MR. HARRY R. McMILLAN, Principal

Army servicemen in telling of their experiences, frequently mention the "chow line." They tell of the lines they stand in to receive their issue of clothing, weapons, and for medical inspection. Finally, they line up to receive their discharge papers. This is the typical way in which the members of large groups are insured fair treatment. The rule of "first come, first served," is followed in an orderly way.

In our dear land where the precious freedoms are constitutionally protected, we still "line up" for important things. The interested citizens of today line up to cast their ballots.

The choice of leaders and the solution of each question that confronts us in government, business, and social organizations are settled in this democratic way. We "line up" for worthy causes that prove our social maturity in behalf of charity, world brotherhood, and love for our Creator within our religious groups.

It saddens us to learn of the "bread lines," the "dole lines," and the "lines of beggars" that are found in many parts of our world in spite of our "Marshall plan" and other missionary enterprises.

We may well resolve that the intent of our founding fathers in establishing our free government, our free religion, our free schools, and our free press for freedom may not only be safeguarded for our day and our nation but, through our efforts in co-operating with constructive forces throughout the world, it may also be secured for all men everywhere.

GEORGE POWELL

Written lines, spoken lines, unwritten and unspoken lines encompass our heritage and our destiny.

Literature presents the thoughts of great men and women and points to the possibilities of life at its best. History records man's successes and failures on his journey through the ages. Science discovers laws made "in the beginning"; it neither creates nor destroys but transforms energy for man's use. Mathematics gives accuracy to scientific measurements and validity to their interpretation and application. Art and music enter the realm of universal values. Written lines preserve information of the past and present, and provide a glimpse into the future.

During World War II, Churchill's spoken lines of loyalty, sacrifice, and determination prevented the collapse of England and preserved freedom for his countrymen. Truly our American way of life has been determined by the spoken lines of great leaders like Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, and Wilson.

The destiny of the earth is yet to be determined. Decisions are to be made. Unspoken lines are yet to be spoken and heard. Unwritten lines are yet to be written and read. This, Seniors, is your opportunity, your responsibility, your challenge.

Sincerely yours,

HARRY R. McMILLAN

"Through books young people come to understand the tradition of our nation . . .

through reading they are preparing themselves to become builders of a free world."

The library strives to be the channel in this processing of young minds.

Senior Class 1951

Those of us who have become Knights and Ladies during this year of 1951 can scarcely realize that one of the most important periods in our lives will soon be ended by our graduation.

As we look back, the five full years we have spent at our Castle seem much too short. We have cheered Southeast's victories, been proud of her achievements; and each loyal Knight has attempted to do his part to add to the prestige of the school. We have worked diligently to become good students and we shall never forget the good times and the numerous interesting experiences we have shared with our fellow students.

As this graduating class goes forward, every lesson we have learned and every idea we have gained will be guides on our way to success. To Southeast High School, our beloved Alma Mater, we express sincere appreciation of the thorough preparation which has laid for each of us a foundation for the realization of our ambitions.

Sophomore Class

The triumphant Herald emerges with more confidence and less timidity. The ambitious sophomore aspires to higher scholastic standards. Definite interests are now displayed since this old-timer is an eligible participant in various school activities and sports.

He is also very well-versed in the regulations and traditions of Southeast Castle. He has laid the foundation for future Knighthood well.

Oh! There he goes

Freshman Class

In place of the confused Apprentice-Page, there now stands a wise full-fledged Page. The freshman truly "belongs" to our manor house and has successfully survived the hectic adjustment period. As he assumes added responsibilities, interest in extra-curricular activities also increases.

The attitude toward the continuation of his high school career is one of cheerful anticipation as he plans more worthy achievements in the Castle.

Fleshy Freshmen!

Eighth Grade Class

The Apprentice-Page is on the threshold of a new adventure about which he has dreamed for years. Bewildered, but nevertheless enthusiastic, the eighth-grader becomes acquainted with the ideals and traditions of our Castle as well as its requirements.

Yes, this year is one long to be remembered, the first and perhaps the most difficult step toward Knighthood.

The Southeast Round Table, composed of one delegate from each home room, is the representative body of Southeast High School. Its fundamental purpose is not to attempt to govern, but to give unified support to all approved school activities.

Through participation in the Round Table, students develop such qualities as leadership, service, responsibility, and school loyalty.

This year, under the leadership of both of its presidents and its sponsor, Miss Latshaw, the Round Table has advanced and aided our school and has successfully accomplished everything it has undertaken.

Dorians, the art club, derived its name from the Doric type of architecture and from the Doric tribes of people.

Minimum requirements for admission to the club are a scholastic standing of "M" average, and an "S" or better in art work for at least one year. Persons eligible for membership submit examples of their work to the majority vote of the club members.

At the semi-monthly meetings, the technique of finger painting, clay modeling, water color, and other forms of creative art are studied and developed.

The art club is under the sponsorship of Miss Martha Abbott, assisted by Mr. George Calvert.

The Penthouse Players, Southeast's Drama Club, is limited to the students who have shown active interest and outstanding talent in the fields of drama, public speaking, radio broadcasts, and stagecraft.

"Through the Ages with Penthouse" was the theme for the 1950-51 school year. Six plays were produced in the Southeast "Little Theater" for their entertainment value, as well as for the purpose of gaining experience in acting, directing, producing, and costuming. Penthouse may well boast of capacity audiences for all plays produced. This shows enthusiastic interest in the speech department and highly compliments its sponsor, Miss Maria Theresa Fetters.

Dracones, the Latin Club, represents those students taking Latin who are interested in furthering their knowledge of the Roman language, customs, history, and classical culture.

The club is sponsored by Miss Elliott who directs and guides the club along a worthwhile path. Interesting and educational programs are presented. In the spring the club and the Latin department present a Latin Open House, held for parents, teachers, and friends. A program is presented and displays of handwork and other projects are exhibited.

New members are accepted after serving terms as slaves to the second-year members.

The Southeast Hi-Y Club is composed of boys who have been elected into the organization. The club's foundation is laid on religious principles, but this does not limit the scope of their activities. Lectures by prominent persons, dances, movies, line parties, and out-of-door recreation are included in the club's program.

The boys are interested in Hi-Y, not only because of the entertainment and the fellowship it promotes, but because they wish to further their ideals of high Christian character. The club is sponsored by Mr. Jess C. Cross and the Y.M.C.A.

Our Y-Teen Club is open to every high school girl who desires to accept our aim and share in our ideals of fellowship. The national and international welcome sign is out for girls of every religion, nationality, and race. Today there are Y-Teen clubs in more than sixty countries.

Service and recreation are the high lights of our Y-Teen program. There are parties, picnics, and conferences, as well as service projects. Through this program, Y-Teens hope to gain a better understanding of their community, their country, and the world.

Miss Birkhead, assisted by Miss Campbell and Miss McKemy, serve as the Y-Teen advisers.

Knightlites

The increasing popularity of our annual variety show, Knightlites, made it necessary that a three-night performance be given this year—November 30, December 1 and 2. A cast of 304 students, under the direction of Miss Martha Abbott, proved the thirteenth presentation of this show to be one of the largest and best yet produced.

The various numbers based on the theme "Trees" were so interesting that they held the undivided attention of the audience throughout the entire performance. The attractive and appropriate setting consisted of a clearing in a forest.

The snappy dance steps of the Charleston number revived memories of the good old "flapper" days for many.

One of our best known trees was not forgotten when the senior tap line was instructed "Don't Sit Under the Apple Tree" by the senior boys, and the senior girls sang "In Apple Blossom Time."

A fireside fairy tale introduced little leprechauns who cut capers at the foot of a huge, gnarled tree.

"Autumn Leaves" and the Christmas and poinciana trees were well represented by acrobatic, marimba, and tap numbers, while "Sweet and Lovely," as done by the girls' quartette, was typical of the sugar plum tree.

"The Best Thing For You Would Be Me" was told to a very attentive, but silent broom boyfriend.

Perhaps the highlight of the picnic scene was the song "My Very First Kiss," written by Kenneth Welch, class of '43."

John Frances Weatherby's struggle with the tree of knowledge, an "Under the Bamboo Tree" narration, a touching tale about a little rabbit and three trees, and a light opera provided good comedy.

The black-faced Betas were on hand to remind us "You Gotta Dig, Dig, Dig" for a living—never was a money tree. The junior girls also presented a good philosophy — "If You Feel Like Singing, Sing."

From the time the curtains opened on the ballet to "Trees" number, until the finale, "Tree of Liberty," there was not a dull moment.

"Seventeenth Summer," a delightful romantic comedy, was the two-cast spring play presented this year by the speech classes under the direction of Miss Fetters. This dramatization of Maureen Daly's popular novel about a typical American family was greatly enjoyed by large audiences.

Angie Morrow, an attractive, sensitive girl of seventeen, knew that this summer after her graduation was one she would always remember—partly because of the different way she felt about everything. Good-looking Jack Duluth, the best basketball player in the county, especially drew her attention. To the great displeasure of her two "fair weather" friends, Jane and Margie, Jack asks Angie for her first date. After that Angie and Jack become a devoted well-known couple.

Angie's oldest sister Margaret is very understanding in helping Angie to solve several of the perplexing problems of youth. Lorraine, the sister who has just come home from two years at college, attempts to pass herself off as a great sophisticate. Her heart-throb is Martin, an unpleasant city slicker, whose true character and disposition are not revealed to Lorraine until he fails to keep a promise. Kitty, the energetic kid sister, is frankly disgusted at the new turn of events—Angie's growing up creates—and feels left behind.

The happy, eventful summer moves to the evening of the country club dance. Angie's first formal dance is ruined by the quarrel she and Jack have before attending it because of the conniving and plotting of her so-called best friends. As the rift widens, the summer that was to have been so wonderful comes to a close.

The day of leaving for college finally arrives. Through a series of fast-moving events, Angie and Jack clear up their difficulties and the play ends on a heart-warming note of happiness and understanding. Angie leaves her memorable seventeenth summer behind and moves forward to the new adventures of college but promises to come back someday.

Music

Whenever we hear good music, we think of our Southeast music department. This year, under the leadership of Mr. Ben E. Markley, the orchestra, band, a cappella choir, and girls' octet delighted both students and faculty with their very enjoyable music.

The orchestra participated in various school activities. Among these were the Induction Program, Open House, Knightlites, Band and Orchestra Assembly, Spring Assembly, Spring Play, and All-City Orchestra Festival.

Southeast is very proud of our fine band. This year it played in the American Royal Parade, Official Missouri Day Band at the American Royal, various football and basketball games and pep rallies, Christmas Assembly, All-City Band Festival and concert for Business Men's Bible Class.

This year our a cappella choir made their first appearance at the Open House Program in their new blue robes with the red stoles. Their other appearances included singing for the Missouri State Teachers Meeting, Secretaries Group at Hotel President, Christmas Assembly, concert for Business Men's Bible Class, various churches in the community, radio broadcast for the National Safety Council on NBC network, various assembly programs, and All-City Choir Festival.

The girls' octet and boys' quartet are two groups that sing at many places outside school, including churches and business clubs. You have also heard both of these fine groups in various assemblies and music programs.

Mrs. Musgrave is the director of the boys' chorus, girls' glee, mixed chorus, and the boys' quartet. These groups participated in the Christmas Assembly. The boys' quartet has been in demand by civic groups, clubs, and church groups this year.

The Festival of Music this year was one of the most impressive productions of this school year. The Music Festival is a combination of the talent and efforts of all the groups in the music department. We are all proud of the superb way the music department represents our scarlet and blue.

It Pays To Be Smart

"It Pays To Be Smart," a current event quiz, was presented during assembly, March 8, 1951. This program was under the direction of radio station WHB and the University of Kansas City.

Bob Woodruff, senior and first place winner, was presented with a $25 United States Savings Bond. Janet Backstrom, an eighth grader, received $10 in cash as second place winner.

Truly, "It Pays To Be Smart."

Office and Health Center Assistants

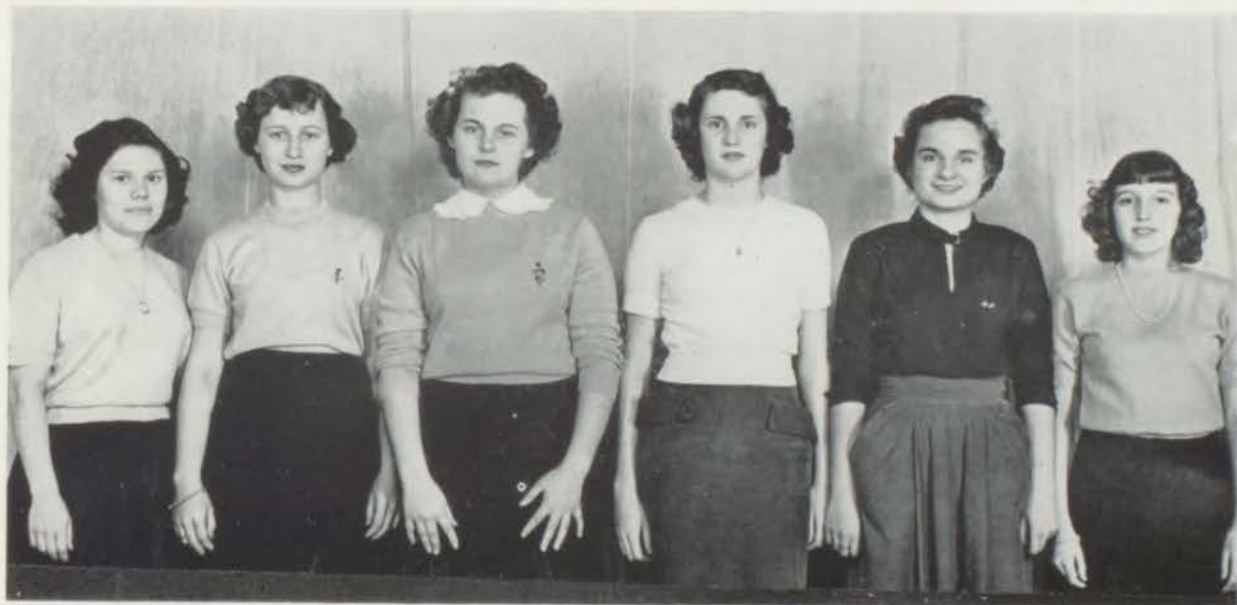

Patty Tolle, Margaret McDonald, Dorothy Gerken, Sandra Eastin, Janet Stewart, Betty Harryman, June Burks.

HEALTH CENTER, OFFICE AND COLLECTORS

Among the groups rendering services to our school are the health center, office assistants, and the collectors. During various hours of the day, these girls help keep records, prepare supplies, answer the telephone, operate the switchboard, collect money, and record the amounts respectively. Not only are they of assistance in our health center, office, and school-fund collections, but they receive valuable training and experience in nurse's aid, office procedure, and accounting.

Athletics

Athletics at Southeast during the year of 1950-51 have been a huge success. Although the Knights were not victorious in every contest in which they participated, it can always be said that they played the game fairly and squarely and were in there battling to the very end. The football team has done remarkably well this year, having tied for the Interscholastic League Championship with Southwest.

The Knights were not as successful in basketball, but they enjoyed a fine season, splitting about even in all their games and finishing in sixth place in the league standings.

The track team has not had a chance to get fully underway, but the indoor team gave a good account of themselves in both indoor meets. In the State Indoor Meet at Columbia, Missouri, Taylor placed third in the 60-yard dash; Ellis, third in the 60-yard high hurdles; Greer, fifth in broad jump.

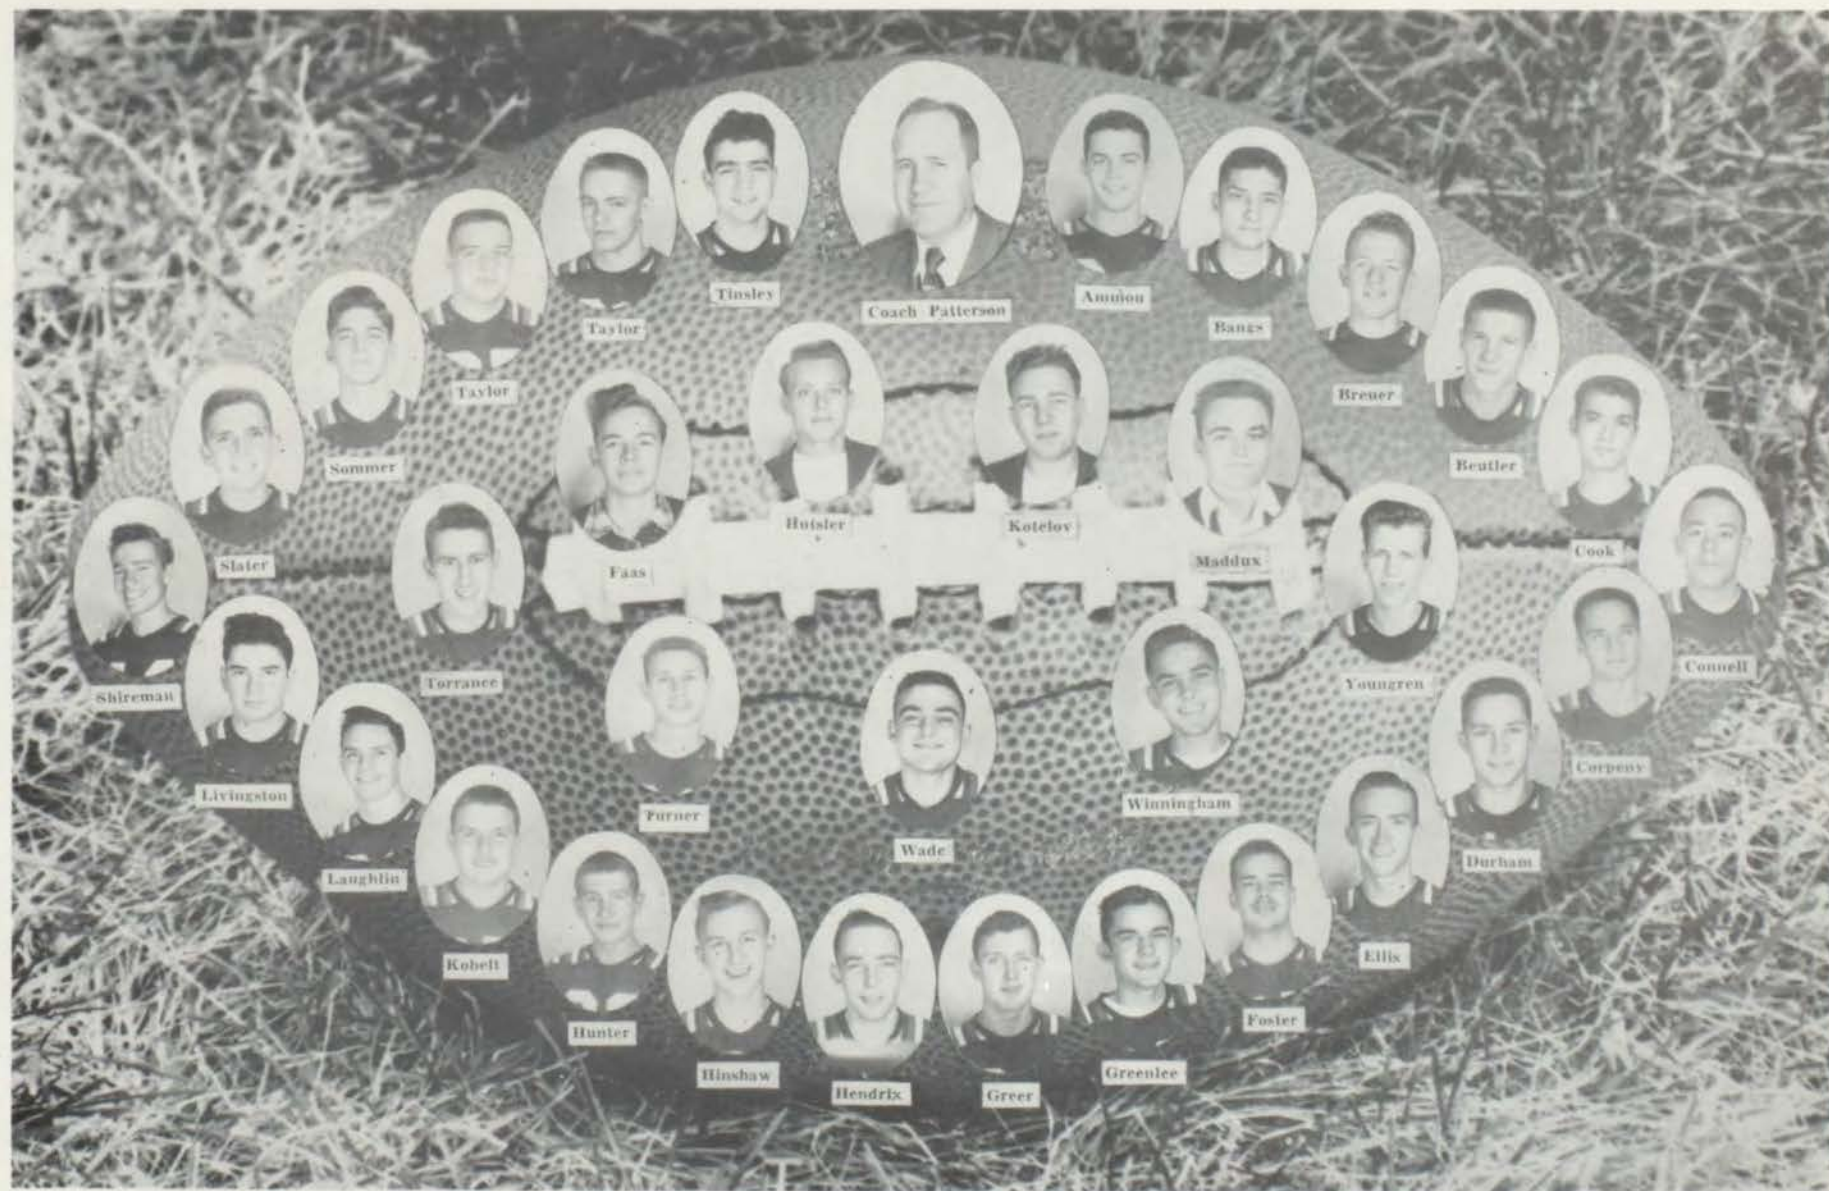

Much credit for the success of the teams is due to our coaching staff: Mr. Jess C. Cross, track; Mr. Berle Adams, basketball; Mr. Cecil Patterson, football. In addition to the three major sports, golf and tennis have always been outstanding here at Southeast. Mr. Claude Harman guides the helm of the golf department, and Mr. L. B. Maupin is at the steering wheel of our tennis team.

Without each student's financial and moral support, our teams could not be the success that they are. If the teams did not have a crowd of loyal supporters behind them, they would not have had the incentive to make the fine showing they did. The athletic department wishes to thank the student body for their fine support.

Southeast 27—North Kansas City 0

The opening game of the 1950 season was a glorious victory over the North Kansas City Hornets. The blocking was fine and the ball carriers did excellent work. Taylor and Hendrix led the attack. The line showed promise of developing into one of the best.

Southeast 45—Manual 0

With a fast charging forward wall and capable backs, Southeast gained its first Interscholastic victory of the season. During the game, quarterback Turner, not only called perfect plays but also furnished key blocks that sent his team on to victory. Slater, a newcomer at center, flanked by Winningham, Connell, and Wade, gave a good demonstration of how a defensive line should operate.

Southeast 26—Paseo 20

This was one of the hardest fought games of the year. During the first half both teams were able to score. An 80-yard march led by Durham and Kobelt was climaxed by Breuer's adding the extra point to put Southeast out in front. The feature of the game was the offense of both teams.

Southeast 32—Westport 6

This was the game! Both teams had previously won three games and had no losses. Westport was favored but, after fifteen minutes of play, the favorites were beginning to give ground to the hard-charging Southeast Knights. Ammon, Bangs, Corpeny, and Greer made over half the tackles to show the league followers that Southeast had a defensive team as well as an offensive team.

Southeast 7—Northeast 6

The next contest found the Southeast Knights in the spotlight. The papers had predicted the outcome to be close. It was. Both teams were neck and neck, 6-6. The crowd was tense. Then Greenlee held the ball, Breuer kicked and the extra point was scored. Ninety per cent of this game was defense. The Southeast boys were outweighed fifteen pounds per man, but our Knights proved that a good little man is hard to beat. Beutler, Foster, and Hunter, the three smallest men on the field, played most of the game in the Northeast backfield.

Southeast 30—East 0

By this time Southeast had established herself as one of the contenders for the league title. Nevertheless, the East Bears gave the scarlet and blue team plenty of trouble the first half. The score was 7-0. Finally, the Knights started rolling and won by a wide margin. The playing in the last half was so convincing that Southeast fans believed the Knights were to be the city champions. In this game the following players let the people see that they, too, could play good ball: Torrance, Ellis, Livingston, Shireman, Laughlin, Cook, Hinshaw, Kotelov, B. Taylor, Tinsley, and Youngren.

Southeast 14—Southwest 19

Over-confidence finally caught up with us. We played a wonderful game, but the Indians played a little better. Sommers, our defensive end, played his best game of the season. When the final whistle blew, many tears were shed by the Southeast boosters. However, they all went home hoping that Northeast would defeat Southwest the next week, and thus give us a chance to share the title.

Southeast 27—Central 0

Northeast defeated Southwest. We then soundly trounced Central thereby sharing the co-championship with Southwest. In the final minutes of play Corky Taylor, behind perfect interference, ran 40 yards for his final touchdown for Southeast. His total of 180 points for a two-year period proved his ability as a great player. After this touchdown, the coach sent in substitutes for the entire team. As the first team left the field, Coach Patterson, no doubt, realized that this was one of the greatest teams that had ever played for Southeast.

Second Team Football

Second Row—Eib, Davis, Summers, Cross, Schaeffer, Woner, Brown, Sparks, McClure, Forbes, Riley, Forbes, Hample, Erisman.

The outcome of the season for Southeast's 1951 second football team certainly indicates that we will be ready for varsity competition next fall. They won five out of eight of their games which would have been a good record in any league. With this background, we have high hopes of their becoming strong contenders for the Interscholastic League Championship next year. They can be assured that the student body will be on hand to give them full support.

INTER-SCHOLASTIC ALL STARS

BILL CROSS, First Team—'50, '51

PETE CORPENY, Honorable Mention—'51

For the second year, Bill Cross was honored by being selected for the Interscholastic League All-star basketball team. Bill also broke the scoring record for the league for the second year, scoring 153 points in seven games. He served as captain in all games and was elected honorary co-captain for the second year at the close of the season. His name and record will go down in the history of Southeast's athletics as one of the greatest.

Pete Corpeny received honorable mention on the Interscholastic League All-star selection. Pete played in all the games and was second high scorer on the Knights' squad. His rebounding ability and desire to win were qualities that will make him remembered as he closes his career in basketball at Southeast.

Vernon Greer, Dick Kobelt, Charles Bangs, and Corky Taylor are the other senior letter winners who bid the basketball squad adieu this year. They spent many hours in the gym and in representing their school for two years.

Melvin Raskin and Bill Brown, the capable managers, leave their many duties and responsibilities to Jimmy Campbell, the junior member of the trio. Herbert Benson, Godfrey Larson, Ronnie Davis, and Howard Wynn, the underclassmen letter winners, with a group of fine second team lettermen, will carry on the sport in the 1951-52 season and possibilities for an excellent team are good.

First Team Basketball

First Row—Raskin, Taylor, Kobelt, Davis, Durham, Larson, Brown, Campbell.

Although Southeast won only one basketball game in league play this year, we gained the upper hand in five of our pre-season tilts. Our one Interscholastic League victory was over the Manual Red Birds. Hard luck seemed to follow us in several of the games in that we lost to the Paseo Pirates and to the Southwest Indians by the small margin of two points.

All the seniors on the squad were returning lettermen from the 1950 squad, with Bill Cross and Pete Corpeny serving as co-captains elected by their fellow team mates. Bill Cross, a three-year letterman, gained a position on the City All-Star team, while Pete Corpeny received honorable mention.

Our team had a winning spirit and displayed excellent co-operation and sportsmanship. We wish to congratulate the team and Coach Adams for their fine work during the season.

Southeast placed second in the first round of the fall tournament with a team score of 326, compared with the Southwest team score of 297. The second round was won by Southeast with a team score of 303; Southwest was second with 310. Although our boys tried hard and won the second round, they had too much of a deficit from the first round to overcome Southwest's lead.

The city spring tournament is planned for the first two weeks in May. Southeast may be assured that our team will do their best to represent us.

The boys' physical education classes for the year 1950-51 finished a very successful year in athletics and sports. Each sport—football, soccer, basketball, volley ball, ping-pong singles and doubles, and softball—is taken in its respective turn and taught for a period of two weeks. The rules, rudiments, and the finer points are taught and then teams are chosen in each class. A double round robin is played and the winner is presented a small letter, known as a shield. Then an all-star team from each hour is chosen and these games are played after school in an elimination tournament until only one team is left. They are known as school champions and are awarded K's.

At the end of the school year, the two boys who have accumulated or scored the most points are awarded two large chenille letters—the larger one for first place and the smaller one for second. Here is the way points are scored. Winning a class championship scores two points and being captain of the team scores one-half point extra. Winning the school championship scores five points and being captain scores an extra point. The boy at the end of the school year with the highest number of points is the winner.

READY—AIM—FIRE /

Farewell and Best Wishes to You

We, the Crusader Staff of 1950-51, have finished our work. You have reached the end of your book—just as you have reached the end of another year, and we hope that you have enjoyed the Crusader as much as we enjoyed making it.

The staff would like to tell you how your annual was compiled. The first step was the choosing of the staff. The staff was divided into three distinct groups, photography, art, and make-up. This year the staff consisted of twenty members.

The next choice, that of appointing the positions on the staff, was difficult. After this was done, we were ready to begin actual work. First, a theme was selected, then pictures were taken, then write-ups, make-up, and publicity all came in rapid succession. Now today, the first of June, nineteen hundred fifty-one, you have the results—YOUR CRUSADER.

We hope for all of you the best of luck and success in the years to come.

Sincerely,

THE 1951 CRUSADER STAFF
