W. Lawrence Cannon—Principal

ADMINISTRATION

Mr. Cannon supervises the PTA Membership Drive.

Southwest is a kaleidoscope of happenings. . .pulsating, fluctuating, blending, fading. . .This book represents a chronicle of the 1969-1970 school year. A new decade has begun, but for many, experiences at Southwest have ended. The SACHEM, then, will help preserve their memories of:

Mr. Cannon, standing outside the office, smiling at the familiar faces of Southwest students.

Mr. Neal in his orange parka at the football games.

Mr. Greenstreet's and Mr. Kipp's offices and the eighth hour room.

A football team, champions in the Interscholastic League.

Getting out of the building by 4:30 because "the Levy didn't pass."

A "happy" basketball season.

$10,000 worth of orange and black material on the backs of the marching band.

The presentation of an all-school play, the first in twelve years.

Voting booths and revolutionary Student Council elections.

Decorations and drama at the 43rd annual Literary Contest.

Professor Higgins, Eliza Doolittle and a part of London on the Southwest stage.

The biggest carnival ever attempted.

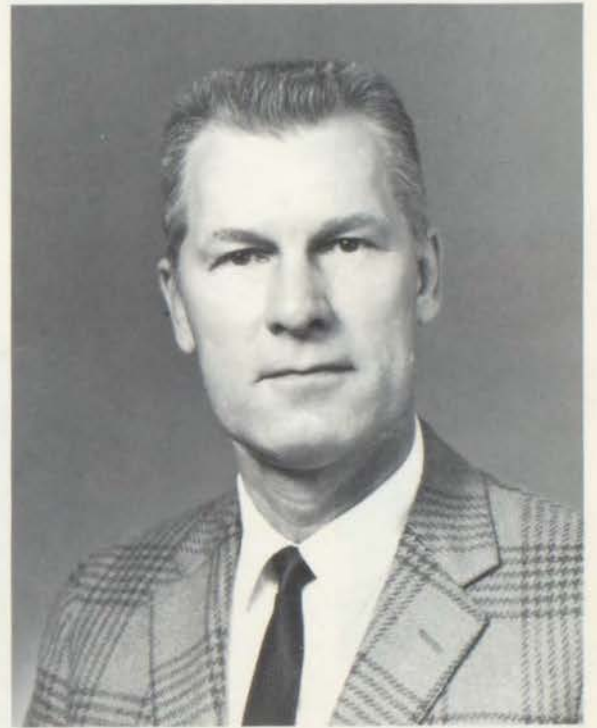

The long-awaited, proverbially magical Junior-Senior Prom.

And SACHEM Day.

Look at the photographs and remember.

Miss Violet Fairchild, a dedicated teacher of American History at Southwest, died July 21, 1969. The SACHEM Staff would like to pay tribute to her memory with the following excerpt from one of her last speeches.

"Throughout recorded history, men have set into motion influences that affect our lives. An ancient king decided to honor the one judged to be the greatest among his subjects. One was praised because of his wealth and property. Another was lauded for his knowledge of law; another for his power of healing the sick; and many others were presented, each of whom had brought honor to himself, the king and the country. Finally, another candidate came forward—a stooped old woman, from whose eyes shone the light of knowledge, understanding and love.

"Who is this?" demanded the king. "What has she done?"

"You have seen and heard all the others," was the reply. "This is their teacher."

STUDENT LIFE

The band forms a salute to the queen candidates at half-time.

A German castle takes shape the night before.

An exciting moment in the Central-Southwest game.

The cafeteria is carefully transformed into a myriad of colored crepe paper.

The Spanish Club's sombrero pulls into place for the parade.

"The Spider and the Crab" contributed to the dance.

Chuck Champion offers last minute advice to a nervous Patty Jenkins.

Becky Wright bestows a congratulatory kiss on the newly crowned queen's cheek.

HOMEcoming 1969

"The Age of Aquarius," theme of Homecoming 1969, took place at Southwest November 14 and 15.

On Friday, activities began with the presentation of six queen candidates in the Homecoming Assembly. Enthusiasm mounted as the team "psyched up" for one of the most important games of the year. A victory against Central would assure Southwest the Interscholastic League championship and a jubilant Homecoming. School was dismissed early to give the student body an opportunity to view the parade entries. Many hours of work by various clubs and organizations were seen before they were blown away along the route. After a cold ride to Bryan Field and a victorious game, the Indians emerged frozen, but exuberant.

On Saturday, Pep Club recruits began early to decorate for the dance. By nine o'clock, all was in readiness for the "Age of Aquarius." Carolyn Curtis was pronounced queen to reign over the dance with her court. At midnight, Homecoming 1969, became another memory of Student Life at Southwest.

Mr. Cannon and Juddy Johl share Carolyn Curtis' ecstasy.

VAUDEVILLE 1969

1. Preparation begins with the hanging of a striking black and white background of Vaudeville figures.
2. The Girls' Choir opens with "We're Late". Looks more like "Huddled masses yearning to breathe free."
3. Craig Virden reminds Martha Ruddy, "We're trying to do a show!"
4. Six Darling Dollies dance simply divinely.
5. Jody Schmitz warily eyes her make-up artist.
6. Jack Foster puts in long hours to direct REDSKIN REVELS 1969.
7. A harmonious note—the Male Octet sings "Lida Rose".
8. The Drum Ensemble snares a big response.
9. A "Big Spender" is propositioned by the Dirty Dozen.

6

7

1. Janis Knopke sings her rendition of "Can't Help Lovin' that Man of Mine".
2. Months of diligent work pay off for Mr. Alter and the Stage Band.
3. Do the Senior Ladies, Inc. really "Enjoy Being a Girl"?
4. The Rondo Movement from Beethoven's Concerto No. 3 is magnificently presented by Tom Reefer and the Orchestra.
5. The cockpit crew soars to new heights between acts.
6. Back by popular demand—the finale to end all finales!
7. A touch of today in the "Vaudeville" of yesterday—"Easy to be Hard" sung by Angie Lively and Amy Wagner.
8. The Letterman say, "Mammy's Little Babies Love Shortnin' Bread".
9. Old Revelers never die—they just decompose.

HOLIDAY ACTIVITIES

The Holiday Season at Southwest included a variety of activities:

1. The annual Christmas Card Exchange in the front hall communicated greetings throughout the school.
2. Enthusiastic Indians displayed true holiday spirit when they brought games and goodies to Yates Elementary School students. Various clubs and organizations cooperated to discover that they gained more than they gave.
3. "Santa" visited each class at Yates, distributing toys, raisins, and good cheer.
4. The Stage Band's Christmas present to the students came in the form of a jazz concert in the front hall on the last day of school.
5. Helpers were numerous sixth and seventh hours to decorate the cafeteria.
6. To enter the dance and participate in "One Glistening Moment" each couple provided an ornament for the tree which was then sent to Children's Mercy Hospital.
7. Monsieur Selvey proved himself to be a capable choir director at the French choir concert.
8. For the first time, "formal" was the keynote for the annual Holiday Dance.
9. Concert Choir performed the "Hallelujah Chorus" in the Vespers Assembly.

ALL-SCHOOL PLAY

On January 16 and 17, Southwest produced its first all-school play in twelve years. This year's choice, THE BARRETT'S OF WIMPOLE STREET, was directed by Mrs. Scott. An excellent set by the art department provided a background for the lives of the residents of 50 Wimpole Street, London, and their visitors.

LITERARY CONTEST

With First Place at the Forty-Third Annual Inter-Society Literary Contest as a goal, the twelve Southwest "lit clubs" geared their activities accordingly.

In the 1969-1970 school year, the first prominent literary society activity was the Coke Party. Held early in the year, this occasion traditionally serves to introduce prospective members to the clubs, their basic purposes, and achievements. After an indication of preferences and a tabulation of each club's votes, new members were inducted into their desired societies. Impressive initiation ceremonies, as well as silly rites, abounded during the first few weeks.

The majority of the year was spent writing essays, poems, or short stories, or preparing orations and declamations to present the best possible entry in each division. The critics of the clubs were instrumental in choosing the entries most likely to attain a Superior or Very Superior rating at the Contest.

Orations were presented after school on March 18. Then, March 20, the most important date on the calendar of literary activities, materialized. After a catered dinner in the uniquely decorated cafeteria, each society had the opportunity to march into its assigned sections in the auditorium. Declamations were then given. The tension and excitement mounted as the twelve clubs sang "original" tunes to proclaim their hopes of victory. A tally of the ratings revealed Zend-Avesta to be the winner with seven points. A four-way tie for Second and a three-way tie for Third indicated that other societies were close behind.

A familiar cry of "We're Number One" from the Za-Za boys.

Seneca, Southwest's chapter of the Spanish National Honor Society, increased its size and activity in its third year of existence. The chapter honors Spanish students between second and fifth years who have maintained a 3.0 grade average in their language studies. Seneca's primary goal this year was to contribute to a scholarship fund to sponsor a student in the AIMS-International summer-study program in Spain.

CONCERT CHOIR

Familiarly attired in blue and white robes, the 160 Concert Choir members contributed appreciably to the musical activities at Southwest. During the year, they participated in assemblies and concerts and represented the school at the State Music Contest. A highlight in the fall was the opportunity to sing for the pre-game ceremonies of a Chiefs-Rams football game. The Concert Choir also appeared in REDSKIN REVELS, Christmas Vespers, this year's Operetta, and, in the spring, the Fine Arts Festival.

GIRLS' CHOIR

One of the first appearances of the Girls' Choir each year is traditionally the opening number of REDSKIN REVELS. From the mobile number, "We're Late," which began this year's program, to the State Music Contest in the spring, the 110 voice choir contributed to the musical activities at Southwest. This year, the girls chose a light blue dress with a white tie to create picturesque uniformity.

Performances by the Stage Band are always appreciated and enjoyed by the student body. This year the Stage Band provided background music for REDSKIN REVELS and various assemblies, but were most enjoyed when they appeared in concert. Competition is the rule to fill the positions and the talent was obvious whenever the Stage Band represented Southwest's music department.

Chosen from Concert Choir, the members of the Indian Belles and the Male Octet illustrated their abilities to "make beautiful music together." They frequently occupied the spotlight in assemblies, evening concerts, and in REDSKIN REVELS. During the Christmas season, their performances were in special demand by various local organizations.

The Girls' Sextet members are selected from the Girls' Choir. They also appeared in many school programs and added to the wide musical variation found at Southwest.

All four groups achieve consistently excellent ratings in State Music Contests.

ORCHESTRA

The Orchestra is always appreciated for its musical contributions at Southwest; however, this year they achieved greater fame when they represented our school at the Missouri Music Educators Conference at Columbia. Ours was the only high school orchestra to be given the privilege of performing a full concert. Aside from this outstanding honor, the Orchestra participated in assemblies and formal concerts and provided music for REDSKIN REVELS, Vespers, Operetta, and competed in the State Music Contest.

BAND

The Band sported their brilliant new orange and black uniforms as a highlight to this year's performances. The bright uniforms, worn to the tune of $10,000, were paid for by funds raised by the Tooters Club and the gift of an anonymous donor. The proudly attired members illustrated their ability as a marching band at Southwest football games, the Mayor's Christmas Carnival, on a television appearance, at Big Eight basketball games, and in the ROTC parade. Formal concerts were presented in school assemblies, evening programs, and at the State Music Contest.

For twenty years the Southwest Pep Club has served as the nucleus for school spirit. In 1950 it was simply an extension of the Student Council, but the 1969-1970 school year furthered the reputation of the Pep Club as a vital, independent organization.

With an approximate membership of 400, the Pep Club was the largest organization at Southwest. Orange, black, and white uniforms dominated the scene in the halls on Fridays and in the stands at sports events.

Continuing a policy established last year, members were urged to attend and support all athletic events—wrestling, swimming and track, as well as the traditional basketball and football games.

Activities of the Pep Club began in the summer when several devoted members painted goalpost signs for the upcoming football season and planned the year's schedule. The Honor Nine was chosen from senior members who had shown faithful attendance during the previous years. The girls had new uniforms to set off the letters spelling "Southwest".

The Pep Club sponsored the Football Homecoming in November and the Winter Sports Dance in March. Its members also worked diligently to keep the cafeteria plastered with signs proclaiming important games, meets, and matches.

Throughout the year, the Pep Club could always be counted on to promote spirit and provide the vocal power to cheer Southwest on to victories.

Under the direction of Mrs. Snow and Mrs. Hester, the Drill Team practiced daily during their fourth hour study hall. They contributed to school spirit by performing at football and basketball games throughout the school year. Each routine evidenced the precision and concentration necessary for a fine performance, and the Drill Team always received large rounds of applause as they marched off the floor in cadence to the drum beat.

SECOND HANDS

A few Second Hands pause to watch diving competition.

Uniformed in grub jeans, orange sweatshirts, bare feet, and wet hair, the Second Hands, a group of approximately fifty-five girls, participated at every swim meet this year. Under the direction of swim coach Mike Calwell and presidents Francie McCarty and Ellen Safir, between twelve and thirty girls turned lap markers, collected tickets and money, kept scores, timed, and cleaned up the pool after every meet, proving that they were an integral part of the swim team effort.

GRAPPLETTES

At least eight hard-working females in the form of Grapplettes were present at each of the home wrestling meets. In their second year of existence the Grapplettes proved to be invaluable to the team, recording statistics and keeping time. In addition, they were asked to run the District Meet at Raytown. At this year's wrestling dinner, Grapplettes were rewarded with athletic letters and red roses. The accolades were well deserved.

Remember The Lifesavers—

Carrying on the traditions established by the Southwest ROTC unit of years past has been a challenge for the ROTC unit of the present. ROTC was established again at Southwest in 1967, and the unit has been working diligently to achieve success in every facet of the program. At the end of the first year of reactivation, the Southwest ROTC Battalion accomplished the impossible by being named the outstanding unit among the Kansas City ROTC units and was awarded an honor again for the Federal inspection. This honor rating was awarded again for the Federal inspection in 1969.

This year, complete organization existed for the first time since the unit's inception. With a full complement of cadet officers, the ROTC program was able to concentrate on its mission; the development of leadership, self-discipline, and the ability to organize became the learning situation for the members of the battalion. Furthermore, leaders began employing teaching techniques—instructing assigned classes using visual aids, audio-visual equipment, and lesson plans which they prepared for the class presentation. Leadership was stressed by permitting the cadet officers to organize, train, and lead members of their units through various facets of the program.

This premium on leadership paid off handsomely for the Southwest battalion. To the accomplishments and honors won by the unit were added these achievements: second place field day, third place rifle team, third place physical training, first place squad drill, second place platoon drill, second place guidon drill, and second place Federal inspection. This year the Southwest ROTC Honor Guard had the distinction of furnishing military honors on opening night for the Kansas City Philharmonic, and have been asked to return each year to repeat its outstanding performance.

Success does not come easy. Many hours of practice, training, and organization are required before awards are given for successful achievement. The ROTC is proud to represent this school, and promises to strive for perfection in every activity which will best fulfill the philosophy of education in existence at Southwest.

New this year—Officers' Call.

First rifle team—Battalion.

Bart Brown relates his memories of Thailand.

Southwest was represented in the 1969 Summer American Field Service program by Bart Brown. For two and a half months, Bart lived in a town of 50,000 people in north-central Thailand with the Payap Banmuang family. His Thai family consisted of two brothers and two sisters. His "Mother" owned a local beauty shop and his "Father" was a Lieutenant Colonel in the Thai Medical Corp. While in Thailand, Bart gained a good command of the Thai language and an understanding of Thai customs and attitude. One of the most interesting activities was a daily two hour study of Buddhism under the guidance of a Burmese monk.

Southwest was proud to host Julie MacKenzie, from New Zealand, as the American Field Service representative. Julie's American home was with Rev. and Mrs. Sappenfield and their daughter Janis. In Christchurch, New Zealand, Julie attended an all-girls state school with 1100 enrollees. Her real sister was an AFS student four years ago in Pennsylvania, so Julie knew what to expect. Julie rapidly became involved in activities here, such as the Pep Club, German Club, International Club, the girls' hockey team, and musical productions. Julie's bright smile was a welcome sight to all who came to know her.

The International Christian Youth Exchange sponsored Ingrid Azofeifa during her year-long stay at Southwest. Ingrid found her life in Kansas City quite different from the one she knew in Costa Rica. She left her family of five sisters and two brothers and a private Protestant school of only 200 to make a home with the Andrew Petersons. The Petersons attend the Country Club Congregational Church where Ingrid also worshipped. Ingrid's sincerity and quiet friendliness won many friends as she participated in student activities. She joined the Spanish Club, Seneca, International Club, and the Pep Club. When asked what impressed her most about Southwest, Ingrid replied, "The spirit for the games. At home we have nothing like that!"

RED CROSS

First Semester President, Ann Coburn, addresses the Red Cross.

Southwest's Red Cross underwent a complete "remodeling" this year. Under the direction of Ann Coburn, the first semester's organization utilized an all-volunteer system instead of having representatives elected from every homeroom, sponsored the Baby Doll Dance, participated in the Yates' Christmas Party, and re-wrote their constitution.

Second semester, the Red Cross returned to the homeroom system of representation, with the provision that any additional volunteers who desired to participate in the organization could do so. With chairmen Tom Neal, Linda White and Sherri Brown, members plunged enthusiastically into the tasks of planning an Easter party for the kindergarten and first grades at the Yates Elementary School, sponsoring the Sadie Hawkins Dance, and "adopting" a needy American child.

This year's Student Council began its work early in the summer by sponsoring a Youth Job Corps, with office space at the South Presbyterian Church. The busy Summer Activities Council published new editions of the INDIAN GUIDE and the PATH, and made preparations for Orientation Day.

The opening of school increased the pace of the Council's activity when the Back-to-School Dance was sponsored. The idea of having regular meetings during school hours was initiated and representatives received packets and identification cards to permit their attendance. The Holiday Season showed several contributions from the Council, including the Christmas Card Exchange, part sponsorship in the parties for Yates Elementary School, and the Winter Formal.

The elections for second semester officers aroused unusual interest as eight voting machines were rented. The student body not only enjoyed casting their votes, but also received valuable civic education. The second semester Council had its work cut out as a contract was signed with an amusement company to provide rides at the annual Carnival. In the midst of Carnival preparations, the Student Council made several necessary amendments to the Constitution and planned a concert instead of the traditional Spring Dance.

Many concepts of the Student Council underwent alteration during the year. Despite some modifications, the council retained its value as a student organization.

The Monday morning "blahs."

What do you mean, I have to pay?

The Southwest Marching Band drumming up spirit.

Mr. Neal directs book distribution.

Is that Mr. Foster behind those Foster Grants?

Southwest—the winner once more.

An unusually tranquil moment in the office.

What a man! Nothing holds him back.

"Bend and stretch." Reach for those books.

Eliza is "over a barrel" about her plight.

Please, you never shake with your left hand!

Some Seneca officers have far-off looks in their eyes.

Crack the whip. . .

. . .Or crack your neck.

What do they do in there anyway?

What, no frosties again?

You can find ANYTHING in the Southwest trophy cases.

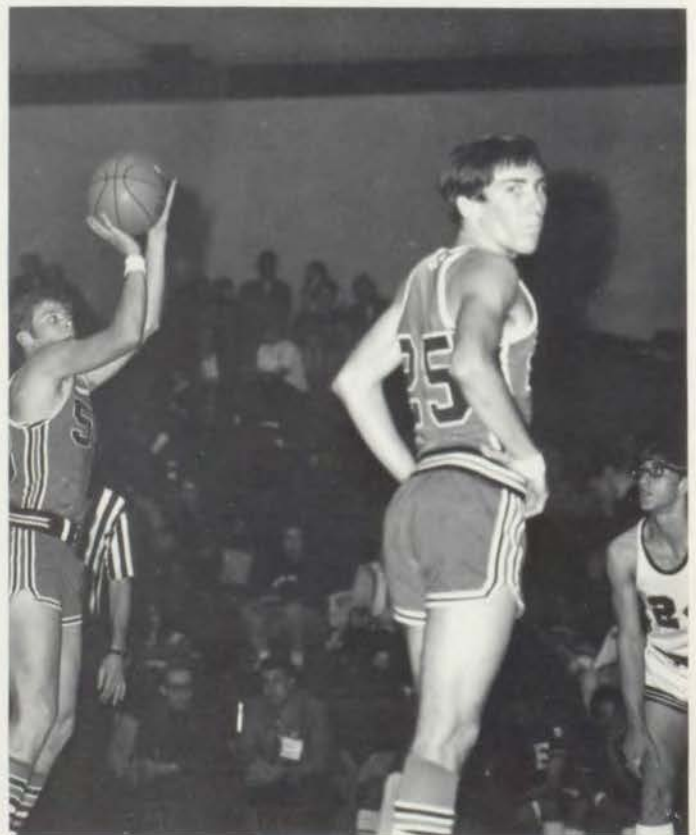

Freshmen learn how to use the library.

Sophomores on ice.

Rumor has it that step ladders are fast replacing diving boards.

"Keep your eyes on the ball at all times."

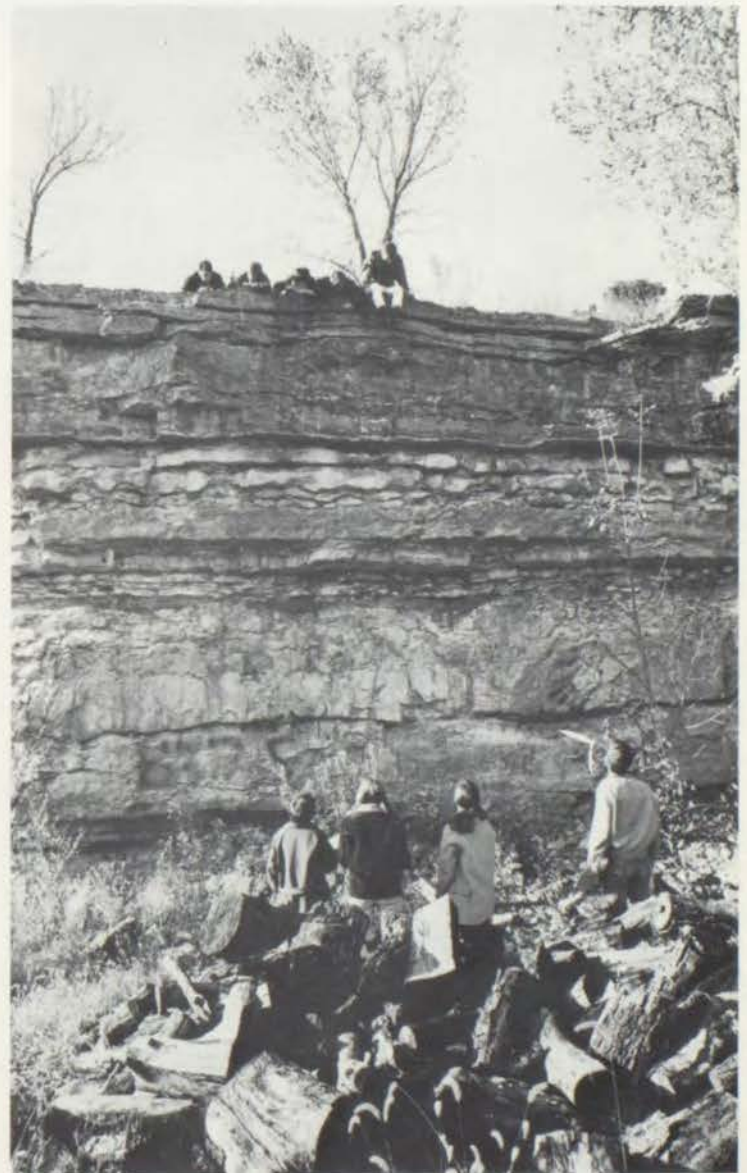

A championship team in action.

The Chloris Holiday Greeting Card Exchange.

Student Council candidates suffer through back-stage jitters.

Earth Science is apparently a "cliff-hanging" course.

"Meet me in the back alley."

"Gimme five!"

Do you mean we can't keep it?

The cleaner side of the CCC.

But, Officer, I was only here for ten minutes!

"The Red Cross is always there to help."

Glen obviously thinks someone is "all wet."

We're in the "Pepsi Generation."

A typical junior girl. . .AND a typical senior boy.

V-I-C-T-O-R-Y—that's the Southwest battle cry!

A few art students appear "flooded" by their assignment.

Overheard at the Frosh Computer Dance: "Oh, no! Not him!"

What can we say?

"Will everyone here kindly step to the rear."

"Every son and every daughter bears thy hallowed name."

Is being a letterman worth all this?

SPORTS

VARSITY FOOTBALL

The 1969 Southwest varsity football team captured the Interscholastic League Championship and achieved high ranking in the local polls. The team finished sixth on the final Kansas City Star poll and sixth on the Star's state-wide poll.

The season began against always-tough Rockhurst. The Tribe led 7-6 for three quarters of the mistake-filled contest until bowing in the final minute by a score of 13-7. The following game with North Kansas City was marked by ferocious defensive play. Quarterback Robin Gifford's short toss to Danny Kaufman just before the half was all the Tribe needed in recording a 7-0 verdict. The offense finally got rolling in the next game with Shawnee Mission East, as the team came away with a 38-29 victory.

In the first league game, the Indians trounced the sluggish Paseo Pirates by a convincing 52-0 score. The next game with Southeast produced only disappointment as the defense-minded Knights handed the Indians a crushing 14-7 setback. However, the team got back on the winning track against East as they ripped the hapless Bears 55-6. In the following crucial game with the highly-rated Westport Tigers, the spirited Tribe romped to an easy 34-0 triumph. The next week the team came right back to demolish Northeast 32-6 on the muddy Southeast field and force a four-way tie for the league lead. Sorely needing a victory to remain in contention for the title, the Indians moved into the next-to-last game with the rugged Lincoln Blue Tigers, also tied for the lead. Trailing 28-21 in the final quarter, the team pulled to within one point on Robin Gifford's one-foot plunge. On the extra point attempt, kicker Gerry Reeve faked, and Gifford, the holder, lofted a pass to Barry French in the right corner of the end zone for the go-ahead points and a thrilling 29-28 victory. Then in the final game the Indians met state-playoff-bound Central for the championship and utterly destroyed them by a 33-6 margin. The Tribe was in command throughout the game on the strength of running by Roland Cox and Greg Jianas.

Individual honors included the selection of Gerry Reeve (C), Robin Gifford (QB), and Roland Cox (B), for first team all-league offense; and Mike Katz (E), Bob Nicols (T), and Steve Moore (B) for first team defense. Roland Cox received honorable mention for the All-Metro Team and the All-State Team. Gerry Reeve was further selected as the center on the All-Metro Team, and finally, as a fitting reward for his superb season play, Reeve was selected as the center on the Missouri All-State Team—the highest honor he could possibly receive.

2. Greg Jianas running with authority in the Central game.

Joe Tutera spins off a Paseo lineman for a five yard gain.

This year's junior varsity was a strong and rugged team, as is proven by the convincing scores it registered over its league opponents. The team amassed a 5-2-1 record over all, yet the squad was really far better than this indicates. Had it not been for a few mental errors in the Central game, the junior varsity would have finished undefeated in league competition and won the championship outright. As it turned out, however, the loss to Central provided them with a share of the title. Regardless of the results many future varsity stars earned greater experience and skill on the fine 1969 junior varsity team.

The freshman football team got off to a slow start this year due to constant changes in coaches and general disorganization. The team lost its first four games, yet still managed a respectable 3-4-1 season. Things finally got rolling down the stretch when the frosh took their final three games, including big victories over league leaders Van Horn and Central. It's too bad that the team could not have come on strong earlier, otherwise who knows what it might have done.

This year the basketball team decided to put it all together. Under Coach Jim Moriarty the Tribe played tough, competitive basketball from the opening tip-off. Headed by a group of experienced frontliners in seniors Steve Green, Bill McGowan, Jerry Bowman, Robin Gifford, Dale Robinson, and junior Chris Armocost, the Indians combined teamwork, coordination, discipline, and, above all, a strong desire to win, in fashioning a 15-10 season record—the best in five years and the first winning season record in the same period. The team possessed no individual standouts; instead, it relied upon aggressiveness, confidence, and unselfishness in working for the good shots that produced so many satisfying victories. Highlights included wins over fifth-ranked Paseo, league champion Southeast, and archrivals Pem-Day and Hogan.

In the league tournament the Tribe finished in fifth place. Jerry Bowman and Bill McGowan were honored by being selected to the first team all-stars. The squad also finished second in an early season tourney and third at the closely contested Trumout season. Southwest was in and out of the polls throughout the season, but hot and cold play hurt the team's chances to remain there. In addition to the balanced shooting, scoring, and rebounding, field goal and free throw accuracy improved tremendously this season, and this greatly accounted for the vast improvement over the previous year. When the season ended, the Tribe found itself in a three-way tie for fourth in the league standings, although it could have easily finished higher. The final game ended on a disappointing note with a 73-61 loss to Manual in the regional.

As a part of Coach Moriarty's plan for continued experience, several sophomores and juniors served as back-up men on the team. Steve Aguirre logged much playing time as a substitute. Late in the campaign Dave Harrington joined the team and added better rebounding strength. Jim Peneer, John Keitt, and John Hocevar rode the bench much of the season, yet still managed to play in some of the big games.

Robin Gifford strains for position underneath.

JUNIOR VARSITY

Coach Bob Jones' junior varsity basketball team distinguished itself by running away with the league championship and overwhelming its opponents. Except for a last second loss to Paseo, the JV proved itself far superior to any other team in compiling an 8-1 league record and a 12-4 mark overall. Led by Barry French, Mike Strobel, Craig Reeve, Mike Sharon, Russ Hazel, and Randy Manley, the team showed it could pass, shoot, and rebound well enough to win against anyone.

Under Coach Chuck Sanger, the freshman basketball team rolled to an impressive 8-1 season, losing only in a disputed contest to Manual. In addition, the team captured first in the league tourney with successive wins over Westport and East and edged archrival Pem-Day. Molding a group of newcomers into a winner is not easy, and the accomplishments of this freshman team will certainly provide a solid nucleus for a powerful future varsity.

1969-70 was a rebuilding year for the wrestling team since only three of the previous year's varsity grapplers returned. Seniors John Tvedten in the 137 pound division and Mike Waxman in the 123 pound division provided stability and leadership for the team, as many inexperienced newcomers joined the varsity ranks. Nevertheless, bright new prospects were found, as evidenced by the results of the district tournament. Sophomores Dave Fowler—98 pounds, and Tom Hulsey—165 pounds, captured third places. Juniors Robb Tipton—130 pounds, Kent Vincent—145 pounds, and Steve Lundergan—155 pounds, took fourths along with sophomore Jim Peddicord—185 pounds. Other top varsity men included Don Shoopman—107 pounds, Rick McCandless—115 pounds, and Steve Adams—175 pounds.

As a whole the team generally did poorly in the area tournaments, although it did place first in the St. Pius Quadrangular. It fared little better in dual matches, compiling a 1-5-2 record overall. At district, however, the squad finished fourth and qualified three men, John Tvedten, Mike Waxman, and Bob Nicols, for the regionals. At regionals Nicols failed to place in the heavyweight, and Waxman took a fourth in the 123 pound. Tvedten, however, grabbed a first in the 137 with successive pins. From there John went to state where he took fifth place, losing out in a close decision.

Along with the many fine individual performances, much credit is due Coach Allen for his efforts in shaping this year's wrestling team.

SWIMMING

The team leaves for one of many out-of-town meets.

Filling the shoes of a departed state champion swim coach and taking over the helm of his dismantled team was not an easy task as Coach Mike Calwell found out. Southwest's defending state champion swim team lost heavily through graduation and as a result did not make as strong a showing this year. The team finished third in the Van Horn Relays, third at District, and eleventh at State.

Steve Kase, the only man to make a strong showing at State, retained his title in the 50-yard freestyle and in addition took home the 100-yard crown. At District Tom Tipton and Chip Campbell finished first and second, respectively, in the 100-yard breaststroke; Kirk Davis placed fifth in the 50-yard freestyle; Kipp Fairchild, sixth in the 100-yard butterfly; Bill Frederick, sixth in the 100-yard freestyle; and Mike McCool and Lane Sayles placed third and fourth, respectively, in the diving. The 400-yard freestyle relay team of Davis, Frederick, Rick Holaday, and Scott Merrill took third; and the 200-yard medley relay team of Tipton, Holaday, David Handley, and Bob Page took fourth. Other standout varsity swimmers included J.T. Elder in the backstroke, Tim Hollweg in the breaststroke, Don Rogivue in the freestyle, and David Safir in the butterfly.

Although the team swam against the toughest competition this year, it still came through with a fine 8-6 record. Coach Calwell is to be congratulated for the fine job he has done in rebuilding Southwest's swimming fortunes.

TENNIS

Another in a continuing line of outstanding teams, the 1970 Tennis Varsity swept through the opposition. Unbeatable Bill McGowan, in his fourth varsity season, was at his very best again in winning all his dual meet matches. Molly Hannas distinguished herself not only by whipping the best boys around but also by taking the Missouri Valley Women's Indoor Singles title on the side. Aside from these two reliable standouts the team boasted fine experienced players in Ned Reitzes, Bart Brown, Mike Phillips, and Bob Duboc. Richard Coulson, Stuart Green, and Tully Moss also played well as varsity netters this year.

Bob Duboc follows through on an overhead slam.

GOLF

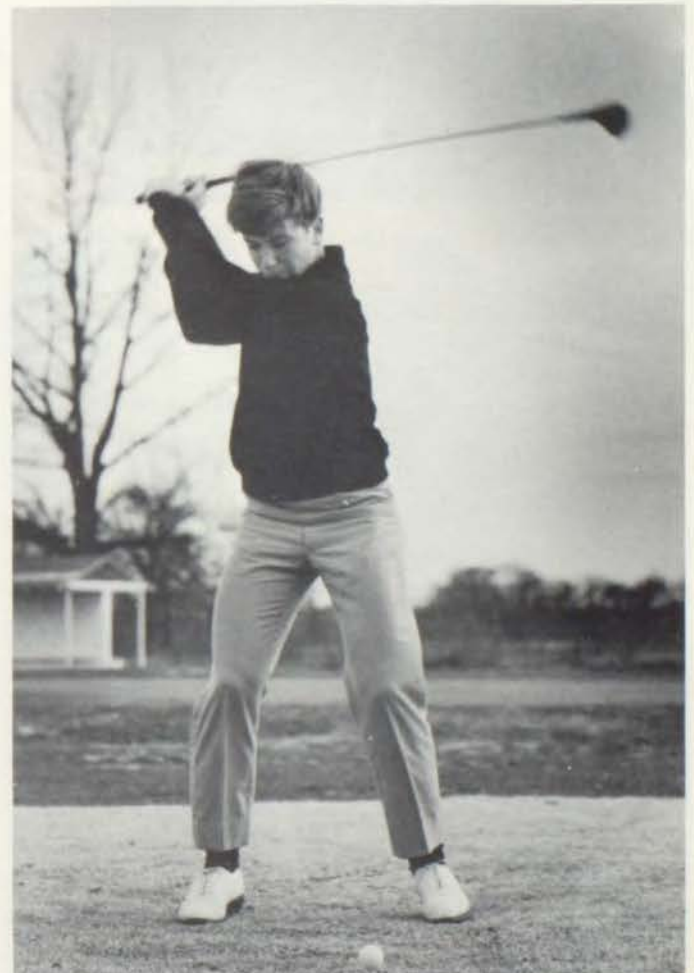

With many youngsters in the lineup the golf team could be described as "up and coming." In spite of a longer and more difficult schedule than in the past, the team was able to beat Pem-Day, Hogan, Rockhurst, and De La Salle. The only senior, Howie Hall, represented the team well by hovering around par against tough rivals. Steve Chellgren, Clay Coburn, Dave Jones, and Dave Murray also shot consistently in the thirties on the links. Dan Akin, Steve Cass, Jack Foster, and Dan Muehlberger came up with good performances in their own right in helping to establish a team that will soon have a flock of excellent young players.

Track in '70 was certainly not without its stars and top performers. Phil Hubbard and Wayne Kosman took second and third, respectively, in the State indoor pole vault. Steve Dolan heaved a mighty shot. Roland Cox hurled the discus like no one else. Ted Sykes and Robin Gifford raced over the hurdles. Danny Kaufman flashed in the 100 and 220 along with Mike Shields and John Collins. John Pihlblad constantly cleared 6 feet in the high jump. John Perkins took honors in several meets in the long jump and in the triple jump. Mike Reineke and Barry French were clocked in under 52 in the 440. Dave Davis and Mark Bowman ran well in the mile and two-mile runs.

On the strength of the superb performances of the pole vaulters, the team placed eighth in the final standings of the state indoor meet. Up to the time this book went to press, only a few meet results were recorded. At the Shawnee Mission East Triangular the squad finished third. They defeated Paseo and Northeast in dual meets at home. In the William Chrisman Relays the team placed sixth.

The Junior Varsity and Freshman teams ran up impressive totals against rivals on their ways to many victories. The JV provided much extra material for the varsity when needed.

In his first year as head coach, Mr. Sam Breckenridge has done a creditable job in developing the talents, abilities, and potentials of Southwest's cindermen and shaping them into finely-honed skills.
