PIECES OF OUR LIFE

In simple terms, our life is a puzzle. Each one of us must put our own pieces together.

In this past school year, we have spent at least one hundred eighty of three hundred sixty five precious days growing, grasping, and giggling on this campus.

Every Friday at 2:45, every smiling friend, every trip across campus in a downpour of rain, every birthday celebration in the cafeteria, and all the little things molded this piece of our life.

Years from now, 1972 may be merely a blur, although this year has contributed much to all of us as individuals. By reading through this yearbook, maybe just a piece of this year, which we have already forgotten, will be recalled.

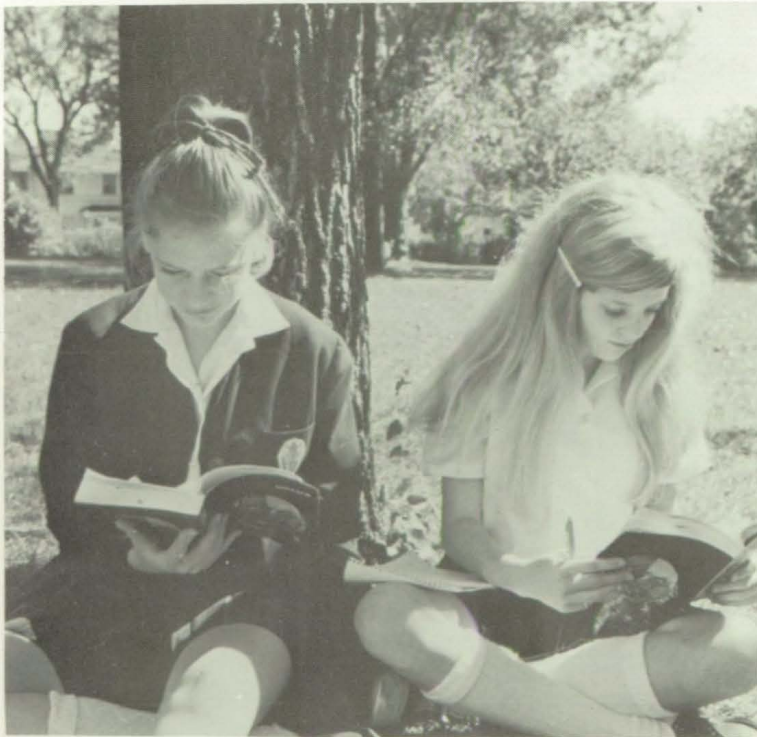

In putting together this yearbook, a new concept was devised to make it more appealing and appropriate.

Traditional methods of categorizing classes, activities and school functions have been exchanged for a new format which consecutively follows the events of the 1971-1972 school year.

We Must All Start Somewhere

The beginning of every school year is always both sad and happy. No more basking in the sun by the poolside or running around whenever you want. It's back to hard work and long hours, but best of all, it's back to our friends.

Back to school this past year was an especially uncomfortable one as temperatures soared to near 100° every day. But our friends remained as cool as ever. St. Teresa's opened its doors to the new class of '75 whose wide eyes and piled high books both began to slacken as they got into the swing of the new scheduling. All other classes were veterans from the start.

Seniors Welcome the Class of '75

In most high schools, there is a gap between the Senior and the Freshman classes. However, at St. Teresa's big sisters and little sisters appear closer than any of the other classes.

Apostolic Youth Corps Shares Jesus with the Unfortunate

Organizers, advisors, and officers for AYC are left to right Audrey Shaw, Kathy Coombs, Maureen McCaffrey, Patty Foley, and Mary Ann Magor. However, a great deal of thanks is due to both Mrs. Theresa Foley and Sister Donna Loretto who put a great deal of work into the program and into the motivation of the girls into varied areas of service.

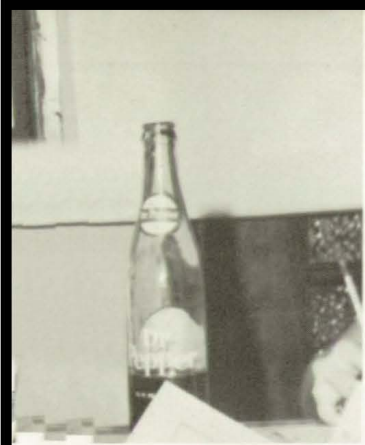

Apostolic Youth Corps is perhaps the best piece of advertising St. Teresa's does. All over the city, smiling, helpful girls are faithfully giving their time to share Jesus with their community. They work with the old, the young, and the emotionally disturbed. This contact brings a most vivid picture of Christ's love into every life touched by it. Girls divide themselves among Niles Home, Marillac, Gillis Home, Saturday Classes, Children's Mercy Hospital, and the Redeemptorist Home for the Aged. Apostolic Youth Corps offers a great deal of satisfaction to any girl willing to put something into the program.

The Dart Records Pieces of 1972

Lori Burns, editor in chief, sets out to make this year's DART a relevant paper for everyone. She reached this goal with the diligent work of her staff—Beth Bowen, Katie Wasson, Liz Hein, Martha McKay, Susie Bainco, Terrie Waters, Sue Schwind, Annie Coombs, and Lori Slaughter.

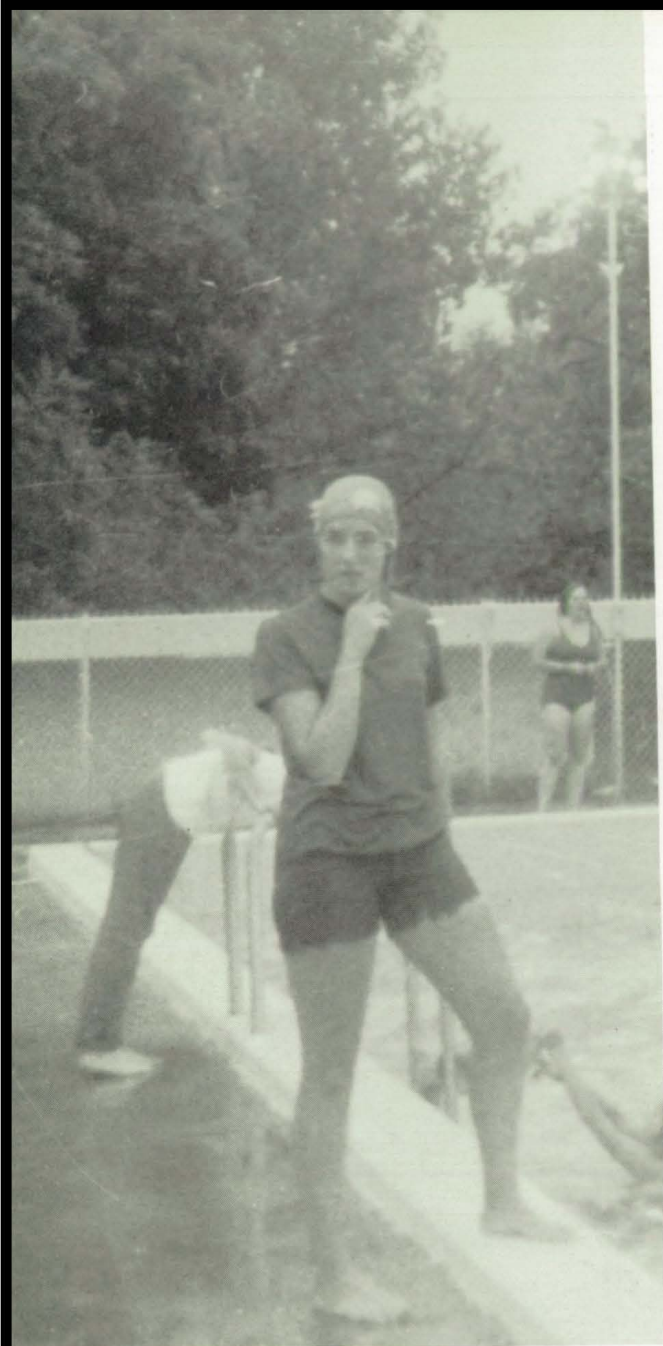

The school paper is a big production. This year it has become even a bigger task because there is a limit not in talent but in the number of staff members.

Sister Marie Tucker leads the girls from journalism class to the publication of their own paper.

The class of '74 made the best out of a rainy weekend at Camp Little Flower with the help of Father Heininger, Soph moderators, and a few Seniors.

Students Past and Present Honor Their Patron

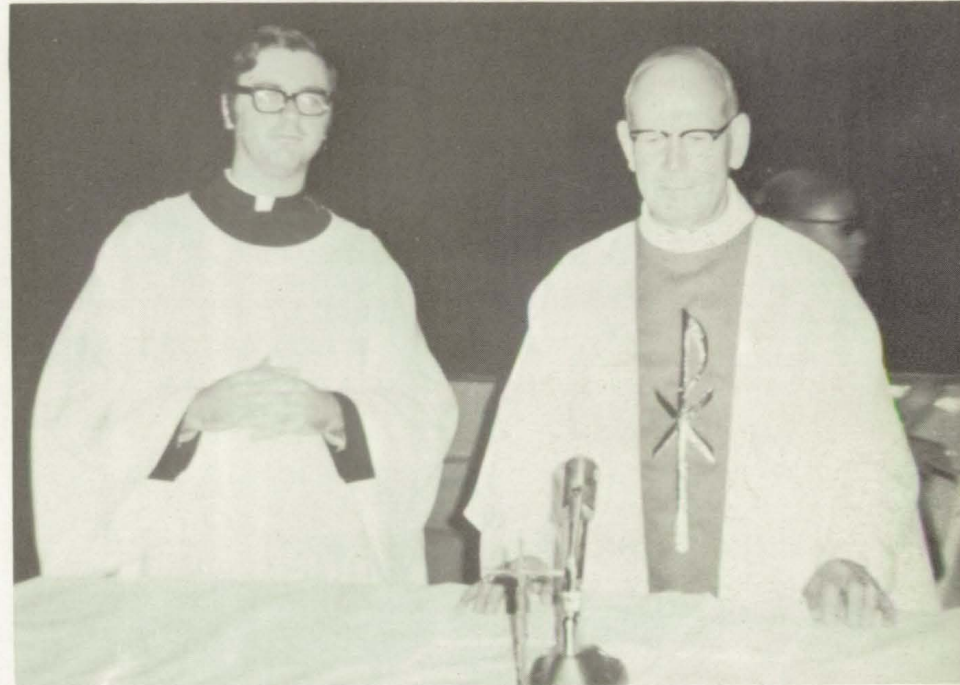

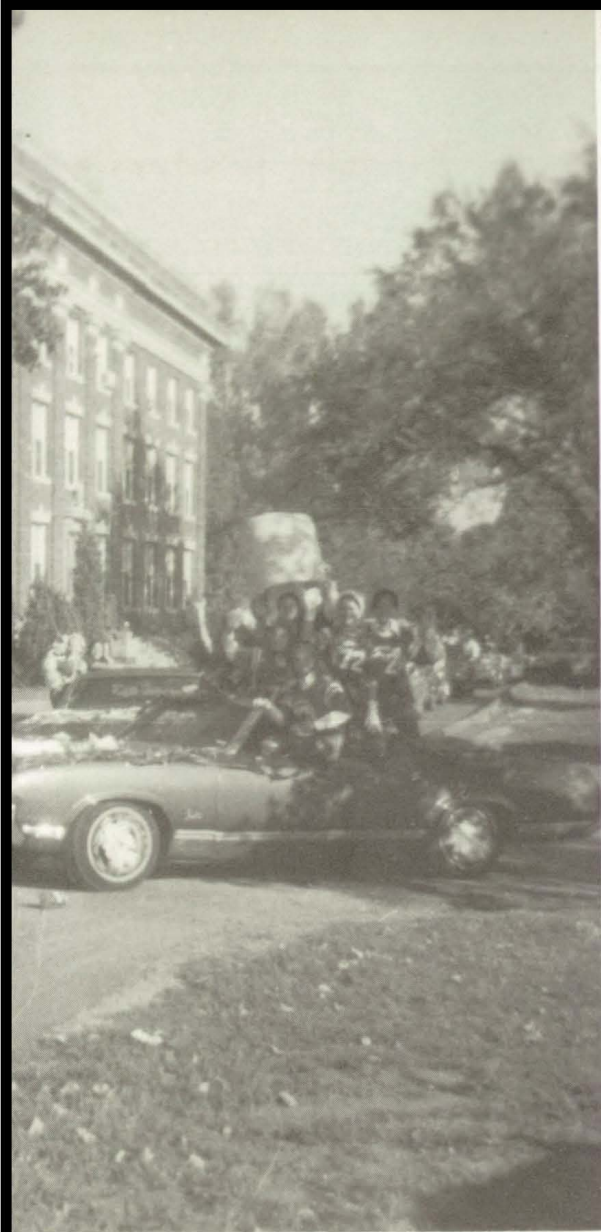

October 15 is a traditional day of celebration at St. Teresa's. Alumnae gather to relive old times and reunite the classes celebrating the 50th and 25th anniversaries of their graduation. The festivities began with a Mass followed by a sherry hour and dinner. The theme of this 107th homecoming was "Those were the days, my friend." The Madrigals entertained these past graduates.

Present students had a week to honor St. Teresa. Bishop Charles Helmsing, with a little help from Father Heininger, said the Mass which started off the week. Her spirit of learning was carried into every classroom.

Perhaps the most innorating experience of the entire week was the homecoming parade which replaced a day of school. Cars were decorated with rising anticipation of buzzing Rockhurst, but noticeably missing was the trip to De La Salle. The Classes survived except for one minor incident and numerous cases of laryngitis. A few lucky girls were even supplied with the chance to acquire a date for the upcoming Teresian.

Seniors seemed to enjoy the parade more knowing that it was their last. Then again, the immense Senior enthusiasm may be attributed to an abundance of driver's licenses and keys to the family car.

Juniors, Dads

Juniors led the way this year in both the annual Athletic Club Paper Drive and the traditional Junior-Senior Powder Puff Football game. But even the Juniors could not top the Dads when it came to Volleyball, as the Dads defeated their daughters in the Athletic Club Father-Daughter shabang.

Sophs gave the Powder Puff Football game balance with a half time show.

Discover Winner's Circle

Everybody reaped the harvest of inner-school competition. The Paper Drive hit an all time high, as the number of trucks needed to hold all the crops of hard labor surpassed everyone's anticipations. Athletic Club netted a new electric scoreboard out of the deal and Juniors made a boost to their treasury. The football game not only benefited our school but also gave a nominal help to the United Fund Campaign. The interest of Kansas City made the game even more worthwhile as Mayor Wheeler made his appearance, Channels 9 and 5 recorded the highlights, and Chief's rookie, Kerry Reardon, gave his talents as referee.

The auditorium was empty only for the secretive dress rehearsal of the Teresian skit. Not more than 18 hours later, the Tonight Show's new personnel appeared before a capacity crowd of over 500 excited girls, anxious to sing their original song versions and to hear about the dance.

Teresian Staff Skitting Around and Putting The Pieces Together

Some people call it the Art Room, or M005, but to the Teresian Staff it is a workshop hopefully full of quick inspirations and minor miracles. This '72 staff has opened its doors to under classmen and to an August delivery, but major alterations and the deadline blues still remain. Above, left, and clockwise, Mary Riley, Senior photographer, instructs her apprentices Shawn Sullivan and Anne Edelman. Creating the basic plan for the pages are layout editors Roberta Hessel, Marion Hunter, and Sharon Hurley. Sister Mary Ann Lavin, moderator, guides the staff to their finished product. Mary Beth Dyché types the final copy for submission to the printers. Becoming actresses, the staff gradually revealed the details of the upcoming Teresian Dance. Annette Cordes, co-editor, and a Louisiana tourist, escorted Sue Drummond, queen, to the stage to appear on the closing moments of the Tonight Show. Jeannie Tener, also co-editor, took the mike as host of the Tonight Show, Jeannie Carson.

It Takes More Than One Page

"It takes more than one page to put all these pieces together", and even more patience and understanding to keep harmony in the book and between staff members. For the first time in STA yearbook history, the Senior staff privilege has been extended to underclassmen.

Every position has both Senior and Junior representation and some special areas have a Soph-In-Training (S.I.T.) Next year, key staff positions will be held by second year veterans. This will hopefully eliminate beginner's woes, unnecessary ignorance, and Sr. Mary Ann Lavin's headaches.

To Put All These Pieces Together

For the second year in a row, blondes took all three positions on the Teresian court. Sue Drummond radiantly ascended the throne as queen with her escort Bill Warner. First attendant was Lori Ryan with her date Jeff Grasser. Tricia Waters reigned as second attendant escorted by Greg Turpin. Coronation was at 9:30 with the two co-editors crowning Sue and presenting flowers.

If a Picture Paints a Thousand Words . . .

Highlights of the dance were the Grand March, a punch fountain with champagne glasses, the good music of Kansas City's own Chessman Square, and a uniformed doorman who parked the cars. The Teresian staff refused to search farther after finding the Plaza Inn and making it the setting for the 1972 Teresian.

Almost every girl who joined in the volleyball activities this year had to learn a practically all new game. Power volleyball, the way the pros play, was introduced to STA with awesome results. The changeover was sometimes disastrous as all too powerful hits tore into the rafters. All in all, the renovated game is truly more action packed and thrilling for both players and spectators. The only time the gym was near filled to capacity was during assembly periods where attendance was required. Otherwise, the early morning games had dwindling numbers of onlookers and sometimes even dwindling numbers of team players. Nevertheless, the quality of those who did come was as extraordinary as ever.

Volleyball: Serving Up a More

Traditionally, the champs were awarded trophies for their team effort at the final playoff. Sophs captured first place in the A division, while Seniors swept away both B and C team awards. These Senior trophies have proved to be legendary, making it a four year winning streak.

Powerful, Exciting Game

The great success of the Auction and Market Place can be attributed to the combined work of many people. Instrumental in this project were, above and clockwise, Mrs. Eugene McCaffrey, Mr. Robert Sullivan, Kim Gentile, who modeled in the auction, all the faculty members who organized booths for the bazaar, Mr. Terry Duggins, auctioneer, Mr. Bill Bode, students who sold tickets for the $1,000 which was won by the mother of Sister Patricia Gillespi, all the fathers who gave their time to sell Christmas trees, and everyone who donated goods for the worthy cause.

Our Fathers' Force Projects a New Financial Picture for STA

The main purpose of the second annual Market Place and Auction held on December 4, 1971, was to lighten the financial burden at St. Teresa's. The $10,000 goal set by the Father's Force was practically doubled as the final total read over $18,000. There were two types of bidding this year. For the first time, silent bidding was included in the auction. Among some of the items auctioned were a 1972 Volkswagen, furs, trips to popular vacation spots, antique watches, painting, and Chief's tickets to the Oakland game. Students put forth a tremendous effort with their work in both stocking and manning the booths, and so were rewarded with a free day which lengthened the Christmas holidays.

United Artists Stage a Wonderland

Although Alice in Wonderland seemed a children's fantasy, it also had something to offer to adults. As a Christmas present to the student body, Drama Club gave a free performance. The play showed that a lot of time and talent went into its making, especially in the areas of set and costume. Right on!

It is common knowledge that putting on a play is a big production. So Drama Club, Allied Arts, and the Speech Classes united their efforts under the direction of Sister Donna to stage Alice in Wonderland. The part of "Alice" was taken by both Kellee Nash and Peggy Howard who alternately shared the spotlight in the numerous performances, a new concept (and if we may say, brilliant) in the process of playmaking.

The St. Teresa's Academy Glee Club again brought their listeners into the Christmas spirit. Some new dimensions included in the concert were the Sophomore Chorus, performing for the first time, and the Instrumental Ensemble. There was an extra special visit from Santa to the Sophomore Chorus, but the reindeer waited until later to lead the Glee Club in a sleigh ride. A sophisticated touch was added to the concert by the Madrigal Singers who sang classical selections without piano accompaniment. Soloists, duets, and quartets sang to the notes of a harpsicord. The Choral groups were happy to see Sister Nancy recovered in time to direct their endeavors.

Seasonal Greetings from

Diane Cornish warmed her audience with the solo of "The Christmas Song." Poise comes naturally to Diane for she has been involved in every musical venture of St. Teresa's in the past four years and had two other spotlighted appearances in this Christmas Concert alone. Other featured performers joining Diane in captivating their audience were Lynn Serwatka, Chris McLear, and Sue Swartz.

The Glee Club

Students and Faculty

Behind every booklet, policy, recommendation, and change, there is a hard-working committee of both students and faculty members. Left and clockwise, the curriculum committee: Sr. Ursula Marie, Sr. Ann Albrecht, Sr. Anna Rita, Miss Priest, Sr. Cornelia and Miss Tortorilla; the philosophy committee: Sr. Pamela, Mrs. Harp, Sr. Teresa Shea, Sr. Mary Ann Lavin, and Sr. Grace Louise; the Homeroom committee: Miss Gutierrez, Sr. Patricia Gillespie, Mrs. Mitchell, and Mrs. Hazlett; the scheduling committee: Mrs. Wascher, Mrs. Treese, Mrs. Koshland, Sr. Marie, Sr. Thomas Marie, Sr. Miriam, Sr. Helen, and student members; and the public relations committee: Mrs. McNellis, Miss Christenson, Mrs. Loschke, and Sr. Vera. Not pictured—the discipline committee under the direction of Miss Reardon.

Committing Themselves

Exchanging

There is no painless way of coming back to school after the Christmas holidays; however, mini courses proved to add a refreshing atmosphere to second semester. The object of this new dimension was to offer to each girl a class which would fill her individual interest that she may not otherwise ever experience.

the Modular Schedule for a Mini One

Teachers put a lot of time into planning courses where they had particular interest or talent. (This is mini copy for the mini courses which were planned for a mini-week.)

Mini courses did not keep girls sitting in the classrooms. Auto mechanics included changing a tire; Skiing, demonstrations by Miss Priest; Miracle of Life, bathing and caring for babies; Senior Lifesaving, attaining life-guard qualifications; Know Your City, sight-seeing in K.C.; and Self Defense, actual karate lessons!

Minus Reading, Writing, and

'Rithmetic

On Their Honor

The end of the semester brought about report cards which in turn brought about the honors assembly. The freedom and flexibility of modular scheduling was proven successful as a great number of girls received awards. This year the honors assembly was less formal and more organized. Students no longer had to pose on stage and Katy McKenna assisted Sr. Thomas Marie in handing out the certificates. Lori Slaughter and other commended students were honored for their achievements in National Merit and NEDT tests.

Unsinkable Molly

The 1972 Academy Girl has many credits to her name including Stucco Treasurer, Junior Class Secretary, and Yearbook business manager. However, she is deserving of the honor in her own right. In the eyes of her classmates, Molly McGannon is definitely a responsible and refreshing piece of her class.

The announcement of the 1972 Academy Girl was received with a standing ovation from the Senior Class and student body and with tears from Molly.

There is one reason why so many girls stay after school at least once a week, (and it's not for detention.) They find it either enlightening or enriching to be part of a club and one of the gang. For every girl with a particular interest, there is at least one club she can fit into, or the opportunity to start her own.

Club

The rainbow of clubs open to everyone include Library Guild, Young Christian Students (YCS), Mission Club, Junior Classical League (JCL), Alliance Française, Athletic, Drama, and Ecology Clubs, a new dimension which came about to fulfill a particular interest.

Side Story

As a special feature of the W.P.A. a Sweetheart couple was chosen at random. Nancy Daly and Randy Miller were the lucky lovers. The Valentine theme was officially "Love-It's the Real Thing." Red tissue paper, millions of red hearts, and a gigantic Cupid decorated S.T.A. gym with a little help from their friends, Kathy O'Brien and Teresa Swinney. Nightcapping the evening was an ice storm resulting in some nasty conditions.

A Real Heart-to-Heart Thing

For the first time in several years Student Council struck out on their own to sponsor the annual W.P.A. The calendar proved to cause the largest problem as every weekend was filled with other events. But finally, February 11 was set and kept. Homeroom Reps diligently sold gold crossing heart rings as admission to the dance.

Comidas and Boissons

Not to be outdone by the Latin banquet-ers, French and Spanish scholars came together for their own international banquet. Under the direction of Miss Priest, Sister Pamela, Mrs. Wascher, and Miss Gutierrez, the girls planned their own menu, table, and wall decorations. The evening brought much merriment and good eating and could be termed a successful cultural exchange.

A Night Out

Especially fleet on their feet were Joyce Frank and her escort Jerry Smith who won the Senior Dance Contest. YCS awarded Joyce a music box which played "I Could Have Danced all Night."

with Dear Old Dad

We all became daddies' girls again at the traditional Father-Daughter Dinner and Dance. Both the steak dinner and the rather refined dancing took place at Brookridge Country Club on February 21, 1972. Eddy Baker's New Breed Orchestra pleased all tastes in music with selections ranging from "Wipe Out" to Sentimental Journey". There was an unusual amount of merriment and "partner swapping" with dear old dad. Arrangements for the shindig were made by STAFF and YCS.

These Leaders

Leaders are special people. They are the workers who never get tired (or thanked) and the organizers who never get enough cooperation, but still get the job done well. They are the motivators who spark the spirit and the listeners who hear everyone's plight.

'Specially Because

Every group, whether it be leaders or not, needs someone to look to, and to seek advice from. Dorothy Partin and Katy McKenna are two of these people. They head StuCo on the theme "We are friends digging each other, taking time to talk it over." Thus, they not only lead us, but can also see our needs because they are one of us.

They're Ours

Concern Replaces Rah! Rah! Spirit

Mr. Nixon and Spiro T. were guest speakers for the spirit assembly impersonated by Beth Bowen and Lori Burns, respectively.

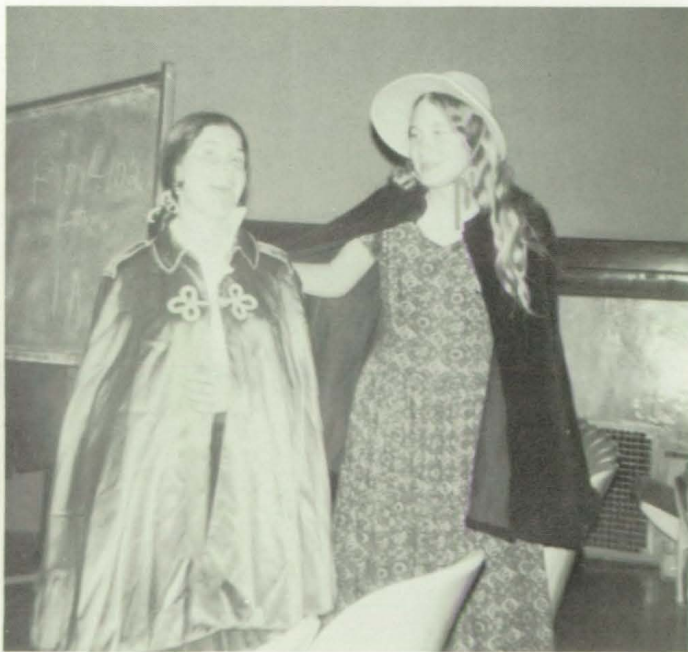

A week of spirit instigators were planned by a committee established by StuCo. Emphasis was placed on the true meaning of spirit—one of friendship and concern—by beginning the week with a friendship day, Tuesday was a day of appreciation for faculty and administration. Wednesday became a first in the school as Nixon and his pal Spiro T. gave a 'state of the spirit' address. Especially fun aspects of spirit week were unmatched socks and hair ribbons day (commonly known as class color day) and a new dimension, hat day (topping off the week).

Allied Artists Paint Snow White

As a spring project in the Allied Arts class, Freshmen presented "Snow White". Girls received their first experiences in costuming and really "getting into" a character. Sister Donna Lorretto used the two-cast system so that all students would have the opportunity to display her own dramatic ability. Reacting to the endeavor, some frosh were incredibly dopey, sleepy, sneezy, grumpy, happy, and bashful.

Seniors Hit an All Time High

On Their Trip in the Rockies

Sixty-nine excited Seniors after a short delay loaded two Continental Trailways buses and left a chaotic parking lot. Both buses got off to a cheery start but soon the monotonous white lines on those Kansas highways lulled Bus No. 1 to sleep, leaving the insomniacs of Bus No. 2 to their usual antics. Even for those who don't get bus-sick, the ride seemed to last for an eternity. Needless to say, wild tumult broke loose at the sight of Winter Park and at the thought of three days of skiing, snow-mobiling, and tubing. The days passed faster than expected and the bus ride home was again long and uncomfortable especially for the sunburn and casualty cases. A stop-over in Denver hosted the official closing of the ski trip with an awards banquet and the welcome home consisted of chilly winds, constant drizzle, and cheery faces.

Putting Together a Masterpiece

All year long there are girls working ardently in the Art Room. However, it is not until the spring projects appear in the front halls of M & A that fellow classmates realize that there are artists among them.

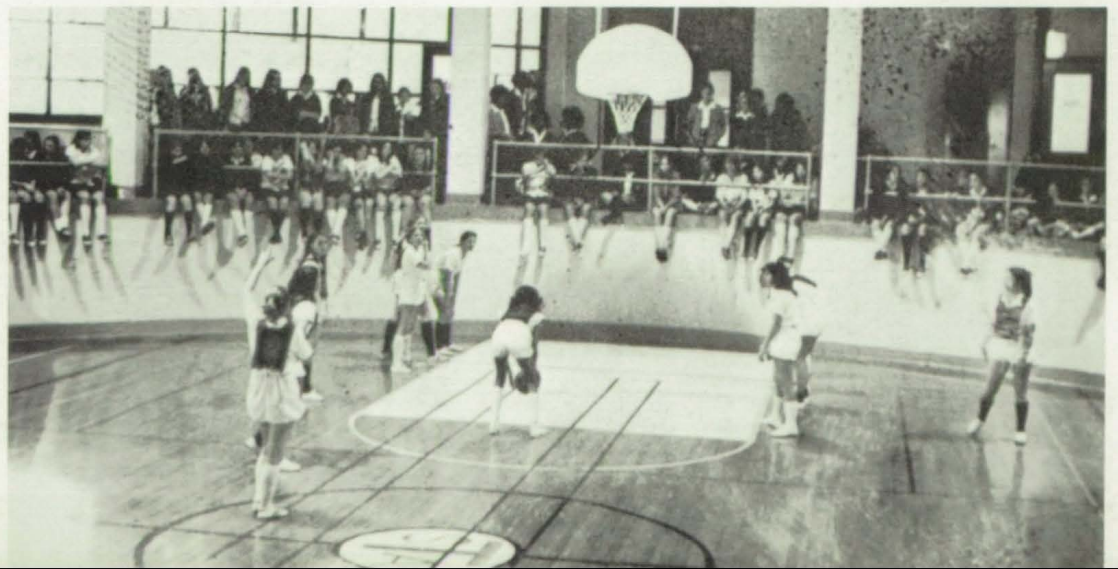

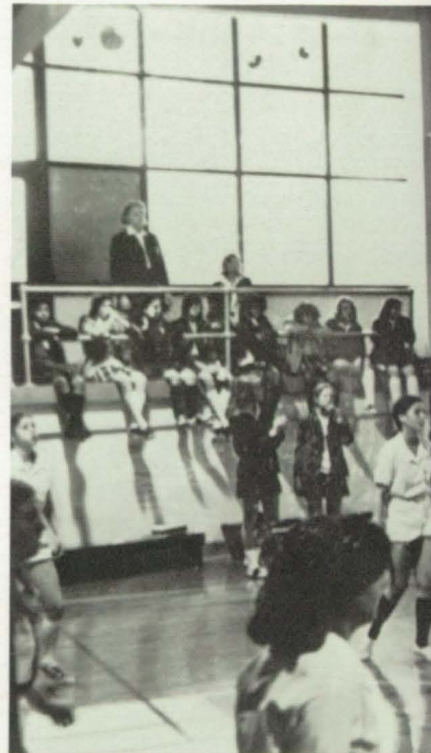

Masterpieces this year include a carved bed-board, monochromatic spring designs, wood sculpture, and oil and water color paintings. Under the direction of Sister Mary Ann Lavin, the art department has enabled talented students to dabble in an unusually wide range of areas.

Dribbling Toward a Goal

Individual player improvement and a show of good sportsmanship were the Junior, Soph, and Frosh basketball teams. However, the Seniors preferred to add to the list trophies for first place in both A and B team competition. The season attracted a few more spectators due to the fact that games were scheduled after school rather than at 7:00 on bleary-eyed mornings.

The Day of Rings and Roses

On March 26, the Junior Class received their long awaited class rings. This traditional ceremony was untraditionally early, along with a few other changes. Sister Helen, vice-principal, was main speaker and Molly McGannon, Academy Girl, served as mistress of ceremonies. Class officers took a place of honor on stage and received long stemmed roses along with gifts from their appreciative class.

The Music Department

Sister Nancy Kennedy in collaboration with Sister Donna Loretto presented a kicking performance. Special appearances by Raggedy Ann and Andy and a ballet by Therese Masterson were included in the program.

Sings Into Spring

Songs of the Madrigal Singers, Glee Club, and Sophomore Chorus swept the Spring Concert audience from Peter Pan's Never-Never Land across the world to a cabaret in Berlin.

Instrumental Ensemble appeared playing more advanced selections including pieces from the "King and I" and Chopin's waltzes. Sister Joan Kane directed the group.

Last September, girls entered the Home Ec Lab with little or no experience in the fine art of sewing. In April however these same girls proved to their fellow students that they could not only sew but also create and coordinate smashing ensembles. Their fashion show included everything from pajamas—to culottes—to coats worn by models whose ages ranged from 2 to 18.

Out of the Pattern Book Into the Fashion World

With the help of Sister Miriam, members of the Home Ec and Clothing classes presented an assembly-time fashion show of spring outfits they had sewn. Above and clockwise: Joanne Egelhoff; Roberta Hessel, Kathy McNellis, (Raggedy Ann) and Maureen Shine; Bridget Havey and Marty Dale; Rosalie Fulco; Lucia Fernandez and Bernice Chappelle; Marion and Kathy Hunter and neices; Margo Browne and Natalie ReVoal; Corliss Alexander; and Ethlyyn Mason.

Sr. Thomas Marie Received Because She Was First to Give

Sister Thomas Marie came and went with the class of '72. She weathered the initial shocks of her new position well and soon was definitely the head of our administration. School policies began their slow change and among other things, modular scheduling became a reality because Sister was there and wanted the best for us all.

Taking Time to Say "Thank You"

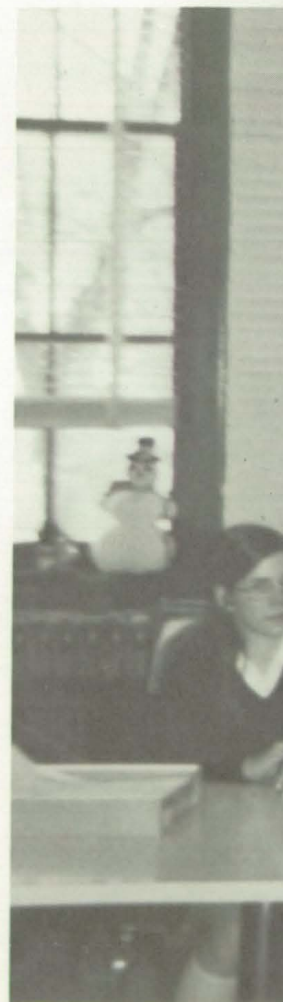

"Treat your friends for what you know them to be. Regard no surfaces. Consider not what they did, but what they intended." (Thoreau). More often than not, faculty is judged by their performance in class rather than as individuals. Faculty Appreciation Day gave students and faculty alike the chance to exchange roles. Faculty members ate in the crowded cafeteria while students supervised study halls. A greater understanding was built on these brief experiences.

At One Glance I Saw Them

If I Have Helped But One of Them . . .

Beginning the amateur hour was a run off on the "Dating Game" starring Nancy Nigro and the Senior class officers who cleverly announced the Junior attendants. Prom Committee and Junior officers then took the stage as the "Broad Squad" in "This is Your Life". They divulged the long awaited details including who, what, when, where, why, and how.

This Is Your Prom Skit

Three strange actresses pulled Therese Masterson, Carmen Jimenez, and Chrissa McLear out of the audience to confirm all speculations about prom royalty.

Chrissa Reigns Pretty As a Picture

The 1972 prom was held in the Grand Ballroom at the Hotel Muehlbach. Chrissa McLear and her date Moe Quirk reigned over the evening which traditionally is a gift from the Juniors to the Seniors. She was crowned with a ring of daisies and presented with a dozen yellow roses by Junior officers Jean Carey and Kim Kraus respectively.

Mid-prom, Juniors and Seniors and their dates lined up to await the coronation of the royalty. The Prom Committee and junior and senior class officers came first in the Grand March, closely followed by the Junior Attendants—Therese Masterson escorted by John DeMott and Carmen Jimenez escorted by Billy Walsh. Chrissa and Moe approached their place of honor to the tune of "The Look of Love."

A Night of "Wine", Women and Song

Dancing to the varied sounds of "The Spirit of Charisma", and drinking punch around the dance floor occupied the fleeting minutes of Prom 1972 for most couples. (The punch was christened "liquid gold" by prom committee members who watched thirsty dancers empty the punch bowls to the tune of $5.00 a gallon.)

After the Ball

Directly after the bewitching hour, most prom-goers found themselves having a ball at King Louie West in the wee morning hours of May 6.

Un-derclassmen

The Frosh-Soph picnic had an un-usual beginning with an un-sophisticated tricycle-bicycle parade to Loose Memorial Park. From day hosted this day of water fights, three legged races, and pie-eating contests. The highlight of the day was Michele Giblin's un-car (above).

Celebrate the Un-Prom

Below, Miss Christenson, field day co-ordinator and gym teacher, has that "Olympics" sparkle in her eye as her pupils skillfully tackle the high jump.

It's How You Play in the Sun

For those who won it was an especially exciting day. But for those who just joined in the sporting or remained afternoon spectators, the day was still sunny and eventful.

After a month-long can drive and week-long cafeteria donations the ecology club, left, made an environmental contribution to STA's campus. A sweet gum tree, the first of its kind to live at STA, was planted after field day activities.

Field Day Is Not

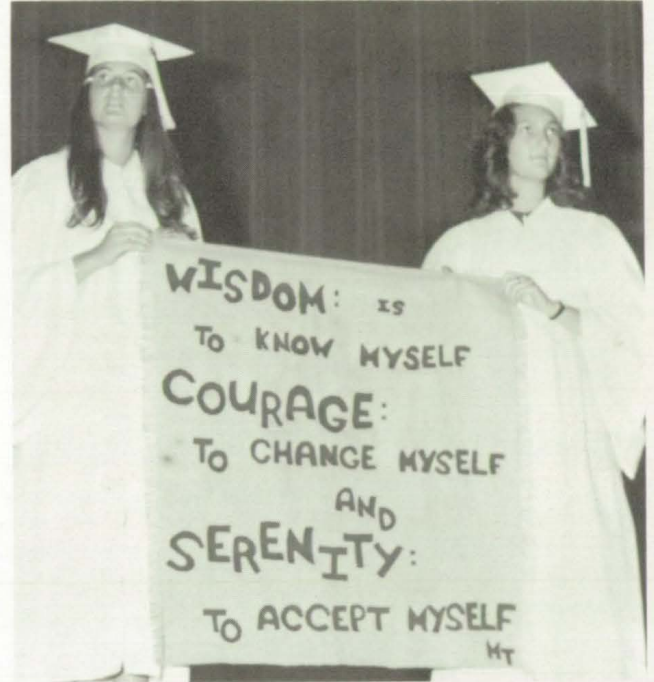

Field Day happened on a glorious day of sunshine and cloudless skies. The day's events opened with a May Day Mass which was followed by a school picnic on campus. Then the races began and everyone found themselves locked in with the excitement of competing or just having fun with their friends.

Only Winning or Losing . . .

Seniors Leave STA to "The Others"

Instead of the usual end of the year occurrence, Class Day was sandwiched between the last days of school and Senior exams. This stole away some of the spirit of leaving because we all knew we were coming back. Yet, Class Day definitely reflected on memories which made nice, lasting remembrances.

Sr. Thomas Marie celebrated her coming departure along with the Seniors, while the "others", who are staying, moved to their improved places of status in the auditorium.

Mothers, Seniors

With everyone assembled and ready to eat, grace was said and the brunch began. Afterwards, honors were given to those of high scholastic achievement, Seniors were asked to join the alumnae, and Ping Ping Wu, a foreign-exchange student, gave a poetry recitation in Chinese.

Celebrate STA

Seniors and their mothers joined to celebrate the graduation of the class of '72 on the morning of May 30. A Mass in the auditorium, celebrated by Msgr. Tighe, brought everyone together and was followed by the giving of yellow roses to the mothers of second generation graduates. Then the entire group drove to the Plaza Inn where a brunch was held in honor of the graduates and their mothers.

Ending To Begin Again

The Class of '72 officially ended their high school days on the last day of May 1972. For many it was a sad leaving. For others it was a happy departure. The ceremony itself was short yet traditional. The graduates, families, and guests were addressed by Father Carney and Katy McKenna. Diplomas were issued by Msgr. Tighe and Sr. Helen as Sr. Thomas Marie officiated at her fourth and last graduation. Red roses were given to the graduates as they proceeded to the rest of the evening festivities.
