~ DEDICATED TO ~

ALBERT S. HUMPHREY

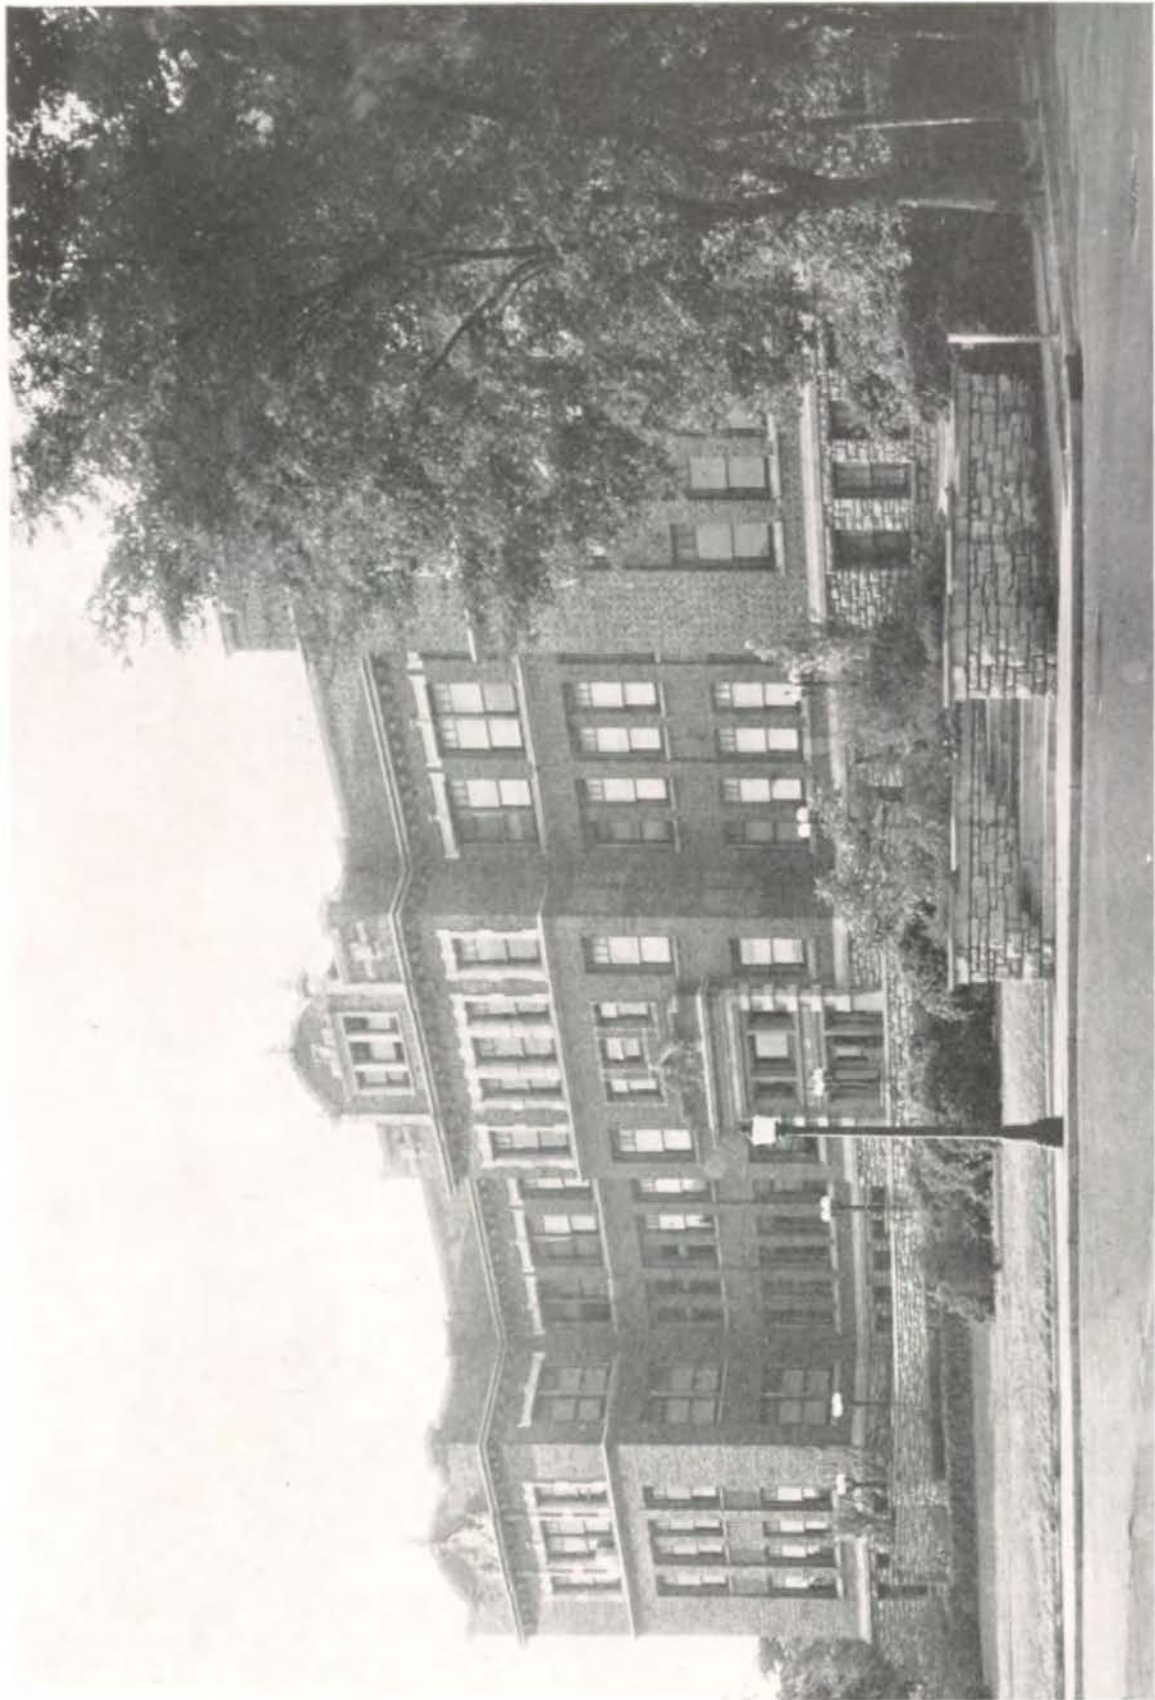

~ DEDICATION ~

IT IS because his intelligence has amazed us—his loyalty has stirred us—his kindness has touched us—his enthusiasm has startled us—his fair play has strengthened us—

It is because contact with him has bettered our lives—because knowing him has inspired us to love, too, the good and beautiful—because having worked with him has pressed us on to refinement and to ideals such as are his—

It is because of these things that we have dedicated this annual to MR. HUMPHREY for we, in our small way feel his power, his ability, his spiritual wealth and his magnanimity and we esteem him unsurpassed in being a gentleman.

Teacher Appreciation

THE Staff wishes to take this opportunity to express for the whole school, the students' appreciation of the teachers.

We have been blessed with an excellent principal, Mr. Holloway, who advocates fair play and who has been a real sportsman in the affairs of our school.

We have also been fortunate in having Mr. Shaw for our Vice-Principal. His patience and loving kindness will long be remembered by Westport graduates.

To Miss Wilhite we express our thanks for her earnest and helpful cooperation.

We are deeply indebted to Mr. Tibbals for all he has done for us and we are grateful for his never failing courtesy.

And to the faculty in general we want to say that we sincerely appreciate all you have done for us and we will try to materialize your expectations for us.

MISS GUFFIN

MISS WILHITE

MISS WHEELAND

MISS DINGEE

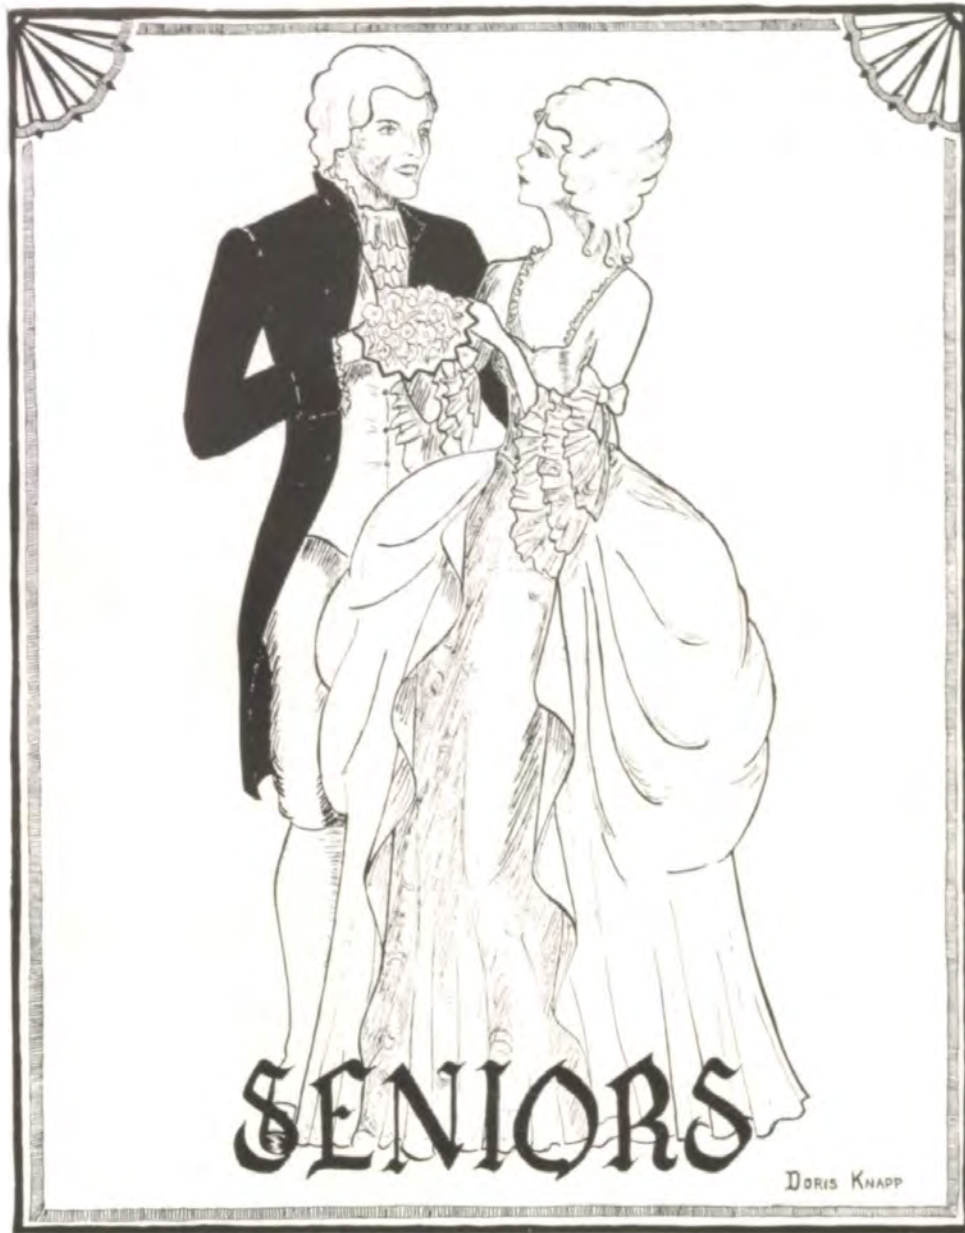

DRESSES WORN AT MRS. MacLAUGHLIN'S HARD TIME PARTY AT THE HARRIS HOME

Miss Guffin's bonnet was her grandmother's traveling bonnet that she wore when she came to Kansas City from Vermont 75 years ago. Her wrap was a fashionable wrap of 50 years ago, called a "dolman". The skirt is being held by a belt with clamps on the end which kept the trains off the ground when the women needed their hands.

Miss Wilhite's gown was her mother's graduation dress from Christian College. It was made in St. Louis by French women who did nothing but make white clothes by hand. Miss Wilhite's mother was allowed to select her lace and embroidery. The sash is of white satin.

Miss Wheeland's bonnet belonged to her landlady's great aunt 75 years ago. Her "polonaise" or princess belonged to her landlady's mother 50 years ago. The boa and the fan belonged to Miss Wheeland's mother.

Miss Dingee's outfit is made up of articles that have not had time to become heirlooms, since they are only 15 years old. Her sailor hat, coat, sunshade, and ruff all belong to one of her many friends.

Senior Class Song

TUNE: Auld Lang Syne

While we are all assembled here,
Let's pledge to each our love.
In friendship let us be sincere,
To those who are so dear.

And when we're scattered far and near,
Dear comrade never fear;
For Westport spirit cannot fail,
To bring success and cheer.

Chorus

Our colors grand of Gold and Blue,
May they e'er wave supreme;
Inspiring those who follow through,
And the class of '32.

The Senior Business Committee

MORE than any one other organization in the school, the senior business committee has played an active part in all business pertaining to the senior class. Representative of the entire class, through the English literature classes and study halls, this group has accomplished many worthy enterprises.

From the beginning of the year when they were first elected, until the departure of the senior class, the committee members were busy, planning mixers and programs, sponsoring elections, and selecting class jewelry and announcements. The arrangement of the commencement exercises and the Senior Day program also was the work of this group.

Through the efforts of the committee in dealing with outside firms, rings, pins, commencement programs, flowers, and caps for senior day were obtained at a saving to the class.

The class rivalry was brought to a climax at the senior day struggle on Gillham field, an event arranged by the group. The class elections were carried off smoothly, the senior body distributing and counting the ballots.

The business committee was very fortunate in having as sponsors, faculty members with ability as managers and executives. Mrs. Ada G. MacLaughlin, Miss Ina Bonney, and H. E. Heinberg contributed much to the success of the organization during the year. The achievements of the committee formed an important part of the accomplishments of the senior class.

The Herald

The students get the Herald
The school gets the fame,
The printers get the money,
And the staff gets the blame.

THE staff has worked hard this year hoping to give the students an annual that personifies the joys and memories of the past school year.

We, the staff, take this opportunity to show our most sincere appreciation of our advisor, Mr. Banister. It is unselfish cooperation and help that is responsible for whatever success this book has attained. The entire book has been compiled with the intention of entertainment and we sincerely hope that the students will accept our puns in the spirit in which they were intended.

Thus, we leave the rest to the student body. We hope you derive as much pleasure in reading this book as we have derived in making it.

The Crier Staff

A GLANCE at the following ramblings will disclose the reasons why the Westport Crier has achieved immortal fame as a sterling news sheet and power of the school. First, Marvin Lefkovits, editor-in-chief, whip-cracker, and guiding light; also, George Milne, guiding light, whip-cracker, and editor-in-chief. These men spend their days, only, boxing with the "dummy", slaughtering copy, and wearing out shoe leather in search of advertisements.

The class consists mainly of the powder puff sex. Geraldine Garrard, Marian Wilkins, and Angeline Crowell are responsible for three-fourths of the noise that emanates from the room. The Crier room has become a beauty shop because of them. Robert Scott and Bernard Saffran spend their class time drawing caricatures of the instructor. Louise Laster and Doris Sheets consume the hour engrossed in the torrid dramas of the True Story magazine. Bill Schaefer, whose middle name is "G", has two amusements. He either stares at Ernestine Royster for infringing upon his "Sport Gloss" territory or impresses the girls with his importance.

Wilma Cook wanders around the building looking cute during class period. Mary Ruth Le-Bow and Lois Anderson increase the value of their copy by making it scarce; they also serve as dictionaries for all one or two syllable words. Linora Wagner, pronounced Wagner, and Mary Rose Gray lull themselves to sleep as John "Albie" Booth sings out orders from the city desk. Lavell Seats and Tom Cody, military heroes, use the hour to think up evils against the athletic department.

John Northrup Booth, whose ancestors threw milk bottles in the revolution, is the office boy of this great organization. He is a famous press man, always pressed for time.

The main class time is spent in planning a Crier-Herald dance. No developments have been made since 1849, Mr. Booth reports. The spare time in the class is used to publish that famous paper, The Westport Crier.

Ushers in Halls, Corridors and Cafeteria of Westport High School

THESE ushers maintain order in the halls, in the basement and the cafeteria. This system was organized September 19, 1931. The cafeteria was organized into tables. Each table then elected a host or hostess who is responsible for the happiness and good behavior of his or her table. The boys and girls who stand at the outside doors to inspect the home lunch checks have entirely relieved the teachers of this responsibility. There is a group of ushers for each lunch hour. These groups have their captains who distribute and collect the badges. These badges, made especially for this purpose, are made of Westport colors, gold ribbons with "WESTPORT" printed on them in blue letters. These officers, ushers and captains serve one semester. Two teachers are appointed by the cafeteria committee to serve two weeks each during each semester. These teachers are to assist the pupils in charge, in case of necessity. The committee which made the plans is composed of Emma E. Shelton, chairman; Benjamin R. Ward; C. T. Goodale; F. C. Irion; N. B. Miller, Jr.; Mable Eggleston; Bessie Grube; Ina Bonny; Velma Shelley; F. C. Shaw, vice-principal; and D. H. Holloway, principal of Westport High School. The pupils have so heartily enjoyed themselves in the discharge of their duties that many of their classmates are envious of their positions. The student body has cooperated with these ushers in every way. The entire plan has been one of the most successfully carried-out plans in the history of Westport High School and it has contributed to the upbuilding of the very best standards of school morale. It has been a marvelous success.

STANDARD REQUIREMENTS FOR HONOR ROLL

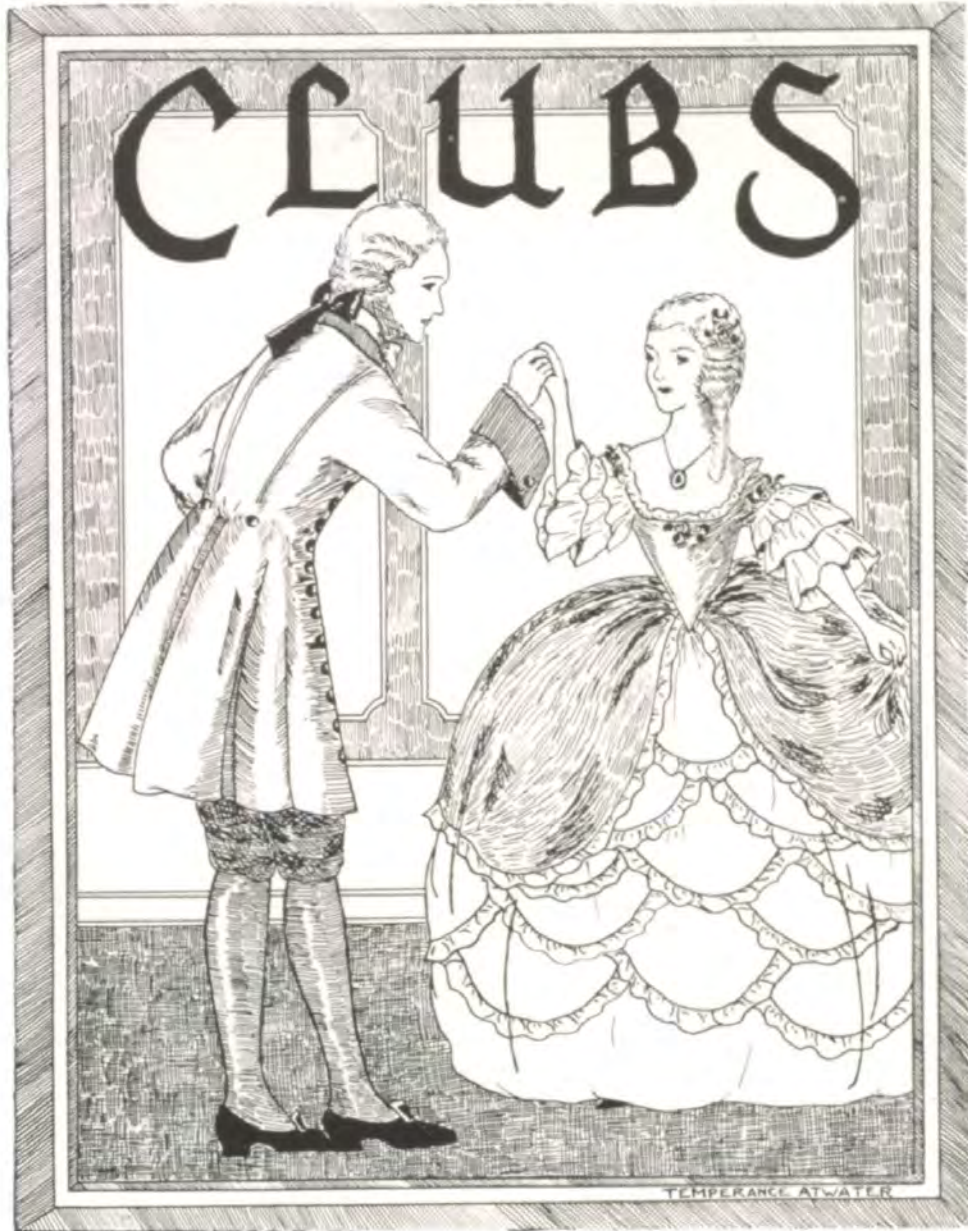

A STUDENT who has received for a semester two solid E's and one solid S with no grade below M is placed on the Honor Roll. Two non-solid E's equal one solid E. When he has received the grades for two consecutive semesters, he becomes an Honor Student.

The award for two consecutive semesters is a bronze pin, for four consecutive semesters a silver pin, and for six consecutive semesters a gold pin.

A student, at graduation, receives a gold pin with one pearl and one star on commencement program for twelve solid E's and six solid S's.

For eighteen solid E's or fifteen solid E's with six non-solid E's, one is awarded a gold pin with two pearls and also two stars on commencement program.

A gold pin with three pearls and three stars on commencement program is given to the student making twenty-two solid E's or eighteen solid E's and eight non-solid E's.

PURPOSE

THE purpose of this club is to promote better music in Westport High School. Each person is to contribute something to the years program.

This year we were under the fine sponsorship of Harling Spring who gave us a new knowledge on music in different forms and its origin.

Most interesting programs are planned for each meeting by the vice-president who is carefully chosen by the club each semester.

Bankers

WESTPORT'S new banking system, originated by Willard Van Horn, has proved unusually successful during its trial this year. Before this plan was put into operation, it was investigated carefully by both the Commerce Trust Company and the faculty of Westport, and found to be practicable. A cashier was elected from each home room. Great care was taken in choosing these cashiers, as they have all the responsibility for the banking of the entire school on their shoulders. But even though their duties are difficult and exacting, the work of the banking cashiers has been satisfactory in every way. They have relieved the faculty of much extra work, and have caused the business of banking to be accomplished in an expeditious manner.

The banking department owes much to the untiring efforts of J. D. Fristoe, the banking counselor. Mr. Fristoe's aid has been invaluable in launching and managing the enterprise.

The department also wishes to express its gratitude to the school as a whole for its enthusiasm about the new system and its ardent support of it.

Westport's late enthusiasm toward banking has been started by the new system of management headed by a most diligent worker, Willard Van Horn, who instigated and promoted the plan.

Mildred Holland, elected secretary by popular choice from the numerous, efficient workers to handle the hardest job of the system, has most excellently fulfilled the office.

THE B. C. P. is one of the oldest and best clubs in Westport. It was organized in 1916 to further interest in Botany and Zoology, but since that time it has been enlarged to include students interested in the other sciences. Its large enrollment and the high scholastic standard it maintains characterize its excellence.

This year has marked a noticeable improvement in entertainment. Programs are now presented by a mixed group instead of a single science group as in previous years. This diversification has greatly stimulated interest. This is in keeping with our policy of striving to make B. C. P. "the best club possible."

CIRCULO Calderon was founded in 1910 for the purpose of adding to the knowledge of the pupils in the Spanish classes with regard to the Spanish languages and Spanish speaking countries. The club holds its meetings bi-monthly. Spanish only is spoken. Plays, games and music furnish good entertainment. Parties and the annual picnic are always enjoyed. Several distinguished Spanish-speaking guests have attended the meetings this year. The club members have enjoyed their work, and feel that they have made the club year a successful one. F. L. Phillips is sponsor of the club.

THE Clay Club of 1932 has brought to a termination a year of both successful literary endeavor and social advancement. The club has maintained its leadership, both as a body and individually in all school activities.

The Clays were well represented in school activities. The senior class treasurer and junior class vice-president and sergeant-at-arms were Clays. The Crier King, Heir Transparent, and Grand Vizier were members. Other Clay triumphs were: R. O. T. C. Major and five captains; Crier editors; two star orators; debate captain and two debaters; cheer leader captain; student council president, secretary and members; twenty honor roll students; and senior business committee members. The Clays were also leaders in other clubs.

The club held two joint dances with their ancient rivals, the Irvings. The first affair was a Christmas dance, and the second was held in the spring. Both were very successful.

Luverne Harrison Cutting proved to be a very understanding advisor, and the club was fortunate to have such a capable counselor. Summing up the year's achievements, a good advisor and a good club again proved to be a success.

THE Clionian Literary Society has the honor of being the first charter club to be organized in Westport. Its membership consists of sterling, prominent young men and women who are well known for their work in the scholastic, literary, and social field.

The Christmas dance with Round Table proved to be one of the most successful social events in the history of the club.

The name is taken from Clio, the goddess of music and history. The charter requires a membership of twenty-five and no more than forty-five. At one time all but two of the charter clubs in the school were disbanded. Clionian was one of those two. It has always upheld the spirit of Westport.

We were very fortunate in having Miss Youngs for our advisor this year, and we sincerely appreciate her work.

THE Engineers' Club, disbanded last year, was reorganized this year under the supervision of Mr. Miner. Because of his splendid work, the club has enjoyed a highly successful year.

Our programs were the "highlights" of our organization. Mr. Walter Springe, connected with the Kansas City Water Works, was one of our most interesting speakers. At his invitation we made a trip through the water works. This trip proved very interesting to all of the members. Another program consisted of a motion picture showing the construction of the Kansas City Power and Light Building. We had a joint meeting with the Jules Guerin Club that was certainly a success. These are only samples of the many interesting programs that we enjoyed throughout the year. Kansas City has a wealth of scientific enterprises, and the club looks forward to many interesting presentations of this material.

THE Irving Club has just concluded one of its most successful years. Throughout the year the meetings were enjoyed by each member. The programs presented to the club were possessed of variety in humorous and educational topics. For many years Irving has been second to no club in Westport and the year nineteen thirty-two has not proved an exception to this fact.

We have enjoyed our joint enterprises with Pundit and Clay clubs, and although our rivalry has been keen, it has been a source of more pleasure than we can express. The Clay-Irving dances and the Clay-Irving contest as well as the joint meeting with Pundit will be remembered by us as parts of our most enjoyed hours.

We have been fortunate this year in obtaining for our advisor, Mr. Miller, whose understanding sympathy and tact have made the operation of the club so efficient. We take this opportunity to thank him with our deepest appreciation. We leave to the undergraduates the task of carrying on the principles and ideals of Irving. We trust they will succeed.

THE Jules Guerin Art Club which is sponsored by Miss Shelton Wilhite originated in December, 1923.

Jules Guerin the Patron of the club has reached a high pinnacle of success through his beautiful productions. He is still living. To show his appreciation of our naming the club in his honor he presented us with a dozen copies of his most beautiful church paintings.

The aim of the club is to give a higher appreciation of Art than is found in the art classes. The members study famous artists and their paintings.

At the close of the year each member submits a piece of her own work to be placed in a portfolio which is kept by the club.

LES IMMORTELS was organized first in 1927 for the purpose of giving students an opportunity for speaking French outside the class room. The business meetings are conducted entirely in French while English is sometimes spoken during the course of the program. Each year the members of the club present a gift to the French department. The class of '31 and '32 left a picture. The club has a scrap book to which the members contribute every year.

LIKE the great fire god Prometheus from whom our club takes its name, Promethean is striving to give a certain fire, a vital bit of life to mankind. Promethean does not have the heritage of age old ideals that the older clubs have, so we are striving to establish the highest traditions which will serve those who follow after.

With the programs of this year Promethean has created a new departure with its versatility and originality. Yet Promethean has clung to the high intellectual ideals which are hers. Her girls are outstanding in school affairs. In truth we all are "looking upward and forward" as the club's motto says.

So as we strive to reach our ideals, we live with a perpetual loving memory of Miss Dewitt in whose memory the club was founded.

PUNDIT is one of the most outstanding of Westport's literary clubs. Its high standards and type of girls have ranked it with the best for many years. Pundit was organized in 1908 with Miss Ruth Weeks as its first advisor. Mr. A. S. Humphrey named the club.

This year Pundit's dominance may be shown by the all school honors won by many Pundit members. Mary Kathryn Curran was elected R. O. T. C. Sponsor Major with Ruth Jackson and Barbara Kehyon Sponsor Lieutenants. Virginia Swain was chosen the president of the senior class. Ruth Jackson was selected as the editor-in-chief of "The Herald". Dorothy Witting was acclaimed Westport's most beautiful girl with Virginia Swain as one of her attendants. One of our Juniors also won honor. Virginia McGavic was elected Treasurer of the Junior class.

A most popular event in Westport is the Pundit Spring Dance. The feature of the evening is the crowning of the Pundit Queen, the girl, who in the club's opinion has benefited it most.

The Pundits have been fortunate this year in having Miss Trotter as our advisor. We take this opportunity to thank her for her cooperation and help.

ROUND TABLE is one of the oldest organizations in Westport. It is well represented in school activities, being a literary club of exceptionally high standards.

Miss Helen Guffin, the 1932 sponser, was formerly a member when she attended Westport. Because of this, the club feels fortunate that it was able to obtain her cooperation and help.

In every phase of school life, members of Round Table have taken some leading part. They have taken leads in both school plays, they are proud of the R. O. T. C. officers and sponser, who are members of the club. Jean Stark and Jean Carter hold Senior class offices, while Farel Swanson and Margaret Dye hold Junior class offices. Also fine talent is shown in music and expression, through their programs.

As a literary club, Round Table cannot be excelled. They are truly the followers of good art and literature.

THE Speech Arts club, Westport's dramatic organization, has maintained its high standing as a select club for the promotion of interest in speaking and acting. A very rigid test, of scholastic standing and of dramatic ability, must be passed before students are given membership.

The programs of the club are one of the chief points of interest of the entire speech department. Plays and sketches, readings and speeches make up the entertainment of the club. Original presentations are sometimes given. One of the most important undertaking of Speech Arts is the annual oration contest. The contest, open to the entire speech department, was won this year by a member of the club.

Speech Arts members are prominent in all school activities. The club is a constant furnisher of material for the school plays and speech contests.

THE culmination of the student's classic course through the high school is reached in the Virgil Class, the fourth year of Latin. It is here that the final lessons both in grammar and philosophy are learned; the one perhaps a passing gain, but the other to be carried with us forever.

During this year, the Virgil Class has, in its study of the Aeneid, acquired a facility of translation both at sight and after study. Under the able and helpful instruction of Mr. Shaw, our teacher, the Class has traveled with Aeneas through his trials and tribulations. The sound philosophy of Virgil has lent itself to the formation of our characters, and many incidents of the Aeneid demonstrate the basicness of this philosophy, and furnish a parallel to our modern life. The argument that Latin is dead has become more empty and futile to those of us who have studied this classic of classics; both its influence on our language and its influence on our thoughts have made themselves self-evident.

THE Blue Triangle is the three-fold symbol of Girl Reserves, the girls' high school club that seeks to promote the spirit of Christianity and world fellowship. The triangle signifies body, mind, and spirit, and symbolizes the desire to "face life squarely and to find and give the best".

Last spring when the Girl Reserves were serving at the Senior Luncheon, a teacher remarked, "You can always rely on Girl Reserves". At the beginning of school the next fall, the girls decided that that remark must hold true during the years to come, and set as their goal, service work.

Now, again, another spring has come which looks back upon a year of true service work and dependability. Among the definite services undertaken was the providing of clothes and money for a high school girl so that she could remain in school. At Christmas time the club adopted a family. In the early spring the club responded to the plea for help from the Mutual Health Center. The cabinet girls served at a faculty tea, and a military tea. In the fall a series of three teas were given for girls new in Westport.

Membership is open to all girls who wish to abide by the standards set by the club.

THE purpose of the Boys' High School Club is to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character. Many professional men have given their views on educational and moral points at the club meetings, although pleasure has not been totally neglected in the program of the club.

The activities of the club include bi-weekly dinner meetings, steak fries, basket ball games, and separate banquets for Mothers and Dads. Among the activities of the club this year the membership contest was a very important event. It took place during the first part of the second semester. This contest showed the loyalty of the boys to the club.

Another event during the year was the Alumni meeting. This meeting was well attended and added much encouragement to the boys.

Our activities and club meetings could not have been possible without our worthy advisor Mr. Buchner to whom we are all indebted, in offering his time to the supervision of the club.

Art Department

THE influence of the art department is felt in many instances during the school year. The posters made, for the most part, by the commercial class successfully advertise school activities. Pupils enrolled in drawing and designing gain a knowledge of symmetry and an appreciation of color that, develop their powers of observation. The result of training the mind through using the eyes is noticeable in other classrooms. Charcoal drawing from cast offers a different medium of expression. Members of the costume designing class plan costumes for entertainments such as the R. O. T. C. circuses, pageants, cantatas, and music festivals. The girls learn to accentuate their individualities through the wearing of suitable styles and colors. Interiors for school plays are correctly arranged with authentic periods of furniture by the interior decorating class.

The most advanced class is that of crafts; designs are carried out on parchment, leather, wood, and textiles. Talent for painting with water-colors and oils is developed. The outstanding project of the year upon which the entire class worked was a miniature reproduction of George Washington's birthplace, Wakefield. This was used as a table decoration at a banquet given by our Chamber of Commerce on the twenty-second of February. It has now become one of the permanent exhibits (under glass) at the old Harris Home Museum.

THE mid-year play, "A Full House", by Fred Jackson, was presented on the nights of December 4th and 5th. It was highly amusing and full of mystery and romance. The play contained rollicking humor and farcial nonsense and moved rapidly. An audience of Westporters enjoyed the play thoroughly because it was so full of action. It was highly successful due to the patience and perseverance of the able director, Miss Keeler.

OSCAR WILDE'S brilliant farce, "The Importance of Being Earnest", was presented by ten members of the senior class on the nights of May 20th and 21st. The play is English in character and setting and the interest was centered on the clever dialogue. The conversation was sparkling and witty and throughout the play the lines were well read. The cast would like to take this opportunity of thanking Miss Keeler for her kindness in directing the play and also to Mr. Humphrey for his helpful support.

Debate Teams

Debate Teams

THE BOYS' DEBATE TEAM: THIRD HOUR

Again Westport's two debate teams, one chosen from the third hour and the other from the sixth and seventh hours, met Wyandotte High School. Both teams made excellent showings against the Kansans. The third hour met the Wyandotte team in our auditorium during assembly and discussed the question, "Resolved that: The United States Recognize Soviet Russia". Our team took the negative. Since it was senate style debate there was no decision handed down. The debaters for Westport were:

ARLOE SHELTON
ROBERT FOOTMAN

PRICE PHILBRICK
LOUIS KEMPER
JOHN SHOEMAKER

DAVID SKEER
WILLARD KALHORN

THE GIRLS' DEBATE TEAM

Since there is only one team, the girls must necessarily be chosen from all three public speaking classes. This makes the standard exceptionally high. As it is primarily an honorary group, to be a member of this team is a much greater distinction than if there were several teams. The team started out with the best of intentions to display their abilities, but circumstances nipped the intentions in the bud. The girls who participated were:

MARTHA TENNY
ELIZABETH HEINERIKSON
BEVERLY FLATER

FRANCES JONES
VIRGINIA BERGEN

FANNY SNIDER
WILMA COOK
JEAN STARK

THE BOYS' DEBATE TEAM: SIXTH AND SEVENTH HOURS

A few days later the team chosen from the sixth and seventh hours went to Wyandotte and debated the same subject, the Russian question, with another Wyandotte team. Our boys took the affirmative this time, and Wyandotte, the negative. Again, of course, there was no official decision, but everyone, including the team from Wyandotte, admitted that our team showed better stage presence, and presented more convincing arguments than the opponents.

The debaters this time were:

MARSHALL NAPPER
JOSEPH BORENSTINE
CARL WARNS

MARVIN LEFKOVITS
GILBERT KING

CHARLES REIGER
CARL LANGKNECHT
JACK McEVROY

And so, again, Westport teams came out "on top", due to Mr. Humphrey's conscientious coaching.

Westport's Orator

LYMAN FIELD

WESTPORT is very proud of her outstanding orator, Lyman Field. For the past two years added fame and honor have been brought to the school through him. We take great pride in Lyman and we realize and appreciate his remarkable talent. His ability as an orator is recognized and we have great hopes for his future.

BOYS' ATHLETICS

H. R. NEWMAN

KENNETH R. EVANS

M. H. SHEARER
Manager of Athletics

Mr. Newman

In 1926 Coach Newman came to Westport from William Jewell as assistant to Coach G. W. Edwards. During 1926 Coach Newman had charge of the track team, and did very well, his chief distinction being the relay team. His track team of '26 took first honors at the 880 in the K. U. meet, first and second place in the 880 at Drake and then broke the state 880 record at M. U.

In 1927 a great task lay ahead of Coach Newman, that of fulfilling Coach Edwards place, a coach who had built up many a winning team. From 1927 until the present time Coach Newman has put his best efforts in the coaching of Westport teams.

Up to now all his coaching has been very complimentary to Westport and we wish him well toward future years and we are sure he will gain success for his teams as he has done in the past.

Mr. Shearer

In 1929, Mr. Shearer became athletic manager of Westport's teams. His work has been very commendable and we wish to congratulate him on putting the ticket sales over in such a big way. Mr. Shearer has two degrees, an A. B. from Missouri and a M. A. from Wisconsin.

Mr. Evans

Coach Evans has charge of all the second teams and of the track teams. He is assistant to Coach Newman and has done excellent work in his coaching.

While Mr. Evans was attending college he worked real hard and finished a four year course in three years.

Cheer Leaders

"BILL" KALIS

"LOUIE" COPLAND

"TONY" MCGRAW

WERE the cheer leaders keeping up the old Westport reputation this year? You said it! At every football game, they came running out, full of pep, getting everyone up and raising the team's morale with the rousing Tiger yells.

With the exception of Copland, who had been a cheer leader at Junior High, none of the cheer leaders had had any experience, but they certainly looked like veterans when they went into action.

And did the student body go for the yells in assembly? You're right again! Even some of the teachers looked excited.

"Bill" and "Tony" are juniors this year. Louie is a senior.

With a few exceptions this year, the cheer leaders were always on time and without dates.

At this time, we wish to take the opportunity to thank the student body for the support afforded us and "our" teams at all the athletic events.

THE second team plays and sportsmanship can be matched with any team in the city, and their true power and speed can only be realized in seeing them play. The second team had quite a large membership this season and full of good material. There is enough of this good material for coach to build up a truly winning team next year.

FIRST TEAM

FROM the time of the first kick-off to the firing of the last gun, Westport played all of their games brilliantly. Some of the best plays were made by the courageous team of Westport.

To have a team which functions with the precision of a machine, there must be teamwork. That, all the players did not lack. With such a flashy quarter-back as Gibson, and a driving full-back like Winthrop, Coach Newman built up a most excellent team in which every man played the best he had ever played before.

The graduating class of 1932 has something to remember and be proud of in the team this year. That is; the good sportsmanship all the players showed, the wonderful playing made by the team, and the unexcelled coaching on the part of Coach "Toddy" Newman and his assistants.

SECOND TEAM

THE second team this year is far superior to that of last year and it shows great prospects of developing into a powerful first team next year. The purpose of the second team is to develop good material for the coming season and offer opposition for the first team this season in practice on the athletic field. This, the second team fulfilled accurately. Coach has many promising players for the coming season and we wish him and the team the greatest success in next year's competition.

Mr. Dennis West, has replaced Mr. Pierce as golf coach, and under his guidance, the team is now in second place in the Interscholastic Seventy-two Hole Medal Play Tournament. There are thirty-six more holes yet to play, indicating that Westport still has a good chance to win.

WESTPORT has again triumphed in the field of tennis. Kiley won the singles with the loss of only one game during the tourney, his score in the final match being 6-0, 6-0, 6-1. Ralston and Root also won in the doubles. The final score being 6-3, 4-6, 6-2, 5-7, 6-3. Trueblood, second singles man was eliminated the second round 6-2, 2-6, 7-5, as were Peterson and Worrel, second doubles team. 6-2, 6-3.

Mr. Fristoe has turned out many fine teams in past years, and much is to be expected of this year's team at Columbia this spring.

WESTPORT'S track season opens with the meet with Southwest, April 9. In Capt. Orville Reed we have one of the best "100" and "220" men in the city. Tim Spillane won the indoor "440" at Convention Hall this winter and is one of our three letter men. The other, Bradley Campbell, should gather points in the high jump. We are also depending on Bill Duncan and Kline Martinek. Westport should be a serious contender for the city championship this year, and from early appearances Westport will enjoy a very good season.

The Southwest-Westport meet was one of the most closely contested meets of the season, the score being 47-42.

In the Central meet, Westport did more than expected, but the result was 50-41 in favor of Central.

When Westport met Manual we gave them one of the worst defeats of the season. The score was 81½-18½. Capt. Reed broad jumped 21'8½". One of the best jumps this season. Reed is a real threat in both dashes and the broad jump in the city meet this year.

Hockey---1931

DESPITE the handicaps of a new field and unusually bad weather the 1931 hockey season was successfully completed with the senior team as champion. The juniors came in second with two victories and two defeats, while the sophomores, although putting up a good fight, didn't have a victory to their credit.

Miss Florence Bradley, hockey coach, thinks the girls should be given much credit for the brand of hockey they developed in the face of many difficulties.

The sophomore and junior backfields were better than the forward lines but this order was reversed with the seniors. Several games were played on muddy fields which required good footwork in order to remain in an upright position, rather than good stickwork. Even so, a number of sophomores acquired surprising ability with their sticks toward the end of the season. After three years of hockey the seniors handled their sticks with ease, but the juniors used to direct theirs at members of the opposing teams rather than the ball.

The number of spectators, which seems to increase each year, reached a new high this season. Hockey vied with football as an attraction on Gillham Road. The hockey instructor at Paseo thought so much of the Westport brand of hockey that she brought her players over to see one of the games. The season ended with a hockey party and the awarding of letters.

High point scorers were Ruth Thornton, senior, 11; Ernestine Royster, senior, 10, and Marjorie Miller, junior, 10.

Basket Ball---1932

THE most interesting feature of the 1932 basket ball season was the close race for the championship. The senior team wasn't conceded much of a chance to win but it came out on top. The juniors, who were doped to win, lost both games to the seniors. The lowly sophomores almost upset the juniors in one game and came out a scant point behind the seniors in another. Every game was full of thrills for the spectators and uncertain as to the outcome.

The weakest position in high school basket ball is forward, but some really fine forwards were developed this year. The junior team especially had a number of good forwards. Passing, the weakest point in high school basket ball technique, came in for a large share of attention in daily practice and toward the last of the season better than average passing was being done.

Different forms of the one and two court games were tried out in the junior-senior classes and met with the approval of the cagers.

The superiority of the Westport brand of basket ball over that of Central and Junior College was proven when Westport met those two schools in a post-season series, and defeated them.

Janet Turner was basket ball manager.

THE baseball season was finished soon enough this year to put the complete write-up in the Herald. The seniors gained the championship with the loss of only one game. The sophomores came in second, and the juniors trailed behind.

The first two games were not up to the usual standard, the scores being rather high. The sophomores defeated the juniors 42-29, and the seniors won over the sophomores, 43-34. The next game was a surprise, for the juniors defeated the seniors 15-13. From then on it was anybody's race. The sophomores beat the juniors a second time, 19-16. The seniors won the next two games, beating the sophomores 15-11, and the juniors 24-23. The last game was the most thrilling of all, the juniors being ahead up to the last half of the last inning.

The weather was fair, and the games attracted a large number of spectators.

F. N. Bannister, Allan Whisamore, N. B. Miller and L. H. Cutting umpired the games.

Pearl Moot, senior, had the highest batting average. Aloha Gillette, sophomore, was second. Rose Marie Way had the highest number of put-outs and assists.

Girls' Tennis 1931

JEAN STARK defeated Rosamund Allen to win the girl's singles championship of 1931. Jean was a semi-finalist in the Kansas City public courts tournament of 1930, but was not eligible last year, as she was a member of the Rockhill Tennis Club. Jean plays a hard game, and her swift service accounts for many points.

Eda Paddock and Ernestine Royster were the doubles champions by virtue of their victory over Evelyn Lewis and Arlene Slusher. Ernestine Royster reached the semi-finals of the Kansas City public courts tournament last year where she was defeated by Gerry Kahl.

Senior Pin Winners

THIS is the first Herald space ever given to the winners of the senior athletic pin, which is the highest athletic award given to girls. The requirements for this pin are six "W's", at least one of which is won during the senior year.

This year four senior girls are candidates for the pin. They are Susan McKinney, Eda Paddock, Ernestine Royster and Pearl Moot.

Susan McKinney has won three hockey "W's", three basket ball "W's", and three baseball "W's". Eda Paddock has won two hockey "W's", two basket ball "W's", three baseball "W's" and one tennis "W". Ernestine Royster has won one hockey "W", three basket ball "W's", two baseball "W's", and one tennis "W". Pearl Moot has won three hockey "W's" and one basket ball "W". She must get two more letters in order to receive her pin.

Eda Paddock and Ernestine Royster are Immortels, which means that they have won at least one letter in each of the four sports in which Westport girls participate. No award is given for this except the title, although it is really more of an achievement than winning the senior pin.

R. O. T. C. Sponsor Officers

LIEUTENANT KENYON, CAPTAIN CARTER, MAJOR CURRAN, CAPTAIN STARK, LIEUTENANT JACKSON.

THIS year these girls were chosen as sponsors of the R. O. T. C. battalion. Each cadet is allowed to submit senior girls names for candidacy. Girls who do not have required scholastic standing are eliminated. The remaining are voted on by the entire R. O. T. C. Unit, promoting five to the office of sponsor Lieutenants. The faculty then elevates three to office of sponsor Captains. From these three the sponsor Major is chosen by the senior girls.

MILITARY CIRCUS HUGE SUCCESS

The tenth annual R. O. T. C. Circus presented at Convention Hall, Friday evening, April 15, added another laurel to the already filled wreath of Kansas City's R. O. T. C. achievements. Besides being the most successful of nine previous circuses, this year's military exhibition proved several major facts in regard to Westport.

One of the features of the evening was the presentation of the capes and caps to the Sponsor Majors of this year.

It was found that the Westport battalion under the instruction of Sergeant Archie Morris could be called upon to participate in the Circus and carry it out successfully. This was proven when eighteen squads of Westport cadets combined with cadets from Southwest and Lathrop high schools and put on a calsthenic drill which showed hours of practice to obtain the regularity and uniformity shown.

At the special request of Captain Harry E. Mitchell, P. M. S. and T., ninety girls from the gym classes under the direction of Miss Florence Bradley danced a Bohemian Polka. So successful was the dance, that Captain Mitchell personally congratulated Miss Bradley before the 12,000 spectators present.

Members: MAJOR GEO. MILNE, CAPT. GEO. MYERS, CAPT. LEROY COOPER, SGT. WM. THOMPSON, 1ST CL. PVT. LYNN THOMAS.

This year's Westport rifle team under the expert coaching of Sergeant Archie Morris faired excellently. Through the combined efforts of both the Sergeant and the team, Westport placed well in the annual inter-city match. In brieft the rifle team's work this year was very successful.

National Rifle Association

The Westport N. R. A. is composed of cadets who are especially interested in the principals and fundamentals of rifle marksmanship. Every month the members are furnished with material concerning the new developments of marksmanship. This association also furnishes the medals won by the members.

The National Defense Act

As Defined by a Member of the Junior Unit

To the many persons unfamiliar with the purpose and organization of the Reserve Officers Training Corps, the Westport Battalion dedicates this page.

THE R. O. T. C. had its inception in the Morrill Act of July 2, 1862. Certain provisions of this act required that colleges and universities who had received grants of public lands from the government should in return for this assistance include a course of military training under government supervision in their school. Later during the World War it was perceived that all schools whether public or private offered a select field for the training of officers for our forces in time of war. Thus, R. O. T. C. was established in our high schools and secondary schools as well as all land-grant colleges.

The R. O. T. C. of today includes a senior division in universities and colleges which grant degrees, military schools not conferring degrees, and a junior unit in other schools, whether public or private. The senior division consists of a basic course covering two years and an advanced course covering two years also. Thus both courses cover the ordinary span of a college term or four years. The senior course, not compulsory but once entered into by a student it must be completed. The junior division covers a term of three years. Though a full course in itself it prepares the student for further R. O. T. C. work in college.

Contradictory to a popular opinion R. O. T. C. does not create in the student a longing for war. That this subject militarizes youths has been proved false, repeatedly. As a matter of fact, familiarizing the student with the modern methods and weapons of today has proved a sobering offset to any romantic conception of war. The result of R. O. T. C. is significant to one who has entered into it. It develops the student physically, it promotes in him the virtues of discipline, self-control, resourcefulness in emergencies, teamwork, respect for his fellow man and for legal authority. Military instructors in charge of R. O. T. C. in our authorized institutions do not impress the student with the wonders and adventures of war but show the repulsive side of it and present their material from the standpoint of its emergency application.

In brief, R. O. T. C. helps to create high-minded gentlemen who will succeed in life and make good citizens.

Stag Line Blues

He saw a line of faces, faces hard and cold,
Faces white and faces dark, faces young and old,
Faces laughing, faces grave, all saw his fearful plight,
That mocking line of faces, faces in the night.

They stared at him but saw him not,
No recognition there.
Could it be they did not know
The depths of his despair?

Of course they knew, the cowards,
They saw it and they ran.
At least he was doing his job, he thought,
And doing it like a man.

"The music's nice", she ventured.
"It is", he said again;
And the crooning of the saxophone
Sounded a sweet "Amen".

The black injustice of it all;
That's what got him down.
Ten minutes more and then he'd act,
He was nobody's clown.

He'd done his duty, done it well,
But human flesh is weak.
He'd run amuck with knife and axe
And squelch that cornet's shriek.

"Why Dave, I think you're stuck with me".
"Oh, no, that's oke", he said.
Murder struggled in his breast,
Far better to be dead.

"There's good old Joe, Patricia's date,
Oh Lord, he's come at last".
Nausea swept his weary frame
As Joe went tearing past.

When he got Joe he'd quarter him,
The filthy little wop.
The trombone wailed a long, blue note,
"My God, can't that jackass stop"!

"Oh, I'm so sorry, Dave", she said,
As she stepped upon his toe.
"It's quite all right", he answered back,
"We'd better take it slow".

He looked at all those boys he knew,
Beseeching with his eyes.
They showed no mercy, made no sign;
Well, this had made him wise . . .

And he had called them comrades . . .
His heart filled up with hate.
Full well they knew what Hell it was
To be stuck with a brother's date.

And so he danced his endless round
With a tired, disgusted girl,
No hope of rescue now, he knew,
He was lost in the merry whirl.

He saw a line of faces, faces hard and cold,
Faces white and faces dark, faces young and old,
Faces laughing, faces grave, all saw his fearful plight,
That mocking line of faces, faces in the night.

Dedicated to the irvings by the Clays

REALIZING the superiority, the outstanding qualities, the nobleness, and the intellect—oh! this isn't for the Clay Club—

Realizing the lowness, the vileness, the obstreperousness, the stupidity, the vapidness, and the godamsilliness of that low, vile, obstreperous, stupid, vapid disorganization, the irving club; and realizing that we could never hope, even if desired, to contest their rank (oh, how rank!) as Westport's Sewer Pipe, the Clay Club wishes to make this presentation to the irvings.

irving—the noise made by placing the tongue between the lips and blowing. The irvings have always been their own blast furnaces. They are high in the ranks since the war days when they were pilots—they piled it here and they piled it there.

We've got to hand it to the irvings. That's all we've been doing for a long time. The school owes nothing to the irvings, but the irvings owe a lot to the school.

To dissect the irving, as we would any other insect, we find that:

- i stands for indigestion, an irving congestion.
- r stands for rabies, which they give to their labies.
- v stands for vermifuge, they need in portions huge.
- i stands for infants, they still wear their pin pants.
- n stands for night, when the irvings feel right.
- g stands for garters, the irvings have Carter's.

This verminlike parasite is found in sewers, manholes, dumps, manure pits, and Room 116. Their membership claims dogs, bulls, cows, horses, pigs, baboons, sloths, monkeys, apes, snakes, lounge-lizards, lice and cockroaches.

Realizing all these facts, we have come to the conclusion that we must in some way show our ardent admiration for these insignificant lowlifes—no! worms—no! oh yes—irvings! and so the Immortal Clays hereby present from the bottom of our heart (or rather reverse that) the following.

- Item—1 bottle Flit (large).
- Item—1 bottle mange cure.
- Item—1 bottle of milk (and 30 nipples).
- Item—1 cake flea soap.
- Item—1 curry comb.
- Item—1 great big scoop shovel.

About School

THOMAS E. HARVEY

And so we meet again Mr. and Mrs. Tuner-in on another line of gossip. On with the gossip, O. K. press.

Marion Revard and Tim Spillane have been looking that way for quite a few months. Mr. Cupid was a good shot for I understand both are suffering from heart wounds. You've got a treasure there Spillany and you're out of luck. Speaking of Miss Revard have you noticed her likeness to Sylvia Sidney?

Mr. Cupid has also called upon Virginia Swain and Ted Wicklund and I wouldn't be surprised if they all met in the library. The old saying "the best things come from books" still holds a lot of truth. Teddy you're no Rough Rider I heard someone say you were a gentleman.

Coyne Law, the boy who is headed for the big time on Broadway and electric lights, has quite a passion for slapping the bag. The other day I watched him work out in gym and believe me has a wicked left hook. I'd rather be outside the ring with my typewriter even if the pay was chicken feed. Well we all have our own ideas of sport and recreation, so I'll stick to my bridge where the hands fly across the table.

Jane Kirkland, the belle from the Southwest who is doing a run at Westport, has created quite a sensation. Black hair and dark flashing eyes spell danger. Skirtland is the graveyard for 99 44-100 per cent and that's pure stuff.

We've got to hand it to Payne Whitney. Six weeks he was unheard of and now——. Whitney in a few weeks paved his way to popularity and fame. He has the right idea. You have to toot your own horn cause nobody else will. Whitney you've let no grass grow under your feet, you just kill it. Mr. Whitney says, "I owe all that I am to Paris garters, Life Bouy, Listerine, Pepsodent, and Gillette Blades". Don't forget Mr. Whitney you also owe me two-bits.

I was always under the impression that the Sponsor Major was to sponsor the Major, but it seems that she has taken over the whole army. Well you can't blame the army but I'd execute my military powers if I were Major.

Did you know that Zed Cromwell is part Indian and that his one ambition is to be a second Bing Crosby. Get him to croon for you sometime and you will agree that the only place for him is behind a mike.

Good times are back again for me. I struck oil in Sheridan Butterfield's hair.

Of course we all know that Barbara Kenyon has her Price and you Mister Philbrick have a Grand Kenyon. I guess that ought to make everything rosey.

Sparks kindled the flame and Holden was trapped. Those sparkling eyes are capable of setting fire to anything. You should have looked the school straight in the face quite some time ago.

D. A. Metwittig and they haven't parted yet—Oh Me. Gee but that guy must be long winded. You two better enter a Talkathon contest.

The other day I was up on 39th Street and I thought that Prices was on fire but when I investigated I found out it was only a crowd of girls drinking coke. Maybe that's what made things smokey, I dunno.

Look around the corner from where you're standing and if you see prosperity by all means let me know. He must be around some corner.

Let's all give George Keenan a big hand. We've all heard his Lucky Strike band at the games. You've got a great band and you're playing second fiddle to nobody. On with the dance George Keenan. O. K. Westport.

Station GAB now signing off until tomorrow morning, when we return to broadcast with the bending exercises from Green Pastures.

CLAY ZOOLOGY CATECHISM

Ques. What is the technical name for Clay Club?

Ans. Genus Jelly fishius.

Ques. How are the members of this genus identified?

Ans. By their obviously simple looks, by their curiously enlarged cranial cavities.

Ques. What is the cause of the enlarged cranial cavities?

Ans. It has never been discovered although tradition has it that at some ancient date one Clay was a social success. This has never been proven and looks doubtful.

Ques. What are the domestic habits of a typical member of this genus?

Ans. It has been found that a Clay always arises at seven o'clock in order to complete the all important toilet, this consists of a clean set of dainty lace unmentionables; a cold cream wash, a shampoo, marcel, and other less important features. It has also been found that on the journey to and from school they are very much annoyed by a group of ruffian sophomores, who actually distress them beyond words. They often find it necessary to leave school early to take their regular nap, which is an utter daily necessity. They retire at 7:30 p. m. and sleep soundly until morning.

Ques. From which source is their name derived?

Ans. Their technical name was given them because of their resemblance (really very remarkable) to both a mass of jelly in stature and at the same time the appearance of a smoked herring. When comparing these, it must be remembered that stiff jelly must not be used, nor can an unusually dark colored herring. Their common name was taken after a famous American statesman. Just why this man's name must be desecrated cannot be understood.

Ques. What are the various sub-divisions of this genus?

Ans. 1. Pansies. 2. Daisies. 3. Lillies.

Ques. To which of these groups are the various members of the genus divided?

Ans. Sophomores—Pansies. Juniors—Daisies. Seniors—Lillies. Allan Block—Unclassified.

Ques. What subjects are favored in school by these queer organisms?

Ans. Sewing, cooking and all those things that go to make a good housewife of a man.

Ques. Why do sophomore girls object so much to social engagements with Clays?

Ans. Even a sophomore knows a good time from a jellyfish.

DO YOU KNOW THAT:

The Clays are planning a May pole party at which Lefkovits will be crowned queen?

George Milne has been offered a contract by Chandu if he can gather enough Clays about him? His specialty will be a cake disappearing act.

The Clays have been offered a contract to organize a soprano chorus?

George Myers will soon begin at the Terrace Cafe as second assistant gigolo.

Sez the Teacher

Della had a little dog,
She'd lock him up to freeze,
And there he'd sit in that old car,
And scratch his darned old fleas.

First Teacher: "Are you letting your hair grow"?

Second Teacher: "Dear me, I don't see how I can prevent it".

Teacher: "It gives me great pleasure to give you 85 in this exam".

Student: "Why not give yourself a real thrill and give me 100"?

Miss Lewis: "In which of his battles was Alexander the Great killed"?

Student: "I think it was his last".

Burglar, (In Mr. Miner's House): "Put 'em up! If you stir you are a dead man! I'm hunting for money".

Mr. Miner: "Let me get up and turn on the light and I'll hunt with you".

Miss Junkin: "Stanley, your mouth is open".

Stanley: "I know it. I opened it".

Everybody knows the sun has spots on it, and yet teachers always expect us to be perfect.

Miss Shelton: "Can't you describe the main character in the book you have read for a report"?

Student: "Hardly, I read 'The Invisible Man'".

"Whee"! cried Mr. Bannister after cleaning up after Herald staff, "I've found my desk at last".

Mr. Cutting: "Put your figures on the board, girls, I want to look them over".

Miss Bain (to class): "Have you read Burns' 'To a Mouse' "?

Class: We tried to, but they wouldn't stop and listen.

Mr. Miller: "Name a liquid that wont freeze".

John Kirke: "Hot water".

Teacher: "Johnny, to what class of the animal kingdom do I belong"?

Student: "I don't know, teacher. Pa says you're an old deer, and mamma says you're an old cat".

Teacher: "In the sentence, 'I saw the girl climb the fence', how many 'I's' would you use"?

Student: "Both of 'em, teacher".

The Westport High School Alphabet

- A—is for annual, 'tis a wonder indeed, of all the annuals in the land, the "Westport Herald" leads.
- B—is for books, that we study with care, as soon as school's over, we give them the air.
- C—is for "Crier", that carries the news, if it weren't for this paper, all knowledge of school life we would lose.
- D—is for D. Holloway, whom we love and adore, 'tis a pity the seniors, will see him no more.
- E—is for excellent, the grade we try to attain, but we have all learned, 'tis too hard on the brain.
- F—is for Field, our orator brave, he went to the contest, his high school to save.
- G—is for Geroge, our major, you know. He has many friends, but not one single foe.
- H—is for Huhn, our office clerk dear, but when excuses we lack, her presence we fear.
- I—is for inspiration, which was needed for this, but the poor author did lack it, hence the poor dumb. miss.
- J—is for Jeannie, who plays all our songs, her chords on the piano, help the glee clubs along.
- K—is for "Kramming" which is commonly known, before examinations, the time when we moan.
- L—is for library, the place of hard work, if one you do enter, the books you can't shirk.
- M—is for Mary Kathryn, who is always a dear, she is our sponsor major at Westport this year.
- N—is for "Nerts", the whole junior class, if they tighten a few screws, next year they'll pass.
- O—is for onions, the sophomore bunch, some day they may, this is our hunch.
- P—is for pep, of abundance we've got, no school can outdo us, that why we're on top.
- Q—is for questions, we ask out teachers, when they try to answer, they all sound like preachers.
- R—is for Ruthie, our Editor-in-chief, she works like a Trojan, her reward—her belief.
- S—is for Stanley, ye olde Crier king, a jolly good fellow, who likes everything.
- T—is for Trueblood, our best looking boy, his face is his fortune and the girls' joy.
- U—is for United, and divided we fall, but no danger for Westport, it's as strong as a wall.
- V—is for Virginia, the senior class president, her motto, it seems, is "Hurrah for Commencement".
- W—is for Wittig, our most beautiful girl, with brown hair, blue eyes, and teeth like the pearl.
- X—is the place, that marks the spot, where the greatest school, resides, and that a lot.
- Z—is for zebra, so the story goes, read this poem and forget your woes.

May have it served that way daily
by reading
The
Christian Science
Monitor's
popular, front-page column
The
MARCH of the NATIONS
by RUFUS STEELE
Who Gives You the News in Quick-step

IF YOU are a boy or a girl who is "regular" you want to know what is going on in the world—and why. You want to be able to talk to your pals, your parents, your older friends and your teachers on subjects in which there is a mutual interest. It is a good idea to gradually develop power as a conversationalist. A daily reading of this international newspaper will tell you the important things the world is doing. You will like the Sports Page. Take the Olympic Game Series, for example. From July 25 to August 15 the Monitor will run a series of articles on the history of the games, the program for 1932, previous winners, and daily stories as they occur. These will be written from an international point of view and will give you everything you want to know about this important sport event.

High school girls and college girls will find the Fashion Page of the Monitor a guide to good taste in choice of clothes. Read what Elene Foster, our special Paris Correspondent says on the latest summer fashions—or learn from the articles on this page how to remodel last year's costumes.

In brief, the Monitor provides a daily opportunity for making contacts, with all that is of vital interest to "up-and-coming" young people. Why not subscribe for it now?

Beauty Contest

HAVING in previous years elected the most beautiful senior girls, this year a contest was held to elect the five beauty queens from the manly ranks of our senior pansies. Each girl submitted her five choices for her most beloved sheiks. The contest was won by Westport's second John Gilbert, Wayne Trueblood, who "simply cannot understand this charm he holds over women".

Among his four lovely (?) aides were: Ted Wiklund who does understand his supposed charm and really wonders why it was that he was not the queen; Allen Block coming up with that old poisonality grin and his bewitching ways which were not forgotten; then the pretty little Tim Spillane, our most athletic beauty whose looks have at last made him famous, and last and least the much heard of soap box orator Lyman Field, whose innocent looks and sweet freckles were thought so charming by the senior girls that they very kindly dragged him in.

At any rate the contest was highly successful and at last the senior girls have decided which of the handsome young brutes are really the dainty violets of the senior class.

R. O. T. C.

The R. O. T. C. is the most perfectly trained, best mannered, and finest group of boys in Room 5. The R. O. T. C. does not attend assemblies because enough dolls could not be found to entertain them. Without a doubt the organization is the best sponsored in Westport. The Major is a regular cake-eater.

"Ann Hathaway", gently chortled Bill Shakespeare as he snuck up the stairs in his stocking feet. Amherst Lord Jeff.

We enjoyed the flea circus but the acts were lousy. Dirge.

He: "Where did you learn to kiss"?

She: "Dragging heavy malts up a straw". Missouri Showme.

He: "Wotcha thinking of"?

She: "You".

He: "Evil-minded". Dirge.

She: "The man I marry must be square, upright and grand".

He: "Huh, you don't want a man, you want a piano".

She: "Why do you close your eyes when you kiss"?

He: "They say it is bad to focus on close objects for hours at a time". The Log.

He: "It's only too true that a girl's ideal is often shattered".

She: "More often he's just broke".

He: "I'm just crazy when I'm away from you".

She: "Yeh, he married her for his money". Punch Bowl.

He: "How did you find Professor Einstein"?

She: "Brushed the hair aside and there he was". Black and Blue Jay.

First Soph: "Say, I thought you took Geometry last semester".

Second Soph: "I did but the teacher wanted an encore."

"Have a cigarette"?

BRIEFLY SPEAKING

"No thanks; I don't smoke and besides I've just had one and anyway I'm too busy and to tell the truth I never smoke your brand and I've got a bad cough already and then smoking's prohibited here and what's more my lighter's dry and I haven't a match and even if I had one there's be no place to strike it and beside one should never smoke before meals and the air is bad enough already and then again we have no ash trays and incidentally my wife is against it and what's more if you weren't such a blind jackass you could see that I already have one".

Deep wisdom, swelled head.

Brain fever, he's dead. A Senior.

False fair one, hope fled.

Heart broked, he's dead. A Junior.

Milk famine, not fed.

Starvation, he's dead. A Sophomore.

Poems

By Betty Munn

THE DEPARTURE

Westport, the time has come
When we must look o'er the receding years,
When we must smile or sigh at past events,
At pleasures we have known with you,
At high ambitions, joys or fears.

When hardships seemed to us so great
That courage failed to give us hope or strength,
Your spirit, kind and knowing, came to us,
It cheered us and so prompted us,
Our stay with you seems short in length.

How hard it is to part from one,
Who only care and gentle guidance knew,
Who patience had with our forgetful youth,
How bitter now this last farewell!
These flitting years how few!

But, dear Westport, though near or far,
And under banners of unkindred fate,
The glowing spirit and the love you gave,
That brilliant flame that in us burns,
No cooling breeze will 'ere abate.

ROMANCE

"Do you believe in romance?"
"Of course I do!"
"But why believe in romance?"
"Because—I do!"
"If you believe in romance—"
"I said I do!"
"Then tell me of this romance—"
"I'll try—for you!"
"Where can I find this romance?"
"I'll help you to!"
"I've never had a romance—"
"But now you do!"
"But what's this thing called romance?"
"It's me—and you!"

SUCCESS

Years of working, months of fear,
Days of waiting throughout the year,
Years of working toward high ideals,
Years of working—success reveals.

Years of plodding on and on,
Years of struggling when friends are gone,
And when at last they call the roll
The high school student has reached his goal.

Bits of Wit

Rastus had been arrested for speeding. It was his fifth offense, and as he was presented to the judge, he muttered something that sounded suspiciously like an oath.

"Repeat that!" thundered the Judge.

"I didn't say nothin', Judge."

"You did say something, and I want you to repeat it!"

"Well, all I says, Judge, was 'God am de Jedge, God am de Jedge.'"

Bradley C: "Say how old was Samuel Johnson?"

Tim S: "When, my lad?"

Brad: "I dunno, it just asks here about the 'Age of Johnson.'"

Sheridan: "Do you know my brother?"

Kenneth: "Yes, we sleep in the same English class."

Taylor W: "Do you think it would be foolish to marry a girl who was my inferior?"

Lyman F: "More than foolish, impossible!"

Guy Ford, (at barber shop): "Say how long will I have to wait for a shave?"

Barber: "About two years, sonny."

Mignon: "Oh, how do they ever get all the dirt off those football uniforms?"

Marshall W: "Why my dear, there is the scrub team over on that bench."

Beppoorian: "Napoleon said, 'Never say can't.'"

Beppo: "I wonder if he ever tried to strike a match on a cake of soap." Froth.

Boy (entering a drug store): "Say, mister, gimme a toothbrush."

Clerk: "Surely, do you want a brush with soft or stiff bristles?"

Boy: "Well, you had better find a good stiff one, because there are ten in our family." Kansas Sour Owl.

And then there's the contortionist who dreamed he was eating dried peaches and chewed his ears off in his sleep. Pointer.

From a girl's diary:

Monday—Bob tried to kiss me.

Tuesday—Ditto.

Wednesday—Again.

Thursday—Same.

Friday—Said if I didn't let him kiss me next time we went our riding he would turn the car over and kill us both.

Saturday—Saved two lives.
