ACTIVITIES

Sale-O-Rama, Mission Possible, and retreats are all valuable activities that help unite Rockhurst students in achieving a common goal. By participating in school activities, students grow in greater awareness of themselves and others in their community.

ORGANIZATIONS

All Rockhurst students have a particular interest or hobby. School organizations provide outlets for students to express themselves in areas of interest which are important to them outside of the regular classroom setting, as well as those that enhance their academic endeavors.

SPORTS

Over the years, Rockhurst has proved its excellence in sports. This year marked the fourth time in Rockhurst history that we earned the title of 5A Football Champs. While Rockhurst dominated the football scene, there was considerable strength shown in athletics as a whole.

Students at Rockhurst have a very special sense of unity. It can be witnessed in the classroom, on the athletic field, or even in the stands. This strong feeling of community is what sets Rockhurst apart.

The Spirit of '87

Each of us brings to the school year a sense of possibility; hopes, dreams, goals, and expectations create the motivating forces that lead to our achievement and our accomplishments. When this sense of possibility emerges as the product of a group effort, such as a class, a team, a school organization, or the entire student body, then spirit is born.

If any one idea characterizes Rockhurst High School for 1986-87, it is SPIRIT. The theme of the 1987 Quarry is taken from the homily offered by Father Tom Cummings at the Mass of the Holy Spirit in September. In it he spoke to us of "building the spirit." Father's words touched us all and his meaning was clear. We came together at the beginning of the year to form a school community — students, teachers, parents, administrators, and staff personnel — bringing with us our hopes, our talents, and our faith.

Rockhurst spirit is not a result; it is an on going event, a process. So when Father Cummings spoke to us of "building" the spirit, the Quarry staff decided that this was the idea which best embodied the philosophy that prevailed during the 1986-1987 school year.

Rockhurst spirit was shown in a wide variety of areas. In the stands Rockhurst gained local recognition for the outstanding support of both the football and basketball teams. The effect of our school spirit was obvious. It helped to create a more unified school.

School spirit also had other effects at Rockhurst. Numerous physical changes took place this year. A once plain and barren quadrangle was transformed into the beautiful patio-porch area. Ten benches were put in to allow a place for students to sit and visit. Lastly, the patio-porch area wouldn't be complete without the arrival of a four ton granite rock.

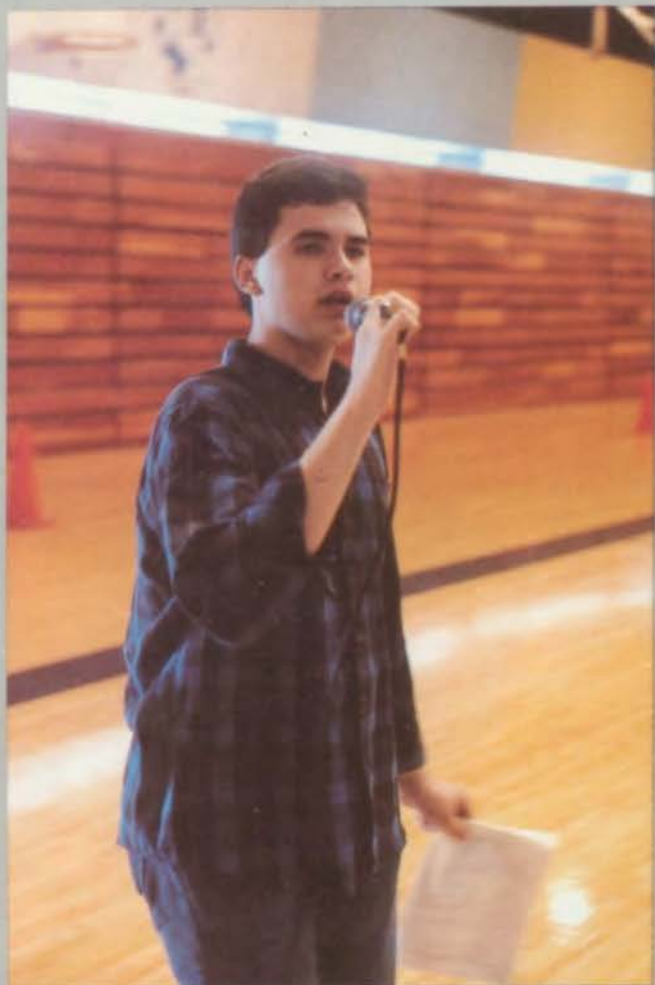

The 1986-1987 school year brought the fulfillment of a number of dreams and goals. Through a strong school spirit Rockhurst became a unified community. The possibilities with which we began the school year have now become the realities that will fill our memories in years to come.

ROCKHURST TAKES STATE!

Whether head football Coach Tony Severino has a crystal ball stashed away some place is uncertain, but one thing is for sure: the man can see the future.

At a pep rally on Wednesday before the game, Coach Severino introduced senior place-kicker Dan Baker, adding, "Danny is going to kick one to win it for us this week." And win it he did.

With :02 left on the clock, Baker kicked a 39-yard field goal to lift the Hawklets to a 13-10 win over Hazelwood Central and clinch the Missouri Class 5A football championship.

Senior lineman George Pazell remembered the game-winning kick. "I was in a dogpile on my back, so I didn't see the ball go through the posts. I just listened for the sound of the crowd. When I heard our side, I knew it was good," he said.

Baker was responsible for scoring all 13 of the Hawklets' points in the victory, which marks the third time that Rockhurst has defeated Hazelwood Central in a state title game.

"It was the greatest feeling of my life. The group effort didn't just stop on the field. It went into the stands and beyond," said senior slotback Mark Shugart of the state title game. (by Terry Sexton)

Homecoming '87

"Rockhurst goes Manhattan"

This year's Homecoming Week had a great deal to offer as far as events and activities. Throughout the week, the student body engaged in both spiritual and social events.

On Sunday, October 19, the queen's reception was held at the home of Brian Schorgl. Invited guests included members of the faculty, the five candidates, their escorts, and the entire Senior Class along with their dates.

The traditional Homecoming Mass was held on the following Monday with members of the Alumni Board and the Board of Directors in attendance. All five queen candidates were present at the Mass; they also attended classes with their escorts.

On Tuesday, October 21, the alumni of Rockhurst High School were treated to an appetizing spaghetti dinner in the cafeteria, catered by Cascone's Restaurant of North Kansas City.

On Thursday, Homecoming decorating got underway. This year, Student Council decided to give each class a particular area to decorate. All of the decorations done by each class had to reflect the central theme of the dance, "Rockhurst Goes Manhattan."

The Senior and Sophomore Classes had the responsibility of decorating the gym. Murals and a

The hallway was portrayed as a subway with elaborate graffiti done by the artistic hands of Mark Schweiger and Jose Porras. Lastly, the Quadrangle was transformed into Central Park via a multitude of lights.

All of the preparation was finally over. Now students could relax and look forward to the dance. This year, the local band, Broken English provided the entertainment. For almost all students the dance proved to be a big success. The benefits were manifold. Not only did the dance unify the school as a whole but it also increased school spirit.

*Building
The Spirit*

The spirit of Rockhurst High school was greatly enhanced by a number of school activities. These activities helped students and faculty learn more about each other in a closer, more personal way.

Through masses and retreats, students developed their spiritual dimension. Seniors were able to demonstrate their Christian values by going out into the community and helping those in need. Sale-O-Rama would not have been possible if it were not for the massive efforts of parents, faculty, and students.

All in all, student activities fostered school spirit that grew throughout the year.

ACTIVITIES

The Year in Drama

The Rockhurst Cuesters performed a series of exciting plays and musicals this year in which the actors were often challenged by the intensity of their roles.

To kick the year off were three one-act plays entitled "Frankenstein Goes Country," "The Acting Lesson," and "Present Tense."

"Frankenstein Goes Country," starring Owen Gilchrist, was about a rock group that gets stranded in "Frank's" castle.

"The Acting Lesson" depicted a professor teaching a student how to act. The play, which starred Brian Burrington, was symbolic of the meaning of life.

"Present Tense" was the final play in the series. Bill Belzer and Jenny Honza starred as a boy and girl in love. Bill played a Walter Mitty-type character who thinks that he is being two-timed by a sports hero.

"Rebel Without a Cause" was Rockhurst's first major drama of the year. Rich Johnson played Jim Stark, a troubled youth looking to find the truth in life. Matt Thomas and Nathan Fristoe also starred.

"Odd Couple" was about two exactly opposite bachelors, played by Darren McBratney and Brian Burrington, trying to live together in an apartment.

"Godspell" ended the season with a bang. It was a light-humored musical portraying the Gospel according to Matthew. Rich Johnson and Joe McCroy starred.

- to Mr Frank Lyngar, who completed the course of studies from Lesley College in Cambridge, Mass., that will entitle him to Masters in Computer Education.
- to the Senior Class for becoming the first class at Rockhurst to average in the 99 percentile on the ACT.
- to senior Shawn Dickey for being selected as one of 700 students recognized by the National Council of Teachers of English for outstanding writing and for receiving a $2,000 scholarship to the college of his choice.
- to the class of 1987, all other students, and the faculty members, for making this a year that will never be forgotten.

Cache '87

A tremendous effort by students, parents, and faculty members has produced a record-breaking CACHE auction.

An early estimate from Fr. Tom Cummings, S.J., placed the total at around $130,000, surpassing last year's figure of $104,000.

A capacity crowd of 524 showed up for the event. The theme "The Rock: Foundations for the Future" was emphasized throughout the evening.

Fr. Cummings went on to say that the increased number of parents working really made a difference in the success of this year's auction.

"It was the most beautiful high school auction I've ever seen. Mrs. Virginia Greenlease, the foundress of the State Line campus, was there, and she told me that she was stunned by the breathtaking decorations and the polite participation of the students. Also, three chairmen of the SLUH auction came up to see it, and they said it was the nicest auction they'd ever seen," he said.

The money raised will be used to help keep tuition down. A total of $130,000 represents more than $150 off each student's tuition for next year.

Fr. Cummings concluded, "Each student should be grateful for the efforts put forth at CACHE because they're the reason it happens in the first place."

Sale-O-Rama Reaches $96,000

$96,325—That's how much the 25th Sale-O-Rama raised. Fr. Tom Cummings said he was "pleased as punch," even though the Sale-O total fell short of its $100,000 goal. Fr. Cummings also praised the 260 Sale-O mothers for their extreme dedication and work during the nine months they gave to the project.

At the celebration party, an enthused Mrs. Jan Knopke, chairman of Sale-O-Rama, said with tears in her eyes, "I feel like Tony Severino when he stood on the 'Rock' with the championship football team because we're all champions."

Mrs. Knopke praised Fr. Mario Puricelli, S.J., Bro. Lawrence Eilert, S.J., and Fr. Bill Steiner, S.J., for their many hours dedicated to Sale-O-Rama.

Sale-O received unusually warm weather for March, which probably hurt the sale rather than helping it, asserted Mrs. Margo Didier, treasurer of the Mothers Club.

"The weather was both for us and against us. Too many people were outside enjoying the sun and doing outdoor activities. It would have been better if we had cloudy, 45-50 degree weather," said Mrs.

Betty Conway, co-chairman of Sale-O. Mrs. Didier added, "We've had to consolidate, and we are running out of space. There were no warehouses for storing and no consignments this year. We've reached a point where we need more space in order to grow."

Of the more than 300,000 items, approximately 290,000 were sold this year, according to the Mothers Club.

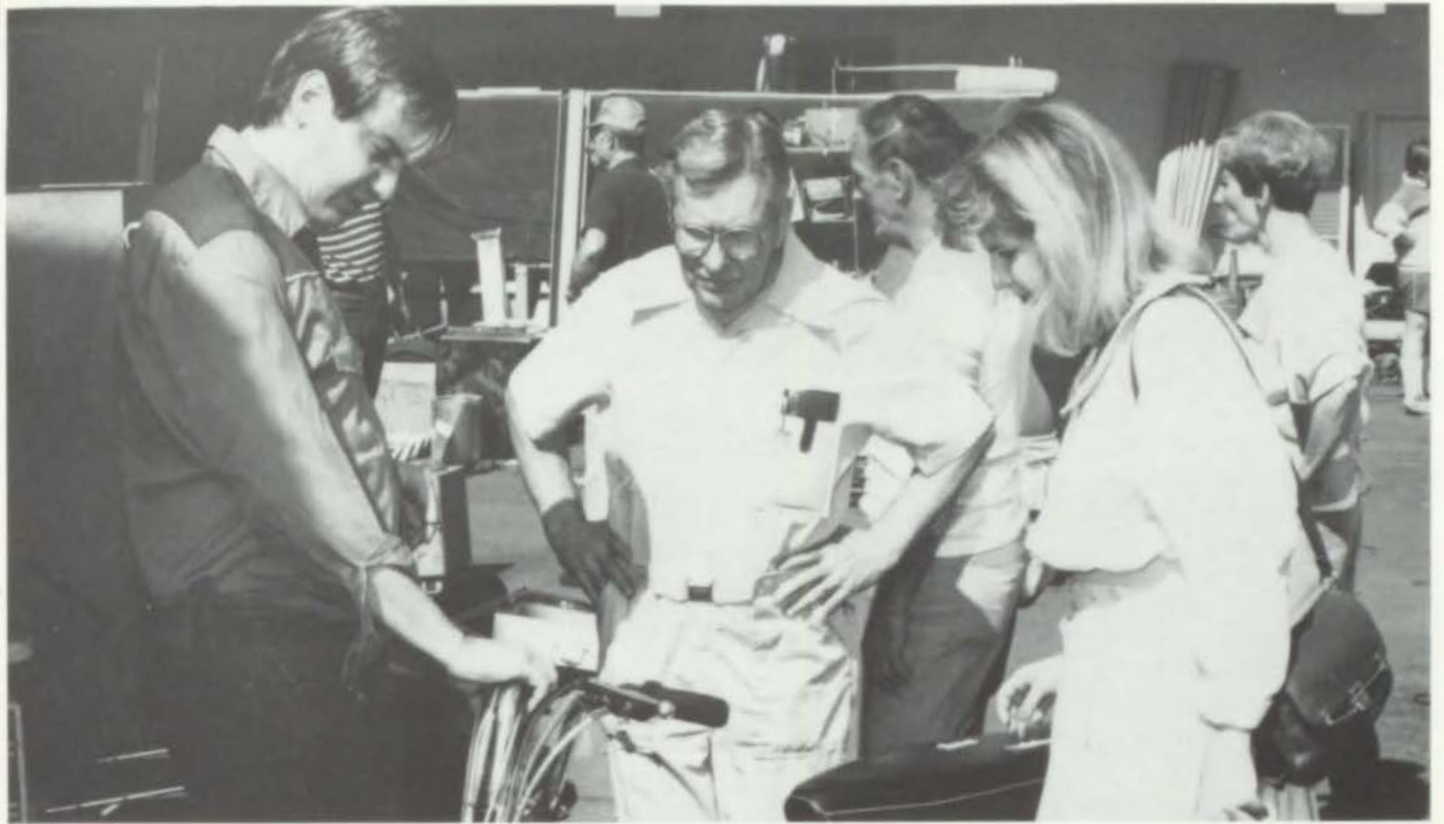

Mrs. Conway added that Sale-O-Rama has helped a lot of underprivileged people and also helped to defray tuition costs at RHS.

Mission Accomplished!

The money raised during Mission Possible Week will be used to help finance the work of the Jesuit missions in Honduras, run by Fr. Jarryl Wade and Fr. Ray Pease.

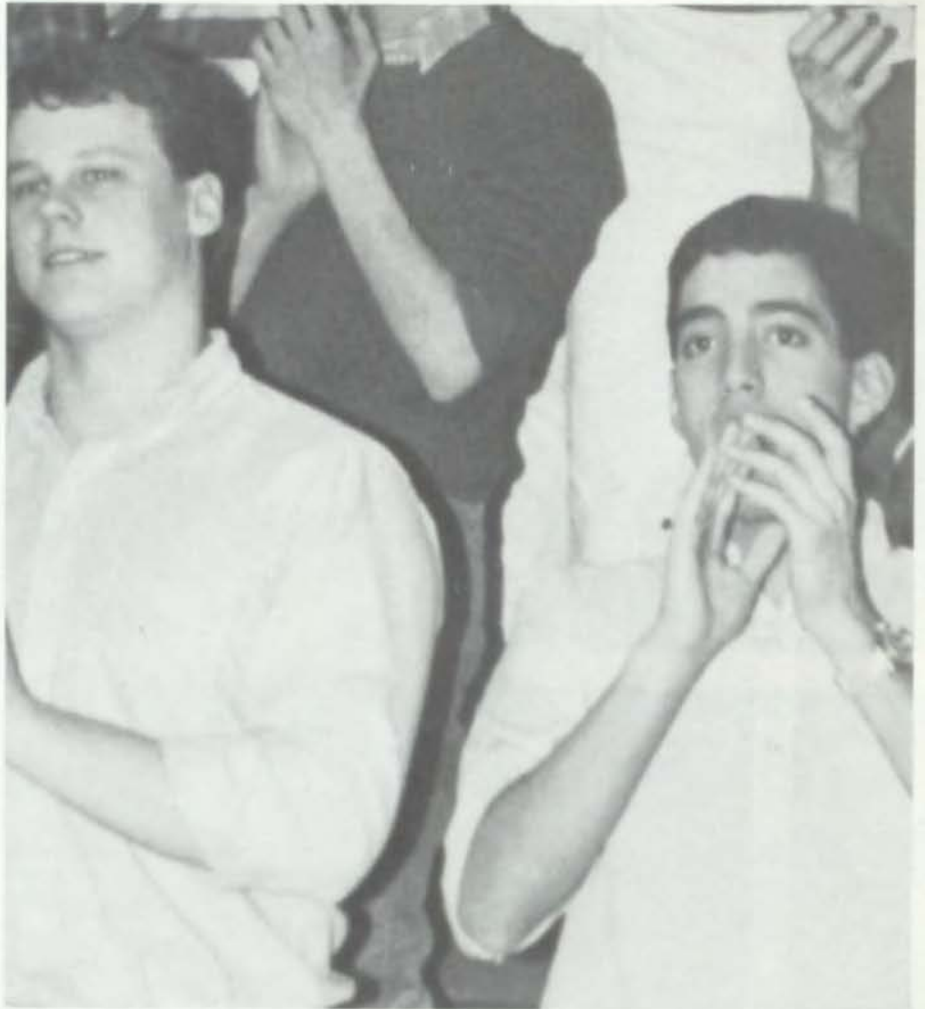

The week was kicked off by a slide presentation by Fr. Wade and Fr. Pease which documented the effects in Honduras of the money which the students raise. On Tuesday, the Class of '87 won the Trivial Pursuit game for the second straight year.

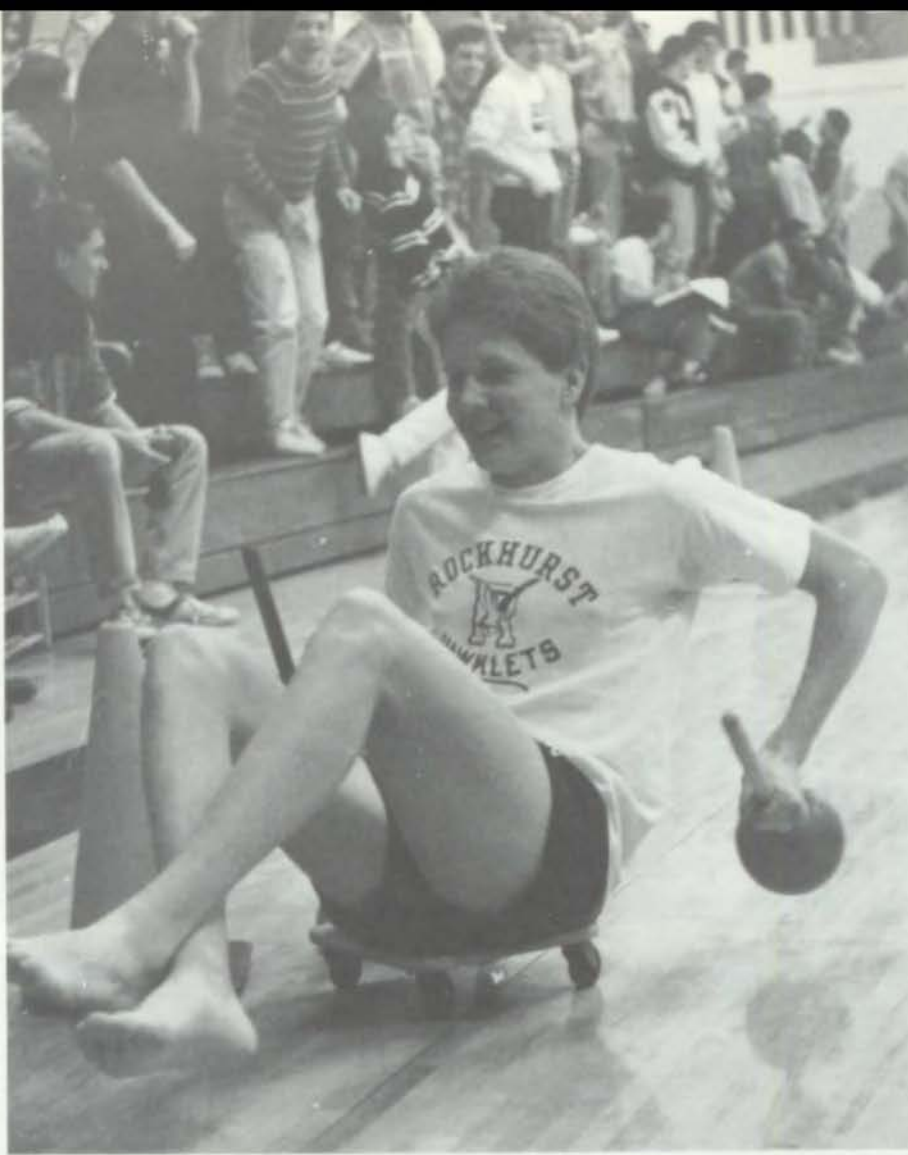

A basketball game between STA and Sion preceded the faculty-student game on Wednesday night. Thursday brought the return of the obstacle course, sponsored by the freshmen. The Senior Class sponsored the annual auction on Friday.

The total raised by students during the week was a generous $6,198. Mission Possible Week provides a week of excitement for the Rockhurst student body, but, more important, it provides a better life for people in Honduras.

Masses and Retreats

The goal of the Pastoral Office is to create an atmosphere where it is possible to translate the love of God into the love of neighbor. The Pastoral Office also hopes to serve the adults who serve the young.

A new aspect of the "pastoral program" instituted with the 1986-87 school year is "pastoral days." Pastoral Days are intended to celebrate the life of the school. In addition, these days are intended to establish a pattern of religious and formative experiences for the Rockhurst High school community.

A senior prayer service on August 27 opened the school year. The Pastoral Office and the Students Against Drunk Driving joined efforts for the SADD Assembly. The assembly was to remind students of the dangers of driving drunk. On October 27 the faculty spent time together in prayer and conversation during the Faculty Day of Recollection held at Savior of the World Pastoral Center. During "Hunger Days" on November 11 and 12, class assemblies were held in the chapel. Father Jerry Wegenek and Mr. Tim Guthridge of St. James Food Pantry spoke of their real life experiences in serving the hungry in the inner city. The first semester concluded with a special all school Christmas Mass. This day was dedicated to the seniors who began their service projects.

An important day in the life of the school is the day on which seniors share their service project experiences with the rest of the school.

Along with the Pastoral Days, the Pastoral Office continued the retreat program. Every freshman, sophomore, and junior is required to participate in a retreat with members of his class.

The Freshman Retreat was held on October 11. It was organized and conducted by over 40 seniors and 10 juniors. Sophomore Days of Recollection are times for sophomores to continue the spirit of the freshman retreat. The Juniors spend their time in prayer for three days at eight different locations.

The Pastoral program is ambitious in its attempt to touch the lives of all by enriching the faith life of Rockhurst High School.

Fr. Byrne tells a story during a homily.

Senior Projects

Senior Projects are a popular experience which every RHS senior has participated in for the past 14 years. Seniors work in the community with those less fortunate than themselves.

Mr. Lynas, faculty member and project director, says that reactions have been good again this year. "Overall, the boys are very pleased because they experience first-hand what working with others is all about."

The seniors' reactions to the projects are often varied. On a whole, the seniors enjoy the three weeks and feel that the experience helps them become better people.

Senior Paul O'Renck said, "It was really hard leaving because the kids I worked with had so much trust in me. They learn to trust you, and then you have to leave. I wish the Projects could be longer."

Fr. Tom Cummings, RHS president, agreed. "The first question I get is if they can stay longer. The seniors develop self-esteem, and they value themselves. They learn the joy of giving themselves to someone else whom they don't know."

O'Renck worked at a home for neglected children with George Pazell and Shane Clayton. Their decision to work with children was an easy one. Clayton said, "Working with the kids wasn't actually work. I'm going to miss them and try to visit them once in a while."

As positive as the effects are for the seniors, the results are just as positive in the communities where the seniors work. Often, the kids love and idolize the RHS seniors. The seniors become strong hero figures for them, according to Fr. Cummings.

"The seniors are loved beyond reason by the people they work with. The seniors value them, and they are valued back. They are actually living for others, and that is our motto and our goal," Fr. Cummings stated.

"The kids look forward to the seniors each year because they remember the seniors from last year," said Mr. Lynas. "The seniors have a reputation from past years to live up to. For the seniors who really work at it, it's a wonderful thing."

*Building
The Spirit*

The spirit of Rockhurst shines through in many places. Many of those bright spots are the student organizations that provide an outlet for a wide variety of student interests and fulfill many special needs at the Rock.

SADD, Students against Drunk Driving, has brought to light a threatening community problem. The National Honor Society has sought to commend students on their academic achievement. From the kind of support provided by Natural Helpers to the services offered by Stuco, students of Rockhurst are building the spirit through organizations.

ORGANIZATIONS

Stuco Takes Charge

This year's RHS Student Council has been extremely active and invested in all spheres of life at Rockhurst. Striving to increase student, faculty, and administration and communication involvement, the council has attempted to be a visible, accessible, and participating force in this effort.

The council began work in early June, meeting and attending several workshops and conventions. Planning and consultation continued weekly throughout July and August.

The Magazine Sale, Sept., was the main fundraising project for Student Council. Over $23,000 of magazines were sold by the Student Council. Over $700 worth of merchandise used as prizes were donated by approximately 50 merchants.

The other major event of the first semester was the Canned Food Drive, November 17-21. The student body devoted their contribution from the previous year, aiding the St. James Emergency Food Center in their efforts to feed the hungry.

This year's Mission Week featured a Trivial Pursuit game, an obstacle course, the annual auction, and basketball games between faculty vs students and STA vs SION.

Prep News Hits the Issues

This year's Prep News continued in the tradition of a professional high-quality publication with ten issues, including two special state championship issues.

The staff pulled together "out of creative disarray" to write and edit stories concerning the RHS student body and to layout each page. The long hours paid off, however, as the staff was able to look with pride at each issue.

For the fourth consecutive year, the paper was awarded the highest rating by the Missouri Interscholastic Press Association.

The staff was supported by members of the Journalism I class, who served as reporters.

Your Eyes

I pick up your picture
And stare into your eyes.
How long has it been?
How many tears have I cried?

I needed you so much.
I longed for your love.
I longed for your touch.
I had no purpose.
In a life without you.
The winds of my life.
Sang songs of blue.

I set the picture down
And look at where our daughter lies.
I gently wake her up
And stare into your eyes.

Rock Collection, Rockhurst's creative arts publication, is in its seventh year of publication. Dedicated to James Andrews, co-founder of Universal Press Syndicate, Rock Collection nurtures young talent by providing all students with the opportunity to submit their creative efforts for possible publication.

This year, Rock Collection's theme is self-reflection. The diversity of the magazine stems from the wide sampling of student emotions which are revealed in the art, photography, prose, and poetry. Approximately 100 works were published. These represent a cross-section of the student body—from freshman to senior, from athlete to academician.

The staff, assisted by Mrs. Sandra Wilks, learned how much effort is required to compile a collection of this style. Assisted also by professionals from Universal Press Syndicate and Sharp Graphics, the staff selected the materials, did the lay-out, and did paste-up for the publication.

Self Portrait

I am caring.
 Unlike the world,
 I'm always by your side.
 I am strong,
 or so I say
 for inside, I am weak.
 I cry too.
 I know it all or so I think,
 but really, I am lost,
 confused beyond belief.
 I am alive,
 but I'm really dying.
 I say I'm me,
 but don't be fooled.
 I wear many masks.
 I may be you.

The expanding mind of youth
 Is a most exciting challenge.
 The path winds interminably,
 The future obscured,
 The past forgotten.
 Live for the instant, the emotion.
 Don't stop too long anywhere.
 "The only constant is change,"
 But don't run too fast
 Or the road will twist you
 Like its own design.

Speech and Debate

Speech and Debate activities at Rockhurst were primarily centered on individual speech and debate tournaments sanctioned by the Missouri State High School Activities Association. These tournaments were held on Fridays and Saturdays at high schools throughout the state of Missouri. Competition began in October and ended in March, with the M.S.H.S.A.A. District Tournament and the April State Tournament.

Students competed at invitational tournaments held at Blue Springs High School; Park Hill High School; Pattonville High School in St. Louis; Glendale H.S., Parkview H.S., Central H.S. in Springfield; Grandview H.S.; Hickman Mills H.S.; Fort Osage H.S.; Joplin H.S.; and Neosho H.S.

Some of the outstanding performances at tournaments this season included Doug Kramer's first place in Lincoln-Douglas Debate at the Central Tournament. Doug competed in five preliminary rounds of debate with a 4 wins and 1 loss record and advanced to quarterfinals, semi-finals and finals. In addition to the eight rounds of debate, Doug also competed in two preliminary rounds of oratory and made the semi-finals and finals in that event, finishing third.

Senior Jeff Beshoner did an outstanding job as president of the St. Thomas More Chapter of the National Forensic League (Rockhurst's NFL chapter), which hosted an invitational tournament in November. The tournament, in which our students do not compete, was held for students from 30 schools from Missouri and Kansas. It is to Jeff's credit that the 12 rounds of competition were fairly and efficiently run.

Service Is Key to NHS

By completing twenty service hours, writing an essay, and being in the top twenty percent of the Junior class, a select number of Rockhurst students were accepted into the National Honor Society.

Through various activities, tutoring, and mixers the NHS was able to do its part in supporting one of the big issues of the 86-87 school year: class unity. Over $1,500 dollars were raised at the NHS mixers this year. All profits were sent to the missions in Honduras. Through tutoring, the NHS was able to help many students "make the grade" and achieve a sense of accomplishment.

Thanks to the tremendous efforts of Mr. Tom Norman, supervisor of NHS, the organization had a great year.

Some of the projects that aided the community included Project Warmth and Christmas in October, both of which were aided by the NHS. Members of this organization combined team work, determination, and fun to help the school and community.

Students Against Driving Drunk

Over the past year, the members of SADD, under the direction of Mr. Tom Norman, have planned and carried out several activities aimed at accomplishing two goals. The first goal of this organization is to heighten Rockhurst's awareness of the dangers of driving drunk. Their other goal was to get those who do drive drunk to join SADD, since they are the ones who most need to realize the dangers of their actions.

SADD held two all-school assemblies, one in the fall and one during SADD Week, the week before Spring Break. Both assemblies included guest speakers.

Students are constantly reminded of the dangers of drunk driving by various posters displayed throughout the school, prayers at the end of the day, and flyers put on the windshields of cars on several occasions such as Homecoming.

Natural Helpers is a group of students who are there for people to talk to or just to be a friend. The organization was set up for students who feel more comfortable talking to someone their own age rather than an adult.

One of the main activities in which Natural Helpers are involved is the High Step program. Members of Natural Helpers went to local grade schools and talked to pupils about a few basic principles, such as treating one's body right, self-respect, and deciding what is best for one's future.

Also, Natural Helper members must attend an annual training session. During this session the students learn better ways of helping students "by putting themselves in that person's position."

Rock Music

This year, the Rockhurst Choir has had a busy schedule. They have increased the membership of the choir to 16 members, have chosen a uniform and have received a Yamaha keyboard from the Student Council. In addition to providing music for the All-School masses organized by the Pastoral Department, the Choir entertained at the President's Council Dinner as well as at the Mothers Christmas Tea.

Fellowship Of Christian Athletes

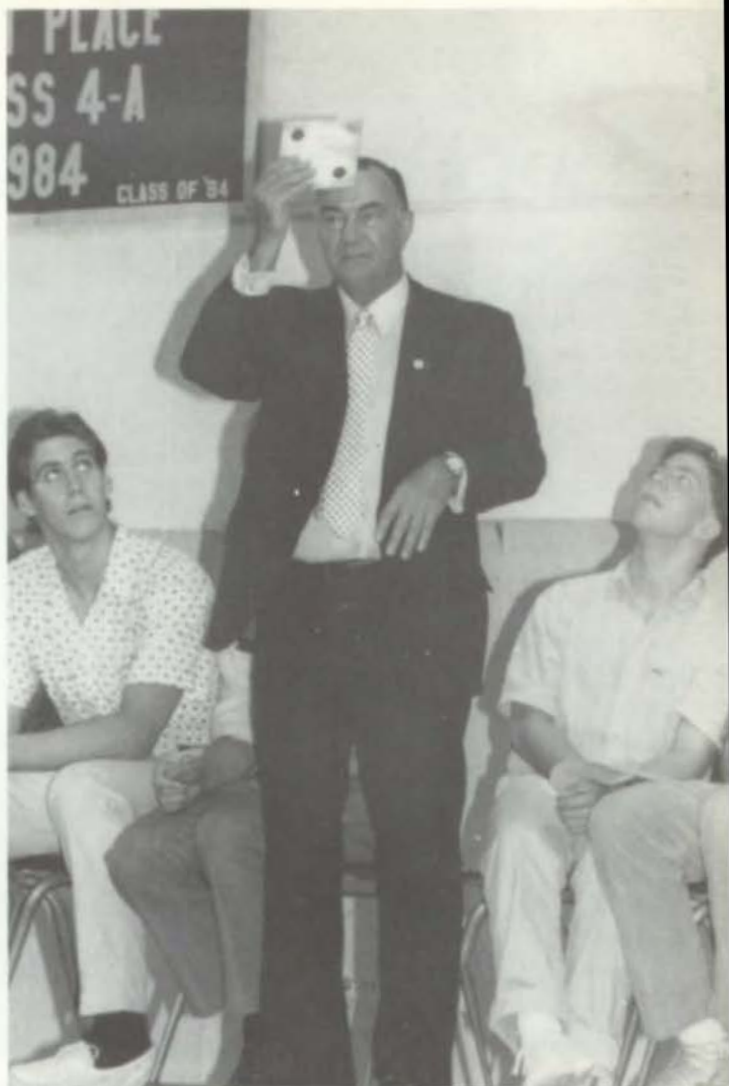

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes is a fairly new organization at Rockhurst, starting up full time just this year. The FCA usually meets once a week and often finds itself with guest speakers, most of those being sports figures.

Coach Berg, faculty sponsor, says that "FCA is for everyone but it's mainly centered around sports and, of course, Christianity in some way."

The members like to get together to play basketball or football together and have become a tightly-knit group.

FCA is a good way to share your Christian beliefs with others.

YELL LEADERS

Enthusiastic cheering from the crowd is one of the most exciting aspects of an athletic contest.

The Yell Leaders for football, soccer, and basketball served as a support group striving to improve student morale, boost team spirit, and develop loyalty toward the school and teams, regardless of the outcome of the contest.

The squad did not intend to develop their skills for entertainment or competitive purposes. Instead, positive crowd involvement, directed by the Yell Leaders, in support of the teams was their major goal.

The Yell Leaders for the 1986-'87 year were: Clint Bailey, Dan Flavin, Dan Baker, Ted Bubien, Dave Caccamo, John Cascone, Sean Kiekbusch, Mike Occhipinto, Steve Scanlon, Brian Schorgl, Joe Spencer, Chris Russell, and Joe Massman.

Creative Photography is an activity with a philosophy based on FUN! Of course, there is learning involved along with this fun, but still, the spirit of the group cannot be repressed.

A typical afternoon for Creative Photography would lead the group to a site which offers interesting photography possibilities. In this way, all may enjoy themselves, learn from each other, and get many wild and outlandish shots—a different focus on everyday life.

The Latin Club is relatively new at Rockhurst. It is only in its second year of existence, but already many activities and events have been initiated for Latin students.

To be a member of the Latin Club, a student must be currently enrolled in a Latin class or have completed two years of Latin. Moderator Mr. Jeffrey Storey started the club as a means of uniting the Latin students behind a common interest. Latin is a challenging course, and it is important to reward the hard work with interesting activities for the students.

Major events for the 1986-87 school year included the sale of Latin Club shirts, the search for the Golden Fleece, the Missouri Junior Classical League's scholastic competitions, and the now infamous Latin Banquet.

This year's officers were Shawn Hoyt and Martin Fanning, Consuls; Stewart Gillin, Tribune; John Cascone, Scribe; Jeff Beshoner, James Sembrot, John Davis, Skip Pribyl, Chris Ciarletta, Eric Klein, Dave DiBella, and Josh Selzer, Senators.

Students for Political Awareness

Founded only last year, SPA has become quite popular at Rockhurst because of a series of four programs featuring guest speakers on current issues in our world, such as apartheid in South Africa, the nuclear arms race, and the war in Central America.

The programs were set up to express student opinion and to motivate students to become politically active while hearing other sides of an issue.

Sponsored by Mr. Al Spungen, SPA also set up a Model United Nations this year, which will prepare the way for Rockhurst's participation in mock U.N. situations which are held around the region and the country.

CHESS ANYONE?

The Chess Club is probably the least known organization at Rockhurst. The club is made up of seven very dedicated members who could be considered serious chess players.

Throughout the year, the club has participated in four tournaments and has also walked away with a few trophies.

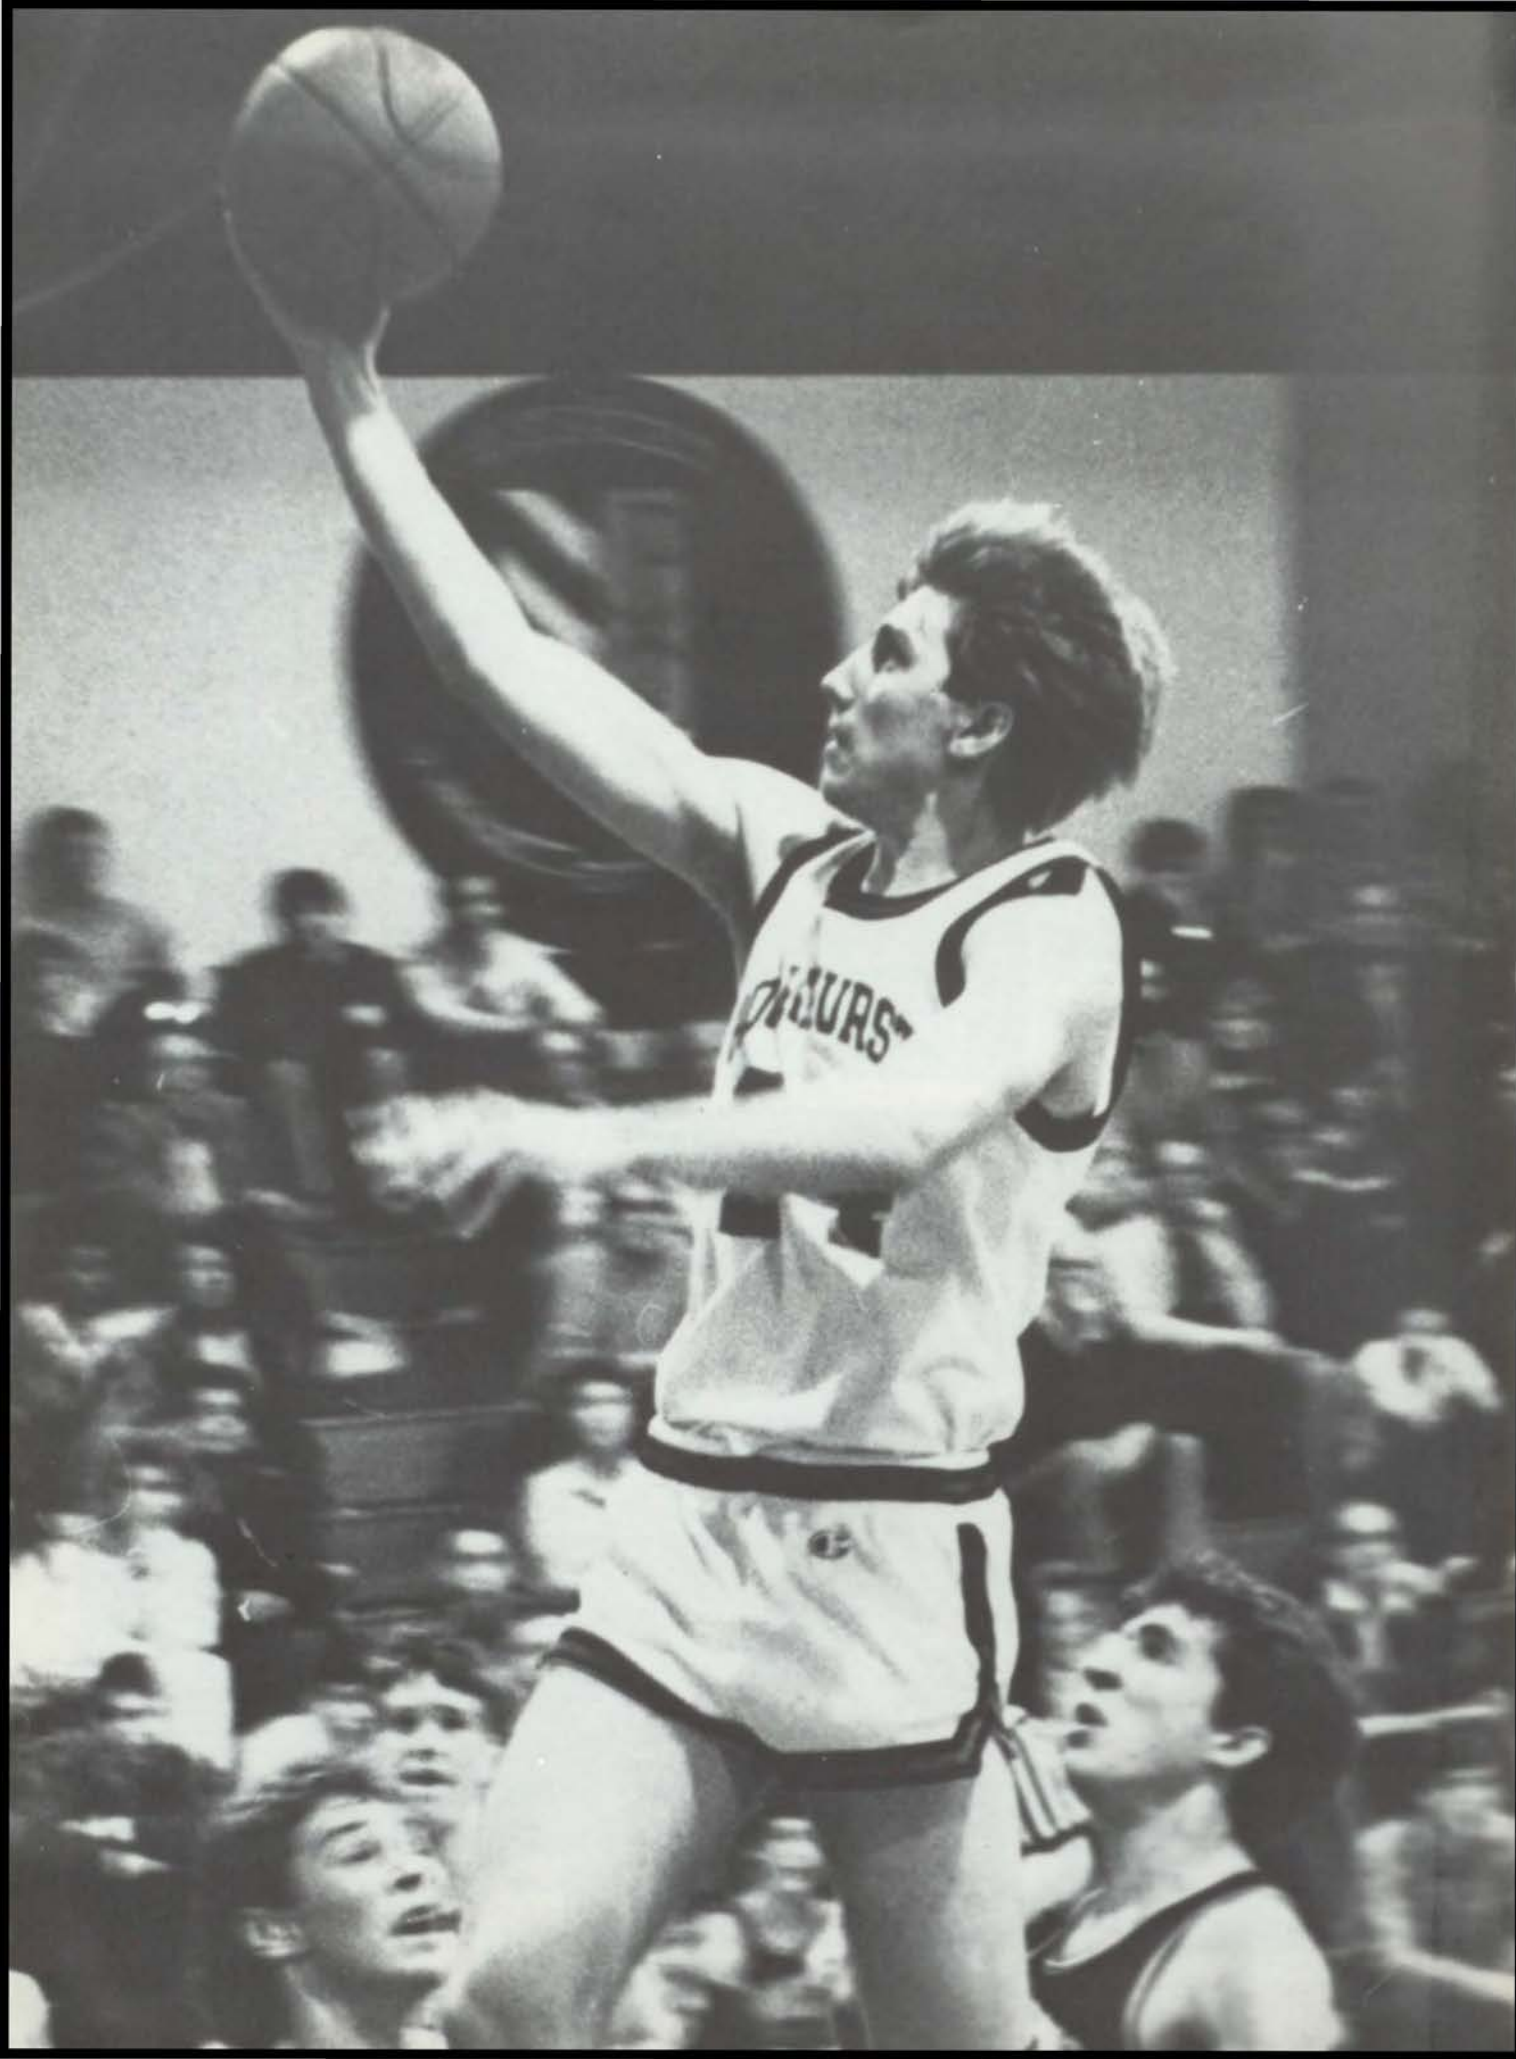

Piyush Sampat took third place at one of the tournaments.

The group, along with Mr. Lynas, their faculty sponsor, is looking forward to their big tournament of the year – the State Cup.

*Building
The Spirit*

The '86-'87 school year was a pinnacle for the Rockhurst athletic department. A great amount of strength and potential was shown in all sports programs. The Varsity soccer team had its best record in RHS history. In addition, grapplers had a promising season that displayed talent for next year's team.

This school year was not only a banner year but also a historical year. Never before had a Missouri high school won both the football and basketball championships in the same year. Rockhurst's victory was a triumph not only for the players and coaches but also for the students and fans who had rallied behind their team throughout the year.

SPORTS

STATE CHAMPS

Intimidation. Domination. Destruction. With these three goals in mind, the 1986 Rockhurst Hawklet football squad trampled it's opposition to capture the Missouri class 5A state championship.

After opening it's Tour De Force with the traditional pounding of Oak Park 35-7, the team travelled to Lee's Summit, where they hoped to achieve "payback number one". Payback was a term used to denote the team's goal of beating the teams that defeated them last year.

Victories over Wyandotte (28-7), and Wichita Kapaun Mt. Carmel (42-0), and payback number two over Blue Springs (28-0) set the stage for what many thought would be the biggest payback of them all, to be exacted upon SM West.

Before a packed house, the Hawklets completely shut down the Viking's offense and stomped all over their defense to take a 28-8 victory.

The next week's Homecoming game proved to be another exciting event for the RHS community as Rockhurst devastated Columbia Hickman (26-0) for payback number four.

The Hawklets closed out regular season play with a disappointing loss to Jefferson City 20-7. The Jays spoiled the Hawklet's hope for an unbeaten record. But Coach Severino stated that the number one goal for the Hawklets was not to go unbeaten. "Our number one goal was to make it into the playoffs."

The playoffs began at Arrowhead Stadium. Despite freezing temperatures, a large Rockhurst crowd turned out to watch the squad defeat Lee's Summit for the district championship.

Danny Baker's expression conveys the intimidating intensity of the entire team

The following Monday, Gardner and Rasheed combined for 288 yards and five touchdowns as Rockhurst annihilated Grandview in the second round of the playoffs 33-0.

Revenge was the predominant thought on the minds of the Hawklets as they prepared for the state semi-final game to be played vs. Jeff City at Dasta Stadium. The team was eager to settle the score after their defeat earlier in the season.

"I can't wait to play them again. They're in for a big surprise," said senior Steve Scanlon. The Hawklets defeated the Jays by the exact same score by which they themselves had been defeated earlier in the season, 20-7. The victory assured Rockhurst a berth in the state title game.

Unfortunately, a second half blow to Kenyon Rasheed's knee was later found to have done extensive ligament damage, ending the star fullback's season early. This meant that RHS would have to play the Show-Me Bowl without their powerful weapon.

At a pep rally on the Wednesday before the game, Coach Severino introduced senior placekicker Dan Baker adding, "Danny is going to kick one to win it for us this week." And win it he did.

With :02 left on the clock, Baker kicked a 39 yard field goal to lift the Hawklets to a 13-10 victory over Hazelwood Central and clinch the Missouri class 5A state title.

It was a victory that marked the third time Rockhurst had defeated Hazelwood Central in a state championship game and Severino's second championship title here at RHS.

It also marked the end of another triumphant season for Rockhurst football, where intimidation, domination, and destruction were the keys to victory.

JV HAS IMPRESSIVE SEASON

The JV football team capped off another successful season with a 4-1 record. Coached by Eric Berg and Steve Ryan, the JV were consistent and improved throughout the season.

Coach Berg commented, "Our win-loss record speaks for itself. Improvement was the key. Many of these players are going to be counted on next year on varsity."

The JV started out winning by a 39-6 margin over Oak Park. The Hawklets mixed a strong defense and a potent offense. Against Lee's Summit, the JV won the game on a last-second touchdown, 24-20.

In the next game, the squad defeated Wyandotte, 39-6. The only loss of the year proved to be a heartbreaker. They played SM West and lost 14-13 on a controversial touchdown. The JV then won, 39-0 against St. Joseph Central.

Robert Gamble, Jon Morgan, Tony Migliazzo, and David O'Keefe were all mentioned by the coaches as being the top offensive players. They all played well at the skilled positions and kept the consistency the team needed, according to Coach Berg.

Matt Nolen, Pat Lillis, Matt Ponzer, Mark Hutto, and Vic Girtman were all credited with keeping up the Rockhurst tradition of playing tough, hard-nosed defense.

Overall Coach Berg said, "These guys did a great job, not only on JV, but also when they practiced against the varsity to make them get better. That's how you really measure success."

SOPHS HAVE WINNING SEASON

The RHS Sophomore football team ended its season with a record of five wins and three losses.

Looking back on the season, Coach Bill Stierle said that the goals of the sophomore team were "to play to the best of their ability, to prove to themselves that they were good players and to have a winning season."

Stierle said, "the squad started out great, pounding Oak Park, Lee's Summit, and Southwest." The sophomore's fourth game vs. Blue Springs was rained out. The brake broke their momentum. The team lost their next three games to SM West, Olathe South, and Lawrence. However, the offense of this team is represented in the fact that they put up close to 200 points this year.

YOUNG HAWKLETS CONTINUE TO WIN

The Freshman A football team enjoyed a fine season this year, going 8-0. This year's team was led by a consistent defense, and gripping intensity according to coaches John Morris and Mark Bubalo.

The team faced a very tough schedule this year, playing all if the Shawnee Mission schools, Blue Springs, and Bishop Miege.

"I now feel like I'm ready for a higher level of competition," said tailback Charlie Lee. The freshman extended the streak of unbeaten frosh teams to four years.

The freshman B team ended its season with a 3-5 record, acquiring victories over Sumner (14-7), Blue Springs (32-6), and Oak Park (20-6)

Wyandotte beat the Hawklets 24-0, and so did Lee's Summit, 14-0. The game against St. Pius X ended in triple overtime and a 14-8 loss for the freshman.

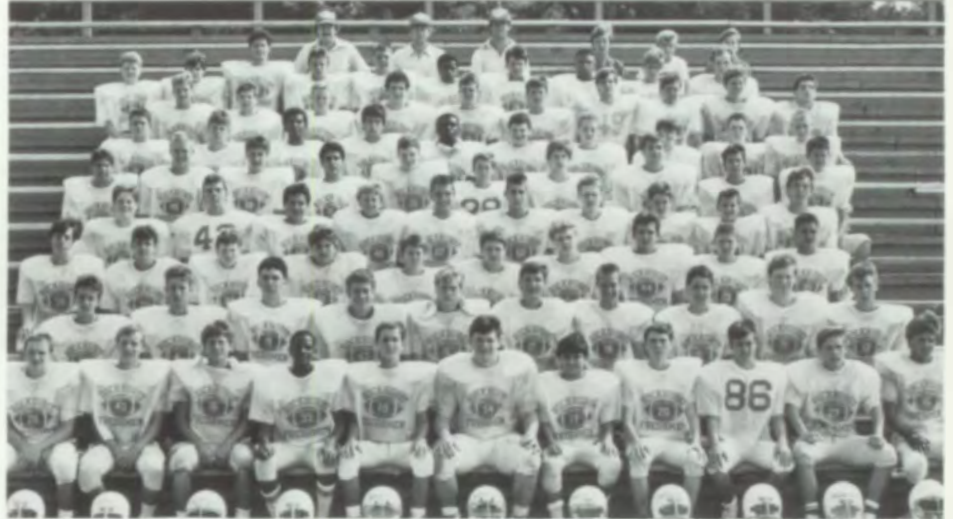

Coach O'Connor added, "The defense in particular got better and the offensive line made great strides."

Varsity Is Best Ever

The Rockhurst Varsity Soccer Squad started the year with a quest. The quest was to show that the past season was not a fluke and that they could win the state soccer championship. They started the year by winning five of their first six, and, according to Coach Ron Geldhof, it was a good sign.

"We felt that, if we could start strong and establish some momentum, it would help to carry us through some of our tougher games," Geldhof said.

The Hawklets, despite losing several key seniors, spent most of the season joining their football counterparts at the top of the Star/Times poll.

They went on a tear which included winning seven games in a row.

"We knew that, if we could just play like we wanted to, we could play with anyone in Kansas City," said senior fullback Pat Pehlan.

The Hawklets were led by co-captains Jeff Johnson, John Ammatelli and Phelan, who, along with seniors Frank Enright, Hans Weding, Dan Leiweke, Joe Massman, and Billy Ryan, provided leadership that was second to none.

"Our seniors pulled us through the times when we were struggling. When a younger guy needed help, all of them were there," said Geldhof.

The Hawklets were a team of youth this season. Mike Chonko, a first team all-Metro selection, along with Tom Knox and Keith Jarmusch added depth to the squad.

The season was marked with highs and firsts for the season. For the first time in Rockhurst history, the squad won the Sedalia Smith-Cotton tournament, which included both last year's state champions in the 3A and 4A brackets.

"That was definitely the highest point of the season. It gave us a real look at the type of teams we would have to face in the state tournament," stated Geldhof.

But the Hawklets had to get there first. With key wins over Center and Grandview, the Hawklets looked to Lee's Summit, a team they had beaten three times earlier during the season, but it was not to be. The Tigers fought back from a 2-0 deficit and won the game in the last two minutes.

"That was crushing. It was unbelievable that our season was over so soon, to a team we had beat three times before," said Billy Ryan.

But, regardless, the Hawklets posted the best record in RHS soccer history with an 18-3-1 record and their third consecutive championship.

JV: A THREAT FOR NEXT SEASON

The JV soccer team finished its season with an impressive record of 10-0-2. The team had key victories over Raytown South, William Chrisman, and SM South.

"I feel that the Ray South game was our best game as a team. We really came together and moved the ball extremely well," said Coach Mike Larson.

Another key game for the Hawklets, William Chrisman, was pivotal because freshman Coach David Alvey stepped in for Coach Larson and led the team to a victory.

"... being undefeated doesn't hurt."

In the SM South game, Rockhurst was behind and then tied the score 1-1 at halftime. The Hawklets scored two more goals, making the final 3-2.

"This game showed that we could come from behind," said Coach Larson.

Coach Larson cited four sophomores for having outstanding seasons: forward Frank Pileggi, halfback Chuck Reid, fullback Jay Hegwer, and Goalie Chris Dmico.

"The season was a positive step towards the future, and being undefeated doesn't hurt," said Reid.

FROSH EXCEL

The Rockhurst freshman soccer team finished another winning season with a 5-2-1 record.

Coach Dave Alvey said, "This year's talent was almost as good as the undefeated freshman team of last year. The difference is that this year's team wasn't as experienced as last year's team."

The players came from many different teams, so they had to get used to playing with each other.

The freshman team opened the season with a win over Shawnee Mission South but then tied Miego. In their third game they beat Northwest, but then had two consecutive disappointing losses to East and Olathe North. They then beat West and avenged their loss to East with a 3-1 victory. They closed the season off on a positive note with a win over Shawnee Mission North.

PUMPIN' IRON

Strength: one key in an athlete's performance and success. How does an athlete harness such important power? Weight Lifting.

A great amount of Rockhurst students heed the call of the clanging, black metal disks and welcome the burning heat produced by men pushing their bodies to the limit; developing strength, endurance, and agility in the Rock's famous weight room.

For the past four years, Coach Tony Severino has been modifying and adding to the well-equipped power generator of Rockhurst athletics. A majority of all Rockhurst sports teams incorporate weight lifting into their daily practice. During their off-season, they participate in Coach Severino's intense weight lifting program.

At present, the Rockhurst weight room consists of three squat racks, four bench stations, three incline benches, a hip sled, literally more than a ton of free weights, and the list goes on. Rockhurst's weight room is a priceless asset to the Hawklet's sports program and will continue to build up her men.

Running like the Wind

Behind the leadership of Senior Stewart Gillin, Varsity Cross Country team finished the season with an impressive record.

The harriers began the season on the right foot with a third place finish in the Olathe Invitational. Although the squad was unable to place better than twelfth in either of their next two races, the Liberty and KU invitionals, Gillin remained consistent, placing second in both meets.

However, the runners began to peak towards the end of the season, placing third at Grandview and eighth at Ruskin.

The high point of their season came with the Hawklets first place victory at the Ward Invitational. Sean Hoyt, Drew Rimmer, and Gillin all placed in the top twenty.

With the district competition being the next event on the Hawklet's schedule, Coach Buddy Worth was more than pleased with his team's efforts. "They're finally running together as a team and I think that's the only way we can be successful. It was pretty encouraging for this late in the season," Worth said.

Although the seventh place finish at districts was just shy of the top five finish necessary to advance the team to sectionals, the squads star runner (Gillin) finished second and then advanced to the state competition with a second place finish at sectionals.

Gillin did not run as well as he expected and finished the season with a somewhat disappointing 21st place finish at the Missouri State Championships in Jefferson City. However, Gillin did receive consolation, being named First Team All Metro.

"It was a year of learning ... we had to rely on each other."

Desperate harriers fail to keep pace with Gillin.

Rock Makes History: Two State Titles

The 1986-87 Rockhurst Varsity basketball team finished its season 29-2, won two of the three tournaments that it entered, and brought home the Missouri 4-A state title, something that RHS had not done since 1932.

The cager's championship season gave RHS a sweep of both major state crowns, football and basketball, a feat that has never been done before in the history of 4-A and 5-A athletics in the state of Missouri.

The only losses for this year's squad came at the hands of Lincoln East (Neb.) and metropolitan foe Paseo. Both of these games were lost on the road; the Hawklets were perfect at home.

The team was led to the state tourney this year by two of the best players in the area, all-state guard Matt Muehlebach and DiRenna award (K.C. area's best player) winner John Cooper. Cooper was also an all-metro, all-district, and all-state selection.

Cooper led the team in scoring with a 20.5 game average and had 10.1 rebounds a game. Muehlebach paced the Hawklets with 187 assists in 31 games and averaged 15.6 points.

According to junior guard Joe DiGirolamo, the seniors not only performed on the court, but off it as well.

"All the seniors showed some type of leadership in different ways; they really helped us out a lot. We will miss their leadership," he said.

The state tournament began for the team by beating Southwest, 94-71, in the opening district game. In the district championship, Rockhurst handed Southeast a 90-72 loss.

The team then traveled to Municipal Auditorium to meet the Lee's Summit Tigers; the Hawklets squeaked by the Tigers, 53-50. The quarter-finals pitted RHS against Winnetonka. The two teams met in 1986 in the quarterfinals with the same result, a Hawklet victory.

So, the stage was set, the Hawklets, as planned would be returning to Columbia, not as an underdog, but as one of the serious contenders for the state crown.

RHS was to be put to the test early when they faced the team who was thought to be the best in the tourney, St. Louis Beaumont. The squad passed their first test with flying colors as Muehlebach poured in 23 points and set a stat record by handing out 10 assists. RHS rode a 28-point fourth quarter to an 82-57 win.

The state championship game had the Hawklets facing an underdog Springfield Kickapoo team. The Hawklets survived some early trouble and along with poise and Cooper's state 4-A record 28 points, the Rockhurst team snatched up first place in double overtime, 63-58.

The success of this year's team is due in large part to the coaching of Doug Bruce who, deservedly, was

Other key members of the squad included guards David Staker and Mickey McHale, forwards Mike Chonko, Tim Ryan, and Brian Gamble, and 6-8 center Chris Heller.

The team's 29-2 record is the best winning percentage and most wins in RHS history.

JV: Determination

The Rockhurst Junior Varsity basketball team proved to be a squad filled with confidence in their own ability, despite their 8-10 record.

The team consisted of freshman Mike McGlinn, sophomores David O'Keefe, Chris Holmes, Robert Gamble, Mike Zak, and juniors Chris Purcell, Scott Mason and Byron Clark.

"The biggest games we played this year would have to include the hard-fought comeback loss to Ruskin in the championship game of our tournament, a game in which we trailed by two points with 18 seconds left and ended up dropping a 55-48 decision to the Eagles," commented Coach Mark Bubalo.

He said that the best game, however, would have to be the 52-39 victory over the Bulldogs of Wyandotte. "In that game, everything seemed to come together for us. We played to the best of our ability defensively. At that point in the season we were improving rapidly," said Bubalo.

The team ended the season on a winning note against a tough squad from Columbia Hickman. After a 45-34 deficit at halftime, the Hawklets rallied and took the game away from the Kewpies, 74-68.

"For a team that shot barely over 40 percent from the field, they never stopped working, trying to continually better themselves," said Bubalo. "We accomplished our main goal of getting people ready to play Varsity ball next year."

The team was led in scoring by Robert Gamble with 10.7 points per game, and Chris Purcell, with 8.2; the boards were controlled by juniors Scott Mason, 7.1, and Byron Clark, 4.4.

Sophomores Show Promise

The sophomore basketball team used a fast-break style to run up a 15-3 record. The Hawklets, coached by Bill Munninghoff, averaged over 70 points a game, while allowing only 50. Their only losses came to S.M. West, twice by 2, and to S.M. East by 8.

The starting squad consisted of guard Matt Ecton, guard Chris Powell, center Pete Campbell, forward Matt Disney, and forward Andy Lewellen. As a team, these five meshed well, often leaving the game before the fourth quarter when they had large leads. Near the end of the season, these five were moved up to the J.V. squad.

Out of those 15 wins came a first place finish in the Raytown South tournament and a second place finish in the S.M. tourney.

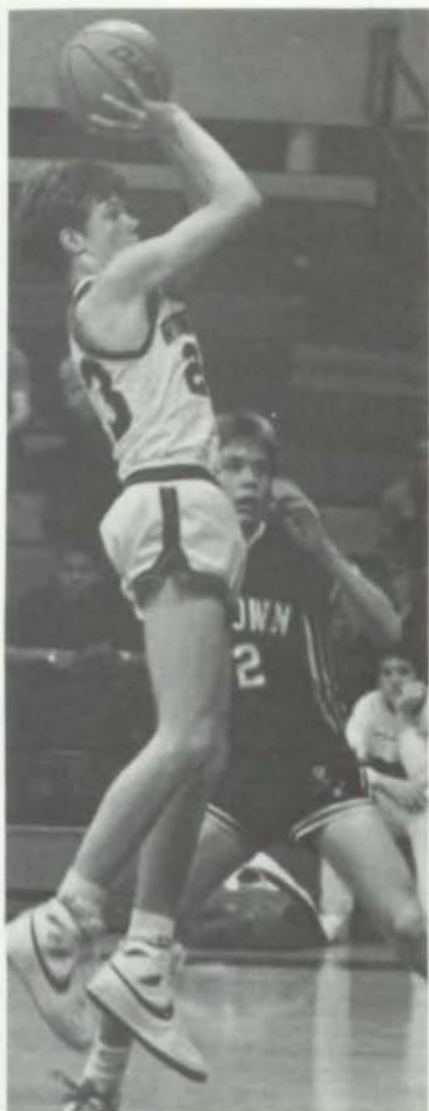

"Once this team got some confidence, they were one of the best sophomore teams around," said Munninghoff. That seemed to be one of the coach's toughest jobs, convincing the team that they were good enough to play with anyone. Once they realized they could win, they ran off a string of 6 consecutive victories at the end of the season. Those wins included a romp of S.M. West, the team who had beaten them earlier in the year. But their most satisfying win came against Schlagle. The opposition had been undefeated at the sophomore level for the past five years. "It was a game we were fired up for because no one thought we could win," Campbell said. They ended up beating the Schlagle team by 15.

Freshmen Impressive

The freshman A and B basketball teams ended 1987 with good records while showing promise for the future. The A squad, coached by Frank Griffin, was 13-5; the B, under Jim Bascom, was an impressive 12-1.

The A team got off to a fine start with victories over Raytown and S.M. West. The first loss of the year came at the hands of William Chrisman, 38-35. Then the team got rolling, winning nine out of its next ten, the only loss during that stretch coming to Raytown South.

The squad finished out the year with some disappointing losses, but managed a fine record, according to their coaches.

The B team was undefeated until its last game of the season, when it lost a heartbreaker to S.M. East, 41-39. However, the loss did not dampen the achievements of the rest of the year. The team collected victories over rivals S.M. West, Blue Springs, and Raytown South.

GRAPPLERS TAKE CHARGE

It was a successful season for the varsity wrestlers as they finished the year with a dual meet record of 6-4. The team also finished 3rd at the Truman Tournament, 5th at the NKC Tournament, and 2nd at the Grandview Tournament.

"Those tournament finishes were all a big step up from the last year," said head wrestling Coach Rich Wikiera. "It was a big improvement."

Wikiera continued, "I was very happy with the team's performance. Before I got started I was shooting for .500, so I was pleased."

"The most positive thing was that the guys were constantly improving."

Rockhurst was well represented when it came time for districts. Six wrestlers qualified for the district tour-namment. Sophomores Chris Chaney and Scott Johnson, juniors Paul Sheedy and Shawn Schmelzle, and seniors David Ferro and Mark Hickey all qualified for sectionals. Six qualifiers is double what RHS had last year.

Hickey and Schmelzle were the only two to make it to the state tournament. Hickey finished 3rd in the 185 pound weight class at state, which is the highest anyone from RHS has ever placed. However, Schmelzle did not place in the heavyweight division.

"As far as next year, I'm very optimistic," Wikiera stated. "There's a great attitude among all the wrestlers."

"We have a lot of young talent. It's going to be tough next year because we will be young all the way across."

JV Looks to Future

The junior varsity wrestling squad finished off the season with a 3-5-1 dual record. The grapplers ended the regular season with an impressive victory over Raytown at home.

"This was an important win for us," said Coach Dennis O'Connor. "It ended our season on a positive note after a poor showing with Grandview."

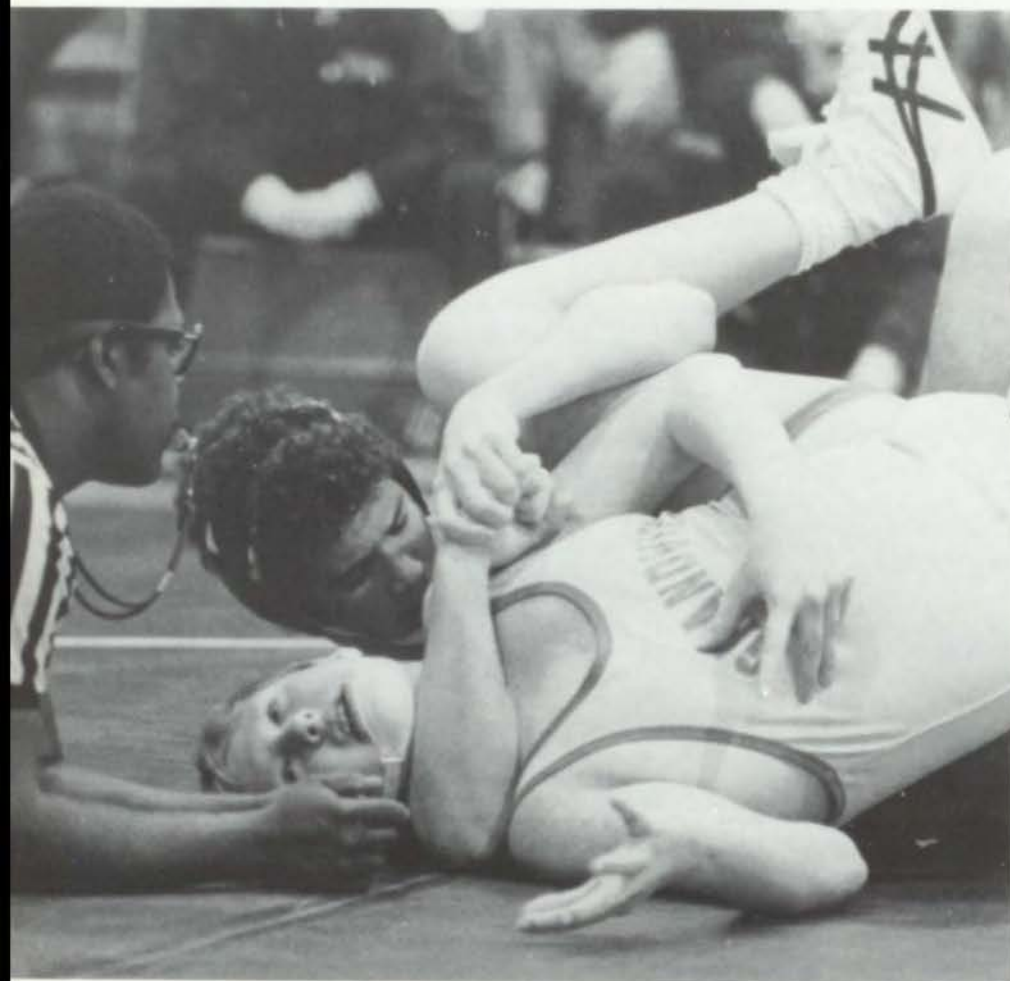

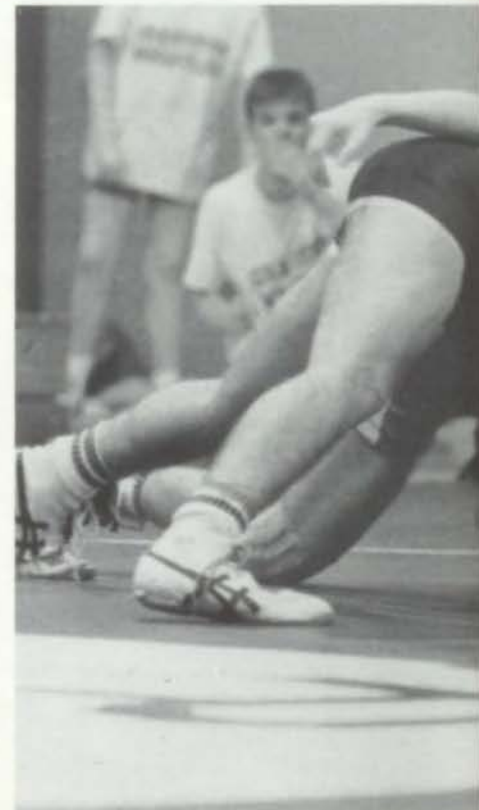

Coach O'Connor cited four sophomores for having outstanding seasons: Carlo Gimmarro, Jason Simon, Brett Clapper, and Jim Cahill.

Clapper said, "The season was good for the simple reason that everyone on the squad supported each other."

Coach O'Connor said there are many freshmen who will be moving up to JV and varsity next year.

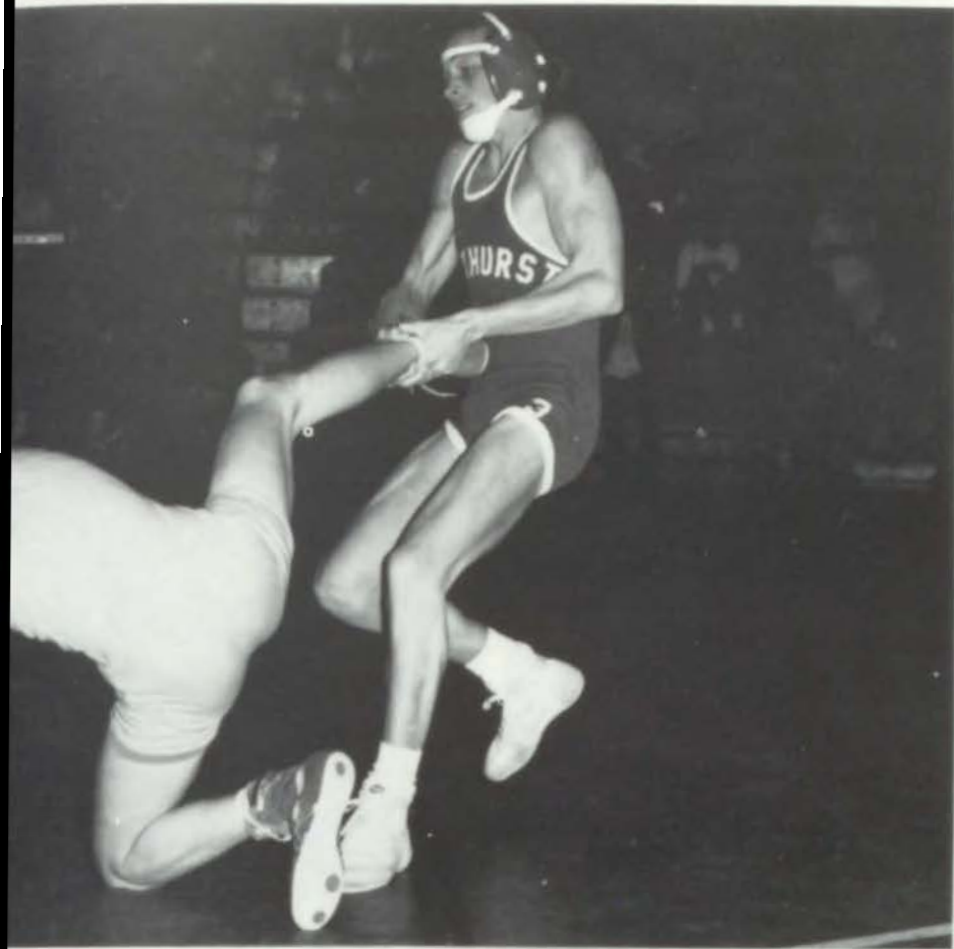

"We had a lot of strong freshman wrestlers this year who will be an important asset for the junior varsity and varsity squads of future years."

Led by new coach Tim Lillis, the freshman wrestling team had an excellent season, finishing 10-3, often facing JV opponents.

"The Miede dual was a high point in the season; we had seven pins and won by 40," said Lillis of the team's 58-18 victory. In the season finale, the team massacred Raytown, winning 15 of 16 matches with 14 pins, including 13 in a row.

TRACKMEN LEAD THE WAY

The Hawklet 1987 Track team fared well this season showing off strong individual performances. The squad was led by seniors Tim Ryan, Chris Russell, and Stewart Gillin.

The RHS 400m relay team broke the school record three times this year. Juniors Pat Murphy, Pat Ryan, Robbie Haake, and freshman Tim Mozee broke the record with times of 3:32, 3:30, and then 3:28.

Murphy also set a new school record in the open 400 with a time of 50.77 at Lee's Summit.

The weightmen had an impressive showing throughout the season. At the KU invitational, where only the top athletes in the midwest compete, Ryan took sixth in the shot. Russell later won the shot at the Blue Springs Relays and third in the discus.

The men who made it to state were Tim Ryan who placed 2nd in the shot put with a throw of 61'8.5", Chris Russell who placed 5th in the shot and 14th in the discus, and Stewart Gillin who placed 8th in the 3200m run with a time of 9:38.32.

YOUNG SQUAD BUILDS LEADERSHIP FOR NEXT SEASON

The 1987 Rockhurst tennis team has been up and down this season. This could be attributed to their lack of experience and few upperclassmen. Out of the top five players, there are two juniors, two sophomores and a freshman.

Coach Ron Geldhof said, "Our team is very, very young and we are growing in experience. I have been very pleased with the performance this year." For example, the tennis squad won 5-4 in what Coach Geldhof called an extremely tough match against Truman. "Truman had not yet lost a match. They are one of the stronger teams in the area. To have beaten them was a major accomplishment."

"We're young and inexperienced but we have really good depth and not just one outstanding player."

Junior Rich Miller is the leader of this seasons team and placed 8th at state in singles. Freshman Hoyt Ogilvie also competed in singles and was Miller's doubles partner.

GOLFERS AGAIN GO TO STATE

After a 12th place finish in last year's state tournament, the Rockhurst golf team hoped that 1987 would be another state tournament season. Continuing the RHS tradition of winning, the golfers improved their state showing by placing 8th at state.

"You can win all your matches and tournaments, but if you don't place in the top two in the districts and go to state, then all your other accomplishments throughout the season do not matter," said senior Mike Gleeson.

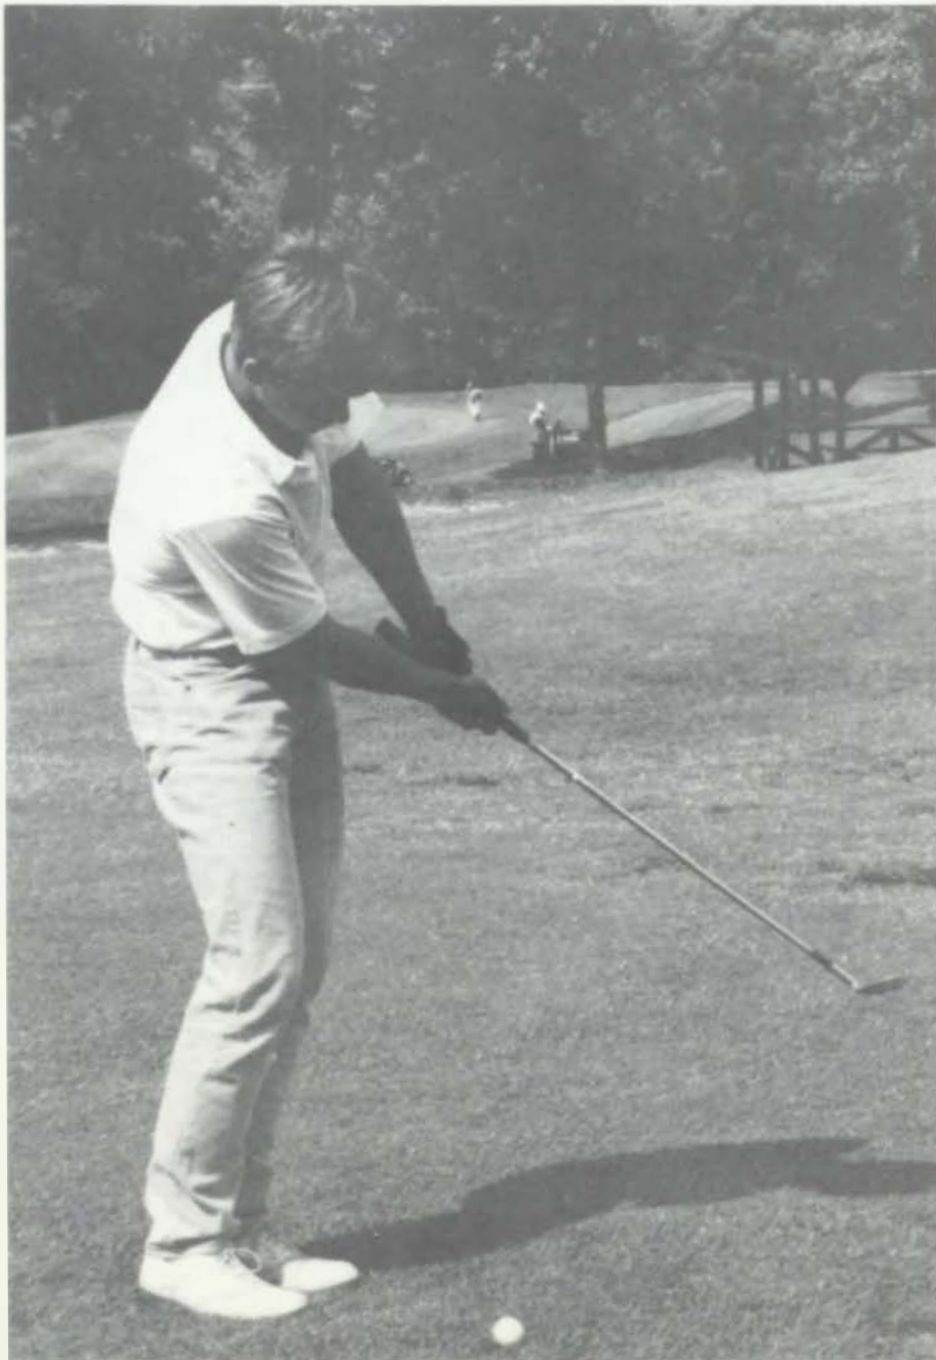

The Hawklets were led by three seniors including Brian Schorgl, Tom Bukaty, and Gleeson. The rest of the varsity squad was made up of sophomore Jay Rick, and juniors Chris Reifel, and Pat Clarke.

The team placed third in the SM Northwest tournament, third in the William Jewel tourney, fourth and fifth in the Excelsior Springs tournament, first place in the Heart of America tournament, and second in the Jeff City tournament.

The Rock Rolls On . . .

*Building
The Spirit*

In any community, there is a special closeness between all of its members. While individuals have their own unique ideas and insights, the community as a whole remains unbroken by the difference in opinions.

During the '86-'87 school year, the RHS community had many questions and problems to face. Students often did not agree with school policy or philosophy. However, the school as a whole worked together to come up with viable solutions that were fair for all. The RHS community provided a rock upon which all students could build their hopes and aspirations.

He did it. The new kid on the block has won over the hearts of the Rockhurst community with his dynamic personality, strength of character, and ability to get things done. Fr. Thomas Cummings, S.J., who was welcomed first as a scholastic in the Sixties and later as a priest in the Seventies, has become a driving force in Rockhurst today.

Fr. Cummings had three goals in mind for this year. The first and most important was the development of more teacher and student space with a more trusting and leisurely atmosphere. This has already been accomplished through the many improvements to Rockhurst's campus, such as the renovation of the quadrangle patio area and the installation of benches around the school.

Second, Fr. Cummings wished to create a more direct collaboration among all teachers and staff members in sharing the Jesuits' dream, vision, and challenge, so that "teaching is no longer a job; it's a career. And it's not just a career; it's a calling."

Finally, Fr. Cummings wanted to focus faith and friendship in more explicit terms, primarily through a greater investment of self in the Rockhurst challenge. Accordingly, he has noticed much better student-teacher relationships and a far greater student participation in Cache, Sale-O-Rama, and other events.

Fr. Cummings feels that we are creating "a community of great memories."

SOCIAL STUDIES

According to Mr. Ruby, the word to bear in mind when thinking about the social studies department this year is "active." Through an improved SPA the students are showing an active involvement in issues, both political and school-related. Also this year, by popular demand, Mr. Bullard and Mr. Goben led a second European vacation. The trip included such educational stops as East Germany, Munich, East Berlin, Lucerne, and various battle sights.

This year the library will add two main items to its shelves. The first is a much-needed '87 edition of the World Book Encyclopedia. The second, made possible through a donation, is the Dictionary of American History in eight volumes, which is a major acquisition and should prove valuable to the students for years to come.

Also, this year the S.E.N.S.A. program was incorporated. Two teachers, Mr. Goben and Mr. Ramsey, have already started using S.E.N.S.A. techniques to improve the study and library skills of their students.

Our librarian, Mr. William Deacon, organizes books for the RHS community.

BUSINESS

Murrell Worth
Dan Daly, S.J.

The overall purpose of the business department is to acclimate and inform the students about the business field and to acquaint them with its fundamentals. New this year is the computer room, in which word processing, spreadsheet analysis, and data processing are taught. Planned for next year are accounting and computer application courses, which will teach students basic computer skills other than programming.

Coach Murrell Worth straightens out students' grades for his word processing class.

THEOLOGY

Mr. Tom Norman, moderator of NHS and SADD, prepares notes for class.

Mr. Norman's goals for the theology department are to "try to help students become more aware of God in their lives" through the "Roman Catholic tradition, which is an attempt to understand and imitate God's activity through Jesus," and "to invite a response to become aware of God in their lives and to share in God's activity/Kingdom now."

The entire department is working hard to implement the latest theories and methods in religious education as taught by Dr. Thomas H. Groom in a seminar last June.

FINE ARTS

William Stierle
Fr. Jim White, S.J.

Thanks to the administrative commitment to develop the Fine Arts program, Rockhurst now has two new classes.

Dynamics of Acting is taught by Mr. Bill Stierle. In this single semester class, students learn the fundamentals and techniques of voice control, pantomime, character development, and both method and technical acting.

Every semester, two or three guest speakers, such as voice coaches, directors, and professional actors, visit and talk to the students about their particular specialty.

Also, Fr. Jim White, who teaches the pottery courses, has started a new drawing course. This class teaches students how to draw models with accuracy, to represent still life with clean lines, accuracy, quality three-dimensionality, tone and smoothness, and to understand the drawings of the old masters and their techniques.

Coach Bill Stierle "psyches up" for class.

Major changes in the mathematics department came in December, when Apple computers were replaced by ten Kaypro IBM-compatible machines along with printers. Funding for these machines was made possible by a donation from Dr. and Mrs. Fred G. DeFeo in honor of Dr. DeFeo's father, Fred V. DeFeo, who died this past August. Dr. DeFeo is a 1964 graduate of R.H.S., and his wife is chairman of the mathematics and computer science department here at the high school.

Fr. Mark McKenzie, S.J., explains trigonometric properties to his students.

SCIENCE

"One of the best biology courses in the city," that's what Mr. Ryan, head of the Science department, says when asked about the sophomore A.P. Biology course. That's not all he's been up to: Mr. Ryan is also in the process of updating the equipment in both the physics and chemistry labs in an attempt to modernize the teaching methods.

Also new this year is a noticeable increase in the number of participants in the Science Knowledge Bowl, which is a statewide competition between schools. This year, our four teams of five students placed in the top third of the state. Mr. Ryan believes that the addition of Mr. O'Connor, a graduate from Columbia University, was a definite improvement and said, "He's really done a good job in bringing in new ideas."

Coach Stephen Ryan explains to John Bird how to make test tube-tadpoles.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Translating New Possibilities

Besides creating a bilingual Rockhurst, the foreign language department strives "to make students aware of different cultures and lifestyles and to better understand our own through this," while also providing "the ability to better communicate in a vastly changing world," according to Mr. Staihr, department chairman.

This year welcomes two new teachers to the department. According to Mr. Staihr, the French-teaching Mr. Lamprich and the Spanish-teaching Mrs. Shultz both bring many varied experiences to enhance the learning atmosphere of the classroom and are definitely "assets to the department."

Mr. Ed Lamprich, freshman and sophomore French teacher, composes a test.

ENGLISH

Mr. Thomas Warrington, freshman and junior English teacher, passes out rubrics.

Mr. Donald Ramsey, freshman, junior, and senior speech and debate teacher, energetically conducts class.

According to Mrs. Wilks, English department head, the goals of the department are as diverse as the subject matter. Basically those goals include enabling students to grow in their writing skills and to recognize and appreciate their literary heritage. Many RHS students submit their literary efforts to the school's Rock Collection, an annual literary magazine. Other students submit their work to local and national writing contests. Recipients of awards this year include two seniors. Shawn Dickey received national recognition this fall when it was announced that he had been selected as one of five hundred students nationwide to receive a National Council of Teachers of English Achievement in Writing Award. Also, Scott Tibbets was recognized by the Kansas City Optimist Club for an essay on freedom.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Although no changes have occurred this year, the physical education department still rates high with Rockhurst students with its richly varied courses, teaching both team and lifetime sports, gymnastics, and health and fitness. Coach Severino's objectives for the department are to provide the students with a working knowledge of the basic skills of the activities offered and to increase the students' physical fitness.

Staff

In the shadow of such large projects as the reroofing of the school, the new quadrangle/patio area, and the new counseling center, many projects such as the painting of the cafeteria and the gym lobby, the new ceiling in the cafeteria hall, and the new corkboards to display artwork done in the drawing class, have gone unnoticed. The Quarry thanks the support staff for their hard work and dedication without which this institution could not exist.

THE CLASS OF '90

Mike Rader reveals his skill in pottery.

While Freshmen classes didn't officially begin until late in August, some of the Freshmen became well acquainted through the Senior Brother program held before the start of school. Every Senior was assigned to a group of Freshmen to help prepare them for Life at the Rock and make the transition to high school easier. Soon enough, the Class of '90 was at Rockhurst studying harder than ever. We also enjoyed success on the playing field, having successful seasons in soccer, football, and cross country. Meanwhile, the students got to know each other and some girls as well at social events like the Blue and White Mixer. Next came the Freshmen retreat where we discussed our feelings with our Senior Brothers, were given the "Challenge of the Rock" and overall had a really good time. After the first month of school, we found ourselves growing into a class with a sense of pride, loyalty and camaraderie. Throughout the year, we displayed our loyalty to the Rockhurst motto "Men for Others" by giving to the missions regularly and representing the class well during Mission Week. By the end of the year, we the Class of '90 finally realized that we truly were a part of the Rock.

The Class of '89

The class of '89 returned to Rockhurst this fall full of renewed energy and enthusiasm. With a year of experience behind us, we set aside our doubts and fears and replaced them with confidence and faith. Through classes and extracurriculars, each of our lives has been enriched, but we also grew as a class. Through Sophomore Rec nights, class Masses, and Days of Recollection, we became one and grew as one. As this sense of unity has grown, so has the awareness of the importance of our experience together at RHS. The bonds that we now feel as a class are the result of the quality of the religious life in our school community and the spiritual growth that has been fostered in us.

Standing now at the midpoint of our Rockhurst life, with two years gone and two years remaining, we look at the past with pride and see goals met and rewards given. We feel ready to accept the challenges leading to the pinnacle of our academic, athletic, and spiritual capabilities. To arrive at that point, we look to one another for guidance and help which is readily given. Our class has grown into a close group of individuals with special talents and abilities where support and good will are given out in unlimited supply.

After a year of learning the ideals and traditions of Rockhurst, we entered this year knowing what was expected of us and ready to become an important part of the Rockhurst life and tradition. In the coming year, we will extend our leadership as upperclassmen and exert a greater influence on the life of our school. We look forward to the challenges of the Rock.

THE ROCK OF '87

There is one thing that every graduating class of Rockhurst High School has tried to do. They had to prove themselves to be different, unique, and individual.

They know that they are trying to follow a great tradition. Accepting the thought that four years of their lives went unnoticed, dwarfed by their school's accomplishments, is unsettling to everyone.

But the fact remains that they went to Rockhurst. Everything they did enhanced the school; everything they do furthers the Rockhurst tradition. But, years from their final day of classes, years after they walk across a stage to receive their diplomas, they will remember three main things: the friends that were made will never be forgotten, Rockhurst will be of special meaning, and the year they graduated. When you meet an old alumnus, he will identify himself, not just with his name, but with his graduating class. That one mention of that one year fills an alumnus with pride because every class is different.

If there is one thing that can be said about the Class of 1987, it is that we were unique. We will be remembered. No one can ever take away the fact that we are the Class of 1987. We're not the best, or the worst, and we're certainly not a normal class, but we are the Class of 1987. We earned it.

Freshman year we numbered around 217 and were known as the worst class Rockhurst High School had ever seen. Every classical prank and practical joke that existed, we played. Every opportunity to cause trouble, we jumped at, and, if there wasn't an obvious way to be a nusance, we would break the rules anyway.

There were the pizzas delivered to theology class, the paper wads in English, and, of course, the backwards-worn jock straps in gym. We were out to screw each other to the wall if we could. To each his own.

The only thing that could be said about us was that we were all in the ninth grade. We certainly weren't one unified class. To most of us, in 1983 and '84, Rockhurst was only a glorified private school. People seemed to have trouble understanding the difference between Rockhurst and the other high schools around the area. Most didn't really care. They just wanted to party. That was, at least, the only attitude that came through freshman year.

These attitudes did begin to change during sophomore year, however. Students began to drop like flies. The number of students in the class was quickly dwindling, and those remaining began to look like a hand-selected few.

The class was still fairly large in size, but new ideas and leaders began to appear out of the ranks. Rockhurst began to mean more than just a school. To many it was now a tradition. The school began to gain importance, and people started to get involved.

Not all of us understood or liked what the Jesuits were trying to teach us, but, slowly and surely, things began to sink into us. For the first time, we as individuals could picture ourselves as a group, as one class.

We suffered through sophomore biology. We all sat down in the stadium field to show our love of Coach King. And we all dreamed of that upper locker that would be ours next year.

It was junior year that we transformed ourselves from a disorganized mob into the Class of 1987.

Our junior retreats taught us to give others a chance—to respect their feelings, their ideas, and their individuality. It was then that we began to grow closer as a class. We didn't always like one another, but a respect was gained. With that respect for each other, a common love of Rockhurst, and the new life given to the class by the state basketball drive—we were ready for our senior year.

Our hopes and dreams for the future were clear, our goals were set, we got our day off for dominating in the spirit contest, and we came together for the year that we would lead the school.

Senior year, 1987. This is for us. We now number a mere 143. They gave Rockhurst a chance and stuck with it. Those who are left, those who have traveled the entire, sometimes turbulent, four-year trek faithful to Rockhurst will be remembered by Rockhurst. We outlived handfuls of faculty members, dozens of fellow classmates, and our own immaturity here at Rockhurst and are only the better for it. We are not now a group of loners but, rather, one lone class. We are the Class of 1987.

Whether you were a fan or not, we were ourselves. We did what we thought was right while still trying to uphold the Rockhurst traditions. The Class of 1987 will live forever in the annals of Rockhurst.

Whatever the challenge, whatever the test, whenever you are striving to give it your best!! Remember that it's not how deep ya fish, it's how ya wiggle your worm!! — Pat Phelan

As the Dalai Lama himself, once told me, "If you ever get wrapped up in life's trials, sit back with an Old Mill and say Gunga Galunga." — Paul O'Renick

Just when you think you know all the answers, they charge all the questions. — John Cruciani

Never be afraid to be yourself and never change yourself for the convenience of others. — John Childers

The Buckmobile never dies. — Tom Bukaty

Far better it is to dare mighty things, to win glorious triumphs, even though checkered with those poor spirits who neither enjoy much nor suffer much, because they live in the grey twilight that knows not victory nor defeat. — Terry Sexton

I am a Bud Man — Fred Drelling

Papers should always be due two days late. — Byron Harper

Why am I so silky smooth? — Merle Garder

"Two roads diverged in a yellow wood and I took the one less traveled by, and that has made all the difference." — Thanks Atom and Dad. — John Cascone

It grew too dark, too clear, too bright. I dilated, constricted, and narrowed my vision. Often it engulfed me, others, I it. We struggled in the end it proved eternal — Inextinguishable. — Shawn Dickey

It just won't fly. (See Mission Week '87) — James Vaughn

Risk nothing, Gain nothing. — McNamara

"Changes aren't permanent, but change is." — Mike Brune

"Today I am moving clouds, tomorrow I will try mountains." — Kelly Bowring

Doug Coe, Merle Gardner, Brian Gamble, John Cooper, and dates enjoy a tasty dinner served at Prom.

Dave Caccamo and date share a close moment.

Senior Prom

Prom was our last time to laugh and dance as a class in our high school careers. On May 8, 1987 in the Grand Ballroom of the Adam's Mark Hotel we gathered for an enjoyable evening of fun and friends.

The evening consisted of dinner and dancing, with music provided by "Broken English." It was indeed a memorable night for all who attended.

The Mother's Club provided the After Prom Party at King Louie West, which included a night of bowling, ice skating, billiards, and video games.

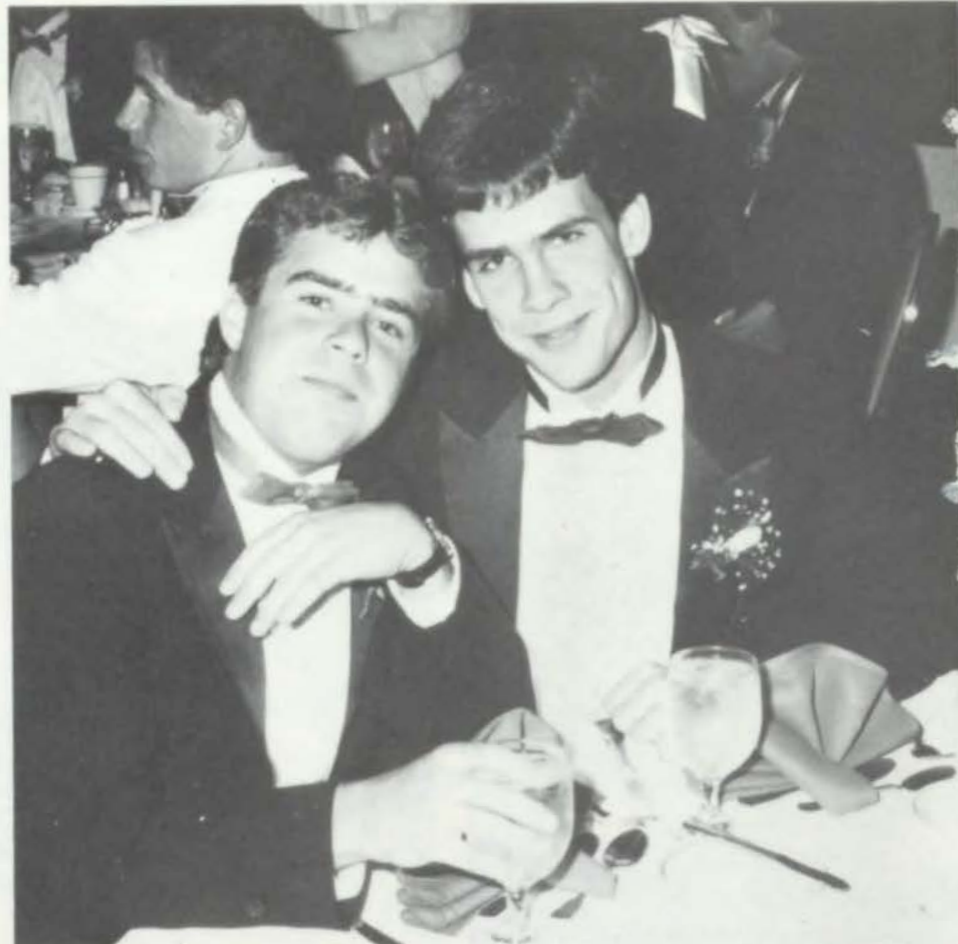

Craig Smith, alias Big Guy, receives a little TLC.

Andy's intensity is obvious as he dances.

Paul O'Renck and date relax after a fulfilling Prom dinner.

Mickey Ramsey and date relax after a few frames of bowling.

Joe Massman and Mark Shugart model as the ideal couple.

Andy Holmes tells how many times he has fallen down.

Jimmy Holmes ties his date's shoes with grace and finesse.

Graduation

Four years of Jesuit education culminated Wednesday, May 20 as the Class of 1987 was graduated at the Music Hall. Allan Didier served as the master of ceremonies and introduced such guests as Fr. Thomas Cummings, S.J., who began the ceremony with a few brief remarks to the graduates; Fr. Mike Rice served as the Bishop's representative; Fr. Joseph Snyder, S.J. presented the academic awards. Mike McNamara was the student speaker and spoke of our past and our future as the Class of 1987.

Fr. Joseph Snyder, principal of RHS, reviews the accomplishments of the Class of '87.

Mike McNamara entertains the audience with tales of Wally and the Beaver.

A jolly Jeff Beshoner accepts the congratulations of Fr. Cummings.

The Class of '87 enthusiastically applauds the efforts of all its members.

Jeff Freling explodes upon receiving his diploma.

Mickey McHale shines in his final moment of glory.

Awards Night

On May 6, Awards Night was held at the Rockhurst gym to honor all those students who have achieved excellence either in their academic studies or in the extracurriculars which they participated in throughout the year. All students that were honored should be commended for their efforts.

QUARRY: Capturing the Spirit

The '86-'87 Quarry comes to you only after a year-long effort by a hardworking and conscientious staff. This year's staff of over twenty members worked diligently throughout the year in an effort to capture the people and events that made this school year so truly remarkable.

This year's staff, under the direction of Mr. Tom Warrington and Mrs. Carol Jacobson, had a successful year by meeting all of its deadlines and adding new and creative elements that greatly enhanced the quality of the '87 Quarry. Without the combined efforts of an excellent photography staff, a keen group of writers, and a resourceful handful of editors, the Quarry yearbook would be no more than two hundred and eight pages bound together. Instead, the Quarry serves as a reminder of everything that Rockhurst has meant to those who were a part of it.

Korey Kruse and Jason Starke share ideas for class layouts.
