RUSKIN HIGH
HICKMAN MILLS
MISSOURI

Each of us has spent many hours within the halls of Ruskin this year. We have laughed, talked, and learned together. The varied aspects of this, our school, have become part of each one of us and even though this year will never be relived, the fond memories we have made will never be forgotten...

A Dedicated Instructor Retires

One of the most dedicated teachers to have passed through these halls is Mrs. Lois Moore. For eleven years she has contributed much to Ruskin. She is an educator who has shown her students the way, both by example and instruction. Mrs. Moore has been a friend to many, especially the Mirage Staff which she sponsored for eight years.

Her determined spirit has been a real inspiration to many students. For this and much more we respectfully dedicate this book to Mrs. Moore.

In her many years behind this desk Mrs. Moore has encouraged and inspired many people.

Cheerful smiles from Mrs. Moore have always brightened the halls of Ruskin.

Clever bulletin boards created by Mrs. Moore add variety to the classroom.

A hardworking teacher may leave the school at the end of the day, but her thoughts are filled with the school and its students.

Ruskin

Virginia Ann Hannaford

Sponsored by the American Field Service program, Virginia Ann Hannaford arrived in America on July 27. Hailing from the suburbs of Sydney, Australia, Virginia left, at home, her parents and one brother, Christopher, who is twenty-three years old. During her stay at Ruskin she is living with Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Timmons and their daughter, Sandy.

Life as a Ruskinite is a busy one for Virginia. She finds herself involved as an active part of the Student Council, Pep Club, the Hi-Light staff, the Little Theatre series, choir, and the First Annual Powder Puff Football game.

Virginia believes that "To know in what field you can succeed you must attempt everything." This is apparent in her activities.

An interested student of sociology, Virginia hopes to resume studies in Australia, major in applied psychology, and become an industrial or clinical psychologist.

Virginia states she was overwhelmed by the friendliness of American people, but claims, too, that American food is more fattening than her normal diet.

Entertaining her new friends, Virginia is the star of her welcoming party.

THE EAGLES

ADMINISTRATION

The organization and operation of a school system entails a great deal of work, a far greater amount than most people realize. The decisions and policies issued by the administrators of our school and district have a profound effect on our lives. The organization of our school system influences the education we receive, the organizations we belong to, the activities we attend and what we do during the four important years of high school. Ruskin's excellent staff of administrators has contributed much to the community by supervising and assuring the youth of a well-rounded education.

Board of Education, Front Row: Tom Foraker, George Williams, A. McElroy, Wendell Johaningsmeir, Joe Nesbit, Fred Smith, Milton Duncan, Wesley Taylor.

Administration Co-ordinates

Seven years as superintendent mark Mr. Foraker's career with Consolidated District No. 1.

A school cannot be successful without leaders who have the knowledge and patience to guide it properly. Our school district has just the men for these positions and they are courageously fulfilling the leadership needs of our district. Without the diligence of Mr. Foraker, Mr. Nesbit, and the Board of Education, Ruskin would not be the successful school it is today.

Mr. Nesbit, assistant superintendent for six years, has helped Mr. Foraker maintain schools of which we are all proud.

Enthusiasm, resourcefulness and dependability are qualities very much characteristic of the man who, for ten years, has been head administrator of Ruskin. He has set a fine example as a responsible community member and an outstanding advisor. He has dedicated himself to furthering the educational quality of our school and expanding and improving the curriculum.

In recognition of his devotion to Ruskin, the student body proclaimed October 6, 1965 Blaine Steck day. The feeling of admiration and respect felt by the student body can be summed up in the words of a faculty member, "We thank you for being the kind of guy you are."

MR. DOUGLAS M. LAWRENCE
Vice-Principal

In the darkening hours of the late afternoon, Mr. Lawrence is often found still hard at work.

Dynamic leadership by head administrators, although a key to a successful education system, can be ineffective if it is not backed up by equally dynamic assistant co-workers. Mr. Lawrence has been such a co-worker. His capability to perform the necessary functions of the position of Vice-Principal inspires all those who work with him and seek his advice. His understanding, patience, and willingness to help the individual student are qualities admired and appreciated by the student body.

Vital Duties

Overseeing the management of Ruskin High School are the special service directors, the office secretaries, the school nurse, and the librarians.

The special service directors keep Ruskin functioning in the orderly fashion to which we have become accustomed. This year a new position was created to handle relations between the home and the school. In this new position as home-school co-ordinator, Mr. Adcox helps improve these relations.

Circulating throughout the office are grade cards, absentee excuses, permanent records, and the daily morning announcements. They would not find their proper destination without the supervision of Mrs. Gfeller, Mrs. Daugherty, and Mrs. Gowler, our efficient office secretaries.

Miss Ann Abarr, the Ruskin librarian, with the help of two library clerks, Mrs. Lonnie Miller and Mrs. Corrine Miller, keep the library in good working order and help students obtain needed information.

Keeping the office functioning efficiently are our school secretaries Mrs. Gfeller, Mrs. Daugherty, and Mrs. Gowler.

The wide variety of responsibilities make a secretary's work seem never-ending.

Counselors

Guiding students toward their future goals is the difficult task of the Ruskin counselors. The future of Ruskin's students is uppermost in every counselor's mind.

A new system adopted by Mr. Johnston, Mr. Amick, and Mr. Hoskins assigns each student to a counselor according to alphabet rather than class. These counselors aid students in choosing the courses which will be most beneficial in the years after graduation from high school.

The college counselor, Mrs. Langford, gives students vital information on everything pertaining to college, from scholarships to student housing.

Giving a wide variety of achievement tests and interpreting their scores is another important part of each counselor's job.

In addition to school guidance, students take their personal problems to their counselor for help in finding a solution.

Without the help of the counseling staff the adjustment to the outside world would be far more difficult.

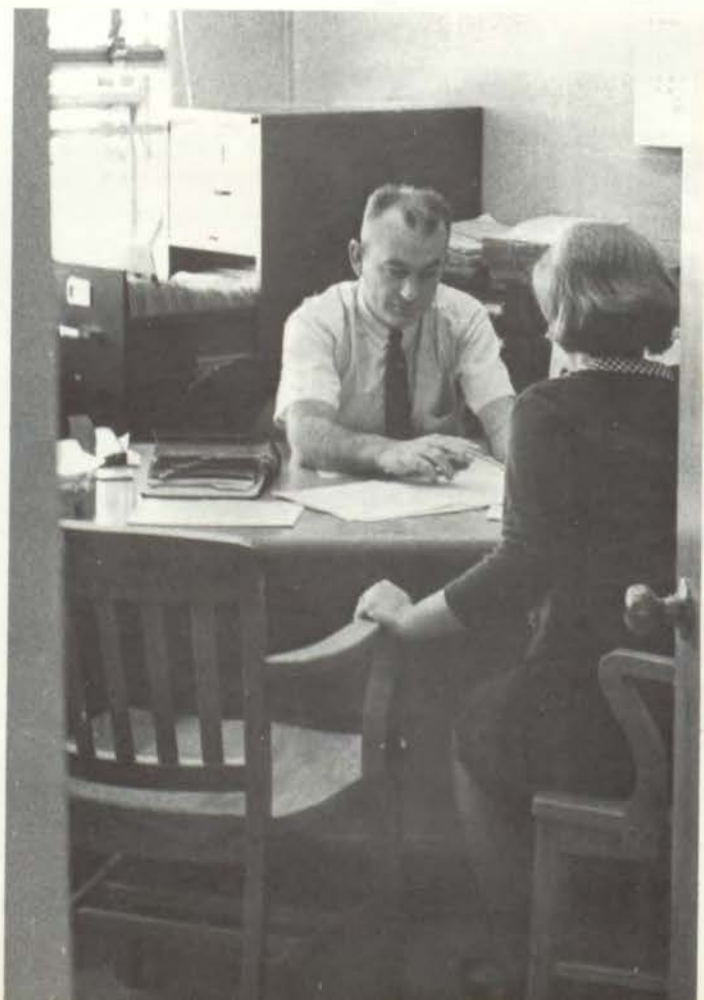

Mr. Hoskins keeps an excited junior on the edge of her chair.

Mrs. Margorie Langford, Mr. Ed Johnston, Mr. John Amick, and Mr. Charles Hoskins form the Ruskin counselor staff.

Mr. Amick spends many hours going over class schedules.

Guide Students Toward Future Goals

Mrs. Marjorie Langford, Ruskin's college counselor, was named "Women of the Year" by the local Gemini IV Chapter of the American Business Women's Association. She attended the national convention in San Francisco where she competed with five hundred women from across the nation. She was honored as one of the top ten "Women of the Year" by the ABWA.

Since 1943, Mrs. Langford has held the positions of elementary school teacher, secondary school teacher, school librarian, and presently, college counselor. Dedicated to the field of education, Mrs. Langford visits many college campuses throughout the United States so that she may better inform students of college opportunities. Because of her insight and background she has gained the respect of students, teachers, parents, administrators, and citizens of the community.

Mr. Johnston checks graduation requirements for Seniors.

Consulting her busy calender, Mrs. Langford plans for future activities.

Counselor helpers, Jeanette Lecuru and Sue Brown keep student files in order.

SCHOOL LIFE

A tear, a smile, a sign, laughter, contentment, joy . . . school life contains this, and more. The education during high school years shapes our minds and directs our lives. Our learning extends beyond algebra, history, and books. We experience all the emotions and anxieties of adult life: for as we learn, we grow. We enter these halls uncertain of the future. We pass through and develop our ideals as we form the pattern of our lives. We leave as young adults, firm in our convictions and with a goal in mind for the future. We feel, we learn, we live . . . this is Ruskin as we see it — as we pass through these halls.

Student Council Strives

Gene Martin and Paul Russell post the main events of the week on Ruskin's new marquee.

Ruskin's Student Council strived to generate interest in school activities this year. The Council was divided into various committees, each with specific duties. After each meeting, council representatives visited classrooms to bring the student body a first hand report on the programs and activities.

The Council's schedule of activities began with our annual magazine sale which was received with enthusiasm. Equally well received, was the Automobile Safety Check, which gave our school prestige in both the community and the state. Other activities included the sponsoring of the Snow Ball Dance, as well as several informal dances, the United Campaign Drive, and the selling of Bells for Peace.

Working for greater co-operation and interest through an improved program, Ruskin's student government reached out to the student body and received enthusiastic support during a successful year.

The newly elected Student Council members wait with solemn faces to take their oaths before the student body at the annual formal initiation. The members of the Ruskin student government await this occasion with anticipation of the work that lies ahead.

Snow Ball Dance Sets

Two hundred and fifty students attended the annual Snow Ball Dance, sponsored by the Student Council. The color theme was green and silver. The theme was carried out with silver snowmen placed on each table. The refreshment table was attractively prepared with a large candelabra. David Vanzant and his orchestra provided the entertainment for this yearly event.

Since their decision last year to allow lettermen from all sports to join their organization, the membership of the R-Club has increased rapidly. This year, R-Club members include 42 lettermen from various sports such as football, basketball, track, tennis, golf, and wrestling.

Throughout the year, the R-Club sponsors several events including an annual lettermen's dinner and an informal dance following a basketball game. For the first time this year, the club plans to have a car wash at which they will initiate new pledges as well as raise money for their treasury. Also, the club will sponsor a concession stand at cross-country meets and basketball games.

Through participation in these various service activities, the R-Club members display their outstanding school spirit and help to uphold many Ruskin traditions.

Mr. Cochrane, R-Club sponsor, outlines future plans to interested members and officers.

Medics Of Tomorrow Learn By Doing

Ruskin's Medical Careers Club concentrated on the study of mental health this year, with field trips to Nevada state Mental Hospital and the Research Hospital psychiatric center.

Phil Brinkman, from the Kansas City Council on Alcoholism came and discussed the causes and cures of Alcoholism with the R.M.C.C.

Officers were installed during a candlelight ceremony, with Mrs. Wright, sponsor, presiding.

During December, future medics made cookies and candy for their annual bake sale. Proceeds were used to buy food and gifts for the family adopted during the Christmas season.

The combined activities created a very busy and interesting year for all of Ruskin's future medics.

Honorees Reap Rewards

Membership in the Ruskin Chapter of the National Honor Society is one of the highest honors that can be earned during the high school years. National Honor Society membership is a recognition of citizenship, scholarship, leadership, and high personal standards.

To become a member a student must earn a straight S average in all academic subjects. All students who are eligible and apply for membership are screened by the entire faculty. February 17, the new members were inducted into this distinctive society.

SPONSORS

This year, as in years past, membership in Quill and Scroll, International Honorary Society for High School Journalists, was awarded to many of the members of Ruskin's two publications staffs. The number of Hi-Light and Mirage awardees reached a peak of twenty-nine. Members of Quill and Scroll are selected on the basis of scholarship, recommendation, and outstanding creative efforts concerned with high school publications.

Charles Berglund and Hal Fields get ideas for pages from a photographer's book.

Linda Archer, Joe Iser, Connie Perrin, and Hazel Rector work diligently cropping pictures.

Linda Mason, Diane Peterson, Larry Jacobson, and Cheryl Duple find group discussions beneficial when sharing ideas.

Barbara Morcha and Gail Eisenberger draw illustrations of possible page plans.

To Daily Schedule

Susan Henry, Margaret Klee, and Debbie Boden work on senior pictures.

A new publications class, which meets opposite physical education, was formed at Ruskin this year. In producing the 1966 Mirage, the use of color was repeated and a larger sized book was produced. This new class has functioned under the guidance of Mrs. Skinner and will be repeated next year with some improvements.

Madeline Wright, Barbara Oliver, and Andrea Fulmer get ideas by looking through other year-books.

Ray Braswell and Paul Damon type rapidly.

Cindy Freeman, Sharon Griffith, Barry Klee and Danny Goodman work on class pictures.

Sandy Johnson works on name list for group shots.

Beth Froelich and Andrea Fulmer plan their Mirage pages.

Citizenship

Again this year the Mirage staff honors twelve of Ruskin's outstanding seniors. Chosen by a faculty committee these seniors were selected on the basis of personality, attitude, and their efforts to make Ruskin a better school. These seniors have displayed through their four years of high school a co-operative manner, positive attitude and a healthy school spirit. Their efforts have rewarded them with a place in Ruskin's Who's Who for the 1965-66 school year.

Having selected these twelve people, the committee chose a girl and a boy to represent specific categories. Those selected for Scholarship were chosen completely on their scholastic standing.

Ruskin's Who's Who

The category of Leadership included those qualities inherent in students who were able to accept responsibility and give of their time to Ruskin's organizations. Selection in the field of Citizenship was based on the qualities which classify a person as the ideal school citizen. Sportsmanship was interpreted to mean a courteous and enthusiastic manner displayed in both winning and losing. Consideration, respect for others, co-operation, and pleasant manners were considered in choosing a boy and girl for the category of courtesy. Those selected for Versatility were selected on their ability to adapt to situations and the quality of an ideal, all around personality.

Mr. Wrisinger sponsors the Hi-Light for his eighth year, giving students able assistance.

Many hours were spent outside of school in preparing the paper. Pictures were taken, interviews were made, copy was written, checked, and many times rewritten. In addition, there were casual make-up sessions at various individual homes in order to complete the Hi-Light. Each member contributed until a full paper was molded. Once the paper was distributed, students began planning for the next three-week deadline.

R.G.A.A. Is Sportsmanship In Action

The Ruskin Girl's Athletic Association, sponsored by Mrs. Mary Tipton and Mrs. Mary Wiley, is the only all-girls organization devoted strictly to athletics. The R.G.A.A. helps promote sportsmanship through practice.

For the first time the R.G.A.A. helped sponsor the first annual powderpuff football game. As well as holding sports days the G.A.A. sponsor's a senior party, Christmas Party and Sweetheart Dance to which members only may attend.

The G.A.A. holds tournaments in volleyball, softball, basketball, badminton, tennis, and track. For the members that attend all games and meetings and serve the club in other ways are awarded a 50 or 100 point pin.

This year there were 160 new members initiated. The initiation helps teach them sportsmanship. In R.G.A.A. girls not only enjoy participation in sports but also gain a life-long asset — sportsmanship.

Science Club Attracts Top Science Students

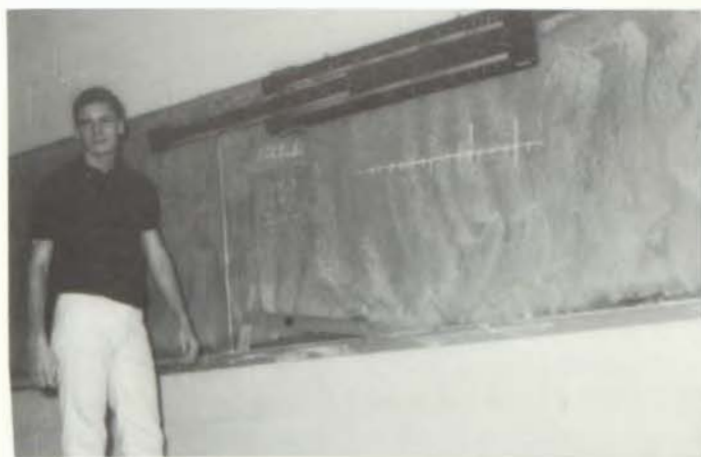

Although somewhat smaller this year, the Science Club continued to be one of Ruskin's most active clubs. Meetings were held monthly instead of bi-monthly as in the past so that more interesting programs could be arranged. One of the outstanding programs was given by a representative from the UMKC School of Pharmacy. Others consisted of films, lectures given by members of the club, a session in the laboratory, and most important, participation in the Science Fair. Of special interest was a field trip taken to Research Hospital.

Math Club Starts Second Year

Ruskin's newest club, the Math Club, proves especially interesting to any student with a liking for some field of math. Attracting some of the school's top math students, the Club offered to its members an opportunity to be exposed to many interesting topics not discussed in the classroom. Meetings were held twice monthly, often consisting of members giving programs on subjects particularly interesting to themselves, films concerning mathematics, or lectures given by speakers from outside the school. One of the highlights of the club's activities was a conference for area math clubs at Rockhurst High School in January. Another was the club's own math fair. This exhibition was held the last week of January and enabled the participants to have their projects judged by the members and sponsors of the club, thus improvements could be made before entering the district science fair in March. The club was sponsored by two advisors, Mr. Winfiel and Mr. Lawson.

Assemblies Tell The Story

Mr. Steck examines new desk given to him in a special assembly.

There were a variety of assemblies presented at Ruskin during the 1965-66 school year. For the first time a special assembly was held in honor of Blaine E. Steck, our principal. In addition to this special assembly, there were holiday and pep assemblies. In the Thanksgiving assembly, directed by Mr. White and Mrs. MacDonald, Speech I students gained experience by participating in a presentation of the first Thanksgiving feast.

At Christmas we were invaded by double-O Santa and his helpers, and were shown, through a series of tableaus, what Christmas means to us today and what it meant in the past. This assembly, as well as others were directed by Miss Jean Scott, who was assisted by the dramatic students.

Pep assemblies demonstrated the "Ruskin Spirit" and proved how loud 1600 students can sound under one roof.

Ushers Devote Time For Service

The Usher's Society, sponsored by the Thespians, has earned appreciation during the 1965-66 school year. The members are on call seven days a week because they must usher at all formal school activities. These activities included ushering at all school productions, the band and choir concerts, and graduation and baccalaureate exercises. This group provided the school with courteous and efficient services.

The Ruskin Rhetoricians or Debate Team, has fulfilled its purpose by debating in many tournaments. They participated in a total of twenty tournaments and numerous practice tournaments. They won first place in the Marshall and Raytown Tournaments. Those on the Debate Team this year earned year debate pins and plaques. A lecturer from the Federal Mediation Conciliation Service came to speak to the club in January. He spoke on mediation of labor-management disputes. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. McDonald, this club has been a very active one.

Means Of Expression

Many phases of the world of theatre were explored by the Thespian Society this year. Activities they sponsored included a Roman Feast, candy sales, the annual rummage sale, and Drama Night when they presented the Greek tragedy, Antigone. Last year club members presented a bookshelf and wardrobe closet to the Speech Arts Department. This welcome addition to the department is housed in room 207.

Under the sponsorship of Miss Jean Scott, this organization has continued to expand and improve. The efforts of the members of the Drama Club have brought theatre to the school and community.

During open house, the radio-T.V. class conducted interviews with parents at a Radio Booth which they constructed.

Little Theatre

One of the major projects sponsored by the Drama Club this year was the Little Theatre series. Presented in the evenings, with three plays a night, the Series offered greater opportunities to beginning actors and persons in the school and community interested in Drama. A total of twenty-one plays were presented, a considerable increase over last year. This well-supported project offered good experience to all participants.

Ruskin's population of black-haired people increased in large numbers during the month of November. This increase was due to the 1965-66 all school musical "The King and I" which was produced on the 19th and 20th. The production, a result of many weeks of preparation, was under the supervision of three directors: Miss Jean Scott, technical director; Mr. Fred Tarry, vocal director; and Mr. Robert M. Scott, instrumental director. The efforts of over 150 people went into the production, including work by members of the cast, and also by the crew and members of the various committees.

The show suffered a few mishaps. On Friday night, the voice of Linda Mathews was dubbed in for Barbara, who suffered laryngitis. On the second night of performance, Miss Scott was seriously injured in a backstage accident. Displaying their dedication, the cast went on and was rewarded with a standing ovation for a job well done.

Despite an attack of laryngitis, Barbara Stone, the leading lady, pulled through with a fine performance Saturday evening after having a voice dub-in by Linda Mathew on Friday.

F.T.A. Inspires Careers In Education

The purpose of the Future Teachers' Association is to interest students in the teaching profession, and to explore the field of education.

To achieve this goal, members were introduced to the responsibilities of teaching by grading papers, typing tests, guiding at school functions, and taking class rolls.

The F.T.A. carried out many other projects this year. As a Christmas project the club bought gifts for the Old Folks Home in Grandview. As a money making project, stationary imprinted with the school emblem was sold. Programs presented for the club included a discussion of the teaching profession by Mrs. Langford, and a talk by a representative of the Highlawn Montessori School of Mission, Kansas.

During the teaching day in April each member of F.T.A. taught classes at the school of their choice which highlighted a very active year.

Mrs. Donnell discussed the possibilities of a career in pre-school teaching with Mrs. Casper and Mrs. McCreary.

F.H.A. Studies Careers

F.H.A. members began the new school year with their annual informal and formal initiations. The themes, Careers and Neighbors Near and Far, were carried out through the year. The two main money raising projects were selling cookbooks and sponsoring a dance. The programs varied from the demonstration of make-up to the baking of Christmas cookies. Officers and members worked hard for success in their organization activities.

Ruskin's 78 voice Concert Choir as well as the Boy's and Girl's Glee Clubs act as Ruskin's vocal representatives in many school activities. In the winter they participated in the annual Christmas Vespers. In the spring a vocal concert was staged by the groups and they entered the Warrensburg Music Contests.

This year a new group, the Chamber Choir was formed. Their repertoire consisted mainly of light madrigal music.

Under the direction of Mr. Tarry and accompanied by Mrs. Padgett, these groups have encouraged music appreciation in the school and in the community.

The members of the Golden Eagle Band were kept busy marching at football games and parades during the fall season. Much time and effort was also put forth in practicing and preparing for concert season and contests.

Skill and musical ability were displayed by the pep band, composed of a group of selected students who played at pep rallies and assemblies.

The efforts of these various groups contributed greatly to complete a successful year for the music department.

Ruskin's first Pep Club was composed of 11 members. 37 years later, the Pep Club is still going loud and strong, but the membership has increased to about 200, making it one of the largest clubs at Ruskin.

The main job of the Pep Club is to cheer at football, basketball, and track events. The squad also sponsors the Homecoming celebration, pep assemblies, and decorates the school and goal posts on game days.

The Pep Club attempted a never-before-tried event at Ruskin last fall, a Powder Puff Football Game. The senior Pep Club members defeated the senior RGAA members in a fast and furious game, 7-6. To find out which class had the most school spirit, the Pep Club sponsored a Spirit Contest. The seniors won, and were awarded the $50 contributed by the three classes in placing their votes.

The enthusiasm and vitality of the Pep Club sets an example of school spirit for the rest of the student body to follow. It is a way for girls to help Ruskin's teams come out on top.

Outfitted in traditional blue and gold uniforms, the Junior Varsity Cheerleaders execute an intricate formation.

Energy, vitality, and enthusiasm describe the 1965-66 Ruskin Cheerleaders. ATHLETICS

Exceptionally capable students find opportunity for expression in an academic program. But a healthy body is just as important as a healthy mind for a well-rounded education. Ruskin's athletic program provides a means of expression for those students with exceptional athletic capability. Football, basketball, track, tennis, golf, wrestling, and cross country serve to stimulate school spirit and extra-curricular participation on the part of Ruskin's boys. The Ruskin athletic department instills the qualities of good sportsmanship, muscular co-ordination, team participation as well as promoting general physical fitness and good health. All these factors contribute to the success of Ruskin's competitive sports program.

Ruskin opened the 1965 season with three losses to Lee's Summit, their old-standing rival Grandview, and Truman. Winless but potent the following week, our Eagles unleashed a tremendous ground attack and thrashed Raytown 26-6. With quarterback Ron Miller expertly directing the victorious team and occasionally calling the quarterback sneak to pick up valuable yardage, Ruskin moved ahead quickly and was never threatened. Touchdowns were made by Steve Svanda, Jim Moore and two by John Beeson.

Entertaining a large homecoming crowd, our Eagles defeated NKC 13-7, two weeks later. Taking the opening kick-off, Ruskin launched a 70-yard drive with Ron Miller going over from the 3-yard line for the first touchdown. John Beeson, throwing from the half-back option, hit Steve Svanda who made a leaping catch in the end zone and accounted for Ruskin's second touchdown.

Within another two weeks, Ruskin rushing for 253 yards, ground out a 21-6 victory over Raytown South. Recovery of a Raytown fumble set up the first touchdown with John Beeson going over from the 1-yard line. Ruskin moved 65 yards, with Jim Moore lugging the ball through the hole made by Art Miller to add another 6 points. The final touchdown was made by John Beeson scoring on a 37-yard screen pass.

The following week, Ruskin pulled another upset by defeating William Chrisman 20-13. In the first quarter, the Eagles moved 68 yards with the touchdown coming on a 7-yard pass from Ron Miller to John Beeson. Seconds later, Ruskin recovered a Chrisman fumble short of right end and scored with one second remaining in the quarter. Later, the Eagles uncorked a 67-yard march with the final 24 yards consumed on Ron Miller's pass to John Beeson.

Homecoming Royalty

Homecoming spirit was boosted this year by Ruskin Week. Days were designated as Blue and Gold Day, Tag Day, Spirit Day and Secret Pep Club Member Day. Active participation in these things sparked the spirit at the Pep Rally Friday afternoon.

The Eagles spirit was shown on the gridiron by a 13-7 victory over North Kansas City. Both of the Eagle's touchdowns were made in the first half, but through hard fighting the Eagles held Northtown to one touchdown and allowed them to cross midfield only twice.

The excitement of a 13-0 score at halftime made the halftime ceremonies all the more thrilling. Cheers rose from the stands as the attendants, each escorted by her proud father, were presented for the crowing. A trumpet fanfare quieted the crowd and Janice DePalma was crowned 1965 Homecoming Queen.

To the music of Les Copley's Orchestra Queen Janice and her court danced the first dance with their fathers.

The Eagles thwarted their opponents efforts to score in the Grandview Tournament.

With New Coaching Staff

Off to a traditional start, the Varsity squad began its basketball season in the Grandview Tournament playing against Harrisonville. The Eagles shot into the lead and rapidly tallied up their first victory of the season. In the final game, the Eagles defeated the Belton Pirates to take first place in the Grandview Tourney for the third straight year.

The team met Liberty in the first home game of the year. Playing a hard, fast game against the Jays, the Eagles came out on top.

Meeting Lee's Summit, the team suffered their first loss of the season. It was a close game, however, and undecided until the last minutes of play when the Tigers moved ahead to win.

In their next bout, the Eagles trimmed Grandview's team by 14 points on our home court.

The Truman Patriots moved ahead in a decisive second quarter to score a close triumph over the Eagles.

The Eagles lost two games in the Lee's Summit Tourney to Shawnee-Mission East and Raytown South and finished up out of the running.

With about two minutes left in the game, the Eagles got a two point lead over the Raytown Bluejays, then slipped to a one-point loss.

The Eagles led most of the way against the North Kansas City Hornets to capture their first conference victory of the season.

In a desperate fourth quarter drive, the Eagles fell one point short again to be defeated by the Raytown South Cardinals.

Finally on the winning side of a one-point decision, Ruskin beat Oak Park, a new conference rival this year.

The Eagles had three encounters in the Center Tournament. They defeated Liberty in the first round with a 15 point margin. The following game with the Chrisman Bears was a narrow loss. Center reigned in our final tourney game to leave the Eagles out of the running again.

In a thriller with Raytown South, the squad succumbed to the Cardinals in the last half of the game.

The Eagles struggled to catch up with Raytown in a fast-moving game on our home court. They came within two points of a matched score in the last quarter, but the Jays moved ahead to score a victory.

The newest members of Ruskin's athletic department William Suddarth, Junior Varsity Coach, Larry Swift, Varsity Coach, and Bruce Brock, Sophomore Coach discuss their teams' strategy.

The Junior Varsity was victorious in their opening game with Liberty. Lee's Summit dealt the junior Eagles their first loss of the season. In an exciting overtime game Ruskin defeated the Truman Patriots. In a close game with the Center Yellowjackets the Eagles came out on the short end of the score and one point made the difference for the Eagle's loss in their next game against Raytown. Meeting North Kansas City the Eagles gained the lead and held it to gain another victory. The Raytown Bluejays travelled to Ruskin only to be defeated by their hosts who fought hard for a successful season.

Victory In Opening Games

Beginning their second season as a separate team the sophomores opened with an exciting victory over Truman. A basket in the final seconds of the game moved the final score in favor of the Eagles. The quintet then met William Chrisman and suffered their first loss of the '66 season. The Eagles then suffered several losses, but were able to defeat Raytown for the second time.

Steve Teafor and Larry Beeson performed the duties of team managers for the season. The teams depended upon the help of these boys who put forth as much time as the players themselves.

Stamina And Spirit Mark Harriers Success

The Eagle's cross-country team, backed by their fortitude and determination, performed well enough to earn a trophy and fifteen medals to bring the harriers' 1965 season to a very successful finish.

Under the guidance of Coach Verlyn Schmidt, and paced by seniors Roy Mount and Jerry Jones, the team turned in a 6-3 record, losing the meets by extremely narrow margins. The harriers brought home Ruskin's first cross-country trophy and also set new records in both the district and the state.

Despite many late season injuries, the team's constant drive enabled them to capture tenth place in the state meet. This marked Ruskin's second consecutive year as one of the top ten teams in the state.

Sophomore James McFarland, although suffering an attack of acute appendicitis, went on to finish a meet; thus displaying an excellent example of the team's dauntless spirit and relentless drive.

Positive thinking and determination helped the team to live up to their motto, "We never draw a punch."

RHS Matmen Sport Winning Season

Responding to the increased interest shown in wrestling at Ruskin, our varsity matmen have posted a winning season this year. A summer wrestling clinic in Minnesota for four of our boys, extra practice over the Christmas holidays, and a good coaching job by Coach Clark and his new assistant, Coach Lawson, have all had their influence on the win-loss column. Five returning lettermen, including Richard Howell, Ruskin's only entry in the state tournament, set the pace this year while the other varsity members displayed well-rounded skills and initiative.

Our junior varsity lost many of its matches this year but is made up mostly of sophomores and promises a strong base for next year's squad. The most encouraging note on this year's J. V. team was the depth it showed. The plague of many wrestling coaches, forfeiting for lack of a wrestler in a certain weight class, was quite rare this year.

Cindermen Start

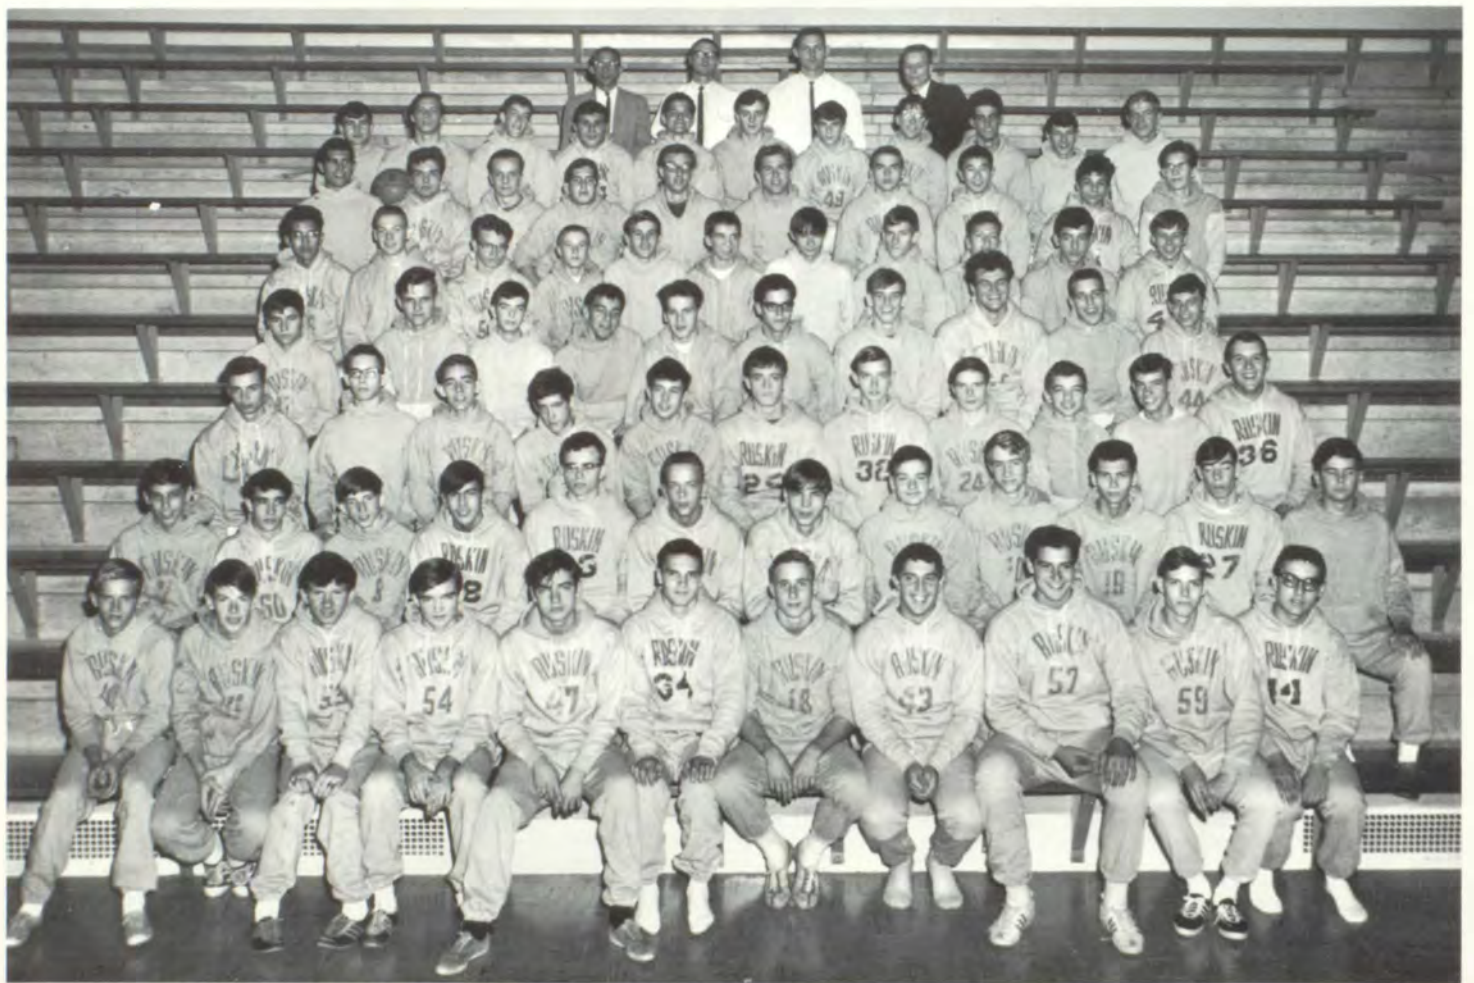

Spirit, competition, fun, and a simple pride of accomplishment drew boys to this sport. Long, hard hours of work gave Ruskin the quality and stamina of a good track team.

Our program started with an indoor meet February 5, which Ruskin won by a score of 60-40. Among early season standouts were John Oliver, who vaulted 14 feet to break the high school indoor track record, and Bill McMillan who threw the shot 53 feet.

The indoor meets were run this year in the new American Royal Building. Ruskin competed against various schools from the K.C. area. Conditions in the new building helped to improve most of the events.

There were 80 boys who participated on the '66 track team. The four coaches put in much time and effort to develop our boys into outstanding athletes. Trackmen rely on strength, speed and stamina to carry them to further victories. But victories must be won in the long, endless hours of running, jumping, lifting, and throwing, which precede the actual events.

Season Successfully

Tom Whiteman utilizes new equipment to strengthen leg muscles.

John Oliver started the '66 season vaulting 13 feet at the opening meet. This was only 8 inches from the high school indoor track record. The next meet he vaulted 14 feet ½ inch to set the new record. John has been vaulting since his freshman year and even devoted much of his time in the summer to practice. This time devoted to practice gave John the quality of an outstanding athlete.

Tennis Team Raises A Lot Of "Racket"

Tennis is an increasingly popular sport at Ruskin. Although most of last year's graduated, there were four returning lettermen who brought experience to the squad. The team was composed mostly of Juniors and Sophomores, so there is a bright outlook for the future. Mr. Stathos served as coach for the fifth consecutive year.

ACADEMICS

The art of instruction requires a variety of skills and a wide background in many fields. Besides having a thorough knowledge of the subject, a teacher must have skill in understanding personalities and behavior. A teacher must have a keen interest in communicating with the student and establishing a good student-teacher relationship. An instructor must also devote much time and patience to promoting a general understanding of the subject as well as teaching specific facts. Our teachers strive to create interest and discover new aspects of the subject which will assist us in learning. Through their efforts to influence and inspire, our teachers develop in us the ability to reason and the techniques of logical thinking. Through this leadership and ability to develop latent capabilities in students, our teachers give of themselves to make Ruskin a school with an excellent academic program and one that has a highly rated scholastic standing.

with provision to immediately draft high school drop-outs. However, after several debates the students did not pass the bill because they felt it would be unconstitutional. They also devised a questionnaire with which they surveyed young people to discover their feelings about how our government operates. They felt that some people have mistaken concepts about our system.

The Business Department prepares students for a productive life after high school and an education in the practical skills of the modern business world. A variety of courses including General Business, Business Law & Arithmetic, Secretarial Practice, Shorthand, Clerical Practice, and Bookkeeping are taught.

A new addition to the Business Department is Distributive Education. Distributive Education is primarily designed for those students who do not plan to attend college. Taught by Mr. Salts, this class gives students on the job training. Students are also able to earn money on their jobs.

Many of the girls also enjoy the home nursing and child care program.

Art in the home is the theme being used in Related Arts. Houses are conceived from floor plans and developed into well organized rooms with furnishings and accessories.

Ruskin's English department's main objective during the year was to widen the students' knowledge of the world and people around them, through literature.

The students learned how to communicate more effectively with the people around them by studying the proper methods of speaking and writing.

Techniques Of Expression

Speech I has been moved to the freshman level and the Speech Arts Department now deals with a more advanced curriculum. This rapidly expanding department now offers more specialized studies.

The most recent addition is the Radio-Television class which develops techniques of mass media. This year the radio-television class represented Ruskin as reporters on WHB radio station. Also, they presented a weekly news summary over the public address system each Monday morning.

The Dramatics II class, doubled in size, altered its Little Theatre Series of one-act plays. Instead of presenting one play in the afternoon, the class presented a series of three plays various evenings throughout the year. The dramatics department again, this year, presented children's programs for several of the grade schools and various other programs for community groups.

Ruskin debaters spent many hours doing research in the library. They competed in many area contests and brought home many trophies to Ruskin.

This active department helps to develop qualities in the students that promote better human relationships and a broader understanding of social values.

Joan Schultz practices the techniques of dramatic presentation.

LILA HENSLEY: French I, French II, French III, French IV

Ruskin students discovered adventure, romance, and culture via the medium of Foreign Language. Working through laboratory study, dialogues, and reports, the classes sought to instill in the students the desire to further their knowledge of foreign lands. With these goals in mind, the department introduces the students not only to a new language, but also to the customs, geography, history, and fine arts of the various countries. Besides teaching students the grammatical skills, the department aids in securing a working conversational ability. Having acquired this knowledge, the language students leave the department with a well-rounded view of life in other countries.

Under the leadership of Robert M. Scott this outstanding group was invited to perform at the Music Educators National Conference on March 22, a high honor for the band and school. This group of musicians is one of the most spirited organizations moving through these halls.

Hours of practice were spent to get this formation for the Mary Poppins production.

Mr. Scott rises early many a morning to conduct a sectional practice at seven.

Robert Conroy blows his whistle loudly for a change of formation as he marches forward to meet the band.

Eagles Develop

Students in our physical education classes learned social responsibility, developed good character traits, and acquired leadership ability. Concentration, And Creativity

Artistically inclined Eagles found challenging work and enjoyment in their course of study. By experimenting with different techniques, students discovered new ways to express themselves and the world around them.

For the first time at Ruskin, pop art was introduced in the form of junk collages, which created interesting compositions and awareness of modern trends.

Through the year, deep concentration was necessary whether splashing spots with water color, drawing detailed pencil sketches, or molding clay.

Students learned the pleasure and excitement of creating an original work of art and learned also to take pride in their accomplishments. Styles ranged from the tried and tested to the new and more modern.

Mr. Carlson works along with his students in applying the principles of water color.

Learning Through Doing

Roy Beers gives individual supervision, one of the most essential requirements in Special Education.

Special Education students left the building this year for the first time to participate in an "on the job training program." Directed by Roy Beers and the employers, students learned a useful and rewarding occupational skill.

Class curriculum is built around "on the job training." This helps prepare the students for future employment.

Essential and survival vocabulary is gained through tactile-kinesthetic methods which involve tracing of sandpaper letters.

All students took part in a regular educational program, using the tactile-kinesthetic method of reading and the functional system of mathematics. All of these things combined, make Special Education one of the most profitable and worthwhile classes at Ruskin.

STUDENT BODY

All striving toward the goal of graduation, the classes discovered the advantages of a three-year high school program. The change this year from a four-year program seemed to promote a feeling of unity. Both the academic and extra-curricular programs have been altered to accommodate this change. With three classes composing the student body, all students were eligible for any activities or organizations. This situation promoted larger attendance at extra-curricular activities and heightened school spirit. In this new system, the students co-operated and really achieved the title of "student body."

Ruskin Spirit Is Expressed

Art students learn more than the techniques of drawing—they also learn to be cooperative models.

The mural in the library shows the many aspects of the year through which the students display their spirit.

Enthusiasm bubbles over at Student Council dances where no one is a wallflower.

In Various Ways

The 2:50 bell rings and students rush through the halls and out to the waiting buses.

Even though extra curricular activities are important, students feel that study should come first.

A familiar view to many rushing down the east stairs between classes.

Biology can be interesting as long as your partner does the dissecting.

The senior class officers take time out from study to exchange a few jokes.

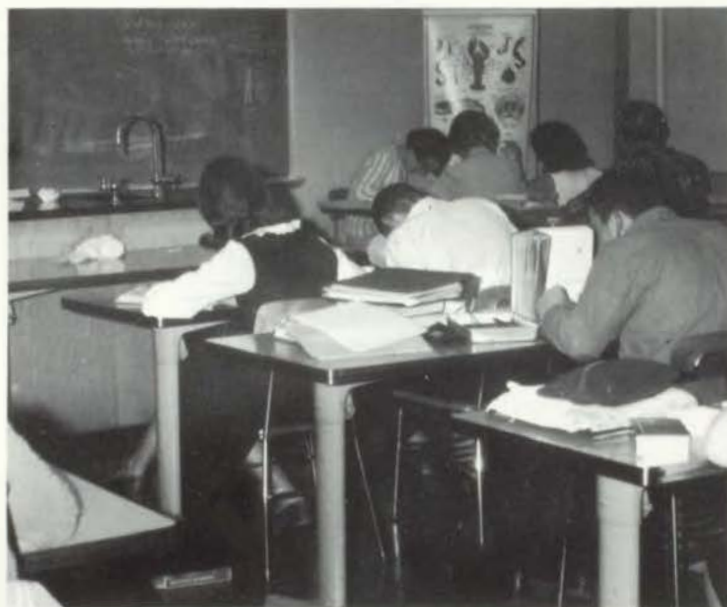

Enthusiasm For School Life Is

Trying for timed writing scores, beginning typing students race to beat the clock.

Students combine the printed word and "first-hand" experience in their study of crayfish.

A flag-raising ceremony was the focal point of our Veterans' Day observance.

The Eagle band performed as a part of the student salute to war veterans.

Leaving one informative College Night session, students and parents advance to another.

Translating with teamwork is a project for third year Spanish students.

Used wisely, class study periods cut down on homework.

Absorbed in their artistic attempts, students paint with tempora colors.

Anxious to make the best of time available, business students rush to complete assigned workbook pages.

Members of the debate class participate in active discussion.

While friends look on, Ken Harris, alias William Tell, steadily draws his trusty bow and arrow and prepares to shoot the apple from the head of Art McElroy.

Cards and announcements, to be ordered by the graduating seniors, were exhibited in the main display case.

Seniors enrolled in Family Relations classes learn the fundamentals of emotional, social, and financial living.

ADVERTISING

Through these halls have come those who patronize our local merchants. These merchants play a very active part in school life. For, through their businesses we learn about our economic responsibilities and our place in the community as patrons. Our local merchants support Ruskin and our activities. Through their efforts and willingness to back Ruskin, we have achieved favorable publicity. The local businesses contribute much to Ruskin and we thank them for their patronage.

Sophomores

Sophomore, Pam Johanningmeir, participates in a familiar Ruskinitiation

It is traditional that all underclassmen polish the eagle some time during the school year. But this is only one of the many new experiences awaiting them.

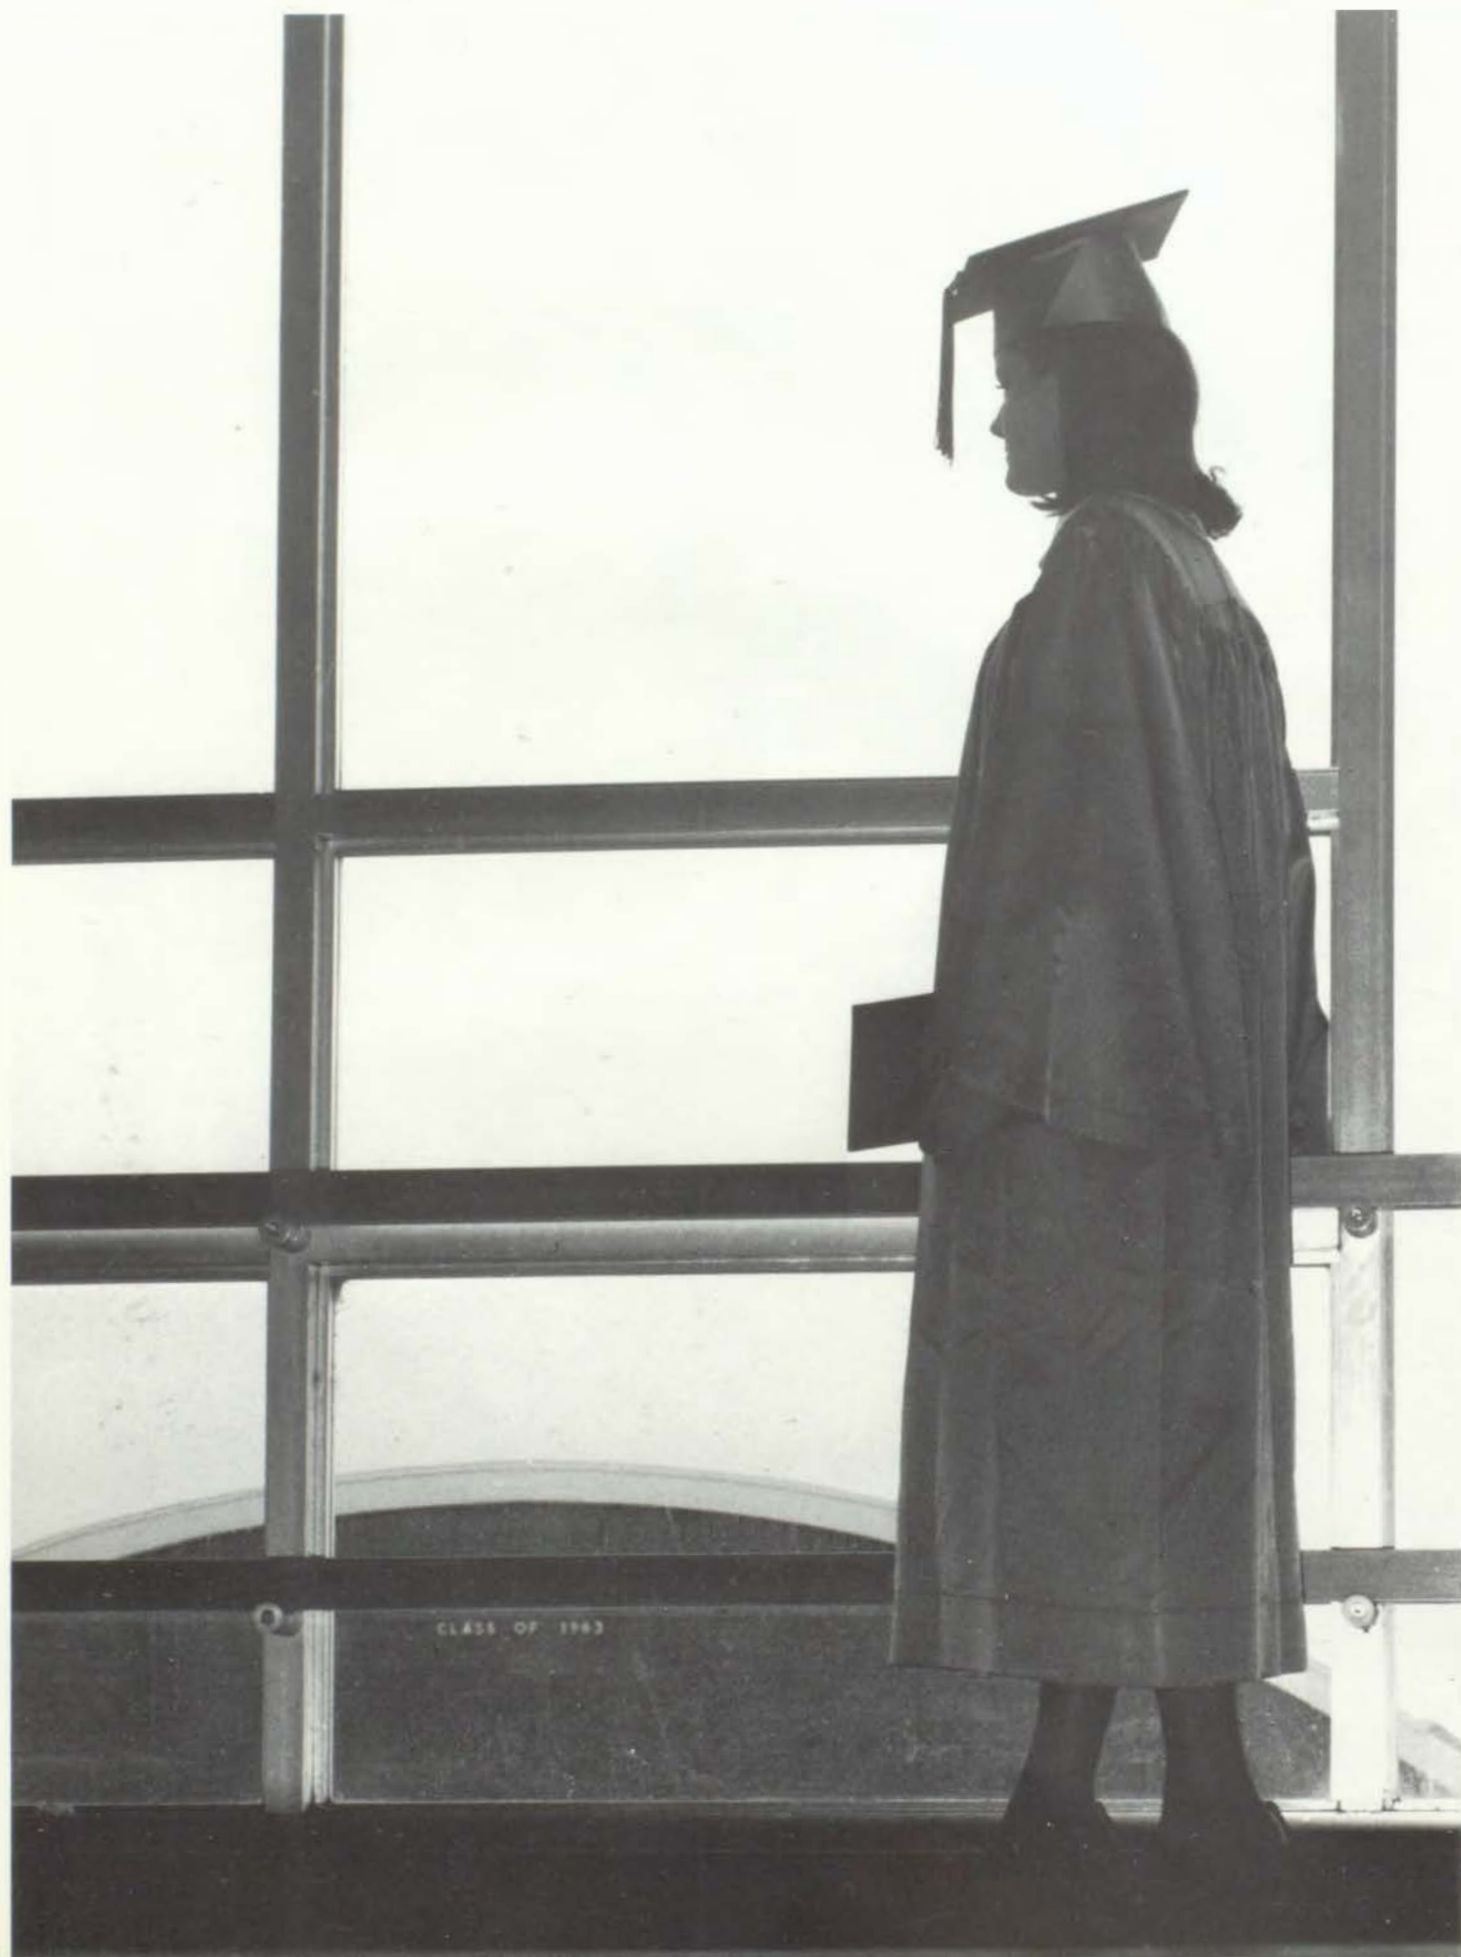

Juniors

Junior status is reflected by the school ring and R. They are regarded by Juniors as a symbol of self-esteem and Ruskin school life.

Seniors

A tear, a sigh, a wistful last glance at Ruskin brings reflections of past happy years spent while gaining their education. Seniors bid farewell to their alma mater.
