Student Leaders Take on Many-Faceted Responsibilities

Officers of the Student Council, chosen as representative leaders of the entire Student Body are Jim Freemyer, vice-president; Christina Logue, secretary; Teresa Petrovic, president; and John Trow, treasurer.

National Honor Society

Classes go on ... and on

Danny Sommers, John Brodzinski, Denise Collins, and Becky Fox try their luck at finding out what makes a frog hop, thereby earning a grade.

Gretchen Engler, Bev Layden, Corinne O'Neill paste class pictures for first deadline of Lance.

Parents Go on Pupils' Schedule

A Class schedule for parents replaced the October PTA meeting. Parents literally followed in the footsteps of their student sons and daughters. Many, moving upstairs, downstairs, from room to room at each bell signal, took the opportunity of learning what teachers expect of their pupils, and some of the things that make for a better understanding.

During refreshment time at the end of the "day", parents and teachers enjoyed chatting with old friends and making new ones.

On the first day of school Freshmen pay strict attention to the teacher no matter at what angle they may have to turn or twist . . . the first day, that is.

Forty-two St. Marys students participated in the National Latin Examinations taken in March by over 80,000 students throughout the U.S. and its possessions.

Young Helen Sees in "Miracle Worker"

With a great deal of patience Annie Sullivan (Teresa Petrovic) teaches the blind and deaf Helen Keller (Valerie Haworth) to see and hear through the sense of touch. Helen's brother, parents, aunt, and helper—D. Smith, Y. Mainhorst, J. Trow, D. Downing, N. Peters, respectively, watch for dubious results.

To support his cause, John Trow quotes the Bible to Judge Jim Arend, lawyer, Steve Monaco, and juryman, Bob Kearney.

T. Petrovic explains to a class group the situation existing in regard to the breaking of barriers of the blind.

Teacher, Student Win Award, Scholarship

Susan Lewis and Jerry Doumitt shape, burnish jewelry from metal scraps; Barb Moran watches.

Dana displays the art collection which won him a scholarship.

Mary Norman, Bill Champion of Art Department give paint job assist to Drama Department.

Sr. Marie Catherine's sculpture entry in the Religious Art Exhibit at R.L.D.S. Center won a first-place plaque.

Denise and Dana share interest in oils.

R. Gronniger Designs Official City Flag

John Dec and Steve Monaco display art awards—small plaques with drawing pencil and lettering.

Bob received from Mayor Slusher, in a presentation ceremony, a key to the City and a $100 Saving's Bond for first in the flag design contest. The beginning of the design was prompted by former President Truman's reference to the city's being "the hub of the world": therefore, a wheel above which is the wording "Queen City of the Trails", below, INDEPENDENCE.

Artistic work on the Halloween float won another first with its blue and white finery. Pep Club officers and Varsity cheerleaders ride while B-team cheerleaders flank the vehicle and Freshman precede it.

In Memoriam

Newly-formed KOSMS consists of four boys and nine girls, all Juniors, under the sponsorship of Sr. Marv Benita. This group has been organized for the sole purpose of bringing some happiness into the lives of others, particularly the elderly, and of assisting under-achieving children. Students visit homes, mainly the Baptist Convalescent Home and the Kennedy Home, where they assist by reading to the blind, playing games, singing, playing piano and guitar, having social gatherings and furnishing refreshments and small holiday gifts. A more recent project is the purchasing of supplies and assisting patients with various craftwork.

Other students will gradually be admitted into the KOSMS club.
