TAKE A CLOSER

Students at Raytown South are constantly striving to maintain a balance between their academics, extra-curricular activities, sports, jobs, and social lives. Classes throw great responsibilities on the shoulders of students. Many choose to add to this initial load with sports, clubs and activities such as Student Council and Club International, jobs as fast food employees and sales associates, and most importantly, a social life full of friends and good times. This load can often weigh a student down, so everyone must TAKE A CLOSER LOOK at who they are and how big a load to take on.

LOOK

To an outsider, Raytown South may seem like a small, boring school. However, if a person will take the time to look, they will find it is full of opportunities and excitement. Students have the opportunity to get involved in sports, clubs, and various activities. This, in addition to classes, can just about drive a person insane. This never happens, though, because students always find time to hang out with their friends and have fun.

Friends grow closer throughout their four years at South, building life-long relationships. South pours the concrete for a person's life to take form and become solid. Taking a hard look into students' hearts and lives, a person would find an abundance of youthful energy.

This energy is often aimed at showing their school spirit. Raytown South is a vibrant school, with an enormous amount of school spirit and student life.

These six guys show off their true school spirit by dancing in the Raytown/Raytown South pep rally.

DIVERSITY

Raytown South's student body is made up of a huge variety of people. Many people show their differences through styles of dress, while others show their differences through the many activities in which they are involved. Each person has the chance to stand out and develop his or her own personal style. The choice is all up to the individual. Whatever he or she chooses, however, will definitely fit in with the many styles of Raytown South, and add to the diversity of our school.

"My diversity comes from my friends of all different personalities, and my own unique personality."
Brandon Groff

"I don't really see myself as being any different from others. I guess by participating in activities, doing my very best in school, and being my own person I am diverse." ---

SENIORS

Senior Derek Vertreese has been busy, busy, busy in these past four years! Even as a freshman, he was very involved, especially in sports. Each year, fall meant only one thing — football. Daily practices meant hard work and lots of sweat. As soon as football ended, basketball began. Hours of running, conditioning, and practice were required daily after school. Come spring, it was baseball time. Decked out in pinstripes, Derek spent many afternoons improving batting averages, stealing bases, and tagging runners out. Derek's work paid off, and he became a letterman in all three sports. On top of his athletics, Derek also sang in Choir and was a Student Council representative. With all of his involvement, he still kept his grades up, becoming a member of National Honor Society and earning an academic letter. Derek has been a good example for underclassmen to look up to.

Senior Andrea Kaiwei has been involved in a number of activities during her four years at Raytown South. Symphony Band, marching band, and drum line have had the benefits of her instrumental abilities. She also demonstrated leadership skills, and was elected band secretary her junior year. Additionally, Andrea's alto voice was a great contribution to our choirs for all four years. When it came to sports, Andrea focused on just one — swimming. She swam varsity, lettered twice, and placed at the conference level. When she wasn't exercising her musical and athletic talents, Andrea was involved in clubs like SADD, National Honor Society, and Octagon. She also wrote for our newspaper, Southern Exposure. Andrea's involvement in an assortment of activities show how many different opportunities we have here at South.

Junior Danny McDavitt spent his three years at Raytown South becoming quite involved. Long, hard varsity football practices kept him busy on autumn afternoons. Intense games against rival schools took up Friday nights. Student Council meetings and activities required time both in and out of class. National Honor Society meetings required preparation, work, and time. Additional responsibilities were placed on him as treasurer of Future Teachers of America. Danny also became a student mediator, helping others resolve their problems and conflicts. In addition, he lented his vocal talents to the Freshman/Sophomore Choir, the Sophomore Chorale, and the Concert Choir, singing tenor. Danny's involvement has contributed to many activities and will continue on next year, especially as quarterback for the Varsity Football team.

Junior La'Tisha Moore had so much to do, she just couldn't stop running! Being a member of the Varsity Girls Cross Country team, of course, kept her running at practices and meets, but her busy schedule also kept her going! As a member of the National Forensics League, La'Tisha spent many hours preparing and rehearsing for tournaments. She also served as the National Forensic League Secretary/Activities Director. As soon as blooming flowers and rainstorms announced Spring time, Varsity Swimming had her doing laps—in the pool, this time! Being a member of Students Against Drunk Driving took much time and dedication throughout the school year. La'Tisha was often chasing down a story for Southern Exposure, where she was a reporter. We were lucky enough to catch her on a breather and snap her picture. Copy and layout by Emilie Owen.

SOPHOMORES

Sophomore Bradley Cordes hasn't been afraid to get involved. On the contrary, he has become highly successful in an assortment of activities. Lots of hot afternoons on the soccer field led Bradley to become the star sweeper of the Varsity Soccer team. Off the playing field, Bradley was a natural born leader. He served as the Freshman Class President and sophomore Class Rep. in Student Council during his first two years. He was also dedicated to debating, and was a National Forensics League member. Bradley also sang with the Freshman/Sophomore Choir. He displayed his outstanding vocal talent by making the All District Choir. Outside of school, he received the Volunteer of the Year award for his work at Teen Connection. He also is a member of the High School Science, Math, and Technology Institute at UMKC. Bradley's involvement and accomplishments will only rise in the next two years.

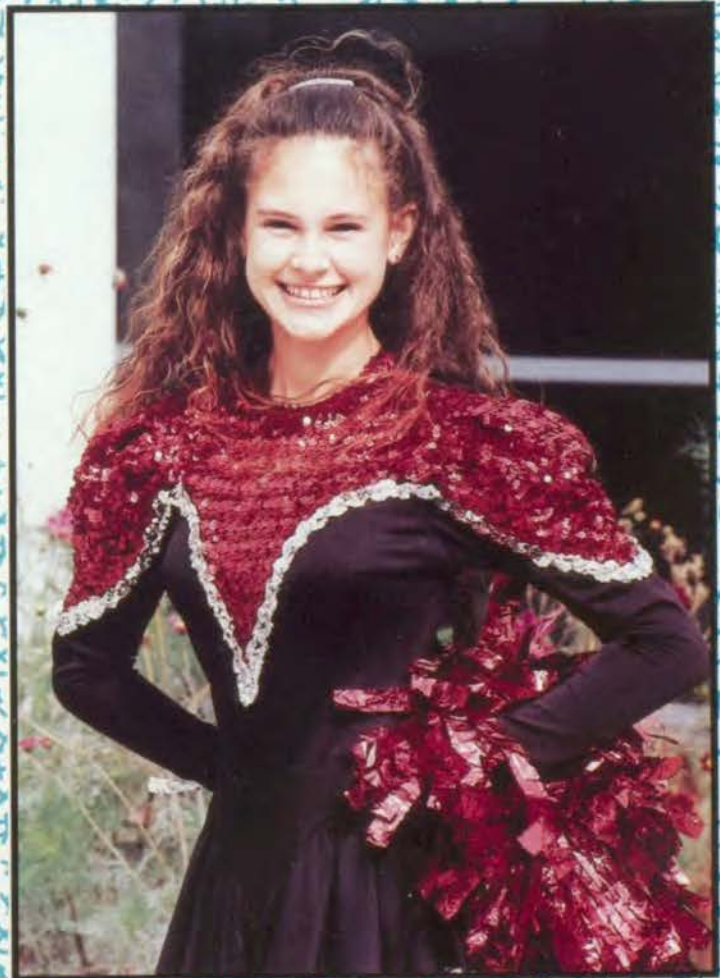

Sophomore Da Khamphakdy spent her first two years at Raytown South participating in activity after activity. She used her talents with vocal cords in the Freshman/Sophomore Choir, and her talent with a paintbrush to help with theatre set construction. In Student Council Da was a freshman auxiliary member, and Sophomore Class Treasurer. Clubs like Students Against Drunk Driving, Octagon, and the Future Teachers of America all met regularly, and kept Da busy with activities and fundraisers. She also joined Club International, and was elected Secretary during her sophomore year. Da also played Volleyball her freshman year, though she chose not to as a sophomore. Besides being active in school activities, she kept herself busy by participating in her church's youth group, even as an underclassman. Da did her part to become an active member of Raytown South.

Freshman Bobby Ewan did his best to get involved in many activities at Raytown South. Before school even started, Bobby was practicing with the soccer team. He made a good impression on the coaches, and became one of the top Varsity players. This was a great accomplishment considering that very few freshmen are allowed to play Varsity. When he wasn't in soccer, Bobby also pounded the pavement for the cross-country team. However, his hectic schedule allowed him to run in only three meets. Inside school, Bobby spent an hour each day with the Freshman/Sophomore Choir. He also became an active member of Student Council, serving as Freshman Class Representative. On top of all that, Bobby was a novice debater. Unlike some freshmen, who choose to stand back and watch, Bobby chose to jump in and participate.

Freshman Beth Benzinger was constantly doing something this past year. She was a first year Cardette, which required much hard work, many practices, and lots of spirit. And Beth definitely had lots of spirit! She received an individual spirit ribbon at the NCA Dance Camp the Cardettes attended in July. In addition to her Cardette performances, Beth also ran cross country in the fall. Throughout the school year, Beth let her instrumental and vocal talents help out the Symphony Orchestra and Freshman/Sophomore Choir, respectively. She also became involved in Student Council after she was elected Freshman Class Representative. Beth was also a member of the Technology Students Association. Being a part of so many activities helped Beth adjust to high school, and encouraged her to stay involved during her next three years at Raytown South. Copy and layout by Emilie Owen.

Foreign Exchange
Class of '96

Nadira Salkhodjaeva

Age: 16

She's from: Uzbekistan (AFS)

Host family: David and Vicki Schroeder

Biggest differences between here and home: Her school was much smaller than South, and they had 13 or 14 classes total — anywhere from 5-7 classes a day, depending on the day.

How she likes it here: "It's a great opportunity; not everyone can have this. I'm glad I got the chance."

Stephanie Bleyhl

Age: 18

She's from: Germany

Host family: Bruce and Ann Boulware

Biggest differences: "Lessons are harder there. You can't choose your classes, and there aren't any classes like keyboarding. And there aren't tardy cards."

What she'll miss most about America: "I love it here. I will miss my American friends and family. And Mexican food — we don't have Taco Bell there."

Lana Fairley

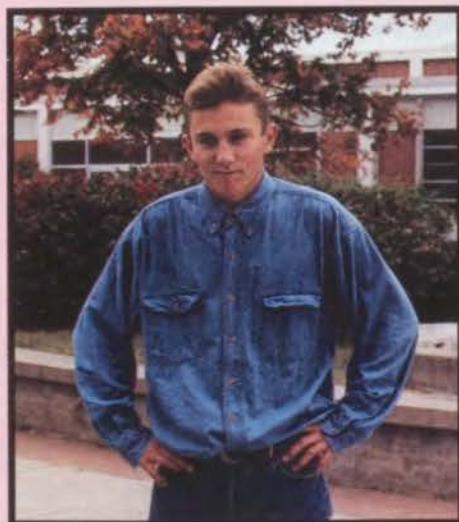

Age: 17

She's from: New Zealand (AFS)

Host family: Sheri McCallum

Biggest differences between here and home: Not only do we drive on the opposite side of the road, but the driver's seat is on the opposite side of the car. Even the water goes down the drain in a different direction.

What she'll miss most about America: "Everyone and everything. . .and Dairy Queen"

Daniel Young

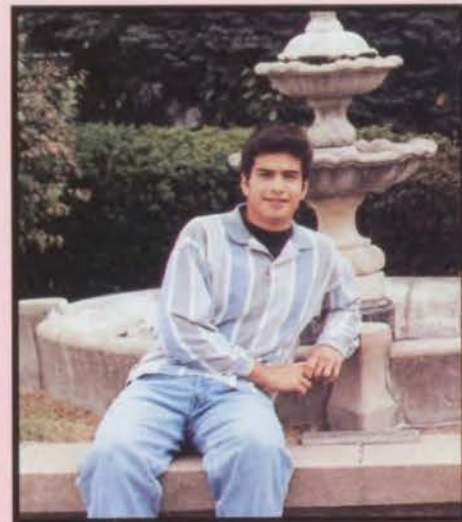

Age: 17

He's from: Australia

Host Family: Bruce and Sue Marston

Biggest differences: Having soccer practices everyday, girls putting on make-up in class, and the food—"I can't stand American bread."

What he'll miss most about America: The schoolwork ("because it's easier here") and cable television—"We have three channels and you guys have, like, 40."

Alberto Gimenez

He's from: Paraguay (YFU)

Host family: Bill and Shirley Matthews

About his family in Paraguay: His sister was a foreign exchange student three years ago in St. Louis; he spent three months there learning English.

What he'll miss most about America: his host family and his new friends.

Bruno Ferreira

Age: 17

He's from: Brazil (YFU)

Host family: Gary and Sheryl Matthews

About his family: He has a natural aunt living in Long Beach, California. His brother was a YFU student in Seattle, Washington last year.

Biggest differences: Most of the schoolwork is easier here. "I saw the equations in Algebra II two or three years ago. The English is what's difficult."

The Cardettes make a tunnel for the Varsity Soccer team to pump them up before the game.

If you're yellin' for the Cardinals, yell go. GO! If you're yellin' for the Cardinals, yell big red. BIG RED! If you're yellin' for the Cardinals, yell go big red. GO BIG RED! Spirit at Raytown South thrived this year. Cheerleaders pumped the crowds up at many athletic games. Students, faculty, parents, and even alumni supported the various sporting events.

The second week of October was packed full of SPIRIT! Participation on Spirit Week thrived with Hat Day on Monday and Opposite Day on Tuesday. Many decades were represented on Way Back Wednesday. Thursday was Sweats Day and Red and White Day was Friday. Each class got spirited at the seventh hour Pep Rally with the help of the Band, Cheerleaders, and Cardettes. Saturday was the Homecoming parade and football game, where many came to cheer the Cardinals through a long, tough game.

These students show their school spirit by wearing hats on Monday's Hat Day during spirit week.

Students at South feel a common bond within their class. Seniors are eager to graduate and move on with their lives.

Juniors take charge of prom and get their class rings. Sophomores gain respect as they begin to drive. Freshmen come to a different environment and experience new changes. The classes feel closer to each other through class competitions and spirit pep rallies. Also, the majority of classes consist of students in the same grade level.

Many students look up to their class officers, who exemplify leadership qualities that help to make each class so successful. The members of each class learn to appreciate certain benefits of being in their grade level, but always look forward to moving on to the next year. By working together, the students at South have many opportunities to ex-

This year's Senior Student Council members had many responsibilities throughout the 1995-1996 school year. They distributed and counted the ballots for class song, motto, flower, and colors. They organized the design of Senior sweatshirts/T-shirts. They also planned the senior trip, along with graduation and baccalaureate festivities. In addition to all of this, they planned to work on and beautify the courtyard. These were only a few of the tasks that the Class of '96 was faced with. The Senior class officers were President: Dana Haines, Vice-President: Rebecca Lowry, Secretary: Kelli Frevert, and Treasurer: Emily Preston. The representatives were: Tammecca Kirk, Kamilah Bradford, Valerie Austin, Larry Blankinship, Kelli Whiteside, Cathie Copeland, Sarah Austin, Kristi Hughes, David Shackelford, and Derek Verreese. By working together, the officers and representatives achieved many things, and represented the Class of '96 extremely well.

"If you give respect, you get respect." -Kim Erwin

"You miss 100% of the shots you don't take." -Jeremy Dickstein

Most Embarrassing Moments

Of Raytown South Seniors

Dressing up like a cheerleader and dancing at a spirit assembly. -Neil Lawhead

Getting pulled out of the Senior Class Photo because my top was too high cut. -Sandi Shine

I had to use crutches for a few weeks and on the first day of having to use them, I forgot how to go down stairs. I ended up almost fallint with my crutches flinging behind me, hitting everyone. -Kristi Hughes

Having my zipper down at a Debate Tournament. -Nathan Adams

My freshman year I fell down the stairs on my shins before school, but people still saw and I had to explain the bruises. -Jennifer Clarke

When I walked into the wrong classroom my freshman year, sat down, and didn't realize that I was in a Senior Comp. class. -Lisa Bleyenberg

I was lifting weights my freshman year and I put too much weight on the bar. Since I didn't "need" someone to spot me, I couldn't get it off my chest. I tried to roll it down my legs, but I couldn't get it down, so it didn't work. Most of the guys were laughing, but one finally came and helped. My face was somewhat red. -Trey Griggs

I accidentally sprayed mustard all over some guy at lunch, and one of his girlfriends came behind me after lunch and smeared BBQ sauce all over my back (luckily I had another shirt in my locker). -Valerie Austin

When I was nominated for Winter Homecoming my freshman year and I had to walk with Kirt Snow, who is about two feet shorter than me. -Ashley Lawrence

Reflections On Graduation

"Graduation means the future in which we control." -Jennifer Heavener

"I'm looking forward to walking across the stage and receiving my diploma. To me, it means that despite all of the hardships I've had, I've still accomplished my goal of graduating from high school and getting ready to go to college." -Kishara Vertreese

"Graduation is a new beginning in college, with new people and new opportunities." -Shawn Duffy

"Graduation means that I can finally hang that tassel thing on my rearview mirror." -Amy Apprill

"Graduation is the end of something good, but the beginning of something even better. I'm looking forward to making decisions." -Lindsey Shillito

"I'm looking forward to the gown; I look so good in cheap vinyl!" -Ayanna Johnson

"Graduation means being with my friends on the 'BIG DAY'." -Samantha Turner

"Graduation is almost like a right of passage into adulthood, with freedom and added responsibilities as my reward." -Magen King

"Graduation means becoming an adult and taking responsibility for yourself. It means saying good-bye to lifelong friends and making new ones. It means starting over, and good luck!" -Lisa Bleyenbergh

"Graduation is being released from all responsibilities in high school and having time for fun." -Adrienne Davis

Juniors

The 1995-1996 Junior Class officers were: President-Shannon Brock, Vice President-Jill Bledsoe, Secretary-Jackie DeVault, and Treasurer-Jennifer Young. The juniors' most important responsibility for the year was planning the Junior/Senior Prom. The group of juniors, also aided the freshman and sophomores with clean-up and decorating for the Stu-co sponsored dances. As a result of the teamwork, the class float for the Fall Homecoming parade was great. They were awarded the spirit stick for winning the relay race at the pep rally for the Raytown South vs. Raytown football and soccer games. The junior class was also excited to be able to pick out their class rings. As one can see, this junior class kept involved throughout the year with its various activities. Copy and layout by Jamie Ewan.

The Sophomore Student Council members for the 1995-1996 school year were president, Justin Kalwei, vice president, Stephanie Zieber, treasurer Jaime Heenan, and secretary, Da Khamphakdy. The representatives were Shanna Sanders, Kelly Bower, Robyn Freeman, Courtney Hurst, and Chad Heggam. The sophomores contributed a lot this year. They were in charge of decorating the dances, including both fall and winter homecomings, and the back to school dance. They also helped the freshmen with clean up. They participated in other student council activities such as United Way and student exchanges. The sophomore class is a very interesting class and is greatly appreciated. Copy and layout by Deanna Reffitt.

Many teenagers today look forward to that special day—the day when true freedom starts. It's the day when they get their license. They are free to get out on the road and do as they please. The majority of teenagers start driving their sophomore year. However, most schools don't allow you to drive to school until your senior year. The biggest worry that new drivers have is getting a ticket or getting into a wreck, knowing their parents would be mad. Most teenagers think that driving is a right, but it's a privilege. If you cannot prove that you are a safe and knowledgeable driver, you should be turned away. Copy by Deanna Reffitt.

Have you ever looked up to someone and wanted to be just like them? If you have, you're not the only one. It's very common to have a hero. Heroes vary in many ways. Some heroes are famous movie stars like Sylvester Stallone or Julia Roberts. Some are famous supermodels like Cindy Crawford or Kathy Ireland. From actors to supermodels, everyone has their own hero. But the person you may not picture as a hero could mean more to someone than anything. Ordinary people make the best heroes. Everyday people are always there for you. For example, my mother is a hero. She has always been there for me and taken care of me over the years. There is nothing really special about my mom, but I'd rather look up to her than any famous person or any model. My mom is real. I understand the things she is going through. I love my mom and would love to be exactly like her. She is my hero. Copy by Deanna Refitt.

"My best friend. She's always been there when I need someone to talk to. She understands me."

The Freshmen Student Council officers were: Jonathan Smallridge-President, Crystal Snow-Vice President, Anna Bleyenberg-Treasurer, and Tom Wolff-Secretary. The representatives were: Beth Benzinger, Jennifer Bledsoe, Bobby Ewan, Melynda Gill, Steven Shackelford, Chad Sogas, and Suzanne Welch. This year's Freshman class was very spirited. They proved this by winning the spirit stick at the very first pep rally of the year. In addition to this, they cleaned up after every school dance, and some even helped with the decorations. This year's freshmen class proved to everyone that they could adjust to new surroundings and that they could handle high school life with all its ups and downs. Copy and layout by Jaime Isom.

Building Foundations

Someone once said, "Everything I ever needed to know I learned in Kindergarten." There is some truth in that; however, people usually pick up on a thing or two in high school as well. The faculty this year have done a wonderful job working to make sure we learn something both inside and outside the classroom. During the school day, Susan Redford teaches classes, but she is also an active sponsor of NHS. After school, she can be found accompanying a group of students on a volunteer trip to the City Union Mission. Dave Damitz, a new addition to the faculty this year, has also been involved with his students. Besides teaching Social Studies, he is also the Freshman Girls' Basketball coach as well as a co-sponsor (along with Suzanne Smallridge) of the Octagon Club. And these are just a few of the examples of the leadership and involvement our faculty have displayed this year. They truly are "building foundations". Copy and layout by Ayanna Johnson.

Athletes are always recognized for their tremendous abilities. However, many don't realize the number of hours they take out of their day to spend practicing. Some sports require fifteen to twenty hours a week in order to prepare for their game or meet. Practices are held before school, after school, and at night and get tougher as a game or meet gets closer. Competition is always stiff and players always look forward to the next game or meet. Rivalries are built between South and other schools in particular sports because of this fierce competition. Five girl's and six boy's sports are offered for the fall and winter seasons at South. Students, parents, and other fans come to these various sporting events to support the Cardinals.

Sports contribute a lot to South, allowing students to use and perfect their abilities and bringing out the school spirit in all.

These athletes represent the fall and winter sports available to students at South.

UNITY

The soccer season is the first cornerstone in building a championship team. The Varsity Soccer team had two seniors, Eddie Villegas and Sean Perry, who helped to develop a winning tradition. The team was led by four captains, and the defense was headed up by the experience of David Wiebenga. "The soccer team played with head, heart, and guts, three ingredients that make a successful team," said Coach Allen. The feeling of unity at the end of the season showed the work that was put forth. With every game, they came one step closer to becoming a championship team. The success came from everyone, not just one player. These Ray-South boys showed that "there is no 'I' in team." Copy and layout by Nell Lawhead. Additional Photography by Shawn Keim.

The 1995-96 Junior Varsity Soccer Team had a great season despite the cold weather. The team had a variety of talent, and even had three foreign exchange students playing: Daniel Young, Bruno Holland, and Alberto Gimmerez. The team's captains were: Adam Fleischmann, Kyle Mozely, and Jimmy Villegas. There were many times when the last few minutes were fought hard to win the game. Coach Bob Bohning said, "The players here are taught more than the game of soccer. We believe that each player will become academically sound, and be a brave competitor. Our goal is to see the young men who enter our program enjoy four years of soccer, and leave better players than when they arrived." Copy and layout by Jennifer Campbell.

By watching them play, we got a sneak preview of strong and key players for years to come at South. Adam Wesley and Chad Sogas showed great skill and talent the whole season. Even though the team was young,

they played well and worked hard. THE BASICS

A Look At...

With an optimistic start, Raytown South looked forward to watching their 1995 Varsity Football team strive towards a season of achievements and glory. There were some losses and setbacks suffered throughout the season that brought a realm of disappointment, but this didn't stop them. They kept their heads high and finished each game to their fullest potential. Justin Robertson, Varsity quarterback, had this to say about the season: "As a team, I think we've learned that no matter what the odds are, we always have to keep trying until we come together as one. When it happens, win or lose, we are always fighting 'til the end." The Varsity Team definitely learned the meaning of perseverance and teamwork this year. Copy, layout, and photography by Shawn Kelm.

"Set, Hike!"
Senior Kevin Frevert gets ready to gallop.

A Look At...

While the Junior Varsity Football Team struggled to find their groove, they never backed down from any opponents. Although the Cardinals came up shy of a perfect record and got off to a shaky start, they took no prisoners in their weekly battles. After losing their first game and tying their second, they knew that they were going to have to fight hard to pull off a winning season. Spectators caught a glimpse of Raytown South's stong determination as the players worked hard on the field. Led by quarterback Danny McDavitt, the team continued to tune up its offensive and defensive plays. With coaches Dan Cahill and Steve Hence at the helm, the team proved to be successful. The Cards' desire to win led them through the 1995 season. Copy and layout by David Shackelford.

Even though the Freshmen Football Team lacked the playing time on the field that the Varsity and J.V. teams had, they made up for it with work and determination. Under the leadership of Coach Breckenridge and J.R. Hursman, they quickly pulled together to form a fine tuned team. Win or lose, they played together on and off the field. In the end, they came out with a great experience. Behind the strong playing of Robbie Beebe and Andrew Douglas, the team had some overwhelming victories. "With additional J.V. experience, these players will be ready to take the Varsity field," said Coach Hursman. The Freshman team has a tradition of playing well, and the 1996 team has definitely carried on that tradition. Copy and layout by David Shackelford.

As the starting gun sounded, the Varsity Cross Country runners shot out to an early lead. This was a familiar sight for the 1995-1996 runners. Led by junior, co-captain, Matt Schlicht, the Cardinals turned in a good season. The other co-captain, junior, Johnny Byrne, continued his leadership role for the younger runners like sophomore Adam Britt, who turned out another outstanding season for the Cardinals. Small in numbers, this year's varsity squad came together with the help of juniors, Jason Hull, Jeff Jones, and Ryan Gibson, to complete their goal of a successful season. With continued hard work and determination, this team will have a great impact in the upcoming years. Copy and layout by Jeremy Dickstein.

Led by coaches Ken Summers and Jerry Hughes, the J.V. Boys Cross Country Team dominated the Junior Varsity bracket at several meets. Without a Freshman team for the first time in many years, the Freshman runners got the opportunity to run with the older boys. The determination of these runners brought unity to the whole team, which left a bright future for Raytown South in the years ahead.

Coach Summers is looking forward to having many of them back to run on next year's Varsity team. With practices every day after school, the Junior Varsity team prepared well for the tough competition that they faced at the meets. The meets were challenging, but the Junior Varsity boys were always the dominant team on the trail. Copy, layout, and photography by Danny Lee.

Full of excitement and ready to conquer, the Girls Junior Varsity Cross Country Team, led by Ken Summers and Jerry Hughes, paved their way to a successful season. The team consisted of seven hard-working athletes. As a very close-knit group, they believed in teamwork and always doing their best. This years runners not only enjoyed being a part of a great team, but they anticipated moving up and running with the Varsity team next year. The girls always had plenty of spirit to keep them running. The main goal of the team was to show improvement in each meet, and when the time came to run, the girls always did their very best. They not only tried for individual times, but also for a strong team finish. The girls were definitely successful. Copy and layout by Danny Lee.

The Raytown South Varsity Volleyball team had a great season, ending with a record of 20 wins and 11 losses. They participated in three tournaments, and placed in the top half in all of them. The team was led by Coach Shirley Earley, along with the four senior captains: Sarah Austin, Valerie Austin, Melissa Christman, and Rendy Rice. Melissa Christman broke the school record for kills. South's record was 194, and she had approximately 334! Rendy Rice, Sarah Austin, and Valerie Austin were the all-around players, and Jamie Heenan was the team's only setter. Cristi Meyers, a freshman, was also a key player on the team. Rendy Rice said, "The season went well because of our hard work and determination." Copy and layout by Dana Haines.

Although the wasn't the greatest season for the Girls Junior Varsity Volleyball team, this was probably the most educational. With close guidance from a trio of coaches, the team of twelve made significant improvements. The team, which consisted of two juniors and ten sophomores, showed a lot of determination and spirit. The season's record was two wins and twelve losses. This record, however, doesn't reflect the hard work that was put into the season. The dedication of the team will definitely show as some players are bumped up to Varsity next year. Jennifer Walker, Jehanna Wilkins, and Jody Douglas have all made outstanding improvements and are top contenders for the Varsity spot. SETTING

Even though they got off to a rough start, the Freshmen Volleyball team made a great turn around, and had an overall great season. In fact, this season went so well that it had the second highest record in ten years. The nine wins, thirteen losses, and four ties, proved that all those weeks of practice paid off. The line up included fourteen freshmen girls, all with very promising abilities. Their improvement showed in the end when they defeated some of the opponents that they lost to in the beginning. A couple of highlights of the season were made at the Truman tournament, beating Oak Park and Kearney, two very formidable adversaries. Last but not least, beating Raytown at home helped make the season a wonderful one. Copy and layout by Jeff Porter.

The 1995-1996 Varsity Wrestling Team had one of their best years ever. The whole team put their effort into it all the time, all of the year. Going 8-0 in their conference, sending seven of their thirteen wrestlers to state helped kept the Varsity wrestlers excited through the season. The team was led by senior captains Brian Kille and James McManus. A few team members had injuries, including Brian Young, who was out for the first half of the season, but came back and qualified for state. Brian Kille hurt himself at the end of the season, so he could not attend state. James McManus commented, "It was great being a part of South's first undefeated team ever. Despite obstacles and injuries, the team made it through the season with a great rec-

Players knew what they could do, and didn't try to do anything they couldn't. I think that is why we were so successful. The 1995-1996 Girls' Junior Varsity Basketball team accomplished a lot and finished their season with a great record. This year, they were under the coaching of Markie Cook, a new addition to Raytown South, having eight sophomores and five juniors, they worked strongly together as a team. Even though every game wasn't a win, they had the determination to do their best. Junior Jamie

Ewan said, "Teamwork on and off the court allowed us to be successful. Another player, Sarah Patterson, commented, "Although we had an up and down season, we learned that teamwork was the only way to win games." Overall, the girls made Raytown South very proud of their J.V. Basketball team. Copy and layout by Lindsey Shillito.

The 1995-1996 Freshman Girls' Basketball team had a lot of talent this year, which contributed to their success. They had an exceptional record this year, compared to no wins last year. The improvement was not only due to more teamwork, and lots of determination, but they also had a new coach, Mr. Damitz, who was very proud of the team's performance. "At the beginning of the year, we were individuals, but as the year went on, we started working as a team. This will benefit in the years to come," said Freshman Courtnie Long. "Everybody contributes," Coach Damitz said. "I'm not afraid to go to my bench." The team worked well together and made sure that they communicated well on the court. All in all, the team had a great year. Copy and layout by Lindsey Shillito.

The 1995 Cardettes began the year long before most others. Practice began in June, just one week after school had ended. The 6:30 a.m. practices prepared the squad for the Dance Camp they attended in July. After competing in the finals and bringing home numerous awards, the Cardettes received a break before practice resumed. Once school started, the girls practiced daily to prepare for performances. The squad danced at all boys' football and basketball games, and several other events. The Cardettes spent most of the year preparing for the Missouri State Dance Team Championships in February. The girls were coached by Kimberlee Graves throughout the fall season and Mrs. Heffernon and Mrs. Kimsey during the winter season. Copy and layout by Emilie Owen.

The 1995-96 Varsity Cheerleading Squad consisted of nine spirited junior and senior girls. Throughout the summer of 1995, the squad endured early morning practices in order to prepare for the MU spirit camp. While at the camp, the RSHS cheerleaders learned new techniques, and also won an award for the "Most Spirited", in addition to receiving superior ratings. At the Raytown Roundup Days parade, the cheerleaders received the first place trophy for a marching unit. In the fall, the cheerleaders pumped up the crowds at football, soccer, and volleyball games. In the winter, they cheered on the boys and girls basketball teams. They also cheered at pep rallies, keeping school spirit high. The girls enjoyed cheering their school onto victory. Copy and layout by Cathie Copeland.

Yell leaders are back! For the past two years, yell leaders were not among the groups at South who encouraged school spirit. Now they have returned and are hopefully here to stay. The 1995-96 yell leading squad consists of seven dedicated members. Though they had a late start in joining the varsity cheerleaders, they have managed to get more crowd involvement during games. They have also given a "boost" to the varsity cheerleaders, physically and in spirit. "We'd really like to thank Mrs. Kimsey," says Neil Lawhead, "She's the one who put this thing together." Unfortunately there will be no returning yell leaders from this squad, but hopefully they will pass on their skills and spirit to those to come. Copy and layout by Sharrice White.

Here the squad was able to improve on their jumping, motions, and other cheerleading skills. They also learned to get along by compromising and listening to each other. "We all came into this squad as strangers to one another," says Denise Berger "but we will surely leave as friends." The girls worked hard at camp which payed off in the end. They received superior and outstanding ratings in cheers and chants on the final day at camp. South Spirit

A Look At...

There were many people at South who were dedicated to the athletic program, but chose not to play a sport. These people were known as Managers and Statisticians. They were devoted volunteers that helped the team operate more smoothly. The statisticians and managers also helped the coaches with keeping the spirit alive, which allowed teams to strive for their best and stay focused on working together. Although they were not in the spotlight, their hard work and dedication was a very important role in all the sports. Besides accompanying the players to all the games, they also helped out at all of the practices as well. None of the sports could have been as successful as they were if not for the dedication of managers and statisticians. Copy and layout by Danny Lee.

Performing in front of a crowd is a talent that many South students have and perfect while at South. Whether it be in band, orchestra, choir, or theater, all participants contribute and must take time out of their day to rehearse. There are opportunities to perform with a big group such as marching band or concert choir or in solos and small ensembles at District Contests and concerts, becoming closer and more personal to their audience. South's performing groups show off their abilities and talents at games, all-school assemblies, and outside performances for the public. Crowds look to these performing groups for entertainment before games and during time-outs. Select students are high-lighted at performances with solos and leading roles. Students have the chance to perfect their musical and theatrical talents through these performing arts.

POLARIS

The 1995-96 Polaris staff worked hard this year to "Take a Closer Look" at the students, organizations, activities, and sports at Raytown South. They spent fourth hour in Mr. Redford's class designing layouts, writing copy, and taking pictures. Seniors Adrienne Davis and Sarah Koehler, the main editors, worked with Taylor Publishing Company to make the yearbook a reality. Section editors were: Cathie Copeland-Royalty, Sarah Fagan-Classes, Dana Haines-Sports, Danny Lee-Performing Arts, and Emilie Owen-Activities. Second semester, juniors worked on the supplement. The staff put their all into the 1996 Polaris yearbook. Copy and layout by Emilie Owen. Artwork by Cathie Copeland.

The 1995-1996 Southern Exposure Staff displayed true journalistic talents, covering a wide variety of articles. The main editors, Sarah Austin and Courtney Hibdon offered their leadership skills to give the paper a sense of direction. Amy Apprill was the Editorials Editor. The News and Feature Editors were Valerie Austin and Brooke Wilson. Trey Griggs and Justin Robertson served as Sports Editors. Advising the staff with her journalistic wisdom, Mrs. Harrison added a flair of personality. This year's stories ranged from new teachers to the famous O.J. Simpson trial. Both first and second year members had the opportunity to learn more about real life journalism. The staff produced some superb papers! Copy and layout by Andy McCright.

This year, the Academic team faced many challenges, but still managed to remain successful. Since several of their strong members graduated last year, the academic team decided that they had to start fresh. Four enthusiastic freshmen moved up to fill the void left by the graduates, while five of the members from last year returned. Six tournaments are held throughout the year, in which South competes with other schools around the district. Captains James Schuette and Andy McCright led the team with help from two dedicated sponsors: Mrs. Alderson and Helaine Cohn. "Competing is a great time to meet new people," Mrs. Alderson commented. Copy and layout by Danny Young.

This year, Raytown South's chapter of Kid's Congress met to discuss various types of business that needed to be taken care of. The main focus of the Congress was to keep the community safe. Common topics discussed were drug and alcohol use and abuse by students and other community members. Since one of the main times of the year that alcohol is widely abused is around Prom and Graduation, the members decided to plan an after-Prom party as an alternative to other after-Prom activities. The idea was well received by the student body. Three times during the year, the group attends a district convention, where ideas were shared. The sponsors were Mr. Swartz and Mrs. Elliot. The senator was Lori Kays. Copy and layout by Danny Young.

The Mediation Team is back again for the ninth year, striving for peace within Raytown South. Mediation is an alternative way for students to work out their conflicts with each other. Every year, they hold an all day training session in order to prepare new members for the school year. This year, the sponsors were fortunate enough to get Mr. Alvin Brooks, the President of the AD Hoc Group Against Crime, as a guest speaker. He shared some of his experiences in promoting and keeping peace in the K.C. area. Mr. Brooks also gave advice and made suggestions on how the team could improve. His speech was strong and true, making the members feel that they can make a difference. Copy and layout by Sharrice White.

Future Teachers of America was a new addition to South this year, and had many activities on its agenda. In addition to regular meetings, they made trips to Northwood to help "special students", and participated in various community service projects that were designed to mold young people into respected and responsible teachers. FTA members also took time out of their busy schedules to make favors for the teachers around the holidays. Through hands on work, the members learned what it took to be a teacher — giving of your time and service for others. Although the club was brand new, they got off to an excellent start and help set the foundation for future members of this club. Copy and layout by Monica Wetekamp.

The 1995-1996 Young Poets Society succeeded in having another creative and successful year. A typical meeting usually consisted of the members sitting down in an informal "pow wow" style and discussing favorite poems by their favorite authors, or a poem that they wrote themselves. In order to keep everyone equal, this club had no officers. They were made up of many students who just loved to share poetry. Their goal was to promote writing, in particular poetic writing. According to Mrs. Shreve, "It's a nice cross section of students. I'm hoping that any student at South would find a place in this club. You don't have to have great talent. You just have to have an interest." Copy and layout by Monica Wetekamp.

The new faces discovered talents in places they didn't know existed. The club participated in night photography and entered artwork in contests such as the Reflections-"Open Your Eyes and See" contest, and the American Royal Photo Contest. Field trips were taken to interesting places such as the plaza to capture the moments. Ms. Wren, the club's sponsor, gave a lot of her time and effort to help each person with negatives and prints and enjoyed helping the students. National Honor Society Members National Honor Society is an organization consisting of students in grades 10 through 12 who excel in areas of character, service, scholarship, and leadership. Members were chosen by teacher recommendations. The 1995-1996 NHS performed many services for the area throughout the year, and members were required to participate in at least two service projects. Some favorite projects were serving dinner at City Union Mission and working with Habitat for Humanity to clean up neighborhoods and houses. NHS had many sponsors, and the officers were: Rebecca Lowry-Pres, Rachel Jakobe-Vice Pres, Abby McDavitt-Sec, Tammecca Kirk-Historian, and Dan Jenkins-Treasurer. Copy and layout by Sarah Fagan.

Members of the club helped welcome them to South and helped them become more involved. It also gave them a chance to make better friends with the student body. Some of Club International's activities included a fondue party, a Halloween party, a Christmas get together, and an ethnic restaurant outing. Also this club entered a float in the Homecoming parade. "Being in S.A.D.D. has really brought home the importance of not drinking. With the leaders we have this year, I truly believe that we can help more people to stay out of trouble with alcohol," said junior, LaTonya Barnes. This idea reflected how all members of 1995-96 S.A.D.D. felt about fellow students mixed with drinking. This year, they planned and carried out many projects. They planned Red Ribbon Day, donated to Project Graduation and passed out red roses for Prom. by participating in this club, S.A.D.D. members showed care and concern for thier school. Connie Babcock, junior, commented, "I feel proud and lucky to be a part of a group that could possibly save the life of someone." Copy and layout by Jennifer Campbell.

The National Forensics League, more commonly known as NFL, placed high in several tournaments this year. These talented and dedicated students worked long hours finding material, organizing it, and putting it all together. They had several activities in which they participated such as forensics, oratory, humorous interpretation, and dramatic interpretation. The activity was usually taken as a class, but the members didn't limit their participation to class time. They spent a lot of time after school in the debate room and in the library preparing for the weekend tournaments. This year's officers were: President-Lori Kays, Vice President-Abby McDavitt, Secretary-La'Tisha Moore, Treasurer-Abby Adams, and Historian-Shawn Keim.

Lights, camera, action! The 1995-96 Thespians Club was definitely in action this year. Led by Mr. Branan, the Thespians performed God's Favorite, a play by Neil Simon. According to Branan, it was "one of the funniest plays I have ever read". This play demanded more than usual of its actors: harder lines and two months of rehearsals every night for two-and-a-half hours. But even with fewer members than last year, Mr. Branan believed in his students. In fact, he had so much faith in them, he decided to try something new this year: a matinee (2 performances in one day), which meant 4 performances instead of 3. It was hard, but they pulled it off and made this year a success. Copy and layout by Ayanna Johnson.

In Child Development I, students learn about kids through textbooks, lectures, and an occasional case study. But Child Development II classes have an added dimension. Three times a week, students spend their classtime caring for pre-school aged children. This year there were 11 "Cardinal Kids" participating in the class. Under Mrs. Redford's guidance, the students prepared activities and games for the children. Also, each student was assigned one child as their "case study". This class taught its students everything from developmental stages for pre-schoolers to preparing snacks and controlling temper tantrums. For most, it turned out to be more than just a class; it was a lesson in life. Copy and layout by Ayanna Johnson.

This year's Student Council at Raytown South continued a well known tradition of excellence. Stuco sponsored a variety of activities including the Back-to-School dance, pep rallies, student exchanges, homecoming dances, United Way drives, the Toys for Tots drive, and the Leukemia Society Walk-a-thon. They were also a part of this year's District Convention held at Bartle Hall. Two new faces to Stuco this year were Tammy Liehr and Shelley Kimsey, the new sponsors. Students choose to be part of 1 out of 7 committees: community service, spirit, public relations, publicity, fundraising, or staff relations. All together, Stuco was a winning combination for all involved. Copy and layout by Jaime Isom.

Don't look too excited!
Stephanie Zieber and Justin Dickstein sit in their team meeting, waiting to discuss Stuco events.

Excitement and tension begins to build as the different sports, clubs, and activities nominate their chosen few for royalty . Students watch awe-struck as their classmates take each others' arms and walk across the stage in beautiful dresses and tuxedos at the Royalty Assembly. Seniors stroll down the aisle as a long list of their involvements and accomplishments are made known to the entire student body. Then, at their respected event, underclassmen are crowned at pre-game and the Senior King and Queen are crowned at half-time.

Cameras get closer to capture that once-in-a-lifetime moment. Disappointed hearts look into the winners' faces full of excitement and wish they could be at the center of attention. Only a few students are selected at these special times of the year to be a part of the Royalty Ceremonies. This is a tremendous honor, and respected by all.

The 1995 Fall Homecoming, "A Walk in the Clouds", was kicked off this year with the traditional spirit week, held October 9-13. Students showed their spirit by participating each day. From hats to hippies, our spirit shown through. Friday began with the presentation of the candidates in the royalty assembly and concluded with a pep rally where the Cardettes, Cheerleaders, and Pep Band all helped rally on our football team. Saturday began with the homecoming parade which ended at the stadium where we faced our opponents, the Liberty Bluejays. The crowning of the prince and princess winners took place during pre-game and the King and Queen were crowned during half-time. Even though the Cards were defeated 28-18, the excitement of the semi-formal dance was not dampened. Students filled the Raytown South cafeteria and danced under a "cloud-filled sky". The freshman nominees were Audrey Ledbetter and Chad Sogas, Melynda Gill and Bobby Ewan, Oleha Verlander and Ronald Clark, Christi Meyers and Andrew Douglas, Anna Bleyenber and Thomas Wolff, and Beth Benzinger and Jonathan Smallridge. GO FOR IT

The 1996 Winter Homecoming started off with an assembly to introduce the prince and princess and King and Queen nominees. The assembly not only presented the candidates to the school, but it also got the student body excited for the Homecoming week and festivities. Unfortunately, with the preparation of first semester finals, there wasn't time to hold an all-school pep rally. The student body didn't let that dampen their spirit, however. The attendance at the basketball game against Liberty had a great turnout.

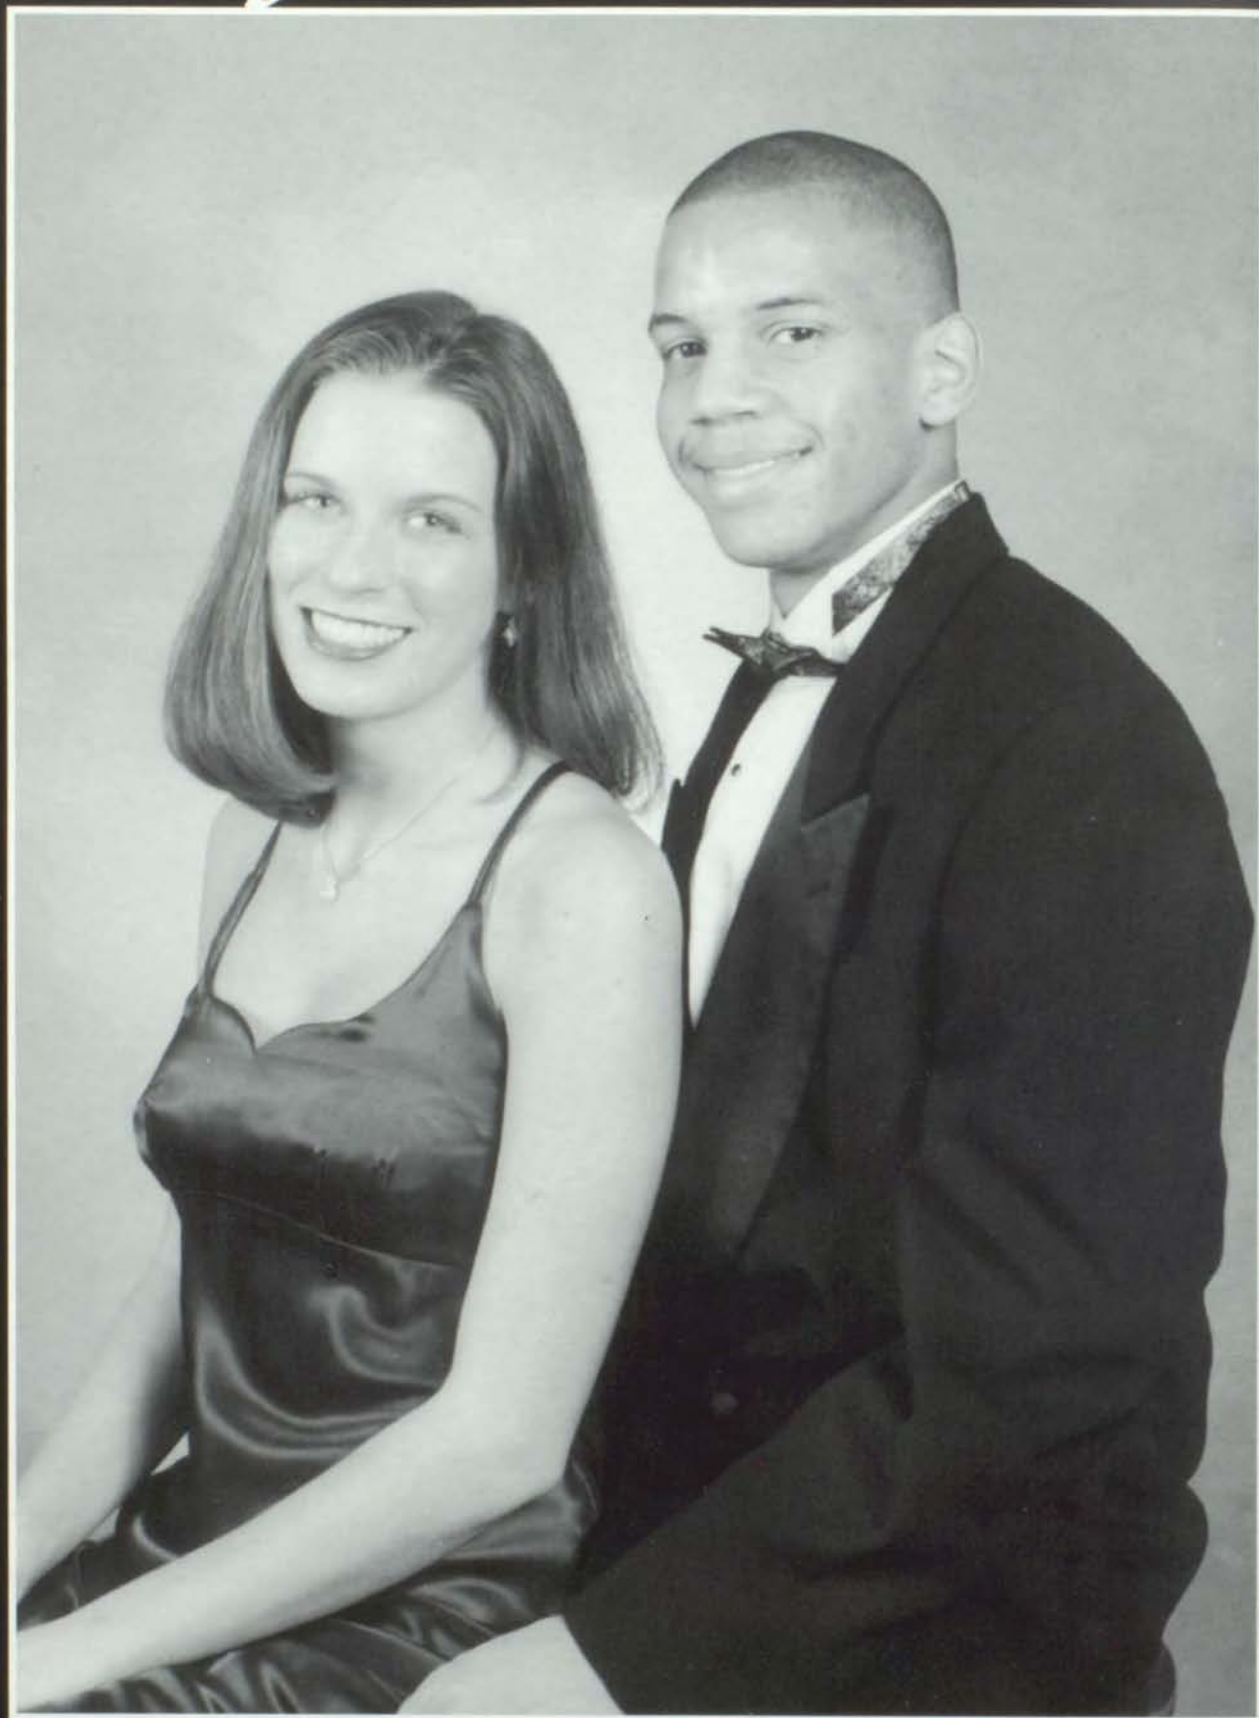

At halftime, Jeff Bower and Lisa Bleyenber were crowned Homecoming King and Queen. Following the game, many of the students attended the school dance, held in the cafeteria. The theme of the dance was "State Bound, All Around". Despite our disappointing loss to Fort Osage, there was a lot of school spirit, and the night was a success. Copy and layout by Sharrice White.

As the end of the yearbook is drawing closer, students realize the impact that the 1995-1996 school year has been. These pages reflect the lives students have led at South, whether they chose to take part in sports, clubs, activities, academics, or performing. Friendships have been formed and new relationships built throughout the year. Learning has taken place both in and outside the classroom. The year has drawn to an end and the start of a new one is getting closer. Seniors are preparing for a new life at college, a job, or whatever they may choose. Juniors are finally going to be the "top dogs" at school. Sophomores are finally upperclassmen. Freshmen no longer are the youngest, being picked on and referred to as "the little freshmen". Students look back at 1996 and what it has meant to them as they go through these yearbook pages.

These cars await the student owners to come drive them home at the end of a long school day.

RAYTOWN

Even though Raytown and Raytown South High Schools are rivals, many of the students are still good friends, and have developed relationships that will last a lifetime. Some of the friendships began long before high school and have continued through sports, church or other activities. Some have also resulted in dating relationships. Whether you prefer red or blue, the Cardinals and Bluejays share much more than the football stadium. Copy, layout, and artwork by Dana Haines.

Lookin' Across the GLOBE

The O.J. Simpson Case-On October 3, 1995, the O.J. Simpson case drew to a close. O.J. was acquitted in the stabbing murder of Nicole Brown Simpson and Ron Goldman. The case left many lasting images in people's minds: the white Ford Bronco chase, Simpson trying on the murder gloves in court, and Mark Fuhrman's testimony. After his acquittal, Simpson vowed that he would dedicate his life to search for the real killers.

Oklahoma City Bombing-On April 19, 1995, a car bomb exploded in Oklahoma City, destroying the Federal Building and killing many men, women, and children. The blast was so powerful that it carved a 30 foot wide crater in the street. Shortly after the explosion, Timothy McVeigh was recognized as one of the bombing suspects and charged.

The Million Man March-They gathered in Washington D.C. on October 16, 1995. Hundreds of thousands of African-American men came together at the nation's capital. There were dozens of speakers, including Rosa Parks and Jesse Jackson. Louis Farrakhan urged the rally to fight racism, gain political control, and rid their neighborhood of crime, drugs, and violence.

Pope John Paul II visits the United States-For a few days, Pope John Paul II dominated the news and gave Americans something good to talk about. The Pope started his visit to the United States by addressing the United Nations General Assembly. Throughout the visit, the Pope called for more attention to the need of the less fortunate.

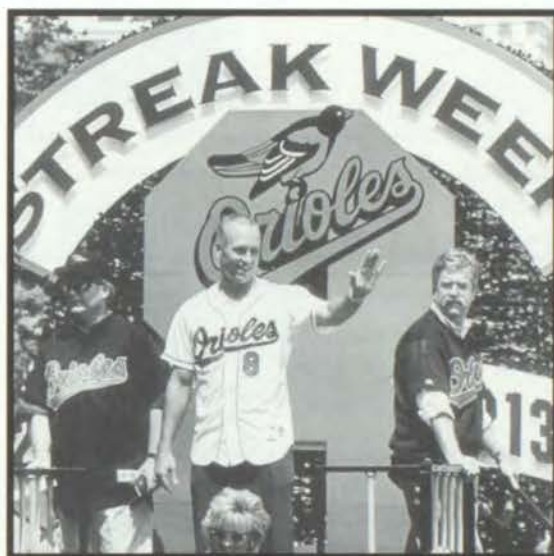

Graf defeats Seles at U.S. Open-On September 9 1995, German tennis player, Steffi Graf, played against Monica Seles, vying for the top position in women's tennis. Graf defeated Seles, making this her third consecutive Grand Slam title. Despite her defeat, Seles kept a good attitude. "It has been very exciting to be playing again," Seles commented.

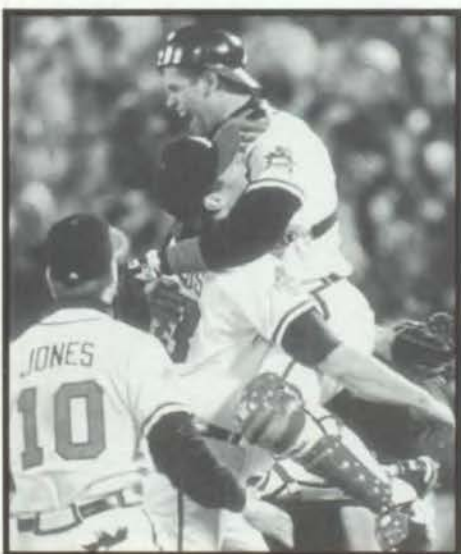

MTV awards-Hootie and the Blowfish received the award for best new artist for their video, "Hold My Hand." Held on September 1995 and hosted by Dennis Miller, the night was full of excitement and anticipation. Tom Petty won an award for best male video, "You Don't Know How It Feels," while Madonna won for best female video, "Take a Bow." The biggest winners of the night were TLC and Weezer, who each won four awards.

Conflict in Bosnia-Since June 1991, a gruesome civil war has taken place in the former Yugoslavia. The Bosnian Serbs, hoping for freedom, began their siege of the capital, Sarajevo. Since the battle began, over 200,000 have been killed or are missing. In May 1995, NATO sent planes to attack Serbian ammunition depots. The Serbs responded to the attack by killing many innocent people and taking hundreds of U.N. peacekeepers hostage.

Cal Ripken's Streak-With each game that Cal Ripken played, he drew closer and closer to breaking the "unbreakable" record set by Lou Gehrig in 1939. Lou Gehrig appeared in 2,130 consecutive games, an accomplishment that people thought could never be equalled. In September 1995, however, Ripken surpassed it. He played in 2,131 consecutive games, and received a 22 minute standing ovation.

World Series-The Atlanta Braves won the World Series against the Cleveland Indians. This may have been the first World Series between people with politically incorrect nicknames. The Braves returned to Atlanta with a 1-0 victory marked by David Justice's home run, and the one-hit pitching of Tom Glavine, who was named Series MVP. It was a Series of the bats vs. the arms. In the end the arms won.

Amtrak Crash-It was horrible news: An Amtrak train derailed in a remote desert region of Arizona, 55 miles southwest of Phoenix. The worst part about the crash was the possibility of sabotage. Authorities found that a metal bar that held two sections of the rail together was missing. At the scene of the crash, there was a letter mentioning the federal siege in Waco, Texas, which caused people to question the possibility of anti-government terrorists.

Kim-from the halls of ray south middle to the halls of ray south high we have remained friends. From acquaintances to friends, to BEST FRIENDS. We have been through everything, and I know for a fact that there is not one thing that could ever come between us. I owe a lot to you and the friendship that we shared will NEVER be forgotten. Whether or not we end up at the same college or we end up millions of miles apart you will always be my best friend-I love ya-HILLARY

Hillary-You have been the person I have relied on most of my high school life. We've gone through a lot of ups-n-downs and I'm glad you were there by my side through it all. You have given me a friendship that will last forever. Time is getting shorter and either being near or far you will always hold a special place in my heart. I won't ever forget you and you know I'll always be here or there. Best friends for life- love ya-LOIS-KIMBERLEY

GRADUATION DAY IS ALMOST HERE. WE HAVE CRIED MANY OF TEARS, AND WE'VE SHARED MANY LAUGHS. NO MATTER HOW FAR APART WE MAY END UP WE WILL ALWAYS REMAIN THE BEST OF FRIENDS!

Tori,

With you as a daughter, we've had a messier bathroom, later nights, a busier phone . . . and a happier life than we ever would have had without you.

Congratulations, Mom & Dad

Congratulations Dana

You are a beautiful caring daughter who's made our lives a joy. Continue to share Jesus Christ with those you meet and continue to make our world a better place. Set your sights high and never settle for anything but your very best. We are very proud of you.

All Our Love—Mom, Dad, & Steph

What a joy and delight
You have been to us
What a blessing
We receive with your sweetness.

These echoing words are heard
From those who know you best
In school, in church, in the family next.
The black belts are spanned with,
In the world of self defense.
Not only did you achieve your goal,
Ranking first in black belt women across the U.S.
But you did it as a girl.

It swells my heart with pride to know,
Other parents hope their child will grow
To be like you.

Should we tell them of your foundation
And His words that are written in your heart
That you live as a witness; a sword
To God's Holy Word

And now you will be going afar
As you step out into the world
No matter what gets you, dear
I leave you with the same reminder
Of the last seventeen years
Just remember, who you are.

Oh how we love you!
Mom and Dad

DAVID,

You have worked hard and overcome so much. You have become the young man we always knew you would be. We are so very proud of you and will love you always.

Mom & Dad (RSHS 1970) and Lisa (RSHS 1999)

Dear Brian,

You have accomplished a big step in your life, it has not been easy and we are very proud of you. Always set a goal and go for it, but also remember to put God always first. We love you very much and wish you the best on your next step.

Love, Mom, Dad, brothers & sis

Congratulations, kid, you did it!

We are very proud of you and we know that the Lord will continue to bless you and give you success as you go on to college. "Don't let anyone look down on you because you are young, but set an example for the believers in speech, in life, in love, in faith, and in purity." We've been so glad to be a part of your Great Adventure!

Wherever you go, whatever you do, be happy and know that we love you.

*Love,

Congratulations

JARED!

I can't believe how fast these 17 1/2 years have gone by and how quickly you have grown into a fine young man. I am so blessed to have you for my son. I am so proud of your accomplishments over the years. Ever since you were a little boy, you have always been responsible, dependable, a continuous source of pride and you have always been able to make me laugh. Congratulations, good luck at MU, and thanks for all the wonderful memories.

Love,

Em, Dane, and Ad—From middle school to high school, you've all been there for me. We've shared happy times and good times, but through them all, we've all stuck together. No matter where we go, or what we do, I will never forget the times we've shared. When I needed a friend(s), God went you! I LOVE YOU! LIS'

Well, here we are, finished with one journey and ready to start another. All three of you have been there for me, whether it was having fun or balling my eyes out. Thanks so much. I'll always treasure the times we've spent together. You're awesome! Stay in touch-forever! "You are better off to have a friend than to be all alone, because then you will get more enjoyment out of what you earn."—Ecc.4:9 LOVE! ADRIENNE

Hey girlsies!—You guys have been here for me whenever I needed someone, and for that I will always be grateful. I have been lucky enough to be blessed with not one, but three friends that are the best anyone could ask for. I know we are going our separate ways, but we will always have our friendship! LOVE, EMILIE

I thank God every day for the three wonderful friendships he has given me. You are each unique, yet so meaningful. One of you was there each time I needed someone to talk, cry, or laugh with-thank you! I will never forget the times that we shared together, and even though we are leaving each other, I know that our memories will last a lifetime. Continue to let God be the strength of your life. LOVE ALWAYS! DANA

Justin,

Thank you for the endless hours of joy you have given us. Congratulations on all of your accomplishments. Don't ever give up on your dreams — you are capable of making them all come true. Always know we are here and we love you.

Dear Kristi,

Words alone cannot express our love for you. Thank you for all the memories you have given us since the day you were born. You have always been our source of pride and joy. We have been and always will be very proud of both you and your accomplishments. We have enjoyed watching you grow into the beautiful, sweet, gentle, considerate, caring, and responsible young woman you have become. You have completed the first step in making your dreams come true—keep working towards your goals. We wish you only the best—you deserve it! Never forget that we will always be behind you.

Shaun,

You have always been very special and have made us very proud. We know you will be great in whatever you do. Congratulations on graduation.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Danny,

The years have flown by. Now reach for your star. Remember you can accomplish anything you set your mind to. God Bless You.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Angie, and Janis

#13,

Few things in my life are as important to me as "my baby brother". I would not be the person I am without your love, encouragement, and friendship. I've learned so much from you. You've given me the greatest gift that I could possibly wish for: the chance to be your brother.

CONGRATULATIONS DEREK,

WHAT A BUNDLE OF JOY YOU WERE 18 YEARS AGO, AND STILL TODAY. YOU HAVE DEVELOPED INTO A WONDERFUL YOUNG MAN THAT WE ARE PROUD TO CALL OUR SON. GOD HAS ANSWERED OUR PRAYERS FOR YOU AND YOUR BROTHERS. NURTURING YOU FROM A LITTLE BABE, WATCHING YOU DEVELOP INTO A LOVING, CARING, AND DEPENDABLE YOUNG MAN HAS BROUGHT US NOTHING BUT JOY.

YOU HAVE ACCOMPLISHED AN IMPORTANT MILESTONE IN YOUR QUEST FOR EDUCATION. YOU HAVE WORKED HARD, DETERMINED YOUR DIRECTION, MADE GOOD CHOICES, AND BUILT A REPUTATION THAT MAKES ANY FAMILY PROUD. WE ARE CONFIDENT THAT THIS IS ONLY ONE OF MANY MILESTONES YOU WILL ACCOMPLISH IN YOUR LIFE. YOUR JOURNEY AT RAY-SOUTH HAS BEEN FULL OF ACCOMPLISHMENTS AND HONORS THAT SHOULD MAKE YOU PROUD.

AS YOU ENTER A NEW PHASE OF YOUR LIFE, KEEP LEARNING, SHARING, RESPECTING, LOVING, PURSUING YOUR GOALS, AND KEEP YOUR HAND IN GOD'S HAND AND MANY DOORS WILL BE OPENED FOR YOUR FUTURE ENDEAVORS. ALWAYS STRIVE TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE IN YOUR LIFE FOR THE NEXT GENERATION.

YOU ARE SPECIAL, YOU ARE A WINNER, AND YOU WILL ALWAYS BE IN OUR EYES. WE LOVE YOU AND WISH THE BEST THAT LIFE HAS TO OFFER. MAKE YOUR DREAMS REALITY!!!

LOVE,
DADDY, MAMA, BROTHERS, GRANDPARENTS, & FAMILY

Congratulations, Sarah!

Sarah,

You've worked so hard to be not only a quality student, but a quality person, willing to reach out to others who need your gentleness and caring. Your dedication to your ideals and your desire to serve humankind in great and small ways brings joy to our hearts. We wish you all the happiness that life has to offer and will pray daily that God will bless your efforts.

Love, Mom, Dad, Bruce, & Bry

Sarah,

Congratulations! I can't believe that you're gonna be at school with me again next year. You already fit in better than I do! I hope that you and I can always be as close as we are right now. I love you more than anything!

Tori-Girl, we've been through thick and thin together, but whether our friendship comes or goes, the memories will last in our thoughts forever. I'll never forget the incredible times we've shared that only you and I alone can remember.

B.F.F.,
Missy

Missy-I'm glad our paths crossed our freshmen year, and we became such good friends. All the memories we made will never be forgotten or topped. You're the greatest, baby girl!

Love,
Tori Jo

Courtney Class of 1996

You were kicking just before you were born, and we knew from the beginning that nothing was going to hold you back from what you wanted to accomplish. Keep moving forward with the intelligence God gave you to give something back to the world and complete all the goals before you.

Congratulations!

Ashley & Jason

Jason,

Even though it may seem that I do, I could never ask for more than what you've done for me throughout our relationship. Without your love and support, I wouldn't have made it through these last couple of years. You're my best friend and you make me happy. We've had our troubles, but I could never doubt you. I thank you for everything and I love you.

Love Always, Ashley

Dear Ashley,

Well, it's finally here, our last year! You and I have gone through a lot this past year, and I hope I've given you enough support and love to help you through. You certainly showed me how you care for me, and you've supported me in every area of my life. And I thank you for it.

Love, Jason

Congratulations, Tony

You started out being our baby. But now, you're our youngest son. We love you very much and our prayers are always with you. And Good Luck. No more kids at home. "ya" "ya" "ya" "ya" "ya". Love, Boo and Tony

Dearest Tamarra,

You are my special bundle of joy. I was blessed the day that you were born and I have been blessed every day since your birth. For the few years that your father was with you he was so proud. I too am proud of my young, gifted and black baby. You are full of energy, full of life, and full of intelligence. You have brought home over the years many awards and honors. You have stood on your own two feet and achieved many rewards. Through the help of the good Lord Jesus, you will continue during the rest of your life. From me, your mother, Granny, Aunt Eloise, Uncle Milan, and your Grandfathers Glenwood and Theodore we all want to say we love you so very much and are so very proud of you.

*Love always and a day,

CONGRATULATIONS!

Eighteen years ago we were blessed with a unique gift—triplets! The three of you make every day challenging, rewarding, and exciting. It has been a joy to watch each of you develop your own personality, strengths, and interests. Much success as you graduate and begin college. Always remember we love you and are proud of you.

ADRIENNE & SARAH

Polaris Editors 1996

Dear Mr. Redford and Polaris Staff,

We would like to thank the 1995-1996 Polaris staff for their dedication, input, and hard work throughout the year. Also, for putting up with us around deadlines and helping us with additional work.

Mr. R., thank you so much for everything this year. Thanks for staying late for our deadlines, the occasional snack or meal, and the cover idea. It's been rough with only two of us, but when we got stressed you reassured us everything would be okay.

Every staff member has contributed to making this an awesome yearbook. Our special thanks go to the section editors and artist Jeff Porter.

*Polaris Editors,
Adrienne and Sarah*

Uh, Mr. Redford, we lost the yearbook cover*Your sandwich is stinking up the room*Sarah, I'm gonna kill you! His senior ad was in the envelope*I'll tell her to get her snotty nose off your paper towels*Enter a special character code-hmm . . . let's try . . . 56*Who gets Reporter and Riviera Script??*That stupid ceiling won't quit leaking*The crusty pica rulers*Look! Five dollars*Are you talking to yourself?*Do you HAVE to point out every mistake I make? Quit looking at that disk!*The mouse is working!(no it's not!)*Adrienne's spilling problem*Who's the big mouth that's telling everyone about the cover?*Ridgely*Cathie, get out!*Senior ads suck!*Where'd all the grease pencils go?*Do you have art board?*Why in the world would Lisa, Sue, & Abby pick reporter?*We have a question-call Abby or Lisa!*Mr. R: "You are NOT putting different parts of people's faces on the Student Life page."*Our favorite person-Li'l Miss Involvement*Hitler & Mussolini*Oh hi, . . . Adrienne and Sarah, why don't you open the cabinet? Shut up, Neil*Hey, I was listening to that!*What is that smell on our hands?*We made it through without any all nighters*Adrienne, we can hear you singing all the way out there*Why don't people get it? Is it that hard?Good luck to next year's editors

Taylor Publishing Company in Dallas, Texas published 900 copies of the 1996 Raytown South High School Polaris yearbook. 248 pages were printed in 900 copies for a total of 233,200 pages. The staff turned in layouts and the editors entered each page into Taylor's Vision Series for Page, Type, and Index. Mistakes were caught through proofs printed on UltraVision, allowing a one-step correction process.

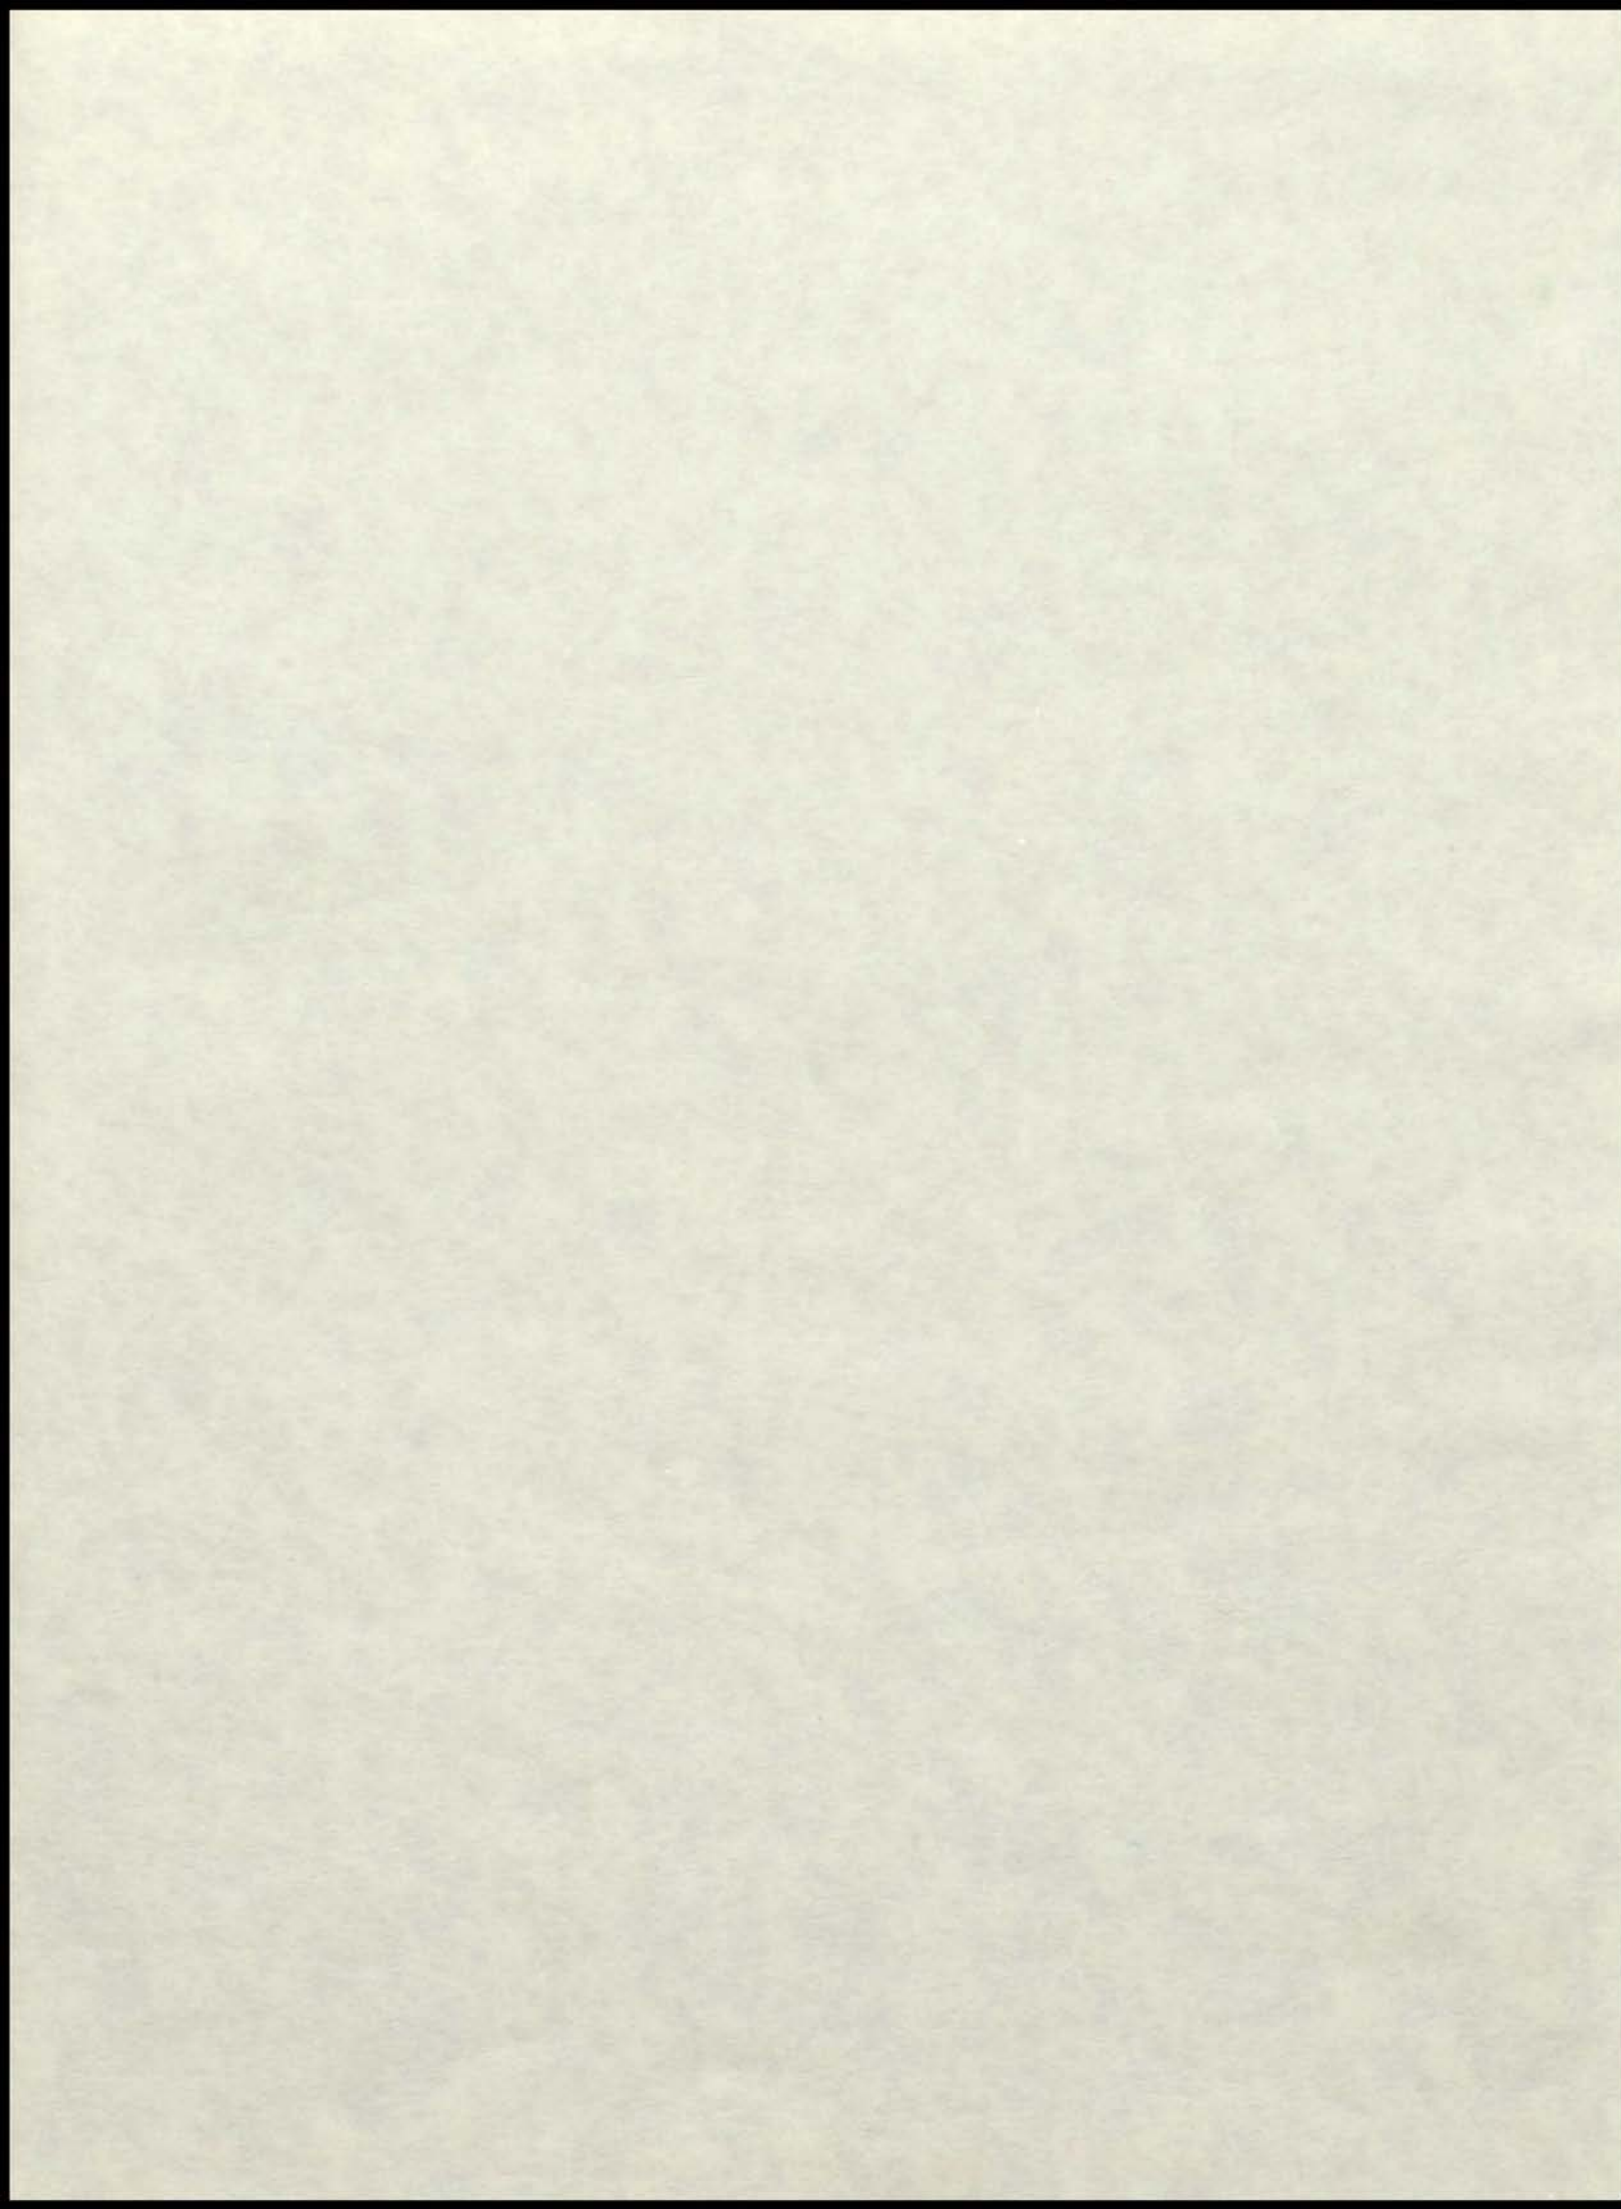

The editors choose "Take A Closer Look" as this year's theme. They, along with Mr. Redford, worked with Bob Hayden, Cover Artist from Dallas, Texas, to design the cover. The Lexotone Cover was made from 150 point binders board and covered with white vellum. The print type used was fractal foil and black silk screen 910. A diecut was made and a plastic piece, made by Olson MFG of Kansas City, Kansas, was inserted by Taylor. Endsheets were printed on gray parchment with black ink. Each page was printed on #80 enamel paper. Opening pages, signature #1, and senior pages, signature #2, were printed in four-color ink. Division photographs used a duotone process with colors Black #1, Blue #7, Green #23, Red #30, Purple #71, Green #20, Pink #37, and Red #33.

Raytown South's Taylor Sales Representative, Kevin Garber, assisted the editors through the year by answering questions and supplying helpful hints to make this yearbook successful. Once again, Rolland Studios provided class, faculty, royalty, and other various pictures. Pat Graham, of the Raytown Dispatch Tribune, supplied various sports pictures, also.
