Redskin Revels

"But I've got enough make-up on!"

"Hello, Mrs. Garfein, is Christy home from school yet?"

After two months of constant rehearsing, skimped studies, late nights, and just plain hard work, the curtain finally went up on 1966 Redskin Revels. And almost two hours later, accompanied by the sound of hundreds of clapping hands, the curtain went down. One of the most colorful shows Southwest has seen in a long time, Revels had everything from a toe dancer to Shakespeare's lines sung to blues.

Mr. Manning, Mr. Oeser, and Mr. DeMarea proved that three heads are better than one. Working as a team, they overcame the near insurmountable problem of turning 350 high school students into 350 shining stars. The man responsible for peppering the school with posters and designing a stylized set was Mr. DeMarea. The man behind the scenes checking the light and sound cues was Mr. Oeser. Needless to add, the man whom everyone turned to for advice was Mr. Manning.

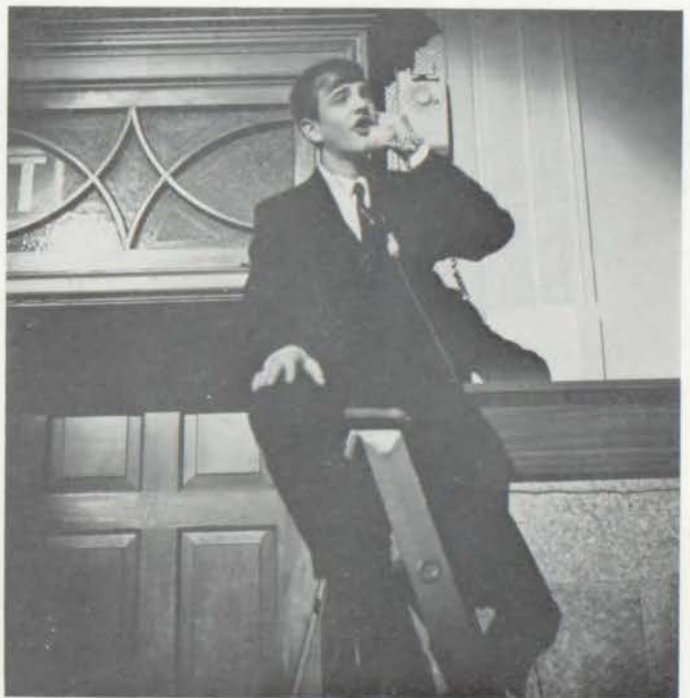

After striking the set, putting away the costumes, and washing off the makeup for the final time, the cast, crew and directors heaved a big sigh. Redskin Revels was all over . . . until next year.

Give a cheer for Peter Gunn!

"I'm going to pat you, doggy."

"You don't know me, but . . ."

"Yah, fudgcicle."

Revels rehearsals were very organized.

Don't they know it's the end of the world?

A glowing example of Southwest talent!

Shakespeare never sounded so blue.

Male Octet

At least five hours every week, Concert Choir goes through the paces. With a majority of juniors and seniors, Choir has 150 members. Singing everything from "Choose Something Like a Star" to "76 Trombones" and everywhere from Southwest assemblies to WDAF Television, Concert Choir has no need to prove its versatility. The District Music Contest has acknowledged it for the past five years by giving Choir "one" ratings. As the teacher-director of the singers, Mr. Manning has every reason to be proud of his vocal groups which make up part of Concert Choir. Naturally, when the National Music Educators' Conference was held in Kansas City on March 17, Mr. Manning was asked to conduct the high school choirs. He led Concert Choir and the others through "Cry Out and Shout," "Psalm 117," and "Breathe on Me Breath of God." Although the students work hard and hold many extra rehearsals, each year Mr. Manning must choose among the many willing students. With such great interest and willingness to work, it is no wonder Concert Choir is an outstanding vocal group.

Every school day during seventh hour, Room 326 echoes with girls' singing voices. They form Girls' Choir; their director is Mr. Manning. However, their talent is not limited just to rehearsals. Redskin Revels was one of the first places they displayed their ability by singing a medley from Carousel. Their other two appearances included seasonal carols at Christmas Vespers and a romantic number in The Music Man. In this year's selections the Girls' Choir showed international taste. Some of the songs they chose were "Gute Nacht," "Going to Bethlehem," "Persian Serenade," and "Russian Picnic."

Going to Warrensburg for the District Music Contest, the girls were anxious, frightened, and hopeful. Returning from Warrensburg, the girls were tired, calm, and pleased with their rating of "one."

A definite addition to any musical event, Girls' Choir reflects the time and effort they put into their work and the talent they have.

Orchestra

An integral part of the Music Department at Southwest, the Orchestra is under the direction of Mr. Alter. Not only did it participate in every musical event at school, but it also was active in many events throughout the city. One of these is the All-City Orchestra, in which Band and Orchestra combined had 23 members.

The Orchestra started the year with musical accompaniment for Redskin Revels. The annual fall "spring concert" was their next school appearance. Combining their efforts with the vocal groups, a lovely Christmas Vespers was produced. In April the two departments again joined together to perform The Music Man. The Orchestra played the last time for the whole school in the National Honor Society Assembly. One of the most outstanding instrumental groups in the area, Southwest has every reason to be proud of its Orchestra.

The Band made its first appearance of the year with the opening of the football season. Under the direction of Mr. Alter and its student conductor, Dick Hubbard, the Band delighted the cheering fans at our games. However, this was just the beginning.

Though everyone knows about the Band's outstanding participation in Redskin Revels and The Music Man, few people know that they placed third at the Warrensburg Marching Band Contest. Together with members of the Orchestra, they received 13 "one" ratings and 14 "two" ratings at the District Music Contest.

In addition to making a name for themselves in state contests, they are well-known in the Kansas City area. The Band acted as an ambassador from our Music Department at Bingham Junior High where they played for an assembly. The Kansas City Band Festival and American Royal Parade were two of their local highlights.

All playing and no work would make them a dull group. Thus, they had a chili supper to raise money. And just to make sure, they had a picnic at the end of the year.

The Mouse That Roared

Once upon a time in a faraway country of Grand Fenwick, there lived a young and beautiful Grand Duchess, Gloriana, with her wonderful subjects. One day she told her Privy Council that Fenwick was in dire need of financial aid. A clever plan was devised. Declaring war on the United States, the Grand Duchy hoped to receive aid for rehabilitation after their defeat. To insure their defeat, the Duchess picked a native forester to lead her untrained soldiers.

Alas, alack, the plan failed! The Duchy's forces returned victorious—with the Q-BOMB! The stalwart soldiers captured an American General, two WACs, and the inventor of the bomb. Because of the country's uncontested victory and their possession of the bomb, the United States surrendered. But their scheme to regain the bomb was thwarted by Fenwick's hero, the forester, who declared he would keep the bomb in order to prevent any aggression in the world. Meanwhile, Gloriana's proposal of marriage was joyously accepted by the forester. America agreed to give money to Fenwick, the prisoners were returned to their homeland, and everyone lived happily ever after.

Love blossoms.

"Would you say this arrow looks fourteenth century European?"
I would say it doesn't exist.

Foreign Exchange

With ideas of millionaires and skyscrapers, Teresa Meira and Wolfgang Wesiack came to Kansas City. From Portugal, Teresa happily surprised us with dress and manner similar to ours. Hailing from Germany, Wolfgang was happily surprised to find lots of trees and front yards in our city. The surprises came to an end as we realized these two were bent on becoming a very integral part of Southwest.

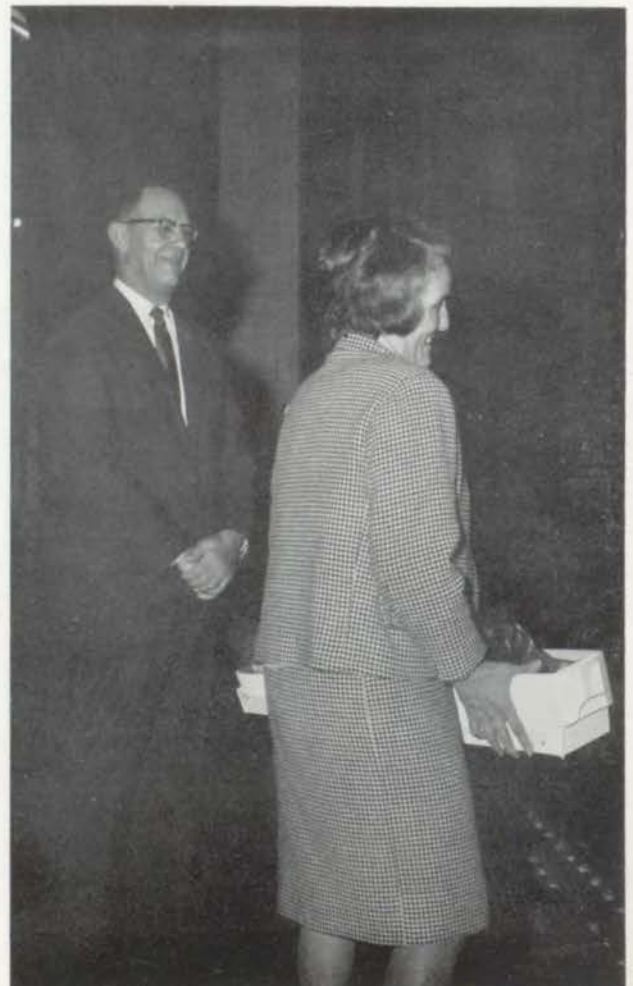

It was not enough for them to attend school seven hours a day. They immediately joined Concert Choir, Pep Club, German Club, International Club, Literary Societies, and "Y" groups. Not willing to be just joiners, both participated in the Operetta and Senior Play. It was apparent they were no longer guests but considered regular members of the student body when Teresa was nominated for Homecoming Queen and Wolfgang elected to be an MASC delegate.

When they leave Southwest this June, they will be missed twofold: for the new perspectives they brought to us, and for their vital participation in our school life. Farewell. Auf Wiedersehen. Adeus.

A blushing Portuguese girl makes a lovely Homecoming Queen candidate.

Marta's mother, Mrs. Cerezales, visits Southwest.

Mr. Cannon presents their class rings.

Last summer while most of us were seeing America, Charlotte Gibson was seeing Turkey. Southwest's AFS student abroad, she learned of her trip two weeks before departure. Once there, though, she could relax, since their way of life is more leisurely.

For six weeks she lived in Bursa with her "parents" and three "sisters." Though the Turkish language is very difficult, Charlotte had little trouble communicating with her 17-year old sister, Meral Kursan. Charlotte was able to visit Mehmet Bankaci and his family in Istanbul for several days. Mehmet was an exchange student at Southwest in 1964.

After seeing and living a completely different way of life, Charlotte feels her whole attitude toward people of other countries has been broadened. She is a strong exponent of the AFS slogan, "Walk together, talk together, all ye peoples of the earth. Then and only then can there be peace."

BLAZE Staff

Making the idea of a literary magazine at Southwest a reality, the Blaze went bravely ahead and published two issues this year. Containing poetry, essays, and short stories, the magazine proved that originality thrives within a sphere of freedom of expression. Having more entries than could be used, the editors had a difficult duty in selecting those articles which were most suitable. In the spring issue, the Blaze printed some of the Literary Contest entries that won. Mr. Kilgore and Miss DeLap gave the staff the necessary guidance in selection of material. The staff has even greater expectations for next year's Blaze, and considering this year's growth it is more than likely that their hopes will become realities.

EVERYBODY, BUT EVERYBODY, READS THE TRAIL. Look in on study halls and the cafeteria on a Thursday and see for yourself. Then look at Room 216. Everyone is reading it. The reasons why are obvious. The Trail informs the student about important school events. The Trail amuses him with its clever poems and witty articles. The Trail scolds him with its editorials.

Two of the more popular innovations of this year's Trail were an unprecedented abundance of pictures and timely editorials. The pictures, which were the results of the efforts of Phil Burns and Phil Burnside, were centralized on picture pages. These single inserts always seemed to be the most borrowed in the home-rooms, which is quite a compliment. The editorials criticized lack of school spirit, audience reaction to assemblies, and the second semester plague—Senioritis.

Not until June does the student reader realize what a service the Trail renders. It has given full coverage to every aspect of school life from SCAT test to College Boards, from Bat Queen to Student Council officers, from valedictorian to athletes, from Orientation Day to Senior Day. No wonder "Everybody, but everybody, reads the Trail."

Posing as a professor of music, fast-talking Harold Hill went to River City, Iowa, to sell the citizens on a boys' band and at the same time rob them of their money. Within a week, he had organized the school board into a melodious quartet, the "ladies" of the town into a classical dancing class, and the little boys into a hopeful band. However, it took him a little bit longer for the librarian to fall in love with him. A month after his arrival all the boys were practicing his "think system" and he was ready to leave town with his ill-gotten gains. Suddenly he realized he could not run away from the librarian and his obligation to the children. In the end, the train arrived bringing the instruments and uniforms and left without Professor Harold Hill who remained in River City to conduct the boys' band.

The Southwest production surpassed even Mr. Manning's expectations of a great show. The cast and all those who worked behind the scenes well deserved all the laurels they received.

"That's our boy!"

"I'd like to get to know you better, too!"

Athena Literary Society got its name from the Greek goddess of wisdom. The purpose and goals of the society rest in that one word, "wisdom." Athena is designed to foster creative writing, so that each member will have a chance to excel in her respective talent. The club's colors are gray and gold. Gray signifies the striving for perfection, and gold signifies the high ideals of the members. Homecomings, carnivals, breakfasts, installation dinners, and elections are all exciting parts of Athena's activities.

The Aurora Literary Society, although still relatively new, won the Contest in 1965. Since the name Aurora means dawn, the club's emblem is, accordingly, the rising sun and setting moon. At the beginning of the year, a fried chicken dinner was held in honor of new members. Aurora's car in the Homecoming Parade was a bunny with the slogan "Hop to Victory."

The famous Delphic oracle, a mystic shrine dedicated to Apollo, the god of fine arts, lends its name to the society. A new year brought an enthusiastic new sponsor, Mrs. Elbert, many new members experiencing a thrilling initiation, and participation in the first Inter-Society Picnic. To stimulate work on contest entries, Mrs. Hanna, an English teacher at Barstow, presented her views on essays and short stories. Flames burned brightly as the new officers were installed. Tokens of each office were exchanged, and the traditional golden locket was presented to the president. Inscribed on it are the words "friendship, authorship, leadership"—traits which members of Delphi proudly display.

Excelsior Literary Society was formed in 1946 through the merging of Baconian and Ruskin societies. Since then, Excelsior has won the cup four times, and has won numerous second and third place awards. Excelsior initiated the inter-society basketball and football games as well as the marriage booth at the carnival. It was a real banner year for Excelsior.

Omega Literary Society was founded in 1951 for the purpose of studying literature and competing with other literary clubs. The name Omega stands for the last letter in the Greek alphabet, which represents culture and civilization. In addition to studying literature, the club participated in many social events, such as breakfasts and this year's Inter-Society Picnic. Both the installation of officers and initiation of new members are interesting activities of the club.

The year Southwest opened, the Sappho Literary Society was formed. The charter members chose Sappho as the name of their club, thus honoring the famous immortal poetess who influenced the world of literature. In order to uphold the principles of Sappho, the members of the club this year participated in "Great Books" discussions. These sessions proved to be interesting as well as beneficial to the members. The girls of Sappho have excelled in scholarship and literary achievement, winning eight literary contests.

Since its founding in 1926, Sesame Literary Society has remained one of the most active and enthusiastic societies at Southwest. 1966 certainly provided no opportunity for exception. After initiating their new members, the girls plunged into the task of preparing winning contest entries. At the same time, they managed to place third in the Homecoming Parade, to participate in the adoption of Christmas families, and to hold various other programs. In all activities, Sesame members strove to attain higher literary levels and to strengthen bonds of friendship.

Thalian derives its name from the classical Thalia, a Greek muse who presided over pastoral poetry. Thalian induces a sense of unity of spirit through the activities in which it participates. Activities assume both a serious and lively aspect. Written material is carefully criticized in aiming for the cup at Contest. This year the club was fortunate to hear Jack Newman discuss the science of graphology. He analyzed several handwritings, including that of Miss Ewalt, club sponsor. The traditional flower, a long stemmed pink carnation tied with blue ribbons, was presented to each Thalian contestant.

Veda, derived from the ancient Hindu books of wisdom and learning, has become a symbol of friendship and cooperation for its members. This symbol is depicted in a locket engraved with the name Veda. From their first candlelight reception to their last early morning breakfast, Veda has been a team of friends always delighted to welcome a new member to the fun of being a Vedan.

Sponsored originally by Mr. Sam See, Zend-Avesta was another of the early literary societies at Southwest. The name is that of the Persian Bible, a keystone in the Zoroastrian religion. Zend-Avesta members claim the distinction of having won the Contest a greater number of times than any other club, eighteen in all, and they proudly display several permanent cups.

Literary Contest

As the clubs march in, the excitement mounts.

As the school year commenced, Southwest's twelve literary societies began to seek new members. At the coke party, each club tried to win the favor of the new students as members boasted of their group's superiority. After selections were final, each new member joined in the fun and spirit of club initiations. It did not take long, however, before the societies settled down to work toward their main objective—the Contest.

Throughout the year members of the literary societies worked diligently, striving for the perfection of short stories, essays, poems, orations, and declamations. Many groups planned special programs geared to instill knowledge and inspiration in a literary realm. For the first time, Southwest held an inter-society picnic at which the members of all the societies could become acquainted.

After deciding (or trying to decide) on dresses, writing and practicing songs and cheers, and, most important, adding final touches to entries, the inter-society contest rapidly approached. On Wednesday, March 30, the orations were given, while Contest night came the following Friday, April 1. It was a night filled with excitement, confusion, and surprises. The cafeteria, the scene of the dinner, unfolded the long-hidden plans of club decorations. Anxiety built when the clubs prepared to march into the auditorium. After all had assembled, the declamations were given. While the scores were being totaled, the societies had an opportunity to show their enthusiasm by using their vocal talent.

When the results were ready, a silence engulfed the room. With six points, Aurora, still a relatively new club, gained possession of the cup for the second consecutive year. Tension and nervousness changed to joy and laughter at the completion of a very successful contest.

Festive decorations add a special touch to the dinner.

To create enthusiasm for scholarship, to promote leadership and service, and to develop character, the Southwest chapter of the National Honor Society was established in 1928. Membership is chosen from the top twelve to fifteen per cent of the senior class and also includes approximately 10 outstanding juniors who perform the induction service the next year. The names of members of the society are registered with the national office in Washington, D. C., and are kept on permanent file in the school office.

As school activities and clubs began organizing for the year, the Pep Club once again claimed the largest membership of any group. With the advent of the football season, school spirit mounted, and season tickets were bought in a flurry of excitement. A Homecoming Parade was successfully carried out, and the long-awaited Homecoming Dance proved to be a truly "Enchanted Evening," as the couples danced to the music of the Jumping Jacks. Bob May and Linda Accurso were voted the peppiest members of the club for football season.

The familiar black sweaters and skirts again filled the stands at basketball games, and cheered the team on to a second place League standing. Highlighting this season was the Basketball Dance, which featured a merry-go-round, in accordance with the "Carousel" theme, and music by the Chesmann. Joel Markowitz and Barbara Akers had the honor of being elected Mr. and Miss Peppy for basketball season.

As the year progressed, additional pep assemblies, like the earlier football and basketball assemblies, were staged; and as before, the Track and Carnival Dances were combined to conclude Carnival festivities.

The larger the crowds are, the stronger the spirit soars.

With the purpose of broadening their own knowledge of the dramatic arts and the scope of interest of Southwest students and faculty, Spotlighter members produced, directed, and starred in two assemblies. The highlights of these assemblies included an old-fashioned melodrama, a touch of "the theatre of the absurd" in Ionesco's "Bald Soprano," the suspenseful "Angel Street," and those never-to-be forgotten firemen in "Still Alarm." Many Spotlighter members represented Southwest at the State and District Speech Contests. A barbecue concluded the year's activities.

The goal for this year's Lettermen's Club was to purchase a motion picture projector for the athletic department. Most of the group's undertakings, such as the Faculty-Varsity basketball game, were centered around this project. The highlight of the year's activities was the naming of Sydney Railing as Sweetheart of the Lettermen's Club. Members of the club dribbled from Southwest to Southeast to start off the Clinton basketball game. "Batman" and "Robin" finished up the dribbling and made an appearance at the Bat Dance where the Sweetheart was announced. The Lettermen's Club encouraged support for all the athletic teams at Southwest.

This year the Senior Tri-Hi-Y members maintained a balanced program consisting of service projects as well as social events. An outstanding service project was held at Hilltop Home for Girls. The members helped to brighten the lives of these girls by decorating Christmas trees, giving Christmas gifts, and putting on a talent show. Among the social events were two potlucks, a hayride, a dance, and an overnight. Since the Senior Tri-Hi-Y is primarily a fellowship and character building organization and stresses leadership training, the group was honored to have eleven members attend a city-wide model legislature, "Youth and Government." A trip to the Ozarks was planned to complete the year.

Senior Tri-Hi-Y

The 1966 Hi-Y was formed during the second semester of the members' junior year. At this time, the club sent representatives to the model legislature, "Youth and Government." This year the club held a dance featuring the group's own "Pi" band. Besides being active at "Y" activities, the band played at various school and outside events. In the field of service, the members organized and performed a talent show for a boys' home during the Christmas season. The members of this year's Hi-Y feel they have accomplished the platform of the club: clean living, clean speech, clean sports, and clean scholarship.

Scherzo is especially designed for the students who are interested in music. Through the various programs the club sponsored this year, each member had an opportunity to gain more knowledge of the musical world. The group was very fortunate to have Jack L. Herriman, assistant conductor of the Kansas City Philharmonic Orchestra and director of the Youth Symphony Orchestra, as a guest at one of their meetings. Mr. Herriman led the club in an enlightening question and answer session. Among its other activities, Scherzo took part in the Homecoming Parade with an original car design, helped to sponsor a Christmas family, and sponsored the annual Philharmonic Assembly. Scherzo members enjoy a relaxed atmosphere at all of their meetings. The club strives to touch upon all phases and types of music in order to appeal to the different interests of each member.

The Art Club was formed for students who show ability and interest in art. To assist its members in developing their artistic skills, the club brought many interesting speakers to Southwest this year. Two exceptional guests were Bob Hollaway who spoke about the life of a commercial artist, and William Fuhri, an art teacher at the Kansas City Art Institute. In addition to these programs, the club made various trips including a journey to the Swope Park Zoo and the American Royal. At the Homecoming Parade, the members improved their own proficiency by sketching. Several young artists gained recognition for their skills in the city-wide Scholastic Art Contest.

This year Deutsche Allerlei's accomplishments extended into varied fields. In December the club journeyed to Hermann, Missouri, an old German settlement, where they visited private homes and businesses, many of which strongly reflected their German heritage. A tape recording prepared by the members and sent to the schools of Wolfgang Wesiack and Teresa Meira, Southwest's foreign exchange students, proved to be a most successful project. The tape included the singing of German songs, as well as statements concerning everyday life at Southwest made by the club members in the German tongue. In athletics, the German Club placed second in football in an inter-language-club tournament, and the club was number one in basketball. In addition to their activities, projects, and athletics, the club participated in the Christmas family program.

Le Cercle Francais has had a busy year filled with interesting programs. The mother of one of the members spoke about the life, ambitions, and feelings of the young people in France. This subject was discussed again when a foreign exchange student visited the club. A program, open to all French students, on French culture including music and ballet by talented members, proved to be an outstanding event. Club members held a dinner in May. Several members were active in the Alliance Francaise. The French Club this year truly worked toward its goal of presenting an opportunity for students to speak French and to learn to appreciate the French language and culture.

The purpose of the Latin Club is to promote fellowship among the Latin students and to stimulate interest in the Latin language and culture. The group toured Linda Hall Library after which they were privileged to hear the director, Dr. Joseph Shipman, speak about the collection of ancient and rare books, written in Latin, which the library owns. Another speaker, Mrs. Katherine Norris, a Spanish teacher at Southwest, discussed "Roman Architecture in Spain," and showed slides. The Saturnalia Festival, which was celebrated in Rome at about the same time as our Christmas holidays, was the occasion of the Latin Club's annual dinner on December 21. The highlight of the year was the Junior Classical League Convention, held on March 12, at the Memorial Christian Church. About 170 members of Latin clubs in various high schools of Kansas City and Raytown, clad in Roman togas and stolas, had an all-day session which included a speaker, a costume contest, a luncheon, and skits.

During the year, the Spanish Club programs helped the members achieve the club's three-fold goal: to give an added opportunity for hearing, speaking, and enjoying Spanish; to hear as many natives of different Spanish speaking countries as possible; to acquaint members better with the culture and thinking of our Spanish speaking neighbors and friends. An outstanding event was a talk given by Nelson Pardo of Venezuela. Following this speech, Mr. Pardo answered questions and showed slides to illustrate his discussion. Another highlight of the year was a visit to the club by Manuel Rojas, a nineteen-year-old Mexican studying at the National University of Mexico. He compared customs and activities of Mexico with those of the United States. An afternoon tea was held for four high school boys and girls from Mexico who were the guests of a member of the Spanish Club. Besides planning successful affairs, the club won the prize for the best float in the Homecoming Parade.

High School Red Cross

The High School Red Cross and Safety Council of Southwest is a service organization, the purpose of which is to coordinate Red Cross and safety activities in the school and community for the benefit of general welfare. Each homeroom representative participates in committee work as well as in meetings to provide a more satisfying club experience and to increase the potential of the Council. Several outstanding events this year included the adoption of ten needy families for the Christmas season, filling seventy Veterans' stockings, and reaching high goals in the United Campaign, March of Dimes, and Red Cross membership drives.

The annual Baby Doll Dance—girls ask boys—once again proved to be a great success. A Tin Can Dance, the proceeds of which went to the Christmas families, was held for the first time. Still another social event, the Sadie Hawkins Dance, provided the necessary funds for purchasing items for the Red Cross Overseas Chests.

In the field of safety, the group sent two representatives to the National Safety Conference last summer. Southwest was elected as the Secretary School of the Missouri Governor's Safety Conference.

This year's Student Council will always be associated with its enthusiastic members, as well as its successful programs. Before the official opening of school, the Summer Activities Council was hard at work. After publishing the "Path," the Council planned a very interesting and informative orientation day for the new students. The annual Back-to-School Dance provided an opportunity for these newcomers to Southwest to become better acquainted. The book exchange was again quite helpful, while the magazine sale was an unprecedented success. The Christmas Card Exchange handled a record 15,000 cards this year! The Christmas spirit was quite aroused by the fabulous "High Spirits" at the Christmas Dance. Spring activities included the annual Carnival and Leadership Dinner. At the M.A.S.C. Convention, Southwest was elected President. Along with this great honor, Southwest will have the privilege of hosting next year's convention. This was truly a year of much achievement, a year which will be difficult to excel.

SPORTS

Although the Indians began their season with a very young team, they matured quickly as time went by. Practice began August 16 and the Tribe readied themselves for their first and toughest games. Center, Springfield Parkview, and Van Horn proved to be formidable foes for Southwest. The Tribe fell 19-6 to the Yellowjackets. Springfield, rated number three in the state, defeated our team 26-13 in a well-played game. Van Horn fought the Indians to a scoreless tie for three quarters and then broke away in the final period to gain a 19-6 victory. It became obvious in this game that better things were in store for Southwest. The following week Paseo found that the Indians were out for scalps as the Pirates fell 26-0.

The Southeast game proved to be the heartbreak of the season. Southwest maintained a one point lead into the final quarter 14-13. A busted punt on the 50-yard line proved to be the undoing of the Indians. The Southeast quarterback, who was back in punt formation, bobbled the snap from center and was forced to run. Starting at the 50-yard line, he picked his way down field and was finally tackled at the 20-yard line. Three plays later Southeast scored to make the total 19-14. Southeast scored again quickly before Southwest had a chance to retaliate with its final touchdown of the game, and the scoreboard read 25-20 in favor of Southeast.

The Tribe closed off the season in a royal manner winning their last four games in a row. East fell 39-6 in the first of two televised games. Westport was overpowered 40-6, and Northeast dropped 27-18 to the surging Indians. Lincoln was defeated in the closing minutes of our Homecoming game, 13-7, in a come-from-behind victory. This game brought the Indians undisputed possession of third place in the Interscholastic League with a five win—two loss record in league play. Southwest had a five win—four loss record over-all.

Outstanding performances were turned in by all members of the team. Long runs by Frank Tutera and Richard Parsons highlighted many games. Bill Robinson continued to give opposing linemen headaches with his power running. Both Van Marquis and Bob Jones were top passers in the league. Our defense showed tremendous desire and fortitude against larger and more experienced teams.

Van Marquis, W. D. Livingston, Barry McIntyre, Richard Parsons, Frank Tutera, and Cecil Chappelow won Honorable Mention All-City. Bill Robinson and Jay Harrington received berths on the All-City Second Team, and Bill Robinson also received Honorable Mention All-District. Though these players won special recognition, no one person can be given all the credit. The Indians won and lost as a team, a team of which Southwest can be very proud.

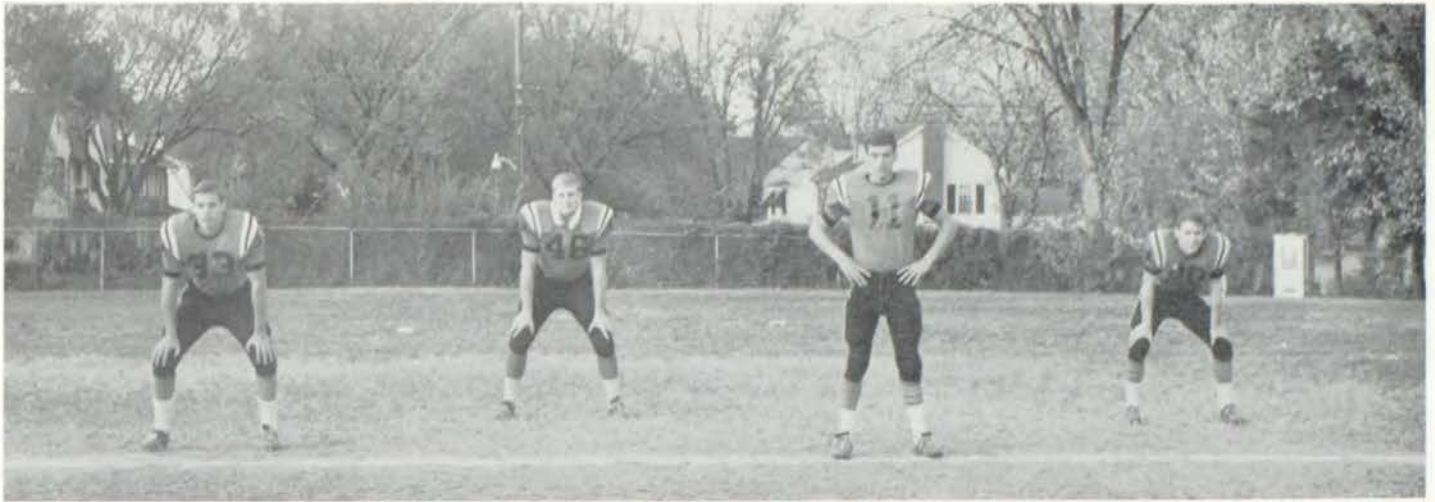

A sad ending to the Southeast game.

Basketball

Southwest has, in the past years, had a number of good basketball teams; but this year's was the best. Among their many accomplishments were: Second Place in the Pem-Day Tournament, Second Place in the Interscholastic League behind state champion Central, Fourth Place in Regionals, Tenth Place in The Kansas City Star's final area High School Basketball Poll, the satisfaction of defeating the number one ranked team in the area, and a season's record of 13—9.

The Indians' most successful season in ten years began with the defeat of Pem-Day in the opening round of the Pem-Day Tournament. The next night the Indians dropped a 44 to 50 decision to Paseo for a second place finish. The Pre-Season League Tournament saw Southwest fall to both Manual and Southeast while defeating Van Horn by a score of 82 to 73. The following week the Tribe began its season against Central, always a tough team. Southwest led 38 to 36 at half time, but lost the game with bad passes and by missing ten free throws for a final score of 69 to 75. Bad passes also took their toll in the next game as Van Horn defeated the Indians by a score of 63 to 60.

The Southeast game was one of the most exciting of the year. It was resolved in the last ten seconds with two free throws by Fritz Ziegler. From this point on the Tribe rolled to six straight victories in Interscholastic League competition. Manual lost 54 to 51 as Curt Barvick helped out with 19 points. East didn't stand a chance as they were beaten 76 to 57. Westport gave the Southwest fans a terrible fright in the first quarter as they scored 27 points to the Tribe's 14. The Indians extinguished the fire and went on to win 80 to 69 as Fritz collected his season's high of 30 points. Northeast also had trouble with the Indians. Fritz Ziegler, Curt Barvick, and Bill Cater scored nine more points than the entire Northeast team.

Southwest gained revenge on Paseo for the earlier defeat as they ran by the Pirates 79 to 57. Bernie Sears with 11, Keith Lieppman with 15, Fritz Ziegler with 18, and Curt Barvick with 19 points and a tremendous defensive effort against Roy Wahlen turned the tide. The Tribe won undisputed second place the following week with a high scoring victory against Lincoln, a balanced attack with Ziegler scoring 27 and four other Indians scoring in double figures in the 92 to 77 game. On the strength of their record and these two impressive victories, the Indians were rated number ten in the final poll for the entire Kansas City area.

The following night the Indians defeated the team ranked number one in the area, Rockhurst. Playing as well as any state champion team could, Southwest combined teamwork, tight defense, and 26 points by Fritz Ziegler to defeat the Hawklets in the most exciting game of the year. Illness of two stars dashed the hopes for a state championship team but very few fans will complain about the 1965-1966 season.

Bill Cater, Steve Weneck, and Bob Jones received Honorable Mention All-City. Curt Barvick, rated one of the best defensive players in the league, made Second Team All-City, Honorable Mention All-Metro, and Honorable Mention All-District. Fritz Ziegler, leading scorer in the Interscholastic League for the past two years, won first team honors All-City, All-Metro, All-District, and All-State, making him one of the most sought after athletes at Southwest in years.

Track

Tom McDonnell sends the shot farther than anyone else.

Scott Curry proves his mastery of the pole vault.

This year's track squad showed unusual strength in field events, sprints, and in the relays. Tom McDonnell and Bill Cosgrove putting the shot, Scott Curry pole vaulting, and Keith Lieppman high jumping could always be depended upon in their respective events. Dick Hubbard, Bruce Smith, and Mike Clayman were top competitors in the sprints and our relay teams placed in most of the meets.

Keith Lieppman shows the style that won him Second Place at the State Indoor Meet.
