

Foreword

In the production of this, the twentieth year book of Westport High School, the staff has endeavored to give a true and lasting chronicle of the activities and achievements that have made this year memorable. The greatest value of a volume of this kind consists of the treasured memories of glorious youth and golden school days. If the familiar scenes and faces depicted in these pages will help to keep alive the spirit of love and loyalty for Westport High in years to eome, the highest hopes of the editors will be realized.

The class of '20 must have felt particularly reluctant to break the old ties that bound them to Westport when they saw what a promising, jolly good class of freshmen they were leaving behind, freshmen who were destined to form the class of '23.

The class of '21 styled itself "the greatest class that ever set foot in Westport;" '22 called itself "mightiest of classes." It is with due respect that we, the class of '23, acknowledge the merit of our predecessors, from whose admirable teaching we have learned the art of class-making.

The pre-eminence of the class of 1923 is not due to the leadership of one or two gifted members, but is the result of the talents and devoted efforts of many leaders who have helped to make the name of Westport famous.

In all those things that help to make the spirit of Westport courageous, invincible and triumphant, members of the class of '23 have been conspicuous. Among the graduates are all the members of the basket ball team of national fame, four debaters who have helped to bring the Amhert cup to Westport for two successive years, the girls of the winning debate team and our singers, who won a cup in recognition of their silver voices. The names of many seniors also adorn the honor roll.

Now we bid farewell to the Gold and Blue; we bid the classes of the years to come to carry on the spirit of Westport, that it may represent all that is noble and sincere.

In 1920 a class entered Westport that soon gave promise of an unusual career. This class was the last to enter here as Freshmen and was the first to organize Freshman Boys' and Girls' Clubs.

The later class affairs have all been very successful. The Sophomore and Junior mixers were two of the best class parties ever given at Westport. The Junior Prom was also well planned and very successful.

There is no school activity in which the Juniors have not taken part and which has not been benefited by their active participation. Athletics, dramatics, debate, the clubs, and the Student Council have all been materially aided by the work of the Juniors.

With this sort of a record and the splendid school and class spirit which has already been evidenced, the Juniors look forward to a brilliant Senior year.

Cadet Staff Sergeants: Harold Lind, Theodoro Rivera, Chapman Turner, Herbert West, Robert Wolfe.

Every year the R. O. T. C. becomes more securely established and the value of military training is more fully recognized.

Two customs that were established this year have contributed much to the popularity of military training in the high schools. These were the election of the cadet sponsor majors and the First Annual Indoor Military Circus. Miss Catherine Andrews was chosen sponsor of the Westport battalion. The events in which she and the other sponsors participated gave the affair a unique and picturesque touch and will make the sponsorship one of the most coveted honors in years to come.

The purpose of the Military Circus was to demonstrate the drills and exercises used in military training rather than to develop competition among the high schools. The large number of spectators who gathered in Convention Hall to witness the performance and the enthusiasm with which they greeted the cadets gave evidence of the keen interest that the R. O. T. C. has aroused in Kansas City.

As in former years, battalion drill has not been possible, due to the necessary division of the drill periods, but in spite of this handicap the routine work has been carried on diligently and effectively under the competent direction of Sergeant Otto Boman, who is completing his fourth year as Instructor of Military Science and Tactics at Westport.

The recent appointment of George Bates, '19, as colonel in the R. O. T. C. at the University of Missouri is an evidence of the thorough training given in the high school cadet corps. In his senior year at Westport Mr. Bates was cadet major.

Debate

The Winning Teams

After another victorious year in debate the Amherst cup remains in Westport's trophy case. Both boys' teams attained singular honors. The affirmative team was the only one in the city to gain the favorable decision of the judges, while the negative team achieved a feat as great, if not greater, by capturing the only unanimous decision of the year.

The question debated was, "Resolved, That the United States Government Should Adopt the Policy of Granting Ship Subsidies." The affirmative team was made up of Chesney Hill (captain), Austin Guild, Emil Haas, and George Leonard, alternate. "Ches" led his whirlwind orators down to Manual, where they met the enemy and "they were ours."

The negative team was captained by Robert Rosenwald. The other members were Harry Waltner, Albert Reeves and William Teuscher, alternate. They remained at home to defend Westport's laurels, and drove off the invading Nor'easters with such apparent skill and ease that the decision was at no time in doubt.

The girls' affirmative team, Eileen Marie Slack (captain), Laura Ballou, Lottie McVey and Elizabeth Lewis, alternate, went to Manual. The question was, "Resolved, That the United States Should Abandon the Policy of Neutrality in the Near East." The debate there was brilliant, exciting and hard fought, but the better team emerged victorious and presented Westport with a well-earned victory. The negative team, Julia Goodenow (captain), Freda Heilburn, Catherine Andrews, and Elizabeth Krick, alternate, stayed at Westport and met the team from Northeast. And a fiery bunch they proved to be. The Westport team fought valiantly, but again we may say the better team won. There is no disgrace attached to an honest defeat, and Westport is just as proud of its one losing team as its three winning teams.

The debates this year were held at night, departing from the old custom. All negative teams remained at home and the Westport affirmative went to^k Manual, Manuel went to Central, Central to Northeast and Northeast came to Westport. The boys' debates were held on the evening of Friday, March 16, and the girls' on Thursday, March 29. The new arrangement permitted students to attend one of the debates in which their own school took part. Enthusiasm ran high; the auditoriums were crowded at all four debates. The student body supported the debate teams as never before. Westport stood behind her teams faithfully and let them know that she did care how they came out. The teams responded beautifully and the school honored them fittingly.

Much credit must be given the coaches, those faithful, tireless, dogged trainers, who make the teams what they are, but receive little credit themselves. So to Mr. Humphrey, Miss Short and Mr. Emery goes the credit of producing three winning debate teams out of a possible four.

Only one of these debaters, William Teuscher, will be back next year, but Mr. Humphrey has excellent material for next year in the second teams. The second team: Steuart Britt, Wesley Frace, Harry Bennetts, Charles Densford, James Dissman, Jerome Lieberman, Robert Powell and John Calendar. Let us stand behind the teams next year as we did this year and bear in mind that one more such victory makes that Amherst trophy a permanent possession of Westport.

The Wooing of a Violin

The Christmas play produced this year was "The Wooing of a Violin," written by Mr. Humphrey. The cast seemed to realize that they were furnished with an unusually charming vehicle and accordingly made the most of the attractive play

The underlying purpose of the play was to laud the first of all fine artsmusic. This theme is deftly developed by a highly entertaining plot.

The plot concerns Miriam Glendon, whose father is a wealthy business man. Miriam is devoted to music in all forms, being herself an accomplished musician. When one day on the street she hears Paola Adra Mollo, a street violinist, playing an exquisite air with the touch of an artist, she is drawn to him by a strange feeling of kindredship. Paola also feels this attraction they have for one another. And thus his life is changed.

Paola is a true artist, who has risen above the squalid surroundings of the basement den of Marioni, an old padrone, where he has lived all his life. The avaricious padrone had always treated him insolently and cruelly, as he did all those who lived with him. Paola would not have endured such a life had it not been for Nizetta, who loved him with all the ardor of her passionate youth, for she was in truth a little tiger-like creature. Paola loved her as a little sister. Nizetta, as soon as Paola became interested in Miriam, senses that somthing is different, divines the true cause and becomes insanely jealous of Miriam.

Mir.am, in turn, is having her troubles. Her father urges her to be nice to a certain crafty individual, Mr. Hyde, for business reasons. Miriam despises Hyde's utter lack of culture and ref.nement and hates him when he thrusts his unwelcome attentions upon her. Hyde tells Miriam if she won't marry him he will ruin her father. Worn and ill, Mr. Glendon falls at Miriam's feet unconscious when she refuses to marry Hyde. An angry, heaving, snarling mob of unpaid workmen come to menace the Glendon home. Paola pays them off with gold he has taken from the miser padrone's treasure chest.

The play from this point tells how all the characters are punished or rewarded as they deserved, and all ends happily.

The eighth annual play given by Los Calderones was presented Saturday evening, May 5, in the auditorium. The play, "Zaragueta," a comedy in two acts, was thoroughly enjoyed by all present, the auditorium being comfortably filled.

Joseph Lafferty, for whose part the play was named, was exceptionally good as Zaragueta, his exceeding deafness causing much laughter.

Porter Wright, as Carlos, the university student, was such a fascinating hero that he won the hearts of the audience completely, and Maruja, a dainty Spanish maiden, "fell for" him without delay. Cornelia Hurley, in the part of Maruja, was particularly pleasing. She gave her lines fluently and with perfect enunciation.

Theodore Thee and Juanita Lightner, who are not at all arrogant on account of their wealth, comported themselves with the dignity befitting Castilian aristocrats.

The play took on a professional air with Earl Bootman as the doctor, while Eleanor Engel, in a boy's part, seemed very much at home on the stage.

Alice MacMahon and Leonard Dunn were natural and unaffected in their stage appearances. Sara Staley and Theodoro Rivera were very good as servants.

The feature of the evening was a short dance, given between the first and second acts by Mary Ethel Kirker, Eleanor Hall, June Chandler, Genevieve Manahan, Nellie Ann Ziph, Mary Louise Kohler, Helen Baehr and Estelle West. The costumes were appropriate and the dance was given an encore.

The thorough success of the entire play gave evidence of careful training and the patient efforts of Mr. Phillips.

"Trelawney of the 'Wells'"

The annual senior play was given in the auditorium on May 25 and 26. "Trelawney of the 'Wells,'" by Arthur W. Pinero, English dramatist, was presented. The play, in four acts, is a comedy of English stage life. The plot concerns the adventures of Rose Trelawney, an actress, who goes to visit the aristocratic family of her fiance, Arthur Gower. The staid, dignified aristocrats of the Gower household are much shocked by the gay, unaffected, theatrical Rose who "sings and sneezes whenever she pleases." Their patience with her is brought to the breaking point when a mob of her actor friends descend upon her at a rather late hour. Because of this Rose is asked to depart from the household. She goes back to the stage. Arthur decides to follow her and becomes an actor. At last the Gower family is so worried by Arthur's absence that they allow him to marry Rose, and all ends happily.

"To go a step farther" and make the school paper just a little better, is the annual resolution of the Crier Staff, made at the beginning of each new year. But we believe (without egotism) that our good resolutions and our high ambitions have enabled us to go more than a step farther. We have made several good long leaps.

In the first place, the Crier was enlarged from five to six columns. This was due to the great demand for advertising space and to the growing interests and activities of the Junior High. In order not to diminish the reading matter the paper was enlarged.

By cuts, cartoons, personal interviews, clever features, and good headliners we have endeavored to make the Crier as interesting as possible. At the same time we have made it our aim to attain the highest standards of journalism. For this purpose and to bring us fresh inspiration, we sent representatives to the Journalism Conference at the University of Kansas and became affiliated with the Central Interscholastic Press Association and the recently organized Missouri Interscholastic Press Association.

The work has not been easy, but if, in the judgment of the student body, it has been a success, we may count it a pleasure and worth the effort.

A word of appreciation is due the Advertising Staff, the Junior High Staff, and those of the student body who have given special help. To the "general public" of Westport we offer a parting "thank you" for its interest and co-operation.

The present staff desire to remind their successors of an ambition, a cherished hope, of long standing. This is the complete separation of the two school publications so far as editorship and supervision are concerned. The Crier should be published throughout the entire school year and the preparation and publication of the Herald is a task that should be undertaken by an entirely different group of students. A change from the present arrangement would result in great improvement in the annual and the school paper.

Although this is only the second year that the Student Council has been organized it has already established itself as a necessary and wholly useful organization. This year it has thoroughly lived up to the record of last year's Council in its accomplishments.

The all-school Carnival, given December 19, was planned and directed entirely by the Student Council and the affair was a huge success. There was a large attendance, and the club stunts, the program and the dancing were all enjoyed immensely.

A committee appointed by the Council has been working with our athletic manager and the Student Councils and the athletic managers of the other high schools in an effort to secure a stadium for Kansas City. The building of this stadium is inevitable, and when it is finished Westport will speak with pride of the part she had in securing it for the use of future generations of Kansas City high school students.

In the Student Assembly on April 20, which was planned by the Student Council, one of the most enjoyable programs of the year was presented. Almost every departmental club was represented, while the Clay Club was the only literary society taking part.

The Council conducted the sale of tickets for the Herald and the Music contest.

But the really greatest achievement of the Council has been the publishing of a Westport Handbook, which is the result of two years of hard work. The Handbook contains information in regard to every school activity in concise and accurate form.

The School Orchestra

The school orchestra, under the direction of Mrs. Hedges, has been unusually successful the past year. The orchestra, with forty-two members, played in two assemblies and furnished all the music for both the Christmas and Senior plays. It will also play the commencement march and render the concert overture at Convention Hall the night of commencement. Throughout the year by constant practice and the sustained efforts of Mrs. Hedges all the members of the orchestra feel that the time spent was well worth while.

Following are the names of the members with their respective instruments:

The Dance Orchestra

Westport has been fortunate this year in having an ideal dance orchestra. The aim of the orchestra has been to play a good style of dance music and at the same time keep it more or less dignified.

They played at all the mixers, club dances and the Junior Prom. All of the clubs and both the Senior and Junior classes owed a great deal to the orchestra for the success of their parties.

There are five members in the orchestra, several of whom have played with the leading orchestras in town. Although the splendid co-operation of these boys went a long way in making it a success, they all say that without the help of Mr. Shaw, their sponsor, they would not have been what they were.

Vernon Lott, the group leader, is a regular fellow. He not only plays the piano very well but is also a star in football.

John Ballentine plays his saxophone with such zest that it is impossible for anyone to keep from dancing when he starts in.

Everett Dillard plays the violin and is one of the orchestra's main supports.

Eldon Eaton, the one who plays the cornet, lets you know that he is in the game to stay.

Everett Hartman, the drummer, is one of the most important factors in the orchestra and his time is hard to beat.

The Westport Chant

The Westport Chant, composed by A. S. Humphrey, instructor of public speaking, is a notable contribution to the life and traditions of the school. It is sonorous, dignified and inspiring. Here it is:

"Westport's spirit is invincible; it is honorable; it is courageous; it is terrible. When the score is told, ours be the victory. I support, you support, etc."

The Music Contest

0000 1 9 HERALD 75 00000

The annual interscholastic music contest, held in the Junior College auditorium Wednesday afternoon, April 25, was very satisfactory to Westport students, although Northeast carried off first honors. Our combined boys' and girls' glee clubs surpassed the other schools in the sight reading contest, while the girls' chorus took second place. Westport received a silver loving cup for excelling in sight reading.

The cantata, which was given at Junior College Saturday evening, May 5, was "The Legend of Don Munio," by Dudley Buck. Tryouts had been held five weeks previous, Westport receiving six first places and nine second places out of the seventeen possibilities. All of those who participated in the six events received gold "W's" in recognition of their ability. Those who received the pins were:

Soloists-Harriett Friedman, Russell Jordan and Albert Orear.

Duet-Margery Ritzer and William Sladek.

Latin Quartet-Ruth Hebert, Nelle Richards, Emmett MacKenzie and James Lacy.

Double Quartet-Grace Hall, Violet Herrin, Ethel Trout, Margaret Hertzler, Donald Barnet, William Sladek, Melvin Gentry and Bernd Drebert.

ON MY CHANGE OF HOME.

Can it be such that we may all be free To leave at will our friends of childhood days, And home where we have spent our happy Mays, With thoughtless, joyous chums so full of glee, To go to scenes untried, so like the bee That flies o'er hill and dale by many ways, To look for sweets of Earth to fill her trays, Nor stop to grieve for those we do not see? Although my father says it must be so— And he has always proved his judgement good— It is a change with sorrow great for me, But trust and love for him doth bid us go. So with our hearts we cannot plan our mood, But follow hence and know that it must be. B. L. WREN, '23.

The Honor Roll

0000 19 HERALD 7,3 (00)

The Honor Roll is still something of a novelty in Westport but according to present indications, it has become a permanent part of the school life. It is interesting to note that Westport was the first of the Kansas City high schools to give honor credits in scholarship to undergraduates. These are the requirements for the Honor Roll:

"Honor students shall have as a minimum total of twenty-eight points in E's and G's, twenty of which must be counted from E grades. Honor students shall have no grade below M. In academic subjects E is equivalent to ten points, and G to eight points. In the arts, E is counted as five points, and G as four points."

Below is a list of pupils who "made" the honor roll during the last term of last year. There are forty-eight boys and eighty-eight girls on the roll:

The following students participated in the contest for the designs of the division pages: William Chouteau, Issie Freleng, Donald Lawrance, James Wright, Emma Bush, Marguerite Clark, Jeannette Davis, Helen Holt, Katherine Kohr, Alice Mac-Mahon, Betty Miller, Ardelle Parsill, Vivian Sullivan, Bernice Teed, Clara Louise Wasson, Zenith Wilmot, Marvin Reitz, Gordon West, Mary Ann Austin, Marie Drebert, Dorothy Elliott, Margaret Dale, Vera Frazell, Irene Gardner, Alice Groendycke, Elaine Meier, Dorothy Moebus, Dorian Parks, Thelma Roe, Nellie McKeever, Louise Wallingford, Frederick Shane, Elizabeth Blades, Ina Bonney, Dorothy Cast, Josephine Malkmus, Ruth Miner, June Worthington and Robert Dods.

TO A FRIEND.

Oh, why in that secluded spot beneath the skies Out in your dainty garden, such a vine-clad gateway lies? Was it built that midnight dreams might in and outward play, And leave a path refreshed and sweet at break of day?

Or was it built to coax the silent dream of fate To enter in a human mind and marvel thoughts create? Within us all a breath of heaven's beauty lies And day dreams are that essence wafted from the skies.

My friend, I hope, away from toil and strife, There'll always be a charming gateway in your life, Where dreams will come, and play and go, And leave you all alone, to think, to build, to grow.

In Memoriam

NOR 1 9 HERALD 23 WORDON

In loving remembrance of our teacher and friend, Miss Mary Lyons. Her memory is sacred to her friends and to her pupils of today and of yesterday. Her place in Westport will remain unfilled and the memory of her life as well as her teachings will continue to inspire all whom she touched.

> "O friend, who comest to thy goal so early, I would the great world grew like thee, Who grievest not alone in power And knowledge, but by year and hour In reverence and in charity."

Faculty Changes

The beginning of each year brings with it some changes in the faculty. This year six new teachers have come and four old ones have gone.

The new teachers are Miss Keeler, English and Expression; Miss Dorothy Mc-Leod, French; Miss Shelley, Spanish; Miss Case, Sewing; Miss Shane, Sewing and Drawing, and Miss Minckmeyer, study hall teacher. Miss Eggleston of the Latin Department, Mr. Heinberg of the Mathematics and Science Departments, and Mr. Harman of the History Department, who divided their time between the senior and junior schools last year, have classes in the senior high school only. Miss Blase was transferred from the afternoon school to take Miss Wilder's place. Miss Naomi Simpson is a study hall assistant and teaches two classes in English. She is also a member of the Junior High School faculty.

Miss Corbin, a study hall teacher last year, is now Mrs. Eugene L. Young. Miss Wilder and Miss Dorrel are away on leaves of absence, but will probably be back next year. Mr. Clyde Emery, '16, had charge of Miss Lyons' classes after her death, but returned to Oxford in April to resume his studies. He holds a Rhodes scholarship. Miss Edith L. Lewis was appointed to fill Mr. Emery's place. Mr. Constant, French teacher, who has been here for the last four years, is leaving Westport this year to accept a position in Junior College.

For Seniors Only

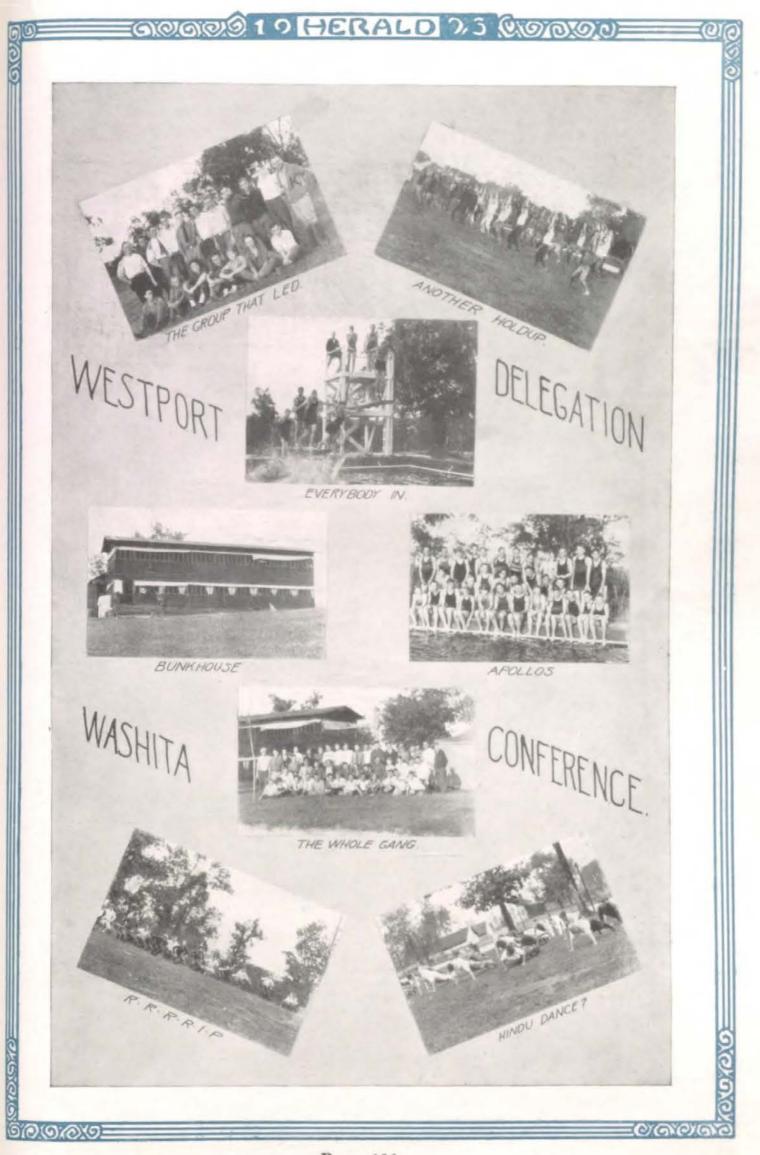

Both faculty and students received with the greatest delight the edict of the Board of Education permitting omission of final Senior examinations. This is not a hard and fast rule. The decision as to whether or not the Senior in his class shall take the usual examinations rests with the teacher.

The new ruling purposes giving the clerks in the office and the Secretary of the Board of Education more time for preparing diplomas and making all the required preparations for graduation.

In case no "final" is given, only the four quarter-term grades will be averaged. These are to depend upon numerous short examinations given during the term.

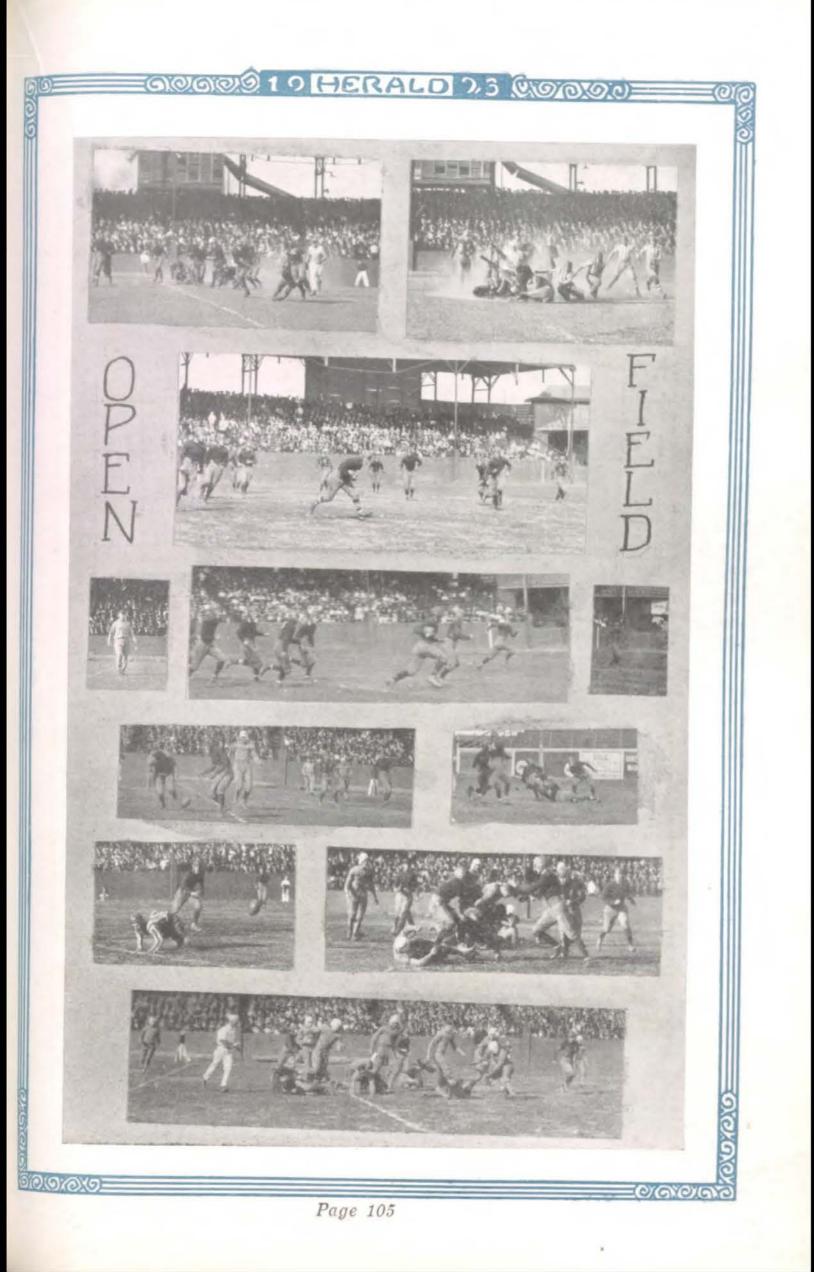

Many teachers feel that this will lead to a closer check on the Seniors' work. However, the plan is equally as pleasing to the Seniors, as it removes the dread of the abhorred examinations and makes their last few weeks in High School vastly happier.

Football

NOOR 1 9 HERALD 7 3 CO

In the football season of 1923 one fatal game wrecked Westport's chances of winning the city championship. After being severely walloped by the Blue and Gold in the first round of games, the Purple players of Northeast staged a startling comeback in the fifth game and Westport stepped into second place. Central carried off the honors, although defeated by Westport in the fourth game, the hardest fought battle of the season.

Coach Edwards was especially fortunate in having five old men around whom he could build his team. These were: Charles Tuttle, George Swope, Vernon Lott, Fred Ford and Jack Bourque. Charles Tuttle was elected captain. The other men on the team who won their letters were: Howard Jones, Donald Murphy, Frank Wachter, Daniel Joyner, Gordon Buchner and Lawrence Stevenson, captain-elect of the 1924 team. Frank Wachter and Gordon Buchner will be back to co-operate with "Stevie" in winning the title for Westport next year.

The Second Team

The Westport second team won the championship of the second teams. All of the second team men will be back next year and should aid greatly in a championship at Westport next year.

Those who won second team letters are: William Edwards, Ross Blanford, Scott Kennedy, Jesse Teague, Robert Ray, Ernest Quillen, James Marsh, Burdette Bearrup, Leo Lipscomb and James Llywelyn.

CHARLES TUTTLE Captain

Tuttle's long runs for touchdowns, his quick, clever dodging, his sure tackling, and his able leadership made him worthy of the captaincy of the team.

JACK BOURQUE

Jack, although not a flashy player, was a tower of strength on defense, breaking up many an opponent's play.

LAWRENCE STEVENSON Captain-Elect

"Stevie," the big little man of the league, was one of the most valuable players, breaking through the opponents' line and smashing up their plays. He will be back to captain next year's team.

FRED FORD Ford's ability to catch passes was a big feature in winning more than one game. He was also a sure punter, proving valuable to the team in tight places.

Basketball

0919 HERALD 73 000

The basketball team of 1923 established a record that stands unrivaled in the history of athletics in Westport. Future generations of students will point with pride to the trophies won last season and will speak with awe of the mighty players who carried the Blue and Gold to victory in many a hard fought contest.

In the interscholastic series Westport won every game. Three strong out of town teams also were defeated. Having captured the city championship, the team entered the state tournament at Columbia. They brought home the Wilson trophy, which signified that they were champions of Missouri.

As holders of the state title the Westport team was eligible to participate in the National Tournament at Chicago, which was held the first week in April. After winning two hard-fought games from Birmingham, Alabama, and from Bellevue, Ohio, the team lost the third game to Rockford, Illinois.

From the six men who were on last year's team Fred Ford was elected captain. The other five were Daniel Joyner, Charles Tuttle, Clifford Campbell, Charles Parker and Gale Gordon. Each of these six men could play almost any position. This was one of the strongest points in Westport's favor.

FRED FORD

With Ford as captain, the team enjoyed the advantage of strong leadership. Besides holding first place in the league in individual scoring, he was an excellent floor man, an accurate shot and a fine defensive player. At the National Tournament he gained an all-American positicn.

Gale was an exceptional utility man, playing any position with equal success. In the interscholastic rankings he was fourth in individual scoring and an all-star guard.

CLIFFORD CAMPBELL Selected as all-star center in the league, Clifford won the approval of the coaches at Chicago and was selected as one of the three best centers in the tournament. His ability in handling the ball, his accuracy in passing, and his cleverness in floorwork mark him as one of Westport's best.

CHARLES TUTTLE Tuttle was conspicuous for his fighting qualities, his speed and his aggressiveness. Possessed of unerring ability to pick the ball off the backboard and feed the forwards, he proved most valuable in aiding his team-mates to score. He was also a good shot.

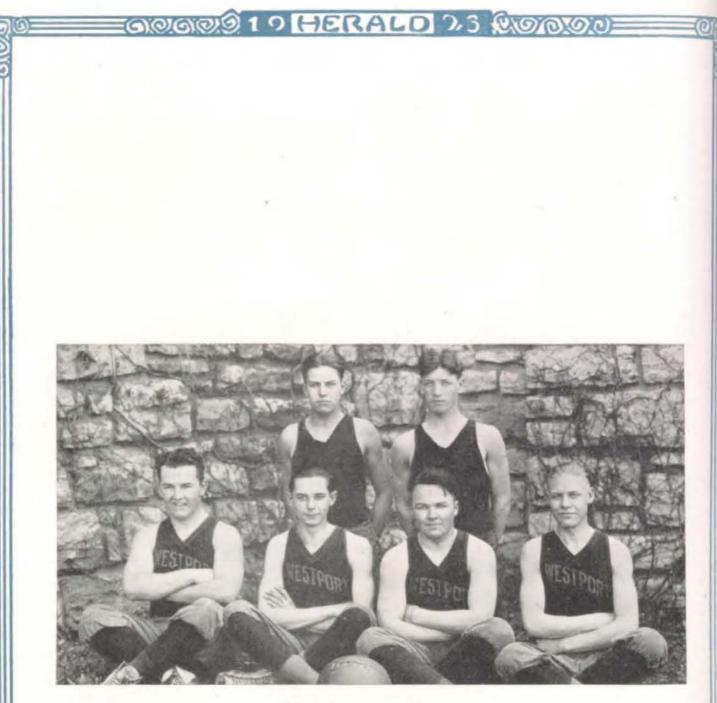

DANIEL JOYNER

Dan, goal shooter "excello" and all-star forward, was a sure shot from any position. His uncanny ability on difficult shots made him a terror to his opposing guards. He won several seemingly lost games and ranked third in individual scoring.

CHARLES PARKER Considered by many the fastest guard in the league, Charlie was also conspicuous for his elusiveness and his clean play. Holding his opponents to few goals, he also led the other guards in scoring.

The Second Team

The second team played a full schedule of games, which furnished valuable experience. Second team letters were awarded to Buchner, Wolfe, Brady, Dods and Roach. They will be back next year and will be excellent material for the first team.

Although handicapped somewhat by basketball the Westport track team made a very creditable showing throughout the season. In fact, this year's team is the strongest that Westport has had for a long time. Bowing only to Northeast, the team won second place in the K. C. A. C., the K. U. relays, the Missouri-Kansas dual meet, and the state high school meet at Columbia. Manual High was easily defeated in a dual meet, 63 to 35. Liberty High also fell a victim in a meet, 60 to 33. The team placed third in the Quadrangular and in the Missouri Valley meet. Next year's team will have a strong crew of old men and should win honors for the Blue and Gold.

The letter winners in track this year are: Class "A"—Captain Charles Parker, Charles Tuttle, Clifford Campbell, Everett Dillard, Fred Dod, James Harrington, Donald Murphy, Gale Gordon, Thomas Daniels, Stanford Block, Robert Newman, Orland Smith and Scott Kennedy.

Westport had the championship cinched in almost every instance before the starting of the finals in the tennis quad last fall. With one exception, girls' singles, Westport had every possible team playing in finals. Alfreda Noble, however, defeated Lorraine Blasbach of Central, the only girl from any other school who played in the finals. The Quadrangular teams of Westport were:

Girls' Singles-Alfreda Noble, Ruth Robeen.

Boys' Singles-Charles McKey, Clifford Campbell.

Girls' Doubles-Opal Coleman, Winifred Moore, Katherine Pipkin, Ruth Brown. Boys' Doubles-Charles McKey, Robert Coerver, Clifford Campbell, Raymond Stuhl.

Girls' Athletics

2000 1 9 HERALD 7.3 (20000)

Girls' athletics have donned the seven league boots and are striding rapidly into the limelight. It is no longer a rare spectacle to see girls playing basket ball in a vacant lot or park. And as the public becomes educated to girls playing, the girls play more and more.

Winning a "W"

Few people realize the meaning of a "W" to a girl. 'Tis not the honor alone which means so much to the winner, but the award stands for a high standard of scholarship, sportsmanship and athletic ability. The required grade average makes it impossible for a girl to neglect her studies in order to excel in athletics. However, this standard is not often necessary, for athletics train the mind as well as the muscles and develops a keeness of mind not easily to be excelled.

All Sport Girls

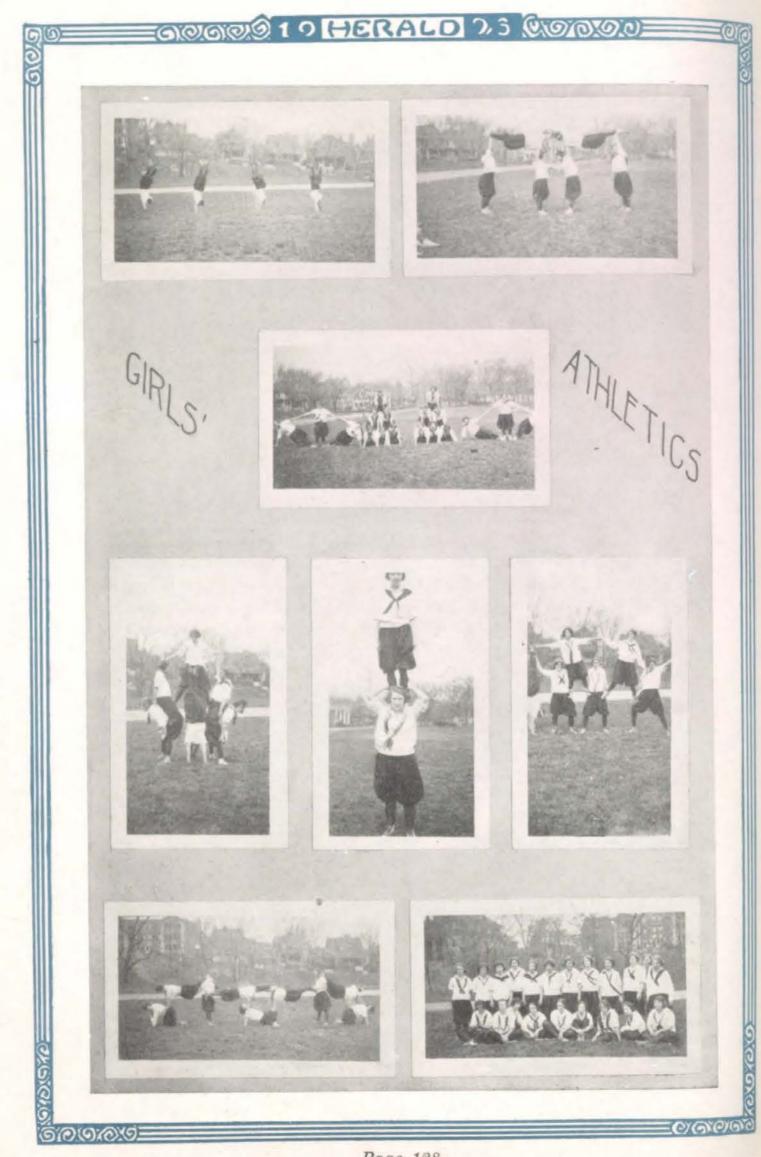

On the teams this year there are two all-sport girls, Opal Coleman, senior, and Katherine Pipkin, junior. These girls have joined the ranks of the Westport Immortals, and all teams are justly proud of them. Opal Coleman receives her pin this year for winning her letter three years in two sports.

Leading and Following

It's a glorious thing to be able to lead, To push things forward with a mighty heave— A wonderful thing to command at will; Yet to obey is greater still.

The one who can follow with lots of pep, Who puts self behind and marches in step, His little bit is greater than The achievements of him who leads the van.

-ELIZABETH STEVENS, '23.

Hockey

The clashing of hockey sticks heralded the opening of the girls' athletic season. Much to the despair of the Seniors, the Juniors carried off the laurel wreath. The Seniors and Sophomores fought valiantly, but the Junior goal seemed to exert some magnetic influence over the ball. The girl athletes are so pleased with their skill in hockey that arrangements have been made to obtain the services of an English hockey coach for next year. The hockey teams were:

Seniors-Hallie Pearce (capt.), Wanda Luker, Opal Coleman, Louise O'Donnell, Jeanette Bate, Mildred Spraul, Margaret Dale, Nellie Ziph, Virginia Kling, Cecelia Miller, Gertrude Sweetman, Thelma Lampkin and Berenice Renz.

Juniors-Irma Witherup (capt.), Katherine Pipkin, Clara Hug, Ruth Robeen, Dorothy Caton, Alice Lanterman, Helen Larson, Margaret McQuinn, Mildred Robinson, Nancy Marshall, Katherine Kohr, Betty Birch, Katherine Lippincott, Sarah Miller and Floy Luker.

After a brief absence the Stroller has returned to Westport. On his arrival he stated that he had come back to get his diploma and say good-bye. On account of many pressing engagements he declined at first to engage in any literary work, but finally was persuaded to prepare a chronicle digest, review or outline of the year's events, with appropriate comments.

September—It's too much trouble to look up the date. Any way, the first day of school. New faces, old faces, handclasps, greetings, shouts. "Oh, I had the most precious time this summer." "Gee, I hate to start back to school." Yet everybody was glad to be here. Then the screams of pain as the lottery of drawing programs started.

September 18th—First assembly of the year. Very entertaining. Mr. Shouse very kindly told us about a few of the regulations we might have forgotten during the vacation. He particularly warned the pupils not to jump out of the third story windows to get down to their next class on time, as it was against a board ruling.

September 23rd-Hoopla! First football game of year. Westport won. Beat Richmond, 13-0.

September 30th-Pie! Won the second game, 18-0, from Coffeyville.

October 4th—Say, that Little Symphony can play. Assembly with them as the main show. Very exquisite. Ain't a bassoon funny?

October 14th-Gobs of gloom. Lost the first game to Central, doggone it.

October 18th—Crier, with the idea of uniform dress as a headline. Why not have uniform shoes? All the same size.

October 21st-Thirty-one to nothing. Sounds nice, doesn't it? Our score against Northeast.

October 28th-History repeats itself. Westport 31, Manual 0.

Somewhere in November—Assembly committee decided we would have one assembly every five weeks, and that's all. Yah! That's what they decided, but it didn't mean anything. We've averaged at least one assembly every two weeks, to the chagrin of Mr. Herrmann, the pupils' joy.

November 3rd—The sage remarks, Ahem! history repeats itself. Jerry Dissman and Hulda Seidel fall in love on the stage back in 1921 and then they went and did it again in real life.

November 4th-Hah! A blood-curdling yell of triumph! We defeat Central, 7 to 0. November 11th-Oof! A cry of pain, sorrow and regret! Northeast sits on us hard, 6 to 0.

November 18th-Last football game of season. Westport 13, Manual 0. Hurrah! November 29th-First Stroller appears. That's as important as the first issue of the "Spectator."

GROORS 1 9 HERALD 73 KORSON

December 8th—An assembly. Yes, truly. Footballers got their letters. Oh, yes, and Steve made a speech. (?)

December 21st—"The Wooing of a Violin." Exquisite, and admirably acted. And marvelously written. Why, certainly. You're quite welcome, Mr. Humphrey. Don't mention it.

January ?—That was a fine trick. I look in the Crier to find what the date of the first inter-high game was and all I find is "The Westport basket ball team won their first inter-high game by defeating Northeast in a one-sided match, 43-14." Well, that's enough to say, anyway.

Another ?—No date and I haven't time to look it up. Anyway, we beat Manual, 38-16. Yes, and just about this time (in January and February) the great and inspiring bandanna craze hit the girls. It shows how idiotic girls are. Supporting silly fads. Did I hear some girl mention bell-bottomed pants?

February 1st-Whee, a close shave, 27-26, but we won. The greatest game of high school basket ball ever played. And Central, our dear friends, sat on the bottom.

February 10th—Ah, ha, the dark horse. But he's bright. Our self-made man, H. Harnden, elected president of the great class of '23.

February 17th—Another win for our basket ballers. We-uns 27, them (Northeast) 17.

February 21st—Junior election. And a girl got the presidency. Can you beat it? Maybe she'll be president of the U. S. some day.

February 24th-You bet we're proud of our basket ball boys. Very decisive, you bet, no doubt about it. Westport 45, Northeast 19.

March 2nd—The completion of an ever-victorious season. Westport 28, Central 26. Just two points, but enough.

March 10th-Yes, two or three more cups, along with the state championship. Very easy.

March 16th—Our intellectuals, the debaters; a little cup terribly hard to get; a little talking by the celebrated eight, and it is won twice in succession. Let us grasp it once again next year so we will have it forever.

March 19th—A very marvelous assembly for the basketeers and debaters. Extra special.

April 2nd—Hello, Central, gimme— Say, now, that was an assembly. We learned why we do and why we don't get numbers on the telephone.

April 11th-Last Crier. Stubad,

April 20th—Military Circus, Convention Hall. Inspiring, to say the least. See the delighted cadets perspiringly going through their exercises. Yes, inspiring. Catherine Andrews, OUR sponsor, crowned with the other three. Indeed a dignified ceremony.

Name-Leonard A. C. Dunn, son of a Spanish pirate, was born in Madrid, Venezuela, in 1913.

History of Life—Leonard has been handicapped from the beginning because his name lacks dignity, due to its severe brevity. Educated to tomtom music on the west coast of Africa, he shows remarkable agility in evading the squirrels which inhabit great jungles. His engagement has not been announced, it is true, but it is assured that he will not be a bachelor.

Clubs-Indian and Lion Tamers.

Childhood Ambition-To be knock-kneed.

Hobby-Costume and design; he specializes on the sewing of buttons.

Ambition for Westport—"I want to see Westport with a lunch room where spoon throwing is a specialty. I also wish for the day when the president of the Student Council will get his due amount of dignity."

Name-Donald Lawrance, son of a noted quack doctor, first smelled garlic in Little Italy, October, 1900.

History of Life—Donald tells stories of his early career that would curl one's whiskers. Probably they caused his wavy hair. As treasurer of the Junior class he formed the habit of concentration and centralization which he has kept ever since. He tried a seafaring life but was "fired" because he was always looking Lee ward.

Clubs-M. T.; E Loos Iv.

Childhood Ambition-Be an ornithologist.

Hobby-Taming wild animals.

Ambition for Westport—"I should like to see the study halls furnished with jazz bands. They would soothe not only pupils but teachers and the office force."

000

Name-Julia Lee Wheeler, daughter of her father and mother, was born down South where they raise cain. (Age unknown.)

History of Life—Julia Lee budded into womanhood on the last Fourth of July. She is a staunch upholder of woman's rights, and she has caused more than one heart to flutter. She likes Dodge cars and adores poetry, her favorite poem being, "Don Juan." She is preparing to be a nurse, which just makes everybody sick.

Clubs-AwFul Iiars, Gim Mes.

Childhood Ambition-Have a cat and drink tea. Hobby-Examining dates, lemons and prunes.

Ambition for Westport—"I wish to see Westport divided into two sections, one for boys and one for girls. Whenever that time comes I shall feel at rest."

Name-Austin Guild, son of a Baptist preacher, was born in China in 1918.

History of Life—Being considerably younger than his contemporaries, Austin still keeps the glamor of youth. Austin broke up so much China that he had to be deported and then came to Kansas City. When he heard people call it "The Heart of America," he wanted to see it beat. He takes Spanish as it proves useful in Chile parlors.

Clubs-Isle of View, New Moon.

Childhood Ambition—Be a great orator; make stump speeches; sell Carter's liver pills.

Hobby-Tripping unwary pedestrians.

Ambition for Westport—"I hope to live to see the day when Westport will be run the right way. I shall do all in my power to bring that happy day."

Name-Clark Moore, sun of his family's sky, first shed his radiance in Porto Rico.

History of Life—Being of an inquisite nature Clark looked into an advertisement and purchased a cheap camera. He takes pictures of human beings, animals, and the like, takes panoramas and landscapes but avoids scenes. Of a retiring nature, Clark has now changed to a woman killer. His little white head is cute; even the boys admit.

Clubs-"Dolly Dimples," Speeders' Protective Ass'n."

Childhood Ambition-A career in the movies. Hobby-Writing Aztec hieroglyphics; tardy excuses.

Ambition for Westport—"My ambition for Westport is to have the dear old school begin at nine o'clock and close at twelve, with no tardy excuses required." ରତାତାତାତି 1 ୨ (HERALD % ରି ଅଧିତାତାତା

Name-Charles S. Parker, Jr., son of a wealthy wine merchant, was born in Rome in 1898.

History of Life—Charles played a brilliant part in the Spanish-American War, and during the World War volunteered but was refused because he could not learn to play basket ball. He has a preference for blondes, but does not turn any of them down. It is rumored that he is going to move to the Country Club district.

Clubs-Monroe Country Club.

Childhood Ambition-Be a life guard at Atlantic City.

Hobby-Gardening; he likes the little wild flowers, too.

Ambition for Westport—"I would like to see Westport with an assortment of good-natured teachers. I attribute my lack of scholastic ability to the faculty."

Name-Hurley Kaylor, son of a sea-cook, was born in the Panama canal in 1899.

History of Life—Hurley landed in Africa and hunted big game. People say that is where he learned to "tickle the ivory." He has recorded his adventures in a little book which he carries with his flask of camphorated spirits of ammonia. He has been working on the "Hurley Dictionary and Encyclopedia," which promises to be quite interesting.

Clubs-"Aspirin," "Katz."

Childhood Ambition-Be professor of psychoazybedicks.

Hobby-Laying sod and planting pansies.

Ambition for Westport—"I wish everybody could take English Literature from Miss Kleeman. One gets such excellent training in speaking one's thoughts."

Name-Mildred Monroe Hillias, left an orphan at the early age of three, spent her early years in Arkansas.

History of Life—She was raised in Rumpus Ridge and was expelled because she raised such a "rumpus." Mil believes in woman's suffrage and would extend it to cutting in at dances. She likes the open country, boulevards and parks. She has a queer habit of giving to every word its comparative degree, viz., boulevardier, etc. Her penmanship is used as a model in Japan.

Clubs—"Widow's Weeds," "Ponce de Leon." Childhood Ambition—To see a cave man. Hobby—Visiting Mr. Beckmann.

Ambition for Westport—"I should like to see Westport lockers furnished with personal attendants who could explain to inquirers where the locks were."

Name-Julia Goodenow, only child of a streetcleaner, was born in Brazil.

History of Life—At an early age Julia got the job of locating earth quakes in Chile. She came to Kansas City, where she has gained great notoriety because of a triangle case. She was the chief figure in it, being president of the girls' H. S. C. Several times she has been "kicked out" of school because of uncontrollable temper. Her friends still hope that she may repent..

Clubs—"Cork Tip," "Pocket Flask." Childhood Ambition—Be a snake-charmer.

Hobby-Pole vaulting.

Ambition for Westport—"I want 'The Police Gazette' to supplant 'The Crier' in Westport. People at Westport don't know they are alive."

Laura Ballou as she appeared as the vampire in Humphrey's great production, "From Ash Heap to Rock Pile." Name-Laura Ballou, daughter of a traffic cop at Twelfth and Main, was born in Alaska in January.

History of Life—Being of a naturally cold temperament, Laura early showed signs of warming up. She never likes to repeat experiences and since she played a harp in the Christmas play she will probably not be seriously mourned at her death, for her friends will see her in the next world. Her favorite hero in English history is George I. Loving gayety, she likes Al Reeves' musical company.

Clubs-Arts and Artifices.

Childhood Ambition—Be a milk maid. Hobby—Horses.

Name-Ethel Marie Henderson, eldest daughter of a shoemaker, was born in Mexico in June, 1913.

History of Life—Raised on a diet of red pepper, it is not to be marvelled at that her ah disposition, is fiery. One day while travelling in Texas she flew off the Pan Handle and landed in the Heart of America. Kansas City has pulsed with renewed vigor ever since.

Though constantly in debt "bills" never bother her and the bills come to meet her.

Clubs-Russian Reds, Hot Stove.

Childhood Ambition-Run a dog hospital.

Hobby-Football, because she "gets such a kick out of it."

Ambition for Westport—"I want Westport to bust Mr. McClain. That is, I think he'd look awful nice as a statue."

Name — Elizabeth Stevens, daughter of an Italian huckster, first sold bananas in the Latin quarter.

History of Life—She spent the week ends in the country angling for country fish. On rainy Sundays she tried out on the amateur program at the Newman. She helped her father until eleven years of age, when she was required to stop because she "docked" so many customers. She now does truck farming, and prefers to use Harnden's seeds.

Clubs-Seven! Come eleven!

Childhood Ambition-Be the heroine of a tragedy.

Hobby-Little newsboys with dirty faces.

Ambition for Westport—"I'd like to see all the little girls as well as boys taught how to play marbles. This practice proves useful in rolling eyes when one gets older."

Name-Eilene Marie Slack, child of a cattle commissioner, was born in Alabama in 1865.

History of Life—Eilene has been noted for her undying devotion to the boys. She believes in freedom for all, including the women, and drives coal trucks in the summer and operates a rock crusher in the winter. She freely admits that she is a peroxide blonde. She likes "Bobs," but has not yet bobbed her hair. Since she is a debater she is defeated only when she meets her match.

Clubs-Maiden's Inn.

Childhood Ambition—Stay sweet sixteen. Hobby—Cleaning church steeples.

Ambition for Westport—"I hope that some day every student and teacher in Westport will be a member of my Sunday School class."

Whitford Clayton Young, bass violin virtuoso. Critics unanimously acclaim his playing as not only bass but vile.

James Harrington.

William Schermes, "man about town," famous for his wild escapades. Name-Whitford Clayton Young, son of a court jester, born in the Court of Queen Elizabeth in 1775.

History of Life—Due to his parentage, while still a babbling infant he commenced his career of foolery until now he is a perfect specimen. However, there is a deeper side to him and to those who know him there is a depth and beauty in his character equalled only by Mr. Hill.

Clubs-Imperial Order of Court Jesters, and President of the Shakespearean Literary Society. Childhood Ambition-My childhood ambition was to be a snake charmer.

Hobby-Playing Damon to Francis' Pythias, etc., etc.

Ambition for Westport — "My ambition for Westport is to see the periods fifteen minutes each and no lessons to prepare at night."

Name-James Harrington, son of a bootlegger, was born in Hickville, Mo., 1884.

History of Life—After spending twelve years in the local schools of seven grades, he finally graduated at the age of twenty years. A reverse in the family fortunes, aided by the Volstead Act, caused "Pop" Harrington, little Jimmy, and his "ma" to move to the "gateway of the west." While on the trip little Jimmy fell off a seven thousand foot cliff and has not awakened yet.

Clubs-The K. C. Rest Easy.

Childhood Ambition-To be a millionaire bachelor, feared by everyone, loved by no one.

Hobby-Low speedy car, top down, plus warm summer moonlight night, plus (imagination).

Ambition for Westport—"Westport should provide in every room cots for those students who, due to their busy life the night before, are greatly in need of an hour's sleep."

Name-Bill Schermes, son of the head butcher at Armour's, born in 1914.

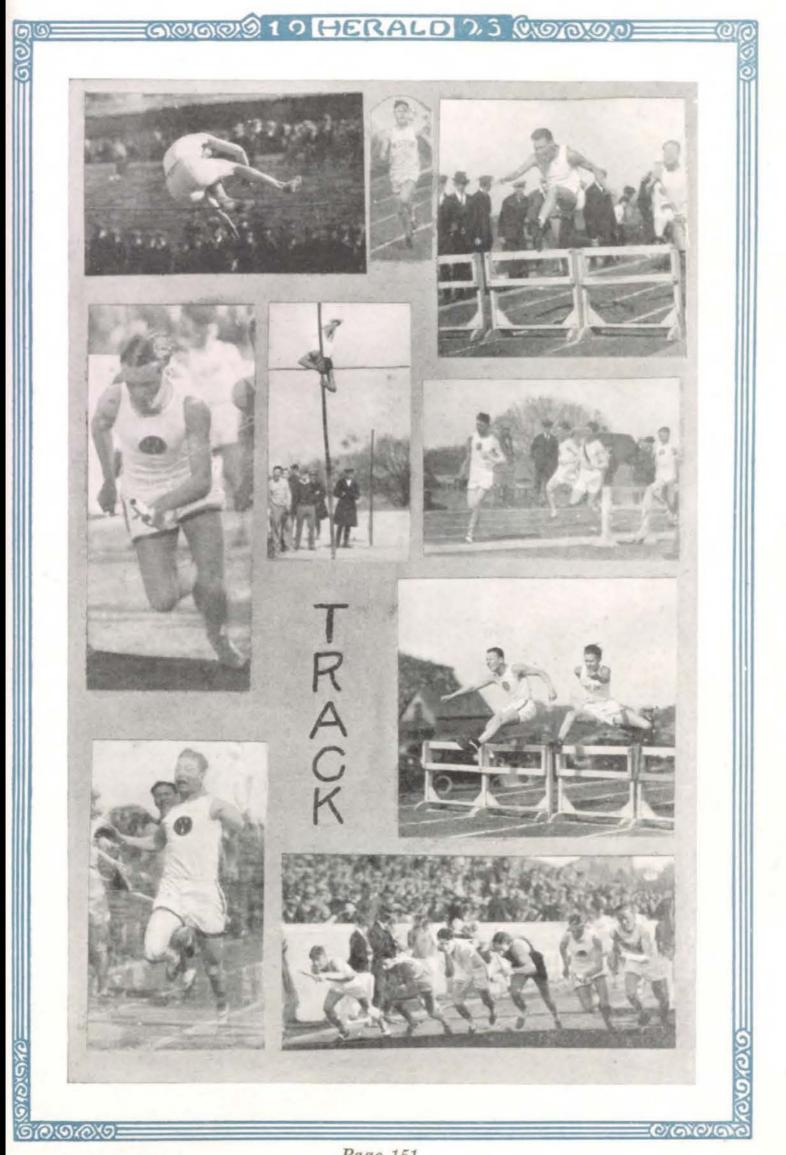

History of Life—After his father became wealthy and purchased a home in the Country Club, Bill developed a passionate love for nature. Often he was to be seen strolling out west of Dallas. These long walks and military training have made of our once gentle Bill a typical caveman.

Clubs—Dill Pickle, Actors' League. Childhood Ambition—To play "Hamlet."

Hobby-Getting mad and making up.

Houry detering mad and maning up.

Ambition for Westport — "My ambition for Westport is to see the daily programs so arranged that each pupil may have at least three lunch periods."

Robert Rosenwald, local artist, who is gaining great notoriety. Inset, his portrait of a klansman which recently won 14th place in an exhibition at Hicks Centre.

Mrs. Clark Moore, formerly Katie Andrews,

Elizabeth Greiner.

Name-Robert Rosenwald son of an Egyptian balloon-maker, first talked at Gettysburg in 1812.

History of Life—Gaining great proficiency in the art of rubber stretching, Robert stopped off to see that the little Missouri village was on the right track. He found the inhabitants of a gentle disposition and great lovers of talking machines so he decided to make it his permanent dwelling place. The spring flowers bloomed early this year on account of the warm breezes.

Clubs-"Spanish Dance," "Green Bean."

Childhood Ambition-To read the dictionary.

Hobby—Teaching at deaf and dumb institute. Ambition for Westport—"I want to see every class room furnished with a lawn-sprinkler."

Name-Catherine Andrews, adopted daughter of a bricklayer, first gasped in India.

History of Life—She was forced to leave India because she was breaking down the religion of the country. When she got on one of her laughing spells all the tigers, elephants and cobras got started, and the combined resonance made the Bhuddas "shimmie."

Having several unfurnished, spare rooms in her upper story, she took up debate at Westport and made a howling success of it.

Clubs-Laughter, Lip and Limp.

Childhood Ambition-Have a set of little tin soldiers.

Hobby-Asking queer questions.

Ambition for Westport-"A sponsor for every cadet."

Name-Elizabeth Greiner, daughter of a western rancher, born in Nevada, date unknown.

History of Life—She was raised far from the haunts of man on the great rolling deserts of Nevada. Due to this secluded life she saw no member of the opposite sex other than her father until she reached the age of sixteen. But as soon as she was sweet sixteen all the youths dwelling in the desert commenced to flock to her humble abode. Her fame as the "flower of the desert" spread far and wide. When in later years she moved to Kansas City, her reputation as the holder of broken hearts developed quickly.

Clubs—Epworth League, President of Greiner Missionary Society.

Childhood Ambition-To be a second Pavlowa. Hobby-"Frat" Pins.

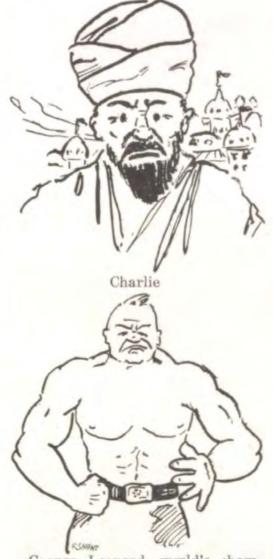

Ambition for Westport — "My ambition for Westport is to see a condition developed so that all, regardless of race, rank or station, may participate freely and democratically in the school activities."

Name—Anna Belle Greene, daughter of a famous grave-digger, first trod upon the sod in Union Cemetery.

History of Life—Anna Belle has from childhood always fit in any place. She can be either belle of the ball or bell of the gymnasium. For Westport she has put on an exhibition of the evolution of hair dressing, from the cobweb-bob to the tut shellac plaster-cast. She has no impediment in her speech.

Clubs-"Ravin'," "Silly Giggle."

Childhood Ambition-Go to Swope or play with snow.

Hobby-Play with burnt match sticks.

Ambition for Westport—"I hope to endow Westport with a fund for supplying the Sophomore class with 'College Humor.' It is so uplifting."

Name-Charles Nesbit, son of a bartender, was born in the Bowery, New York, in 1900.

History of Life—Being raised from early boyhood in a saloon, his heart is easily affected by any fluttering butterfly. After wandering several times around the world to get a good line and to learn dancing in all its forms, he settled in good old K. C. (theoretically and practically), near Thirty-third and Baltimore. He walks to school every day so that he may be 'divinely tall and most divinely fair."

Clubs-I. W. W. (I won't walk).

Childhood Ambition-Go to Lawrence.

Hobby-Wine, women and song.

Ambition for Westport—"Westport should be furnished with a cozy little tea room. The faculty dames could make the tea. I like my tea with lemon."

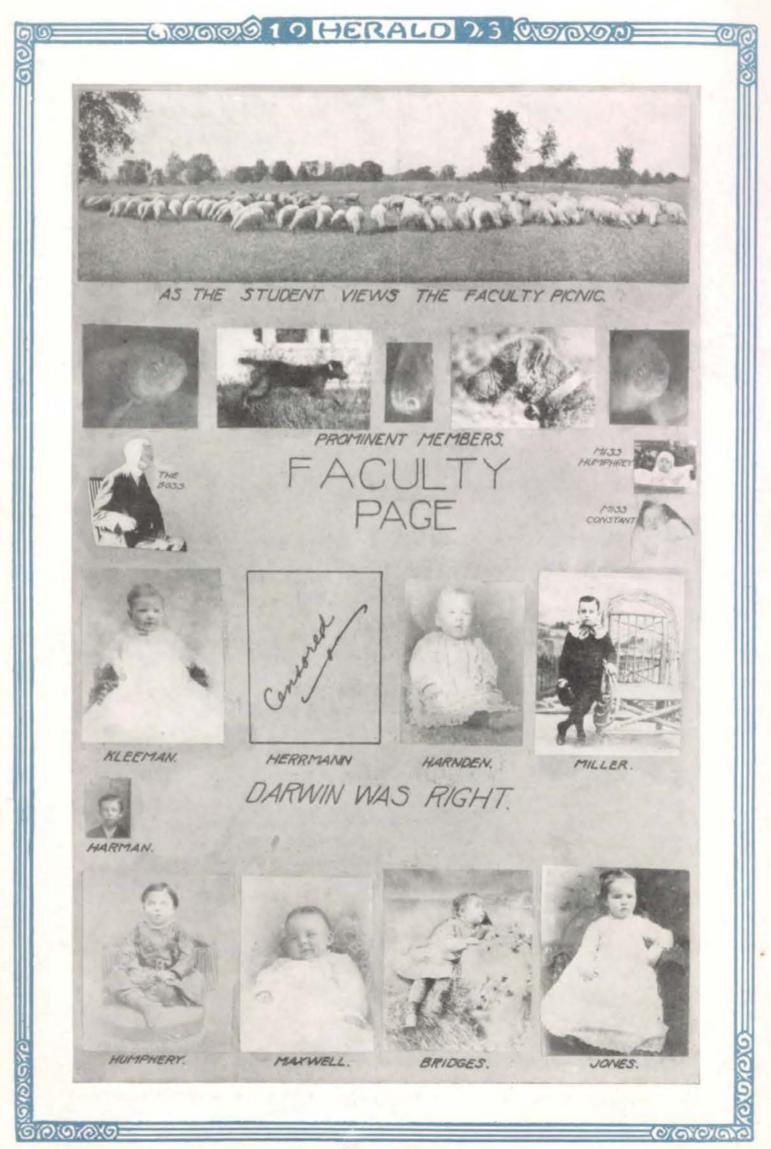

Name—George Leonard, son of a Bolshevist, born in the reddest part of Red Russia during the recent revolutionary revolts.

History of Life—Entering the world in such times of strife powerfully influenced our quiet George. It made of him a man of fiery sensibilities and this, added to the influence of debate, has made him a fire-eating orator. Of course, we must not disregard the effect of the opposite sex upon George. It has always been a source of inspiration and delight to him.

Clubs—"I Love Me" Club, Barkers' Union Club. Childhood Ambition—To be a Mormon. Hobby—Ice skating.

Ambition for Westport — "My ambition for Westport is to see the faculty become anarchists.

Charles Tuttle-Old King Tut.

Chesney Hill, notorious Mexican outlaw.

Name-Charles Tuttle, son of a famous trash hauler, first showed his lid in 1911.

History of Life—Educated at the school of hardknocks, he learned the first principles of life while still a child. Since his frame was so weakly built he has never been able to go out for athletics. He inherits from his uncle, the illustrious "Tut," the knack of knocking women cold. He is unusual, however, because he falls only once in a life time.

Clubs-Egyptian Triangle.

Childhood Ambition - Stay up till "Three O'Clock in the Morning."

Hobby-Inspecting fuzzy bobbed hair and baby faces.

Ambition for Westport—"Westport needs a new athletic director. The present coach is pretty 'bum.'"

Name—Chesney Hill, son of an old-time undertaker, born in Nashua, New Hampshire, April, 1848.

History of Life—A life of hardship and surroundings suggesting the deepest sorrow, have made Chesney the man he is. He was early apprenticed to his father's business as an official mourner. Let us picture him as Charles Dickens pictures little Oliver Twist, clothed in diminutive frock coat and high silk hat draped with crepe. He was early taught to look sad under any and all conditions. He was one of the pioneers who drove a "wagon" across the continent in the early days.

Clubs-National Marcellers' Association, Ltd. Childhood Ambition-To drive a water-wagon. Hobbies-Sarcasm, hot stuff.

Ambition for Westport—"Lots of snappy parties; mob of stags; Kuhn-Chaquette; no dance censors."

Name-Anna Lois Voigts, daughter of a Dallas farmer, born in 1912 on the family estate.

History of Life—She loved animals dearly, due to her pastoral surroundings, especially attractive to cows, notwithstanding this wholesome preference for the sturdier things. She also was attracted by the softer, lighter and more Lacy side of life.

Clubs—National Order of Reconcilation, President of the Woman's Division of the Klu Klux Klan.

Childhood Ambition-To be six feet tall.

CORDO 1 9 HERALD 7.3 CORDO

2,500 Acres of Restricted Land

"Who wouldn't love to spend an hour in a garden such as this?" Sunset Hill.

Summer or winter, spring or fall, home life in the Country Club District is delightful.

Flowers in all the shades of the rainbow brighten garden nooks and nod from porch or window boxes; bird songs fill the air; unending vistas of greensward, marking either parkway, golf course or private lawn, soften the picture; homes that are beautiful in line and color front upon the curving roads and winding drives. This the summer picture.

The frosts of autumn change it all.

The snows of winter change it again.

Somewhere in the Country Club District is a home or homesite suited to the needs of your family. Make this the time to decide, with our help, just where.
