Administration

For nineteen years Mrs. Orville C. Green has served as Headmistress of Sunset Hill School. She received her B.A. and M.A. degrees from Northwestern University and did advanced study at the University of Chicago. Before her appointment at Sunset Hill, Mrs. Green was Dean of Girls and teacher of Latin and history at the North Shore Country Day School in Winnetka, Illinois. For two years she was vice-president of the National Association of Principals of Schools for Girls and a representative on their council. For four years she was a member of the School and College Committee of that same organization. Mrs. Green is a member of the Headmistresses Association of the Middle West.

In all of her nineteen years at Sunset Hill Mrs. Green had not taken a vacation. Thus, her trip to Europe this fall was more than well earned. While in Europe she visited many countries, including Greece, Italy, Switzerland, France, Scotland and England. She returned to school February 3, having had a wonderful vacation and many exciting experiences.

During Mrs. Green's absence the school was run by an executive committee. This committee, together with the secretaries, managed the complex affairs of the school. They are to be complimented for the excellent job they did.

Athletic Association

The Athletic Association consists of one member from each class of the high school and eighth grade. Each spring officers are elected by the entire upper school. Mrs. Balmeo serves as faculty sponsor. The Athletic Association organizes many extracurricular activities such as the fall and spring dances. It also arranges for the hockey and basketball play days with Barstow and the varsity hockey game with John Burroughs of St. Louis. The intramural tournaments, races, volleyball games, and tennis, ping pong, and badminton matches which are held on Field Day are organized by the Association. At the end of the school year there is an Athletic Association luncheon at which all athletic awards are presented.

Student Council

Judith Marder

Through its numerous projects, the Student Council works toward its goal of making everyone a contributing, integral part in school activities. Each girl takes a definite part in absorbing huge quantities of food at the Student Council Picnic, Revels, and the Father-Daughter Dinner. She also helps in paper sales which provide the money to support two war orphans—the Council's most important project.

The entire school elects the officers in the spring for the coming fall. Each class has one representative on the Council, chosen each semester by her own classmates. During the year the duties of the Council members are to proctor study halls, supervise "Lost and Found," take roll call and lunch duty, and recommend girls for Honor Study Hall.

Sundial

"Relax, relax," were the soothing words of the doctor. "Just lie down, relax, and tell me all about it."

"Well," we replied, "it all began last spring when we were elected as the yearbook staff." Little did we know what we were in for in assuming this honor. Work began during the summer and continued, rising to a white heat at deadline time. There was the task of learning what to do, when to do it, how to do it and then doing it.

We call to mind one bleak night. From somewhere within the piles of paper scattered throughout the room there arose a hysterical cry of delight, "We're finished!" Suddenly from the midst of the deepest pile there appeared what seemed to be a figure, undoubtedly the author of this insane cry. This pitiful creature, with sunken, bloodshot eyes and bones covered solely by skin, bore scarcely any resemblance to the perky, plump girl of the previous year. Alas, this pitiable being was none other than we, the yearbook staff. Was it worth the pain, the agony, the loss of health, family, and friends, and now the loss of sanity? YES!!

Library Board

The members of the Library Board are chosen from the high school and the eighth grade classes by the board of the previous year. The election of the president is held each spring, at which time the board members nominate three girls from the high school who have been on the board for at least one year. The entire high school then elects a president for the following year from this slate. Miss Little is both chief librarian and Library Board sponsor.

The Library Board plays an important part in the school by helping the students find necessary information for their academic work and by keeping the library in neat condition and the records of the books straight. The members of the Library Board provide librarians, help choose new books for the library, and sponsor the annual Book Fair.

Social Service Board

Peggy Montgomery

The Social Service Board, under the sponsorship of Miss Wied, started the year off well with a very successful United Funds drive. With the backing of the entire student body, we reached our goal. At Thanksgiving, food was gathered from all the Upper School classes and delivered to needy families; and at Christmas time, each class adopted one or two families to whom it supplied gifts, food, and clothing. As usual, two hundred Salvation Army Dolls were successfully dressed by the girls and the faculty. At Halloween and Easter, the board members made tray favors for various hospitals. In the spring a picnic and a trip to the zoo were held for needy children. To wind up the year, the Social Service Board sponsored a Red Cross chest of school supplies for poverty-stricken countries overseas.

Choir

Choir was not flat this year under the legato direction of Mrs. McMillan. It was augmented because all high school girls were eligible. Students agreed that it was a natural even though we are not all virtuosos.

The group gave a performance at both Vespers and Commencement which proved to us all that Sunset's Choir is truly a musical madrigal.

Assemblies

A weekly period to which all the Upper School girls looked forward was the first or last forty minutes on Wednesday. It was at this time that an assembly would be presented by Penny Patterson, who had been chosen Chairman of Assemblies in a Town Hall election last spring. Because of her planning and organization, they could expect to hear about and see slides of famous French castles and cathedrals, the Great Pyramid and the Sphinx in Egypt, or Japanese street scenes. Or they might hear from an expert, as they did this year, about Kansas City's juvenile delinquency problem and what is being done about it.

At other times they would be given a look into various academic courses as different classes showed them the best of what they had been working on. For one assembly Junior girls read original essays which had been chosen as the outstanding work in English III; for another were given the best speeches from all the speech classes. This assembly was climaxed by Emily Park's reading "I Speak for Democracy," which she had written and recorded to win a city-wide and enter a national contest for high school students.

The program was rounded out by a variety of assemblies which included two pep rallies and the presentation of talents discovered within Sunset's very walls. This talent assembly brought forth pianists, comedienne, and even a marimbist. In a play put on by the Drama Activity, the audience's spines were chilled by the one who "done it" — this was one of the best of the year's entertaining assemblies.

Social Service Activity

The Social Service Activity is an outgrowth of the Social Service Board. Members of the activity are of the Sophomore, Junior and Senior classes. Every Friday the activity members visit old peoples' homes and take care of small children at different recreational centers. The Social Service Activity is fun and seems to establish in the girls a feeling of accomplishment and satisfaction.

Drama

The Drama Activity is organized for girls who are interested in dramatics. This year ten girls participated in the activity, under the direction of Mrs. Scott. The girls do various things, such as plays, monologues, and pantomimes. The latter two are short skits which the girls work up themselves. The girls in this activity give at least one assembly every year. This year they put on a play entitled "The Nine Girls."

Events

I know. But it's a tradition.

Stair Ceremony

Each spring at Sunset Hill every junior awaits with breathless anticipation a big moment in her life—the moment when she officially becomes a senior.

This long-awaited distinction is solemnized in a simple rite called the Stair Ceremony. Each junior is given her senior ring and escorted up the sacred senior stairs by a senior, who has written her a special poem informing her of the wonderful things her Senior year will bring.

The Student Council Picnic

The Student Council Picnic, held near the beginning of the fall semester, gave students and teachers a chance to mix with and get to know one another. The hockey season was opened by the Bronze-Gold games, this year ending in a tie and a Bronze team victory. This activity worked up quite an appetite for the delicious picnic supper which followed the games. Afterwards each class and the new faculty presented an original skit, one of which was the oft-told tale of just what does go on deep down in the "Senior Room."

Book Fair

Arranged by tables in classification according to type and to age level were the twenty-five hundred books supplied by the Cokesbury Bookstore for Sunset Hill's annual Book Fair. The selection of books ranged from descriptions of the race of man and accounts of his various philosophies to books on growing up, and taking really good pictures. The committee of mothers in charge of the project, headed by Mrs. M. Donald McFarland, is to be thanked for and congratulated on their fine work.

Left to right: Mrs. Albert Lemoine, Mrs. Chase Allison, Mrs. Donald McFarland, Mrs. Elmer Rhoden, Jr.

Jane Berry, Peggy Montgomery, Betty Jackson.

Salvation Army Dolls

Have you seen a Sunset Hill girl carrying one or maybe even two dolls to and from school? Is this a regression to childhood? No—if you look closely, most likely you will note that a doll will be nude when taken home, but smartly outfitted when returned. What's behind all this is the program through which the Salvation Army delivers in November a number of dolls to Sunset, which the Upper School then dresses. They are picked up at the school and delivered to the Salvation Army Headquarters, to help make Christmas merrier for some who are in their childhood.

Peggy Montgomery, Miss Wied, Emily O'Dell

Marianne Wilson, Margaret Weatherly, Mollie Allen, Emily Park.

Vespers

The 1957 Vespers were especially good because of the excellent singing and the unusual play.

The singers represented a Gregorian choir and sang, with open hymn books, a thirteenth-century plain song, a modern lullaby to the baby Jesus, and an enchanting Christmas carol. With the help of clever signs attached to an old calendar, Mrs. Thomas E. McMillan expertly directed the Upper School Choir.

The Vespers play recounted the old Irish legend of Saint Bride, who wrapped the infant Jesus in her cloak. "She held eternity in her lap as a white flower." Mrs. Henry Scott adapted the play from the original legend and directed its production. As usual, Mrs. Scott brought forth much hidden talent.

Judy Marder, Master of Revels.

Revels

Since 1916 it has been the tradition at Sunset Hill to celebrate Revels, an old English custom. Judy Marder was the jovial Master of Revels this year and led the entire school and faculty in singing and general merry-making.

The seventh graders were first on the program and towed in "ye olde Yule log" with Barbara Berry astride. After several more songs two delightful Christmas stories were told by Diane Allen and Cee Cee Hedges. The Wassail Bowls were placed around for all to see and fill; then all wound their way to the gym, where Kathy Cooper and Adrienne Gray were crowned King and Queen of Revels. They presided over the judging of costumes and the games, and laughed until they cried at "The Grinch Who Stole Christmas," presented by the seniors as a climax to the celebration.

Next on the itinerary was the dining room—for turkey, dressing, and the trimmings. The boar's head was carried in and more songs were sung, bringing to a close this most successful Revels.

Top row, left to right: 'Tis the silver-tongued one. You mean ol' Grinch! Who? Mrs. Thompson, of course.
 Second row: Why does Rudolph have a red nose? Oh! you great, big doll! A study in contrasts.

 Bottom row: Angelic Angels, to be sure! Yessir, that's it. . . . The three "Sack Sisters"!!

The Yeoman of the Guard

Each year Sunset Hill and Pembroke-Country Day school merge to present an entertaining and usually comic operetta. This year Gilbert and Sullivan's The Yeoman of the Guard was given on March 20th and 21st. It was given under the direction of Mr. Morris Bourroughs and Mr. Samuel Poor of Pem-Day and Mrs. Thomas McMillan and Mrs. Henry Scott of Sunset. The operettas are always an enjoyable project in which to participate and a pleasant diversion from the strain of the academic schedule. Any member of the Sophomore, Junior, or Senior class is eligible for participation, and if she feels confident, may try out.

May Day

This year's May Day was one of the finest that we have ever had because it was efficiently and originally done. The program consisted of folk dances from the British Isles. To carry out this theme, three Maypoles, one each from England, Scotland and Ireland, decorated the field. Between dances, Robin Hood, his followers, a band of jesters, and a real pony frolicked across the field to entertain the audience. The great amount of planning that the program required was done by Mrs. Ray F. Mosely, Jr., assisted by Mrs. Balmeo and Mrs. Moll. Miss Manry, faculty chairman of May Day, and Judy Marder,

Student Council

The Student Council is the only board in the Lower School. Its activities include helping the Lower School run smoothly, collecting money and other pleasant duties for Social Service, and taking care of the library. The council is composed of one representative from each class—first through seventh. The officers are elected by the council from the seventh grade each semester. Thanks to the council members and their sponsor, Mrs. Olsen, the Student Council has been very successful this year.

Newspaper

Each month the sixth grade publishes a newspaper called the Sunset Hooter. This newspaper consists of news of the various classes and their activities. Stories and poems written by the girls also appear in the Sunset Hooter. An editor is chosen at the beginning of each semester. This year the editors were Eva Kay Nast and Jeanie Keeny. Cartoon editors, reporters, and proofreaders make up the rest of the staff. The girls feel that the publishing of their newspaper is not only interesting and enjoyable but also educational.

Girl Scouts

The Sunset Hill troop of Girl Scouts is a very active group. Under the able direction of Mrs. Herbert Hedges, the girls have participated in a very different activity this year. The troop, composed of nearly all the seventh graders, has been learning judo. Every Thursday afternoon at four-fifteen, the girls don bermudas and rush down to their lesson. Holds, presses, strangles, and chokes, plus other tortuous sounding devices, are taught them by Dr. Yennie, who, we are told, is an excellent performer as well as teacher of this unique sport. In view of all this, it would perhaps be wise of upperclassmen not to offend the eighth grade of 1959.

Front: Kathy Dodson, CeeCee Hedges, Judy Tietze, Betsy Wilkinson, Ann Morrison, Betsy Hall, Marty McClelland. Back: Lynn Haynes, Suzanne Mueller, Susie Noah, Peggy Pyle, Laura Grant, Blair Nichols, Deedee Willson, Lory Robertson, Laura Kitchen, Frances Durrell, Dorris Miles.

Ghost Walk

Halloween is celebrated annually throughout the world by fairies, ghosts, elves, and even the wicked old witches. Sunset Hill takes part in these festivities by a time-honored tradition that we call "The Ghost Walk." The actual participants are the good little goblins of our Lower School, who array themselves in every conceivable manner and costume and then parade from one end of the campus to the other. This proves a delightful diversion for the Upper School and faculty, but all too soon our darling demons are herded into the gym, where their costumes are judged. After many devilish amusements, such as the famous obstacle course for new teachers, the merry monsters are reluctantly forced back into the daily routine as the exhausted teachers breathe a silent prayer that their little cherubs may have worked off some of their mischievousness until next year.

John Burroughs Game

One of the events most looked forward to is the hockey game with John Burroughs from St. Louis. The girls were all excited, both those on the team, who looked to having a team visitor stay with them, and those who were anxious to see friends made in our two year's history of game competition with Burroughs. A good sized yield of Sunset boosters was on hand to greet the team at the station. The day of the game was bitterly cold, but a grand crowd of students and parents turned out. There was hot tomato juice to melt the icicles after the game and a fabulous dinner for the team members and guests. It was a scurry to get to Pem Day for the boys' football game; then home for a short night's rest before rising early Sunday morning to catch the train. The days' events were successful, and everyone went home hoping for as satisfactory a day next year.

"Wouldn't It Be Lovely?"

When you planned your trip abroad,
We thought it would be nice,
To really do our best to please,
And follow your advice.

We started working diligently,
To follow out this plan,
We all have been such angels,
Honor study had to expand.

We brought home all the trophies,
That our A.A. girls could muster,
We've got the Eastern college boards
Completely in a fluster.

The Latin and the French awards,
We quietly won them all,
They are hanging from the ceilings,
And the banisters in the hall.

We're wearing lighter lipstick,
We're no longer chewing gum,
In music we're not shouting,
You will hear a pleasant hum.

Fads we're no longer following,
Our dress is quite refined;
The boys no longer turn our heads
Our thoughts to undermine.

"Now, wouldn't it be lovely"
If all of this were true?
On second thought we think 'twould be
Too big a shock for you.

“What, Us Worry?”

THE BOHOS

On Mrs. Green's Trip

Listen you students and you shall hear
Of the voyage of our head-lady so dear.
She sailed across the deep blue sea,
So that in Europe she would be.

The moors of Scotland worked their spell,
And the Tower of London East its as well.
She drank in the beauty of the Amalfi Drive
And was enchanted by the French countryside.

She traveled from the glorious Matterhorn
To the Acropolis that the Greeks did adorn,
From Notre Dame de Paris to St. Peter's of Rome,
But at last we can welcome her back home.

Some sullen students are as silent as the souls of dead poets. Mostly, however, the Sunset Hill student is a talking being. More than any other places, the tables of the dining room and stairways are full of this conversation.

"Hey, I think I've got a way to solve the world crisis!"

"So I said to her . . ."

"I think Byron's really great!"

"What are Bohos, anyway?"

". . . Then Frederick William had a son whose name was William Frederick and he had a son . . ."

"Shaw says . . ."

"Then she had the nerve . . ."

"I don't really know much about conformity and non-conformity, but if you ask me . . ."

"Well it's like Ibsen . . ."

"She's wearing a cotton skirt, already!"

"So what did he say?"

"And then she got mad just because all I read were the TV Reviews when she assigned NEWSWEEK."
