Foreword

In the preparation of this eighteenth year-book of Westport High School, the staff has endeavored to portray not only the year's activities but also to depict the more personal and characteristic glimpses of school life, which in after years may serve to keep the now familiar scenes alive in memory. We wish to express our pleasure in the preparation of the work and our appreciation of the assistance rendered by many members of the student-body and faculty, and to thank particularly Miss Klee-man, Miss Wilhite, Miss Dorrell and Mr. Walter Pfeiffer for the help they have given in the compilation of this volume.

*High upon a hill so noble,
Challenging the sky,
Stands a school above all others,
Stands our Westport High.*

EDITORIALS

In Retrospect.

Retrospection is entirely appropriate at commencement time. A year has just closed and another graduating class, equipped with brand new diplomas, is about to venture forth on a new conquest of the world. Glancing back, then, over the months that have passed since last September, we find that, although devoid of spectacular achievements, this year has been one of steady, substantial progress. Enforced vacations, which caused serious interruptions the last two years, were not necessary and consequently scholastic requirements have been met more completely.

With over two thousand pupils enrolled the second term the school has been over crowded. Even with an enlarged faculty and eight recitation periods such a multitude could not be cared for without experiencing certain inconveniences and vexations. However, the year has passed and we have all survived without being much the worse for having to use one-way stairs or for missing some assemblies.

School activities have flourished and various innovations in the conduct of social functions give promise of becoming permanent and highly valuable. Movements intended to knit the students together and to overcome the disadvantages of excessive numbers have been entered into with fine spirit.

Interscholastic activities do not form a brilliant chapter in the history of the year 1920-'21. Championships have eluded us in athletics and debating, yet our defeats have not caused discouragement.

In everything that has made for the greater glory of Westport during the year that is past the class of '21 has had a conspicuous and notable part. In the words of an unknown author in the Herald of 1914, we bid them adieu:

"Allons, comarados!

Grasp the flung sheepskin.

Freedom and Vacation are at hand.

Also the Lawn-Mower.

Oh, my fellows, come away from the Chalk-Dust,

The Lunch-Room, Ice Cream, the lure of the Library, Room 52 and the Blanks-to-Be-

Signed by the Parent-or-Guardian

And Returned-on-the-Following-Day.

Out of the brick buildings,

Let us be graduated;

But do not fall off the platform.

Forward!!"

Enlarged Faculty

On account of the increase in the enrollment this year the faculty was considerably enlarged. There are thirteen new teachers on the staff and of these ten are filling new positions. Three of last year's faculty are engaged in teaching elsewhere. Miss Morrison secured leave of absence to accept a scholarship at Bryn Mawr; Miss Shire is teaching in the University High School at the University of Wisconsin; Mr. Demarest is in the East, and Miss Henry has a position in the Glenville High School, Cleveland.

Miss Dryden, who takes Miss Shire's place, is a graduate of the University of Kansas and took her M. A. degree at the University of Illinois. Mr. Demarest's position as chairman of the Latin department is filled by Mr. Craddock, a graduate of the University of New Zealand. He has studied and taught in England, Australia and New Zealand and came here from Honolulu.

Miss Blase of the English and Latin departments received the Bachelor of Arts degree at the University of Chicago. Last year she taught at Poplar Bluff, Mo.

Miss Marshall of the English department, is a Westporter. She graduated here in 1912. She received her Bachelor's degree at M. U. in 1919.

Mr. Williams and Mr. Heinberg are both M. U. graduates. Mr. Heinberg comes from Weston, Mo., where he was superintendent of schools. Mr. Williams taught at Missouri Wesleyan College.

Miss Wilkinson holds a degree from Vassar, and an A. M. from Middlebury College. She last taught at Binghamton, N. Y.

Miss Bechtel, zoology teacher, is a K. U. graduate. She last taught at Salt Lake City High School.

Miss Redmond is a Central graduate, also from M. U. Last year she taught at Excelsior Springs.

Mr. Eastwood assists in the Manual Arts department. He also teaches at the Longan School.

Miss Wheeler is a Centralite, a graduate of K. U. She teaches English and Civics.

Miss Vera Dillingham, '18, takes the place of Miss Rudolph as clerk.

New Organizations

Several new organizations have sprung up this year. First, there is the organization of a Minority of Senior Girls. Many people, it is true, have never heard of it, and indeed it has not gained the wide popularity that its officers once hoped it would have, but even so it is not a complete failure. Surely, the seed of interest sown by a few girls in the class of 1921 cannot fail to show those who follow the necessity of taking an interest in the under classmen.

After the Seniors had tried to organize, and had been rather unsuccessful, the class of 1924 showed its ability and spirit by organizing the Freshman Forum. This organization has been highly successful. Officers have been elected, and under the supervision of Miss Kleeman, all has gone well. The girls of 1924 have done much to fill the need of comradeship and personal interest in Westport which is felt by all new comers.

There is yet a third organization in Westport, which we must needs mention. That is the Westport Improvement Club. This year the boys in Mr. Harman's civics classes organized to make this community a better place to live in. It is a movement which should spread through the whole school and the leaders in it deserve the highest praise.

Baseball.

Baseball came to Westport almost as a new sport this year. Although teams composed of all Westport boys have been formed in previous years, the athletic department of the school has never before undertaken to make baseball a school sport. Since it was seen that a regular inter-scholastic season of baseball could not succeed because the schools have no place for holding the games, Coach Edwards has inaugurated a new system of intramural baseball. Under his plan eight teams were organized from the student body and a schedule of six games was arranged, after which the leaders of the two respective leagues were to settle the championship in a final game. The plan worked wonderfully. The large enrollment and the hearty support by the student body showed clearly the desire to have a season for baseball in the sports calendar. Perhaps some time in the near future we will be able to include baseball as a major sport and when we do this the training and experience the players will have received will give us a prominent place in that branch of sport. Since this plan has been so successful this year, we may well hope that it will become a regular sport at Westport.

Inter-Society Contest

This spring for the first time in some years, an inter-society contest was held. It was a bloodless yet exciting battle, and ultimately the knights of the Round Table triumphed over their rivals, the followers of Clio.

Not for three years has there been such a contest within the halls of Westport. Each club presented a vocal number, a debate, a short story, musical entertainment, poetry, and a short farce. Nothing could have done more to keep alive in the minds of the members of the two organizations that they are literary societies. Perhaps in the precedent re-established by them we shall find a better method of showing society how to realize its purpose.

Parents and Teachers Meet

We have had two patrons' evenings. There is no doubt that both, especially the last with the entertainment in the gymnasium, were unprecedented successes. Parents met teachers and together they discussed child and pupil, succeeding, in many cases, in reaching a clearer understanding of each other and of us.

Perhaps this spirit gave rise to the Parent-Teachers' Association; at any rate one has been organized. It is to be wondered that Westport ever was without such an association and this organization promises to do much good for Westport. And since the Seniors will no longer be here to be discussed, we wish them success! Long may they prosper!

MIXERS AND PARTIES

The all-school party took the form of a Halloween Mixer this year and was given on October 29. From 3:00 to 3:30 stunts were provided by the clubs. There was dancing in the gym and vaudeville in the auditorium. Voting was the feature of the entertainment and took place in Room 52. At 4 o'clock refreshments were served in the lunch room.

A political rally was held in the auditorium October 27, which must surely have differed from any other political rally in that both parties were represented and not one of the many enthusiastic speakers or their equally enthusiastic audience had the privilege of voting on election day.

The Girls' High School Club went on a hike November 6. After their walk, the girls enjoyed their breakfast cooked in a most primitive style on the big ovens near the Lake of the Woods. Rain prevented them from finishing their hike to the swinging bridge.

December 16 was the day on which the Seniors gave a party that was in every sense of the word a mixer. From the very first game through many other games and as many dances to the very last suck on a lollypop the Seniors enjoyed themselves immensely.

Miss Bradley entertained the four girls' basketball squads in the gymnasium on February 18th. After many interesting games, Miss Bradley awarded the seventeen "W's" and followed that enthusiastic ceremony with refreshments.

The Aristonian-Pundit Tea was held March 4 in the Trianon Room at the Hotel Muehlebach. It has been a custom of several years for the Westport Pundits, Central Aristonians and Northeast Alphas to give a joint tea. Although the Alphas were not able to attend this year, the entertainment was a great success.

The Junior Mixer given March 7 was a most successful party. Some of the unusual features of this party were the presentation of and speeches by the Junior officers, and chocolate eclairs that were sufficient in number to be passed many times. The mixer was called a decided success by all the Juniors, and surely they should know.

The Cadet Hop was given in the gymnasium on the eighteenth of March. That is, the ballroom was where the gym used to be, but so many flags, strips of bunting, sabers and rifles were in evidence the scene of all the gayety could scarcely be recognized.

The big event of April 8 was the Clonian-Round Table contest in which the Round Tablers defeated their rivals, 8-7. The contest consisted of a vocal number, an instrumental number, an original farce, a short story and an original poem. The two clubs were so evenly matched and all the entries so excellent that they held the interest of the audience through the entire program.

Patrons' Evening on April 15 was devoted mostly to the selection of next year's subjects. The teachers met the parents of their third hour pupils and advised with them concerning future courses. The gym classes gave an entertainment and the orchestra entertained in the auditorium. After the musical program, Mr. Shouse gave a talk on preparation for college.

The front corridor was so transformed April 15 that the Clonians and Round Tablers who met there to enjoy their annual dance, scarcely recognized the familiar background for their festivities. The music was almost too good and the refreshments were considered past criticism by everyone who attended.

ASSEMBLIES

The large number of assemblies this year may be due to the division of the school into two groups so that many of the pupils attended only about half of the assemblies, but that does not account for their variety, interest and originality.

Edgar Guest gave a short talk which he followed by reciting some of his poems, in the first assembly of the year, October first. Although the assembly was during seventh hour there was a very large audience which was loath to let the poet depart even after he had recited six or eight of his poems.

The assembly on October 5 was given to awaken interest in the different school activities. Mr. Booth explained why the Crier was necessary to Westport, Mr. Humphrey presented the claims of debate and Coach Edwards and Mr. Harman talked about athletics.

"How to Keep Alive" was the startling subject of a talk given in assembly on October 20 by Mr. J. L. Smyth, director of the Safety Council. With the aid of a blackboard, Mr. Smyth explained not only how to avoid the careless motorists, but how to avoid being a careless motorist or pedestrian.

October 26 the assembly consisted of a very interesting talk by William Mather Lewis, an official of the United States Treasury. Mr. Lewis discussed the advantages of an education and the need for thrift.

Mr. Wilbur Grogan, an instructor in the Coast Guard Training School at New London, Conn., spoke in an assembly given after eighth hour November 9. He explained how commissions may be obtained and urged the boys to take advantage of this opportunity.

Two former Westporters, Elizabeth Hanawalt and Jessie Smullin, returned to Westport on November 15, when "Heirs at Law," the play in which they both had leading roles, was presented in assembly by the Dramatic Art Club of Junior College. After the play, Mr. Fristoe awarded the tennis "W's" and Mildred Pearson received a prize for her "Fire Prince" poster.

The Kansas University Band attracted a large crowd in the assembly held after the seventh hour November 24, and no one who stayed was disappointed. Dean Kelley of Kansas also gave a short address in which he emphasized the advantages of a college education.

Miss Elizabeth Bain, representing the National Society of Social Hygiene, spoke in two assemblies December 6. Her subject was "Morals in the High School." The first assembly was for the girls and the second for the boys. Miss Bain worked for three years among the American soldiers in England and France.

A member of Robert Mantell's company, Mr. Guy Lindsley, gave a short talk on English and then gave several dramatic selections. His audience refused to let him depart before he had given the quarrel between Brutus and Cassius from "Julius Caesar." This assembly was given December 23.

To celebrate the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims, a program was given on December 21 under the management of Mrs. MacLaughlin. Appropriate poems and selections were given by Ellen Dod, Audrey Miller, Myrtle Nelson, Harold Wahrenbrock, Julius Bischofsheimer and Willard Deutsch.

As many Westporters as could find room in the auditorium after six wards schools had been seated, listened to the health lecture given February 12 by Cho Cho, a clown from the "Chu Chin Chow" company. Cho Cho turned out to be a most surprising, interesting and instructive person.

The "Processes of Sculpture" was the title of a delightful illustrated lecture given by Robert Merrill Gage in assembly February 9. Mr. Gage, who is an instructor at the Art Institute and a very successful sculptor, didn't seem to mind giving away the tricks of his trade. He even used a "real" model and "oozy" clay.

February 30, Dr. Emory R. Johnson, Dean of the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania, gave a talk in assembly on the advantages of going to college and to Pennsylvania University in particular.

The dramatic classes of Mr. Humphrey and Miss Short presented an unusually artistic program in assembly February 7. Mr. Humphrey's class gave a scene from "Everywoman," while the class of Miss Short put on two scenes from Hamlet and two from Macbeth. The parts were taken by Carlyn Lehman, Helen Hinshaw, Helen Flynn, Eleanor Siebert, Elizabeth Turner, Claude Bowman, Gladys Exline, Irma Kevan, Lois Van Evera, Beata Slusher, Edith Landes, Floy Robinson, Martha Harding, Clara Hoelzel, Hulda Siedel, Corrine Craig, Virginia Duval, Myrtle Nelson and Isadore Ross.

The assembly given on March 4 had a double purpose; first to present the basket ball "W's" to their proud owners, and, second to give Westport the opportunity to hear Mrs. George B. Baker, Dean of Radcliff College, give a short talk on the college with which she is connected. The blushing athletes received their letters with their customary bravery and Mrs. Baker's talk was unusually interesting.

Mr. George Huff, athletic instructor at the University of Illinois, talked in assembly March 11. He spoke on good sportsmanship and a more general participation in athletics and deplored the fact that so many people "take their exercise by proxy."

The boys' Central-Manual debate was given in an assembly on March 13, and the girls from the same schools met here March 24.

The program for the assembly given on March 31 consisted of three musical numbers by the girls' and boys' Glee Clubs and talks on the need of the school bond issue by Donald Wren, Frederick Scharles and Edmund Platt.

A talk on Wellesley by Professor MacDougall of the Music Department of that college was the first number on the program April 5. After the debaters and their coaches had praised each other for a while, they presented the hard earned debate pins.

April 25 Col. Ruby Garrett talked in assembly on the necessity of a boys' day and urged that all loyal Westporters should prove their loyalty by marching in the parade.

Dean Pennypacker of Harvard said many things worth remembering in an address he gave in assembly May 9. He spoke first of the importance of examinations and said we would be judged in life by the things we can do in a crisis, not by what we think we know. The second bit of advice he gave was not to be satisfied with getting by, and the third was a warning to keep the esteem of our most valuable critic, ourselves.

A LAMENTATION.

I've often wondered why it is that girls of every age,
Have made some sort of memory book or diary
all the rage;
To hand out to a fellow with a smile and, "Just a line—
"Oh, any little verse will do, whenever you have time."
And then you have to stop and think and think and stop some more,
And rack your brain for all the verse you've heard
ten years before;
For something that's quite apropos, not heavy or too light,
In fact, the thing you're looking for, must fit the lady—quite.
Then after you have searched in vain for something ready made,
By Shakespeare or by Tennyson, Walt Mason or George Ade,
You take your notebook, pen and ink and try to write your own;
You start, and then—Alas! Alack! She's gone!
The muse has flown.
So after struggles hard and long with words and rhymes unruly,
You know you're licked and so you write, "The best of luck, yours truly."

—EDMUND PLATT, '21

DEB[®]ATE

GIRLS' AFFIRMATIVE TEAM VICTORIOUS

Although our debaters found favor in the sight of their judges in only one contest, each of the defeated teams lost by the very narrow margin of one vote. There is honor in defeat when the decision is so close. And the girls' affirmative team, which came home victorious, captured the votes of four judges.

The talent displayed by the members of the two teams was not acquired by personal effort entirely. Much credit is due the second teams who worked unselfishly and struggled valiantly in the task of gathering information and perfecting arguments and style. Mr. Humphrey and Miss Short, the coaches, were unsparing of time and effort and won the devotion of the boys and girls with whom they worked.

The members of the second teams were: Boys, Richard Cohn, Robert Hecker, John Melcher, Robert Rosenwald, Frederick Scharles, Edward Trimble, Edward Weatherly and Dean Wood, Girls, Martha Cowan, Helen Farrel, Henrietta Ginsburg, Clara Hoelzel, Julia Mastin, Floy Robinson and Elizabeth Turner.

The boys' debate was March eighteenth, the girls' March twenty-fifth. In both cases the affirmative teams went to Northeast, the negative to Manual.

Girls' Affirmative

The victorious girls' affirmative met Central at Northeast. They proved that the federal government should prohibit further Japanese immigration into the United States, because the Japanese are undesirable.

Lucile Richards spoke first for Westport. Her manner was calm, her delivery forceful; she speeked more at home on the stage than any speaker who followed her on either team.

Hulda Seidel was second speaker. She proved that the Japanese are undesirable economically. Her gestures were convincing, her manner direct, and withal she showed a remarkable grasp of the subject.

Ruth Hall, captain of the team, was third speaker for the affirmative. The constructive arguments which she presented were so strong and explained so clearly that the affirmative's case seemed almost proved even before rebuttal. Miss Hall not only established her own arguments convincingly, but so summarized her colleagues' speeches that the entire proposition was laid before the judges as if it had been her own argument.

Hulda Seidel, as first speaker in rebuttal, was never better. Every figure of speech, every gesture, added force to an already forceful argument.

The second speaker for the affirmative rebuttal was forced to face one of the most serious charges ever made against a statement. Ruth Hall met that charge, answered it completely, and swept the opposition clear off its feet. And then by a happy bit of most effective humor, she placed the affirmative again on top, and it stayed there ever after!

Lucile Richards answered the dramatic challenges of the negative with a coolness even more dramatic. With one stroke she showed that Central had not answered our main point, and therefore had failed. And after that, there was no doubt.

Dorothy Martin was alternate on the negative team and Verona Stuart on the affirmative. Dorothy was the official encourager of her team, and Verona was always enthusiastic and capable.

Boys' Affirmative

At Northeast our affirmative met Central's negative on the question: "Resolved, that the federal government should establish a permanent policy of price control for the so-called necessities of life."

Jimmy Reeves, captain, opened the debate for the affirmative. He proved that a permanent policy of price control was necessary, because the public needed protection from profiteering, which is the permanent evil of our economic system. He was perfectly at ease and won his audience.

Jerauld Dissman was our second speaker. As a substitute plan he advocated federal courts modeled after the Kansas Industrial Court to try all cases of alleged profiteering; to have a supreme court at Washington to which all cases may be appealed. Jerry's evident sincerity and earnestness counted heavily in his favor.

Our third speaker, Howard Fisk, proved that, since public opinion backs it, our plan is practical. With his characteristic battling instinct he advanced boldly to his conclusion, so at the end of our constructive speeches our team seemed victorious.

In rebuttal, Central unblushingly displayed a choice assortment of "canned goods" and neglected to reply to some very pertinent questions hurled at them by the affirmative.

Jerauld Dissman, as first speaker, knocked down one point after another as if they had been nine pins.

Howard Fisk, second speaker, came out to slay the foe. By the time he had finished what Jerry began one wondered what remained for Jimmy Reeves to say.

A great deal, evidently. In a rebuttal, which was the climax of a whirlwind debate, Jimmy Reeves contrasted the negative arguments with our own.

As to the decision, it is sufficient to say that you never can tell what a judge is going to do.

Boys' Negative

At Manual, Jack Chesney, captain, opened for Westport in opposition to Northeast's affirmative team. Jack's calm manner and clear cut statements made his argument very effective.

Julius Bishofsheimer, second speaker, made a hit. His grasp of the subject made the affirmative sit up and he won the audience by his earnestness and large vocabulary.

Howard Wahrenbrock presented our substitute plan, that of the Federal Reserve Bank. He displayed remarkable power in his serious and dignified manner of speaking.

Westport's rebuttal speeches were incisive and original, every one being framed while the debate was in progress.

Unfortunately, this decision, too, was a surprise. But like the other, we are proud of our team, rather than ashamed of the result.

Bill Roth, affirmative alternate, and James Britt, negative alternate, rendered valuable assistance. The brilliant record of their teams is in a large measure due to them.

BOYS' TEAMS

Girls' Negative

Our negative met Northeast's affirmative at Manual, and as far as debate is concerned left nothing to be desired.

Marian Guild started the ball rolling for the negative. She proved that to exclude the Japanese would be unjustifiable. Her sincere manner placed her on intimate terms with the audience.

Julie Pierce, captain of the team, was our second speaker, and her matter of fact manner of presenting one logical argument after another was irresistible.

Ruth McGinness, last Westport speaker won unqualified approval by her eloquence and excellent delivery. The substitute plan she presented was given marked attention.

She displayed the same skill in rebuttal. Strong, persuasive, she was a terror in very truth to the affirmative.

Marian Guild's rebuttal was a triumph. She presented charts to prove her points, and her manner won instant favor. Her persuasive powers and sound logic made her speech peculiarly effective.

Julie Pierce was last. She showed remarkable skill in answering the seven questions hurled at her by the negative. She showed herself a powerful speaker, one that Westport may well be proud of.

Three judges voted for Northeast.

To a Soldier

Far away from here I know,
Now perhaps 'tis covered with snow,
Lies so peaceful and so still,
At the foot of a lonely hill,
Just a little mound o' earth,
Where he found his all—his worth.

Bravely, from his country sent,
To the blood strewn fields he went,
Taking with him cheery smiles
Just to cheer up dreary whiles.

O, I try hard not to mourn
Try to see the peace that's born,
Try to see, to think, to feel,
Life's still earnest and still real
Even though he's gone forever,
O, the length of that word never.

CONTESTS STIMULATED INTEREST

The study of art has been steadily progressing and improving under the present instructors. Some good work has been done by the first, second and third year pupils in perspective, charcoal and interior decoration, and the senior art class has done notable work in oils.

There was considerable interest shown in the design for the Herald cover this year, as all four classes were liberally represented and the competition was of great benefit.

The first prize of ten dollars was awarded to Eleanor Jones, Junior; second and third place, which entitled the winner to a free copy of the Herald, went to Mildred Pearson and Margaret Marshall. Claude Bowman and Emily Crawley received honorable mention.

The judges of the designs were: Mr. Norman Tolson, commercial artist of the Art Institute; Mr. Ketchum, also of the Art Institute; Miss McNutt, art instructor at Northeast; Miss Lytle, drawing supervisor of the city schools, and Mrs. Robert Garrett.

Those who submitted designs were:

Frances Allshouse	Mildred Pearson
Katherine Andrews	John Bradley
Margaret Baker	Robert Dods
Mattie Mae Brennan	Louise Sangel
Beatrice Clark	Fred Shane
Margaret Cornell	Gordon West
Portia Darnell	John Wood
Dorothy Donnell	Louise Allen
Virginia Duval	Nannie Barry
Gertrude Edwards	Margaret Buchanan
Ethel Halliday	Emily Crawley
Erma Dell Hinkel	Ellen Dod
Eleanor Jones	Dorothy Goodloe
Marie Keeling	Barbara Jameson
Gladys McCleery	Margaret Marshall
Helen McCormick	Elinor Rock

Corriene Swisher
 Claude Bowman
 Howard Leach
 George Huggins
 Ben Patt
 Elsie Hartwig

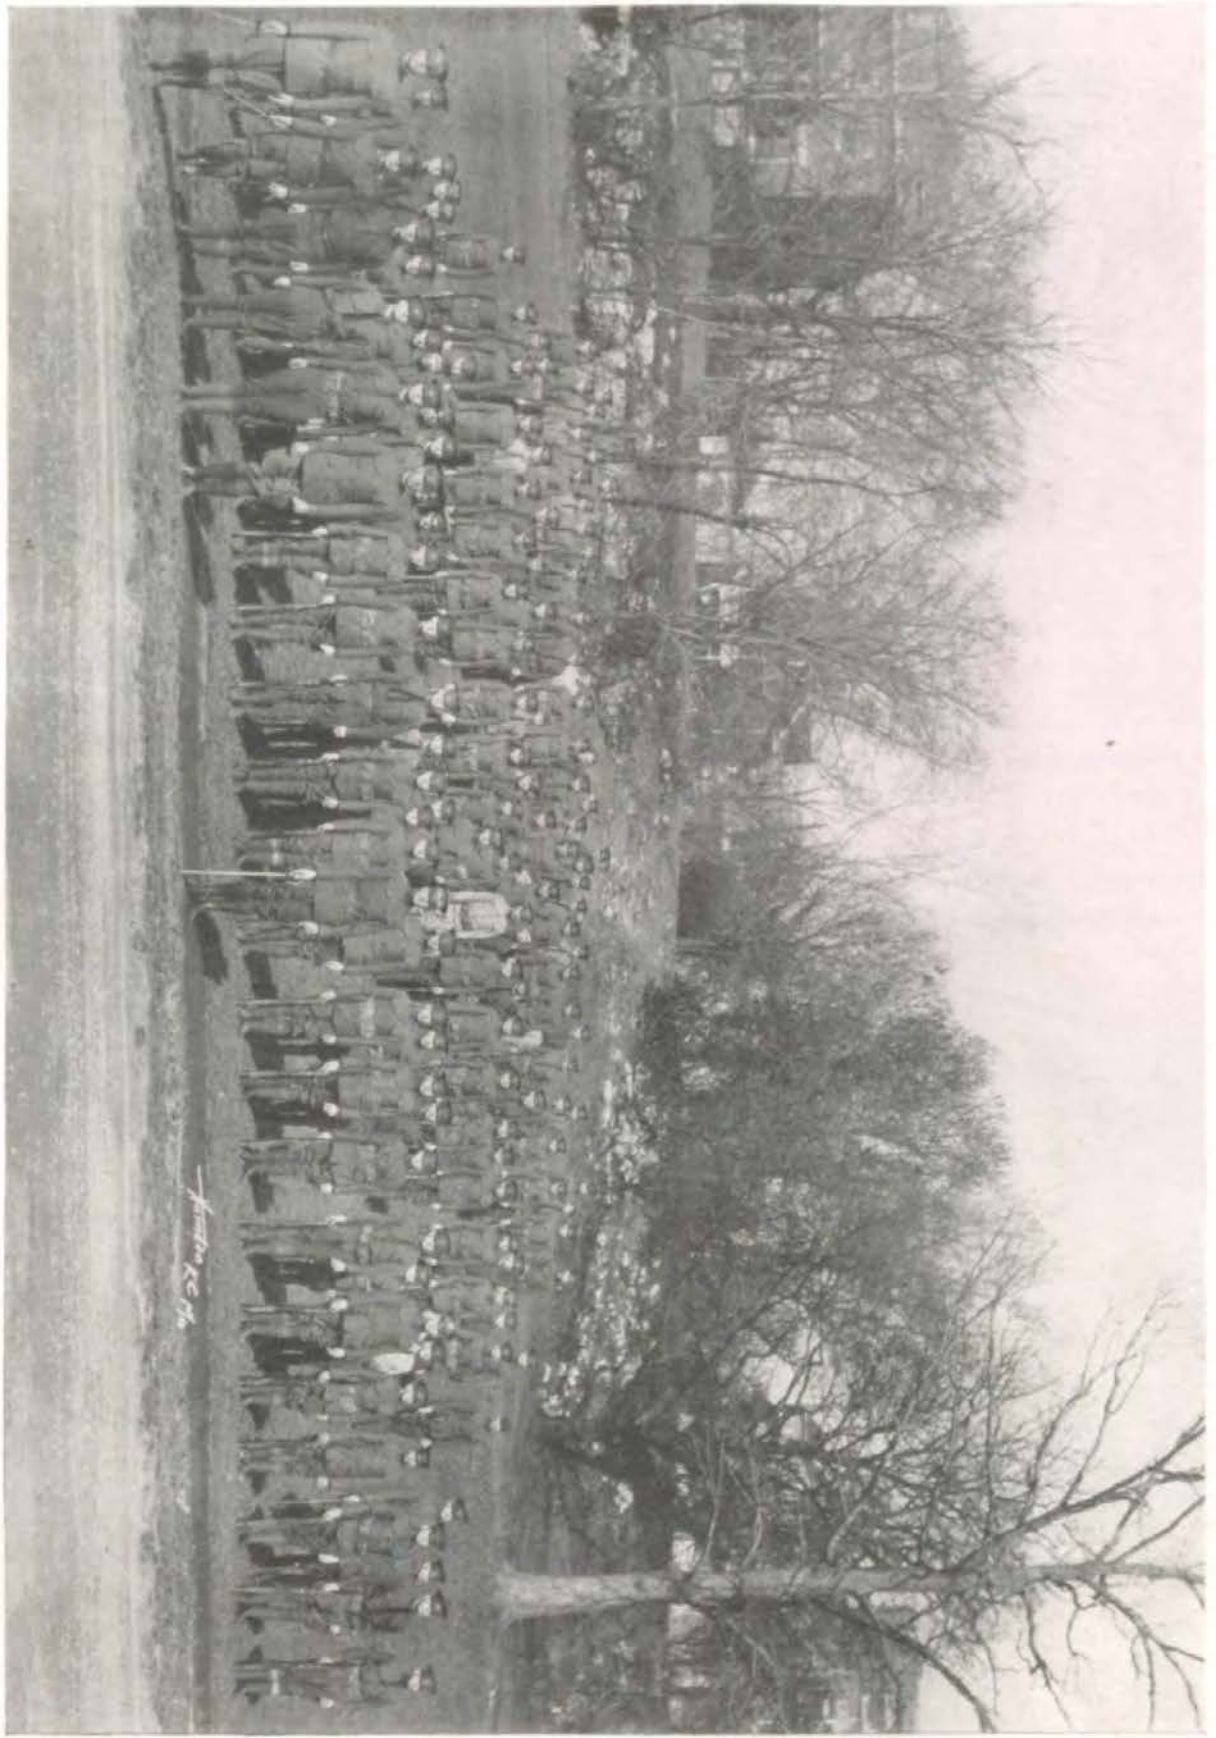

Ruth Shores
 Jaynee Van Dusen
 Elizabeth Walton
 Helen Wenham
 Maurine Young

Among the other contests of the year was the one offered by the Fidelity Savings Trust Co. to all the advanced schools in the city. Westport submitted one hundred forty-eight designs, while her nearest rival, Central, turned in only fifty-two. Of the six prizes awarded within the school, Elain Myers' poster was judged the best of the first year work, and Annie Matson second. In the advanced classes the prizes were awarded as follows: Jean Lingenfelter, first; Florence Kerr, second; Ruth Miner, third, and Eleanor Haynes, fourth.

Last winter, the Parent-Teacher Association gave a play at the Auditorium called The Fire Prince, and offered a prize for the best design to advertise this play. All the high schools took part, and Mildred Pearson's won the decision of the judges for first place in Westport.

In a contest held by a civic organization to promote Safety First, Mildred Pearson received the third prize and Hugh Harman the fourth.

As the year drew to a close, the Junior Class which had been making a special study of furniture, visited Suydam's Furniture Shop and other stores. This class also attended several lectures given by Mr. Ross Crane from the Art Institute of Chicago, who dramatized the proper furnishing for a home.

MILITARY

SUCCESSFUL YEAR FOR CADETS

The year 1920-1921 has been a very successful one for the Cadet Corps. As it was the first year of the Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps, some time was required to get started, but under our new instructor progress was rapid as soon as the work of organizing the battalion, appointing officers and giving out equipment was completed. The battalion was composed of three companies A, B and C. Each cadet received a uniform, consisting of a garrison cap, two shirts, coat, breeches, spiral puttees and shoes.

The regiment in Kansas City was under the command of Major Samuel Smoke, and the instructor at Westport was Sergeant Otto Boman of the U. S. Army. The work taken up followed the regular R. O. T. C. schedule. Close and open order drill, minor tactics, signalling and rifle work from the Small Arms Firing Manual were taken up.

A crack platoon, composed of one squad from each company, was under the command of Lieut. Leland Reeder. This platoon competed in the annual field day competitions.

During the last year the battalion has improved wonderfully, and next year, since the work incident to establishing a new organization in the schools is over, the best Cadet Corps ever seen in this city will be the Reserve Officers Training Corps.

In the annual competition among the cadets of the four high schools the Westport battalion carried off the honors by winning first place in the company competitive drill. Company A, Captain Joe Markley, was given the decision. The Westport crack platoon, First Lieut. Leeland Reeder, was second, and Joe McCaughey and Edmund Platt won third and fifth places respectively in the individual competition.

As a result of the victory of the Westport Cadets Major Edwin D. Peake was appointed colonel of the Kansas City Cadet Corps and Captain Joe Markley was advanced to the rank of major.

DRAMATICS

SCIENCE IN RIGGSVILLE

The Christmas Play was unique in that it was a genuine home product. So modest and retiring is the author that, until the night of the play, few had suspected his talents as a playwright. Like an angel, as it were, he had lurked in our midst and we never knew it. "Science in Riggsville" was undoubtedly a dramatic success and won much praise for Howard Fisk, the author. While there were numerous flaws in the production, it nevertheless had many merits.

The plot itself, which revolves around the discovery of a cure for pneumonia by old Dr. Riggs, Riggsville's most highly esteemed citizen, is hardly more commendable than the opportunity it offers for character portrayal.

The kind hearted old doctor, heart broken because of the disappearance of his only son, and struggling between a passionate desire to put his pneumonia cure to the test and a fear that it would prove unsuccessful, was wonderfully played by James Britt.

His daughter, Betty, was charmingly portrayed by Hulda Seidel, and even her adroit elusiveness could not prevent the enterprising Jack Palmer (Jerauld Dissman) from falling in love with her. Who can blame Jerry for the extra scene at the last, which "smacked" so of romance?

Edith Landes, playing Mrs. Aines, the credulous housekeeper, was an easy mark for Jack's impossible tales, and with her remarkable power of portraying character, furnished one of the most interesting elements of the play.

Claude Bowman, as Joe Beck, the station master, deserved all the praise rendered him. His clever interpretation of his character was one of the features of the production and marked him as a true actor.

And why shouldn't he have been a model husband with such a conscientious, hard working, though rather "high strung" wife as Jerushia (Corinne Craig)?

Julius Bischofsheimer, as their son, Pete, came in handy as an errand boy.

As George Washington Brown, William Roth made an ideal henpecked husband of the Ethiopian race. Elizabeth Forrester, as Susan, his nagging wife, displayed remarkable powers of persuasion, and Bill exercised rare judgment in acquiescing in her demands.

The long lost son of Dr. Riggs was found in the person of Howard Wahrenbrock, who obligingly submitted to the pneumonia cure, after the doctor had been persuaded by Palmer to try it out, and created a happy ending by his recovery.

Mrs. Johnson (Eleanor Seibert) was the anxious mother of Mary (Martha Hardy), who, although very ill, recovered under Dr. Riggs's care. These parts, although small, received much favorable comment.

Elizabeth Andalaft was a typical girl friend of Betty's, and her naturalness of manner received praise.

T. P. Headon was a typical old farmer, although he "didn't put no trust in that there cure for pneumony."

Dessa Skinner was a loyal supporter of Dr. Riggs, and Lois Van Evera was interesting as his little daughter, Julia.

Harry Kruse, John Ware and Robert McDonald, as farmers of the vicinity, created an atmosphere which was especially praiseworthy.

The scenic effects were commendable even though one was a bit surprised to see Jerry gallantly emerging in a straw "lid," while the curtains were still gaily decked with Christmas bells.

It was due to Mr. Humphrey's and Miss Short's untiring efforts that the play was the success that it proved to be.

The sixth annual Spanish play, which was presented Friday evening, April 29, was a most delightful and entertaining affair. In the skilful handling of difficult roles the cast proved that among Los Calderones there are pupils of unusual dramatic talent. Appropriate costumes selected with discriminating taste helped to give a real Castilian atmosphere, and a large audience expressed entire satisfaction with the play and the performers.

Julia Belle Kerfoot as the Marchioness aroused the enthusiasm of the spectators at the outset.

Don Wren won distinction for himself as the Duke. The deep feeling and emotion which characterized his acting was all that could be sought for in a leading man.

Olga Anderson in her portrayal of Susita won everyone by her winsome grace.

The role of the impassioned young lover was taken by John Ware. As Agapito he did exceedingly well.

Roy Silverman and William Mullins played their parts with the ease and poise of real actors, assuming the dignity becoming fathers of young women.

The Gipsy fortune teller outlined the future with remarkable foresight. And the fortunes Gladys Noger told came true.

Finally a fierce and spirited bull was downed by that brave toreador, Porter Wright in a most cleverly arranged bull fight.

Fred Smith and Florence Yocum had minor parts.

Between the first and second acts Lela Jesse kept the audience entranced by her clear, silver-like voice. She sang a Spanish serenade.

Peggy Wingfield gave an interesting interpretation of a Spanish dance.

Outstanding among those who furnished atmosphere was Josephine Wren. She is deserving of much praise because of her graceful dancing and clever acting.

It is largely due to the untiring efforts of Mr. Phillips and Miss Wilkinson that the play was produced. Undoubtedly it is one of the best ever given by the Spanish department.

The pantomime throughout the entire play was expressive. Even one who did not understand Spanish could perceive the thread of the plot.

THE SENIOR PLAY.

The play that was given by the class of '21 on Friday evening, June 3, was indeed worthy of the talented members of the class. The performance of "When Knighthood Was In Flower" was full of action, intrigue and delightful romance, and so well were the parts portrayed that the interest of the audience never flagged.

THE CAST

Henry VIII	Howard Wahrenbrock
Francis d' Angouleme	George Pratt
Thomas Wolsey	Jack Chesney
Duke of Buckingham	James Reeves
Duke of Longeville	George Low
Charles Brandon	Harold Fisk
Sir Edward Caskoden	Edmund Platt

Ladies of French and English Courts, Courtiers, Sailors, Attendants—	Lucille Lacaff, Audrey Miller, Florence Kerr, Josephine Slezak, Helen Hinshaw, Elizabeth Reeves, Virginia Taylor, Estella Ginsburg, Elizabeth Andalaft, Lula Canada, Helen Craig, Marjorie Powell.

Alice Hafer, as the beautiful, quixotic and temperamental Mary Tudor, showed the courts of England and France an entirely new departure in princesses. So delightfully did Miss Hafer portray the part that it will linger long in the memories of all who saw her.

Lady Jane, played by Dorothy Martin, was easily second to the lead in grace of interpretation and delight to the audience.

The part of Charles Brandon, the hero, was played by Howard Fisk, in a strong, manly and soldierly way.

The lives of the hero and heroine were made difficult by the lying, intriguing courtier, the Duke of Buckingham, who was such a cruel and plotting villain that he was scarcely recognized as James Reeves. Charles Emerson was another very effective villain who, however, received his just reward at the hands of Brandon in the first act.

Another villain, the Dauphin, was played in a commanding and sufficiently horrible way by George Pratt. Edmund Platt was effective as Sir Edwin Caskoden.

Queen Catherine and King Henry (Myrtle Nelson and Howard Wahrenbrock) conducted themselves in a true regal way. The advisers of the King and the ladies and gentlemen of the courts created an excellent reproduction of the court life of the Tudor period.

SENIOR PLAY CAST

DANCE ORCHESTRA

The Orchestra

Under the capable leadership of Mrs. Hedges the orchestra has once more completed a highly successful year. It has contributed to the enjoyment at every school function or entertainment given in the auditorium. It furnished the music for the Christmas Play, the show given by Lillian Owen's Marionettes and for the Spanish Play. A special program was also given Patrons' Night, and the orchestra was a necessary element in the production of the opera, "All at Sea." It helped make the Senior Play a success, and the year was brought to a successful close by the Commencement program.

The orchestra is one of the most enjoyable and indispensable activities in school.

Dance Orchestra

Westport has one of the best dance orchestras in Kansas City. The faculty says so, the students say so, all outsiders who have heard it say so. It is an orchestra which steers clear of jazz, keeps perfect time and harmony and yet possesses the necessary amount of "pep."

As the leader, John Hancock was a pronounced success. His three years of training have wonderfully equipped him as a violinist, and his effective playing marks him as a true artist. Moreover, he is well liked by the boys, and they have worked together most harmoniously.

Jimmy Mitchell, pianist, known to all Westport as one of Kansas City's best "jazzers," has proved himself almost as perfect a "jazzless" player.

And then our well known saxaphonist, Norville Snyder. How could we ever have done without him? We don't think that heaven will be quite perfect until Norville gets up there (?) with his saxaphone.

Theodore Norton, another of our saxaphone operators, has been one of the most faithful members. Always ready and willing to carry out suggestions, Ted has been a loyal and ever dependable standby.

While he is quite new in his line, Benn Patt, with only three months' training, plays the saxophone like a professional.

The contribution of Miller Beck, the "Perfect Xylophone Player," to the success of the undertaking cannot be estimated in words. Miller is ever ready and on the alert to assist Westport in every forward move, and his efforts are certainly appreciated.

A good natured smile and sunny disposition coupled with a smooth and unpretentious, yet effective style of playing, make Joe Lacy the top notch violinist that he is.

Neither James Hubbell nor his cornet ever lacked enthusiasm or willingness throughout any performance. Jimmy's a regular "stick-to-it-er."

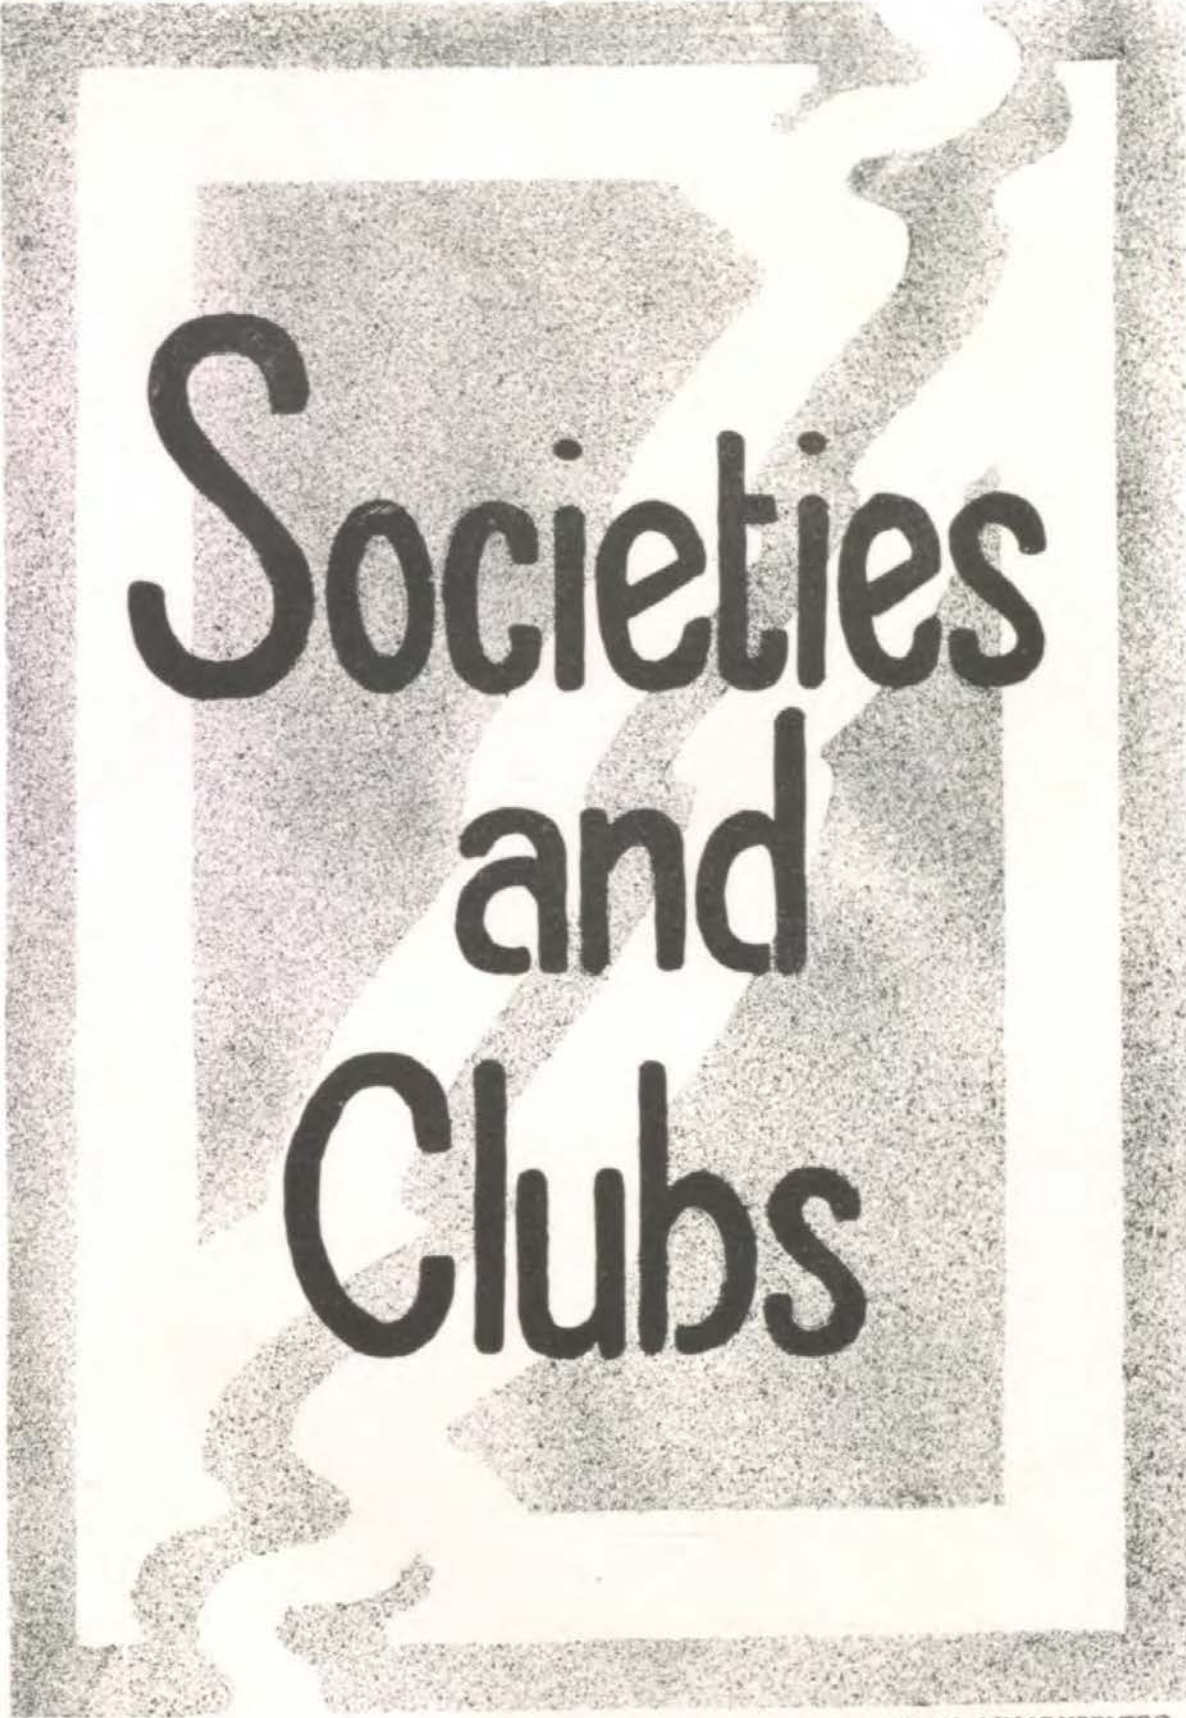

And what, pray, would our orchestra have been without the drummers, Russel Jordon and Norman Hall, who have displayed great skill in keeping perfect rhythm and producing tones of the right quality.

Although only a Freshman, Everett Dillard's effective violin playing and his willingness to work mark him as a performer of whom we should be justly proud.

And now comes the testimony of the boys themselves as to their "Grand Master," Miss Shelton. Why, who was it but she who remained after school hours day after day in order to make possible the organization of which we now are so proud? As the boys say, "She's all right!" And they know.

The Round Table Club has concluded another successful year, the more remarkable because of the handicap under which it started. From a small but enthusiastic membership of twenty the roll has increased to more than sixty, numbering many prominent Westporters.

As always, Round Table has been represented in school activities, having members on the football, basket ball and debate teams, on the Christmas and senior play casts, on the Crier staff, and having two Junior and two Senior class officers in its ranks.

Round Table challenged the Clonian Society to a literary contest to try to wipe out the defeat in a similar event a few years ago. The meet was held April eighth, and Round Table is avenged.

The climax of the year came April fifteenth, when the Round Tablers and Clonians gave a joint dance in the front corridors of the school. This event was the second one given by the two societies and bids fair to become an annual function.

Miss Trotter's interest and co-operation has been of inestimable value.

Another year of unprecedented success has been added to the ripe old age of Westport's pioneer society, the Clionians.

The society has been ably represented in every line of school activity. Throughout the year, the meetings have been most successful. Literature was studied extensively and primarily, yet the programs were cosmopolitan to such an extent that they have been well balanced and instructive, not only in literature, but also in other subjects of interest.

The year has been characterized by the strict upholding of grade standards. As a result many have been added to the rolls who are not only leaders at Westport, but who also stand at the top, scholastically.

As the crowning event for so successful a year, the Clionian-Round Table contest was held in the latter part of April. It was given in the front hall of the school, considered by all as one of the most brilliant events of the year.

Yet, the greater part of the success of the society resulted from the earnest and tireless efforts of our adviser, Miss Lilly, whose kind words of advice and criticism have been most beneficial to the Clionians.

For the Clionian Society of next year, only the most successful future is predicted and assured.

The origin of Pundit is a mystery. No one knows just how or when this illustrious club came into being. The records of its past have disappeared. But as to its present—there can be no doubt. Everyone knows the Pundits and what a splendid organization we have.

Is it possible that anyone could be unaware of our presence? From this club come girls, who as leaders, have made themselves famous at Westport, six winners of athletic "W's," two on the cabinet of the Girls' High School Club, three on the cabinet of the French Club, two in the Christmas Play, two in the Senior Play, two on the Crier-Herald staff, one on the Commencement program, and, as is the custom in this debating society, two on the inter-scholastic debate! In fact, there is no school activity in which the Pundit Club does not have a brilliant representation.

With such a talented, enthusiastic membership, and such a splendid, helpful adviser as Miss Miller, it is no wonder that our tea at the Muehlebach with the Aristonians of Central, and our annual spring dance were unparalleled successes.

Of course, another natural result of this talent is the delightful type of program we have been able to produce. Debate, dramatics, book reports, music and especially close attention to that light, witty touch which gives a brilliant sparkle to the most commonplace subject all have been represented in the programs of the year.

Undoubtedly, this has been the most glorious of years for Pundit, and the future promises to bring even more renown to our famous Pundit Club.

Another year has come to a close and with the usual retrospective glance, many, many accomplishments of the Clay Club cry out for recognition and a place of honor for having been a part of our club life.

Debate, drama, literature, athletics; each one might claim a paragraph, justly. After two terms of quick, clear conception of new ideas by "Jimmy" Reeves, followed by a dead sure, certain execution by "Bill" Roth, all stabilized by the occasional word of common sense on theories too radical or inspiration on those too conservative from Mr. Goodale, we have made a record which we feel is worthy of our finest traditions and which has justified our existence as a club in Westport.

While we point with pride to past achievements we also look to the future with hope and confidence. Though we cannot in one short year add a great deal to a tradition of victories, the Clays who shall carry on have obtained from the club of '20 and '21 a new realization that a club cannot exist within and for itself alone, but only as it is able to accomplish things which strengthen the standards and establish the ideals of the school among the student body.

So the Clay Club of '20 and '21 passes on. To the club of '21 and '22 we bequeath the Clay heritage of honor, loyalty and ambition to do things worth while. As Clays they will justify the trust.

The Irving Club is not the best club possible; it has not even accomplished all that its members desired; possibly the year just closed has not been the most successful year of the club's history. In spite of all this the Irving Club has easily lived up to the name it has always held—"The best club in Westport."

To decide which year in the history of the Irving's has been most successful is a problem few people undertake to solve. Our scholastic requirements remain the highest in Westport; our participation in school activities has placed us in the foreground, in fact, the little gold "I" which stands for Irving membership also stands for the finest things in the life of a boy at Westport.

In the study of Civics this year problems arose which were of vital interest to Westport High School and the immediate community. The students of the Civics classes tried to deal with these problems, working for the betterment of Westport and the surrounding community. The students as individuals soon encountered difficulties and thus the organization of a club was suggested.

There were seventy-six charter members at the first meeting. The organization decided to send out invitations to pupils not taking Civics. At the next meeting of the Westport High Improvement Club ninety-four charter members had signed up. The president appointed various committees, each to perform the certain duty assigned to him.

The club began co-operation with the South Main Street Improvement Club, and the Westport Improvement Association, senior civic organizations working for south side improvements. These organizations presented the club with civic problems on which they needed assistance. These responsibilities were cheerfully accepted.

At the third meeting of the Westport High Improvement Club, one hundred and two members had been enrolled as charter members.

The Spanish Club emerges from the 1920-1921 year with colors flying. This year the club has enjoyed the best programs that it has ever had.

Many noted men from Spain and Mexico have given excellent talks. Among these were Senor Morales and Senor Vercimen. Also by means of stereoptican pictures Mr. Phillips has taken the club on trips through Yellowstone Park and other places. Again, this year through the efforts of Miss Wilkinson and Mr. Phillips the club presented a fine play, "Castillos de Torres Nobles," which was very successful. Altogether the club believes this to be one of the most successful years of its existence.

Two years ago, there was in Westport a club known as "Les Faineants," and it was French. Somehow in the rush of years it was lost, and not until this year was it replaced. It is due to the untiring efforts of Mr. Constant that "Le Fleur de Lis" was established this year. It is now filling what was heretofore a decided need and we may be very grateful that it has been started.

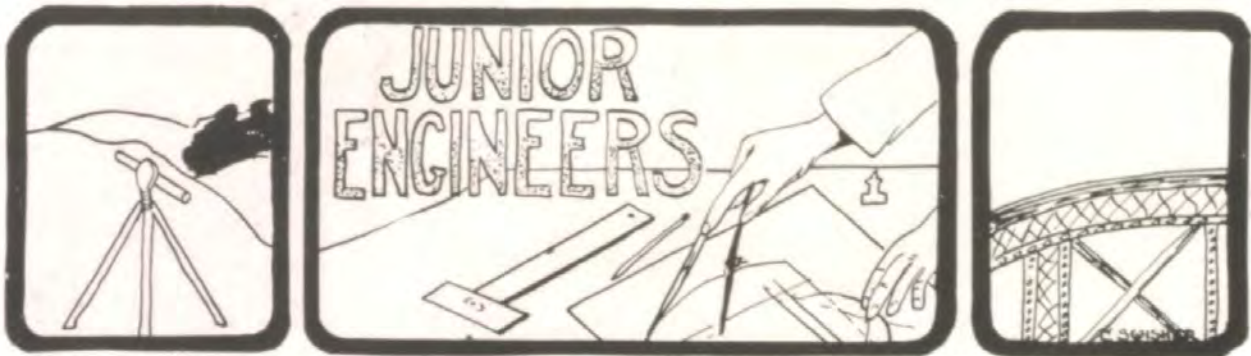

Already, it has been a great success. A high standard of grades has been maintained so that a remarkable excellence of work has been obtained. May the new club, continue to fulfill its purpose of uniting the interests of France and the United States, and may it continue to render its great service to Westport.

Advisers MR. GUISSINGER AND MR. HALE

Starting with a small membership this year the Junior Engineers have built up a club of about forty boys, all of whom are much interested in various lines of engineering, either mechanical, electrical, civil or chemical.

The club is divided into six divisions, Electricity, Engines, Model Airplanes, Automobiles, Photography and Civil Engineering. The divisions which have done the most tangible work are: Electricity, which has repaired the starting boxes in the Turning Shop; Engines, which has built a model steam engine, and Civil Engineers, which has built a fairly accurate transit and learned how to use it. The other divisions, while their work cannot be examined and felt of, have been just as active, studying, as far as possible the most practical phases of their respective subjects and comparing the results of home work at the division meetings.

This club has also been active in other ways. A committee composed of Herbert Duncan, Luzier Calvert and John Melcher made the pins for the entire club, thus saving the members over half of the cost.

The programs this year have been interesting and instructive. Mr. E. Lee Heidenreick, of the Heidenreick Engineering Co. spoke at one meeting, Mr. Burton at another, at another Mr. Tibbals took the boys through the heating and ventilating plant, and besides these special "treats" there have been many excellent programs in which the club members participated.

The club feels that this success has been due to the untiring efforts of the advisers and the president.

During the year 1920-1921 the Alpha Lyra Club nearly attained its goal. Both the members of the club and the student body as a whole saw and appreciated the work of the club, for Westport was represented in the musical contest a strongly as ever.

Our biggest goal during the year was to win part, if not all, of the choruses in the musical contest. Although victory was not ours we gave the other schools a good race, winning second place in two of the choruses. Westport did win her share, though, in the Legend of Don Munio, Dudley Buck's Cantata given jointly by the Glee Clubs of City High Schools. From Westport, Nellie Peabody won a soprano solo, Maurice Allison a baritone solo, and Palmer Stephens a tenor solo. Besides these solos, we feel extremely proud of the Latin quartet won by Helen Calvin, Helen Stevens, Edmund Platt and Walter Traub.

For several years the Glee Club has been unable to give an opera, but this year the club gave the opera, "All at Sea," by Harry Loomis.

Late in September the advisers and cabinets of the Girls' Clubs of all the Kansas City high schools met for a week-end conference at Camp Washita and planned the year's work.

As we look back over this last year's record we may well be pleased with the success of our new and hitherto untried system of holding meetings. On the second Monday of every month the various committee meetings were held, while on the fourth Monday all groups came together in a joint meeting.

Such subjects as "Watch Yourself Go By," "The Business of Being a Friend," "My Trust Fund," and "Hobbies" have been used for discussions and have proved most interesting and beneficial.

Among the most interesting meetings was the Japanese Tea on February 14, when Miss Helen Sloan, former Westporter recently returned from the Orient, gave an interesting talk on Japanese customs. At this meeting, a Japanese fund was pledged to help secure a new Y. W. C. A. secretary for Japan.

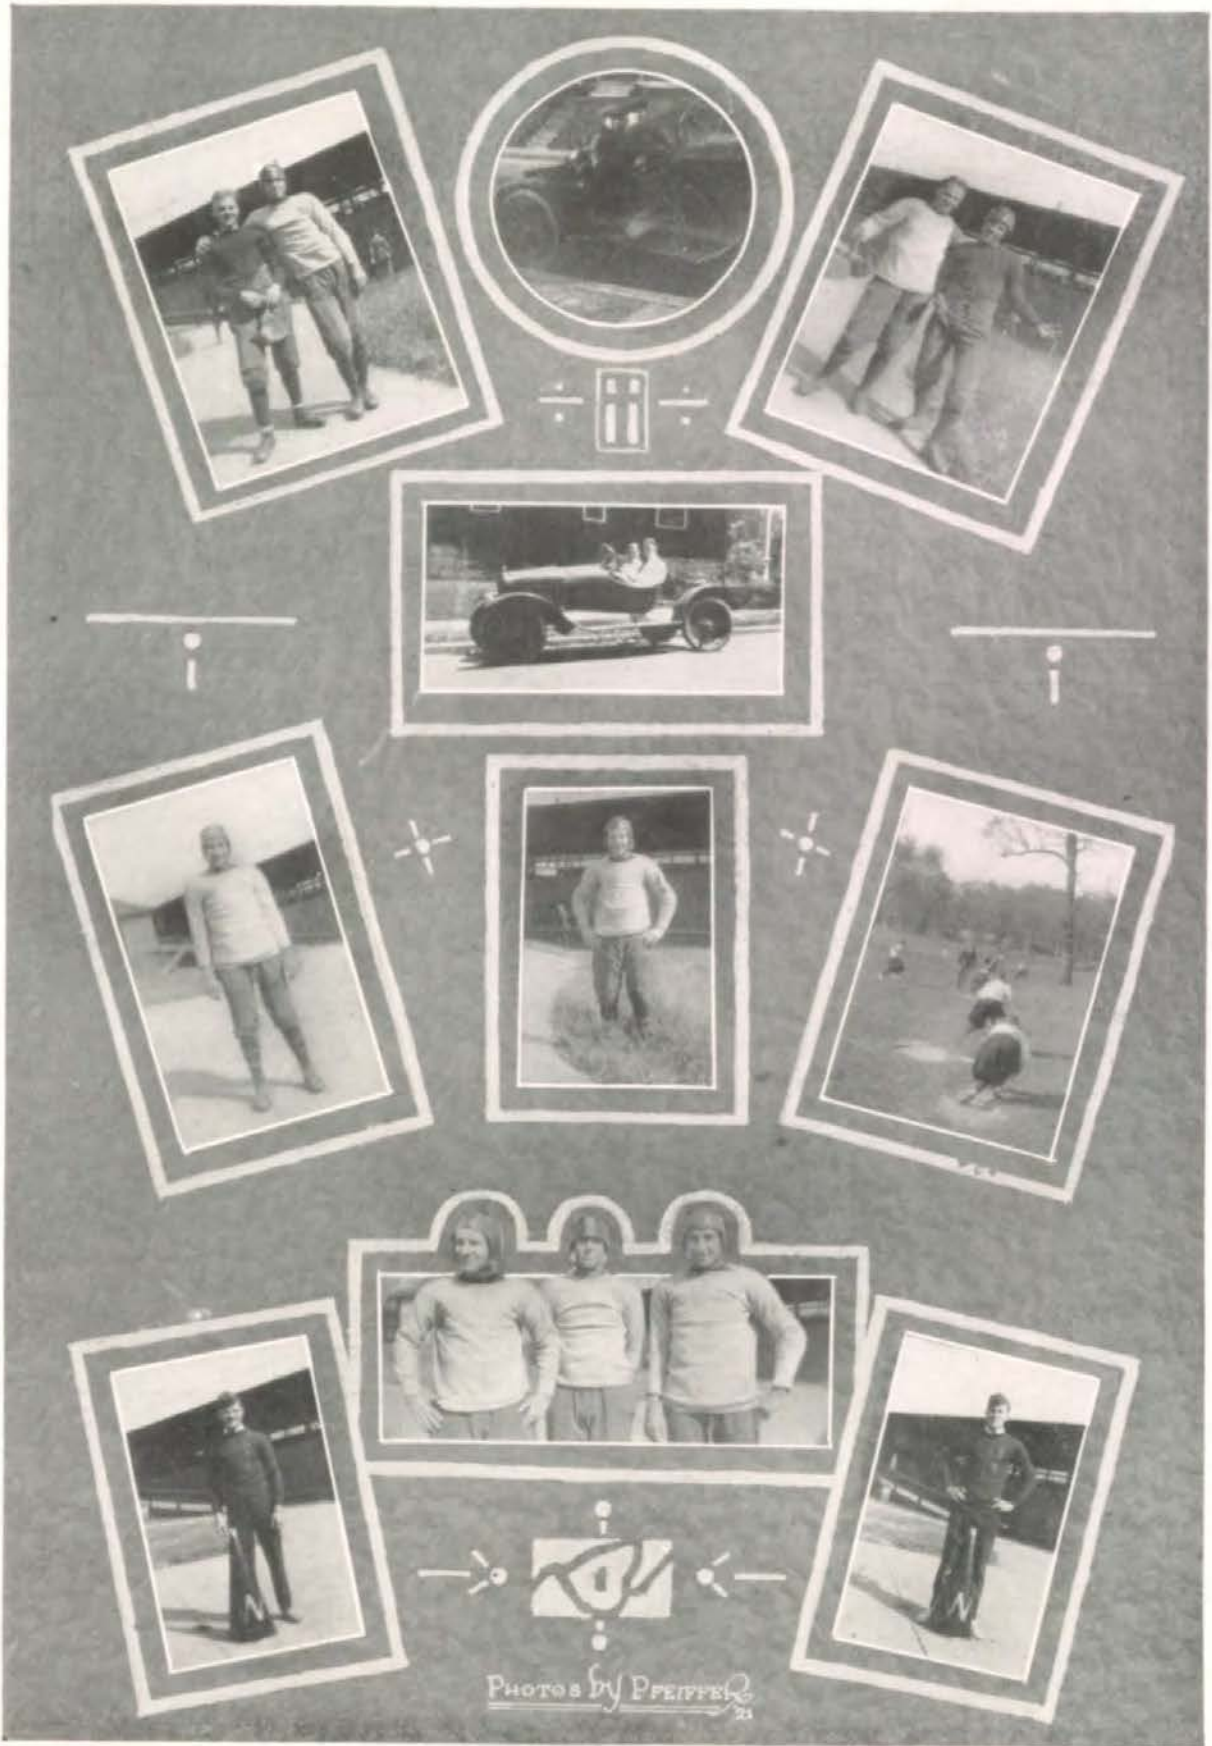

On March 29 the girls who attended the Hollister conference last summer gave in one hour a sample of a day at camp. A number of girls have become interested and we hope to have a large delegation at Hollister this summer.

On April 25 we bade farewell to the seniors, in a simple yet impressive service, made solemn by the soft glow of significantly colored candles. At the same meeting the guidance of the club for next year was committed to the incoming officers, and thirty long-worked-for and well-deserved honor rings were presented to the thirty girls who had fulfilled the required honors.

A silver loving cup, which will repose in Westport's trophy case, was presented to the Program Committee for having had the best record in attendance and percentage of honor girls.

Our happy year of good fellowship and service was brought to an end by the Annual Banquet on May 6, at the Independence Boulevard Christian Church. Having agreed to give their banquet money to the Japanese Fund, about 500 girls from all four high schools marched into the banquet hall carrying box lunches. This sacrifice, if it can be called such, did not in any way detract from the hilarity of the occasion, as evidenced by the lustily-rendered songs and yells. Gaily colored balloons and paper caps of the various school colors made a gallant display of loyalty. Our president presided as toastmistress and presented $300 to the Japanese girl representing the Association in Japan.

The pageant, in which about seventy girls took part, was given in the evening, and will long be remembered for its beautiful and inspiring message.

WESTPORT IN SECOND PLACE

From the opening of the football season until its close enthusiasm ran high. "Lack of support," of which athletes sometimes complain, could not be alleged against the Westport rooters. At every game, in all sorts of weather, whether the game was a victory or a defeat, a throng of devoted admirers cheered on the players. More season tickets were sold in Westport than in any other school and it is safe to say that Westport invariably sent the largest delegation.

Three letter men were back last fall and with them and men from last year's second team and new recruits Coach built a clean playing, hard fighting team. M. V. Lyle was unanimously elected captain by his teammates, and unquestionably deserved the place. His qualities as a leader and a player placed him away above any other captain. He was easily the best captain in the city.

SUMMARY OF THE GAMES.

Westport 1; Northeast 0.

In the first game of the season, Westport met Northeast. Although our team outplayed the Purple, and our backs broke through the line for big gains, we were defeated by a fluke touchdown in the second quarter. A Nor'easter missed a pass, the ball bounced off a Westport player into the arms of a Northeast lineman, who carried it across the line for a touchdown. The rest of the game was scoreless.

However, Westport was awarded the game by forfeit, 1 to 0. Wallingford, Purple backfield star, played the whole game, although he was ineligible.

Manual 10; Westport 6

After keeping a lead over their opponents until the last quarter was nearly gone, the Tigers lost to Manual in the second game of the series. "Pants" Miles finished an end run across the Manual goal line in the second quarter. In the second quarter, Manual made a field goal, but the lead was kept over them until there were but three more minutes of play. Then, in a magnificent charge, the Crimson broke through our line, blocked a punt, and carried the ball over our goal. Goal was kicked, and Manual's score was raised to ten. With a minute and a half to play, our boys began a march down the field and another minute would have meant a touchdown, but—time waits for no football team.

Central 14; Westport 7

In the third game, Central profited by Westport's fumbles, and the Tigers were defeated. In straight line plunging, Westport excelled Central, sixteen first downs being made to Central's four; but the Tigers could not hold the ball, and fumbled at the most inopportune times and places. Westport's touchdown was made in the last quarter, after a wonderful march of ninety yards down the field to Central's goal.

Westport 7; Northeast 0

In the beginning of the second round of games, Westport came up against Northeast again, and in one of the hardest fought games of the season defeated the Purple team. Although our team had the edge on Northeast from the beginning, the game was a fight from start to finish. The team played better than ever before this season. The team worked like a perfect machine; its charges were irresistible and the interference splendid. The fumbles, which were so costly in the last game, were altogether missing.

Westport 6; Manual 0

In the fifth game of the series, the Tigers met and defeated Manual. The Crimson team was outplayed the whole game. All during the first half the rain poured down and by the second half the mud was several inches deep. Several members of the Westport team demonstrated their aquatic ability during this game. The players of both teams became so covered with mud that it was almost impossible to tell the teams apart.

Central 17; Westport 7

Westport lost the last game of the series, and with it the chance for second place. The Blue and Gold held the Central team until the last quarter, when the Blue and White broke through our line for two touchdowns.

Two outside games were played, the first, in beginning of the season, with Olathe. The Tigers defeated the outside team, 33 to 0. The game was all Westport's.

In a post-season game, Carrolton High School defeated Westport, 14 to 13. Our defeat came through failure to kick goal after a touchdown.

The Second Team.

The second team tried for the second team championship. The second team men are always kept in the background, but they work just as hard as the first team, and get as many bruises and sprains, while the first team has all the glory.

We are fortunate in having so many good men on the second team this year. They will be back next year and will furnish a base for a strong first team then.

The second team consisted of Kniffin, Hovey, Leach, Luck, Tuttle, Bourque, Dean, Ford, Mullins, Voghts and Pratt.

MARTIN V. LYLE,

Captain, Quarterback.

The best Westport had; a perfect captain, able to get the most out of his men; a wonderful player, a powerful tackler, a speedy broken field runner, with a mighty toe, which often sent the ball soaring between the enemy's goal posts. Unanimous choice as all-star captain.

FRANK PILLEY, Half Back.

Slim, as his name implies, was rather light, but game and a good fighter. When a gain was needed he could usually be counted on to carry the ball the required distance.

RUSSELL MARSHALL, Right Tackle.

"Russ" is the fastest big man Westport has ever had. He opened up holes for the backfield by his weight and speed, and on account of his speed he was able to break up plays behind the line.

WILLIAM GABRIELSEN, Right End.

"Billy" was one of the lightest men on any of the teams, but a sure tackler. It will be a long, long time before his equal will be seen, for players of his class are few.

CARL NYLUND, Right Guard.

This was "Fat's" first year in football. While not very speedy, he used his great weight to advantage in smashing holes in the line.

ROBERT WOOD, Left Half Back.

Wood was conspicuous for his speed in skirting the end. He was a good broken field runner and valuable in interference. Several times he broke away for long runs.

BARNETT COHEN, Left Guard.

"Barney" was a big factor in the line, doing his work in a good, steady manner. Not spectacular, but paying attention to his part of the line, and watching his game.

HAROLD MILES, Half Back.

"Pants" was the lightest back in the city, but he made up for size by quality. In addition to being able to find holes where it looked as if there weren't any, he was a shark at snagging passes and was one of the cleanest and surest tacklers on the team.

GILLIS ESSLINGER,
Right Half Back.

Gilley was the fastest man on the team. He was one of the fastest and best broken field runners Westport had this season.

LORNE BUCHNER, Full Back.

Buck was a demon at bucking the line. He was better than the average good player. He played consistently, was good at interference and made several spectacular runs.

JOHN SHAW, Left Tackle.

"Johnny" was elected tackle on the all-star team. He played a powerful game and was one of the mainstays of the line. He opened up holes, broke up mass plays, and was a clean, sure tackler.

MARSHAL PARDEE, Center.

Omar was conspicuous because of his fighting qualities. He could fight his way through the line and break up plays before they were started. He was valuable in plugging up holes in our line, and in making them in the opposing line. He was hard to stop, and usually got where he started to go. All-star center for two years.

ROBERT MCCORD, Right End.

This was Bob's first year in football at Westport. He was a hard tackler and a steady, consistent fighter. Bob was a big help to the team.

"Kid" Strawn is the only letter man who will be back next year. He was a good, consistent, hard-fighting player, and feared by his opponents.

THE "FIGHTIN'EST" TEAM

Although Westport's basketeers failed to cop the championship their friends and admirers took pride in the spirit of the players, their splendid fighting qualities and their good sportsmanship. At the beginning of the season our basket ball team was consigned to the last place in the league by some of the sport editors of the city but when the Blue and Gold defeated Manual in a thrilling ending of the first game, almost wrecked the Purple machine in the second, and buried Central in the third game it was seen that Westport had the snappiest, "fightin'est" team in the league. Northeast had a wonderful team and undoubtedly deserved the state title. They were the only team in the state that could have defeated Westport.

A great deal of credit is due Coach Edwards who toiled tirelessly to make the team what it was.

First Game, Westport 24, Manual 23.

Our team started the season right by downing the Crimson, in a hard and well played game. The game was close all the time and at times it looked as if Manual would emerge victorious. At the end of the first quarter our boys led by a score of 11 to 8. During that quarter Ford had done most of our scoring, caging four attempts at the basket. But the Manualites were not to be defeated so easily and in a splendid rally came into the lead and were on the long end of a 16-13 score when the half ended. Our boys came into the game with renewed vigor in the second and again assumed the offensive, closing the quarter one point in advance of the Manualites. Then came the last quarter. With less than one minute to play Manual led by a point.

The playing was close but Captain Buck took a long shot from center which wavered on the rim of the basket and finally decided to give Westport the game, and dropped through the net.

Second Game, Northeast 27, Westport 13.

After leading the Purple through three-quarters of the game, we lost our second game of the season when a rally by Northeast placed them in the lead. Our boys started out like the proverbial lion. The first quarter was a nightmare for the Northeast rooters, who saw their players helpless before a team that could outplay them in all phases of the game except, perhaps, in shooting. Northeast hardly ever got the ball in the opening quarter and when they had it they were powerless against our guards. The quarter ended 7 to 0 in favor of the Tigers. The second quarter was more even and saw a great deal of good playing. We still led by four points at the end of the half. The Purple took the offensive in the second half and, aided by phenomenal work at the basket, won the game.

Third Game, Westport 28, Central 18.

Westport added another game to our "won" column when we defeated Central in a fast game. Our boys were at their best, and after a slight rally at the beginning of the game the Blue and White players were at the mercy of the South Siders. Ford and Buchher led in the shooting, counting 18 points between them. During the last quarter Parker was inserted for Wood and played a very good game. Parker is a Soph this year and ought to develop into a fine player.

THE SECOND TEAM

Fourth Game, Westport 19, Manual 17.

Our second game with Manual was a replica of the first one. The same thrills and chills that characterized our first game with the Crimson basketekers were the feature of this game. Each team played by spurts and kept the rooters on their feet during the entire contest. The first quarter was played very cautiously, both teams regarding each other with the attitude of "Why don't you start something?" During the game their caution relaxed and the playing grew more heated. Finally, with the score 15 to 10 against them, our boys began an irresistible rally that brought victory to the Blue and Gold. Buck tied the score with a nice shot and Ford came to the front with two goals that looked mighty good to the home folks. Miceli of Manual caged a pretty shot from the side, but the timekeeper's whistle ended the game and assured our victory.

Fifth Game, Northeast Victorious

The Purple basketekers won their fifth consecutive game and the championship when they defeated the Tigers in a game that was chiefly featured by phenomenal shooting on their part. Our boys trailed during the entire contest.

Sixth Game, Westport 25, Central 22.

The last game of the season resulted in a victory for the Tigers. Although our boys finally won from Central, their playing in this game did not seem to be on a par with the speed they exhibited in other games of the season. They seemed rather apathetic and in this reflected the attitude of the crowd who expected an easy victory over the Centralites. Our boys led during all the game and only one time in the last quarter did the result seem doubtful. In the last minute of play our boys' lead was only one point and it was with great relief that we saw Bobby Wood dribble down the field and win the game with a goal.

SECOND BASKET BALL TEAM

This year our second basket ball team was more necessary to our basket ball prospects than it has ever been before. This crying need was caused by the discontinuation of the inter-class games. These and the second team have about the same functions, of finding first team material and of providing players of some experience for the next year's team. Our second team had to take over the work of the inter-class games entirely and it is mainly to this group of boys that we must look for a championship quintet next year. Our team played well during the entire season and only lost the championship in a 33-32 game with Central. With such a second team as this returning next year we have every reason for predicting and hoping for an all-victorious first team next year.

LORNE BUCHNER, Captain

A versatile athlete. His skill in basket shooting was a big factor in winning both Manual games. A fair, clean, alert guard.

FRANK PILLEY

"Slim" played in hard luck. Although injuries kept him out of three games he was placed on the all-star team by one of the local papers.

M. V. LYLE

M. V. demonstrated what three years' experience on a team can do for a player. Although one of the smallest men in the league his playing placed him on a par with the best of them.

BYARD BREWSTER

In our game with Northeast Brewster guarded Darrough so well that although the Northeast star had made seventeen goals in the Central game he was kept to two in our game.

FRED FORD

Fred led all of our boys in shooting. He was recognized as one of the best forwards in the league and many times brought Westport rooters to their feet with a long shot.

ROBERT WOOD

Bobby started the season as a sub. but soon he was given a regular position on the team. His guarding was excellent and his style of play reminded the rooters of Jack Haas.

WESTPORT IN THIRD PLACE.

Westport did not attain unusual distinction in track and field events this year, but we did turn out a live bunch of fellows who made a splendid effort to lift Westport's banner above the rest. In the five meets in which they took part, including the Quad, they were first in one, second in one, third in two and fifth in one. Last year we had third place in three meets and second in two, so our standing among the high schools remains virtually unchanged.

Many of our star track men graduate this year and our days of glory on cindered path and field might well be remembered as a part of the past were it not that Coach Edwards has produced some younger proteges who will uphold Westport in the future. With plenty of good raw material next year added to the seasoned athletes who are coming back he should be able to produce a track team that will trail our rivals in the dust.

Last year the Herald urged a greater, more loyal, interest in track, with true Westport spirit. Slowly that is coming and must come with a raw cinder-eating crew to bring back Quadrangular victories and everything else in sight.

M. U.-K. U. Meet.

With a total of twenty-four points, Westport captured first place in the annual Missouri-Kansas Meet. This clean-up, the largest score ever made in such a meet, upset the dope and greatly strengthened our track prospects.

The meet by schools, events and points:

	W.	C.	M.	N.E.
50-yard dash	7	4
140-yard dash	8	..	3	..
4-lap relay	5	3	..	1
880-yard run	3	2	6	..
10-lap relay	1	5	3	..
Totals	24	14	12	1

M. U. Meet

In the Missouri State Meet, Westport failed to come up to the standard set in the M. U.-K. U. Meet. However, we have nothing to be ashamed of for our boys scored well.

Central scored 33½ points; Manual, 29; Westport, 26½; Webster Groves, 15¼; Northeast, 9; Columbia High, 8. Not at all discredibly, this gave us third place.

K. C. A. C. Meet

Westport placed third in the K. C. A. C. Meet. Central was first and Manual second. We piled up fourteen points in spite of the fact that this meet was held only one week after the close of the basket ball season, Westport being a possible contender until the close of the last game. Two week later, after a little more practice, our luck changed.

The Invitation Meet.

F. Pilley won our only first in the meet at Lawrence, May 21. Our final score gave us fifth place among the contesting schools.

THE QUAD.

Saturday, May 28, Kansas City's four high schools met on Central field to determine the winner of the annual Quadrangular Field and Track Meet. From the first it was apparent that Central and Westport were the only possible contenders for first place.

In previous meets Northeast had failed to reach the high place she attained in other athletic events this year, and Manual sent her three stars, Norton, Moulder and Lampkin, to Chicago where they won the national interscholastic track meet high school title. Central managed to carry away the Quad title, if not all the honors, for Westport captured many firsts and seconds, and on the whole, acquitted herself very creditably.

This table shows how the points were scored:

WESTPORT TEAMS WON DOUBLES

The one inter-scholastic event of the year which is open to girls is tennis, and in this event the girls have certainly made a showing for Westport. In the Quadrangular tournament, highest hopes were centered on Elizabeth Turner who had already made a name for herself and had won the Public Courts' Championship. But, to the surprise of all, in the semi-finals, Miss Turner had the misfortune to be playing in poor form and after a long, close third set, was defeated by Catharine Cannon of Central. Alfreda Noble played Miss Cannon in the finals and was defeated. These two young stars, however, are just beginning to twinkle and, as they will be Seniors next year, we are looking to them to shine in all their glory for the 1921 championship.

The doubles were won in the preliminaries by two Westport teams, a repetition of the preceding year. Louise Allen and Eloise Robinson were defeated by Martha Williamson and Elizabeth Forrester in the finals, bringing to Westport the only championship won in this year's tournament.

Lela Jesse and Joe Reicher were runners-up in the mixed doubles. They were defeated by Norma Miller and Tom Miller of Northeast. This is Miss Jesse's second year in the mixed doubles and as she, too, will be another experienced player back next year, Westport ought to make a good showing in the 1921 Quadrangular.

Tennis instruction in gymnasium classes was resumed this spring and is doing much to stimulate interest in tennis, a special feature being the inter-gym-class tournament. Thus, by beginning and ending the school year in tennis next year's horizon will be well lighted.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS INCREASINGLY POPULAR

That department of Westport which is supposed to belong in the pathetically small region called the "gym" has been increasing so steadily in the past few years that it is now every fair day overflowing the bounds of the gymnasium in the general direction of the tennis courts or the triangle for hockey and baseball. Since interscholastic contests have become so numerous, girls' athletics form one of the few activities that has continued to be inter-class, and although it fails to receive, thereby, a widespread prominence, the true spirit of securing healthy fun and enthusiastic training is well maintained.

The opening of each season's sport was attended by an average of eighty girls, the basket ball season even drawing eighty-five entries. Although practice was slightly handicapped by the late hours of the school day, the enthusiasm of the players has overcome this feature entirely and the sports were continued as usual.

The Senior athletes of 1921 are the first class who have had four years under Miss Bradley's instruction and the fact that this class boasts three four-sport girls and four three-sport girls this year from the number who have continued athletics all four years, is a proud record for her "maiden" class.

The scholarship of the athletic group has maintained a high average, and is one important requirement of a "W" winner. In addition to these scholarly attainments, there have been some jolly social events at the close of each season which gave the final fun to a period of energetic and spirited engagement.

JUNIOR HOCKEY TEAM

Hockey

The first sport of the fall season is hockey, a game which is always certain of a crowd of old players and a large number of new ones anxious to learn. The triangle resounded all fall with the clatter of hockey sticks and by Thanksgiving was well decorated with the distinctive colors of four classes. The Seniors carried over their glowing color scheme of the preceding year, but failed to bring their luck along with them, for although they successfully defeated the Sophomores and Freshmen, they were in turn overcome by the Juniors, who in their golden glory had just stepped into the sunlight after severely beating the Freshmen and Sophomores in their respective matches in which neither underclass team scored. The Juniors might not have beaten the Seniors even at that if Lucy Hall had not formed such a bad habit of shooting a goal every time she stepped inside the striking circle.

The following is the final standing of the teams:

Teams	Won	Lost	Tied	Pct.	Total Score
Seniors	2	1	0	.667	12
Juniors	3	0	0	1.000	28
Sophomores	0	2	1	.000	5

JUNIOR BASKET BALL TEAM

Basket Ball

This is the game that always draws the largest crowd and admits the fewest entries. This year many of the players were members of last year's teams and practice started right out with a vim and ended in the selection of four fast, fighting teams. These teams were rather evenly matched. The Seniors had some individual stars of mighty prowess, but lacked the unity of an evenly matched team wherein the Juniors excelled. As for the Sophomores, they played like they were going to war, and they came pretty close to a glorious victory, although they were rather startled in the first half of their match with the Freshmen, for the latter played a stiff game as long as their strength permitted. The Junior-Senior contest was a close one down to the last five minutes of play when the Juniors broke the tie and added a succession of seven points to their score before the whistle blew. The following was the standing of the teams:

Teams	Won	Lost	Pct.	Total Score
Seniors	2	1	.666	67
Juniors	3	0	1.000	93
Sophomores	1	2	.333	72
Freshmen	0	3	.000	39

The members of the four squads were:

Freshmen

Dorman Lewis, Captain	Ruth Greene
Rosebud Engleman	Ruth Robeen
Nina Jurlow	Betty Birch
Elizabeth Bullard	Rachel Allen
Agnes Shepherd	Lorene Wallenstrom
Dorothy Halbert	Katherine Pipkin
Ruth Shuerman	Hilda Lawrie

Grace Phillips	Dorothy Block
Martha Williamson	Marian Guild

SENIOR BASEBALL TEAM

Baseball.

The baseball season opened with an attendance of about seventy-five aspirants and a period of rainy weather, which only deferred outdoor practice for a time and failed to dampen the spirits of anyone. The Seniors began the season with high hopes of gaining one championship out of the three which they felt they should have had, and as their team seemed the strongest from the beginning, they had good reason for hoping. The six matches formed a contest of very interesting games, in which Martha Williamson and Gladys Owens featured in home runs and Lucy Hall and Lorene Wallenstrom in three-base hits. Louise Allen and Elizabeth tied for highest batting averages, each scoring 800%. Martha Williamson scored the highest number of runs as well as the highest total of put outs and assists. Lillie St. Clair, sophomore second baseman, caught more flies than any other member of the four teams.

The teams at the end of the season stood as follows:

Teams	Won	Lost	Pct.	Total Score
Seniors	3	0	1.000	50
Juniors	2	1	.666	45
Sophomores	1	2	.333	39
Freshmen	0	3	.000	17

The squad members were:

Seniors.

Marjorie Ashby, Louise Allen, Dorothy Block, Mildred Haas, Virginia Jackson, Vivian Lau, Marjorie Powell, Eloise Robinson, Martha Williamson, Gertrude Stein, Elizabeth Shepard, Grace Phillips, Nadine Longshore.

Juniors.

Lucy Hall, Frances Chambers, Lela Jesse, Marian Mitchener, Katharine Brewster, Mary Berntsen, Helen Wenham, Helen Hale, Gladys Owens, Alfreda Noble, Julia Ayers.

Sophomores.

Opal Coleman, Margaret Dale, Dorothy Scott, Nona Joyce, Mildred Perry, Lily St. Clair, Esther Erhardt, Wanda Luker, Elizabeth Allen, Ruth Brown, Nelle Anne Ziph, Margery Lawrie, Cecelia Miller, Jeanetta Bate.

Freshmen.

Dorothy Caton, Lucile Hodge, Nancy Marshall, Lorene Wallenstrom, Katharine Pipkin, Winona Horry, Ruth Robeen, Elizabeth Bradley, Marie Ritter, Alice Lanterman, Katharine Sheaff, Mary Hisey, Agnes Shepherd, Rosebud Engleman, Mirian Gorst.

THE "W" WINNERS

The "W" Winners.

The second year in the existence of the girls' "W" has been a happy one for those fortunate wearers of the coveted emblem. The strict standards of sportsmanship and scholarship required in its attainment have been rigidly upheld, with the pleasing result of an effective improvement in scholarship along with the athlete's glories. This year we boast three four-sport girls, Martha Williamson, Louise Allen and Lela Jesse, who have won "W's," while five letter winners were three-sport girls.

The following are the "W" winners in the four sports:

Tennis, Hockey, Basket Ball, and Baseball—Martha Williamson, Louise Allen, Lela Jesse.

Hockey, Basket Ball, and Baseball—Lucy Hall, Frances Chambers, Esther Erhardt, Elizabeth Allen, Opal Coleman.

Hockey and Baseball—Elizabeth Shepard.

Basket Ball and Baseball—Dorothy Block, Mary Berntsen, Nona Joyce.

Hockey—Virginia Jackson, Grace Frick, Vivian Lau, Mildred Haas, Marjorie Powell, Jean Hall, Helen Wenham, Marian Mitchener, Helen Hale, Rosebud Engleman, Marie Ritter.

Basket Ball—Marjorie Ashby, Lulu Canada, Elizabeth Dietrich, Nina Jurlow, Dorman Lewis, Betty Birch.

Baseball—Lorene Wallenstrom, Katharine Pipkin, Lillie St. Clair.

Tennis—Eloise Robinson, Elizabeth Forrester, Alfreda Noble.

A DECLARATION.

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for a class to dissolve the ties which have connected it with the faculty and undergraduates and to assume among the people of the world that lofty position to which the laws of equality and justice entitle them, a generous consideration for the grief of the class of '22 at our departure requires that we should declare the causes which impel us to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self evident: That the world is tottering on the verge of chaotic dissolution, calling to us for our courageous support which will save mankind; that the faculty have endured us so faithfully that some of their number have become wrinkled and gray through care and worry; that the Juniors have demonstrated their ability and desire to vex the teachers to a still greater anxiety over their unmindfulness in not following our example.

We, therefore, the Loyal Members of the Class of '21, the largest and most accomplished which ever graced these halls, feel called upon to depart.

Undergraduates and Faculty: Although we are leaving Westport, possibly never to meet again, still we bid adieu with the determination to remain steadfast to the sound principles of our education. Every one of us feels the pathos of this parting—but we take leave of each other sincerely hoping that our worthy successors will be moved by the same impulses for truth and goodness that actuated us, and that those who follow us will be united by an irresistible bond of sympathy and no matter how far apart we may be thrown, we will, like Caesar's loyal legion, champion the cause of true American manhood and womanhood.

FRANK'S HOPKINS

As some traveler, who has labored tirelessly to attain the highest summits of some lofty mountain, looks fondly back over the places he has traversed to gain his lofty position, so may we, the Junior Class, look back over a year of unparalleled achievements, a year that contributed all of its golden opportunities and rosy possibilities to the school that we love the best. Led by our president, he of the raven locks, we have entered into new fields, have conquered everything we have met, and have ended the year with such a remarkable record that it is indeed with pride that we can say that we are of the class of '22. Our aid in all school activities has been indispensable and our repeated victories over the Seniors in all inter-class contests gives us the comforting assurance that the school has been bettered by our brief stay within her walls. For the Juniors, the end of this school year will be like the end of a perfect day.

But next year we will have our new worlds to conquer, and as the traveler starts once more upon his journey, so we expect next year to attain even loftier heights, to bring Westport to such a position that the school may truly be said to stand high upon a hill so noble. And when we have left Westport to enter into the vast and mighty game of life we can only hope that the same love and affection that our class has for our school will fasten itself upon the other classes and that Westport under their leadership will continue in her path to the goal for which we have all been striving, a greater and better Westport.

ALUMNI

F. HAYES

A former Westport student, Dr. A. L. Taylor Starck, '06, was appointed a member of the Harvard faculty. He took his bachelor's degree at Johns Hopkins University, after which he studied in Berlin and became instructor of German in Smith College. He spent several months in the service and, following his discharge from the army, went to Spain for a year's study. Dr. Starck teaches Spanish at Harvard.

Westport's alumni have established a remarkable athletic record. The Missouri basket ball squad has been captained by former Westporters during five of the last six years. These men were: Wear, 1916; Williams, 1917; Ruby, 1919 and 1920; Browning, 1921.

Harry K. Schauffler, ex-'18, who was on Westport's debate team in 1916, has been prominent in many school activities at Williams College. He was elected leader of the Varsity debate team which faced Wesleyan, Harvard and Dartmouth. In his Junior year he was elected editor-in-chief of the school annual Marion D. Waltner, '14, who was known at Westport for his tennis playing and debating, was admitted to the Missouri Bar and is now a member of the law firm of H. H. Waltner & Sons.

Kenneth C. Simon, a former graduate who has been doing splendid work at William Jewell College, won a place on the intercollegiate debate team of his college.

Elizabeth Sullivan, '20, who specialized in journalistic work at Columbia University, New York, is one of the three young ladies likely to win the scholarship offered by the New York Sun. If she does, she will probably go to Paris.

Miss Virginia Neely Knapp, a graduate of Westport, was married to Mr. William Martin Babcock of Colorado Springs last March.

Mary Martha Muller, '20, won the second prize of $5.00 in a poster contest offered by the Fidelity Savings Trust Company.

Loren Grimes, '20, was elected secretary of the Men's Glee Club at Junior College.

Frank Robertson, '20, took the part of Cora in "You Mustn't Know Too Much," a play presented by the Dramatic Club at the University of Missouri.

Jules Rosenberger, '20, was selected for the debating team at the Taft School, Waterloo, Conn. He was also assistant manager of the basket ball team. Jules expects to enter Yale next year.

Adolph Larson, '20, was made editor-in-chief of the Kansas City Collegian at Junior College. Helen Wilkins was made assistant editor.

Lavina Lavery, '13, has secured leave of absence from her position in the Kansas State Normal School and will spend a year abroad studying French and Spanish.

Miss Leitch is now at the head of the correspondence division of the retail mail order department of Marshall Field & Co., Chicago.

Westport was represented in the Junior League Follies last year by Tom and Henry MacLaughlin, sons of Mrs. MacLaughlin of the faculty; Burnam R. Jones, '14, and Florence and Marie Ellett.

John Emery, '19, has been making good at Wisconsin. He was elected president of the Freshman Inner Circle, and he also contributed to the Commerce Magazine.

Russell Herold, who was a member of the class of '20, died November 2, 1920 at St. Joseph's Hospital after an operation for appendicitis.

Katherine Tunncliff, '20, was married to Donald Funk, a former Westporter, in June, 1920.

Anne Elizabeth Robertson, '16, was married September 11, 1920, to Mr. Ralph B. Bagby, Lieutenant U. S. A., at the Westport Baptist Church.

Kenneth L. Cook, '21, and Ralph B. Holmlund, '20, who were members of the Third Regiment, were appointed to the United States Military Academy at West Point.

Jack Haas, '20, who was placed on the fourth basket ball squad at Yale in the beginning of the year, was promoted to the first squad last January and is now eligible for the next year's Varsity team.

Mrs. Phillips, wife of Mr. F. L. Phillips, Spanish instructor at Westport, died last February 25th after a long period of illness.

Craig Ruby, former Westport star, and only Westporter who ever captained a Missouri University basket ball team for two years, is now coaching at Missouri. He turned out a team this year that captured the Missouri Valley championship.

Irene Sloan, '19, and Helen Sloan, '17, attended the World Sunday School Convention in Japan and had an interesting trip in the Orient.

Vera Marshall, a graduate of '18, was married to Eugene Loback of Topeka, Kans., on the 9th of June.

Bahlman Parker, '17, was captain of the Missouri track team and established the best scholastic record of any athlete in the university.

Clyde Emery, '16, who established an enviable record for himself in Westport, won the Rhodes Scholarship at the University of Wisconsin. He is the third boy from Westport to win this honor, the other two being Rex Miller and John Madden.

John Hoxie Haas, '20, after an unusually brilliant career at Westport, has added to his laurels by winning a scholarship at Yale, which was established last year by Mrs. J. C. Fennell as a memorial to her son. The scholarship is open only to Kansas City boys and Jack is the first one to whom it has been given.

During last summer's vacation death claimed two of our fellow students. Brette Swafford was drowned at Forest Park Lake June 26, 1920, and Richard Pugh died of typhoid fever.

Lieut. Ross B. Warren, '12, has been appointed Assistant Professor of Military Science in the Reserve Officers' Training Course at Harvard.

The untimely death of Chester Cooksey, '20, through an accidental shot fired by a tourist at Monarch, Colo., was a shock to all his Westport friends. Chet was a favorite in the school, prominent in all kinds of athletics, and secretary of his Senior class.

Eleanor Brown, '20, was chosen one of the eleven girls on the Freshman hockey team at Wellesley.

George Browning, former Westport basket ball star, established a notable record last year as captain of the Missouri University team.

Westport's Way

We are not here to play, to dream, to drift,
We have hard work to do, and loads to lift.
Shun not the struggle; face it:
That's Westport's way.

Say not the days are dreary, who's to blame?
Fold not your hands and stop your work, that's shame.
Stand up, speak out, and bravely:
That's Westport's way.

It matters not how deep intrenched the wrong,
How hard the battle one day may go—how long.
Faint not, fight on till tomorrow:
That's Westport's way.

ROBERTA HOLLAND, '21.

SENIOR NEWS

When you first glanced
At the above title
And these lines of print
You thought this was
A poem; but you are very Terribly mistaken,
Because this is a space filler
And you fell for it,
And probably you think
We got this from an Exchange—but we didn't.

A Musical Letter

Dear "Margie:"

"Bright Eyes," I have often been "Wondering" and "Grieving for You," while I have been thinking how you used to "Nestle in Your Daddy's Arms" beneath the "Broken Moon."

Many a day I've been "Waiting for the Sun to Come Out." "I Love You Sunday," "Darling," and every other day in the week. One more look into your "Honolulu Eyes" "Just Like a Gypsy."

"I Wonder Why" "I'm Waiting for Tomorrow to Come."

You have "My Gee Gee from the Figi Isle" backed off the map. When we were cruising the "Coral Sea" you said you loved me, "Didn't You?" When we were out with "My Little Bimbo Down on the Bamboo Isles," "The Argentine, the Portuguese and the Greeks" said, "Ain't We Got Fun."

Girls, skip this paragraph. It got into my collection by mistake and I asked the printer to destroy it, but he set it wrong side up:

If there's anything worries a woman,
It's something she ought not to know;
But you bet she'll find it out anyhow
If she gets the least kind of a show.
Now I'll wager ten cents to a quarter,
This poem she's already read.
We know she'd get at it somehow
If she had to stand on her head.

An Ode

O think of the Seniors of yore

Who have funk'd in Physics before;

It is a mistake

Such a subject to take,

The majority pass—out the door.

—Phi.

Teacher (in English)—"Is that story original?"
Bright Pupil—"No, mam, I made it up."

Teacher—"What are the three words you use most?"

Senior—"I don't know."

Teacher—"Correct."

"Pants" Miles (in Law)—"Say, Mr. Hart, can a judge convict a deaf man?"

Judge Hart—"Why, certainly he can."

P. M.—"Well, it says here in the book that no man can be convicted without a hearing."
