A champion is not almost good, he is even better. It takes a lot to put effort and enthusiasm together. A fight to the finish with just a little more with will power that drives him on for the score. A champ never stops, till the job is done, But even if he loses he still has won.

Due to radiation poisoning within the food at Southeast High School's cafeteria, strange and startling metamorphoses have occurred.

So far there has been no cure. However, Ringling Bros. and Barnum Bailey Circus have offered multi-million dollar contracts.

The following are but a few . . .

. . . unaccounted for strength . . .

...greater agility...

and changes in lifestyle.

ROYALTY

The Knights and Ladies in the following section are true royalty and not just another pretty face. The following students show pride and leadership in their school.

In order to be chosen as a candidate you have to possess a certain grade point average. Some of these students are among the highest in their class.

Respecting the laws of the castle are also an important responsibility that these students uphold.

So as I state again, these people are beautiful in more ways than one. We are proud to have them represent our number one school.

EDITOR'S FAREWELL

Now the time has come for good-byes, thank you's, and to some how try to evoke upon the working staff my deepest appreciation.

This year's yearbook staff was faced with the supreme challenge in putting a yearbook together, Our staff was handed the job of creating a yearbook, yet we lacked a very significant ingredient, experience. However, rather than lie down, we not only took on the challenge, but sought to make it more challenging. This is evident in our decision to turn the yearbook sideways for a calendar effect.

But to even attempt such an endeavor takes special kind of people.

Such people as Mr. Entine, our sponsor who urged us on when things seemed impossible, and brought new meaning to the phrase "Class A". With being a sponsor and photographer the difficulty of your job was increased. However, I knew a person of your magnitude and endurance could pull it off. To say working with you has been an experience is the understatement of the year, maybe the decade.

Beverly, you were one of those people who worked diligently on preparing the assembly, getting people together for pictures, and not to mention preparing layouts. You brought with you your own aura which included everything from laughing and joking to strongly voicing your opinion.

Jose, what can I say? From your dress to your attitude you added a dimension to the staff. You not only did layouts but worked wonders with a camera, not to mention your overly generous contribution in typing. We couldn't have done it without you.

Rhonda, Tangerine, Paul, and Dana you all combined to put together the underclassmen, a task many wouldn't take on. But, not only did you do your required assignment but helped put out additional pages.

Reggie, the faculty layouts worried us to the end. But I knew you wouldn't let us down. With a little help from Marsha you pulled it off, Kevin and Michael, the sports section was put in your hands. Although, some times I did take it out.

Before bidding adieu, I would like to thank some of the people who if by mere suggestions helped enrich this yearbook. Such people as Brenda Marla, Gerald Bobby and Lester Scott. for their miscellaneous deeds.

If I seemed to have gone overboard on the thank you's, it's only because I have learned that you can't do somethings alone.

A Task
A task lies before me
Yet I have not fully grasped this endeavor
It seems to be obliterated
Obliterated, by the idiosyncracies of life
Which say
I must submit! or be cast out
But, cast out of what?
The Crowd?
The Crowd in which lunacy abounds
And uniqueness is unbound
However, I have derived an antidote
An antidote which ingredients consist of Love, Determination, and Faith in God
With this antidote, the murky fog
has turned into but a haze
Within time I will have achieved
complete vision
And my goal will be had
