This is Southwest: the faded impressions and the things remembered as yesterday . . . . the run for a touchdown, the meeting in the library, the test botched, the rehearsal missed, the dance that flopped, the agony of defeat and the thrill in victory, the record broken, the queen crowned . . . . and new faces and new teachers and new methods and new ideas about something never thought of before . . . . and a time for fun, but never enough time for study . . . . and ice on the sidewalk and rain on a window . . . . scenes of laughter and drama . . . . pledges given and heads bowed in prayer and dirty jeans and white socks and old jokes and cold days and that doesn't matter and see ya around and who cares anyway . . . .

It seemed I was a mite of sediment
That waited for the bottom to ferment
So I could catch a bubble in ascent.
I rode up on one till the bubble burst
And when that left me to sink back reversed
I was no worse off than I was at first.
I'd catch another bubble if I waited.
The thing was to get now and then elated.

—Robert Frost

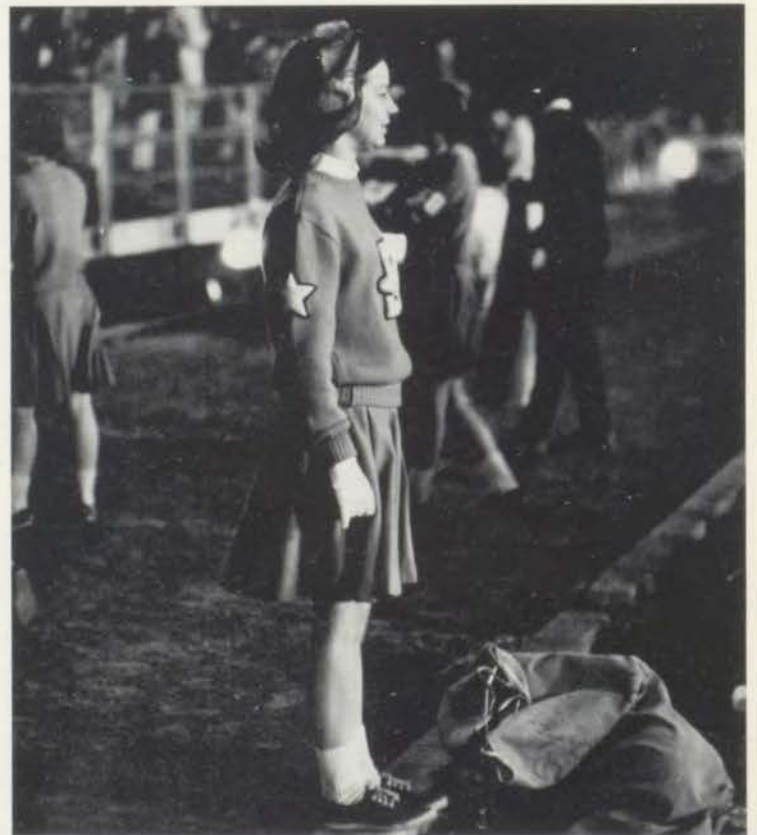

Never more will the wind
Cherish you again,
Never more will the rain.

Never more
Shall we find you bright
In the snow and wind.

The snow is melted,
The snow is gone,
And you are flown:

Like a bird out of our hand,
Like a light out of our heart,
You are gone.

—H. D.

You must not seek to add what you had to what you have,
You cannot be both what you are and what you were.
You haven't the right to have everything; that is forbidden.
One happiness is every happiness; two, and it's as if they had never been.
— C. F. Ramuz

What is our innocence, what is our guilt? All are naked, none is safe. And whence is courage: the unanswered question, the resolute doubt,— dumbly calling, deafly listening—that in misfortune, even death,

encourages others
and in its defeat, stirs the soul to be strong? He sees deep and is glad, who accedes to morality
and in his imprisonment, rises upon himself as the sea in a chasm, struggling to be free and unable to be,
in its surrendering
finds its continuing.

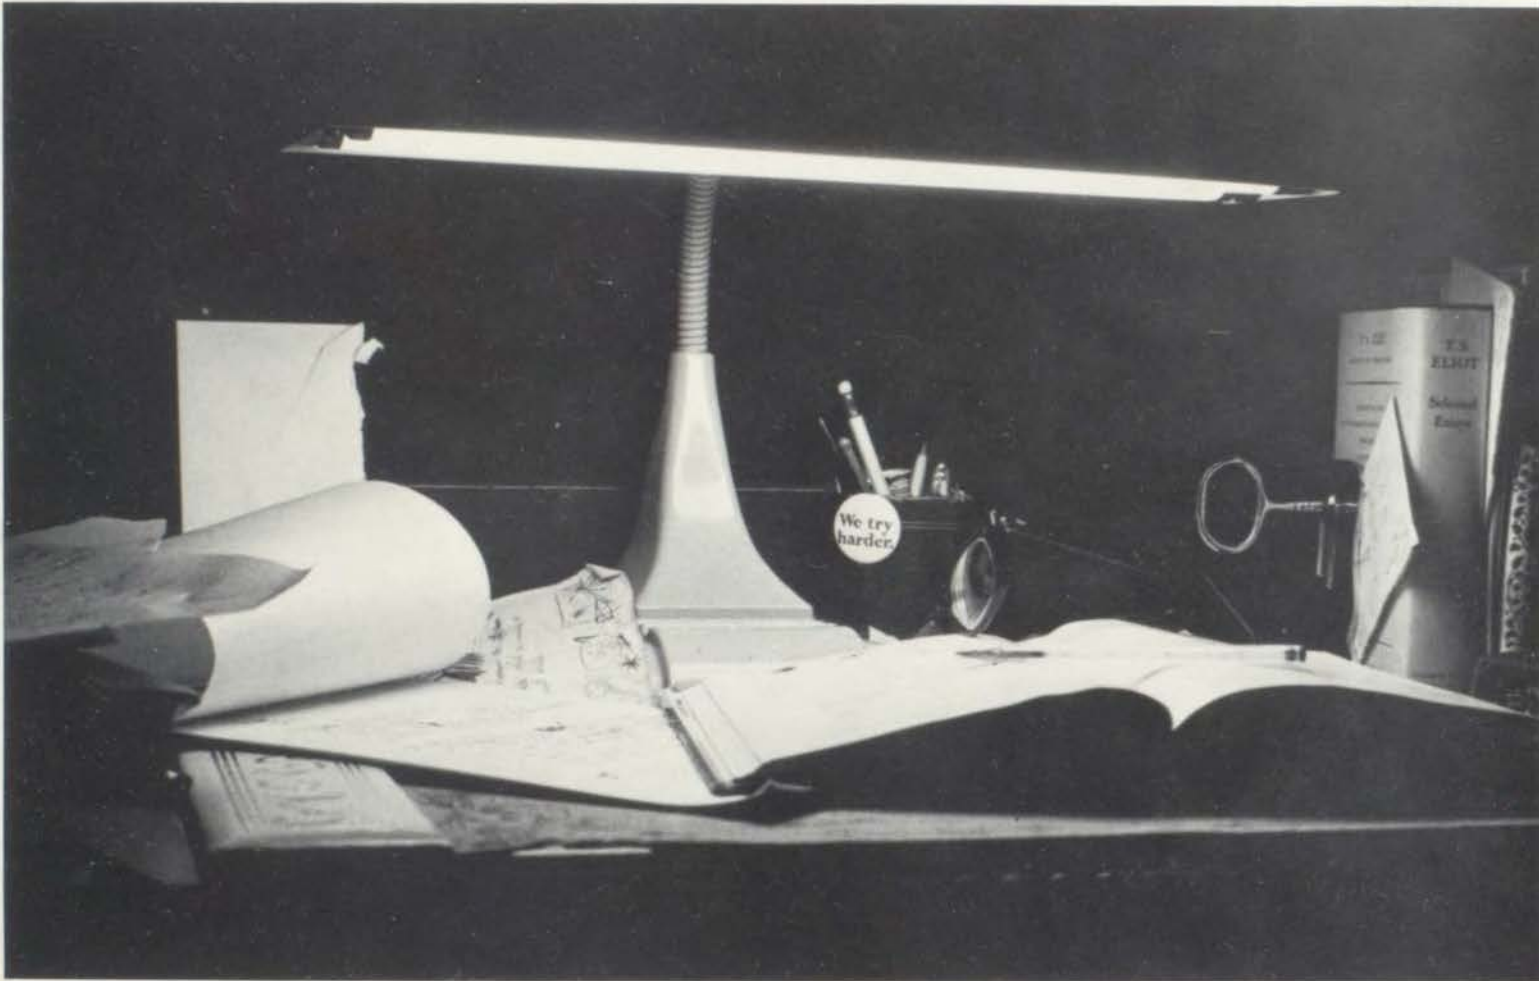

So he who strongly feels,
behaves. The very bird,
grown taller as he sings, steels
his form straight up. Though he is captive, his mighty singing
says, satisfaction is a lowly thing, how pure a thing is joy.

This is mortality,
this is eternity.

—Marianne Moore

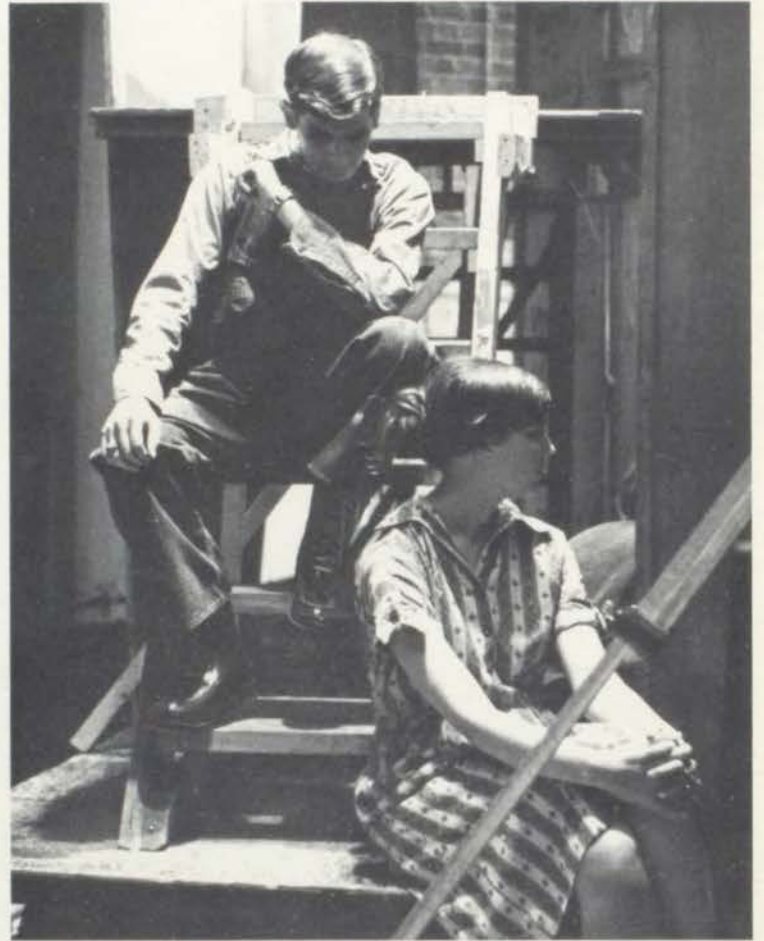

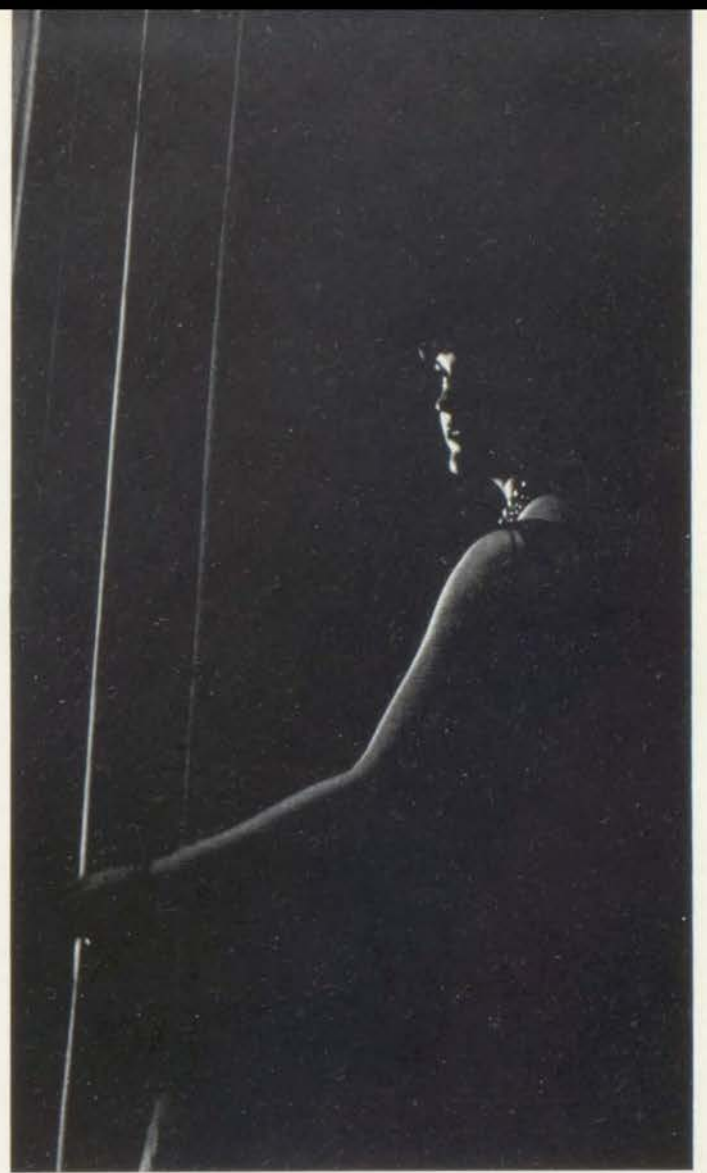

There will be time, there will be time
To prepare a face to meet the faces that you meet;
There will be time to murder and create,
And time for all the works and days of hands
That lift and drop a question on your plate;
Time for you and time for me,
And time yet for a hundred indecisions,
And for a hundred visions and revisions,
Before the taking of a toast and tea.

—T. S. Eliot

Southwest . . . its experiences have moulded the moods of our memory and the pattern of our lives . . . .

Motivation

Administration

Southwest created a year of discovery. It was a year that began with the Summer Activities Council meeting and August football practice and orientation day. Yet, its recorded date of birth was September 7, 1966. Things, at first, were confused and seemed to move slowly. Then, old friendships were re-kindled and new friendships were formed. What was said in class began to "make sense." A feeling of unity and comradeship developed from a championship football team and frequent assemblies and Revels rehearsals. There were elections fraught with drama and a Christmas dance with two bands and the day school was snowed out. Then, the second semester came and there were changes. For some, classes began to "drag" along and the monotony of school seemed to mount; but for others, there was the Operetta or the Literary Contest or the MASC convention or the Carnival. Yet for all, there was a multiplicity of experiences that created a succession of impressions.

The year ended in June. What had taken months to create was hastily disassembled. The pieces were separated; but the effect of their union lingered, for the former pattern of experience had fashioned the lives and memories of the individuals that had once moved and discovered together.

This year's Student Council followed in the active, enthusiastic path of past Councils. Even before the opening of school, students were working in the Summer Activities Council to plan for the coming year. This group published the Path and sponsored the annual Orientation Day activities as a helpful gesture toward newcomers to Southwest. The Summer Council also coordinated the Book Exchange where students could buy used books at reduced prices, and organized the Back-to-School Dance which lent a bright note to the opening of school.

Soon after the opening of school, the Council began making plans for the convention of the Missouri Association of Student Councils. Along with these activities, the traditional duties of the Council were fulfilled such as the Christmas Card Exchange. The holidays brought the opportunity for the annual Christmas dance. With music provided by the Red Dogs and the Blue Things, the dance was a great success.

The second semester began with the excitement of hosting and presiding over the MASC Convention. The exuberance continued as the Spring Dance and the Leadership Dinner were held. The Carnival was, as usual, a big success. Certainly this year was one filled with efforts and achievements not soon to be forgotten.

MASC Convention

Weeks of preparation preceded the Missouri Association of Student Councils convention held at Southwest this year. Finding the housing for the 1000 delegates was the greatest challenge. Other preparations included making arrangements for speakers, entertainment, a banquet and dance, and transportation.

The delegates began arriving Thursday. By convention time Friday morning all had been processed in the sometimes frantic registration. The day began with a general assembly in which Mark Wasserstrom gave the keynote address, emphasizing the theme that "A leader is best when people hardly know he exists." Afterwards, nominations were made for new officers. Humorous skits were staged for the nominees. Then the delegates split into two groups, one eating lunch while the other viewed a talent show. Discussions followed lunch as the delegates covered many topics from the forgotten student to group dynamics. Friday night a candlelight banquet was held, followed by a dance.

Another general session was held Saturday during which the balloting for new officers took place. The ballots were promptly counted, and the new officers were presented. They included Hickman High, Columbia, president school. The meeting adjourned with a friendship circle. Students left with feelings of accomplishment and the beginnings of many friendships.

Fulton was up in the air over MASC.

Wendy Batson discusses housing problems with a newly arrived delegation.

Mark Wasserstrom and the triumvirate receive a plaque for the school from the state MASC secretary.

Paul Wilson finally gets the hang of it.

Rick Curtis and Bob Pearlstein attempt to direct a lost sponsor to his motel.

Lynda Owen looks for a misplaced registration packet.

Confusion prevails when all the delegates try to get their baggage—at the same time.

This year the Southwest Red Cross Council distinguished itself both in and out of school. Southwest, as usual, received safety commendations. In addition, the school served as Vice-President school for the Missouri State Traffic Safety Conference. Sponsoring many worthwhile activities within the school, the Red Cross made itself known during the year. Beginning with the United Campaign and the March of Dimes, the Council devoted itself to several service projects. With the help of other Southwest clubs and those who attended the Tin Can Dance, the Red Cross provided food and clothing for ten families at Christmas. To raise money for some of its projects, the council sponsored two girl-ask-boy dances—the Baby Doll Dance when Keith Lieppman was chosen Mr. Baby Doll and the spring Sadie Hawkins Dance. Another spring activity was Safety Week, held to promote student consciousness of common safety precautions. A rousing assembly concluded the week's activities, but not its effect. The Red Cross Council members worked busily this year and achieved many desirable goals.

Pep Club activities began long before school opened this year. Officers and enthusiastic members worked throughout the summer making banners, planning the Back-to-School Dance, and organizing the club for the year. Almost the moment school opened, Pep Club membership rose to about 500.

During the football season large crowds flocked to the stadium to see our team win the league championship. The climax came with the annual Homecoming Dance where the theme of Camelot created the background for the crowning of Christi Merrill as Homecoming Queen. At the end of the season David Morgan and Cindy Goodson were elected Mr. and Miss Peppy.

Pep Club members continued to support our teams during the basketball season. The "Honor Nine," nine hard-working senior girls, was formed to wear letters spelling out S-O-U-T-H-W-E-S-T. Mary Alice Lang was crowned queen at the successful Basketball Dance with the theme of Winter Wonderland. Mr. and Miss Peppy for the season were Phil Coulson and Debby Sandbrook.

Still full of spirit, the Pep Club supported the track team. A profitable Track Dance was held the night of Carnival to bring another year to an exciting close.

The Lettermen's Club is an organization that seeks to promote fellowship among varsity athletes, increase school spirit, uphold the school's athletic standards, and render constructive service to Southwest High School. Among its members are athletes and managers from Southwest's football, basketball, swimming, wrestling, track, tennis, and golf teams. At all football and basketball games this year club members formed pep sections to arouse spirit and give support to our competing athletes.

Candidates, in order to qualify for Lettermen's jackets, have served the school as MASC drivers and decorators, and have offered their homes for housing. They have also done improvement work on the football fields, track, and locker rooms. In addition, Lettermen have successfully executed the duties of the Cafeteria Courtesy Committee.

Mixing pleasure with their work, the Lettermen sponsored their annual spring dance and the Carnival's "Dunk-a-Go-Go."

One of the youngest clubs at Southwest, the Alethea Literary Society was created in 1963 to accommodate the increasing number of girls desiring membership in a literary society. The society's symbols are a book, which represents the means of attaining knowledge, and a candle, whose flame signifies the light of learning and truth. The colors of the society are red and white. Though they work hard on their Contest entries all year, the enthusiastic girls find time to indulge in several other worthwhile and enjoyable projects.

Since the laurel wreath has long been used in classical literature as a symbol of triumph, it is an appropriate symbol for Athena Literary Society, for one of the club's most important goals is triumph at Contest. Named for the Greek goddess of wisdom, Athena also strives for increased knowledge in the literary field, as well as friendship and individual creativity. The club's colors are gray and gold. Gray is said to signify the striving for perfection; and gold, the most precious of metals, symbolizes the high ideals of the members of Athena.

Formed in 1963, the Aurora Literary Society is one of the youngest societies at Southwest. Despite this fact, Aurora won the Contest twice in its first three years of existence. The name Aurora means dawn, signifying the beginning of a day. Accordingly, the emblem of the club is the rising sun and the setting moon on a dark background to represent night. The colors of the club are navy blue and white. In addition to their usual hard work on the club's entries for the Literary Contest, the girls participate in several other projects.

The Delphi Literary Society is named after the sacred and mystic shrine which the ancients dedicated to Apollo, the god of fine arts. The club's colors, blue and gold, symbolize the unclouded blue of the heavens and the living gold of the sun. A tradition of the club is a golden locket inscribed with the words "friendship, authorship, leadership," traits which the members of Delphi strive to achieve. In addition to participating in various club activities, the members devote much of their time to perfecting their Contest entries.

Excelsior Literary Society was formed in 1946 through the merging of Baconian and Ruskin to bolster the dwindling membership of each club. Since then, Excelsior has won the cup four times and has won numerous second and third place awards. The name of the society reflects the members' goal in its meaning of "still higher." Excelsior's insignia is snow-capped mountains against a red and black background. Excelsior has always been noted for originating new and different trends and this year was no exception for the club.

Omega Literary Society was founded in 1951 for the purpose of studying literature and competing with other societies at Contest. The name of the society comes from the last letter in the Greek alphabet, which signifies culture and civilization. This letter Omega, shaped like a horseshoe, is the symbol of the club. The club's colors are pink and gray. In addition to studying literature, the club members participate in many other activities and work throughout the year on entries for the Inter-Society Literary Contest.

Sappho Literary Society was the first literary society to be formed at Southwest. The charter members chose Sappho as the name of their club, thus honoring the famous Greek poetess who wandered through the islands composing verse and instructing young girls in her art. The emblem of the club includes a quill representing literature, a flaming torch representing leadership, and an open book representing learning. Striving to continue in Sappho's tradition of excellence, the club has won the Literary Contest eight times.

Since the club was founded in 1926, the members of Sesame Literary Society have striven to maintain high standards of scholarship. Sesame takes its name from the Ancient Tales of the Arabian Nights, in which it served as a password to untold wealth and opportunity. Succeeding in finding this wealth, the members of Sesame have won possession of the cup nine times. The club's colors are pink and white, derived from a small desert flower indicating the presence of water, counterpart to the lasting friendship among the girls.

The last of the boys' literary societies to be organized, Summus Literary Society boldly claims to be the "best" as its name, when translated from the Latin, means "highest." Its members also boast that even when spelled backwards, Summus still denotes the "best." Summus has as its goal the enrichment of the literary talents of each member, as well as an appreciation for all types of literature. Each year the members strive to achieve this goal by devoting much of their time to their entries for the Inter-Society Literary Contest.

Following the classical tradition, Thalian derived its name from Thalia, the Greek muse who presided over pastoral poetry. Thalian strives to induce a sense of unity of spirit through the activities in which its members participate. Activities include both serious and lively pursuits. Those whose entries are selected for the Contest are presented with long-stemmed pink carnations tied with blue ribbons. The members of Thalian continue to uphold the excellent standards which were instilled in the club by the charter members.

Trista Literary Society was newly formed this year. However, the girls are enthusiastic and are endeavoring to instill in Trista the high standards displayed by the other literary societies at Southwest. The name Trista comes from the Latin word meaning sadness. Another source of the name is a book of sad stories and poems called Trista. The girls chose yellow and white as their club colors. The members of Trista have high hopes for their society and have amazed everyone with their activities this year.

Zend-Avesta was another of the early literary societies at Southwest. The charter members took the name of the society from the Persian Bible, a keystone of the Zoroastrian religion. Striving to uphold the standards of excellence which were originally instilled in the club, members of Zend-Avesta Literary Society claim the distinction of having won the Contest a greater number of times than any other society, eighteen times in all, and they proudly display several permanent cups. This year as usual the Z-A's worked hard on entries.

Literary Contest

Soon after school started, Southwest's twelve literary societies began to seek new members. At the annual coke party present members and prospective members became acquainted as the former extolled the virtues of their clubs. After selections had been made, new members joined in the gaiety of club initiations.

When the societies had completed their memberships, work began on entries for the Fortieth Annual Literary Contest. Many hours were spent polishing oral and written entries in hopes of a shining medal. Weeks were spent in the making or buying of dresses, writing and practicing songs and cheers, and the originating of an entrance.

On Wednesday, March 29, the orations were judged in the auditorium after school. The actual Contest night, March 31, held excitement as well as confusion. After the pre-Contest dinner in the gaily decorated cafeteria, each society made its entrance into the auditorium. After declamations were given, the baton was passed and each club made itself known through songs and cheers while the scores were being totaled.

Excitement mounted before the announcement of the results of the Contest. For the third year in a row Aurora won First Place, gaining permanent possession of the cup. This time Aurora tied for first with Zend-Avesta. Nervous apprehension turned to delight or disappointment at the close of another successful Literary Contest.

The afternoon is spent decorating the auditorium.

Linda Kelly accepts a permanent cup for Aurora.

Football

The lights of the scoreboard shifted through the final seconds of the season's concluding game. Suddenly a row of zeros appeared, and the motion stopped. The shivering mass of orange and black, which had stood in nervous anticipation, became ecstatic, for Southwest's most successful football team since 1951 had captured the 1966 INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP.

The Indians had devoted many hours to practice. Each game was an important step to the final triumph—a triumph that gave Southwest its first undefeated and untied league record in fifteen years. The championship would not have been possible without the experienced guidance of Head Coach Robinson, Line Coach Weyforth, and Backfield Coach Moriarty; but victory lay in the personal responsibility felt by each member for the success of the team.

Compiling an over-all record of eight wins, one loss, and one tie, the Indians opened the season with three non-league games. The first ended in a non-decisive deadlock with Rockhurst. Springfield Parkview came into Southwest's second game with the determination to remain high in the state standings. Although the Indians were unable to slow Parkview's drives, the effect of this game was clear for it was the only loss of the season. The final non-league contest ended in a 20-17 victory over Northeast.

In the first Interscholastic League game, Southwest blanked Manual 29-0. During the first half, Bill Robinson kicked the only field goal made by any league team this year.

The most decisive game of the season, the defeat of Van Horn, put Southwest well on its way to the championship. The Falcons scored first on a 30-yard drive after recovering an Indian fumble. Late in the first half Frank Tutera hauled in a Richard Parsons pass to pull the Indians within one point of Van Horn. Southwest moved ahead in the third quarter when Keith Lieppman carried a 47-yard pass to the Van Horn three, and Richard Parsons scored up the middle. In the same period Frank Tutera intercepted a pass, and on the first play from scrimmage Southwest countered right and Richard Parsons sprinted 78 yards for the clinching touchdown.

Perhaps the closest contest of the season was the Homecoming game with Paseo. With no score by either team, Richard Parsons broke away midway in the final quarter on a quick pitch left, to give Southwest a 7-0 victory. The following week the Indians slaughtered our traditional rivals, Southeast, 42-6.

Southwest was slow in acquiring the needed points to defeat East, its next opponent. But the Indians exploded in the third quarter for three touchdowns to break a 6-6 deadlock.

In the game with Westport, Southwest came dangerously close to another tie. From the opening play of the game Southwest dominated, containing Westport loughby—T, Dick Muther—QB, Marshall Whitt—C, Don Emery—T, Richard Parsons—HB, Craig Ewing—E. SECOND ROW: Frank Tutera—HB, Steve Helphingstine—T, Rick McDermott—G, David Wysong—C, Larry Schall—G, Bob Wolf—QB, Jerry Keller—G, Paul Melcher—HB, Jim Bowes—G, Dirk Vandever—C, Jim Wood—G. and scoring two touchdowns. Then, in the final minutes of the fourth quarter, the Tigers fired back to score twice. With 1:49 left, the mud-packed Indians captured the ball on their 49, and ground out 51 yards in six plays for the winning touchdown. With this triumph, Southwest secured at least a tie for the league championship.

A victory in the final game of the year was imperative. It had become a matter of pride; for if the Indians were defeated, they would have to share the league title with Central. A long week of strenuous practice prepared Southwest, and the team entered the game ready to crush Central. During the contest the offense had difficulty in moving consistently, but the defense held tight and Central fell to their own mistakes. The first two scores came when Central's center bobbled two long snaps, and Southwest received the ball on the 26 and 1-yard lines, respectively. The Indians scored twice in the fourth quarter on a fumble and a blocked punt. The Eagles were held to 12 yards total ground gain in this overwhelming 25-7 victory which had been predicted to be a "close" game.

The 1966 team proved to be an unbeatable com-ination: an offense that balanced the passing threat with a strong ground game and a defense that allowed the opposition an average of only 6.4 points per game in league play. Southwest was rated by the Kansas City Star as the fourth best team in the area—the highest listing for a Missouri team. Keith Lieppman (E), Jerry Keller (G), Barry McIntyre (LB), and Chris Lockwood (T) took first string All-City honors. Richard Parsons (HB), Frank Tutera (HB), Rick Pereles (E), and Stuart Willoughby (G) won berths on the second team. Fred Coulson (E), Steve Helphingstine (T), Larry Schall (G), Dirk Vandever (C), Bob Dostal (LB), and Bill Robinson (FB) were honorably mentioned. Keith Lieppman went on to be named as a first string end on the All-Metropolitan squad. At the district level, Keith Lieppman and Chris Lockwood were placed on the first and second teams respectively. Bob Marquis (QB), Rick Pereles, and Jerry Keller received honorable mention. One of Southwest's finest athletes, Keith Lieppman was highly acclaimed in his selection as a first string end on the All-State All-Star team. Yet these were but small honors compared to the personal satisfaction and pride that came with a championship team.

End Keith Lieppman struggles to break loose from Central.

At the snap of the ball, the offensive line fires out.

Pads crack, as Barry McIntyre hits Van Horn for a loss.

Tensions mount before the opening kickoff.

As the hole develops, halfback Richard Parsons scrambles for yardage against Van Horn.

Basketball

Southwest opened the 1967 basketball season ranked fifth in the league. Coach Tom Kipp was optimistic because the team had five returning lettermen and they were all good hustlers. The tribe had size in Keith Lieppman and Bill Schopflin, both 6'3" seniors, but the coach was concerned about any Indian's ability to throw his size around for a good defense. The main disadvantage was the team's low percentage in shooting, although Bernie Sears diligently tried each game to raise the average from twenty-two to an ideal thirty-five per cent.

Taking on some of Kansas City's finest teams in its non-league schedule, Southwest broke a nine-game streak of losses with a stunning 57-52 upset over Pem-Day. The game was resolved in the fourth quarter when Keith Lieppman added two points to break a tie. Then Bill Schopflin scored, and Bernie Sears made the final points to give the Indians their first success.

Confident of themselves, the team emerged victorious over Westport in the next game. With 0:28 to go, Bernie Sears connected the winning throws. After three more defeats, the tribe overpowered East 66-48. Led by Keith Lieppman at the outset of the third quarter, Southwest made prodigious gains for a necessary triumph.

The best game of the season was the five-point loss to Benton of St. Joseph. All four quarters were played by Harold Lasley, Keith Lieppman, Barry McIntyre, Bernie Sears, and Bill Schopflin. As a result of their successful efforts, the team's shooting average rose to thirty-seven per cent. This defeat set the trend for the next games against Paseo, Lincoln, and Central.

However, Southwest proved challenging to third-ranked Paseo, who was assured of victory only in the concluding seconds. Keith Lieppman continually stole the ball from a 6'7" Pirate, and was the high scorer and rebounder of the game. The press team which compounded the threat consisted of Bud Davis, Bernie Sears, Gary Remley, Harold Lasley, and Keith Lieppman.

At the close of the season letters were awarded to seniors Harold Lasley, Keith Lieppman, Barry McIntyre, Bernie Sears, and Bill Schopflin, and juniors Bud Davis, John Cullen, Bob Wolf, Wayne Noel, and Gary Remley.

Track

Throughout the 1967 track season Southwest's team continually proved that it could compete with the outstanding schools of the league. Many of the meets in which the tribe participated were characterized by a new school record in any one of the running events. At Shawnee-Mission East Chuck Howard set a new time for the 880 with 2:00.4. In the 180-yard low hurdles, Bruce Smith cut off two-tenths of a second from the previous record of 0:19.4. Again at the William Jewell Relays, in which Southwest placed fourth out of thirty teams, Bruce Smith demonstrated his skill. He lowered the state record of 0:19.1 in the 180 low hurdles to 0:18.5, and Keith Lieppman finished second in the high jump. The mile relay team of Pat Tyrrell, Bob Oliver, Harold Lasley, and John Burrell came in fourth; and Mike Wenig ranked fifth in the 220 at William Jewell.

Although everyone on the team did not set new records, each athlete who entered an event was important. Senior Bill Faulkner and sophomore Chris Cooper excelled as pole vaulters. Juniors Bill Ennis and Barry Jeffries were good distance men. Junior Carl Swenson and sophomore Mike Wenig showed their talents in sprinting. Junior Gordon Wheeler exhibited his ability in hurdling, and sophomore Jeff Selsor in the mile.

This year, because of illness, George Ewing did not coach the track team. His record included many successful years, and in 1955, 1957, and 1958 his teams were state champions. Taking Coach Ewing's place was Coach Bob Tavernaro. Working with him was Junior Varsity Coach Bill Robinson and Freshman Coach Larry Allen.

Senior Keith Lieppman, ranking second in the state for the high jump at 6'4", attempts to clear six feet.

Dick McDonnell follows through for a forty-seven foot throw.

Jim Niedermeyer—a study in concentration.

This year the Southwest golf team held prospects for being one of the best in the city. Led by senior Jim Niedermeyer, qualifier for the U.S.G.A. National Junior Open, and junior Dave Newquist, Kansas Amateur Second Flight Champion, the team lost only one of its opening matches. The team's first victory was over Paseo with junior John Snedden shooting a 39. In the second match Jim Niedermeyer fired a sub-par 35 to lead the team to a win over De La Salle. Then, with Niedermeyer and Newquist pairing 37's and 39's in the next matches, Southwest defeated Northeast and Van Horn to lead the league.

Tennis

Under the direction of Coach Michael Bosch, the 1967 Southwest tennis team was equipped with an abundance of talent. This year's singles squad consisted of freshman Bill McGowan, sophomore Greg Michalson, senior Russ Baker, juniors Andy Hannas and Luis Rivera, and sophomore Rich Prezebel. The doubles in descending order of their team rank were Greg Michalson and Russ Baker, Bill McGowan and Rich Prezebel, and Luis Rivera and Charlie Hawley.

The team demonstrated its strength by playing perfect matches against Northeast and North Kansas City.

Most of Southwest's success was due to the experienced skill of Bill McGowan who did not seem capable of losing a match throughout the season. During the summer of 1966 he placed first in the Heart of America Tournaments which included athletes from Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Nebraska. Greg Michalson also began the tennis season with honors. He ranked fourth in the Heart of America Tournaments and thirteenth in the Missouri Valley.

Wrestling

Warren Heaton executes an excellent Mongolian topple fall.

A season of nine victories against three defeats was highlighted by taking first place in the Interscholastic League match. Southwest showed tremendous potential for next year by securing four first places with sophomores and juniors in the final match. Winners for the Indians were Dick Wasserstrom, sophomore, 103 pound division; Bruce Graham, sophomore, 112 pound division; Paul Wilson, junior, 127 pound division; and Doug Baker, junior, 133 pound division. Second places were captured by Dave Miller, sophomore, 95 pounds; Ron Linsey, freshman, 154 pounds; Rod Brody, sophomore, heavy-weight. Seniors placing second were Larry Haith, 145 pounds; and Fred Coulson, 165 pounds.

Coach Larry Allen and Coach Bob Tavernaro presented the wrestlers with awards for their outstanding performances during the season. Mike Waxman received a trophy for the Most Aggressive Freshman, Ron Linsey for Most Improved, Doug Baker for Most Points, and Warren Heaton for Most Pins. Sixteen freshmen received Freshman letters, and seventeen sophomores received Junior Varsity letters. The Varsity lettermen were Fred Coulson and Warren Heaton, Co-Captains, and Larry Haith, Bill Suess, Russell Byars, Denis Anthony, Louis Nerman and Rick Pereles, all seniors. Juniors receiving Varsity letters were Paul Wilson and Doug Baker, who took a record place in District and a third in the Regional match. Sophomores honored with Varsity letters were Bruce Graham, Dick Wasserstrom, and Mark Wheeler.

Swimming

Southwest's swimmers had their finest year since the sport was begun here in 1961. Working with the largest group of candidates in the team's history, Coach Jack Weyforth had Varsity, Junior Varsity, and Freshman squads in the water. The Varsity won seven of its eight dual meets and retained its Van Horn Relay titles. The Junior Varsity won all seven of its duals, and the Freshmen split the pair of meets they swam.

The Varsity swimmers tucked away their sixth straight Interscholastic League Championship in the most convincing fashion yet by piling up 132 points, four points from a perfect meet. During the season the Indians set several meet records: Carl Noback, 2:06 in the 200 individual medley and :51.6 in the 100 free style; the medley relay team of Steve Kase, Jeff Chapelow, Martin Klein, and Dave Feingold, 1:53.2; the 400-yard free style relay of Chris Lockwood, Dick McDonald, Dave Wysong, and John Smith, 3:48.3; and Larry Renfro, first record in the league's 10-dive event.

At the regional qualifying meets for state competition, Southwest ranked first. The team went to the state meet where they surprised themselves with 35 points, just one point behind first place Webster Groves. Two Southwest swimmers, Carl Noback and Larry Renfro, set new records at the state meet in the 200 medley and in diving, respectively. Other high scorers were Tom Sight, John Smith, Steve Kase, and Skip Marshall, who together added 14 points to bring the team total to 35.

Redskin Revels

As the lights dimmed and the curtain was pulled, one hundred girls, arrayed in brightly-colored slacks and sweatshirts, vocalized to the tune of "Another Opening, Another Show." Thus began the 1966 Redskin Revels, whose "Short Subjects" ranged from a magnificent piano concerto to a comical rendition of "How Much Is That Doggie in the Window?" Short, highly-polished monologues and dialogues, recalling the vaudeville days, made the transitions between the many and varying acts.

While the stage band, directed by Mr. Alter, gave a flawless performance, Mr. Manning could be found backstage directing the production in his usual inimitable fashion. The stage crew, under the supervision of Mr. Oeser, performed without an error; and Mr. DeMarea's modern sets were observed and admired by all.

As the last strains of music lingered and died, and the last whisper of the curtains faded, the cast, production staff, and audience exited, with the satisfaction of knowing that another Redskin Revels had been a complete success.

How does one rise from window washer to chairman of the board in two weeks? Ask J. Pierpont Finch, who rapidly ascended the ladder of success as an employee of the World Wide Wicket Company. How did Finch manage to achieve such a success in so short a time? Was it through a carefully designed code of ethics or advice from a successful businessman? No, Finch had a book called How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying. Not only did this book contain rules designed to boost a young man to the top position in his business, but the rules worked!

However, despite the advice of the book, helpful hints from the boss' secretary, and words of wisdom from Mr. Twimble, head of the mailroom (who played it "the company way"), Finch encountered many difficulties along the road to success. The other executives were jealous of Finch's rapid rise. Bud Frump, the boss' nephew, tried to foil his plots. Even Hedy, the boss' girlfriend, made a pass at him. And the boss himself, J. B. Biggley, thought Finch was after his job.

Watching Finch's climb to success and patiently waiting for him was Rosemary Pilkington, an attractive young secretary who knew that she wanted Finch for her husband. She was prepared to "keep his dinner warm" until he came "wearily home from downtown," and knew the sacrifices she would have to make as his wife. After a long wait, Finch came to the realization that he needed Rosemary, and asked her to be his wife—a proposal that she was more than happy to accept. However, Finch's troubles were far from finished. His borrowed idea for a "World Wide Wicket Treasure Hunt" proved to be a fiasco, and he had to answer to J. B. Biggley and the chairman of the board. As usual, he turned this seemingly unavoidable disaster to his advantage. Finch took over as chairman of the board while Rosemary rejoiced that her husband-to-be had at last succeeded in business—without really trying.

"The big executives will notice you. Just be patient."

This year the members of the Concert Choir again proved that with talent, practice, and eagerness to work, a group of one hundred seventy high school students can achieve excellent results. Under the direction of Mr. Manning, the Concert Choir performed in everything from Christmas Vespers to graduation. Selections ranged from "Oliver!" to Schubert's Mass in G.

The Choir began working on the operetta in January, and continued to rehearse for the next three months. The result was a performance of How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying that everyone enjoyed. Early morning practices and late-at-night rehearsals were the cause of many a class skipped and test failed. However, the perfection demanded of the Concert Choir paid off, as was evident by its flawless performances. The group's dedication and desire to excel made the Concert Choir a superior vocal group.

Girls' Choir

Take one hundred girls with outstanding vocal ability, the desire to sing faultlessly, and a remarkable capacity for quickly learning a variety of songs, and the result is the Girls' Choir. Under the direction of Mr. Manning, the girls practiced at least five days a week during third hour.

The Girls' Choir made its debut in the Fall Concert, and the girls continued to delight audiences as they opened Redskin Revels with a colorful arrangement of "Another Opening, Another Show," and presented a beautiful rendition of "Who Was Born?" at Christmas Vespers.

The Girls' Choir and the Sextet performed in innumerable programs for both the school and the community, and their appearance, in their forest-green dresses and white gloves, was always a fine addition to the presentation.

Band

The Band started off the year heartily, playing at the football games and bolstering school spirit. Even in the numbing cold of November, the Band, led by Drum Major Bob Shands, marched on the frozen ground; and through the crowd buzzed a murmur of sympathy for the short-skirted majorettes. The Band also stepped smartly to peppy tunes in the American Royal Parade, exhibiting its painstakingly-developed skills.

The Stage Band became an integral part of the music department, providing music in the Redskin Revels, playing in assemblies, and always pleasing audiences with its own special brand of music.

Diligent rehearsals and great enthusiasm were behind the Band's outstanding contribution as a talented musical group.

Orchestra

LEFT TO RIGHT: Cynthia Mook – Secretary; Richard Kaiser – President; Carolyn Whitfield – Vice-President; Linda Holmes – Treasurer.

The Orchestra provided the foundation for many school functions throughout the year. Their work began when they furnished the musical accompaniment in the acts in the Redskin Revels. In the Christmas Vespers, the Orchestra not only played its own selections but also combined its musical talents with the Concert Choir in performing the "Hallelujah Chorus" and "And the Glory of the Lord." The Orchestra was also important in the production of How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying, as it provided the instrumental accompaniment. The Orchestra's many achievements in both the school and the community bespeak its excellence as a musical group.

Notified only a few weeks before her departure that she was to spend the summer in Brazil, Susan Smith, Southwest's AFS student, rushed to prepare for her ten-week trip. In between obtaining a passport, buying plane tickets, getting vaccinations, and packing, Susan tried to learn a few Portuguese phrases so that she would be able to communicate with her "family." But before leaving for Brazil, Susan and other AFS students going to Latin and South America attended a "training camp" in Miami, Florida. From Miami, Susan flew to Rio de Janeiro, and she finally reached Sorocaba, where she lived with her "family," which included a mother and father, two younger brothers, and a 16-year old sister, Flavia. Also, she was later able to stay with a family in Belo Horizonte and visited Santos, a beach in Brazil. On her way back to the United States, she spent some time in Rio de Janeiro with still family. Of her trip, Susan said, "Generally, the people live a more relaxed, easy life than Americans. I think best of everything I liked the people because they were so warm. I just never felt like a stranger." Susan believes that she will never be the same again after meeting and knowing the people of Brazil. Through the AFS program, she has gained insight into the way of life of a wonderful people and a family she will never forget.

Foreign Exchange

This year Southwest was fortunate enough to have four foreign exchange students. Participating in the American Field Service program were Cheri Wastell, from Australia; Wisanu (Wim) Beranonda, from Thailand; and Jukka Takala, from Finland. Sponsored by the International Christian Youth Exchange was Catherine Burnand, from France. Catherine, Cheri and Jukka arrived in Kansas City just before school started. Although in the first few days of school life they were occupied with arranging and changing schedules, buying supplies, and meeting new people, they soon became accustomed to the routine of school life. Through assemblies, classes, and school activities, students met and became acquainted with the three visitors from foreign countries. Just before Christmas, Wim arrived, and was introduced to the student body in an assembly. Despite the disadvantage of getting a late start in an unfamiliar school, Wim made the adjustment with relative ease. As with the other exchange students, he made new friends and participated in extracurricular activities. Although each student was beset with requests to speak before clubs, church groups, and other organizations, all found time to become involved in school life. From our four visitors all of us learned something of the cultures of other people. More important, we discovered that understanding does not pertain to any particular nation or to a certain language, that friendship is the same the world over. Although our foreign exchange students will be missed, they will not be forgotten. Through them we have begun to achieve universal understanding, and have formed friendships that will last a lifetime.

Jukka answers the questions of International Club members.

"This fancy frame might bring in a couple of bucks."

"I don't see what we can lose . . ."

It all began peacefully enough. Mr. Appopolous, landlord of a rundown, dilapidated tenement, rented a basement flat to the two Sherwood sisters, newly arrived in New York. Eileen, an aspiring young actress, and Ruth, a would-be writer, were seeking their fortunes. The girls quickly learned a few unusual things about their studio, located in "the most artistic section of Greenwich Village" — there was no shade for the window; the street lamp shone down into the room; the back door lock was broken; one of the walls seemed to be oozing; and, to top it off, there were continuous earth-shattering roars caused by the blasting for a subway underneath the flat. Yes, there were a few discomforts, but these were as nothing in comparison to the events to come.

There was that man from the airport who wanted to see Violet somebody, and that telephone call — something about the Russian Kretchma. The couple upstairs, Helen and the Wreck, seemed nice enough; after all, they were "practically married." It was just a shame that Wreck chose the night that Frank Lippencott was staying for dinner (along with Chic Clark, an uninvited guest) to bring his pillow and sheet to the girls' flat. Maybe that policeman would have understood, if only Violet hadn't dropped in unexpectedly (and unconsciously!). Still, things were looking up. Ruth left a sample of her writing with the associate editor of the Manhattan, and he seemed very impressed. And Violet did offer to help the girls find jobs, although the girls were rather dubious about exactly what she would find for them. And there came that trouble with the Brazilian fleet but the consul managed to straighten everything out. The girls finally proclaimed their independence when they refused to return to Columbus, Ohio, with their father. After a summer filled with minor and major dilemmas, Eileen and Ruth Sherwood felt well-equipped to meet the demands of life in the big city.

"It all depends on how hard she kicked."

"You get out of here with your ideas!"

TRAIL Staff

Judy Terrill and Joan Langworthy — Student Advisors.

The members of the Trail Staff combined their individual literary and artistic talents to distribute an issue of the Trail to the students every other Thursday. Each issue included timely articles of interest to each student and the school as a whole. But the Trail was not merely concerned with school news; articles on the local, national, and international levels were included to better acquaint the reader with the world. Features ranged from an article about a bicycle ride around the world to an interview with a Southwest graduate, author of a recently published book.

Sketches from the pen of cartoonist Neil Shapiro dotted the pages of each Trail; and photographer David Holte was continually occupied, supplying pictures of school and community events.

The Trail rendered a valuable service by summarizing the events and activities affecting the student body.

Krista Sarapuu and Ann Strauss—Circulation Managers.

Shelly Oliver—Business Manager.

Neil Shapiro—Art Editor.

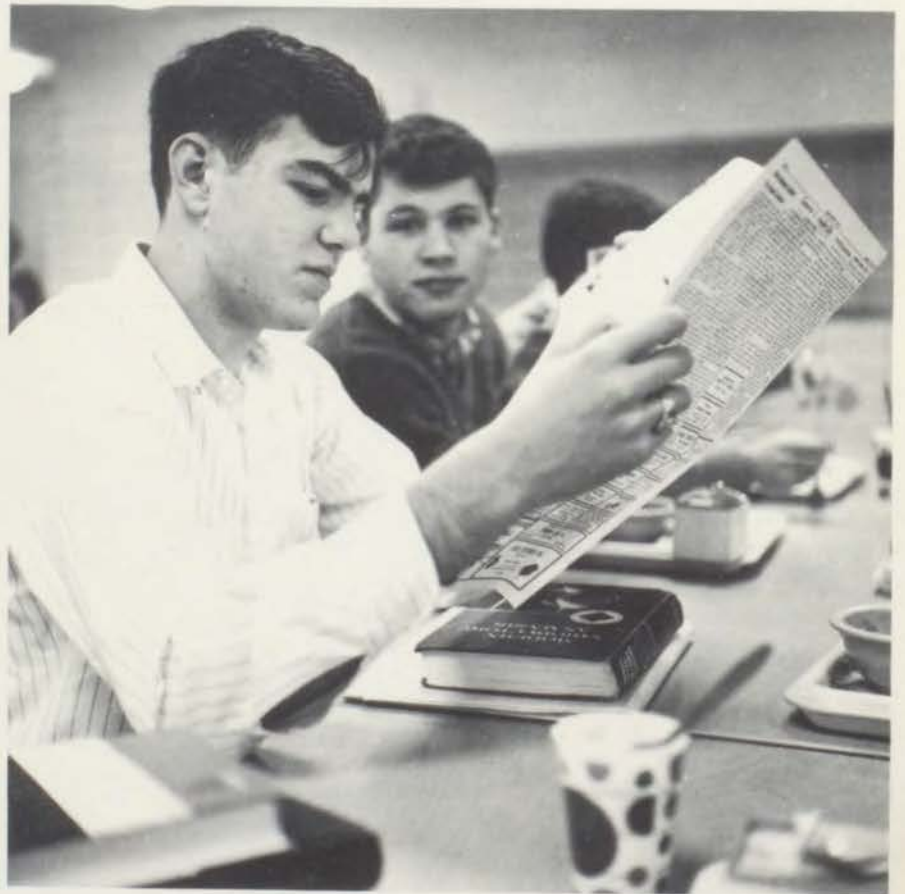

David Holte—Photographer.

Senior ladies are tuff!

Mr. J. E. Edwards: Hall monitor of the year.

Senior George Ownes scans the inside pages of another fantastic Trail.

With the hands of a skilled Old World craftsman, Ann Oliver nimbly fashions a work of art.

That was a close shave!

Mr. Quaker spoke to us about . . . about . . .

Mark Grant pauses with spirit stick at hand to catch up on neglected homework between assemblies.

"One for you, two for me."

Snidely Whiplash demands the mortgage from Little Nell.

Rick Pereles—after a grueling day on the CCC.

It pays to have friends in the right place.

Jack Magruder discovers that happiness is knowing how to work a slide rule.

Southwest first down—by inches.

An original skit in a well-planned football assembly.

"No—your goal post is over there."

An efficient Pep Club crew completes the installation of a goal post banner.

"Now I want you to get in there and run for a touchdown."

Excitement precedes the opening kickoff.

An exuberant Pep Club leads the Homecoming Parade.

The aftermath of another test.

Hal White pauses in jazz duet with Bill Noll in Revels '66.

"But isn't this dress-up day?"

A little soul music.

Coach Bosch . . .

. . . cracks a funny.

The calm before the onslaught of another lunch period.

The cheerleaders share in the enthusiasm of a well-executed play.

Some guys will do anything to get into the Lettermen's Club!

Judi Lyddon seeks a familiar face in the crowd of a football game.

THIS cafeteria?

The ostentatious Greg Aust.

Linda Kelly and Nancy Campbell aid the school secretaries in keeping accurate attendance records.

"... and in this corner at 880 pounds the Southwest basketball team ..."

The late practice.

Phantoms of the basketball court.

Jim Jeffries of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

"Sorry, buddy, a freeway is going through here."

"Go ahead and cut it out—he'll never notice."

Jim Throckmorton escorts the soon-to-be-crowned Basketball Queen.

"Did you know that Ulan Bator is Mongolia's capital?"

"Huddled masses yearning to breathe free."

The anxiety of a game.

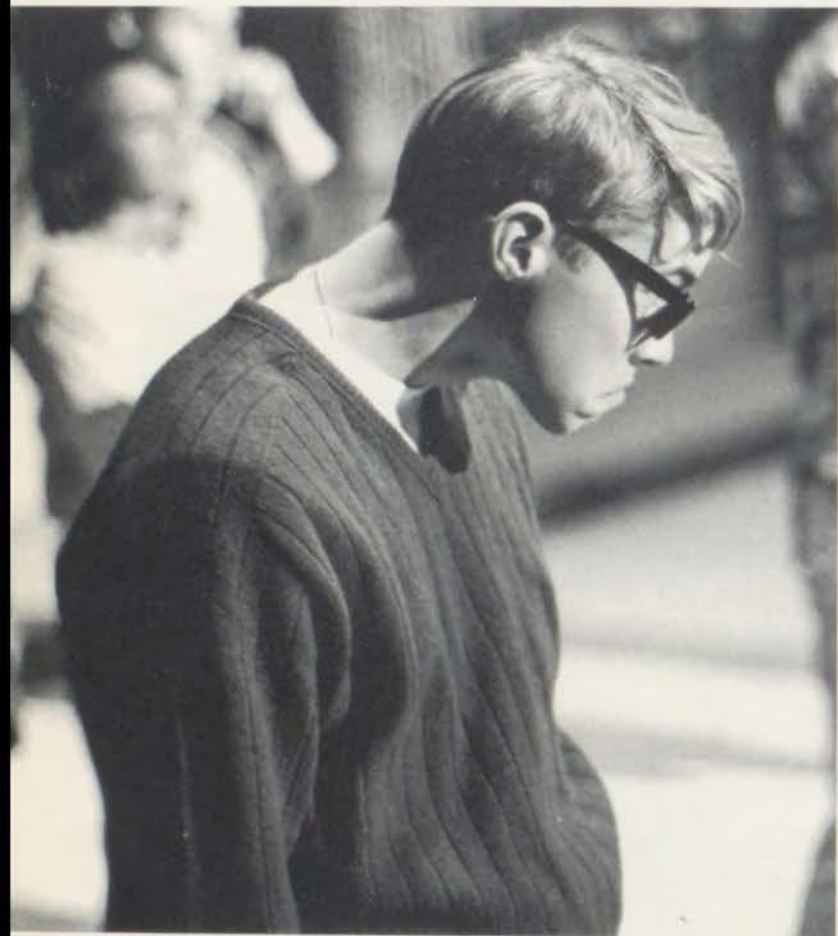

The Blue Things!

Coach Robinson receives the Knute Rockne Award from Dr. Nigro.

AFS student, Cheri Wastell, helps decorate for the Literary Contest.

Second semester senior.

With spring comes tennis.

The hazards of being a coach.

Whipping up another batch of . . .

All that's left of another year.

Home is where one starts from. As we grow older
The world becomes stranger, the pattern more complicated
Of dead and living. Not the intense moment
Isolated, with no before and after,
But a lifetime burning in every moment
And not the lifetime of one man only
But of old stones that cannot be deciphered.
There is a time for the evening under starlight,
A time for the evening under lamplight
(The evening with the photograph album).
Love is most nearly itself
When here and now cease to matter.
Old men ought to be explorers
Here and there does not matter
We must be still and still moving
Into another intensity
For a further union, a deeper communion
Through the dark cold and the empty desolation,
The wave cry, the wind cry, the vast waters
Of the petrel and the porpoise. In my end is my beginning.
—T. S. Eliot
