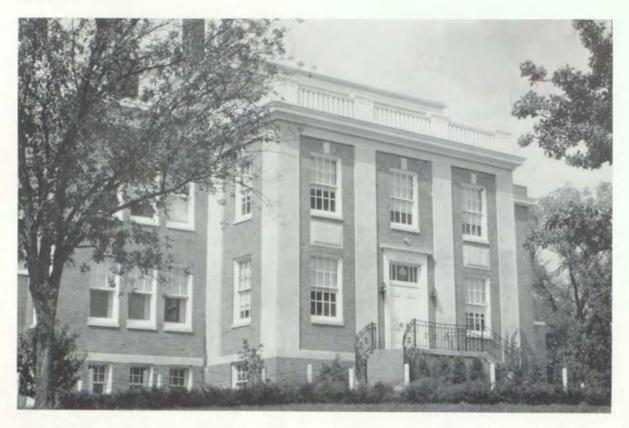

In appreciation of his many years of service and devotion to the school, the students of Pembroke-Country Day respectfully and affectionately dedicate this book.

THIS IS PEM DAY

School History

The desire for improved educational opportunities in Kansas City prompted Mrs. A. Ross Hill, in 1910, to found Country Day School, recognized as the third school of its kind in the nation. In 1911, the school was moved from its original location at 61st Street and Wornall to 57th and Wornall and then three years later to a newly acquired twenty-two acre tract of land at 51st Street and Ward Parkway. A gymnasium was promptly erected with the addition of a junior school building and Schuyler-Ashley Dormitory in 1922 and 1930, respectively. In 1933 the reduction of the number of financially eligible students due to the depression prompted the merger of Country Day School with the other private day school in Kansas City, Pembroke, founded in 1925.

Under the leadership of Mr. Bradford Kingman and four preceding headmasters, a sixty-three-thousand-dollar mortgage was burned on graduation day, 1945. Subsequent proceeds from the school's operation helped to build Phillip's Gymnasium in 1948 and the headmaster's house in 1950.

The school year of 1953-1954 saw many new faces, among them that of a new headmaster, Peter A. Schwartz, coming to Pembroke-Country Day from Allendale School in Rochester, New York.

Through the generosity of Mr. Raymond B. White the upper school building was renovated in 1955, considerably improving the appearance of the school and giving Pembroke-Country Day one of the most modern and attractive campuses in Kansas City.

The principal functions of the Board of Trustees are the determination of school policy and the direction of finance. The Trustees employ the headmaster, who directs the school and is answerable to the Board. This is the Trustees' only direct contact with the educational branch of the school, as it is not concerned with the employment of the faculty or administration.

The Board of Trustees sets tuition and assessments, and approves the budget compiled and submitted by the Business Manager. Through its power to allot funds and to censor the budget, the Board is solely responsible for the direction and status of the school's fiscal affairs.

Mr. Schwartz

Headmaster

Peter A. Schwartz has served as headmaster of Pem'sroke-Country Day School for the past five years. After graduating from Princeton University, Mr. Schwartz became assistant to its President for one year, assistant to the dean of one of the colleges, and finally Dean for three years. From Princeton, Mr. Schwartz went to the Chicago Latin School, where he spent four years teaching English Latin.

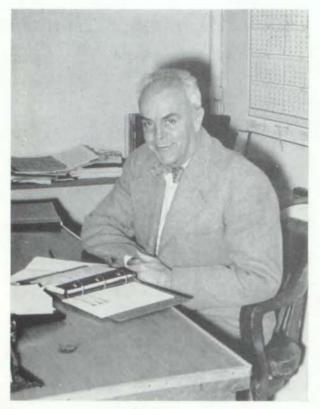

Chicago Latin School, where he spent four years teaching English, Latin, and history. Leaving there, he became assistant headmaster of the Hun School, in Princeton. Immediately preceding his headmastership at PemDay, he gained additional administrative experience by serving as headmaster of Allendale School in Rochester.

Mr. Schwartz has done a fine job of instilling in P.-C. D. students an honor and loyalty to their school, both on and off the campus. He has inspired students to strive toward high standards of conduct at all times and has aided their development through his emphasis upon accepting responsibility. Our headmaster has supported student government here in the belief that we should govern ourselves in proportion to our capabilities. He has also fostered religion, in the form of chapel services, as an important facet of school life. Each year, Seniors are indeed grateful for his information on colleges and universities, which he refreshes by making a yearly tour of many educational institutions.

Mr. Schwartz does more than simply make school policy. He is best loved for his inate ability to mingle with the student body and talk to the boys as a friend. Although his schedule is crowded with many engagements, he always takes time to help and advise students, no matter how small their problems may be. For his warm and sincere interest in each student, we owe a great deal of respect and gratitude to our headmaster, Peter A. Schwartz.

Mrs. Jones

Mr. Jones

Administration

The administrative branch of the school consists of two sections, the headmaster's office and the business office. The business office is responsible for all the financial problems encountered in running the school. Ably headed by Harold Jones, a P.-C. D. graduate and Harvard alumnus, the staff has succeeded in repeatedly balancing the budget. In addition to his office duties Mr. Jones also contributes valuable aid to the athletic department.

Other members of the staff assist the business manager and headmaster in their many functions. Mrs. Jones (B.A., Smith) serves as private secretary to the headmaster. Mrs. Baker, as Mr. Jones' secretary, is responsible for the bookkeeping. Mrs. Barnes (B.J., Missouri University) performs general secretarial functions, as well as acting as faculty advisor for the "Hilltop." The position of receptionist is ably filled by Mrs. Readey.

Student Council

John Hockaday

This year's Student Council marked up a number of important successes in a variety of fields. Special praise should be accorded to Bud Baker and John Hockaday, the two presidents, for providing active and responsible leadership. The Council was encouraged and aided throughout the year by Mr. Schwartz and Mr. Dundas. Special emphasis was placed upon increasing the scope of student government activities; a number of committees were appointed, both to give more students a part in the Council's activities and to assure thorough consideration of the subjects under discussion.

Probably student government's most outstanding success this year was the improvement of the study halls. An important reason for this success was that the administration provided a faculty supervised study hall, run without any privileges, for incorrigibles. The proctors reported regularly to the Council any difficulties they were encountering and named the principal violators. If an offender did not improve after a warning, he was placed in a faculty-run study hall, to return to the honor study halls only at the recommendation of the faculty.

For the seventh year, the Student Council supported the Southwest Youth Council and Court in its effort to promote traffic safety in the Southwest area. Members to that organization appointed by the Council were Bud Baker, Noland Gillmor, Richard Horttor, and Bud Porch.

The Student Council backed the fall charity drive which includes a variety of worthy causes. The combined Upper and Middle Schools raised $1,000, of which $600 was contributed to the United Funds campaign. An improvement in this year's drive was the emphasis placed upon the students paying their pledges as soon as possible. In addition, complete Christmas dinners were given to five needy families through special student donations of food and money. As another civic project, a group of students went regularly to the Boys' Club and helped in any way they could.

A new activity was instituted in the form of a committee to inspect the buildings and grounds. Under the leadership of John Starrett, this committee prepared a detailed report on the condition of school property.

John Windsor headed a committee to advise and orient Freshmen and other newcomers to the Upper School, which replaced the Senior Advisor system of previous years.

A definite effort to secure interesting programs for special assemblies was made by Wayne Nichols and George Gurley. Among the well-known speakers were Robert Strowbridge of the Art Institute, columnist Bill Vaughan, and Dr. Kimball of the Midwest Research Institute.

John Oliver investigated the possibility of initiating discussion groups or interest clubs, with an eye toward expansion into advanced study groups in which college credits might be earned. A committee headed by Manson Kennedy looked into the possibility of a reorganization of the Dramatics

The officers of this year's Student Council were John Hockaday (President), John Windsor (Vice-President), and John Oliver (Secretary-Treasurer) for the first semester, and Bud Baker (President), George Gurley (Vice-President), and Jack Kroh (Secretary-Treasurer) for the second semester.

The Student Council received excellent support and cooperation from the student body this year. There was a growing realization of the true objective of student government—student responsibility. Student government, initiated in 1948, seems to have a bright future at Pem-Day.

The object of a yearbook is the assemblage of an accurate and memorable record of school life during the year, and the "Raider" staff hopes that in producing the 1958 Raider they have realized this goal. Credit must be accorded to many for their work in constructing the book. Under the direction of Editor Bud Baker, the senior editorial staff, Associate Editor Bob Menees, Photography Editor Bill Sheidley, Assistant Photography Editor Bill Barrows, Copy Editor Dick Sutton, and Art Editor

David Trusty, labored ably and industriously. Commendation is especially due to the photography staff of Sheidley, Barrows, and Jim Baxter for their untiring efforts. The many subordinate members of the editorial staff must also be recognized for their contributions to the book.

The business staff of the 1958 Raider was headed by Noland Gillmor, with Jim Baxter as Circulation Manager. The diligence of the business staff, coupled with the solid financial foundation laid by the '57 book, resulted in the accumulation of more than sufficient funds to meet expenses. This enabled the "'58 Raider" to expand its budget to approximately $5,000, larger than that of any of its solvent predecessors.

The greatest change which distinguishes the 1958 Raider from previous editions is an increase of twenty pages in its length. Nearly every section of the book has been enlarged, its layouts have been more elaborately composed and it has been designed to include many more pictures. At the same time, the staff has tried to retain all of the better features of former "Raiders." One aspect of the book which is a subject of special pride is its appealing cover, designed by Hunter Jones and Bob Menees. Through all of these features and improvements, the "Raider" staff has attempted to construct a better, more interesting yearbook.

The 1957-1958 issues of "The Hilltop" represented efforts to make the paper an effective agent for the expression of student opinions and ideas, as well as a recorder of school news. Instead of appearing monthly in eight-page editions, "The Hilltop" was published bi-monthly with four pages. In addition, there was the humor supplement, "The Hillflop." The paper concerned itself with four general subjects-current events, athletics, lower school news, and creative writing and criticism.

This year's staff, under the co-editorship of John Coleman and Richard Helzberg, proved that if one cannot be literary, one can at least be literate. In covering news as well as commenting in editorials, "The Hilltop" put an end to its hallowed tradition of speaking in a monotone.

On the 1957-1958 editorial board were the editors, associate editors John Oliver and Steve Westheimer, business manager Jack Kroh, features editor Richard Wood, sports editor Fred Groves, advertising manager Bill McWhirter, and circulation manager John Kip Robinson.

Under a new policy, editorial staffs, as well as circulation aides, were established at the Sunset Hill and Barstow schools. "The Hilltop" also instituted a newspaper exchange system with other prep schools, high schools, and even colleges.

This changing "Hilltop" is an important indication of changing academic interests and ideals.

Glee Club

The Glee Club, always an integral part of the school's extracurricular life, was unusually successful in each of its many undertakings this year. Under the direction of Mr. Morris R. Burroughs, the members opened their season with a program of Christmas carols sung as a benefit at the Dierks' house. A similar performance was given at the K. U. Medical Center. The "Carolers," a handpicked group of the club's better voices, sang several "lighter" numbers at both performances and were very well received. Also as a part of the Glee Club's Christmas program, the group was given the opportunity to celebrate the lighting of the Mayor's Christmas tree by singing a few of the more familiar carols on the Mall downtown.

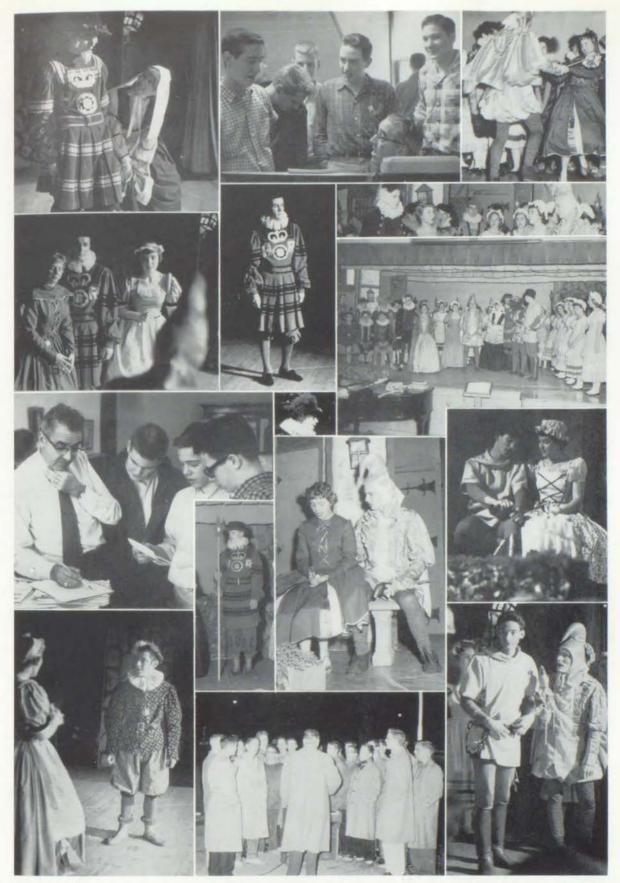

Mr. Burroughs

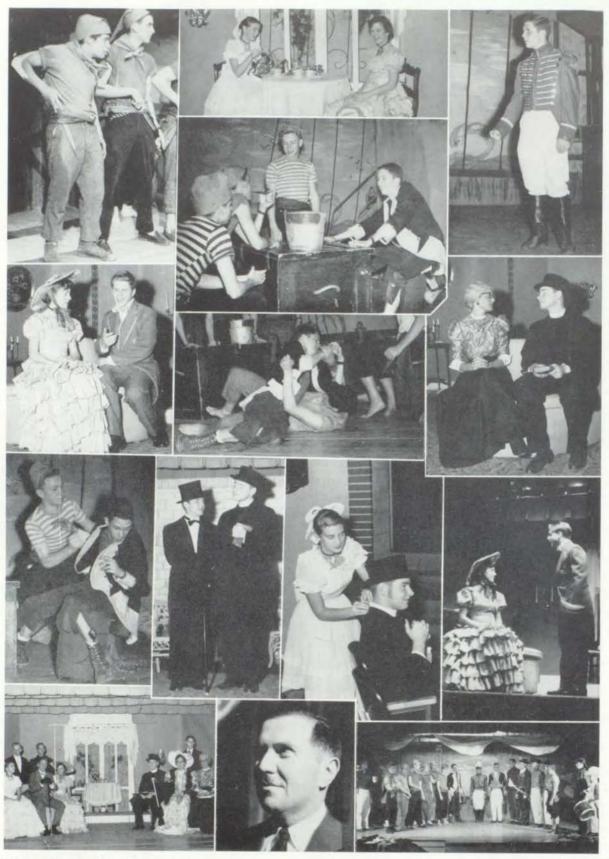

The Club was greatly honored this year by being the only vocal group to be invited to sing before the Kansas City Music Club two years in a row. The program was originally planned to encompass four songs but was expanded to five as a result of the audience's unexpected enthusiasm.

The "Yeomen of the Guard," by Gilbert and Sullivan, was presented as Pem-Day's annual operetta. As a result of the tireless efforts of Mr. Poor on the dramatics and Mr. Burroughs and Mrs. McMillan on the vocal end, the show was a definite success and maintained the audience's approval throughout. Cast in leading roles were: Sue Davis, ELSIE; Cathy Striker, PHOEBE; Peggy Montgomery, DAME CARRUTHERS; Jane Farney, KATE; Joel Rose, POINT; Cope Schellhorn, FAIRFAX; Dave Johnson, SERGEANT MERYLL; Bill Buckingham, SHADBOLT; Ford Brent, LIEUTENANT; Larry Rogovein, LEONARD MERYLL; Bill Barrows, 2nd YEOMAN; Jerry Miller, 1st YEOMAN.

During the spring, the Glee Club sang for the National Princeton Alumni Association and presented its annual Spring Concert. The year was climaxed by a short performance at graduation.

Dramatics Club

On November 14 and 15, 1957, the Dramatics Club of Pembroke-Country Day, in conjunction with Barstow, presented Oscar Wilde's comedy, The Importance of Being Earnest. Excellent performances were given by Wendy Thomas, Susan Rosse, Byron Cohen and Charles Bush in the leading roles. The adept and often commendable supporting cast consisted of Richard Sutton, Robert Haines, Joel Levitch, Lee Major, Nancy Brosnahan, and Ann Kasson. The action, revolving around the romantic imbroglios of Jack Worthing (Byron Cohen), took place in England of 1890.

As the time for the spring play approached, it was rumored that one would not be given. The Barstow Pretenders were giving a play a week before Pem-Day's projected date, and therefore no girls were available. Mr. Poor, however, after numerous discussions with the administration, at last received the approval of a play, adapted from Melville's novel, Billy Budd, with the one necessary feature—an all-male cast.

Billy Budd was presented, after a shorter than usual rehearsal period, on May 8 and 9. Byron Cohen once again distingished himself by mastering the very difficult role of Captain Vere. The play unfolds aboard a British man-of-war in the late eighteenth century. Other lead roles in this moralistic drama were filled by Robert Haines as Billy Budd, an impressed American seaman, and Manson Kennedy as John Claggart, the completely evil Masterat-Arms. The large supporting cast included officers Charles Bush, Ronald Fisher, Richard Horttor, Kenneth Cohen, and Whitney Miller, with William Sheidley, Richard Sutton, Wayne Nichols, Lee Major, Steve Quarles, Net Payne, Robert Wagstaff, Douglas Peterson, Steve Oshrey, James Baxter, Richard Wood, Robert Mnookin, Peter Schwartz, Jim Garland, and John Greenlease, filling the various roles of the crew of the H.M.S. Indomitable.

Mr. Poor.

Letterman's Club

The Letterman's Club is an honorary athletic organization, membership to which is accorded as further recognition to those boys who have lettered in one of the four major sports—football, basketball, baseball, and track—or for lettering three years in tennis. Any member of the club can be recognized by a white letter sweater with blue arm stripes, which designate the number of years he has lettered. This year's club has four four year lettermen—Bill Goetze, Bill O'Riordan, Cope Schellhorn, and John Windsor.

nationwide competition and Bill Barrows received honorable mention.

The contest this year involved 256,000 students from 14,000 high schools. First the competitors took a two-hour high-level college aptitude examination. From this, about 7,500 students advanced to the quarterfinals; then these quarterfinalists took a three-hour "scholastic aptitude test" of the college entrance examination board. This test served to verify the findings of the first test and nearly all the students advanced to the semifinal stage. All of the qualifiers, regardless of whether or not they won a scholarship, were identified to all colleges and universities.

Then the Merit Scholar selection committee considered the entire high school record of each of the 7,400 remaining scholars. This committee, composed of experts in the field of education, gave attention not only to the students' grades and test scores but also to qualities of leadership, citizenship, and participation in extracurricular activities. Finally, the 1,000 winners were named by this committee.

Baker receives a four-year scholarship to be used at any accredited college of his choice. This is an honor accorded to only one in every 1,500 students. Certificates of Merit, such as Sutton and Sheidley received, are granted to the 7,500 applicants across the nation who became semifinalists. This award signifies that the recipient ranks among the top one or two per cent of the senior class in his respective state.

fies that the recipient ranks among the top one or two per cent of the senior class in his respective state.

The Scholarship fund is financed by over 60,000 business and industrial firms, professional societies, foundations, and individuals, in addition to the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, which has an endowment of $20.5 million. Each winner receives financial aid according to his need, ranging from $100 to over $2,000 per year. This is the third year of competition.

Bill Sheidley, Bill Barrows, Dick Sutton, Bud Baker.

Print Shop

The Print Shop is a little known phase of the school's extra-curricular activity. This organization contributes much to the institution by filling many of its printing requirements, which include tickets and programs for plays and operettas, notices for all school activities, special bulletins, envelopes, study hall reports and other materials.

Besides saving the school a large amount of money, the Print Shop is a semi-self-supporting organization. A few outside jobs are taken on each year and the proceeds put toward improvement of the plant. Late last year, the shop was very fortunate in receiving a press and a large amount of paper from the Fratcher Printing Company. The whole plant was redecorated last fall at considerable expense. A sound-proof ceiling was installed and the room entirely painted by Mr. Steffen and his crew. The Print Shop wishes to express its thanks to those who donated their time and money to give it a much needed facelifting.

Under the leadership of the three senior members, John Starrett, Tom Higgins, and Richard Kiene, and the expert guidance of Mr. Schoonover, the five apprentices—Chuck Fratcher, Steve Melcher, Lee Peters, Gary Vance, and Tom Williams—learn the art of printing and a lesson in group cooperation. All these boys have helped to make the Print Shop the fine organization it is today.

"The Middle-Schooler"

The fifth year of publication of the "Middle-Schooler," younger brother of the "Hilltop," has brought many new improvements and attracted much praise. Recently Mr. Schwartz addressed a letter to the editors, commending the Christmas issue. In this issue, it was announced that the "Middle-Schooler" would sponsor a literary magazine at the end of the year, composed of the most superior middle school works in that department.

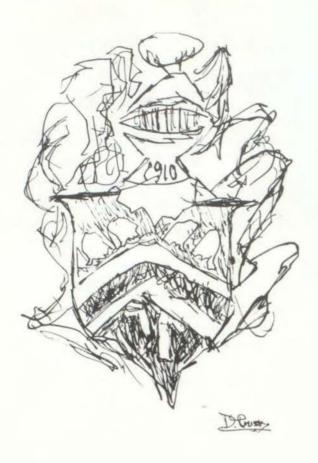

The publication caters to three hundred and lifty people in classes four through eight at Pem-Day and classes seven and eight at Barstow and Sunset, all of whom pay twenty-five cents for six issues.

The paper, which serves as an excellent training ground for upper school publications, is exemplary of efficiency and organization. Editors Don Kasle and Ted Bland, along with a staff of twenty from all middle school grades and Barstow and Sunset, have acquired the most advertisers in the paper's history. In addition, they have fostered many new activities and contests, such as Latin translation quiz. Because of the initiative and ability of the staff, the faculty advisers, Mr. Sembrat and Mr. Revnolds, have rarely found it necessary to offer guidance and suggestions. Each boy has carefully observed the publication's operation in previous years and has adapted himself to his position with an eye toward improvement. The "Middle-Schooler" is representative of an intelligent and progressive group and, it is hoped, indicative of the years to come in the upper school publications.

The beginning of the 1957 Raider football season was marked by the departure of forty-nine boys for Minnesota football camp on August 26th. Ten days of rugged Mishawaka practice molded the seventeen seniors, thirteen juniors, and nineteen sophomores into a well-conditioned and promising, though inexperienced, team.

P.-C. D. met Hogan on September 14th in the season's first contest, and drove to a 20-0 victory. The Raiders' scoring was supplied by Larry Niehouse on a forty-yard punt return, John Coleman on a four-yard plunge, and Captain John Hockaday on a forty-five-yard pass play.

On September 21st the Raiders obtained their second victory as they downed Lillis, 27-6. Three of the Pem-Day touchdowns were scored by half-back Bill Wakefield on an end run, a pass play and a line plunge, respectively, with the other tally being provided by Chuck Daniels on a sixty-yard off-tackle slant.

The Raiders reached their peak for the season in the game with Rockhurst on September 27th, which resulted in a 13-13 tie. P.-C. D. scored the first time they got the ball on a one-yard plunge by Bill Wallace, and emerged at the half with a 7-6 lead. In a spirited and hard-fought second half, Rockhurst, although outplayed by the Raiders, managed to add another touchdown. The score was tied, however, with three minutes to go, as another Wallace plunge capped a seventyvard Raider drive.

On October 4th, a spiritless Pem-Day team met St. Agnes and was defeated 19-13. P.-C. D. scored a touchdown in each half, on a thirteen-yard Wallace-Daniels pass and an eleven-yard end sweep by Wakefield, but was unable to muster sufficient drive to subdue its inspired opponent.

The Raiders were handed their second consecutive defeat on October 12th, as Codasco romped to a 40-7 victory. The game was characterized by the impotency of the P.-C. D. offense and the Raiders' inability to contain the powerful and polished Codasco single wing on defense. The lone Pem-Day tally came on a four-yard end run by Wallace.

P.-C. D., handicapped by numerous injuries and the loss of Chuck Daniels through transfer, came back on Ocotber 18th against Redemptorist to obtain their third win of the season, 40-24. A weak Raider defense was supported by a spirited offense which saw John Hoffman, John Morrison, and Bill Wakefield score two touchdowns apiece.

On October 26th, John Burroughs handed Pem-Day its third defeat by a misleading 33-13 score. Playing spirited and polished ball, the Raiders led their heavily favored opponent, 13-6, at the half. The scoring was provided by Wakefield and Wallace on six- and one-yard plunges, respectively. However, Burroughs rallied for twenty-seven points in the second half and held the Raiders scoreless to secure a substantial margin of victory.

In the season's eighth game, on November 1st, Pem-Day was again defeated, this time by Olathe, 20-13. On a muddy field, the P.-C. D. game showed merit, but was not consistent enough to contain the aggressive opponent. Raider touchdowns came on Wallace's six-yard plunge and his seventy-five-yard pass to Wakefield.

The Raiders again tasted defeat on November 8th, as De La Salle walked to a 44-0 victory in the season's final game. The Pem-Day team showed little indication of either spirit or ability as both its defense and offense completely collapsed.

At a football banquet held on November 27th, Varsity letters in football were awarded to twenty-four boys, and "B" Team letters to twenty-five. It was announced that Bill Wallace had been elected captain for 1958, to succeed John Hockaday. The team presented gifts to Coach Phil Dundas and Assisants Joe Scalet and Stan Durwood, in recognition of their season's hard work toward building and promoting the team.

P.-C. D.'s season record was three wins, five losses, and one tie. This showing might possibly be attributed to the sickness and injuries which continually plagued the team, to the spasmodic spirit which was a characteristic of the season, or even to a simple lack of athletic ability. Surely the season can be termed a disappointment, but in view of the effort put forth by the team as a whole, it cannot be labeled a disgrace.

The 1958 basketball team of Pembroke-Country Day, led by two-time all-state Captain John Windsor, finished the season with an admirable 21-5 record. The squad, composed of starters R. Arms, B. Goetze, B. Wakefield, B. Wallace, and Windsor, and reserves Schneider, Gurley, and Fisher, was guided to the quarter-finals of the Missouri State High School Tournament in Pem-Day's initial year as a class L school.

The season began with auspicious victories over Central and Olathe by scores of 57 to 39 and 57 to 38, as Goetze and Windsor combined for 75 of the Raiders' total of 114 points. The third game of the season saw the Kansas AA champions from Wyandotte High School host to the outclassed Red Raiders. The Red fell to a superbly executed defense featuring a pressing half-court defense. Holding all-state Windsor to 2 points, the Bulldogs, led by Phil Heitmeyer's 25 points, captured a 59-46 victory.

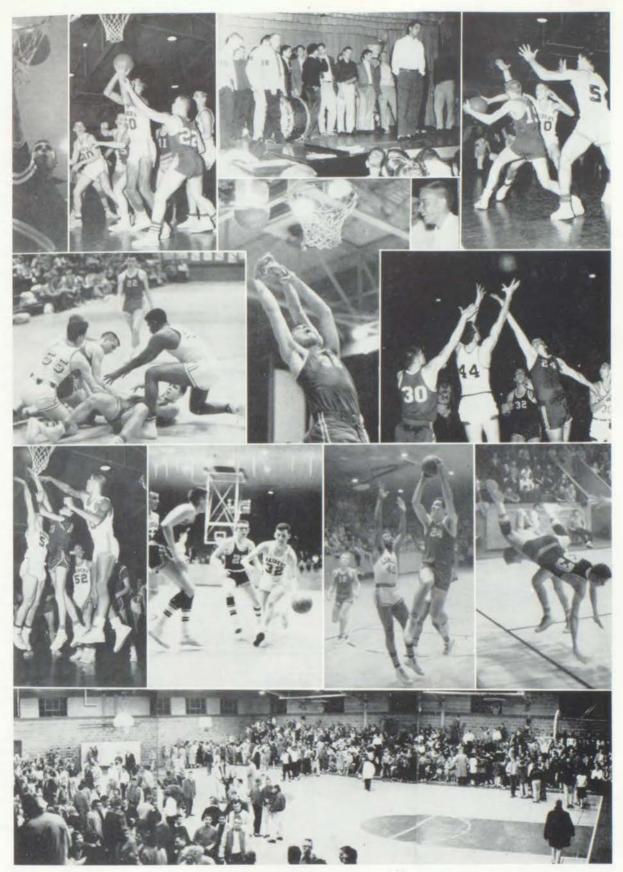

The following night, a spiritless Pem-Day crew took a 49-42 decision from Hogan as John Windsor hit for 28 points. The Raiders next beat the Lincoln Blue Tigers, 51-38, on the Pem-Day court. Although Lincoln was cold from the field as well as the free throw line, Interscholastic League scoring leader Jackie Gilbert hit for 21 points, 13 of which came in the last quarter. The hustling Raiders, shooting at an average of 36 per cent, captured a rebounding edge of 34 to 28.

In the next outing, the Big Red met Moberly High School, and the little men with big ideas from Moberly, Missouri, were soundly thumped, 69-38.

During the Christmas vacation, the Red Raiders were invited to the Lee's Summit Tournament, and as 1956 champions were to defend their title against a field composed of such teams as Clinton, North Kansas City, Lee's Summit, and William Chrisman. Led by Windsor's 26 points, and with Goetze and Wakefield contributing 18 and 10 points, respectively, the Red Raiders downed Rockhurst, 70-56. In the following round they thumped William Chrisman as the Bears' flashy guard, Bob Raines, banged in 24 tallies. Once again the Raiders were boosted by Windsor's 20 points and Goetze's 18 as Pem-Day earned the right to meet host Lee's Summit for the championship. In spite of Windsor's 23 counters, Pem-Day came out on the short end of a 66-59 final score as Lee's Summit led from the tip-off. The loss left the team with a mid-season record of nine wins and two losses.

The next outing saw the Red catch fire and down Rockhurst, 74-40, in one of their better games of the season. A stubborn Paseo team was the next victim in a game that ended 61-52. The Raiders played cooly to pull out a victory in the closing seconds as Goetze starred. The next contest was with St. Agnes, and the Raiders' ability in the clutch was again demonstrated. The regulation game ended in a 46-46 tie as 5-foot 6-inch Jim Colbert hit two of his 30 points seconds before the buzzer sounded. In the overtime period Goetze drew a foul while on defense, and sank two points with five seconds left to give Pem-Day a 48-46 victory.

Coach Ryan

The following two games were played with the traditional cross-state rivals, John Burroughs and St. Louis Country Day. On the Pem-Day court, the Codasco team lost to the Big Red in a raggedly played contest by a score of 61-44. The following Saturday night, in St. Louis, John Burroughs fell, 76-44, to the balanced attack of the Raiders. The Red scored 31 field goals for a season high as they hit 56 per cent of their attempts. Bill Wallace delivered 17 points, a scoring punch that was needed all season.

The following Tuesday, the Center High School Blue Jays met the Raiders and were soundly turned back by a balanced attack in a game that ended 63-22.

Coach Eddie Ryan's team played the role of the generous host to the De La Salle Cadets in a game in which each team hit 13 field goals. But De La Salle capitalized on free throws to gain a 42-41 victory. The score at the end of the first quarter was 7-7, but in the second quarter, the Cadets took a 17-14 lead as Windsor sat on the bench with 3 fouls. The Raiders were given good shots, but failed to connect for a winning percentage. The third quarter ended, 30-26, in favor of the Cadets. With a minute and a half left in the game, Pem-Day pulled to a 41-all deadlock, giving De La Salle possession of the ball. After stalling for the final shot, Kingsly drove to the basket and was fouled. He missed his first shot, but hit his second. This miserable effort marked the first time that Pem-Day had fallen to an average team in three years.

The next game was played with the St. Joseph's of Shawnee Blue Streaks. The Raiders had no trouble disposing of them, 75-35, as eleven Pem-Day players saw action.

The traditional Pem-Day-Southwest game was a sorry event for both Pem-Day players and fans. After a well-played first half which ended 28-18 in favor of Pem-Day, the Raiders lost the edge of their sharp play to fall, 62-51, to the Indians who suddenly caught fire. Although their record had been poor, their inspired play produced 44 points, 19 by Jim Baker, in the second half to Pem-Day's 23. Once again, as with De La Salle, it was the Raiders' lack of a balanced scoring attack, rebounding and hustle that was their downfall. This gave the Raiders a 14-4 record as the season drew closer to tournament play.

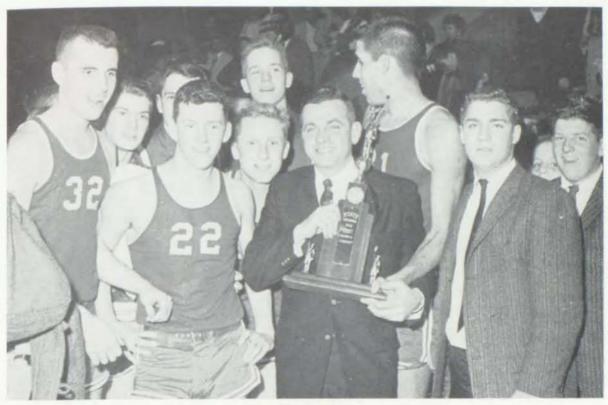

On their home court the Big Red played Saint Agnes in a game that was entirely different from the previous match. With 6-foot 8-inch John Windsor holding 5-foot 8-inch Jim Colbert to only 5 points, and the tall Pem-Day front line controlling the boards, the Raiders won handily, 74 to 41.

In the most rewarding game of the season, the Big Red beat the Ward Cyclones, who had previously been rated as the No. 1 team in the state of Kansas. Holding a five-point lead at the half, the Raiders abandoned their fast break style of ball for a slower, more deliberate game and went on to win, 44 to 38. Ward's Ray Sadeki played a brilliant floor game and donated 14 points to a losing cause. The rugged rebounding and tight defense of the Raiders proved to be the difference as the victory lessened the sting of several previous defeats.

The Argentine game saw the Raiders hold onto a big first half lead as they overcame a fourth quarter rally by the Mustangs. John Windsor scored 29 points as Pem-Day won, 59 to 51.

Victory in the Regional

This marked the end of the regular season, and after the hard grind, the boys were given a lay-off before they resumed work to tune up for the regional tournament. In the first round, the Raiders drew Central whom they had beaten earlier in the season. But the much improved Eagles provided unexpectedly tougher opposition. With Fulton's rebounding skill and a good defense, they held Pem-Day to 17 points in the first half as they scored 18. The last quarter and a half proved the difference as the Red went on to win, 44-31.

The semi-finals game proved to be just as difficult, as Westport, another Interscholastic league contender, bowed to the future tournament champions. Although behind by 5 points at the half, the Raiders came back on Goetze's 25-point barrage to win, 42-39. In the other bracket, Lincoln had squeaked its way into the final round.

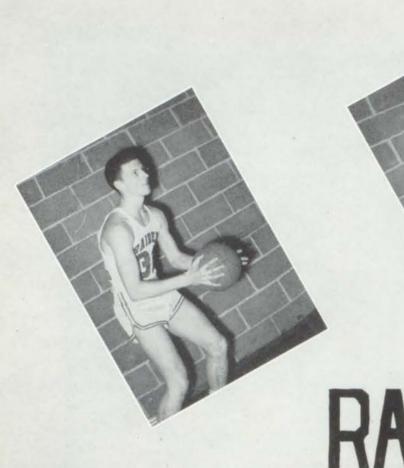

Pem-Day met the Tigers in a game which decided who the regional representative to the state tournament would be. Lincoln had improved tremendously and was favored to win. With Big Jack Gilbert picking up 4 fouls in the first half and having to ease up, the Raiders took advantage and worked the boards even harder. Behind by 6 at the quarter, they battled back to a 2-point lead at half-time but could not hold it. Lincoln took a 5-point lead with 1:38 left in the game. Pem-Day's chances appeared dismal, but the Red kept fighting and Lincoln's savoir-faire succumbed to the pressure. Behind by 1 point with 16 seconds left, Wallace picked up a loose ball on a tip and fired a downcourt pass to Goetze who scored to pull the Raiders ahead, 54-53. Lincoln brought the ball in and lost it to the alert Pem-Day crew. Gurley was fouled and missed 2 free shots. Gilbert missed a shot split seconds before the buzzer sounded and the game was over.

the buzzer sounded and the game was over.

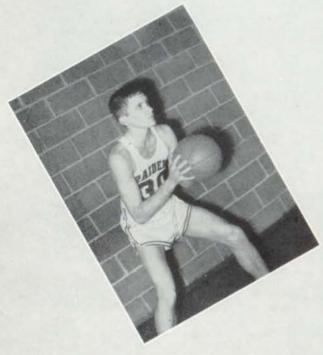

The Raiders go to the State! The draw scheduled Pem-Day with Clinton, winners of the Marshall regional. Playing a 10 o'clock game which actually began about 11:15 p.m., the Red could do no wrong as they took a 16-point lead with them to the dressing zoom at half-time. The second half was a different story as the Raiders' defense fell apart. Clinton pulled within one point but couldn't go ahead as Goetze came back off the bench to bank in six straight points. All-state John Windsor scored a total of 17 points while Goetze compiled 19.

The second round brought the Raiders face to face with the undefeated team from St. Louis University High and sharpshooting Tom Kiefer, who was named the most valuable player in the tournament. From the first whistle it was evident the Raiders didn't have the stuff to compete with the Junior Bills and the score ended 75-49, the worst defeat of the season. John Windsor, a first team all-tournament player, scored 25 points, most of them in the last quarter. The season was over, leaving the Raiders with a respectable 21-5 record. In spite of being plagued by poor bench strength and lack of balanced scoring, they played a far tougher schedule of basketball foes than had any previous team. Although they performed somewhat disappointingly at times, the season was a good one and one of which both players and students may be proud.

Practice for the P.-C. D. baseball team began a week before spring vacation, under the leadership of Capt. John Coleman and Coach Jim Angell. There was talk of going to the state and coming back with Pem-Day's first state baseball championship. With only four returning lettermen, the Raiders nevertheless had a fine nucleus for a good ball club. Two days after spring vacation was over, the team opened the season against Park Hill with a starting lineup of: Bill Wakefield, P; Bill O'Riordan, C; Don Early, 1B; Kent Schneider, 2B; Capt. John Coleman, SS; Bill Wallace, 3B; Ben Adams, LF; Ronnie Fisher, CF, and Steve Westheimer, RF.

The Big Red moved north to meet their first opponent, Park Hill. With Wakefield hurling a neat four hitter and striking out 14, the Raiders came off the field with a 9 to 4 victory. The attack was well balanced as every boy who suited up played at least an inning. This initial victory under their belts, the Raiders moved back to their home field to meet the Fort Osage nine. Don Early started for P.-C. D. and pitched five innings, striking out nine and allowing two runs. Wallace pitched the last two innings, allowing two runs and striking out four. The final score was 11 to 3, as Wakefield, Coleman, Westheimer, and O'Riordan each collected two hits and Adams knocked in three runs with a bases loaded triple.

With a 2 and 0 record the Raiders met the Wyandotte Bulldogs and scraped through a close pitching duel, 2 to 1. Wakefield hurled for the Red, allowing only 5 hits and 1 run (a home run) and striking out 10. Pem-Day got only four hits but made them count for two runs. The Raiders then moved back home to meet their old rivals, the Rockhurst Hawklets. Wallace went the distance for the Raiders, striking out five while allowing nine hits, as they received a sound beating, 8 to 3. P.-C. D. pulled within one run, 4 to 3, in the sixth inning as Coleman tripled with a man on, but Rockhurst opened the game up in the seventh as they got 3 runs. The Raiders' record now stood at 3 and 1.

The next game was with North Kansas City in the first round of the State Tournament. The Raiders jumped off to a quick 1 to 0 lead in the first frame at Wakefield got to first on a fielder's choice, went to third on a double play ball by Coleman and scored on Early's single. In the second inning the Red increased their lead to 6 to 0 as O'Riordan singled, Schneider walked, and Wallace doubled, driving in one run. Adams hit a sacrifice fly to score a second run; then Wakefield tripled, driving in still another one and later scored on an error. Coleman scored later to give the Raiders their lead. After this, however, the Raiders fell by the way-side as the Hornets rallied to win, 12 to 6. Wakefield went the distance, striking out 10.

The Raiders, eliminated from the State Tournament, came home to play Wyandotte again. Wallace started for Pem-Day, but was relieved by Coleman. The Wyandotte pitcher had a nohitter for five innings until Wallace singled to left. P.-C. D. went on to score 4 runs in the seventh but the rally fell short with the final score 9 to 6. The Raiders' record now stood at 3 and 3. Having lost three straight, the Red team met Rockhurst in an attempt to gain revenge for the earlier defeat. The Raiders drew first blood as in the third inning Schneider walked, and scored on a base hit by Wakefield after being sacrificed to second by Wallace. The Red scored again in the sixth, to gain a 2 to 0 lead, which they held to earn their fourth victory. Early pitched the complete game, allowing only two hits while striking out seven.

The Raiders' next game was with Fort Osage on the P.-C. D. field, and the Red won easily, 12 to 4. Six of the 11 Raider hits went for extra bases as Bremson and Wallace each homered. Wallace went the route for Pem-Day, allowing two hits and striking out 9. With a 5 and 3 record, Pem-Day invaded Sedalia. The Tigers from Sedalia jumped off to an early lead, scoring an unearned run in the fourth. But in the fifth, P.-C. D. tied it up as Adams doubled and Fisher singled him home. Pem-Day scored again in the sixth as Wallace doubled, went to third on

With their record now 6 and three, the Raiders have 4 games left. They were rained out the fifth of May against Ward and there are hopes of a rescheduling. Games left are De La Salle, May 6; Rockhurst or Wyandotte, May 9; Ward, May 12, and De La Salle, May 14.

STATE CHAMPIONS

With most of the boys from last year's track team returning and a few newcomers, the outlook was good for Mr. Campbell and his 1958 crew. After a few weeks of workouts, the team set out for the State Indoor, and gained a tie for first with Bayless and Holden, all with 16½ points. George Gurley led the way with a first in the low hurdles and a third in the highs, while Norman Fordyce came in second in the mile, and Bill Goetze finished fourth in the shot put. The scoring was rounded off by a fourth in the 880-yard relay and a tie for fifth by John Windsor in the high jump.

After a layoff for spring vacation, the Raiders set out to retain their title at William Jewell. Winning six out of the fourteen first places, they came out on top with 38 points. The scoring was led by Larry Niehouse, who won both the 100 and the 220. Three school records were broken as Norman Fordyce posted a fast 4:48.8 in the mile, Bill Goetze threw the discus 150 feet 11½ inches, and George Gurley ran the low hurdles in :20.2. The other first was gained by John Windsor in a tie for tops in the high jump.

Having won this important meet, P.-C. D. took on Rockhurst and Ward in a triangular, and scored 62¾ points to Rockhurst's 49¾ and Ward's 34½. Larry Niehouse contributed 15 points and George Gurley 10 to the victory.

The Raiders next took on Center, winning by a margin of 65 to 53. Ten of fourteen first places went to the Raiders. Again George Gurley won both hurdles and Norman Fordyce won the mile. Cope Schellhorn set a new record in the 880 with a 2:05.9, and both the 880 and mile relay teams came in first.

With a record of three victories and a tie, the track team met Park Hill and De La Salle, coming out on top with 79 points. The scoring was lead by Norman Fordyce, Bill Goetze, and George Gurley with ten points apiece.

On May 3 the team set out for Warrensburg to qualify for the state. Here they came in a close first with 42 points. George Gurley scored three firsts, in both hurdles and the 220, while Norman Fordyce, as usual, won the mile. Bill Goetze took first in the discus and second in the shot, as Taylor Embry took second in the broad jump. The mile relay team, composed of Kroh, Hyde,

Co-Captain Cope Schellhorn Jack Kroh

Co-Captain Bill Goetze Fred Groves

George Gurley Larry Niehouse

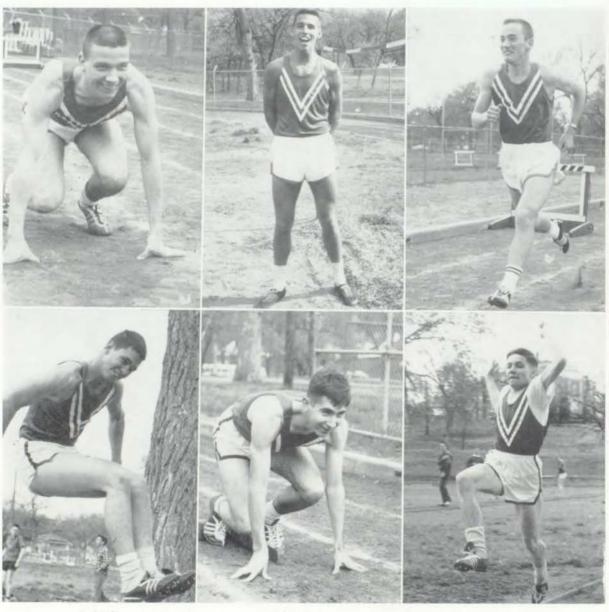

Baker, and Schellhorn, won second.

During the last weeks of the season the track team took on Olathe and then headed for the State, where they hoped to do well.

Prospects are bright for next year's team, with many lettermen returning and excellent material coming up from the lower grades.

Although he will not admit it, Mr. Hilliard Hughes, the tennis coach, has been a definite factor in the newly expanded tennis program. Two years ago, he met with unflagging determination and quiet patience a tennis team heaped with minor letters and lost matches, and smothered with cat-calls. This team was not only a group of defeatists, they were defeated . . . often.

This year, a full fall program was undertaken and pre-spring practice was initiated. It was agreed that netmen lettering for three years should receive a major letter, thus becoming eligible for membership in the Letterman's Club.

With a separate program underway for beginners known as "social tennis" and a more concentrated one for those competing in matches, the season proved to be a fruitful one. Eleven returning lettermen, under the leadership of Gates Ripley and Bob Mer ees, headed the team. Out of the eight matches played against five schools—Rockhurst, Shawnee-Mission, Southwest, Olathe, and North Kansas City—seven were won decisively, the only loss being to Shawnee-Mission.

In the district tennis elimination held May 1st and 2nd at North Kansas City, four of the six finalists who advanced to state competition at Columbia, Mo., on May 12th were from Pem-Day. Winning over contenders from Southwest, Rockhurst, North Kansas City, Hogan, and Southeast were John Hockaday and Byron Cohen in singles, and Bob Menees and Gates Ripley in doubles.

The loss of six valuable lettermen through graduation will be a blow to next year's tennis prospects, but under Mr. Hughes' able direction, the future should hold promise.

V. marches to another victory; Mr. Form drives through. Right row: A familiar side of the faculty; The velvet touch; Sub-Junior Relays.

FORATO URES

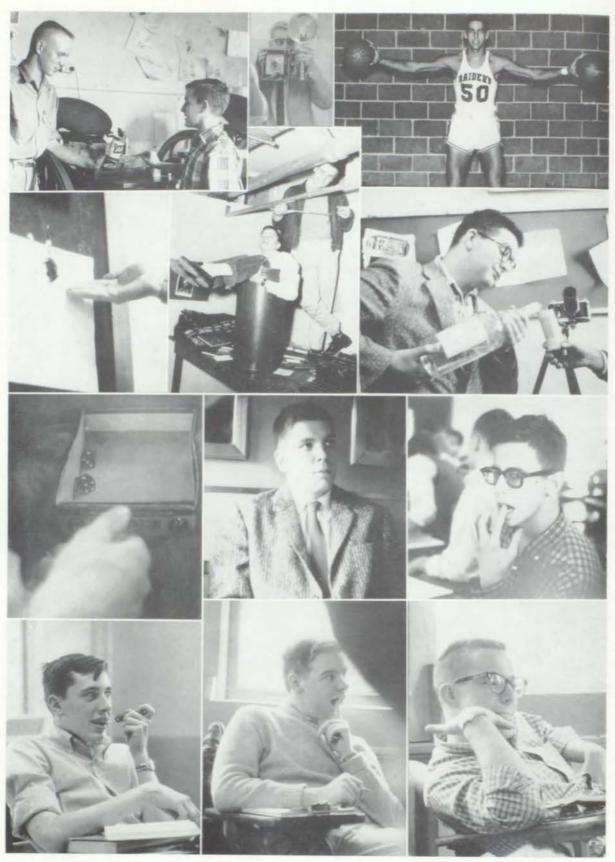

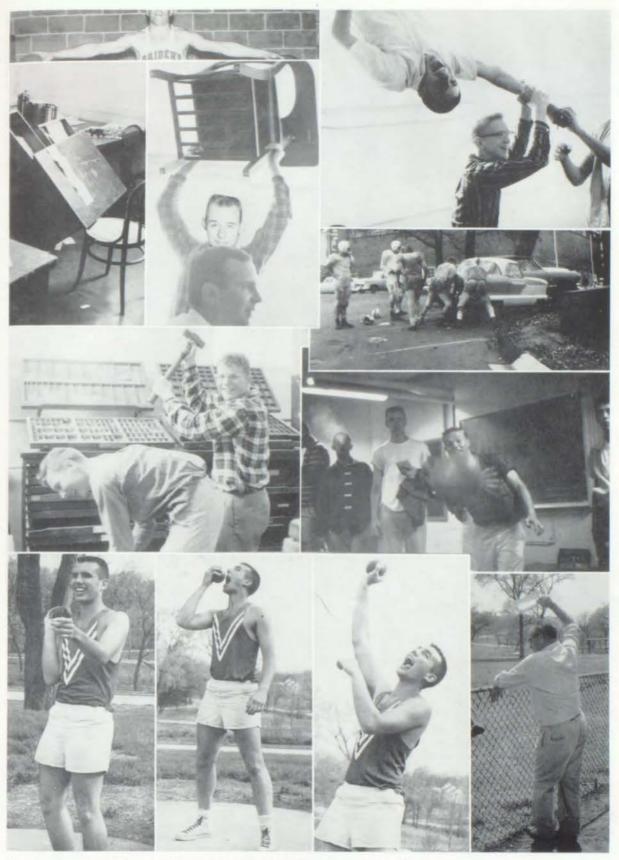

Top: Eddie and his bottle—an afternoon at football camp; Gung Ho; Stud play; Hall scene. Center: Townies; a charming assemblage. Bottom: Urrght . . . Ganterstrok!!; By sex possessed.

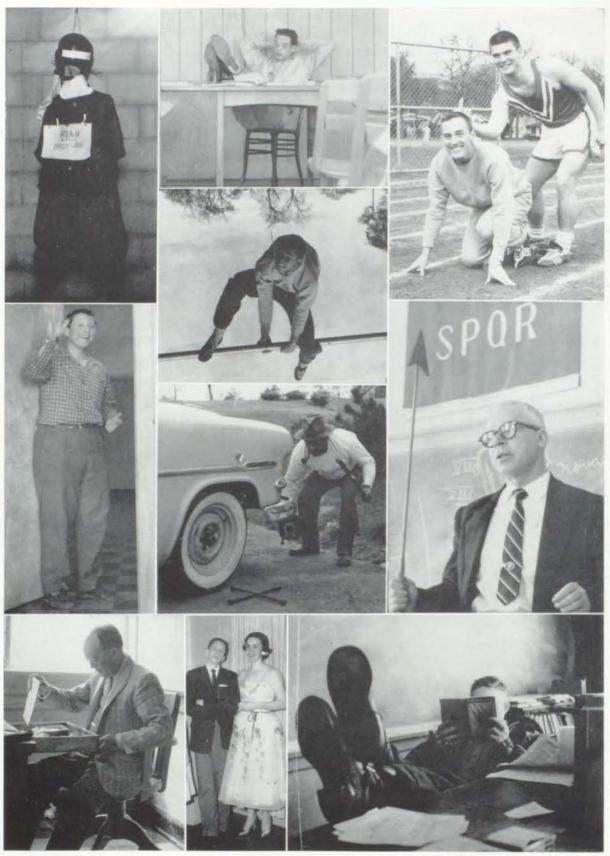

Left row: I hate "The Raider"; Now, where did she go? I gotta have a quick one—English test next period. Middle row: Schlitzrefreshment; Hey, guys, this ain't Schlitz; Another Senior enterprise; The hairy ape club. Right row: O'Grady in paradise; I'd like to beg that question—I was up all night looking after that baby; Hock's beauty salon.

Top row: Something's brewing in the Print Shop; Finally, a "Hilltop" photographer; Goose. Second row: Smoking does cause cancer; Merit Scholars at play; Here you go, Jumper. Third row: O'Grady loses again; Hyperintellectuality; Ddaaaaaaa. Bottom row: But, Prof, I never slip; Prof, there's a slight error in your calculations; But, Prof, the Martians got my homework.

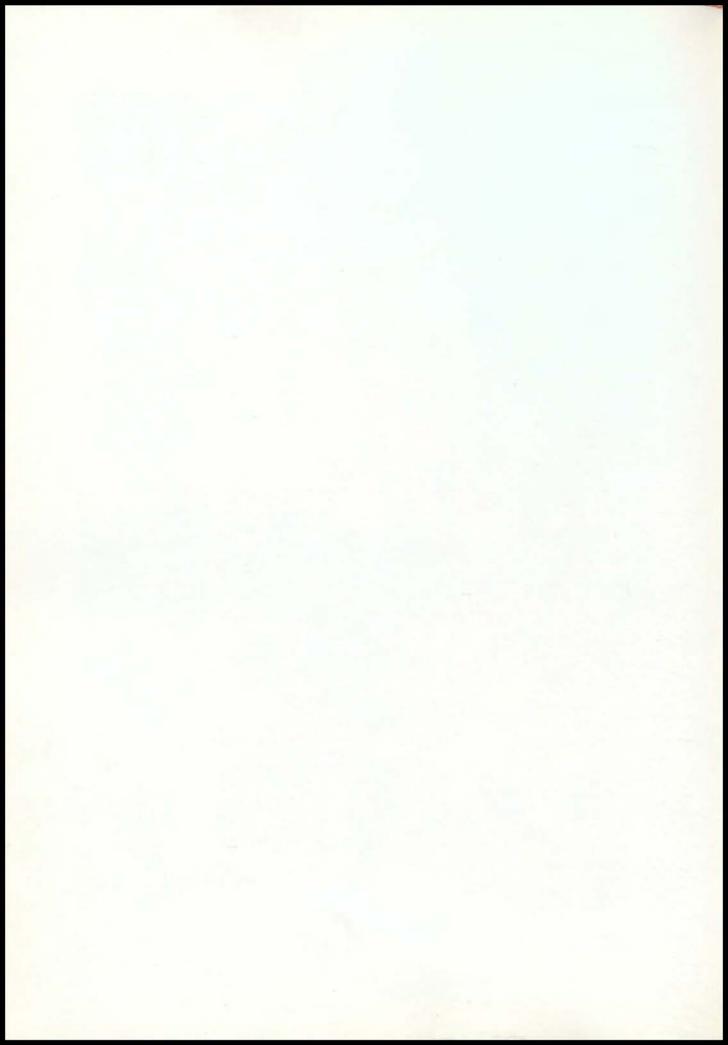

Top row: Goase faded! ". . . and Gargantuan Gilbert has Slimy Slate in a flying mare . . "Second row: Hideout of corrupt "Hilltop" in typical state of despicable disorder; I hate billiards! It's a pushover. Third row: Come on, Muscles, we dare you; Raider photographer on the ball. Bottom row: Hmmm, it's smooth and round; Maybe I could eat it; Hey, look, Big Blue, muscles; Come on, Arms, throw it!

Left row: Can't win 'em a'l; Eight time trundler with the Hughes Blues; They'll steal you blind, Prof. Middle row: Hard-working proctor; So this guy says to me, "Climb it," he says; So that's where the hubcaps are going; It's a simple wt.-wt. vol.-vol. problem, you see. Right row: Thumbs up; J. B. Fisher, noted for his good taste in clothes, says, "I'd feel naked without my spear!" French soul.
