FOREWORD

The Westport Seal which is at the entrance of the first floor of Westport High School symbolizes some of the major achievements of each school year. The Herald staff for '69 attempts to apply each section of the seal to a department in our school and to portray a picture of its accomplishments.

DEDICATION

Fifty stars, thirteen stripes – a dream called our country – whatever it has meant to them, men have died in the name of America since before it existed as a nation. Today, some call this ultimate sacrifice foolish; others call it wrong; yet the dream goes on. America continues in the face of her enemies within and without – sometimes faltering but never halting. While those at home reason over war, others wage it – for glory, for valor, for duty. These men have always existed, and will exist as long as there is an America.

Since her beginning, Westport has had her share of soldiers. Some were lost in battle – too many. Others returned, each marked by the conflict in his own way. To these men who have offered their all to that wonderful dream called country, we dedicate our yearbook and our hearts.

ADMINISTRATION

AND

FACULTY

The open book which is in the top section of the Westport High School Seal signifies learning and a search for knowledge.

This part of the seal was used to introduce our administration and faculty section.

Their advanced education and a continuous search for knowledge is indicated by the degrees which they hold.

The combined talents of nine full-time English teachers make this department one of the busiest at Westport High School. Helen Afflick, Thelma Bowen, Valda Carder, Florence Hawkins, Stella Hoing, Inez Pletcher, Odell Register, Gladys Riley, and Ann Taylor are the ones who carry a full load of English classes. These people teach English one hour a day. Beverly Shaw, Kenneth Nied, and Robert Triplett share English with Spanish, Latin, and Social Studies, respectively.

Primarily, their purpose as teachers of English is to develop within our students the art of communication. They give the students the best reading material available, offer them backgrounds necessary, instruct them in the grammatical structure of the language, and hope they can use these tools to express themselves in a logical manner.

Basics of Knowledge

Sheila Nagels

Kenneth Nied, Beverly Shaw

The language department at Westport consists of both modern and classical languages. French, Spanish, and Russian, our modern languages, are taught by the audio-lingual method in a fully equipped language laboratory. Latin, our classical language, is taught by a more traditional method.

Math and Science

Ella Williams, Donald Nelson, Michael Corso, Amelia Smith.

Mathematics as an academic subject area has undergone unprecedented growth and change in recent years. Newer insights in the world of Mathematics, New Mathematical concepts, vocabulary, and procedures have been developed to meet the demands of our automated and space - age society.

Our Mathematical program encompasses the basic and broad needs of all boys and girls for the world of today and tomorrow. This is done by not mere rote memorization of facts or computational manipulation, but learning how to think, how to solve a problem, the basic structure of the number system, logic and the nature of proof, what happens if - - , and computational skills.

"You see, Mrs. Smith, you add this and subtract that and it comes out 'wrong'?"

Harvey Chew, Rhesa Davis, William Espey, Jenny Dee.

Present New Challenges

Teaching the general introductory science for 8th and 9th grades are: Mr. Cross, Mr. Martin, Mr. Spiller, and Mrs. Young. In the advanced science courses Mrs. Young teaches Chemistry; Mr. Bourrette, Human Science and Mrs. Hasty, Biology. Mr. Baysinger teaches Earth Science and Miss Dee teaches Physics.

When possible, the most up to date methods of teaching science courses have been adopted. For example, Miss Dee teaches the I.P.S. or New Introductory Physical Science Course. Mr. Bourrette has styled his course along the lines of premedical requirements. Mrs. Hasty uses the Biological Sciences Study Committee.

Mrs. Young follows the Chemistry Study course of instruction with emphasis on the discovery approach. Mr. Baysinger, in his Earth Science classes combines Earth Science Study Committee course with the traditional instructions in Geology, Meteorology and Oceanography.

The social studies department conducts classes in the required subjects of Citizenship, which is taken in the freshman year; American History, taught in the junior year; and either World History or World Geography, which is generally taken by sophomores.

Elective courses compose a fourth year of social studies. The fourth year a social studies student may take one semester of Contemporary Issues, an honors course stressing research and critical analysis taught as a seminar. The second semester is addressed to the study of the economic system of the United States.

Another fourth year elective, is a course called Current Affairs.

Newly included in our curriculum this year, is a course in Psychology, which, together with Geography and Economics, comprises what most nearly can be termed "Social Science" in our curriculum.

Thoughts and Achievements

For the first time in the history of our school the Art, Music, Speech, and Drama Departments have been united into one Department - "Fine Arts".

Our Fine Arts Staff consists of: Betty Schultheis Ortner, Art; Fonnette Riley, Art; C. Richard Pond, Art; M. Duane Miller, Instrumental Music; Donovan M. Mabbott and Marian Downing, Vocal Music; Bruce Woodruff, Speech and Public Speaking; C. Richard Pond, Drama.

They Helped to

Common Learning or Core Curriculum is a correlated program intended to facilitate the adjustment between elementary and secondary education. Because of the two-and-a-half-hour block of time, it is a very flexible program.

Common Learnings consists of two parts, language arts and social studies. The basic purpose of language arts is to teach the student to communicate ideas effectively through grammar usage, reading, spelling, listening, speaking, and writing. Social studies includes history, geography, and current affairs.

We have an excellent visual aid program of films, film strips, records, slides, and television lessons in literature, biographies, and Places in the News.

Prepare a Future

William Love, Ken Carlson, John Idoux

We have three Driver Education teachers at Westport who instruct approximately 150 students.

The instructors are William Love, John Idoux, and Ken Carlson.

Three autos are available to instruct our students. Normally three students drive during an hour class period.

In Driver Education we strive to promote safety and good driving habits.

The concern for the well-being of individuals in the family setting is the fundamental element of home economics and family life education. The home economics and family living department provides Westport students with a wide variety of areas to meet the needs of all age levels. Mrs. Ruth Brody teaches eighth grade homemaking classes and ninth grade home economics I and II. Eighth graders gain an appreciation and understanding of children through their child development unit. In Home Economics, students are introduced to the social aspects of foods and at the same time develop an interest in good nutrition. The clothing unit is aimed at improving personal appearance as well as good techniques in construction. As Westporters develop physically, intellectually, emotionally, socially and spiritually, a wider selection of courses are available to them. Mrs. Frances Fitzgerald and Mrs. Marjorie Harris teach classes in Foods I and II, Clothing I and II, Home Decorations and Home Management.

Mrs. Margaret Stark in her family relation classes strives to develop in students certain traits and characteristics essential for living effectively with members of their family and with others.

They Taught Us to

There are three women instructors in the Girls' Department of Physical Education. Miss Carole Madison teaches two eighth grade classes, two freshman classes, and one sophomore class; Miss Marie Pusateri teaches one eighth grade class, two freshman classes, and two sophomore classes; Miss Mildred S. Patterson has two eighth grade classes and three sophomore classes.

Although the enrollment is the largest it has ever been, the equipment is adequate.

Marie Pusateri, Carole Madison, Mildred Patterson

David Jones, Daniel Stanley, Patrick Murphy

The ninth and tenth grade Physical Education classes are smaller in number this year, but to make up for this difference we have the largest eighth grade class we've ever had. Due to the two large eighth grade classes this year, Mr. Jarvis and Mr. Little have been assigned to teach one class each assisting the regular P.E. teachers.

Our Physical Education Program is unique in that most of our activities involves competition of record performances that go back 25 or more years. Each year every boy will compete for class championships, school championships and the all time championships.

Master Skills and Tools

M/SGT. Frank Champion, Hollis Lancaster

The Westport Battalion, Reserve Officer's Training Corps, is in its second year of operation after some 15 years inactive status.

The battalion is branching out this year into more advanced training, as well as conducting basic training, in the school of the soldier, for first year cadets.

There is at present 130 members of the unit, with some 65 percent being veterans of one or more years of service. Still too young to have commissioned officers, the battalion is functioning with non-commissioned officer's filling the battalion and company staff positions.

The battalion took second in Federal Inspection last year, and sixth in overall city competition.

Military Instructor for the battalion is Master Sergeant (Ret) Frank O. Champion.

The C.O.E. program increases the opportunities for education and training at Westport. Parents and pupils request this program because a pupil may obtain a worthwhile work experience under school supervision. These opportunities may develop into fulltime employment after graduation.

The number of Seniors enrolling in C.O.E. has shown a steady increase every year for five years.

The C.O.E. Program is divided into two units - C.O.E. Class and C.O.E. Work.

The instruction in C.O.E. Class considers School Rules, Regulations, and Policies; Employer-Employee Relations; Importance of Personality Development and Getting Along with Others plus Progress on the Job. Selected units are taught from the textbook; "Business Principles and Management" and "Merchandising Mathematics."

Credit in C.O.E. Work depends upon regular satisfactory employment, regular school attendance and an evaluation made by coordinator during a personal visit to the place of employment.

Audiovisual is an important part of our instructional program. Each year more equipment has been added with greater use of films, records, and tape recordings. Our Audiovisual department is open daily before school and during the day to provide teachers with needed services such as the scheduling of equipment, ordering and delivery of aids, making tape recordings, and transparencies and the maintainance of equipment.

Our coordinator who directs the audiovisual services here at Westport is Mr. David E. Hill. He has three very competent student assistants that manage the audiovisual room during the Hours 1 and 7. They are: Bill Foreman, Rodney Eck, and Mitchell Witmer. These students assist in delivery of equipment, and films, training student projectionists, splicing films, and many other tasks during these two hours that must be done to help maintain effective services.

The Vocational-Technical Department has expanded from four small offerings in the school year of 1964-65 to a sophisticated and modern department of eight different courses in 1968-69.

The courses keep changing with the advent of new techniques and equipment, and the courses have kept abreast of these changes with the addition of the latest types of equipment and procedures. Some of the most recent changes have been the Dictaphone Class-Master Electronic Teaching System used in Secretarial Practice, The new IBM Electronic Computer Typesetting System in Graphic Arts and the Radiotelephone Equipment and Color Television Equipment used in the Electronics course.

The instructors in the various courses are: Mr. Earl Boyd, Air-Conditioning and Heating; Mrs. Opal Heatherly, Clerical Practice; Mrs. Peggy Kelly, Data Processing; Mrs. Earl Boucher, Commercial Art; Mr. John Taber, Electronics; Mr. Paul DeGeorge, Graphic Arts; Mr. General Lowe, Graphic Arts; Mrs. Marnell Fey, Key Punch and Mr. Anthony Rizzo, Secretarial Practice.

Business Knowledge

Ernest Paris, Mary Theroff, Robert Ballantyne

"Mr. Ballantyne, You're late to class."

Five teachers are on the staff in the Business Education Department: Robert Ballantyne, chairman; Ernie Paris, A. J. Rizzo, Mary Theroff, and Opal Heatherly. Classes are taught in typing; business, personal, and advanced business; bookkeeping; general business and stenography.

Two vocational classes, clerical practice and secretarial practice, are also offered. These courses are offered in two-hour blocks.

The business education department is well equipped. Training is offered on the following machines: typewriters, both manual and electric; ten-key listing machines; calculators, both printing and rotary; comptometers, posting machines, dictaphones, and duplicating machines of various types.

The purchase of a new Dictaphone Class Master Electronic Teaching System this year makes it possible for twenty students to take dictation by means of headphones.

A student who excels in this department is eligible for entry positions in the business world.

Industrial Arts is a phase of general education which deals with industry – its organization, materials, occupations, processes, and products – and with the problems resulting from the industrial and technological nature of society.

The following is a list of the instructors in this department and the subjects they teach: William J. Gamble, Woodworking; Charles E. Vest, Woodworking; George F. Foster, Metalwork; David Hill, Drafting; Schuyler M. Burris, Electricity.

Molly Petterson, Cindy Connelly

The three student teachers, Mrs. Petterson, Miss Connelly, and Mr. Downing worked under Mrs. Hoing, Mr. Merryman and Mr. Pond, respectfully. They stayed at Westport 6-10 weeks.

This fall the school library has received 788 new books bringing the total collection to around 6500 volumes, reports Mrs. Farrand, Librarian. Also, there is a subscription list of seventy periodicals.

Fifteen school-spirited students give at least one-half or a whole period of their time daily to assisting at the charging desk and to shelving books. One clerk has been assigned one day per week for special work. Two teachers, Mrs. Afflick and Mrs. Nagels supervise during the noon hour.

The Engineer-Custodian and his staff play an important part in the continued education of the students at Westport.

We feel, in this field, the custodian and his staff influence the health, morale and safety of all those who are here at Westport by creating a clean, healthful, attractive environment.

It is to this end that the custodians strive to perform their duties so that all who come in to Westport will be aware of this.

With the privileges of rank come the burdensome responsibilities of superiority in athletics, quality in scholastic achievements and outstanding performance from leadership potentials. The Senior Class of 1969 has excelled in each of these endeavors securing 65 positions in Varsity competition, honoring 56 of its number with Honor Society membership and being named five times recipient of awards for leadership in school spirit support and enthusiasm.

Three times victorious in Spirit Week competition, the class graduates undisputed leader in school spirit leaving a tremendous burden for succeeding seniors to fill and '69 alone carved in the Westport spirit stick. Westport's loss of these outstanding young men and women will be their colleges' and professions' great gain.

The 1968-69 school year started off with a YELL! Spirit Week began and the JUNIORS showed their unity by winning 3 out of the 5 pep rallies and finishing second. We had proven ourselves and we continued to prove ourselves through the year.

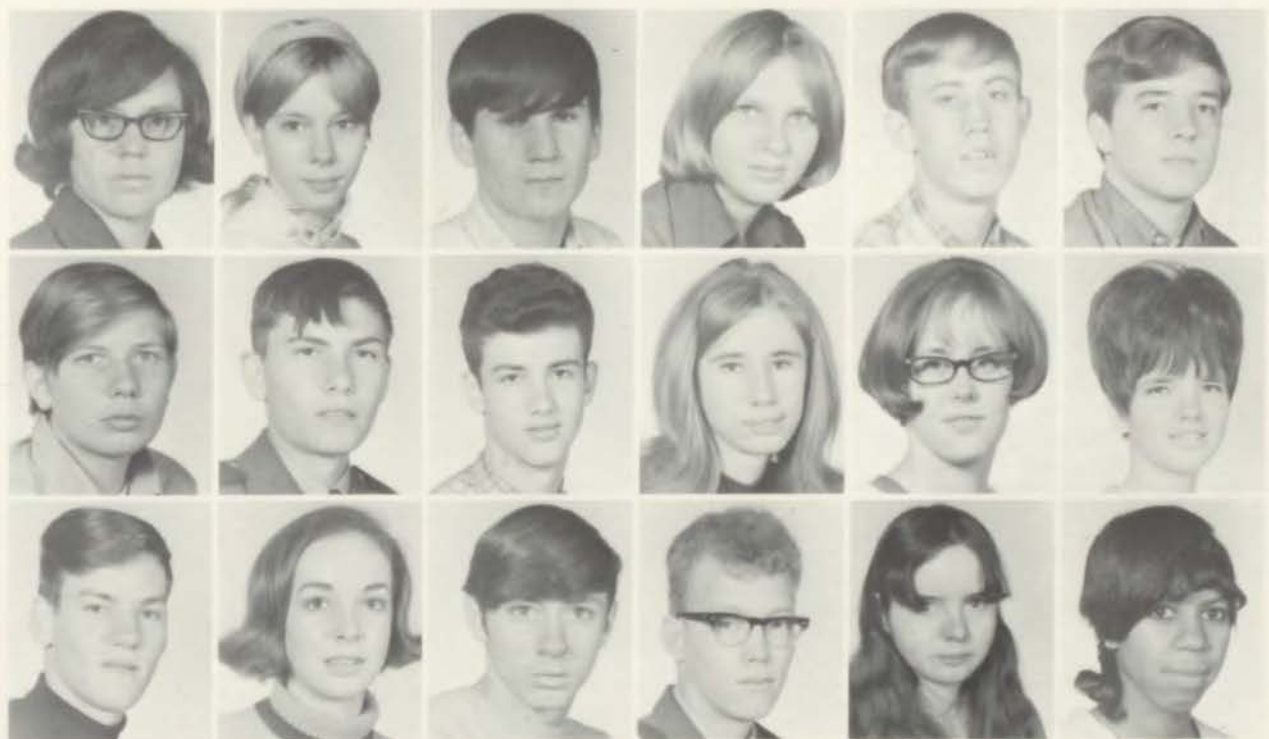

Our first project was the Christmas orphan. Due to the generosity of the JUNIORS we collected the required $25.00 in two days.

We contributed in all sports, (1/3 of the football team was JUNIORS); both cheerleading squads, school organizations, Pep Club, and Student Council.

Last but not least came the JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM which was hosted by the class of '70. Our JUNIOR year was truly a GREAT year, one we all can be proud of!

Sophomore Class

The class of 1971 has accomplished much this year. As a whole we have been quite active in student council, literary societies, the Talent Show, assemblies, pep club, honor societies, and athletics.

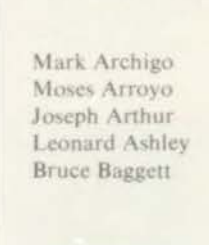

The Sophomore Class raised money to host an orphan at the annual Tiger Den orphan's party, on the night of December 20. We bought her clothes, toys and candy.

We walked into the hallowed halls of Westport three years ago wondering if we would ever make it through even one day and now here we are three years later contributing all we can as the esteemed class of 1971.

The term "Freshman" literally describes the role played by our class. We were "Freshmen" and added new life and enthusiasm to the school activities. When the school year began, upperclassmen tolerated our inexperience with a mixture of exasperation and amusement. As the year wore on, freshman faces appeared on the Honor Society, athletic teams, instrumental groups, clubs, programs, and assemblies. This year we proved to all that the Class of '72 is willing to accept responsibilities and eager to perpetuate the traditions and spirit of Westport.

Eighth Grade Officers

Valerie Cosgrove, President; David Booth, Vice-President; Katy Nolen, Secretary; Matthew Soule, Treasurer; Renee Baker, Sergeant at Arms.

Business Committee: Kathy Rupf, Mary Peters, Frances Arthur, Susan Boyd, Sharon Lauer.

The annual orientation for the eighth grade students was held in August of 1968. Several were in attendance for a program in the auditorium and a tour of the building.

The class of 1973 was one of the largest eighth grade classes in Westport history. It numbered 450. There were few activities in which we could participate, but much enthusiasm was shown when we adopted an orphan for the Tiger Den orphan's party at Christmas time.

Officers were not elected until second semester in order to give the students more time to get acquainted.

We hope to be not only the largest class but the best to leave the halls of dear old Westport High School.

According to our records, sometime during the year 1917 or before, Westport High School adopted the fierce and powerful TIGER as its symbol.

At this time the students of Westport were inspired by the brilliant athletic reputation of Princeton University which carried a tiger as its mascot. To honor Princeton and perhaps secure an omen for their future success, Westport High School adopted the mighty TIGER as its symbol. Black and Gold were the colors of Princeton but Westport High School chose blue and gold as its colors.

The mighty Tiger poised on the W is a symbol which Westport graduates recognize as a sign of their school.

Backbone of the Team

Football this year at Westport was far improved over previous years. Not since our championship team, 7 years ago have we placed 3rd in the league but 4th in the whole area. First in the city was Oak Park, whom we beat 7-0 on a pass from Tony Salazar to Karl Schenke. Further proof of their capabilities can be found in the all-star teams; David Long, all metro & Tony Chandler, Mike McCrory, Karl Schenke, Tony Alvarez, and David Long, all city. The list of those on both of the honorable mention teams is so long that it includes most of the first string players.

In league play, our offense was rated third behind Southwest and Central, but our great defense, leaving Paseo with a -4 yards rushing, finished first easily over a trailing Southwest and Central.

For three years we have been building up a strong team for this season, and it looks as if we are going to build a new team for next year. Approximately half of the team will be graduating this spring, leaving Coach Dan Stanley with the revamping job. However, based on this years performance, the spirit to back the team will be high and we can look forward to great teams to come.

The 1968-69 Varsity Basketball team was strong with experience, being made up largely of seniors who had at least two years experience behind them.

Behind the coaching of John Little, the cagers proved most impressive, in speed and skills. At no time in any game were the Tigers completely thwarted. In the tough games, however, they usually pulled through, as in the Lillis game.

Usually in the starting position were: Bruce Tolbert, senior center; Don Smith, senior forward; Tony Salazar, junior guard and playmaker; Mike McCrory, senior guard and 1967 league leading scoring and fighting for the other forward position were Melvin Robinson and Tony Chandler.

All in all, this was a very successful season, with talent and record.

The masks of comedy and tragedy were worn by Westporters as they participated in the various clubs and activities this year. The mask of comedy, or happiness, symbolizes the fun and satisfaction that came from being a part of an organization or activity. The mask of tragedy symbolizes the minor troubles that were soon forgotten and even laughed over later. Meetings, teas, parties, Tiger Dens, money-making schemes, the musical and talent show, assemblies, an office held or lost, an honor made or just missed, successful and unsuccessful plans, and plans left to be carried out next year—this endless list made up the parts of the masks. All in all, the mask of happiness prevailed through the school of 1968-69. Its impression has been left in the memories of many Westporters as an important part of their years in high school.

Life at Westport

Sissel's native costume.

This year's American Field Service student was Miss SISSEL VALDERHAUG from Aalesund, Norway. Sissel lived with Miss Susan England, a senior at Westport, and her parents.

Sissel's father is a "Master Bricklayer", and her mother works in a clothing shop. She also has two sisters, age 21 and 12.

The activities Sissel participated in were, French Club, T.D.S.C., International Club, American Field Service. She also wore the lettersweater "T", in Westport.

When asked how she liked Americans, Sissel replied, "Americans are nice, friendly, and helpful." Then she added, "I love my classes at Westport."

Westporters were proud and happy to have had Sissel at Westport as our 1968-69 A.F.S. student.

Sissel is presented with a Norwegian flag.

Sissel supported athletic happenings.

Productions Proved

Timm and Steve performed for the pleasure of all at the 1968 Talent Show.

'Let a Winner Lead the Way' proved to be an interesting title for the Talent Show as the Girls Glee Club performed.

Bob Simmons, Patty Phillips, Duane Smith, and Jeff Humfeld pray over a grave in Musical 'Paint Your Wagon.'

Merrilee Snyder, Clifford Baker, and Angela Richart sing of the trials of being Mormons.

The whole town watches as the Mormon decides whether to auction off one of his wives.

Both productions of Westport's 1968-69 school year went over with a great amount of success. The talent show 'Let a Winner Lead the Way' was presented November 22 and 23. The musical, 'Paint Your Wagon' was performed February 13 and 14.

'Let a Winner Lead the Way' was produced by Mr. Bruce Woodruff, a newcomer to the field of directing. 'Paint Your Wagon', the third musical to be presented at Westport, was directed by Mr. Richard Pond. Both productions drew large masses of very satisfied crowds.

Rufus Bailey sings to the miners as they sit resting.

The annual task of trophy cleaning took determination.

Change was the keyword in the Student Council this year. The major project was the writing of a new constitution along with a revised statement of purpose. This was done to provide a more effective channel of communication between the students and the administration by developing the role of the Council. Re-organization of the Council as a whole was also begun to make it more representative of and responsive to the students. Among the new plans started were the "homeroom patrol," which transmitted information between the Council and the students, and the "student activities" committee, which worked with a faculty committee on such problems as the method of queen selections. In March, a delegation was sent to the Missouri Association of Student Councils convention held near St. Louis. By developing an effective Student Council that would be a link between the students and the administration, the Council members hoped to serve the best interests of all Westporters.

Many pleasant things happened throughout the year, making it a year to remember.

Reason to Belong

Le Petit Versailles, French Club, is sponsored by Mrs. Nagels. For their social events they had a dinner dance, and went to soccer and hockey games. They made their money by their second annual St. Patrick's Day Dance. They used the money for the dinner dance, a school gift, books and posters for the French room, and the Christmas orphan.

Awards are given to the outstanding French student in each class. And an Award is given to the outstanding French speaker in the school.

Second semester officers were: President Leticia Martinez, Vice-President Marcia Noger, Secretary Mildred Greer, Treasurer Nancy Klinginsmith, Sergeant at Arms Loukas Kariofilis and Sissel Valderhaug.

Honor Society

Membership in the Westport Honor Society required at least a 3.1 grade average each semester. Bronze and silver pins were awarded for maintaining this average for two and four semesters. Gold pins with one, two, and three pearls were awarded to seniors who respectively kept a 3.1, 3.5, and 3.65 average for seven semesters. Students receiving pins were honored at a fall tea and at a spring assembly, which featured a guest speaker. In addition, members sponsored an orphan at Christmas and attended a picnic in the spring.

The Westport Stage Band played for the variety show and many assemblies this past year. The stage band attended contests at Columbia, Missouri and at Raytown South High School. Early in second semester the band toured three area schools to encourage establishment of more stage bands.

The Stage Band has developed and matured over the years and has given those who played in it many fine experiences and helped add to the rich heritage of Westport.

B-Team cheerleaders rode the float in the American Royal Parade.

The 1968-69 Varsity and B-Team Cheerleaders started off their school year a little earlier than most students at Westport. Both groups started practicing in the summer in order to improve their skills before attending Missouri Valley Cheerleading Camp. The Varsity squad practiced twice a day and B-Team at least once a day. Westport's Cheerleaders represented their school quite favorably by returning from camp with many accomplishments. Varsity brought back with them a total of three blue ribbons, one red ribbon, the spirit stick, and the title of Grand Champions. B-Team returned with three second place ribbons and an honorable mention. Both squads worked hard and their skillful cheering at all sports events proves that it was well worth it.

Radio Amateurs

Through the Westport High School, Radio Amateur Club students pursued an interest in electronics and in communicating via "ham" radio. This interest is one that can lead to a lifetime career or hobby. The Westport radio and electronics equipment—all made by students in electronics class—is almost the city's best. Optimism was held about receiving government permission to send and receive messages from Vietnam.

Knowledge Was Gained in Many Ways!

Painting by numbers is getting easier all the time.

Twenty laps—of course I did them.

How much overdue is it?

So that's the way the experiment was supposed to go!

I think I forgot to take the pins out when I sewed it up.

Many girls helped with the serving that evening and all had oriental attire.

1968 Junior-Senior Prom

The 1968 Junior-Senior Prom was held on June 1, 1968, 9:00 o'clock in the evening, at Pierson Hall on the University of Missouri campus. The theme was Cherry Blossom Time and entertainment was furnished by the Bobby Soul's Show. All decorations were made by the 1968 Junior class officers with the willing help of their classmates. There was a very large turnout. Everyone there seemed to enjoy the very formal affair and will probably treasure it in the back of their minds for quite some time.

Table decorations added to the charm of the evening.

American Field Service started the year off with a large picnic in Loose Park, where Westport students had a chance to meet Sissel Valderhaug and enjoy a western style picnic. The main event of the school year was A.F.S. day. Six exchange students spent the night with Westporters and visited school the next day.

The 1969 Herald staff would like to thank Rolland Studios, 1118a McGee, Kansas City, Missouri, and Associated Printers, 3150 Broadway—Suite 300, Kansas City, Missouri, for the time and patience they showed while taking school pictures. We also wish to thank the administration and faculty for their help and cooperation.

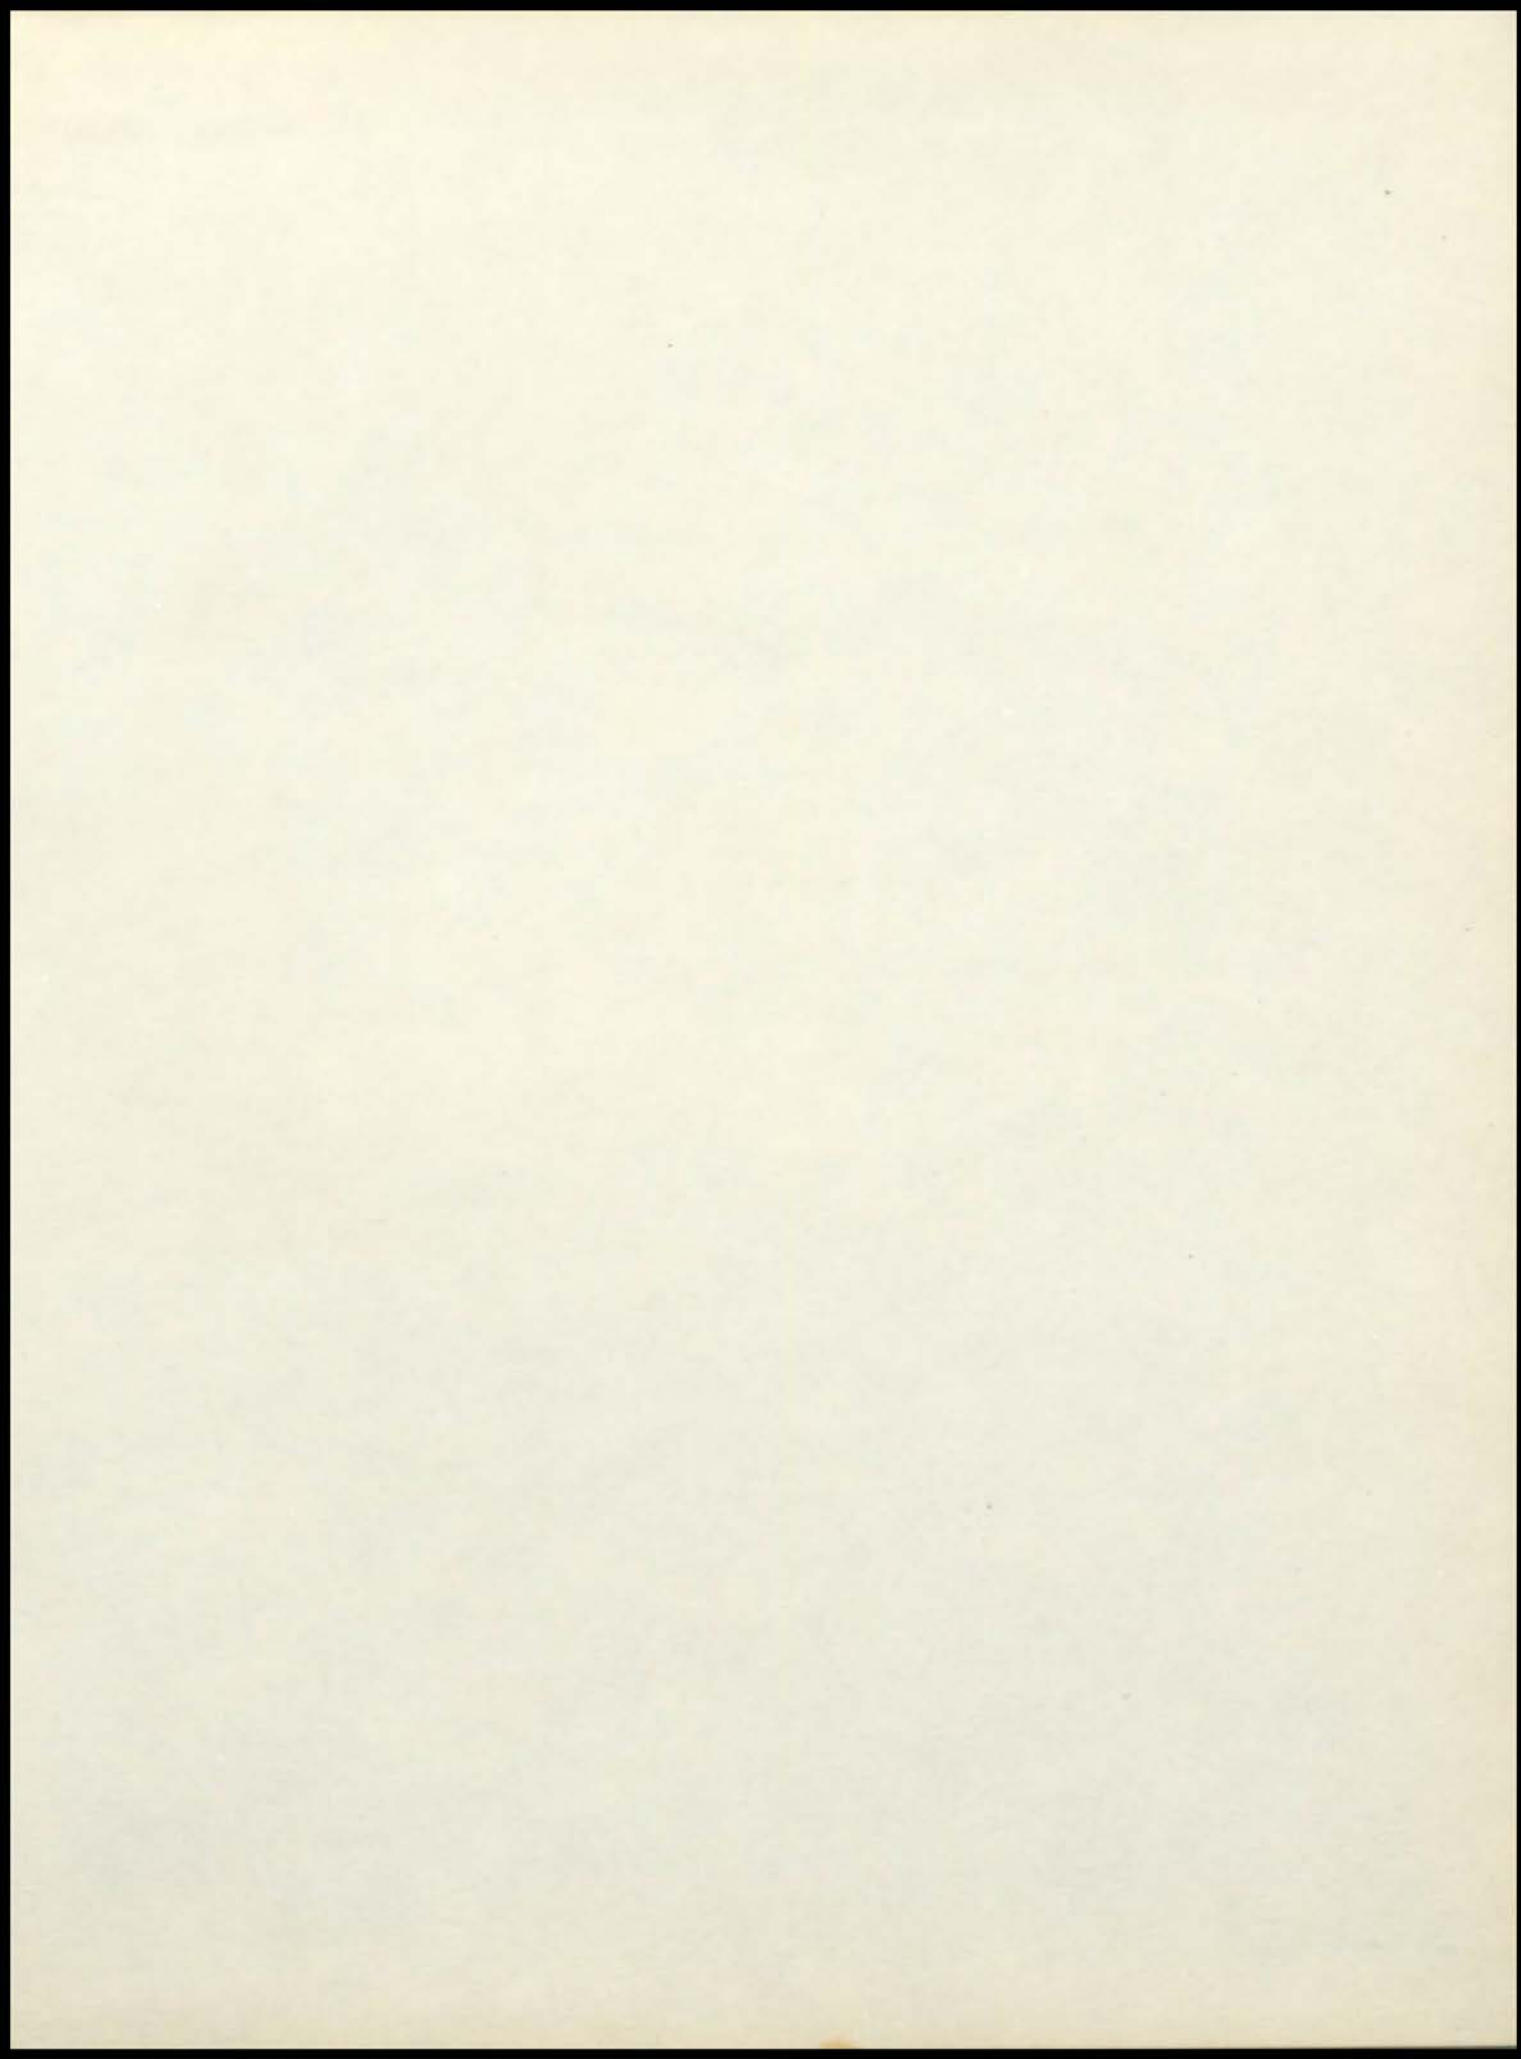

The book is through, the year is over, and now there is nothing left but memories—memories that will slowly fade into the back of our minds.

It is the Herald staff's hope that in years to come as you look at the 1969 Herald memories will come back and that these memories will make you recall the great years, many experiences, and small heartbreaks that accompany the high school years of any student.

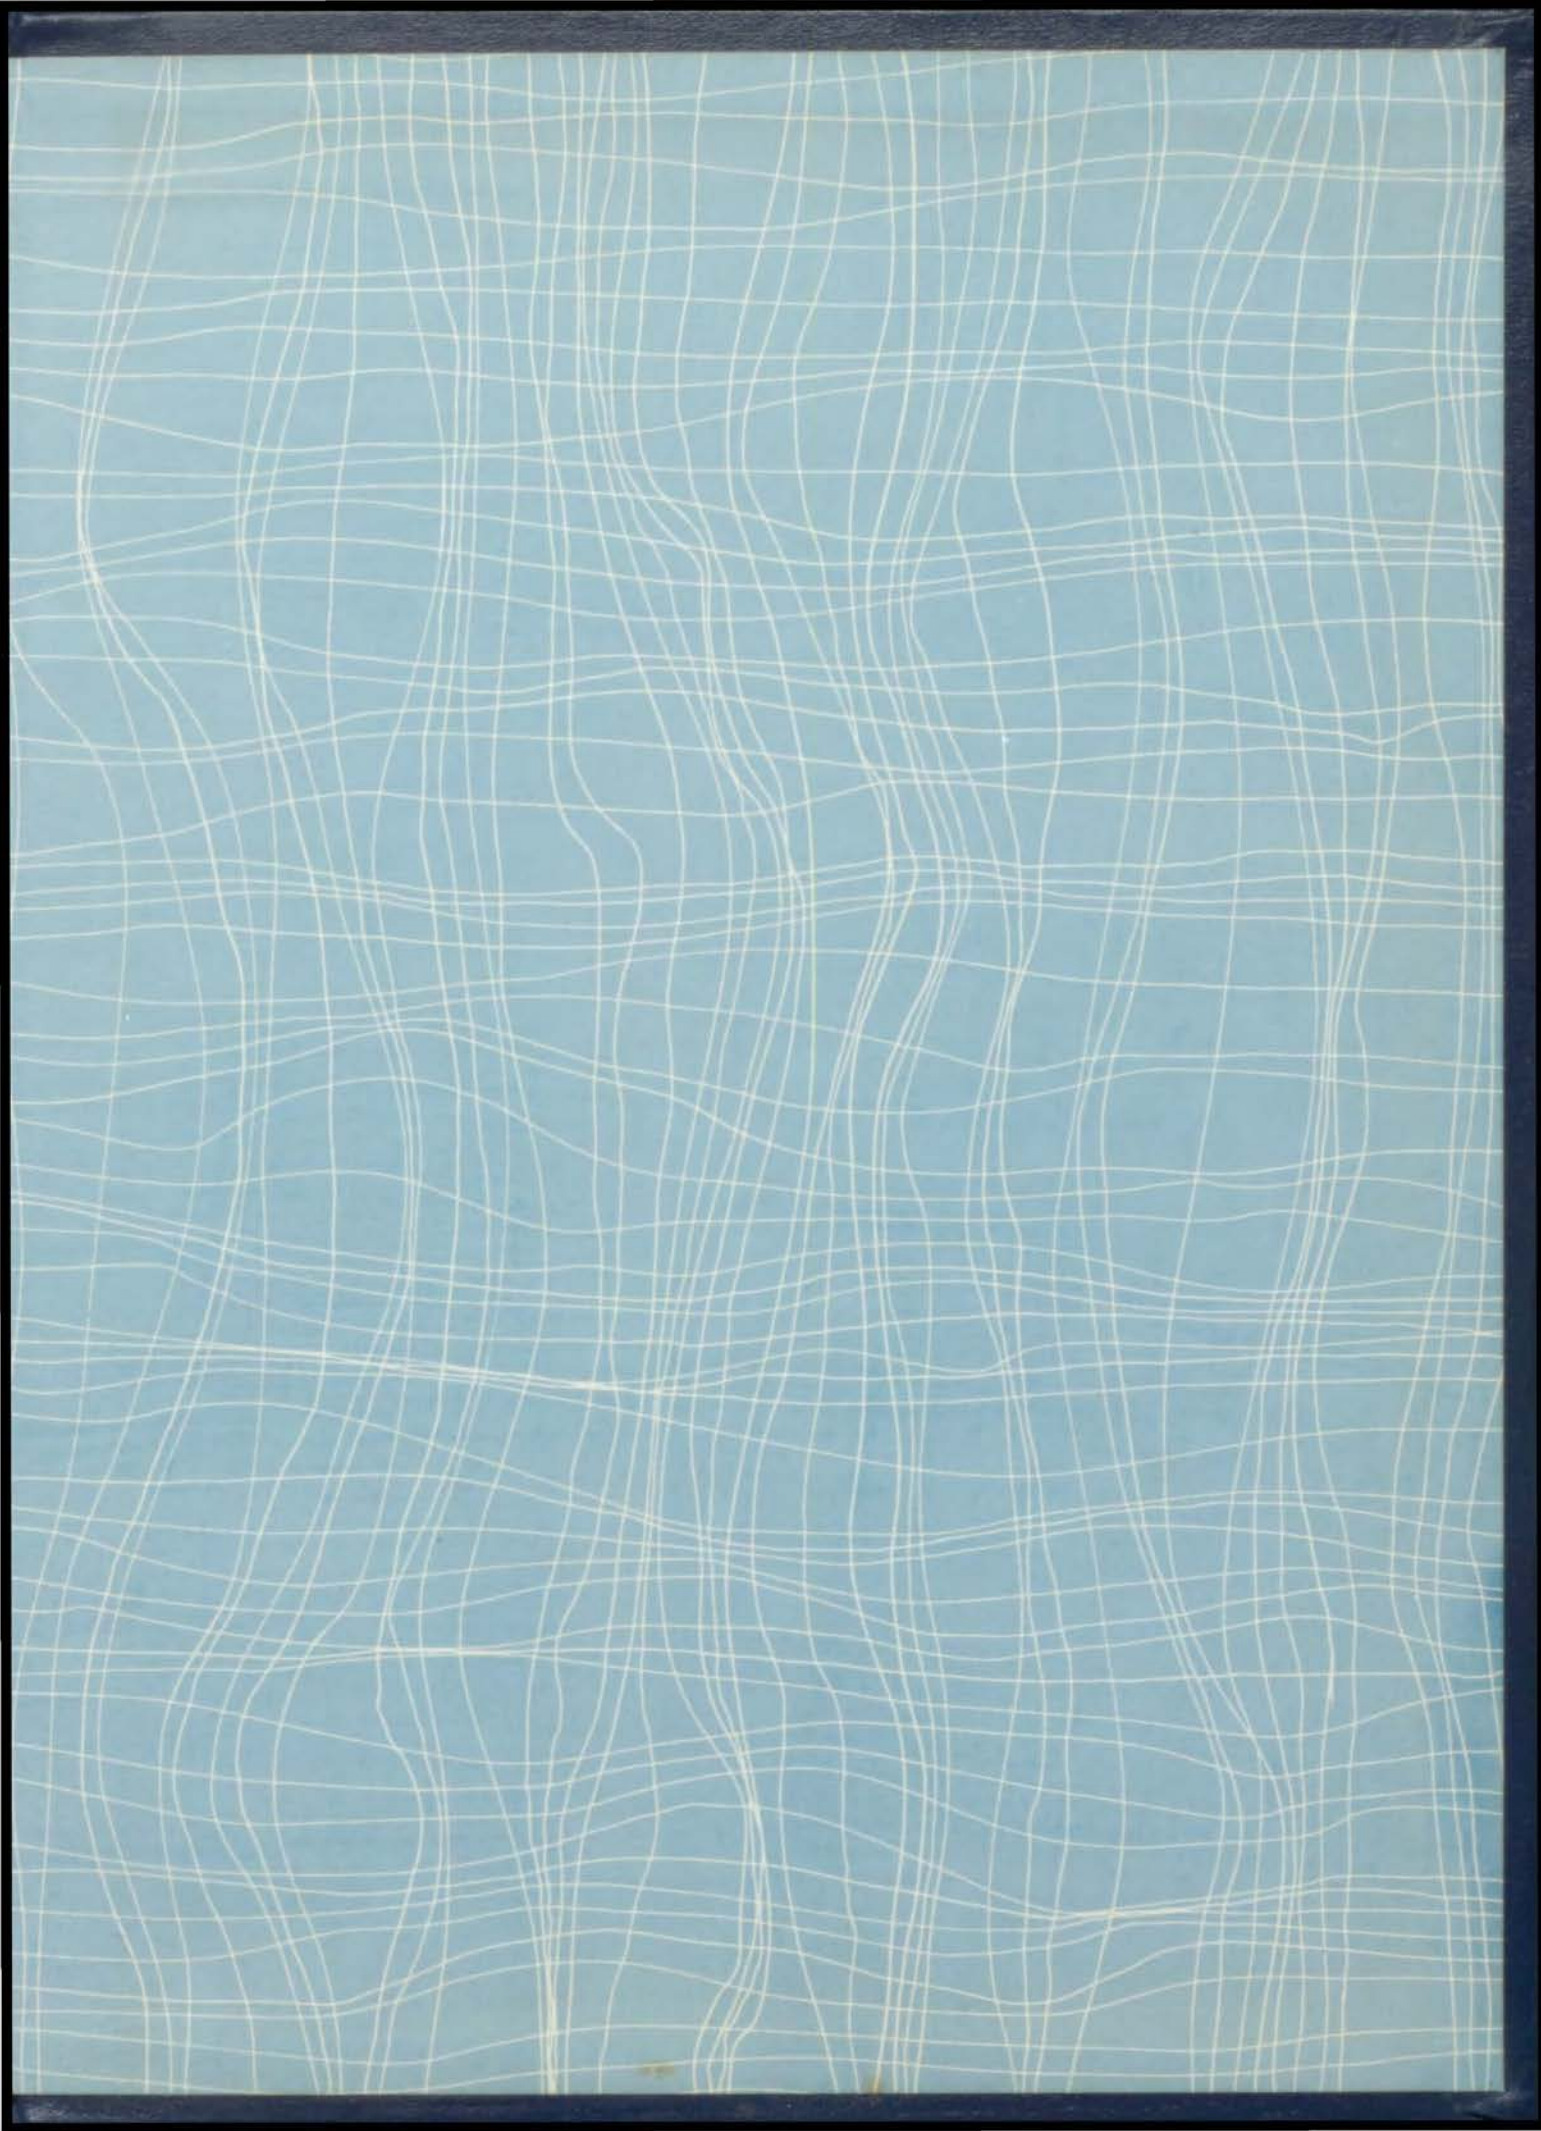

As the 1969 seniors leave Westport High School, they will take a cherished part of their lives with them. It is the staff's hope that a small part of their lives will be found in this 1969 Herald.
