WEST HIGH SCHOOL

Kansas City, Missouri

TRAVIS SHEPHERD, Editor

WEST SIDE STORY

Years ago, Quality Hill, was the hill of mansions, fine horses, and rich families of Kansas City, Missouri. This was the area that we call Westside, today.

In 1839, the city of Kansas had been incorporated as a separate part of Westport Landing. This area had been originally founded by Francis Chouteau as a fur-trading riverport.

By 1890, exactly 51 years after our city was established, a new school was built on the Westside. The name of the new school was Switzer Elementary School and it contained grades one thru eight. The first Parent-Teacher Association was formed at this school. The 1890 school building is still used today.

Within twenty years (1910), the Westside became an area of middle-income families. The mansions became apartment houses or else they were replaced by regular apartment buildings. Also, within this period of time the rich families were being replaced by railroad and packing house employees.

When our city was established there were many Anglo-Americans and a few Afro-Americans. As the Westside area changed, our city was receiving many Mexican Citizens who came from Old Mexico to work for the railroad companies and the packing houses. This area (Westside) was ideal for the three ethnic groups who worked for these companies.

By 1925 it was decided that a Junior High School be located in this area. The new school was named West Junior High School and it served grades seven through ten (a four year Junior High School was unusual).

Although World War I took its toll of young men, we must remember that many of our young men, on the Westside were first generation citizens of our city. However, World War II did affect the Westside because many of our young men were citizens serving their country. Due to the War many of our Westsiders were able to see new ways of living, thus, creating desires to change their customs, or trades or patterns of living. The Westside was no longer known as "Little Mexico" or the Negro section of town. In place of one or two ethnic groups, the Westside had three groups, Mexican, Negro and Anglo.

The three groups organized for the improvement of their neighborhood. Through their efforts new housing, better street lighting, better health services, more neighborhood youth centers, were provided and four year junior high school was changed to a five year senior high school.

In September of 1969, the doors opened to West High School which serves grades eight thru twelve. Today, the school, the neighborhood organizations, and the Kansas City School Board are working as a group to improve and make West High School the BEST High School for our three cultural groups.

DEDICATION

SALUTE TO WEST HIGH

A salute to West High.
The school that gives us pride.

A beginning of a new start.
So stick together and never let us part.

A salute for our first Senior Class.
A salute for a High School at last.

So lets get it together and stand tall,
And our school will never fall.

It might be small, we don't care.
Salute Mr. Davenport who has done his share.

STEW CREW

As Mrs. Marion Pheiffer plans another stirring episode for their noonday novel she says, send over 400 pounds of potatoes, 100 pounds of flour, and 120 pounds of hamburger. Such a statement might well have been the cafeteria's daily grocery order this year. Where did all the food go?

POLISH CREW

St. Bernard trapped in girls' locker room.....broken chair as a result of lounging teacher.....please send help! No, not the midnight calls of station five in precinct twenty-three; these fervent pleas were conventional in the lives of gray-clad officers from West's garage precinct.....protectors of order.....the custodians. On duty twenty-four hours a day, West custodians were Joe Fridays in answer to every call. Under the direction of Desk Sgt. Salvador Guterrez, the oddest of jobs were complete.

School Life

THREE CULTURES MINGLE AT WEST

Intent on her typing is Sheila Mack, a student in the second hour advanced typing class of Mrs. Hubble. On the right a Spanish-Speaking English class taught by Mr. Sullivan. The students are all recent arrivals from Mexico and Argentina.

The citizens of the West Side have been integrated for several generations. Three cultures, the Mexican-American, the Black American and the Caucasian-American, live together in this community and exchange cultures. It is here at West High School where the youth of the community come together daily and where the nitty-gritty exchange of culture takes place. The pictures on this page appeared in the Youth Section of the Kansas City Times on December 6, 1969.

Time to teach, time to relax.

FOOTBALL

This year the West High students participated in the Guadalupe football program. There were four teams consisting of the three cultures: Mexican-American, Black American, and the Caucasian-American. The name of the teams were: Garcia's Jets, Rams, Wild Bunch and Invaders. The players of these teams will make up the West High School football team of the "70" fall season.
