Who's The Best?

As the Lillis student passes through the crowded halls during the school year, he is caught in the realm of excitement which will never be repeated.

His studies, the long classes and the short breaks between, the fields of sports he has participated in, and the world of fantasy in the activities he has attended are all wrapped up between a sad day in September and a joyous one in June.

As a freshman, the Lillis student first encounters the question that will go with him all through his days here. "Who's the best?" And each year the conviction of the answer "Lillis" becomes stronger. Seniors take this spirit with them as their most cherished inheritance, hoping they will be a credit to their parents and teachers who made their Catholic education at Lillis possible.

And so, we, the Lillis Log staff of '66 intend to make it possible for all to look back on this year and enjoy its memories, happy and sad, through our publication.

THE MOST REVEREND CHARLES H. HELMSING, D. D.
Bishop of Kansas City-St. Joseph

SISTER ELIZABETH ANN, Principal

Meeting the needs of nearly 600 students and keeping up with changing educational methods provided Sister Elizabeth Ann, principal, with a full schedule. She always found time, however, to be personable and friendly with all who passed her office.

The betterment of Lillis was always her concern as Sister innovated flexible scheduling for film appreciation, introduced a Speed Reading and Drivers' Education class, and began Adult Education courses to aid the entire community. Plans for expansion showed our administrator's continued enthusiasm and devotion for our Alma Mater.

ACADEMICS

FATHER ALFRED O'LAUGHLIN
Diocesan Moderator

Father O'Laughlin is a new face at Lillis this year. He has created quite an impact with the new Socratic method of teaching religion. He lets his Junior and Senior classes answer their own questions through discussion and reasoning.

Graduated from Conception Abbey, Father has devoted most of his time to helping and guiding teenagers.

SISTER CLEMENT MARIE
Vice-Principal

Many duties lie on the shoulders of Sister Clement Marie, but she performs them tirelessly for the honor of God and the betterment of Lillis.

Along with her duties as Vice-Principal, she also advises the Student Council and teaches American Problems and Glee.

The love she has for Lillis is very evident in the pride she displays in any of its past or present achievements.

FATHER STEPHEN J. BURNS, O. S. B.
Chaplain

This is Father Stephen's first year as chaplain at Lillis High School. After graduating from St. Benedict's, Father spent two years in South America as a Missionary.

Now his mission is to teach the Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors, besides having the responsibility of looking out for the spiritual welfare of nearly 600 students here at Lillis.

FATHER CHARLES QUINN, C. S. S. R.
Religion II

Enjoying a round table discussion in Father O'Laughlin's Religion class are Richard Florez, Randy Garcia, and Richard Gonzales.

Learning To Live By Loving

One of the biggest changes in the Religion department this year was the grading system. Grades were given on the basis of each student's oral participation in class, tests, effort, and his general attitude. The marks were U for unsatisfactory, and S for satisfactory.

The work in most classes from the Freshmen on up was fundamentally discussion work. A few teachers used the Socratic method of teaching. The students asked a question and ended up answering it themselves through the cross-examination of the teacher. The technique brought the students to a better understanding of their religion.

Check spelling and grammar! It's almost time to hand in the themes in this Freshman English class.

Intent Lillis students watch their weekly movie as part of the film appreciation program begun this year.

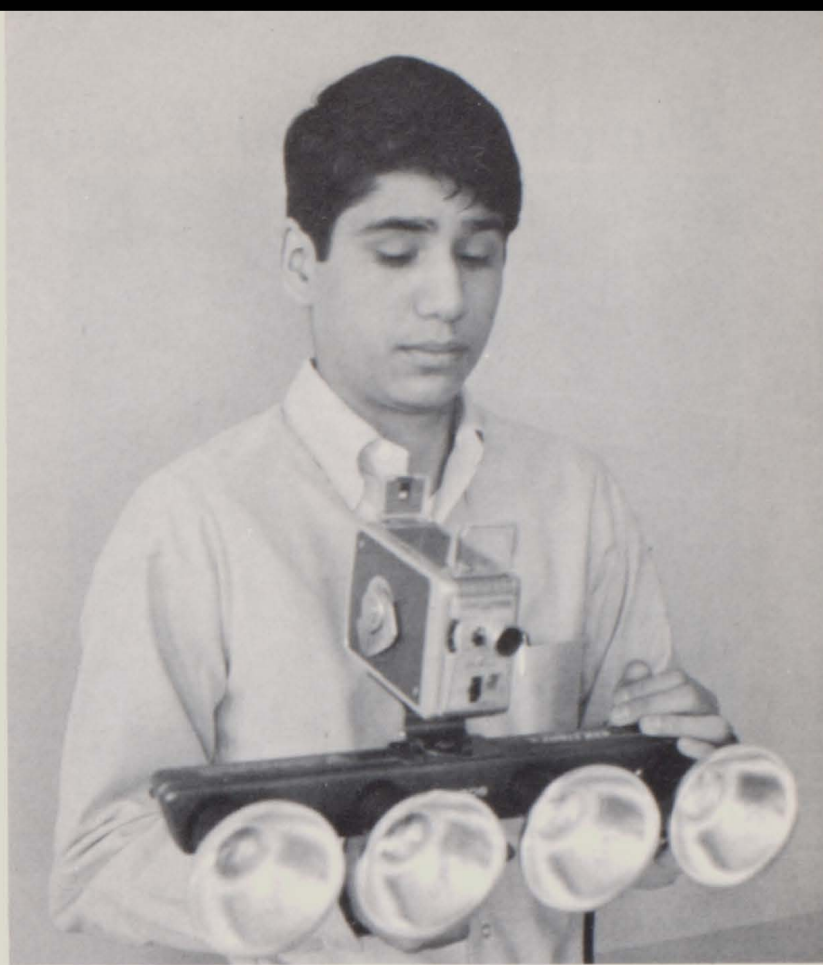

Was Made Film. . .

An experimental course in Humanities challenged the top students of each class who excel in English. This subject includes literature, music, painting, sculpture, architecture, and the dance. It approaches the arts through their common principles of subject, function, medium, element, organization, and style.

Movie appreciation provided a new look in the English department, with a film shown and discussed each week. During the year, each Senior English class also wrote, produced, and edited a 15-minute film, which typified the enthusiasm of tomorrow's citizens.

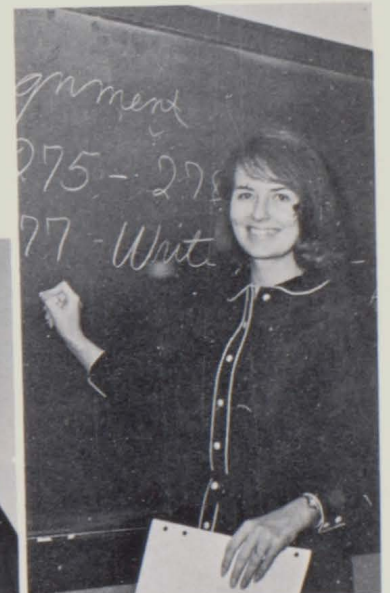

Juniors viewed American and English literature mainly from the aspect of the author's intention. Delving into realism, naturalism, and romanticism, the Sophomores became familiar with Poe, Hemingway, and Steinbeck. The ability to express ideas in writing and in speaking headed the list of requirements for the Freshmen.

Straightening Out Confusing Equations

The "New Math" lost its newness quickly as students became proficient in handling properties, various bases, and equations.

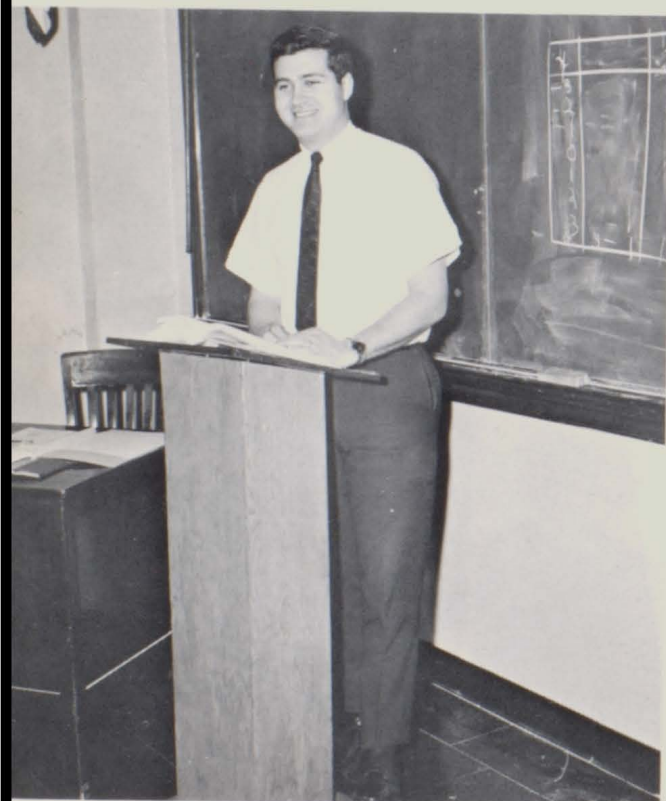

The first year Algebra students were taught the fundamentals and gained the knowledge of the axiom and the exponent. In Algebra II the students studied a broader area of the same field.

Geometry students found that their memories were challenged in this subject. To know one theorem from the others and when to use it was the key to success.

General Math provided a review of basic principles as well as an introduction to modern mathematics. In Math IV students bound for college became acquainted with higher mathematical formulas.

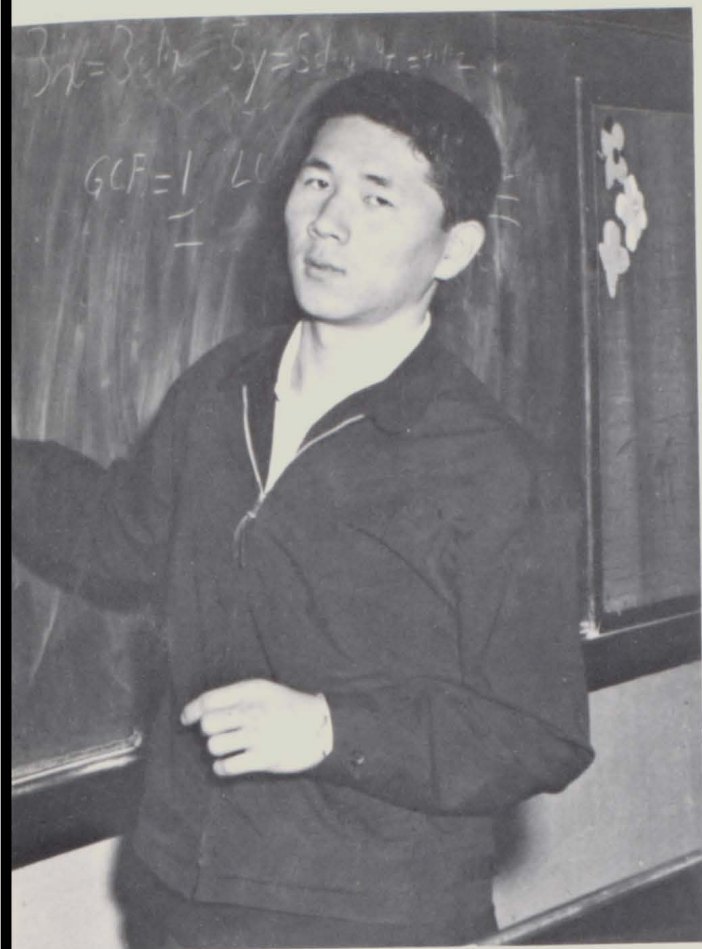

Kim Saunders makes the theorems and equations in Algebra II look simple and easy.

Exploring The Unknown World

SCIENCE

Just as the United States space program progressed, so did the science department at Lillis.

In the Biology lab, Sister Mary Lawrence and Mr. Howard taught their students of the living part of the world. Through the dissections and other types of study, the students learned of the make-up of man and lower forms of life. Newly added this year, psychology was taught in the Advanced Biology course. This was to give an understanding of man's mental capabilities.

Elements, mixtures, and compounds fascinated the Chemistry students as they progressed through their lab experiments under the direction of Sister Seraphine and Mr. Howard.

Backwards Into Halls Of History

With the goal of bringing students to a deeper understanding of the way the world came to be, the History department at Lillis stressed man's progress through the ages.

Through their courses in World History, the Freshmen learned how man lived in the pre-historic times and how he advanced to the time when man invented the airplane.

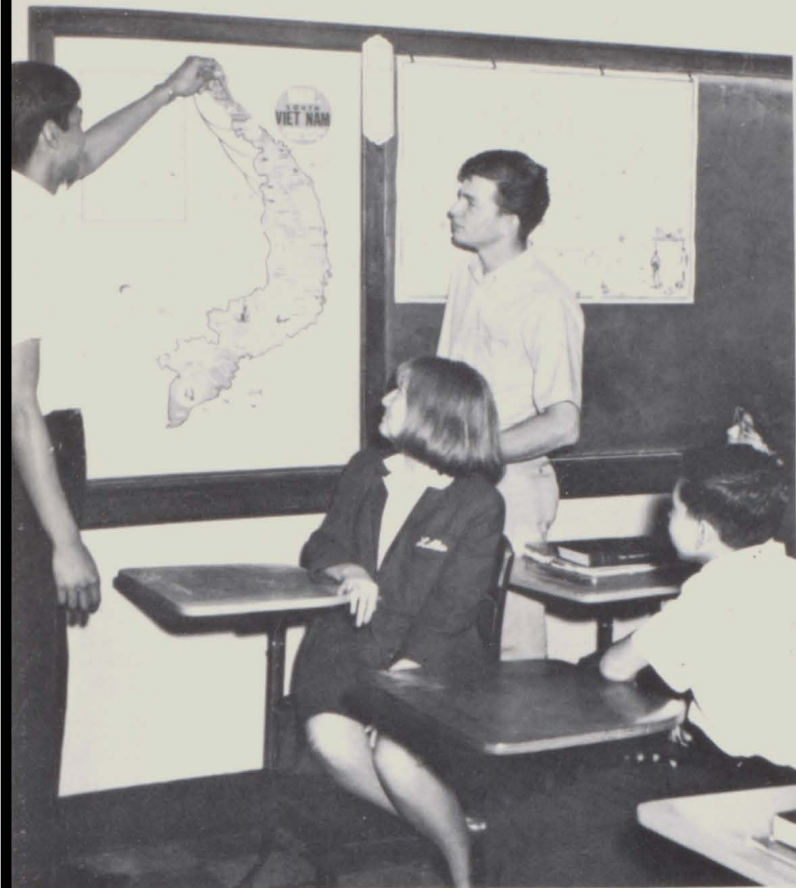

In American History class, the Juniors received a panoramic view of their own continent. The knowledge of what has gone on in the U. S. A. up to the present time enabled this group of students to understand their heritage better.

American Problems students grasped an insight into modern day problems and their possible solutions.

Larry Lathrop, John Florez, Larry Katzer, and Bill Hueser study in the library while Joe Grego absorbs or "tries" to absorb a few facts and figures from an encyclopedia.

Seniors put their "Time" magazines away to participate in a mock U. N. assembly.

John Diaz and Ron Mueller understand America's commitment in Vietnam, from a thorough study of American History.

Breaking The Language Barriers

"Bonjour!" Buenos Dias!" "Salve!"

Learning a language isn't easy, but it can be an interesting experience. Two years of French, Spanish, and Latin are offered to Lillis students so they can learn to speak the language fluently.

Sister Carmen taught Spanish with a native accent. Both Spanish and French classes centered around periods spent in the language lab listening to records and tapes. Through the film strip and tape recorder French students listened to and imitated the pronunciation of native speakers to develop the ability to understand and speak French. Sister Elizabeth Ann and Mrs. Verhulst were the French instructors. And Latin scholars became acquainted with Caesar and the glory of Rome under Sister Elizabeth Ann and Sister Bernice.

"Without language there can be no understanding, and without understanding there can be no peace."

Studying Latin is one thing; speaking it is another.

Declension of Latin nouns proves to be an obstacle course for Janice Nachbar.

Jayme Hoffer, Jennifer Hill, and Harry Adamson communicate in French.

Spanish students parrot a tape to learn correct pronunciation during their lab period.

With a wave of her hand, Margaret McMahon tosses the matter lightly aside.

While Marcia Thompson narrates, Margaret McMahon, Gordon Julich, Jane Knapp, David DiPalermo, and Brenda Eckstein enact the first Christmas.

Communications Create Confidence

Being able to communicate with other people is as important to man as eating. In the Communications class, the students learned how the pronunciation of their words could change the meaning of the speeches. Writing their own speeches made them think and record their thoughts more clearly and accurately. Whether demonstrating an object or giving their views on a current topic, the students were taught the fundamentals of speaking to others. Their work also included various choral speaking groups and plays in which they were given the chance to show their abilities to an audience.

Prep-pacers and phrase-flashers helped many students boost their reading speed by several hundred words in the new Speed Reading course. Students learned that pre-reading not only increased speed but raised their comprehension as well. It proved an invaluable asset in all their other classes, especially in taking tests. Students felt that the practice and time involved was worth the effort.

At the rate he's going, Mike Purdy will have his book finished in less than an hour.

Music And Art Gladden The Heart

"Quiet! The artists are at work." In their sketches, drawings, and paintings, each student had an opportunity to express and expand his individual personality. Uniqueness was the quality that marked many of the creations from brushes and paints.

Amazed with their own ability, many of the Art-Craft students became interested in working with their hands. Ceramics, leather work, and pottery were just a few of the assignments taken on this year. Adventure is part of the book of life, and Art-Crafts may be found in Chapter One.

Fighting Irish

Tom Muehlberger (center) picks up first down against Chrisman with the aid of J. Plumberg (67) and G. Stanley (66).

On August 15, Coach Mintner faced one of the most inexperienced teams in the history of Lillis. With only six returning lettermen things looked dim for the team that had just one year before compiled a 10-0 season, being rated number one in the Kansas City area. Nevertheless, this team went into its season with all the determination and spirit that had marked Lillis teams since the beginning of our school.

The first game with William Chrisman looked good until the start of the fourth quarter. They suddenly tied the score 20 all. With only 20 seconds left, the Irish scored, winning the game 27-20. In the next game, East fell 27-6 to the hard running and blocking of the Fighting Irish. Pem Day posed some threat to Lillis's drive for the championship, but they also lost 20-0. The Irish were overconfident

COACH MINTNER

One of the outstanding personalities at Lillis is Coach Mintner. For 18 years he has rendered his services, coaching Lillis through each victorious season. Coach Mintner could probably be called the "Lillis spirit in action," and deserves to have his name shouted in answer to the prevailing cry, "Who's the Best?"

against Hogan and at the halftime found themselves the underdogs, 13-14. But the Irish had the will to win and they did 33-14. St. Pius was the next foe to be faced with the hard-hitting Lillis team winning 32-7. Then the Irish came face to face with St. Joseph of Shawnee who was undefeated up to this time. The game was hotly contested, but when the dust settled, the score was Lillis 14, St. Joe 8. With six wins and no losses, the Irish would be hard to stop, and the next two teams failed with St. Mary's falling 39-7 and Blue Springs 46-6. The last game proved too much for the team that had won 8 games straight. The final score was Joplin 27, Lillis 26. Even though the season ended with a loss, the team of '66 compiled a record that will not easily be forgotten.

ARREGUIN LEADS IRISH WITH AERIAL ATTACK

Max Arreguin completed 130 passes out of 253, which is a remarkable 52%. He gained a total of 2,133 yards, 1,959 passing, and 174 running. This is an average of 237 yards a game. He threw 21 T.D. passes. Max along with 15 other seniors made our successful season possible.

The "Fighting Irish" Boosters Club of Lillis High School¹ was formed in February, 1964, by a group of Dads whose sons were active in athletics. Its primary functions are to promote good fellowship and loyalty to sporting events and to assist in providing a few extras not expected of the school.

The club has no dues. Every parent of a Lillis student and alumni are members. The Club raises its funds by selling ads in the programs furnished for every football and basketball game. During its first year, the Boosters Club provided an eight-page program and this present year expanded to twelve pages with two pages reserved for current school news. This year six programs were provided for the football season and eight for basketball.

Irish Finish Season With 17-6 Record

Lillis And Pius X Tie For Second Place

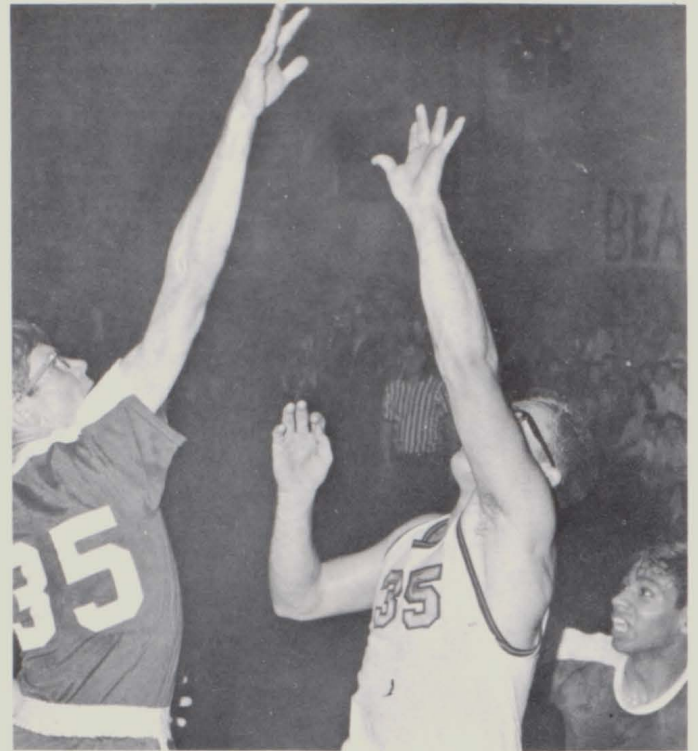

Max Arreguin tries to get the ball from a St. Joe-Shawnee player as John Diaz grimaces tensely in the background.

From the very first game of the basketball season, it was evident that the Irish were the best. Out of the first 8 games, Lillis won seven, suffering defeat only at the hands of one opponent, Van Horn. When the Catholic League Tourney came around, Lillis was ready and, after defeating Hogan, 76-60, walked off with first place. In the Wm. Chrisman Tournament, Lillis did not do as well, losing to Wm. Chrisman to take second place. One week later the Irish met Hogan on our home court and suffered a setback by losing 97-69. But our spirit was still there as the Irish proceeded to win the next seven games. We wound up the season with a record of 17-7 to make this one of Lillis's best basketball seasons.

Chuck Grego ups the score another notch in the game against St. Joe.

"Who's the Best?" The Irish again prove they are by proudly displaying their first place trophy in the Catholic League Tournament.

Arreguin Sets New Record

When Lillis went up against East on our home court, it looked like any other game. But this was an important night in the high school basketball career of Max Arreguin. On this night Max set a new school scoring record of 47 points in one game. His relentless scoring drive lasted through four quarters and accounted for more than half of the Irish points.

First place finishers in the Catholic Prep were Ben Nastasio, Jim Alvarez, and Walter Smith. Second place medals went to Tom Mandina, Ron Batdorf, Jerry Plumberg, and Diego Velilla. Carl Dougherty, Ed Flores, Don Bigelow, and Jim Keller were third place winners.

The Sportsmanship Trophy went to Ben Nastasio for his good attitude, hustle and dedication. Ben, 95-lb. representative, qualified for the State Wrestling Championships in St. Louis.

Walter Smith won the Most Total Points Trophy for finishing the season with 78 points, an individual and team high. Walter was a co-captain along with Ron Batdorf.

"The Irish were most unfortunate in losing Dennis Korenak before the season started," said Coach Cox, "but the boys did well. Next year's team looks strong and ready for an even better season with 12 returning lettermen."

Mrs. Savage Invades World Of The Cloisters

Mrs. Savage's family commits her to a mental institution, only to find out that she has taken with her the entire Savage fortune. Their desperate pleadings for the return of the money are of no avail.

Mrs. Savage's encounters with the inmates are the highpoints of the show. Hannibal is disillusioned about his ability to play the violin, Fairy thinks she is beautiful, and Florence is convinced her doll is a real live boy.

In the six weeks of rehearsal there were many tense moments. A freak fire in the gym disturbed one practice. Finding a teddy bear, painting scenery, and memorizing lines were other problems. Through the efforts of the cast, stage hands, and Sister Bede, the play was ready for October 24.

Mrs. Savage (Nadine Bellante) understandingly comforts Florence (Midge Cushing) with her doll.

Mrs. Savage reveals to her daughter, Lilly-Belle, (Carol Kephart) where she hid the money.

George Englert finally got the hang of working the lights.

Half the fun of Homecoming is being with your friends. Lillis students and their dates sit one out at the dance.

Bewitching Frivolities Haunt Homecoming

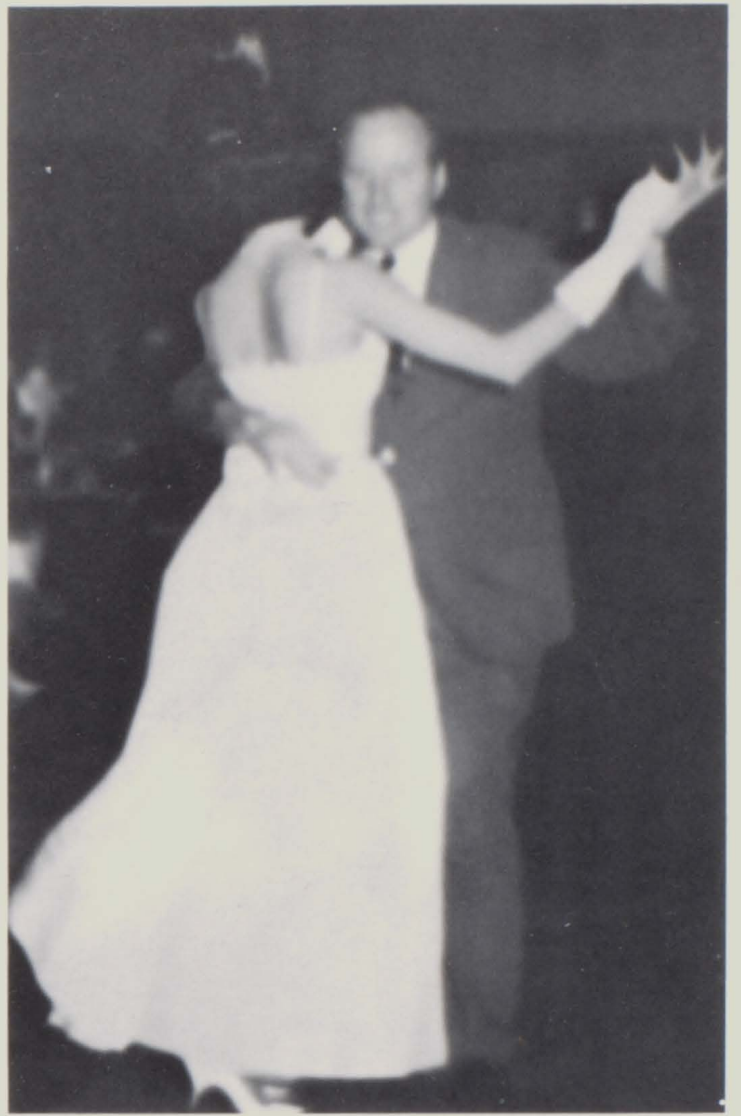

On October 29, Lillis began its traditional Homecoming festivities. This year an air of goblins and witchcraft encased the Homecoming. The first event was the pep rally, in which Debbie Richter was crowned queen, with Ethel Pipes, Patty King, Susy McCown, and Jackie Peppard as her royal court. The parade, consisting of gayly decorated green and white cars, was four blocks long. The game with a rousing 46-6 victory against Blue Springs was the highlight of the festivities. During half time, with the stadium cast into darkness, the Pep Club formed an iridescent green shamrock. At the dance a large pumpkin and black cats added to the mysterious atmosphere. Hours of hectic preparation proved most beneficial in giving Lillis the best Homecoming ever.

The sun shines down on the Lillis Homecoming parade.

Plays And Gifts Show True Christmas Spirit

Dennis O'Sullivan, Jane Knapp, Janice Nachbar, Denise Thomas, Danny Macias, Margaret McMahon, Lourdes Artigas, Jenise Thomas, Connie Ryan, Mary Healey, and John Lopez re-enact the Bethlehem scene in the annual Christmas program.

A presentation of songs by the Glee Club introduced Sister Elizabeth Ann's Nameday program. It was followed by a short play on the life of St. Elizabeth written by Denise Thomas and enacted by the Humanities class. Following the performance, Midge Cushing presented Sister with a gift of new office furniture on behalf of the student body.

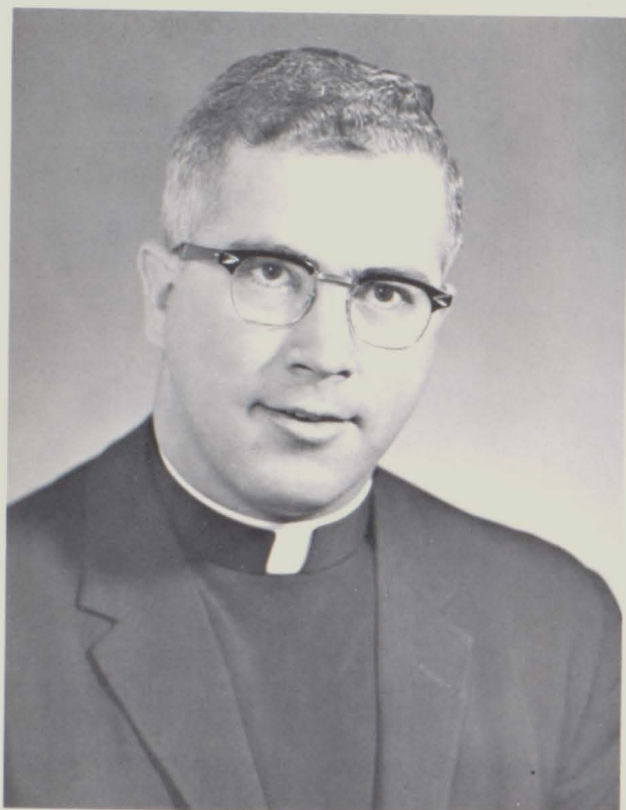

For the Christmas Program, the Glee Club, under Sister Clement Marie's direction, sang an arrangement of songs true to the spirit of the season. Complementing the musical theme were several tableaux depicting the first coming of Christ and His daily coming through the Sacraments.

New office furniture brings a big smile to Sister Elizabeth Ann's face as Bill Zondca and Midge Cushing present it to her.

The Christmas spirit of giving is found in the sacrament of the Holy Eucharist. Tony Cantu, in the role of a priest, administers Communion to Brenda Eckstein, Linda Ruckdaschel, Laura Whelan, and Steve Graham.

Time To Contemplate

Reverend Patrick Tobin

"It is wrong just to think of yourself... you've got to put yourself out for other people," was one of the points Father Francis Broderick, O. S. B., chaplain of St. Mary's Convent, Xavier, Kansas, stressed during the Freshman-Sophomore Retreat. His enlightening talks centered on unselfishness and a willingness to co-operate with others.

Father told the underclassmen to "acquire a sense of responsibility." Youth cannot be indifferent to racial problems, the war in Vietnam, or the famine in India. "The world is your concern," he said.

In the Junior-Senior Retreat, Father Patrick Tobin, assistant-director of Catholic Charities, emphasized the responsibility children have for their parents' salvation. The idea that our parents need us and that God has chosen our specific parents for us was a rather new outlook on the Fourth Commandment. Father's comments on prayer, self-denial, dating, and the sanctity of marriage provided much food for thought.

Reverend Francis Broderick, O. S. B.

The high point of Retreat is the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass. Tom Kelly, John Weixeldorfer, Father Stephen, and Chris Mitchell listen as Larry Durbin reads the Word of God.

"Little Willy and the Hideways" provide the entertainment at another swinging mixer.

Mixers at Lillis are always successful.

Time To Celebrate

Mary Kent and Tom Kelly enjoy a dance together.

Lillis students release their inhibitions at an "after the game" mixer.

"The Classmen" succeed in drawing a great crowd at the Christmas mixer.

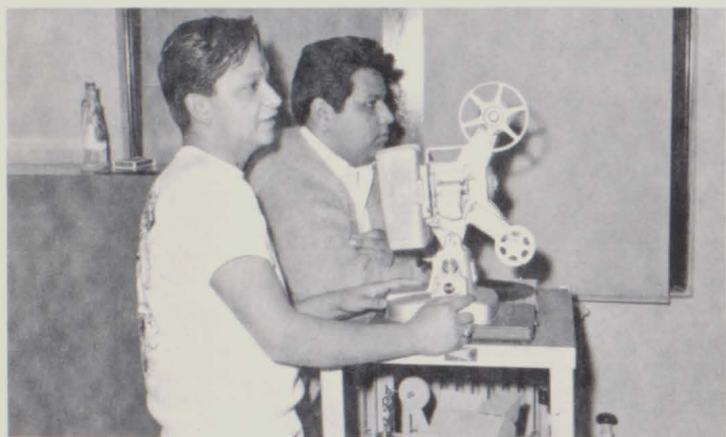

A big hit of the St. Patrick's Day Program was a modern rendition of "When Irish Eyes are Smiling" by Barbara Beebe, Peggy Hellstein, Linda Brucken (hidden), Margaret Balistreri, Mary Rogue, and Janet Bost.

B-Team Cheerleaders Betty Kellner, Mary Ann Carson, Kathy Steinbach, Sherry Wissmueller, Claudia Vaughn, Sharon Talley, and Candy Buster practice to make Varsity.

James Ryan, President of the Kansas City-St. Joseph Speech League, and Father Stephen award Jane Knapp a second place ribbon in Dramatic Reading at the meet, Feb. 5.

Activities Crowd Spring

Previewing their own movie, "Lucky Hat Caper," Danny Ortega and Richard Gonzales are their own worst critics.

Stars Shower

Spring Prom

For the first time in Lillis History the annual Junior-Senior Prom took place away from the "Home of the Fighting Irish." The new site, Howard Johnson Ball Room, was transformed by blue and green honey-comb tissue gems, sparkling stars, and spring flowers under the direction of General Chairman Ken Olles and Co-Chairman Bob Darby. Fred Fisher and "The Collegians" provided the music for a never-to-be-forgotten evening under the stars.

The Pep Club, which consists of about 100 girls, is one of Lillis's most popular clubs. It not only cheers the team on, but lets the girls participate in all the sports. As Helen Murphy puts it, "By belonging to the Pep Club, I feel like I, too, can help win the games."

Communicating Through Words And Books

Twenty-five members joined the Speech Club this year to participate in the Speech Contests and the mixers sponsored by the club. Anita Moix thinks that "it is very interesting to learn to speak correctly and be able to express an opinion to people in an effective manner."

The Lillis Libs dedicated much time and energy to serve the school in the Library Club. Their activities included the book reviews, the Library Mixer, and helping teachers provide different sources of material for their classes.

With their service, the members became familiar with library materials, developed a love for good literature, and aroused interest in librarianship as a profession.

Students Lead

Student Council, the most versatile of all the school organizations, keeps school regulations up-to-date, inspires school spirit, and teaches leadership and citizenship.

Paper drives each month kept the Student Council very busy raising funds.

National Honor Society consists of members with a grade average of S or above whom the faculty chooses for their character, leadership, and service.

At induction on March 8, 2 Seniors and 9 Juniors became new members, and 9 Sophomores and 22 Freshmen were pledges. After the student speeches and impressive candle-lighting ceremony, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Arthur Tighe gave the address commending the Lillis students for their spirit, and impressing on them their role of being Christ in the world.

Sodality

The Sodality is a religious organization that not only teaches the basic fundamentals of our Faith, but also how to use them. By their example, sodalists give a blueprint for a Catholic student's life. Each year the Sodality shows dozens of poor people that they care by providing food for many a Thanksgiving feast. When asked why she joined the Sodality, Virginia LaSala replied: "I believe most sodalists join the club to better themselves spiritually, socially, and mentally, but Sodality is a lot of fun too."

Enthusiasm Sparks

After sweating through 30 quarters of football or 40 quarters of basketball, or gaining 30 points in wrestling or 15 points in track, every Letterman proudly wore his L-Club jacket. Besides participating in sports, the boys also sponsored mixers after all home basketball games and had a fund-raising campaign to help pay for the new school bus.

With piano tuned and throats cleared, the Glee Club sang their way into the hearts of all who heard them sing. Performing in the United Fund Campaign Program, Sister Elizabeth Ann's Name Day Celebration, the Christmas Play, and the Pastors' Day Program, they brought the joy of music that brightened the entire year.

Publications Depict Lillis Life

Keeping in step with tradition, the staffs of the Lillislog and the Lillistrator endeavored to keep the students abreast of school activities and behind the scene occurrences.

Each student in the Humanities class had his turn editing the Lillistrator, a bi-monthly publication. The Lillislog staff worked hard to record the year of 1965-66 in the annals of Lillis history.

Pep Club Officers Nancy Gelino, Jeanne Kuebler, Sharon Engle, and Antonia Lewis look over their plans for the year.

"Way to go, boys! That touchdown was just what we needed," yells Sharon Shippy.

The Last Word. . .

Another school year is over and happy Lillis students leave the familiar back door for the last time. All the problems and difficulties are forgotten and high school days become cherished memories.

The Lillislog staff of 1965-66 has tried to show that "Lillis is the Best," if not always on the scoreboard or the record, at least in the hearts and minds of all Lillisites. This is the real essence of our school spirit—a spirit that is undefeatable.

In closing we would like to express our deep appreciation to our principal, Sister Elizabeth Ann, and the entire faculty for their interest and co-operation. We are also grateful to all the advertisers, parents, and students who helped to make this annual possible.
