To VIRGINIA SCOTT MINER

For her long and faithful service to the school as a teacher;

For her untiring and unselfish work in the Library;

For her never failing interest in us and our problems;

we, the students of Pembroke-Country Day School, respectfully and affectionately dedicate this book.

School History

The desire of improved educational opportunities in Kansas City prompted the establishment of a Country Day School in 1910 by Mrs. A. Ross Hill. It was recognized as only the third such school in the nation. The school was originally located on the corner of 61st & Wornall. The year 1914 saw nineteen boys and three teachers at a new twenty-two acre location at 51st & Ward Parkway. A gymnasium was promptly erected, with the addition of a junior school building and the Schuyler-Ashley Dormitory in 1922 and 1930 respectively.

In 1933, the reduction of financially eligible students due to the depression prompted the merger of Country Day School with the other private school of the city, Pembroke, which had been founded in 1925.

Today there are several instructors yet teaching at the school who were with the schools at the time of the merger. They are: Mr. Coad, Mr. Nault, and Mr. Wedin (of Country Day) and Mr. Bennett and Mrs. Holte (of Pembroke).

From 1933 to 1943, with Mr. Howard E. Jones as headmaster, enrollment grew to 183 students.

In the decade from 1943 to 1953, with Mr. Bradford M. Kingman as headmaster, the school was able to burn a sixty-three thousand dollar mortgage as part of the 1945 commencement ceremonies. A dormitory was added in 1948, the Phillips Memorial Gymnasium and Howard Flagg, Jr. Auditorium in 1949, as well as the extension of the junior school building and construction of the headmaster's house in 1950. The shop-garage and tennis courts were finished in 1952.

In the school year of 1953-1954 a new face appeared at Pem-Day. This was Mr. Peter A. Schwartz, who came from Allendale School in New York to take over as headmaster. Since the coming of Mr. Schwartz, the school has leaped forward in all fields, athletic as well as academic. The largest improvement thus far has been the extensive remodeling of the administration building, undertaken in 1955 through the eighty-five thousand dollar gift of Mr. Raymond B. White. The building was renamed White Hall in memory of his two sons, John Barber II, and William Nicholas, both of whom attended Pem-Day in the 1930's.

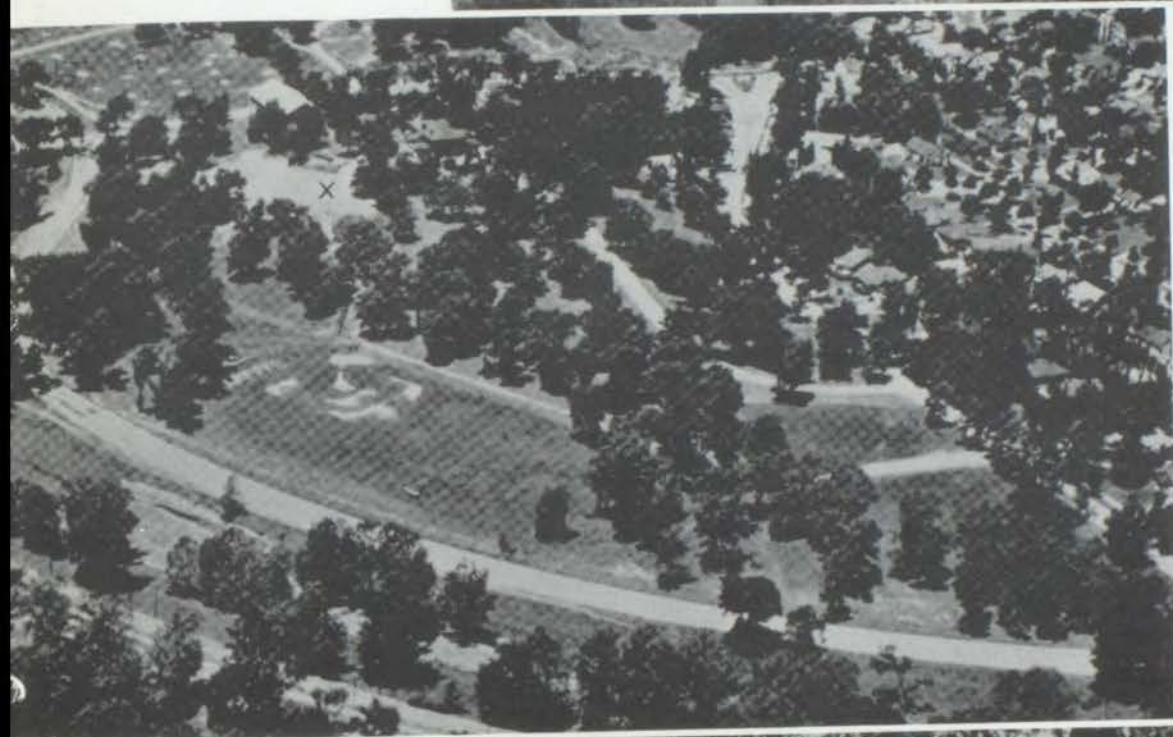

A huge three hundred thousand dollar building program has been undertaken. Beginning last year, it has already brought marked results. A beautiful and much needed biology lab has been constructed on the second floor of Ashley Hall. The blueprint for the next ten years is tremendous. Mr. Schwartz has recommended that the Endowment Fund be increased to one-half million dollars, a goal to be reached by the end of the 50th anniversary celebration.

The headmaster's goal is to achieve stability of the moving, flexible kind which will permit Pem-Day to continue to prosper in the next fifty years of unimaginable change, just as it has from 1910 to the present.

Board of Trustees

The major functions of the Board of Trustees are the direction of finance and the determination of school policy. The school administration then carries out the policy established by the Trustees. The Board this year consists of fifteen members selected from parents of students, alumni, and people interested in the welfare of Pem-Day. The Board of Trustees is divided into many different committees such as committees of scholarship, athletics, entrance, building, etc. There are committees for every school function and it is through these various committees that the Board operates. These committees also establish the standards of the school.

The Trustees employ the headmaster who directs the school and is answerable to the Board. This is the Trustees' only direct contact with the educational branch of the school since they are not concerned with the employment of the faculty or administration staff.

The Trustees also set tuition and assessments and approve the budget compiled and submitted by the Business Manager of the school. Through its power to allot funds and to censor the budget, the Board is solely responsible for the direction and status of the school's fiscal affairs.

This year, besides carrying out its usual duties, the board has accomplished two noteworthy projects. The first was the planning and execution of Pem-Day's Fiftieth Anniversary Dinner. At the dinner, which approximately 700 people attended, the contributions of the faculty and staff of Pem-Day were recognized. The second project, accomplished by the Board this year, was the completion of the plans to expand the physical plant of Pem-Day in order to take care of the present number of students more efficiently. This latter project involves a fund raising drive, called the First Century Fund Campaign, to obtain the $600,000 needed to accomplish the building program. The plans for the campaign have been completed, and the drive will last all summer and end in the fall, by which time it is hoped the necessary money will have been secured.

During the summer the members of the Board of Trustees, alumni, and others will personally contact friends of the school to solicit the necessary funds. If all goes well, the building project will begin in the spring of 1961. The plans for expansion include a winter sports building and improved overall athletic facilities in order to allow more boys to participate in winter sports and to concentrate student activities better than is presently possible. Besides better athletic facilities the Board has decided to begin work on several other building projects at the same time. These include a new junior school building, an enlarged dining room and kitchen, a separate library building and other improvements.

Headmaster

The headmaster is responsible only to the board of trustees. He is in general charge of all school functions. Under the heading of academic responsibilities, he is responsible for what is to be taught; he is responsible for the students learning what is to be needed in college, and he is responsible for the teachers doing their best job. He is in general charge of all athletics, grounds and buildings, transportation, public relations, admission, and business. He is responsible for where the money comes from, where it goes, and that there is enough of it. In the fund raising campaign this summer, the campaign was o.k.ed by the board of trustees after which it was dumped into the lap of Mr. Schwartz. All checks must be signed twice: once by Mr. Jones, and once by Mr. Schwartz. In the absence of one of these men, it could be signed by a member of the board of trustees after a meeting has been called. He hires and supervises the entire faculty, occasionally dismissing them. He takes an active part in personal, social, and scholastic guidance. In connection with this, he surveys all boys' records prior to signing their report cards, writes notes, and signs them.

This setup could be run in an impersonal manner, much like a large corporation. Should this occur, the friendly atmosphere of the school would immediately leave being replaced by a fear of the headmaster by faculty and students alike, a dread of classes, and a mass production of eggheads.

The school belongs to four various organizations, which help to advance the norm of all schools involved. The A.C.S. (Association of Central States) and the A.S. (Association of the Southwest), meet regularly to discuss common problems and their solutions. The I.S.E.B. (Independent School Education Board) has this function and also makes out standardized tests with an independent school's norm. The E.R.B. (Education Records Bureau) makes out standardized tests only. We do not take the I.S.E.B.'s tests but do take the E.R.B. tests. Mr. Schwartz also belongs personally to the Country Day School Headmasters Association since he was invited in 1957. This select organization of 150 members has meetings once per year. Periodically, Mr. Schwartz visits various colleges. The purpose of this is to establish a personal relationship with that college, rather than being a mere name. This enables Mr. Schwartz to use a personal "pull" for a student that he feels will do well, but that the college is dubious of. It also enables Mr. Schwartz to determine what the college wants in a student. While Mr. Schwartz is on these various jaunts, the school is a body without a head. All checks must wait for his return, and each department head runs his own department. The department head of the upper school is Mr. Dundas.

Mr. Schwartz's personal schedule is: 8:00-8:30, faculty meeting; 8:30-8:45, chapel. From 9:00-12:45, he handles details and interviews, as he does from 1:30-3:30. From 3:30-4:30, he has conferences and catches up on his mail. He usually trundles home at 5:30. The faculty meeting follows a weekly pattern: Monday, upper school; Tuesday, middle school; Wednesday, lower school; Thursday, fourth, fifth, and sixth grades; and Friday, calm his hectic nerves. There is an average of five or six conferences per day, each one taking from ten minutes to an hour. The telephone is constantly ringing in the office, and regardless of who it is, he cannot just cut him off.

Peter A. Schwartz has served as headmaster of Pem-Day since 1953. Upon graduation from Princeton University, Mr. Schwartz became assistant to the Dean of the College, and to the Dean of the Faculty for three years. He then went to the Chicago Latin School for four years, teaching English, Latin, and History. Mr. Schwartz has had additional administrative experience having been associated with the Hun School in Princeton as assistant headmaster and the position of headmaster of the Allendale School of Rochester, New York for five years. The school's record showed marked progress during his sojourn there.

Administration

To many people a school consists of a faculty and students only, but to anyone who has really considered a school as a whole, many other facets are found to be present. Probably one of the most time consuming and tedious jobs is that of keeping the budget and other financial records straight. This job is ably filled by a Pem-Day graduate, Mr. Harold Jones. In addition to his duties in the office, Mr. Jones also finds time to add valuable assistance to the athletic department.

Mrs. Schwartz, a newcomer this year, is the assistant to Mr. Jones, and also holds the post of bookkeeper.

The rest of the general secretarial functions of the school are handled by Mrs. Barnes (B.J., Missouri University). Mrs. Barnes also is the faculty advisor for the Hilltop.

The position of receptionist for the school is capably held by Mrs. Schirmer, who also helps with the small problems which arise daily.

National Merit Scholarship

In this year's competition for the National Merit Scholarships, Pem-Day had its greatest number of semifinalists ever. Of forty-one students, eleven, Charles Bush, Bob Mnookin, Jim Garland, Joel Levitch, Steve Quarles, Greg Gilbert, Mike Hyde, Jerry Duggan, Lee Peters, Mike Coburn, and Drane Wilkinson, received certificates of merit as semifinalists. Wheeler Deem, who moved to St. Louis, was also awarded a certificate of merit, raising the total number to twelve, over twice that of any other school in the Kansas City area. Of these twelve, only one, Charles Bush, received a scholarship.

A total of 1000 scholarships are awarded each year under this program — 575 by sponsoring organizations and 425 by the National Merit Corporation itself. Charles Bush received one of the latter. Five hundred and fifty thousand students from 14,000 schools participate in the competition for the scholarships. Of these, 10,000 are chosen as quarter-finalists, and 1000 as winners.

First of all, the students are required to take a high-level college aptitude examination, the results of which determine the quarter-finalists. The three hour scholastic aptitude test of the College Entrance Examination Board is then used to verify the results of the first test. From there, nearly all of the quarter-finalists move to the semi-finalists. In finally selecting the winners, the committee takes into consideration the test scores, extracurricular activities, demonstrated qualities of leadership, school and community citizenship, high school grades, and all other data concerning the student that is made available.

The scholarship covers a period of four years at the college of the student's choice, the amount being determined by the need of the student.

Nine other students were recognized for their high scores. These were George Priggen, George Bunting, Steve Oshrey, Jerry Miller, Dave Johnson, Jay McDonald, Lynn McCanse, Art Bartleson, and Dennis Schliffke. This puts fifty per cent of the class in National Merit Distinction.

STEVE PACK

JAY MC DONALD

Pem-Day's student council, officially organized in 1923, retains the same ideals now as then: to advance the ideals of the school, to stimulate a higher standard of scholarship, and to help carry out school policy. This year's council lived up to these high ideals. Under the able leadership of Jay McDonald and Steve Pack, at their weekly meetings they organized Dig Day, appointed members to the Southwest Youth Court, and to the National Conference of Christians and Jews, and ran all elections, just to mention a few.

Mr. Madden was made faculty advisor, thus removing for the first time a direct link to the administration. This resulted in a more relaxed atmosphere and more participation by the members. Perhaps the most important action taken by the Student Council this year was the passage of three amendments. While there have been different interpretations of these amendments, it is the general consensus of opinion that these amendments were quite necessary.

While student leaders harangue the student body with promises of revolution, the Raider must assume the form of an iconoclast and re-assert the fact that the Student Council does not have the powers that some have stated. The Student Council should function as a very fine organizational structure, but it must be remembered that it does not have the last say on things, nor sometimes even the first say.

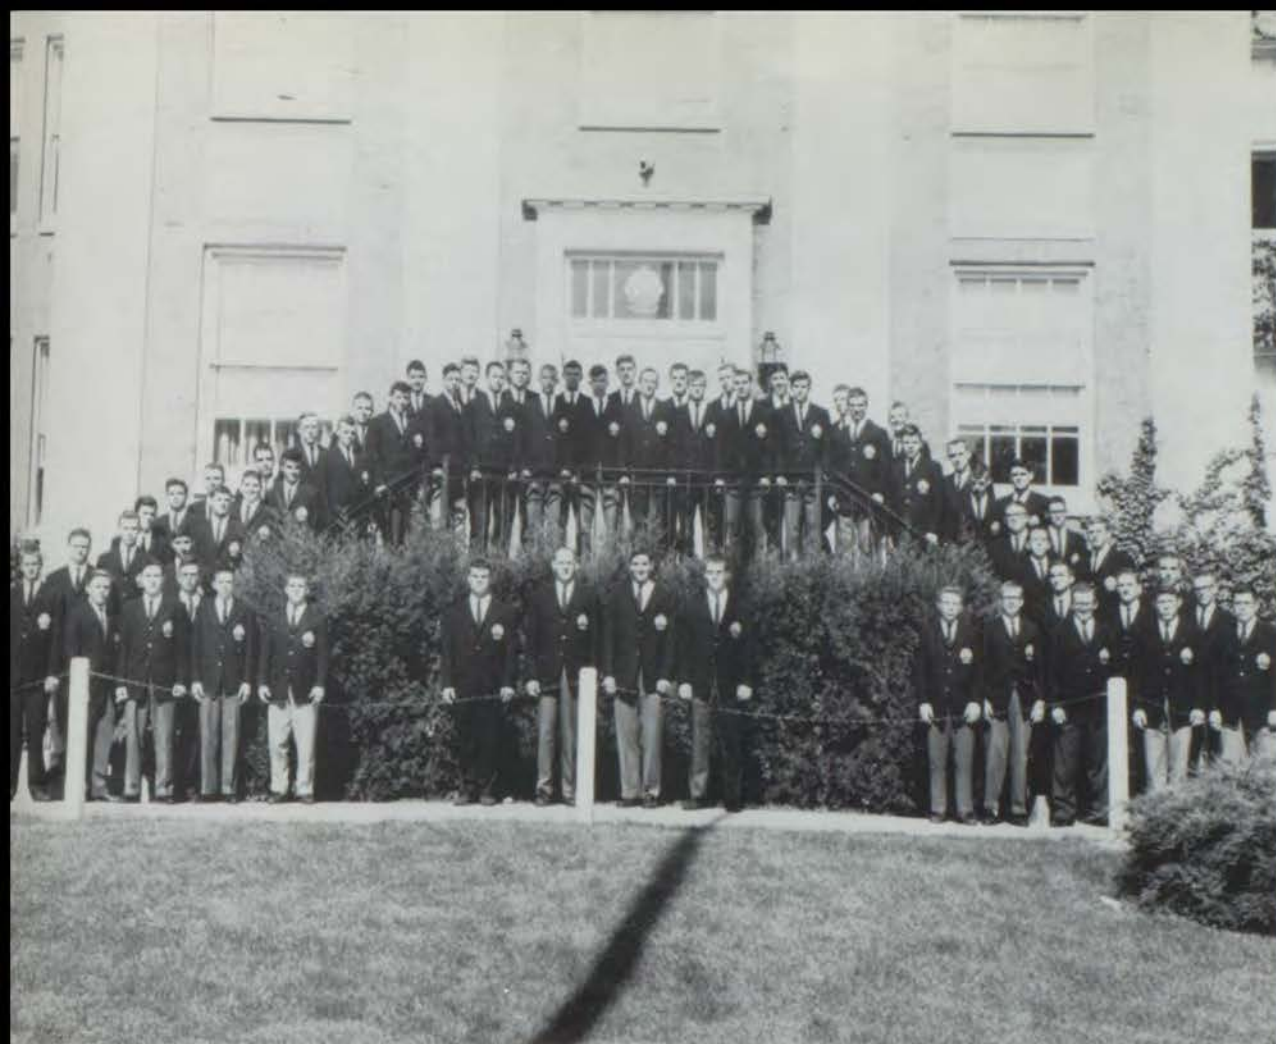

The first semester council consisted of: President, Jay McDonald; Vice-President, Bob Mnookin; Secretary, Doug Drake. The other senior members were Jerry Duggan and Lynn McCanse. The juniors were Bob Sutherland and Roy Welsch; sophomores, Pat Curran and John Foard; and freshman, Pete Bliss.

The second semester council, headed by Steve Pack, consisted of seniors Lynn McCanse, Kent Stockton, and Mike Wilkin, Vice-President; juniors, Doug Drake (secretary), Bob Sutherland and Bill Vaughn; sophomores, Pat Curran and Paul O'Brien; and freshmen, Pete Bliss and John Lungstrum.

Across: 1. The coolest go to state. 2. Successful voyage.
 1. After four years of faithful service, the only honorary member. 2. Clothes make the man.

1. Music for your madness. 2. No club, but lots of glee.

This year the Glee Club, under the direction of Dr. Lemonds, with everyone dressed in the new blazers, was an exceptional attraction in both singing and appearance everywhere it went. The Glee Club sang in numerous places this year, but the outstanding trip was to the District Music Contest at Warrensburg, Missouri. There they received the highest rating in everything but sight reading. Although this eliminated them from the State Contest, one of the judges remarked that the bass section of the Glee Club was the best that he had ever heard. The Pem-Day Singers (octet) and Ford Brent, (soloist) both went on to State and were given top honors there also.

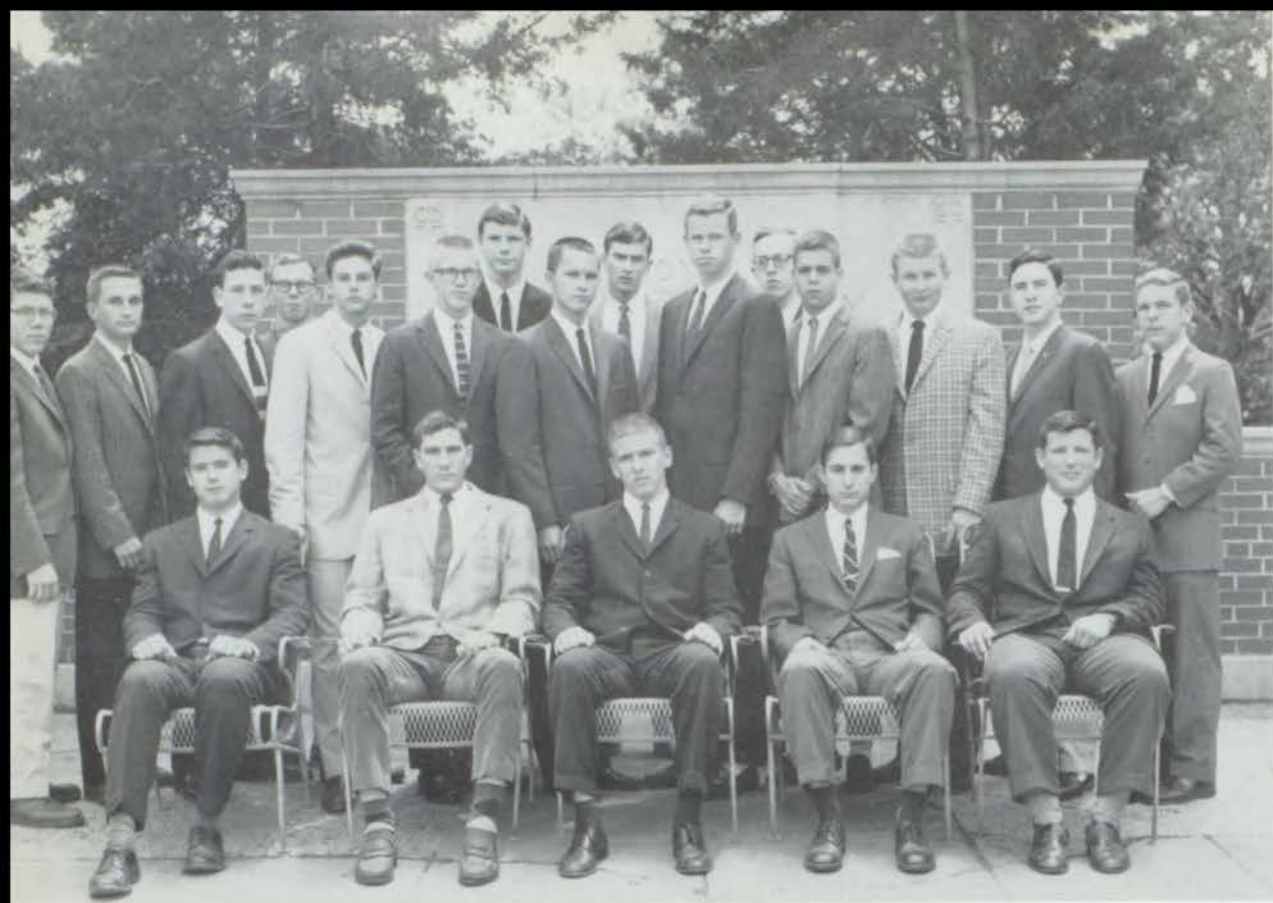

The Pem-Day - Barstow Concert, the 50th Anniversary Dinner and other performances will always be remembered as shining highlights surrounded by countless hours of work.

The success of this year's Operetta, Masquerade in Vienna by Strauss, was exemplified by the fact that in both performances people were turned away for lack of seating space. This production with the participation of the Sunset Hill and Pem-

Day Glee Clubs, was directed by Robert Tolan, Dramatics, and Dr. Lemonds, Music. The leading parts were aptly filled by George Sharp, Portia Adams, Craig French, Blair Nichols, Dave Johnson, and Bruce McClellan. This colorful and sparkling performance proved to be the high point of the year for the Glee Club, and served as a tribute to the fine leadership capabilities of the two directors.

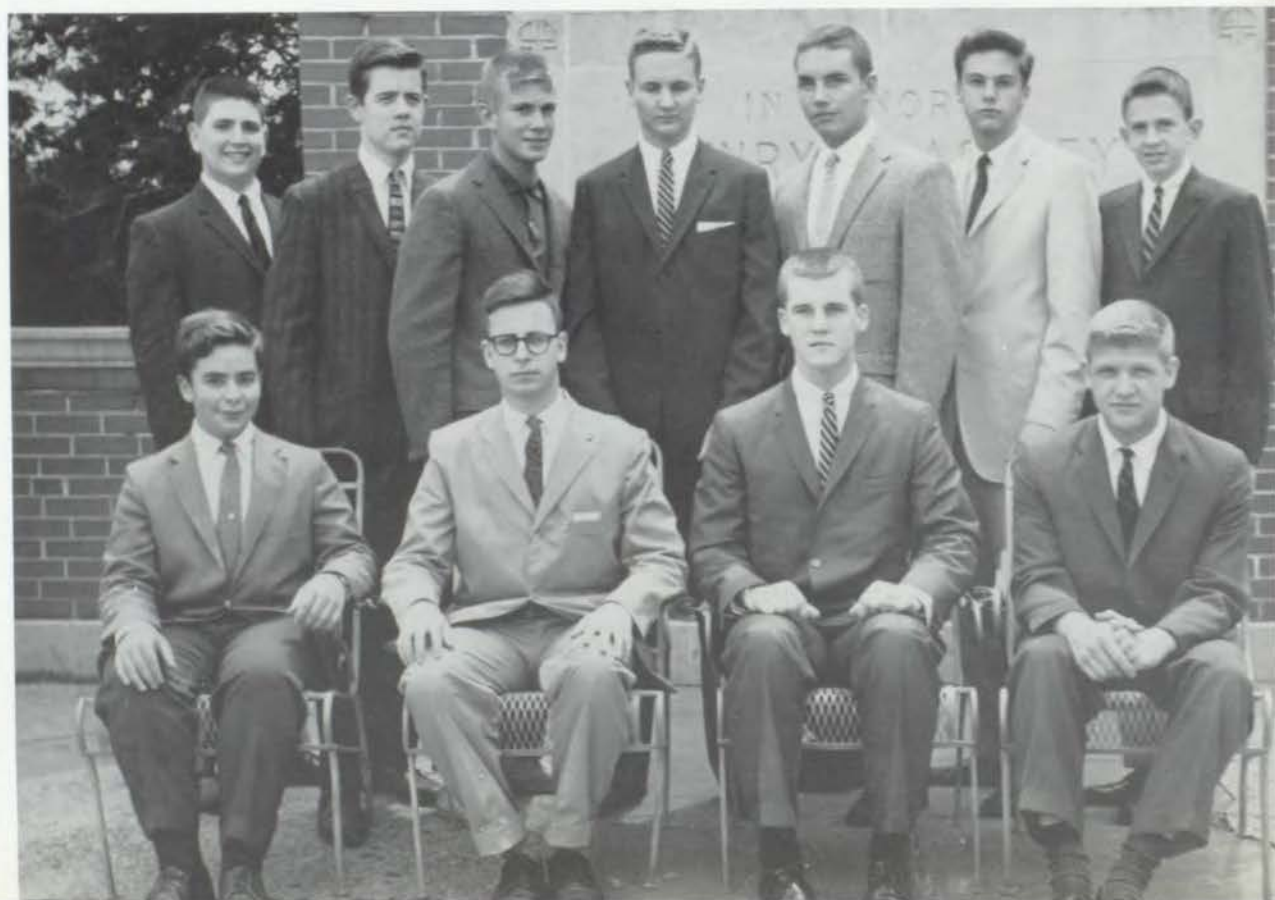

Next year Dr. Lemonds will not return to Pem-Day but has accepted the position as Director of Music at the University of the South in Sewanee, Tennessee. His successor, Mr. Mel Bishop, formerly of Southwest, will become the director of the largest, possibly the best, Glee Club in the history of Pem-Day.

Last year when Dr. Lemonds first came to Pem-Day there were three seniors in the Glee Club. This year there were twenty seniors and 90% of the football team. Next year it will contain most of the upper school. Through Doc's effort and instruction, Pem-Day has come to be recognized as having the best Glee Club in Kansas City.

The yearbook is in a word, "unsurpassed." This year's Raider is a departure from ones in the past. It is not so much a radical yearbook as an improved and expanded one.

The Raider of 1959-1960 is improved and expanded for several reasons. Chiefly the school is growing and activities encompassing all areas have enlarged. Also, the graduation festivities have been included. The Fiftieth Anniversary of the school is in 1960 and some of its preliminary celebrations are being included.

Considering these things, the staff set about to produce a bigger, better and more finished yearbook.

The first noticeable change is the four pages of color picturing the campus. This is a novel idea which definitely gives something extra to the book.

One of the most interesting and informative parts of the yearbook has always been the senior pictures with their activity lists. Until this year there have been as many as six seniors to a page, which has crowded both the pictures and information about each boy. But this year there are only two seniors to a page, leaving plenty of room for information. This change has increased the senior pages four times its previous size.

In past years the social activities have been given a mediocre coverage but the social activities of a school give it the spice and liveliness that the students need to effect a successful school life, therefore, the staff increased the social coverage two fold.

All in all, the Raider of 1959-1960 covers two hundred more pages than any previous one and this excellent achievement is largely due to a hard-working, well-functioning Raider staff.

THE HILLTOP

Published by the students of
PEMBROKE-COUNTRY DAY SCHOOL

Last year's Hilltop directed its efforts toward providing more pertinent news coverage and stimulating its readers' interest. It was felt that in previous years the Hilltop had stressed literary erudition to the detriment of journalistic values; this year's management effected a return to the basic function of a newspaper—the dissemination of timely and topical information.

The 1960 moved to eliminate the dryness inherent in a high school newspaper which merely repeats items of general knowledge. Sports coverage was trimmed and reoriented, with the de-emphasis on play-by-play accounts of endless contests. Certain stock "filler" articles which had become almost traditional visitors were discontinued, while an attempt was made to expand the general news coverage to include all major activities and honors relating to men and boys of the school. An attempt was made to develop a fresher style for Hilltop articles, rather than falling back into the conventional press-release mode. With these improvements, it was hoped that students would again look forward to each Hilltop and depend on it for information pertaining to their school.

The Hilltop also kept in mind the importance of producing a newspaper representative and worthy of the school. Increasing attention was given to the activities and aspirations of the administration, especially in regard to plans for the fiftieth anniversary. Hilltop editorials, though necessarily more subdued than those of last year, showed greater deliberation and provided constructive, practical suggestions.

One interesting aspect of this year's paper was the publication of The Country Day Bulletin—The Red and Black—The Hilltop for Pem-Day's fiftieth anniversary banquet. This special issue was entirely composed of articles that had formerly appeared in the three newspapers which have existed at Pem-Day.

However, problems do remain to confront future Hilltop managements. The greatest problem is how to please a readership so diversified and so scattered; among the Hilltop's eight hundred subscribers are parents, teachers, advertisers, friends from Sunset and Barstow, and students from university to kindergarten. Some solution must be found to satisfy the various interests of each of these groups without destroying the over-all readability of the paper. Nevertheless, as the year ended with the well-covered kidnapping of Bismarck, this year's senior board could point to considerable gains in this direction.

The 1960 Hilltop continued the popular policy of publishing issues at intervals of two or three weeks, and a record number of pages was produced under this schedule. The paper was also a financial success, and terminated publication with a considerable profit. This margin will be used to establish a Publications Scholarship in cooperation with the Raider.

Editor-in-chief of the 1960 Hilltop was Charles Bush, assisted by Joel Levitch, Bob Sutherland, Roy Welsch, Bill Wedin, and Doug Drake. Bob Mnookin served as business manager, with Ben Adams as his advertising manager.

This year it was a disgrace to us when four of our members (Bush, Mnookin, Levitch, and Garland) joined Quill and Scroll. Indeed, in the future, we feel that the Hilltop should dissuade any similar ostentation.

Roy Welsch will be next year's editor, with Doug Drake as business manager and Bob Sutherland as associate editor.

Dramatics

Because the Dramatics Club received a new director this year, there were numerous changes. Mr. Robert W. Tolan, the new director, requested that officers for the club be chosen in order that there would be more efficiency in organizing and operating the club. Charles Bush was elected chairman. Also Mr. Tolan decided that anyone in the upper school who wished could try out for the play. After several meetings, it was decided that the first play the club would present would be Moliere's Imaginary Invalid. Mr. Tolan stressed that the advantages of this play were its timeless comedy (it was written nearly 300 years ago and is still performed) and its general atmosphere (late 17th Century France).

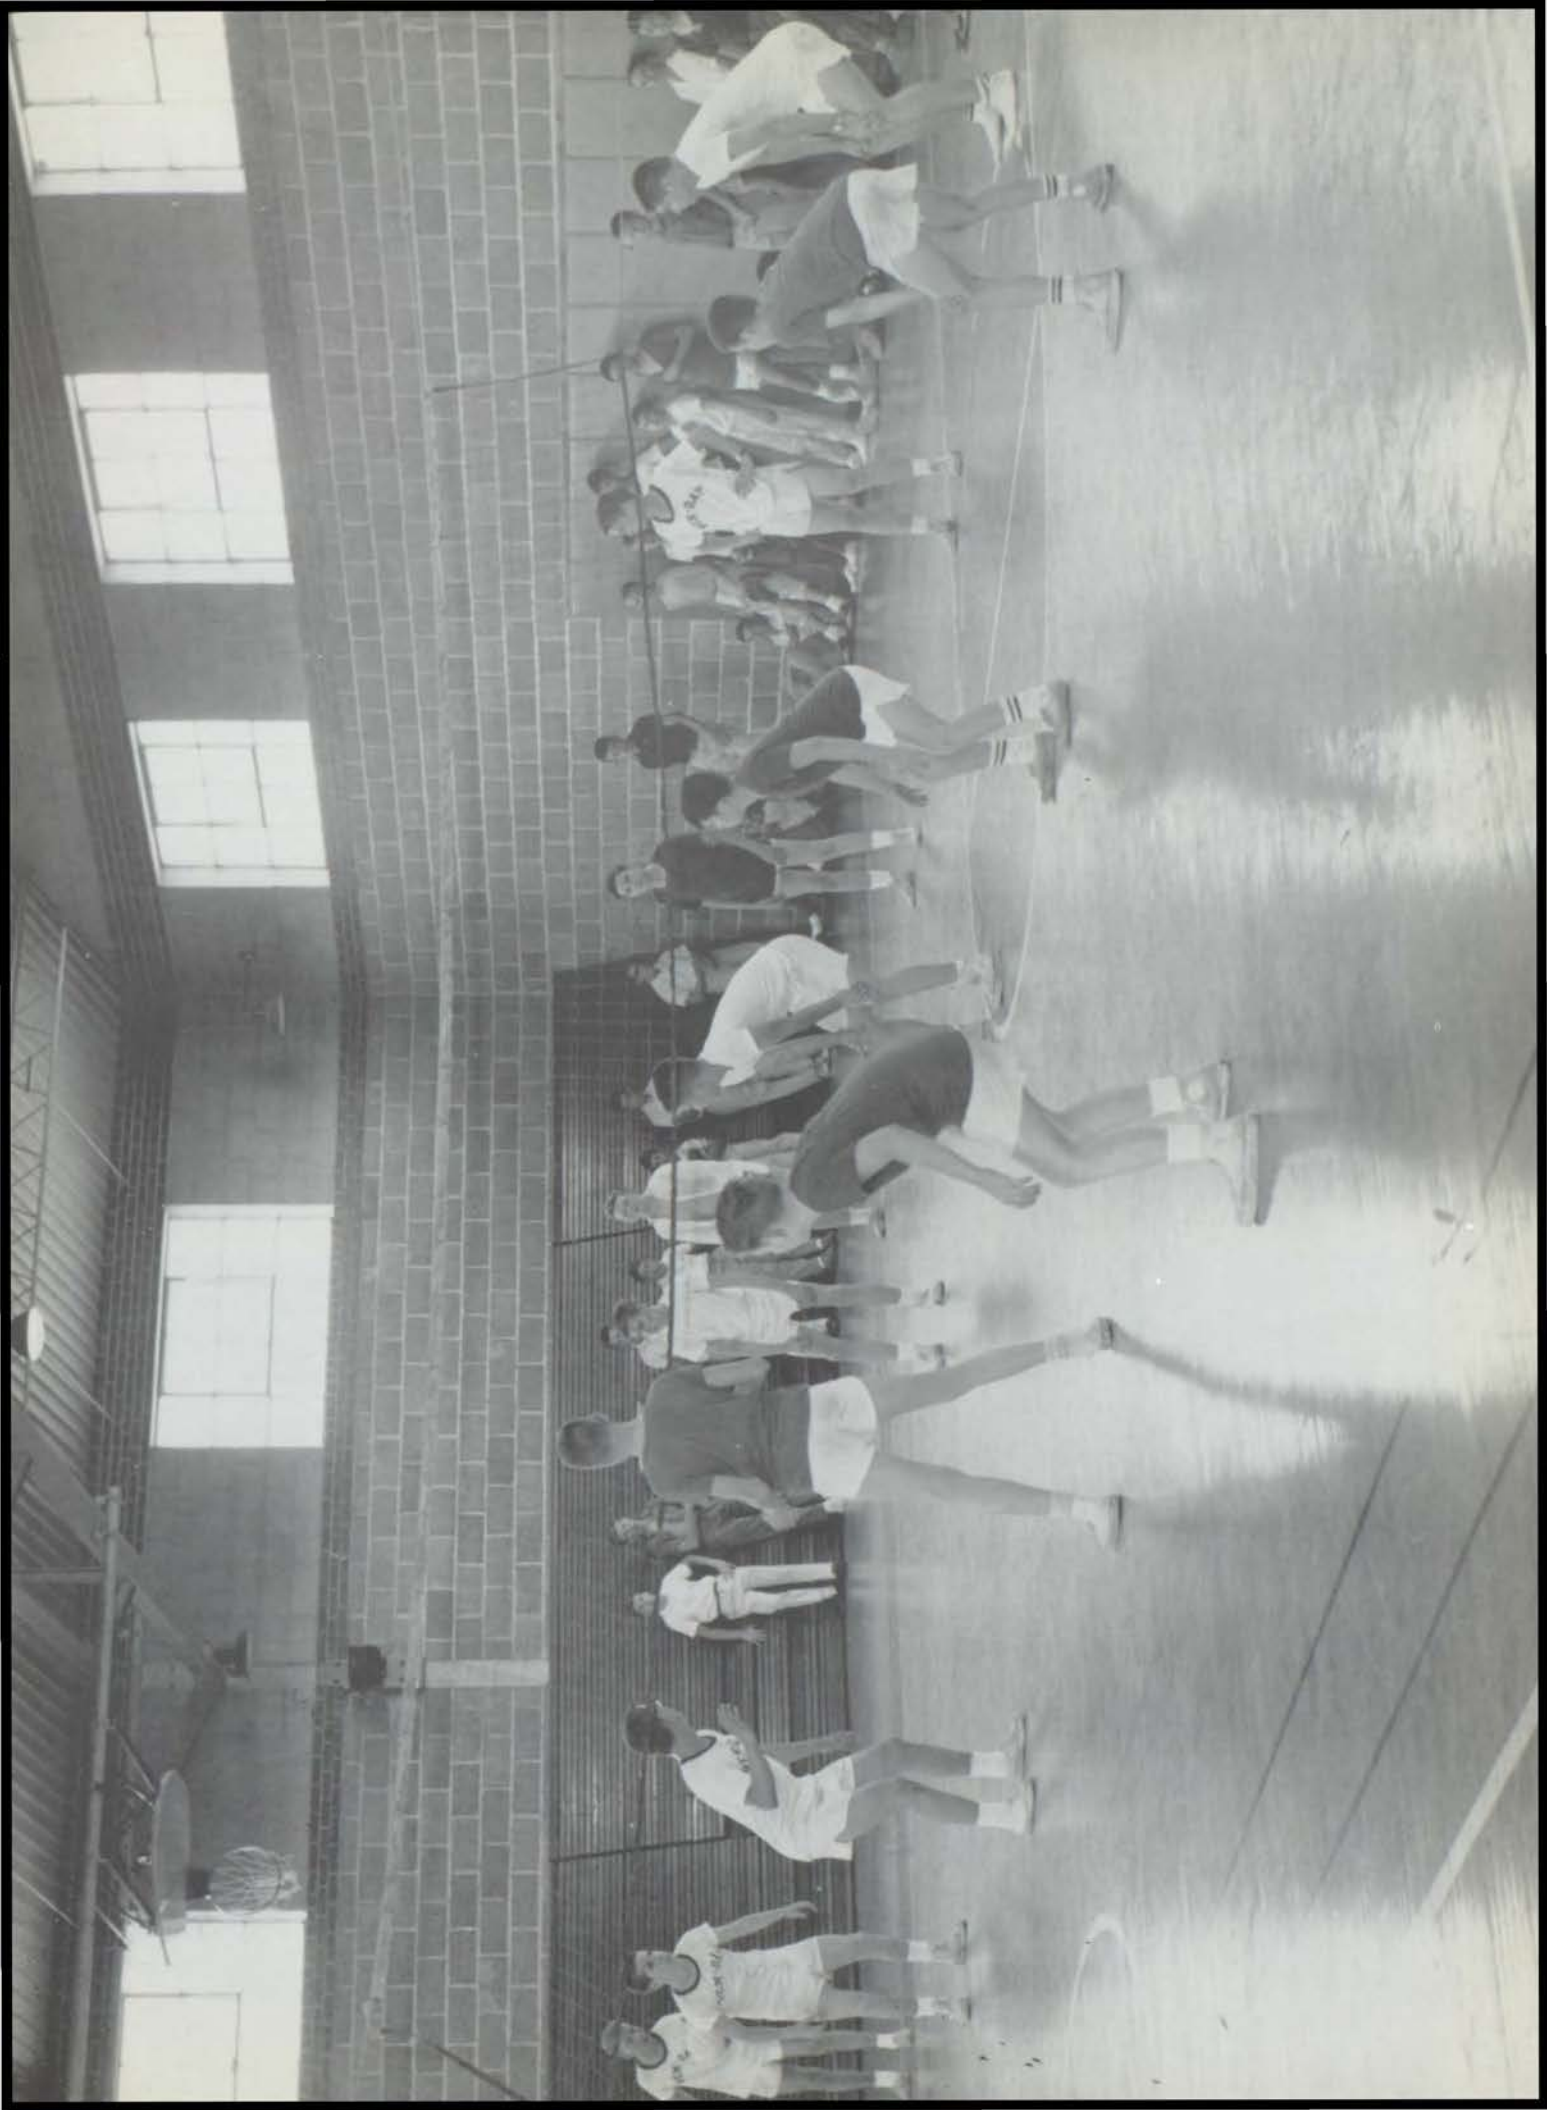

The two principal roles were taken by Charles

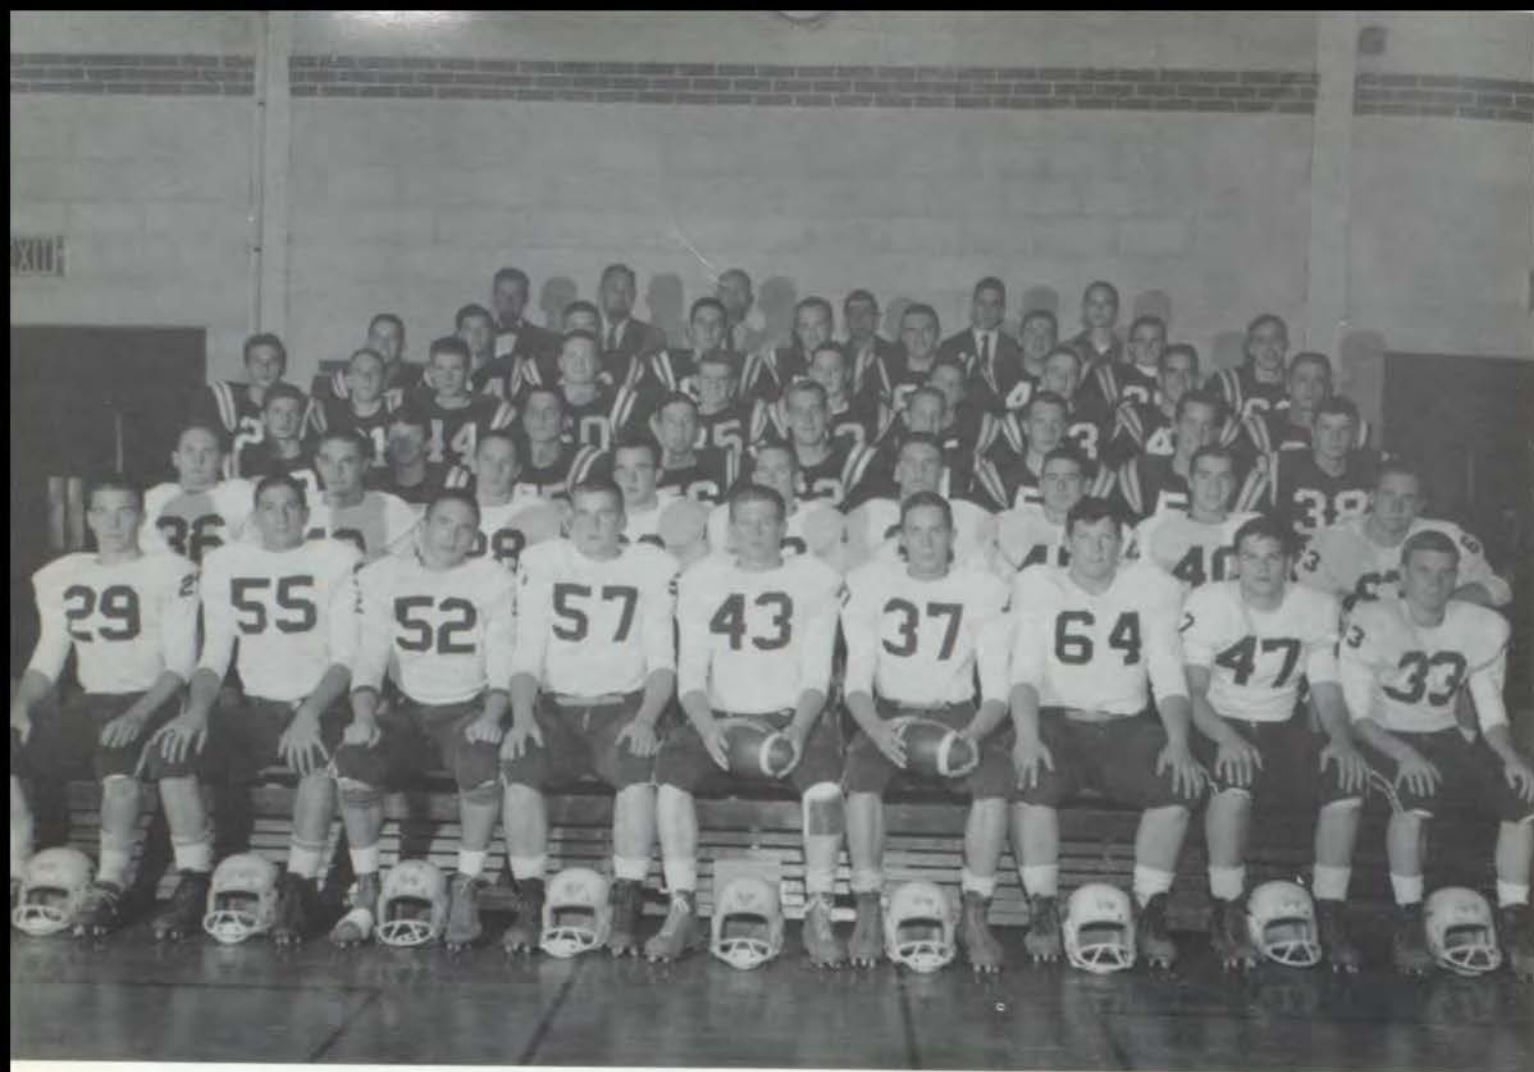

Bush (M. Argon) and Barbara Close (Toinette). The supporting cast was composed of Mary Linda Rappelye, Jean Snyder, Jay McDonald, Kent Stockton, Bill Wedin, Joel Levitch, Pam Troxel, Kay Edsall, Sam Kramer, and Roy Welsch.

As the date set for the performance drew nearer, Uncle Bob Tolan became more and more worried because the cast was not making as much progress as expected. Therefore rehearsals were held in the afternoon and at night during the final week before the performance date. But the cast responded, and the two performances on Jan. 20 and 21 were great successes.

Because of time limitations and the spring operetta, the usual spring play was not given.

Athletics

Football

A wild shout broke through the cold (19°) wind that whipped across the ice-caked football field at Pleasant Hill, Missouri. A mad rush of supporters streamed out on the field to congratulate the team on their finest game of the season, as Pem-Day racked up a 19-7 score against their previously undefeated rivals. Satisfaction filled the players for they knew they had out-rushed, out-defensed, and out-played their rugged opponents from the starting seconds of the game.

According to Mr. Dundas, this year's squad had more potential than any Pem-Day team in the last several years. At football camp, they looked good except for a lack of depth in the line and inexperienced players in the back-field. It appeared that the main burden would have to be carried by the returning lettermen led by capable tri-captains Whitney Miller, John Morrison, and Dave Scoular.

A hope for an undefeated year was diminished to a 3-5 record, the team narrowly missing a good season by one foot, one second, and one point. As Mr. Dundas had kept telling the team, "This is a game of inches, men!" Though the record seems inadequate, the team out-rushed their opponents 1,664 yards to 1,617, out-gained them in average yards per carry to 5.18 to 4.11, led their opponents in first downs 72 to 67, and gained an average of 208.7 yards per game to their opponents' 203.3. The team moved freely over a greater part of the field but seemed to encounter innumerable difficulties within the 20-yard line markers. Tri-captain John Morrison, injured in the latter part of the season, led the team in total gain with 349 yards, while Jerry Miller rammed his way to a 5.43 yard average per carry, with Bob Arms and Morrison close behind with 5.0 and 4.98 averages respectively. Jerry Miller led in total tackles with 61, and averaged 7.62 per game while little Mike Lemoine led in total defense with 53 tackles, 24 assists, and 3 interceptions. Lynn McCanse and Don Early were elected to the All-City Honorable Mention Team.

The "Big Red" chalked up their first victory of the season against a small, but scrappy Hogan team, 18-6, with John Morrison dominating the scoring. Although in good physical shape, the team proved to themselves that they were not yet a smooth-running ball club.

The Raiders made a better account of themselves the following week by walloping Lillis 25-0 and keeping the traditional shillelagh for the fourth consecutive year. All facets of play had improved, as real evidence of teamwork began to show. John Morrison and Bob Arms, in his first varsity game, took full advantage of satisfactory front line blocking, and a strong passing attack was evident as Doug Drake, junior quarterback, hit big Don Early for two aerial touchdowns. The defensive unit showed real rain. Under a sweltering 90° sun the Raider eleven wilted against the platoon system of their powerful adversaries. John Morrison made one of the fine plays of the day as he returned a kick-off 60 yards, the Raiders progress being stopped as usual as they fumbled on the 4-yard line the next play. The lone Raider touchdown came in the fourth quarter against the Hawklets first string as the Rockhurst quarterback was thrown for two consecutive 14 yard losses, finally fumbling into the hands of the weary Lynn McCanse who stumbled to the 8-yard line. Morrison aggressiveness as they stopped Lillis for no appreciable gain. Lynn McCanse, Dave Scoular, and Whitney Miller, aided by diminutive Mike Lemoine and not-so diminutive Dick Woods, contained the large but lethargic Lillis forward wall. Some spice was added by the defensive ends, as Early deflected a pass into the hands of Mike Wilkin who romped 15 yards for a touchdown.

With spirit soaring for the Friday night game with Rockhurst, the Raiders' enthusiasm was dampened as the game was postponed to Sunday afternoon on account of scored and the extra point was picked up by a pass from French to Early. The final was a devastating 34-7.

The next week the Red gave, as a result of bad breaks, fumbles, and a non-existent pass defense, a swimming meet away to the Codosco Rams at St. Louis 32-18. The opening kick-off rolled dead on the 1-foot line, P.C.D. kicked 10 yards, and Codosco scored. Arms retaliated with a fabulous 90 yard run on the next kick-off. From then on fate seemed against us, as deflected passes dropped into Codosco hands for touchdown after touchdown.

The Shawnee of St. Joe game, 19-12, proved to be our most humiliating. Goal line block enabled the backs to post a 6.3 yards per carry average, but the frightful loss of 19 fumbles destroyed the effort. With :01 left on the scoreboard, St. Joe connected with a pass against that persistently leaky pass defense to provide the winning margin.

A Burroughs team with 21 seniors and a 19 game winning streak, found tough rivals in the hard-hitting Red, but emerged victorious 20-0. The defense did a creditable job, led by Lynn McCanse's 14 tackles, a season high for one game, but our offense was lacking when we needed it most. It was our best effort so far, only to be surmounted in the following weeks.

An injury riddled Raider team played a truly fine game only to lose a heart-breaker by one point in the closing minutes to a big and fast Olathe team 13-12. The uninjured veterans led by Craig French and supported by many new substitutes played a splendid all-around game.

The 1959 team was full of disappointments, fumbled opportunities, and undeveloped potential. At the football banquet varsity letters were awarded after the captains presented chafing dishes to Mr. Dundas and Mr. Scalet in appreciation for their hard hours spent out on the field. Hopes are high for next-year's team led by co-captains Bruce MacClelland and Doug Drake.

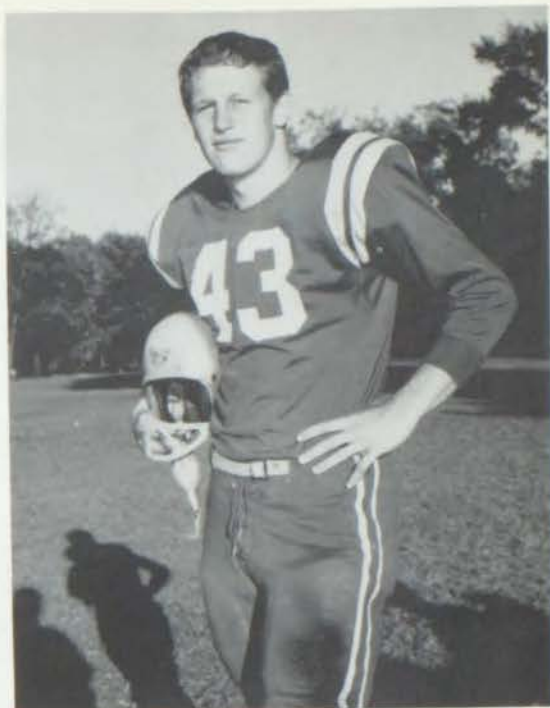

Top to Bottom, Left: 1. Come on, fellows, you have to get up sometime. 2. Big Don (hit'em low) Early at work. 3. An awful lot of people standing up. 4a. Oomph! 4b. First defeat. 5. Too many of the wrong colored jerseys. Right: 1.

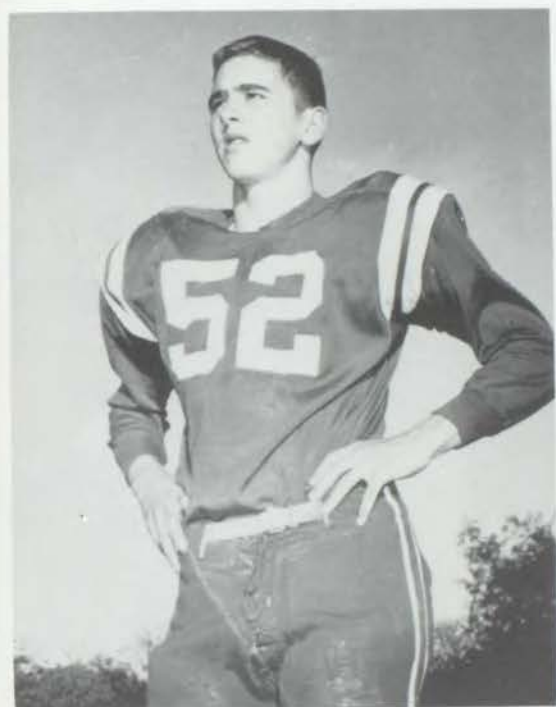

Another perfectly executed "Big Red Pass Play." 2. It works better from the other side. 3. We look better coming on than going off. 4. One of Meig's new games.

The Pembroke-Country Day School launched a vanguard in midwestern secondary school athletics, last fall, with the innovation of the varsity fencing team. Achieving a remarkable, though somewhat short-lived, success the team completed the season with an undefeated record. Although certain cynics are quick to point out that the team played no matches, the Raider feels that this by no means detracts from its fine accomplishments. It is our sincere desire that this fine organization will grow to become one of the school's most cherished athletic traditions, although this seems unlikely since Headmaster Schwartz disbanded it this winter on the grounds that the members were using it as an excuse to skip athletics.

Basketball

The 1959-60 Raiders compiled an impressive 21-5 record in what was supposed to be another building year. Led by their fine, consistent captain Craig French and all-district center Don Early, they showed again how spirit, ability, and outstanding coaching contributes to a winning season.

The other starters were Bob Arms, Bob Bremson, Chip Campbell, and Bill Vaughn. The Raiders also showed fine bench strength with Jeff Gorman, Kip Harris, Bart Bartleson, Doug Drake, Norm Shultz, Jim Heryer, and Art Bowen.

For the opening game the Raiders found themselves on Redemptorist's home court facing a spirited and talented team destined to go to the finals of the Class M State Tournament. The Raiders gave a hint of things to come, dealing the Rockets a decisive 50-32 defeat. Pem-Day had a bit of offensive trouble in the first half due to opening night jitters, but, led by Early with 17 points, it found itself in time to take the victory.

In their second game, the Raiders found the Lincoln Tigers, their scourge of former years, quite tamed as the Red jumped to an early lead and held it as most of the team saw action. The final score of 50-38 was sweet revenge for the hairline defeat in the regional the year before.

In defeating Paseo, Olathe, and Central, Pem-Day played a listless brand of ball as they won by scores not truly indicative of the difficulty they encountered. Only in the Central game did they begin to show again the spirit and hustle representative of a Ryan-coached ball club.

In their own tournament, the Raiders met a strong Northeast team and eked out a 37-35 victory in the semifinals. The next night they went down to defeat by the same margin to a greatly improved Redemptorist team, which surpassed Pem-Day in one of its trademarks—hustle and desire—coupled with a thorough defense which held the Raiders to twelve points in the first half. The Red outscored their opponents in the second half, but it was not enough to overcome the deficit.

Entering the Lee's Summit Tournament, the Raiders found trouble in the form of their crosstown rival North Kansas City, which needed to display little effort in downing Pem-Day 50-46. In one of their poorest outings of the year, the Raiders lacked the spark so characteristic of Ryan-coached teams. The next day against Clinton in the consolation bracket, the spark was provided by Chip Campbell who led the encouraged Raiders to a 37-8 second half to take the game 53-29. The Raiders won the consolation bracket by defeating William Chrisman 35-30.

Returning to regular season play on their home court, the Raiders found themselves as they dumped Sumner 65-37. The Red displayed virtually flawless basketball, combining a tight defense with an effective and accurate offense. Scoring honors again went to the front line with Early hitting 24, Arms 14, and Bremson 10.

In one of the wildest games of the year, the Red met a spirited and sharp shooting Miego team which stayed in the game down to the wire only to succumb to a typical Raider fast finish. Early, Arms, and Bremson scored 25, 13, and 13 respectively. In the following game the Raiders waylaid Lillis and Don Dee 59-28.

Rockhurst's highly touted five fell by the wayside as diminutive Chip Campbell sparked a Raider victory 51-35. The team's depth was apparent as the job was completed despite the absence of Early in the last quarter because of fouls. Bremson led the attack with 13.

The bench strength was again in evidence as everyone contributed to a 63-39 romp over a weak Codasco team.

Pem-Day's number 1 rating was shattered as the erratic Raiders gave away the ball game to a hard-hitting De La Salle team 29-48.

Returning to their winning ways, the Raiders defeated John Burroughs, which had been riding a seven game winning streak, 68-60. Pem-Day was led by Bob Bremson and Chip Campbell who had 20 and 19 points respectively.

St. Joe of Shawnee surprised the Raiders by holding on until the end, finally going under 47-45, while the next night Ward provided rugged opposition as they thoroughly trounced the Red 49-40, with a strong balanced attack.

The Raiders' fortunes took another turn for the better as they overcame an inept Southwest five 63-28. Jumping to an early lead, it was increased to a high of 45 points before the bench was cleared.

The second Miego game proved as unexciting as the first was exciting as the Red won 48-36.

This year's basketball team, in compiling its impressive 21-5 record, displayed the drive and bustle so typical of many Ryan-coached squads. Expected to be primarily an offensive team, the Raiders starred as a defensive club, displaying their hustle in that field which most required this quality. The Ryanmen again fooled the pre-season forecasters winning so many games in what the experts predicted would be a building year. Not overpowering in talent, though by no means deprived of ability, the team more than made up in desire and work anything it might have lacked in experience.

The question is asked, "What about next year?" The answer depends upon several variables. If the team can develop a good offense for next year, while maintaining its tough defense, their is no reason Pem-Day shouldn't be in the top three in the city if not on top. The state tournament is another question. We should go to St. Louis and will with hard work and a few injuries. When and if we make it, the Red will encounter the toughest teams it has ever played, and this is the challenge the team should keep in mind throughout the season.

This year's golf team, the second to compete in interscholastic matches since 1954, had a successful season. In seven dual matches, two triangulars, and three medal play tournaments, the Raiders compiled a 30-15 record. Coach Sallee's linksmen overcame Washington and Bishop Miege twice and split with Shawnee-Mission North. Defeats came at the hands of Shawnee-Mission East, Southwest, and Rockhurst.

The team of Pachter, Curran, Twyman, and Renne qualified for the State Tournament by shooting 342 at Swope Park. At the St. Charles course in St. Louis, Pem-Day finished sixth at 631 (36 holes), 29 strokes behind Ladue's winning total of 602.

This year's team was coached by Mr. James Sallee and was composed of five Sophomores and a Freshman. Pat Curran, Elliot Pachter, Grant Renne, Blaine Hibbard, Craig Twyman, and Fred Wolferman played in varsity matches. They were backed up by Mike Shultz, Mickey Lerner, and Ted Bland.

The prospect for next year is very good. Along with the six returning lettermen there are some fine players in next year's Freshman Class. The team hopes that golf will be made a major sport like tennis in the near future.

This year the squash players under Coach Hughes had a tremendously successful season. They are undoubtedly the best high school squash team west of the Mississippi. This is probably because there are no other known high school squash teams in this area. The single game they played during the season was against K.C.U. which they lost. But this game was against far older boys. Joel Levitch was captain this year and also received the Squash Cup. As a consolation to their defeat at the hands of K.C.U. the team played the faculty and won gloriously.

The Letterman's Club is the school's major athletic organization. It is composed of those boys who have received a varsity letter in one of the major sports—football, basketball, baseball, track, or tennis.

The promotion of strong school spirit is the primary objective of the club. Sportsmanship is the outstanding quality of the lettermen and the school has always been acclaimed superior in this respect.

Members of the Letterman's Club are seen in the familiar white sweaters ornamented with their varsity letter and arm bands denoting the number of years they have lettered.

President Dave Scoular along with vice-president Whitney Miller and secretary-treasurer Jerry Miller provided the leadership for this year's club.

They organized the special functions of the club which include the appointing of lettermen to collect tickets at the basketball games, the sponsoring of the annual Homecoming Dance during the football season and the election and coronation of the Homecoming Queen—this year Sandy Sloan. Along with these activities a much-needed constitution was drawn up and will be decided on in the fall of the '60-'61 school year.

The Letterman's Club this year tried to regain a foothold as one of the leading groups of the school, but once again failed through the fact that a large majority of upperclass lettermen have other activities and alliances. While it can be conceded that the lettermen do run the school, they do so as individuals, not as a group.

Even before the beginning of the 59-60 school year, it was decided by the student council, faculty and administration that the cheerleaders should be improved. This was part of the movement to re-vitalize school spirit.

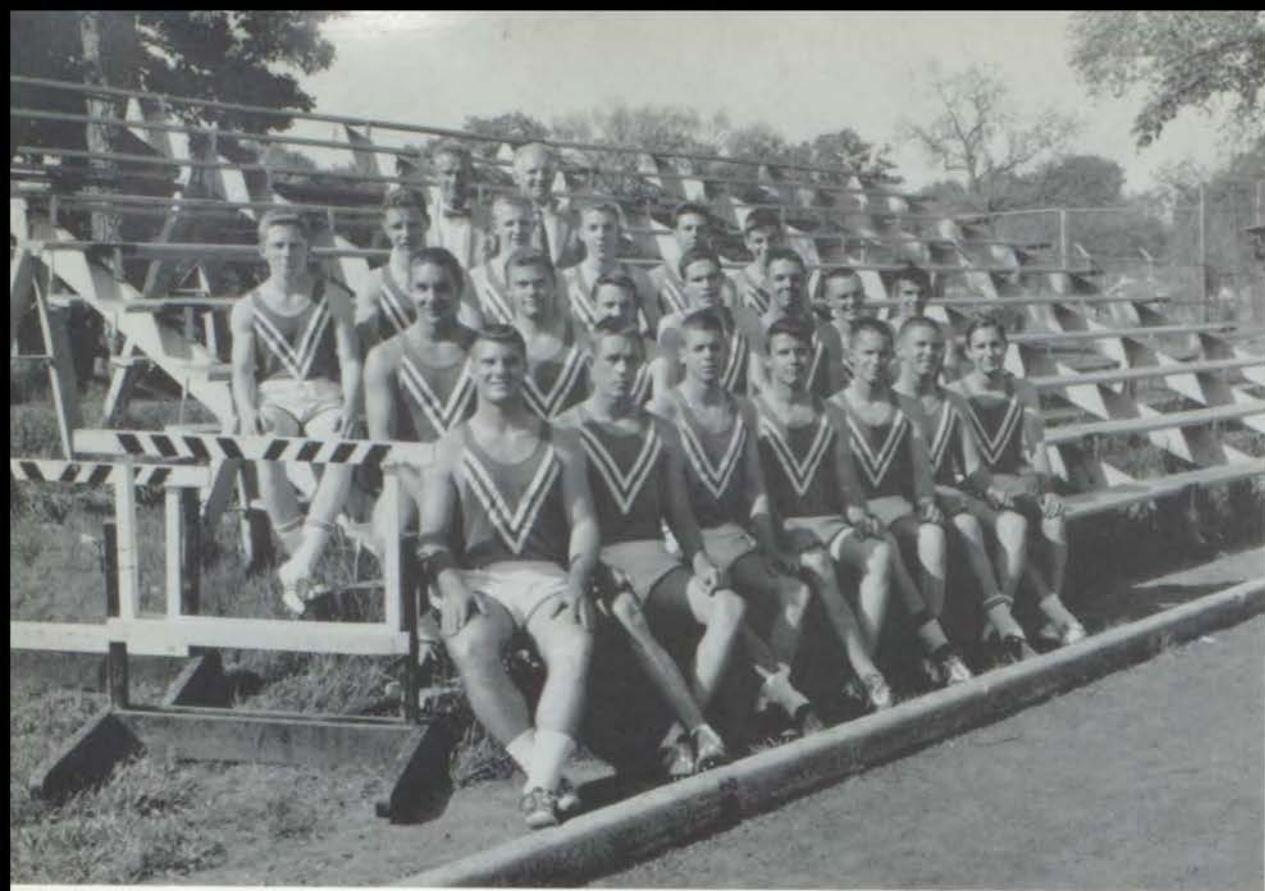

The new group organized itself at the home of Steve Pack one Saturday early in the fall. The new policy — set forth by the authorities — was made clear: The group was to be organized, cheerful, energetic, and entirely masculine. Those present, and comprising the original group were: Jerry Duggan (Pres.), Steve Pack (V.P.), Ricky Garfinkle (Sec.-Treas.), Bart Bartleson, Jim French, Craig Paterson, Berry Robinson and Dennis Schliffke.

This group did much by way of organizing cheers, assemblies, and especially skits to revive and sustain spirit.

At the end of football season a second "Platoon" was taken on and Bartleson retired to Basketball. These new additions were Mike Coburn, Whitney Miller, Mike Wilkin, Kent Stockton and Lynn McCanse.

This new group brought with it much needed originality and freshness. With the advent of the acrobatic victory cheer, leapfrog cheer, and the pep band school spirit rose to unprecedented heights.

Track

Track

The 1959-1960 Raider track team could be classed as poor when compared to the state-champion teams of the past. It was even heard rumored before the season that Mr. Campbell would retire for a year and give the head-coachery spot to Mr. Pfaff. However, as the record shows, the season ended with a 6-1 advantage in dual meets, an eighth place in the William Jewell Invitational, and a second in the District.

Letters were given to seven seniors, six juniors, three sophomores, and three freshmen. They are as follows:

John Morrison, captain, broke the school record in shot-put with a 52' $\frac{1}{4}$ " throw, placed first in the District, and second in the Invitational.

Whitney Miller was the second high point man this year. He ran both high and low hurdles.

Kent Stockton was number one high jumper for the varsity. He tied for second in the Invitational and first in the District.

Steve Quarles was number one quarter man for the Raiders. He also alternated between the starter and anchor spot on the mile relay.

Lynn McCanse converted from high hurdles to run on the mile relay, running anchor the majority of the time.

Mike Coburn converted from pole vault to mile relay with great success.

Mike Hyde, the only three year letterman, was out much of the season with an injured leg.

Bob Arms was high point man this year. He ran the 100, started the half-mile relay, threw the discus, and pretended to be a high-jumper.

Pete Byram, pole vaulter, ended a highly successful season with a second in the District.

Norm Schultz, sprinter, anchored the half-mile relay, ran in the mile relay and ran the 220.

Jeff Gorman was one of Pem-Day's trio of broad-jumpers.

Earl Wallingford, shot-putter, continually took second or third behind Morrison to give the Raiders unusual strength in that event.

Jim Heryer, another sprinter, ran the 220, the half-mile relay, and twice anchored the mile relay.

Chip Campbell is the other half of Pem-Day's track team (Bob Arms being the first half). Chip pole vaults, runs the low hurdles, runs on the half-mile relay team, and sprints the 220.

Steve Brewer was another member of the elite broad-jumping club.

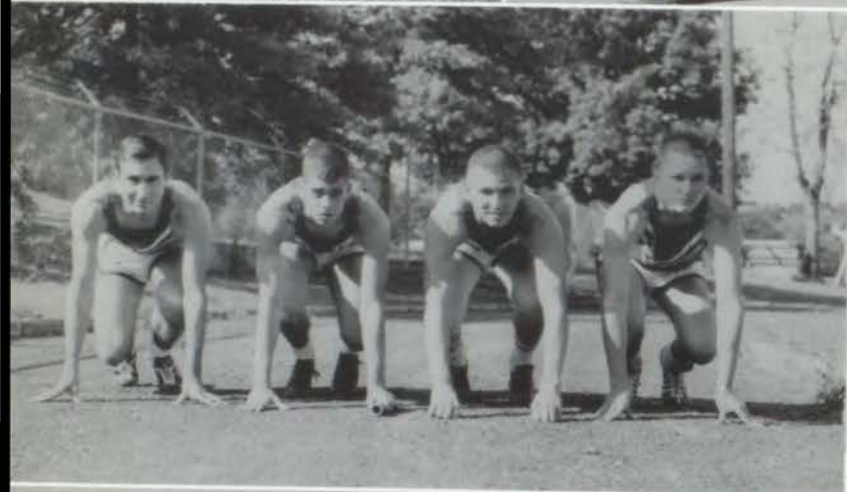

Ed Huwaldt was an excellent surprise in the discus this year as he ended a fine season with a first in the District.

Peter Bliss, dash-man, ran the 100 and ran on the half-mile relay team.

Frank Coburn, while only a freshman, established himself as the second greatest miler in the school's history by running several sub-five minute miles.

Roger Speakman was the most illustrious member and the greatest point-getter of the notorious broad-jumping clique.

Baseball

In the middle of March, with snow two feet deep and the wind raging outside, faint sounds of a ball meeting the glove were heard from inside the gymnasium, as the Raider Nine started spring practice, under the auspices of Coach Wallace Crawford. The crew was made up of Senior Captain Gary Vance; Juniors: Mike Peck, Don Early, Charlie Young, Bud Price, Bob Bremson, Tom Twyman, Bill Vaughan, and Sophomores: Jack Oliver, Corky Katz, Don Ashton and Jim Smith.

The first game saw the Raiders down Park Hill 4 to 2 on Don Ashton's bases-loaded single, assisted by a two-base error of their center fielder. In the next game the outcome was not so bright, as errors and weak hitting allowed Wyandotte to race to a 15 to 4 victory. The next contest was handed to Ward 7 to 3 on sixteen errors. Young pitched a superb two-hitter but had no fielding support. The only bright spot besides the pitching was in the second inning when consecutive extra base hits by Early, Vance, and Vaughan netted the Raiders' runs. The next game saw Ward down P. C. D. by the identical score of 7 to 3, as again it was faulty defense which caused the Raider downfall. P. C. D. got their runs again in the second inning on consecutive hits by Bremson, Early, Vaughan, and Young. The next contest was against arch-rival Rockhurst. The Raiders played a good game but were out-slugged 8 to 7. On the following Saturday morning the Raider nine journeyed to Sedalia to play Sedalia Smith-Cotton. It looked as if the game would turn into a rout as P. C. D. scored four runs in the first inning on hits by Bremson, Vance, Young and Peck. The game did turn into a rout, but it was the other way as Sedalia banged away at the fences for eleven runs in the fourth and fifth innings. The final score — Sedalia 14, P. C. D. 5. The following week Sedalia paid us a visit, and went away with an 8 to 2 victory as they again proved to be too strong with their bats.

By this time the Sub-Regional tournament had rolled around, and the first round saw P. C. D. against North Kansas City. Steve Crowley, N.K.C. pitcher, blanked the Raiders 9 to 0 with his third no-hitter of the year. Against Wyandotte in the next game the team finally started to look like a team as they battled Wyandotte, the number two ranked team in Kansas, holding them scoreless for five innings, before bowing 3-0. In the next game the Raiders finally snapped their losing streak as the first three men in our line-up — Bremson, Vance, and Early — solved the De La Salle pitching for two hits apiece and accounted for all of P. C. D.'s six runs. Final score P. C. D. 6 — De La Salle 5. The final game of the season was against Rockhurst; and in this contest the Raiders held their ground until the fifth inning when errors allowed the opponents to take the lead. Final score Rockhurst 5 — P. C. D. 2.

The season's actual record was a poor 2 - 9, but the team started to jell towards the end. Since they only lost one player, we can probably look forward to a successful season next year.

The greatest asset of this year's netmen was that they were a team, not a group of individuals. In sweeping to a 15-1 record, they proved themselves the best team in the school's history, as well as the best in the city. Under the expert guidance of Mr. Hilliard Hughes, the netmen recovered from their opening loss to win a total of 73 out of 80 individual matches for the season.

In the regional tournament, the Raiders found themselves slightly lacking, as play was on an individual rather than team basis. Despite this, Craig French and Joel Levitch in singles, and Bart Bartleson-George Bunting in doubles, all reached the semifinals where they lost tough 3-set matches.

Co-captain Joel Levitch began the season playing in the number one position. Despite the fact that this forced him to meet the best the opposition had to offer, he lost only one match against thirteen victories.

After a slow start, Co-captain Craig French eventually captured the number one position. Playing in this spot, he exhibited the skill and desire which had been lacking in earlier matches.

The greatest promise for the future came from freshman John Rose. Shifting between all three singles positions, he compiled a 13-1 record.

Junior Don Blackman, alternating between the varsity and B-team, showed good promise for next year. His varsity record was 6-1, while he was 5-0 on the B-team.

The number one doubles position was held, for the entire year, by "Bart" Bartleson and George Bunting. This team smashed all opposition as they compiled the lowest games lost per match average on the team. Their only losses came in the two Shawnee-Mission North matches, as they finished at 13-2.

Art Bowen and Jack Smith went undefeated in fourteen matches as they held down the second doubles spot. Although they had an uncanny ability to go three sets, they always managed to pull out the third set.

It is hoped that the spirit and desire shown by this team will be carried into the future.
