STRIVING TO MEET OUR GOALS . . .

WESTPORT SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL CLASS OF 1986

Westport High School is the oldest school in the Kansas City school district. The faculty and student body work coherently to prove the school's motto:

"TOGETHER WE CAN SUCCEED"

Mr. Carl Hicks 1978-1985 Years of Service

His Memory Lives On

by Alecia Crichlow

Some people live, and some people die, but have very little to show for journey. Others have touched the lives of other people in meaningful ways. Some people love and care and give of themselves more than others. Such an individual was Mr. Carl Hicks.

As a teacher at Westport for seven years, Mr. Hicks played a major role in making Westport a better school. He was a person who believed in making things happen for Westport and its students. Mr. Hicks always showed concern for the students of Westport by persuading them to get involved in the school activities that were offered to them. He always said that he could not do it by himself, but that it would take the effort of both the teachers and the student to make this school a great place to come to each day.

Mr. Hicks was not a prejudiced or partial man. He believed that each student attending Westport — no matter what race, religion, or creed — should have the opportunity to get a good education. He felt that a good education would afford each student the advantage of a good future.

It is with sincere appreciation and admiration that we, the Westport Herald Staff, dedicate the 1985-1986 Yearbook to Mr. Carl Hicks memory for his great accomplishments.

May Your Memory Live On!!!

FROM THE DESK OF THE PRINCIPAL . . .

MRS. KAREN SWIFT

Dear Westport Students:

I sincerely appreciate the opportunity to serve you and the Westport Community. With every year that passes, I become more closely tied to you, and more dedicated to working with you in making Westport the best school in the Greater Kansas City Area. Even through these trying times, Westport continues to improve. It is you who make this possible by working hard under the direction of this capable staff.

Remember, the educational opportunities that are yours at Westport are but only the means by which you prepare to accomplish bigger and better tasks in life. Take full advantage of your educational opportunities. Study, train and work hard to make your life a pleasurable, self-fulfilling, and profitable one. To you seniors, meet the difficulties and challenges of life with the strength of your character and determination to succeed. Set a high standard for the class behind you.

Remember, love, peace and togetherness.

Best Wishes,
Karen A. Swift
Principal

ADMINISTRATORS EXPRESS THEIR BELIEFS ON THE SUBJECT OF EDUCATION

Educational Excellence is the opportunity to learn from your own, as well as other experiences. And while doing so, maintaining one's own individuality. One's goal in life should be to recognize his/her own uniqueness and then to share its fruits with the rest of humanity.

Dr. Carmen Chirveno

Every student has a right to an education, however, the most important thing for students to remember is that each student has a responsibility to society to contribute in a positive manner by learning as much as possible while in school. This will help them to become a successful, contributing citizen.

Mr. Franklin Walker

I believe that students in high school should take full advantage of the opportunities given them to learn an occupation or to prepare themselves for some form of higher education. Also, they should learn how to live in a free society and to contribute to the continuation of that society. Learning the basics of the various subjects taught is an important part of this process.

BLACKBROS LITHO-STERING

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry, no matter how small, should be recorded to ensure the integrity of the financial statements. This includes not only sales and purchases but also expenses, income, and any other financial activity.

The second part of the document provides a detailed breakdown of the accounting process. It starts with the identification of the accounting cycle, which consists of eight steps: identifying the accounting cycle, analyzing and journalizing the transactions, posting to the ledger, determining debits and credits, preparing a trial balance, adjusting the accounts, preparing financial statements, and closing the books.

The third part of the document focuses on the preparation of financial statements. It explains how to use the trial balance to identify any errors and how to adjust the accounts to reflect the true financial position of the business. It also discusses the importance of comparing the results of the financial statements with the budget and previous periods to identify trends and areas for improvement.

The fourth part of the document discusses the role of the accountant in the business. It highlights the need for the accountant to be a proactive member of the management team, providing valuable insights and advice on financial matters. It also emphasizes the importance of maintaining confidentiality and ethical standards in all accounting activities.

The fifth part of the document provides a summary of the key points discussed in the document. It reiterates the importance of accurate record-keeping, the accounting cycle, the preparation of financial statements, and the role of the accountant. It also provides a final reminder to always double-check the work and to seek help when needed.

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions and activities. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for transparency and accountability, particularly in financial matters. The text notes that without clear records, it becomes difficult to track expenses, revenues, and other critical data points.

2. The second section addresses the challenges associated with data collection and analysis. It highlights that while modern technology offers powerful tools for data processing, the sheer volume and complexity of information can be overwhelming. The document suggests that organizations should invest in training and resources to effectively manage and interpret their data, ensuring that insights are derived accurately and used to inform decision-making.

3. The third part of the document focuses on the role of communication in organizational success. It argues that clear and consistent communication is vital for aligning team members, sharing information, and resolving conflicts. The text encourages the use of various communication channels, including face-to-face meetings, email, and digital collaboration tools, to ensure that all stakeholders are kept informed and engaged.

4. The final section discusses the importance of continuous learning and improvement. It states that in a rapidly changing environment, organizations must stay current with the latest trends and technologies. This involves fostering a culture of learning, where employees are encouraged to seek out new knowledge and skills. The document also mentions the value of regular feedback loops and performance reviews in identifying areas for growth and implementing necessary changes.
