THE SUNDIAL

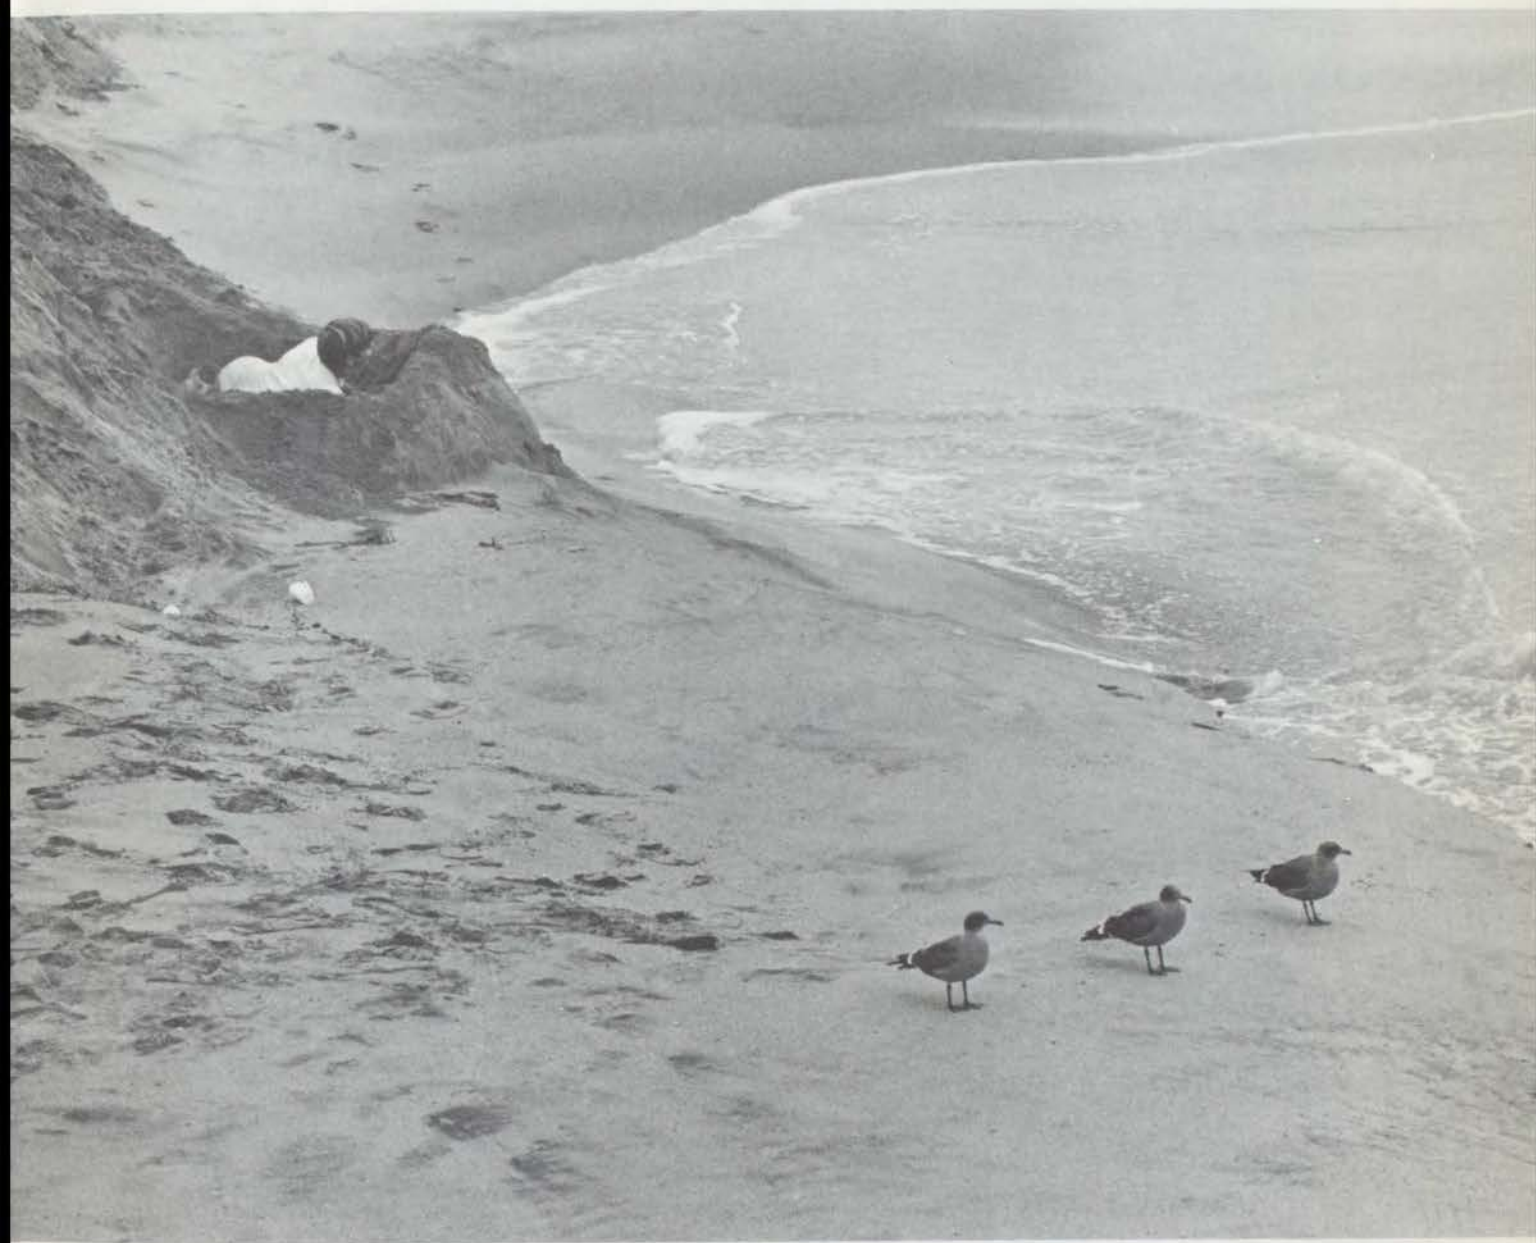

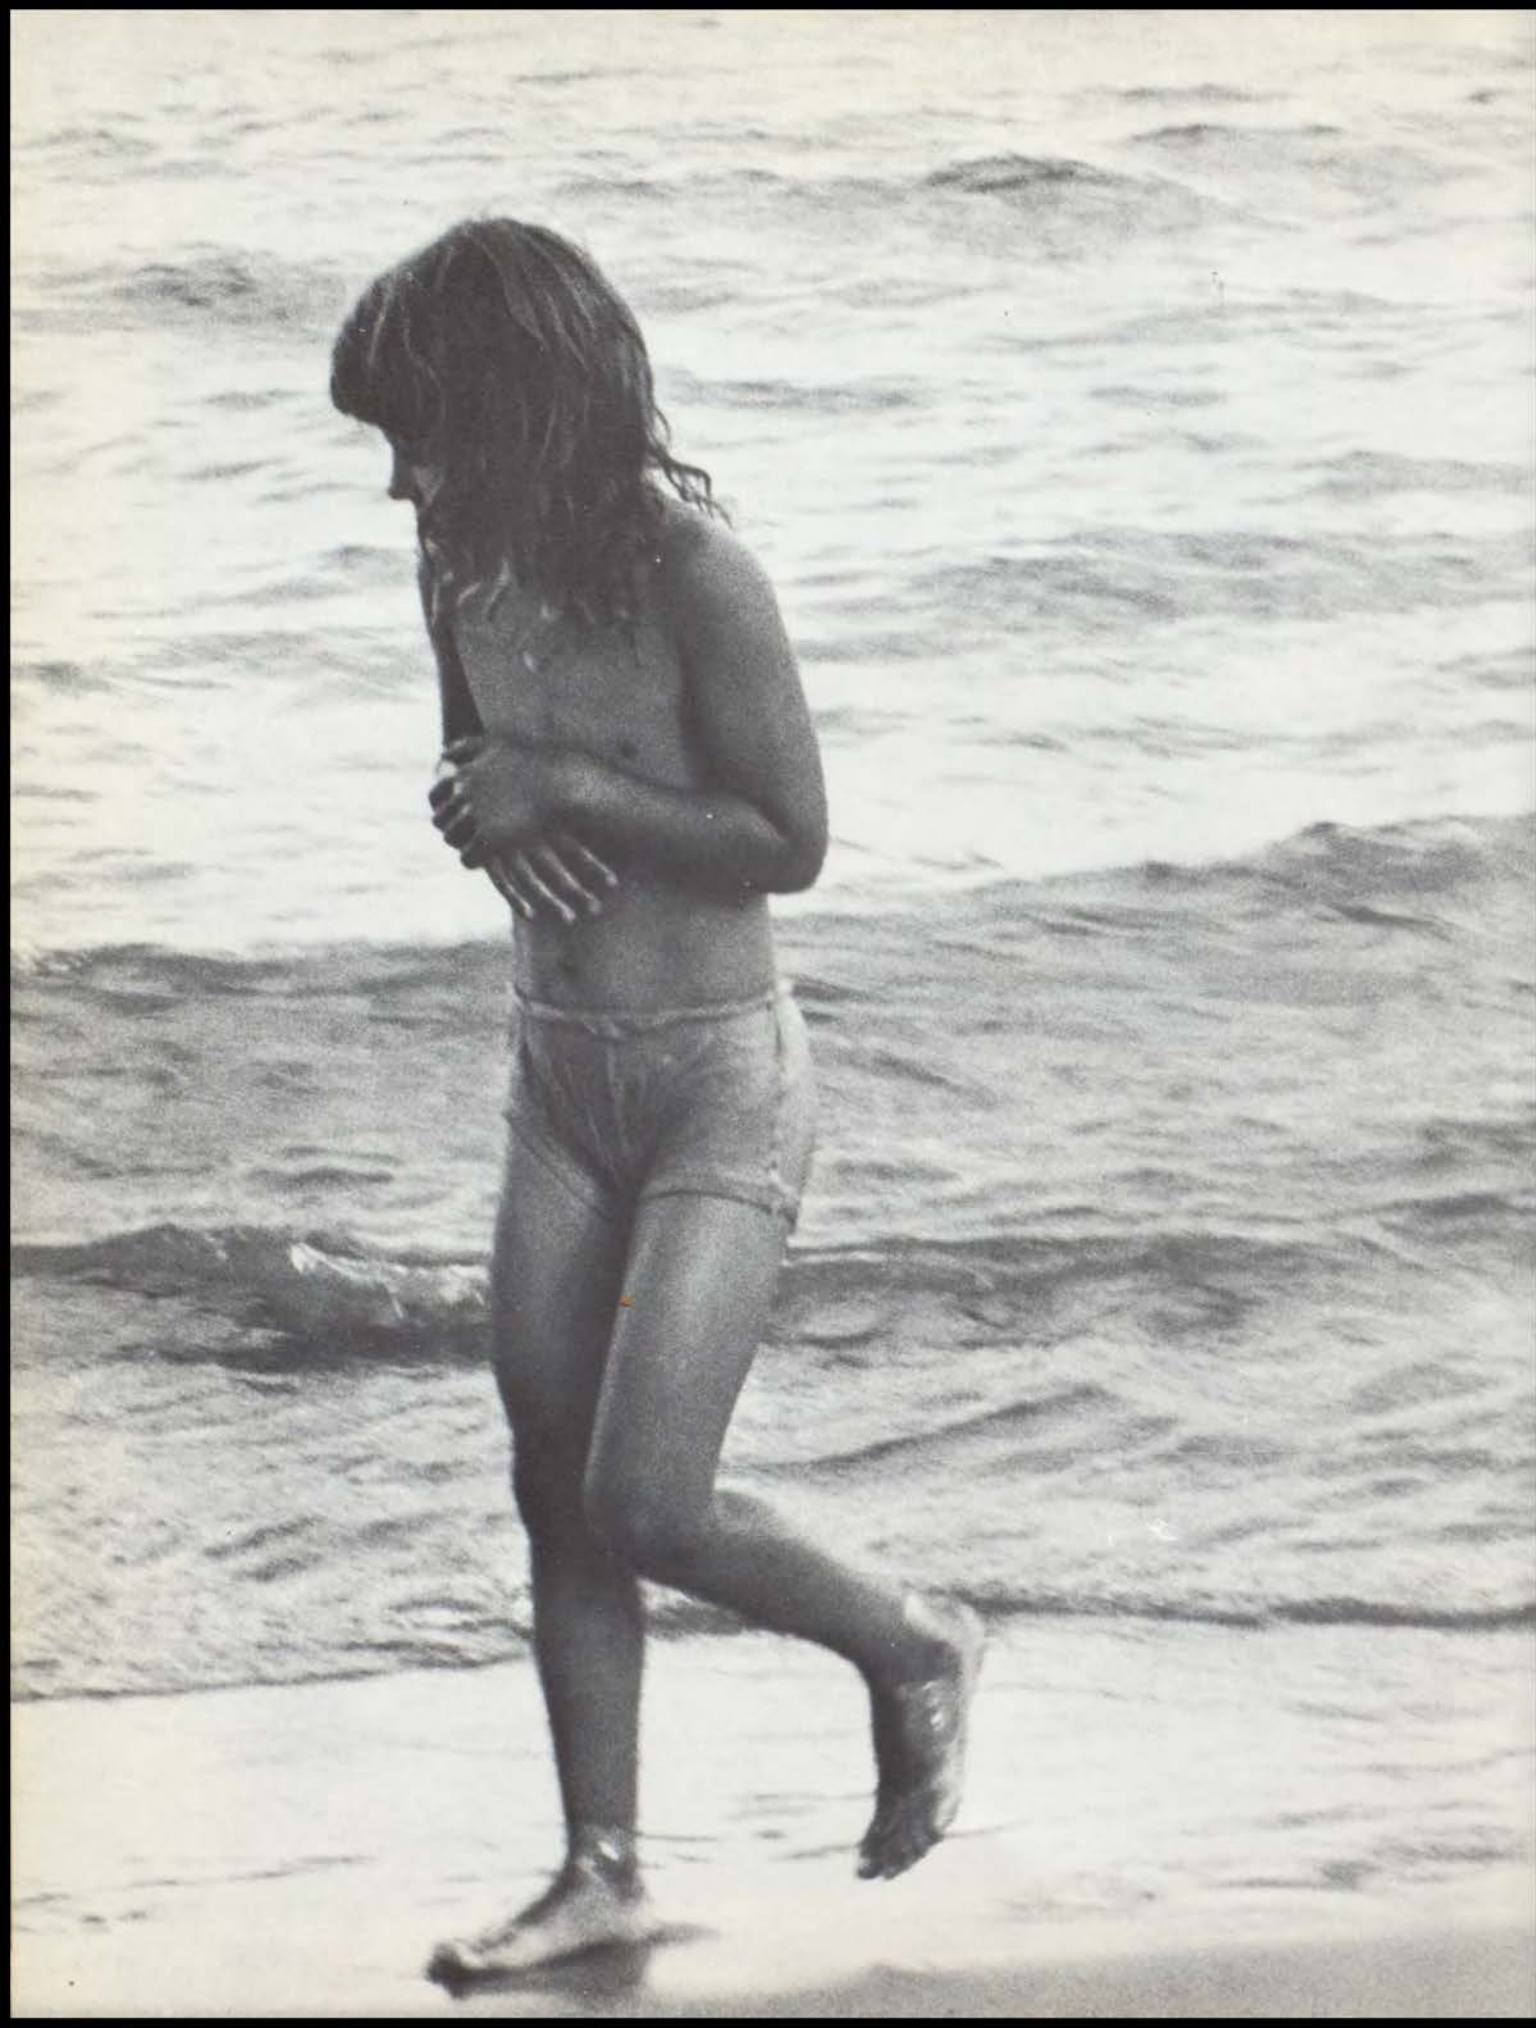

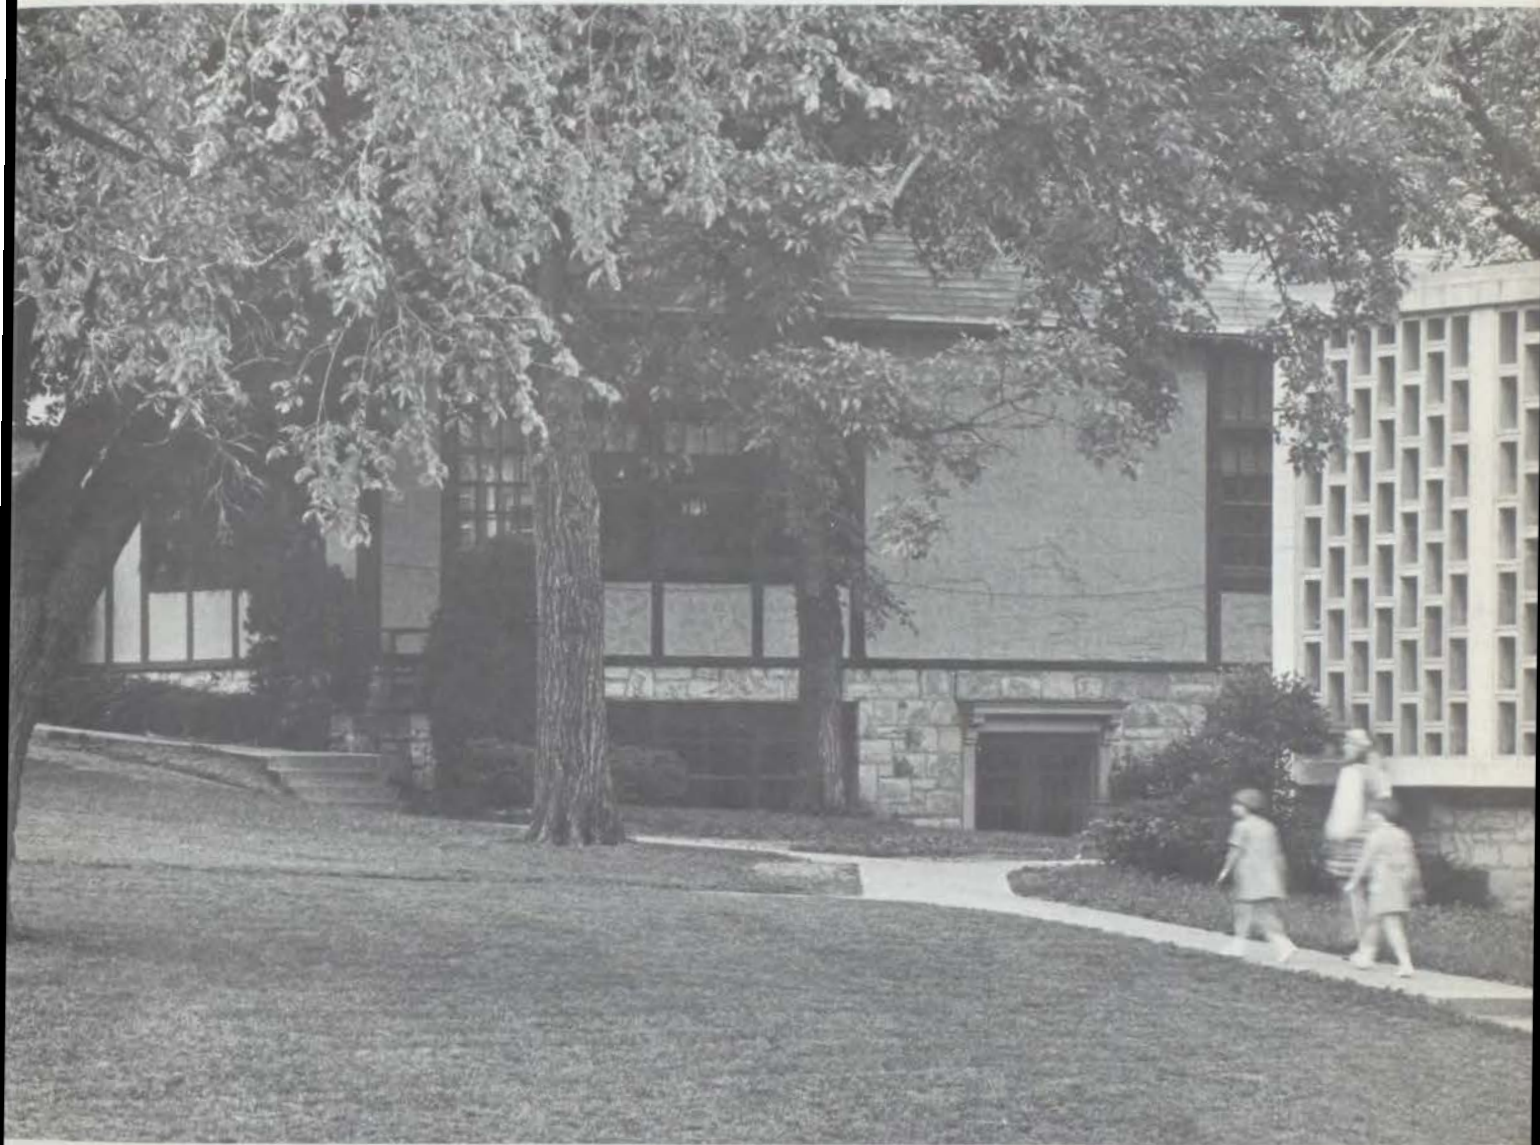

Alone and afraid, man is thrust into a world which seems chaotic. A frightening isolation threatens to engulf him. He throws up his own walls which cut him off from other people: the mindless mechanization of our society, hate and intolerance, and an inability to communicate with others through his own self-doubt. When, at times, he tries to escape into a more natural environment, he is still rebuffed; he may feel one with nature, but this unity is not immediate enough for him, and he only retreats further into himself. Only when he can break through the walls created by his environment and by himself can he be really happy. And he can break through these walls only by communicating with other people and by becoming involved with them.

At Sunset, involvement means different feelings on different levels. It is second graders making friends with their Revels partners; it is everyone in the Upper School growing to love Marie; it is a teacher giving up his time to listen to a student's personal problems, to care and to advise. Involvement presupposes a willingness to give a part of oneself in reaching out to another person; all of one's consciousness cannot be directed toward oneself. But it is a warm human engagement and the person who becomes involved in another receives much more than he gives.

The Class of 1969 likes to think of Sunset not only as a place where they have spent years gaining in knowledge and in their ability to use this knowledge, but as a caring place, as a place where they have learned to make human commitments: the lunch for Biafra, the unity of a class, a friendship with a teacher. This sense of involvement is a humanistic education.

Nous, étudiantes de la classe de Seniors de 1969, votons Madames Lutes:

“sotte”

“dans la lune”

de compagnie amusante

celle avec qui il est bon de causer (en français, bien sûr)

celle avec qui il est facile de causer (en anglais, bien sûr)

professeur de français remarquable

la meilleure amie des Seniors

la plus fidèle

bon enfant

la meilleure en tout

et, le plus important de tout, inébranlée par le conflit des générations.

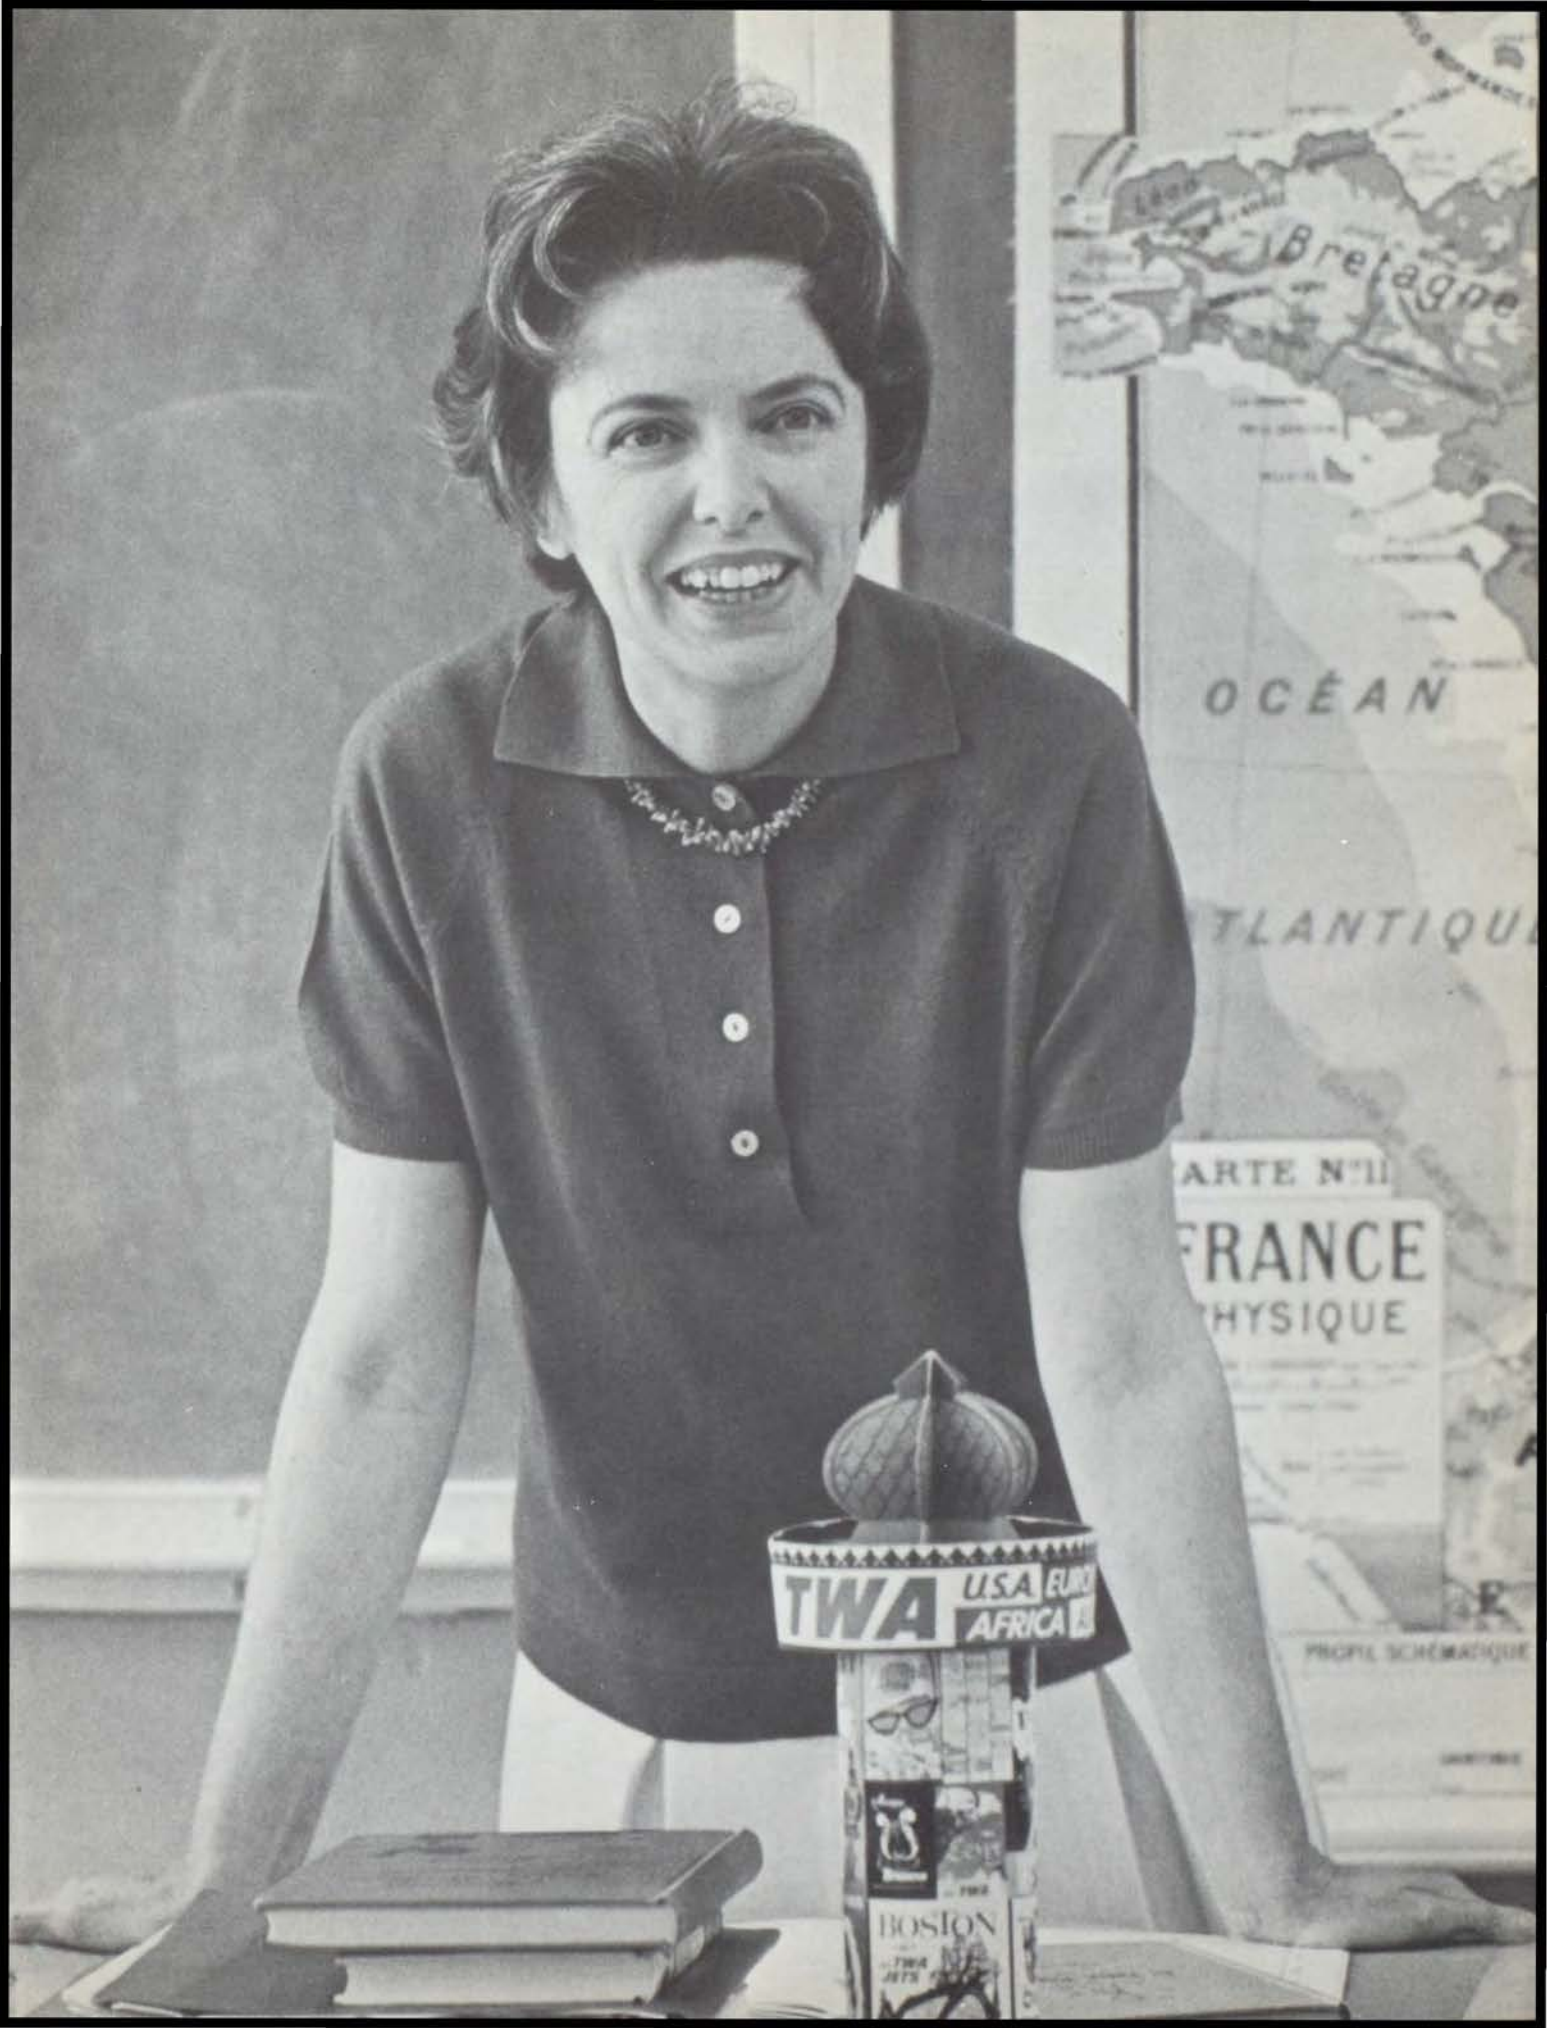

In English, the senior class is stating all their reasons for dedicating this yearbook to their favorite French teacher. Madame Lutes first became acquainted with us in the sixth grade and for five years, she helped us struggle from our first Le Coffre au Trésor through La Littérature Expliquée. But not only did she help us in French, she was always willing to offer friendship and personal advice when needed. She was interested in us; ecstatic over our successes, despondent when we failed. This is why:

Nous, étudiantes de la classe de Seniors de 1969, dédions à Madame Lutes:

Ce livre merveilleux, intellectuel, dans le vent, symbolique de notre classe, en hommage à sa personnalité merveilleuse, inellectuelle et dans le vent.

ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Left: Mrs. Janssen Wooldridge, Mr. Barret Heddens, Jr., Mrs. Miller Nichols, Mr. George Dillon.

Mr. Gordon Beaham, III, Mrs. Doyle Patterson, Mrs. Morton Sosland.

Mr. Richard Greene, Mr. Thornton Cook, II, Mrs. Robert Willits, Mrs. Thomas Wood, Jr., Mr. Thomas Deacy.

Mr. John Moses, Mr. Milton McGreevy, Miss Louise Henderson.

1969 marked Louise Henderson's third year at Sunset Hill. It proved to be a year of transition for both students and faculty. For the first time in Sunset's history, the privilege of Honor Study Hall was extended to all high school students. This gave Sunset students the opportunity to learn that their motto "Freedom with Responsibility" is more than an anachronistic Sunset cliché; it gave them the opportunity to learn that the "older generation" is more than willing to give them a chance to prove themselves as responsible individuals. Next year, the eighth grade will be incorporated into the high school and will be given an active voice in the new Student-Faculty Government which was voted to replace the conventional Student Council system in May by students and faculty alike. In the past, the Student Council had been criticized by students for being ineffective and the target of faculty hegemony. Under the new system, the governing body will be composed of 10 students and 6 faculty members elected, respectively, by their peers, who will discuss and decide on school policy for the high school.

We, the editors and staff of this yearbook, hope Miss Henderson, faculty, and students alike will continue the present trend. The youth of today, students, Black Militants, hippies, Yippies—the disillusioned, want to participate, to love, to care, to give and accept the responsibilities that are theirs. If Sunset continues its present trend under the leadership of Louise Henderson, and if it continues to offer the excellent educational opportunities it has succeeded in offering to date, it will not become an outmoded institution of education, but will, instead, continue to inspire happiness and creativity in those who are connected with it.

For one year before I came to Kansas City, I was dreaming, wishing, and hoping I would be accepted for AFS. I made up exactly how it would be, how I would act, and so on. I thought I knew—but it became so different. Living on the farm—with my own Camelot family, going to a school for girls, doing the musical, meeting with the other AFS kids, my relationship with my Swedish family; everything turned out in a way I could not have dreamed about.

When I think of all the things I have gotten by being here, I get so happy and grateful. To be in another country for a whole year is an experience with yourself that you can never achieve in your own country. I think that I know myself much better now. And of course I know the USA or rather a part of it on a basis that has changed my outlook on Sweden, the USA, and also the rest of the world. AFS's motto is, "Walk together, talk together all ye people of the world, first then and only then shall we have peace." And it describes so perfectly what AFS is all about. You come down to a personal people-to-people basis that you cannot get by reading books, newspapers, or watching TV. If people could understand why other people act in certain ways, there would be no hate or fear and AFS is the best thing I can think of to make this come true. I am so lucky to be a part of it. And I want to thank you guys at Sunset for everything you have done for me that have made me realize how much I like you and have made me understand things I was blind to before I met you. This year will always be my source of happiness and I will always take it with me.

MARIE LINDGREN

INVOLVEMENT: A.F.S. SUMMER IN TRABZON, TURKEY

Sixty Americans Abroad stepped off an airplane in Istanbul on July 2; 1968. We were so happy to be there that we waved our Turkish flags and sang the Turkish national anthem to the Turk-American Field Service delegation waiting for us! My whole summer, in remembering, seems just like that moment. Whether I was playing on the beach of the Black Sea with my twelve-year-old brother, Atila, or straining to understand what the smiling ladies were saying about me to my mother at the endless tea parties, or hurrying through the narrow streets in the rain with my sister, Sevgi, every minute of my two months in Trabzon seemed touched with newness and excitement. I remember vividly so many things. . .the sunsets, the Turkish bread, the beautiful hilly countryside with white minarets pointing gracefully upward. . .but most of all, I remember the people. The Turks are the warmest, friendliest people that I have ever met. Their way of life moves more slowly than ours, and they seem to enjoy it more; to my questions about anything from tomorrow's weather to whether my family could ever visit me in America, I was likely to receive the answer, "Inshallah"—"If God wills it." I always felt like a part of the Alptekin family; although we had so many differences in language, religion, and culture, we did communicate so that we felt that there were no real differences between us. The key phrase, I think, is "Hos geldiniz", "Welcome", which the Turks say always when you enter their house; if the phrase could be translated into a general feeling of warmth, communication, and involvement, then my whole A.F.S. experience was permeated with that feeling.

Francie Parker

AP-Phil Dopoulos

This year, the Sunset drama club sponsored a new project. "The Greek Experience," under the direction of Mrs. Henry Scott, attended seminars to learn about the aspects of the Greek culture and heritage. A small group of Sunset and Pem-Day students left the Kansas City airport on March 22, 1969. After they returned to Kansas City, the students presented a play by Euripides entitled "The Trojan Women." A collage of impressions—sights of the Acropolis; walks through the streets of Athens; a view of the Temple of Apollo; a trip, zigzagged, to Olympia; a dream of the first Olympic games at the National Sanctuary; the lights of Delphi; talks with Greek teenagers about politics—make up, for five Sunset girls, a total experience of Greece.

SOMETHING WONDERFUL FROM

OTIVOL
of course

Service Equipment Co.
1331 Woodswether Road

The Road goes ever on and on Down from the door where it began.
Now far ahead the Road has gone,
And I must follow, if I can,
Pursuing it with eager feet,
Until it joins some larger way
Where many paths and errands meet.
And whither then? I cannot say.
